

ANOTHER BIG FIRE AT PORTLAND, MAINE.

Big Fire In Business District of City.

Death and Disaster Meet Chicago Firemen.

Man and Little Child Burned to Death.

Portland, Me., Jan. 27.—A fire which several times threatened seriously to wipe out the business district of this city, and which caused a damage estimated at over $900,000 before it was finally controlled, was kept confined to the block in which it started this morning, after almost ten hours' fighting by Portland's almost exhausted firemen, aided by men and apparatus from several outside cities and favored by a light rain and shifts of wind. The fire burned in the block occupied by Milliken, Cousins & Co., and A. F. Cox & Son, and it was here that practically all the damage was done at the nearby business house, where, several times threatened by the flames and suffered somewhat from smoke and water.

Attacked by Pirates

Shanghai, Jan. 27.—A Japanese launch has been fired on and robbed by Chinese pirates near Kia Nsing Fu. The pirates also attacked several Chinese launches en route to Shanghai, killing four Chinese and wounding nine. Troops have been despatched to the scene of the trouble. The Japanese consul has taken the matter up, and had an interview with the Tatoi.

A GREAT GUSHER.

The Most Productive Gas Well in the Province.

Leamington, Ont., Jan. 27.—Near Glenwood, in Romney township, Kent county, there lately has been sunk the most productive gas well in Ontario. It has the enormous pressure of 600 pounds, and therefore will produce over seven million feet of gas in 24 hours. The well is owned by the Leamington company, and the company has another well within a mile of No. 1 with the same rock pressure, and is sinking yet another. This is undoubtedly the heart of the gas district. Old No. 1 well, the original well in the district, had a gas rock of 160 feet, but in the Romney field the gas rock is over 200 feet thick, and with proper handling the gas is practically inexhaustible.

BIG SNOW STORM.

Snow and Wind Storm Strikes Montreal and Ottawa.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 27.—The biggest snow storm of the season struck Montreal and vicinity yesterday, thirteen inches of snow falling in 24 hours. The storm started yesterday morning and wound up this morning between 9 and 10, having been in progress just the full 24 hours, with brief interruptions. Yesterday the storm was of the blizzard variety, but later the temperature went down and the wind ceased, and there was a steady fall throughout the morning. As the effects of the last storm had been pretty well removed in the city, there was no interruption to street car traffic nor were the railways seriously impeded.

ARE VERY PRETTY.

Beant's Decorated For the Hospital Engagement.

Miss Jeanette Lewis superintended the decoration of the interior of Bennett's theatre which was done this morning by Thomas Hedley and his staff. Mr. Hedley kindly gave his services gratis and the decorations were donated by Stanley Mills & Co., and R. McKay & Co. They will remain up during the seven weeks that the theatre is given over to the interests of the Sick Children's Hospital Fund. Miss Lewis has placed tickets for sale in Hennessey's drug store and R. Duncan & Co's book store and patrons will be able to get their tickets supplied at these places and also at Mack's drug store. Everything points to an auspicious opening this evening.

OTTAWA'S TROLLEY.

Increase in Receipts and in Number of Passengers Carried.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 27.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company for 1907 was held today. The receipts for the year were $574,278, an increase over 1906 of $48,531. The net earnings were $234,349. The profits were over 18 per cent., after paying fixed charges, and dividends of 12 per cent. were paid. The number of passengers carried was 12,023,440, an increase of 1,215,218 over the previous year. The Ottawa Electric Railway Company has had a remarkable growth. Its receipts in 1892 were $71,000; its receipts in the year just closed show an increase of $500,000. Eleven million more passengers were carried last year than in the first year of the company's operations.

KAISER'S BIRTHDAY.

EMPEROR WILLIAM 49 YEARS YOUNG TO-DAY.

Wakened After He Was Up by Trumpeters and Chorus—Heard Sermon, Then Held Reception—A Mediterranean Cruise.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Emperor William is forty-nine years old to-day. He was "awakened" this morning according to the immemorial birthday custom by the palace-trumpeters and the singing of a hymn by the castle choir at 8 o'clock. As a matter of fact, however, the Emperor had risen several hours earlier, and had disposed of a variety of State documents by the time the singing began, after which he appeared at a window of the castle overlooking the court, where the musicians were gathered. His Majesty, dressed in a field marshal's uniform, greeted the choristers, and received the congratulations of the visiting Princes, after which there were services in the private chapel of the palace. Dr. Dryander, the court preacher, delivered a sermon from the text, "God be with us."

CARS COLLIDE.

Conductor Fink Injured and Vestibules Damaged.

A rear end collision caused by one street car crashing into another on Saturday afternoon on James street north, near the Drill Hall, resulted in Conductor Walter Fink being injured and the vestibules of both cars badly damaged. Fortunately there were few passengers aboard. Both cars were north bound. The one on which Fink was conductor stopped at Mulberry street to let passing cars off, and he was in the act of pulling the bell rope to give the signal to start when a car driven by Motorman Gordon Bailey, following close behind, crashed into Fink's car. Fink was standing in the doorway at the time, and he was sent flying through like a shot from a catapult. His leg was injured and he received a severe shaking up. Bailey had a narrow escape from serious injury by flying glass, the windows in the vestibules of both cars being shattered. There were two passengers on the rear car and several on the front one.

The fruit exchanges of the State estimate that the total output of oranges will reach 30,000 carloads, about nine million boxes, or 1,250,000,000 oranges. The harvest will last until July 4.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

The fellow who does an honest day's work has a much easier time of it than the chap who tries to do a dishonest day's work. Ask the Magistrate.

Saltfleet may think that the Judge has salted it. Let the people have the wards as they voted for them, Mr. Mayor.

Beek wants to give us cheap electric power, but not too cheap. The South Huron farmers did not believe that scandal talk.

It may be easy to jolly the Board of Health, but you have always got Dr. Roberts to reckon with.

Some of the employers might try to stretch a point and put a few of the idle men to work. The banks have lots of money now.

Whom have I to thank for that extra ear of light in the Jolly Cut? I have a last year's Christmas card I would like to send him.

The Radial Railway is making a noise just like the C. P. R. or G. T. P.

Hayashi will make no hash about carrying out his promises to Mr. Lettice.

Whitney does not seem to care whether we lose our lodge dues or not. What Royal and Sublime Potentate is casting a spell over him?

This being an off season in the matrimonial line, it might be good business were the clergy to offer cut rates.

I hope the Council won't lose sight of the reversion fund. That enterprise is just in its infancy.

Is Engineer Sotman running up a bill of expense against the city, Mr. Mayor?

Without any desire to appear inquisitive, I should like to know how the art gallery scheme is progressing. Will some gentleman please report progress?

Why this vacillation about vaccination? The Drill Hall will be a fitting monument to the fact that Mr. Zimmerman sees that the city's interests are protected.

FALSE PRETENCES.

Charged With Attempting to Get Money From Farmers' Bank.

Belleville, Ont., Jan. 27.—(Special.)—What looks like an important arrest took place yesterday when a well-dressed young Englishman named Wm. Van Blaroum, alias Maurice Logee, was taken into custody by the police on a charge that he did on Jan. 18th, 1908, unlawfully attempt to obtain the sum of $186 from the Farmers' Bank, in this city, by false pretences. Nothing is known of the man here and considerable mystery surrounds the case. At the police court this morning he was remanded until Wednesday without bail.

HISTORIC BIBLE

Was Given in 1758 by Prince of Wales to Oneidas.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Marshfield, Wis., says that Rev. Jos. Brown, a Sunday School missionary, has found among the Indians in Oconto county, Wis., a Bible given to the Oneida tribe in 1758 by the secretary of the Prince of Wales. The presentation was made in behalf of the Church of England. At that time the tribe was living in Massachusetts. The historic Bible is in two volumes, each weighing twenty pounds. The Bible is now in possession of the Indians with whom Rev. Mr. Brown stayed while organizing a church among the red men in Oconto county.

H. G. & B. ANNUAL.

Talk of Trouble Over the Terminal Station.

The annual meeting of the Hamilton Grimsby & Beamsville stockholders was set for this afternoon. As has been usual at the annual sessions held since the famous deal by which the minority shareholders were frozen out an interesting time is looked for. The minority representatives are of the opinion that the company may make a move of some kind at to-day's meeting. It has been stated that the Terminal Company is charging the H. G. & B. $3,000 a year rental for the use of the Terminal station, and the minority men will object to this. They say that the old H. G. & B. station answered the purpose all right as far as that road was concerned.

GAVE DIAMONDS.

Representative of Brazilian Mine Was Generous.

Some days ago Acting Detectives Sayers and Robson were told of the reckless liberality of a New Yorker who was staying at the Waldorf Hotel. The man gave diamonds to some women he had known only half an hour, and he offered a man who accompanied him down the Rialto the choice of a large assortment of precious stones. The officers had visions of jewel robberies in New York, Paris and London, and went quietly to work. It was learned that the man represented a millionaire broker of New York, who was promoting a company to develop a diamond mine in Brazil. Word was sent to New York that the young man was battling here with old John Barleycorn, and his employer came on and arranged for his admission into a sanitarium till he recovers from the effects of his week's spree. No effort was made to get back the diamonds that the young man presented to objects of his affection or admiration.

HIS SIGHT SAVED.

George Kingston Is In Serious Condition, However.

George Kingston, who made a sensational attempt to end his life on Saturday, is in the hospital in a serious condition, but as far as the doctors can at present make out he will recover. His sight will not be affected seriously, although his face is terribly burned, as at the moment the acid reached his face he must have involuntarily closed his eyes and so saved his sight. When asked this morning if a prosecution would be instituted, Chief Smith said he was investigating, and would not say until later.

—Word of the death of Samuel Jelfs, father of Police Magistrate G. F. Jelfs, of this city, was received on Saturday. The death took place at Sherbourne, Dorsetshire, England. Mr. Jelfs was 84 years of age, and a hale and hearty old man, and his death was unexpected by the Magistrate.

WILL MAKE TEST CASE OF SALT FLEET LOCAL OPTION.

Judge Snider Withholds Certificate Pending Action by Temperance People.

Judge Snider has not issued the certificate in the local option scrutiny, which took place at Stoney Creek on Friday. When asked this morning when he was going to give his decision, he said that he was holding the certificate back for the purpose of giving the temperance people an opportunity of applying to Osgoode Hall, Toronto, for an injunction restraining him from giving judgment on the questions that he is to decide. His Honor said there are so many conflicting authorities that he would like to see a test case. His Honor is not sure that he has the right to say that the deputy returning officers and police

Bad Form of Smallpox With One Patient.

Change of Plan re the Power Scheme.

Water System for the Mountain Residents.

Three more cases of smallpox, one of which is of a very serious nature, have been reported to the Health Department. A man named Webb, who resides at 65 Catharine street north with his family, is the one about whose recovery the doctors have doubts. Dr. Roberts says it is the worst case he has seen. The man's palate is covered with pustules and he is unable to take nourishment. These three cases are traceable to the Goodale home on Cannon street. Archie Goodale was the first victim. His brother and sister-in-law were next taken down, and then one of the children. Now the grandmother is a victim. The third case discovered since Saturday is Albert Anderson, 22 Oak avenue, who resides at that address with his family. Anderson was a visitor at the Webb residence where the Goodales also visited. Anderson was removed to the west end Isolation Hospital yesterday, but Webb was too ill to be taken from his home.

"The danger of indiscriminate social visiting can not be too strongly emphasized," declared Dr. Roberts, the Medical Health Officer to-day. "Here we have nearly half a dozen cases traceable to one."

The doctor is rather annoyed at the action of the Finance Committee in refusing to order a general vaccination. The Board of Health cannot take any action for a month, the law providing that the council must have a month's notice. Since the committee's action was reported the doctor says there has been a big falling off in the number of people desiring to be vaccinated. "It will get two or three children, and go through one of the schools some of these days, and then they will wake up," said the doctor.

The board now has ten cases on its hands. Nine of these are at the Isolation Hospital. The quarantine has been raised at 235 Cannon street east, where a man named Gallagher was the victim, and at 421 King William street, where a man named Smith was suffering from the disease. Both these patients have been discharged, and also Archie Goodale. The quarantine has also been raised at the residence of J. Ablehart, Queen street. One of his sons was a victim. The quarantine on the residence of Mrs. Thompson, Elgin street, has been raised, and she will be discharged as cured to-day. During the outbreak there has been nineteen cases.

It is not improbable that the scheme for supplying the east-end mountain residents with water will result in a system being established on the mountain top which will ensure a supply for people (Continued on page 10.)

Goldfield, Nev., Jan. 27.—The Goldfield Mine Operators' Association last night abolished the card system, which required all employees to sign an agreement renouncing the Western Federation of Miners, and declared an open shop policy. The Special cigar has been the standard for years, and cannot be equalled for a smooth, aromatic smoke. It is guaranteed long Havana filler and sold for 5 cents straight at peace's cigar store, 107 King street east.

ACUTE MANIA, THAW'S TROUBLE, SAID ENGLISH PHYSICIAN.

Wanted 20 Tons of Ice and Whole Staff of Nurses ---Family Doctor Also Talks.

New York, Jan. 27.—The morning session of the Thaw trial began at 10.30 o'clock, with Dr. Charles Francis Binghamman, the Thaw family physician, of Pittsburg, on the witness stand. Dr. Binghamman told of the early symptoms of nervousness in Harry Thaw, saying he was first called to attend the boy when he was three years old. At this time his nervousness almost bordered on convulsions. The attacks usually followed various children's diseases. Thaw slept badly, requiring a relay of nurses most of the time. Dr. Binghamman said that in the fall of 1903 he was called to attend Harry Thaw in Pittsburg, and treated him for nervousness and melancholy. This was after Thaw's first trip abroad with Evelyn Nesbit. The witness saw Thaw several times in the Tombs after his arrest, and the defendant always referred to Madison Square Garden tragedy as the "act of Providence."

Attorney Jerome said at the last trial, when Thaw's mental condition was under investigation: "I had rather have the testimony of an old family practitioner like this than all the experts you could put on the stand."

Following Dr. Binghamman came the first of the foreign witnesses, Dr. Sydney Russell Wells, of London, who was called to attend Thaw in the British capital in the early part of 1899.

"Mr. Thaw was in a very nervous condition," said Dr. Wells. "His pulse was extremely rapid, and he complained of (Continued on page 10.)"

LAKESIDE WILL NOT GO ON, IS LATEST ANNOUNCEMENT.

Information Comes From Beach Chairman and Treasurer of Amusement Company.

There will be no amusement park on Burlington Beach next summer. This information comes from two reliable sources—from the chairman of the Beach Commissioners and also from the treasurer of the Canadian Amusement Co., which proposed to build the Lakeside Park, near Dynes' station.

Mr. Eli Van Allen, chairman of the Beach Commissioners, stated this morning that he had arranged to lease for a four months' trip abroad next Monday, and that there will be no change in the policy of the board during his absence. No by-laws will be made or rescinded during that time. "I may also say," said Mr. Van Allen, "that while I am a member of the Beach Board there will never be a paid amusement park there."

Asked if he had been seen by Mr. Geo. Holcombe, who was in the city on Saturday, representing Col. Ingersoll, Mr. Van Allen said he could say that there would be no amusement park on the Beach.

At the office of the treasurer of the Canadian Amusement Co. it was learned that Mr. Holcombe was here for the purpose of going ahead with the construction of the park, which could not be completed before the middle of the summer. In view of the fact that the local director figure that the park, to be profitable, must have a full season open by May 24—it was decided not to go ahead with the project for this season. The directors will meet shortly to consider the question of going ahead with the scheme in time to have it ready for the following season. It is more than likely that the project will be dropped.

THE HAMILTON TIMES MONDAY, JAN. 27, 1908.

EDUCATION MUDDLING.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, has issued another pronouncement on the Ontario school system, and what he proposes to do to "reform" it.

The Education Department seems to be quite at sea. So far it is from having any definite policy, that the Minister in this circular actually talks of it being "the aim of the Education Department to place upon the trustees and the teachers the responsibility of providing, according to local needs, the education for his life work, which every pupil has the right to receive."

The Minister harps much upon the alleged evil of examinations. This is pure buncombe. No pupil in the public schools need take a single examination.

INTERESTS US ALL. That "intellectual preference" which Hon. Mr. Lemieux, the Postmaster-General, has helped to push forward with the aid of the British Postmaster-General, has met with the warmest appreciation of the British publishers of magazines, periodicals and newspapers.

But really, hasn't this examination bogey been exhibited so frequently that it is beginning to cease to terrify the public? Doesn't some test as to qualification in a professional education commenced itself to the common sense of intelligent men?

GREAT PRINCIPLE AT STAKE.

Not satisfied with the enormous advantage given by the construction of a power line at the expense of all the people of Ontario, whether they be users of power or not, a large proportion of whom are so situated that they can never hope to come within the range of the benefit to be derived by those who enjoy cheap power, the municipal authorities of London are now asking to be armed with authority to shut out from that city any concern which may be in a position to supply power at a low price.

lars of private capital—the money of enterprising Canadians and that of British and foreign capitalists who have been induced to invest in this fair country—have been put into power plants in Ontario. The Province, by reason of the prestige given it by cheap power, has had the eyes of the world turned towards it.

That the Colonial Postage Reform Committee tenders its grateful thanks to the Postmaster-General of Canada (the Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux), for his active and practical co-operation in securing the large reduction of postal rates on British publications transmitted to Canada, and expressing its conviction that the concessions made—as he fittingly puts it—in the direction of "intellectual preference" will prove to be of immense benefit to both countries.

Should this reduction of postage, or a further reduction, on British publications have the result that is anticipated, there will be a great increase in trade between the old land and Canada. United States publications, with their thousands of advertisements of all kinds of manufactures, etc., scattered broadcast over Canada, draw trade across the border.

Every now and again a loud cry goes up for more railways, but when one comes along all kinds of opposition is raised against it.

When the Herald said that domestic trade was more valuable to a country than foreign trade we thought it might have some other reason for believing that than Adam Smith's statement. We had no idea that it took Smith for a guide.

also appears in the statement of the committee. DEDICATION OF WINDOWS. IMPRESSIVE SERVICE IN ALL SAINTS' CHURCH YESTERDAY. Two Stained Glass Windows, in Memory of Former Parishioners' Add to Beauty of the Church.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Free Speech appears to have made Mr. Fowler speechless.

Joe Downey is not joking these days. Those by-elections were anything but a joke.

The "testament traitor" is a new one coined by the Spectator. It surely can't mean Mayor Stewart?

Toronto is talking about a subway, a tube line and an elevated road just as if it were New York.

If Whitney's power policy is to kill off all private competition, the province would be better off without his power.

Every now and again a loud cry goes up for more railways, but when one comes along all kinds of opposition is raised against it.

Eight new banks are seeking charters. Would it not be well to go slowly in the matter of multiplying new financial ventures, at present?

All signs point to a return to power of the Liberal party at the coming general elections. Hamilton might as well get ready to climb into the band wagon.

Nobody, we hope, wants to see Saltfleet go dry except in a legal way. If enough of proper votes were not cast in favor of local option, the temperance people should not grumble at the decision.

We are not so much interested as to whether a particular man is Grit or Tory as we are that the people should have a fair opportunity to vote for the men they want as aldermen whatever their politics might be.

Mr. S. Barker is one of the leading hunters in the quest of scandal. South Huron and Stanstead should have opened his eyes to the fact that the people are becoming terribly tired of the mud rake statesmen.

Perhaps some of our industrial concerns could manage to so arrange their affairs as to take on as many men as they can as soon as possible and help to relieve any distress that there is among the unemployed.

When the Herald said that domestic trade was more valuable to a country than foreign trade we thought it might have some other reason for believing that than Adam Smith's statement. We had no idea that it took Smith for a guide.

Miss Baxter, whose presence of mind and prompt action saved the life of a workman at the Westinghouse works on Friday, is one of those unassuming heroines whose bravery is apt to be allowed to pass unnoticed.

The United States Interstate Commerce Commission has recently announced a decision of considerable interest to Canadian railways. It is that a Canadian road having joint through rates from a point in the United States to points on its own line may not depart from these rates by the device of placing an agent at the United States point with authority to sell tickets from the first station on its line north of the Canadian boundary to other points on its line in Canada at a rate of one cent per mile.

The Canadian banks are steadily strengthening their position. In the last five months the current Canadian loans have been decreased over $24,500,000. Even at that, they are $8,000,000 higher than in December, 1906. Current loans elsewhere than in Canada decreased at December, 1907, $19,546,043 as compared with the record of December, 1906. Call loans in Canada are also over $13,000,000 less, while call loans elsewhere were over $15,000,000 less. If carefulness on the part of the Canadian banks will help to ward off financial trouble, the country will be protected.

WOLFE-MONTCALM.

Some Suggestions as to the Proposed Monument.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—Whatever may be the intention of those who have in hand the restoration of the historic Plains of Abraham, and if a suitable memorial is to be raised thereon, let them not forget, in honoring the death of Wolfe, the equally gallant Montcalm, the officers and battalions of France, the colony troops, the New England men, the sailors of the fleets, nor the Indian allies.

Perhaps just such another battle as that of Quebec was never fought. The events leading to its final scene, and the glory and heroism of the day, are a complicity of blood-thrilling pictures, found only on the canvases of this newer land. In the very faintest imagination of it all the mind must run riot.

On such a field erect a memorial arch greater and more beautiful than Napoleon's arch of triumph, and it would still be a trifling tribute to the glory of these plains. Embellish its columns with tablets of brass, so that all the world may read and wonder till the years grow cold.

Tablet 1. General James, Wolfe, etc. Dates, etc. Officers, etc. Regiments of the Line. Louisbourg Troops, etc. Royal Americans. The Fleet. Admiral Saunders. Admiral Holmes. Ships, etc.

Tablet 2. Marquis de Montcalm, etc. Dates, etc. Officers, etc. Levis and Banguenville (anyway). Regiments of the Line. La Salle, etc. La Reine, etc. Guienne, etc. Bearn, etc. Royal Roussillon, etc. Languedoc, etc. The Colony Troops, etc.

Tablet 3. The Indian Tribes, etc. Iroquois. Hurons. Nipissings. Algonquians. Micmacs. Malecites. Ottawaes. Ojibwas. Mississagas. (And any others.) The Founders of Quebec. Cartier (with dates). Champlain (with dates). Frontenac (with dates). Laval (with dates). Etc. J. A. SINGOLAIR.

TO OUR CITY FATHERS.

By J. Pottinger. Tell me if those elected To be aldermen, At the time of their office True and faithful fall!

Will they give into each question Always true, county ever Faithful to each obligation? Will the mayor and his colleagues Deal out justice unto all So that none throughout the future Some unfairness can recall? Will the revenue collected Be applied as it should be; And of some misapplication All the aldermen be free? So that those assessed for taxes Have no cause to be afraid, That the money will be squandered, To the city, they have paid? May they all in true allegiance Unto this ambitious town Show to all the world this city Ever is of great renown? Gravity is only the bark of wisdom, But it preserves it.—Confucius.

THE WORLD'S MATCHMAKING.

The Demand to be Supplied is Three Million Lucifers a Minute. The civilized nations of the world strike 8,000,000 matches every minute of the twenty-four hours. Nearly one-half of these are ignited in this country.

Matches are manufactured in many ways and with numerous kinds of machinery, and for that reason a description of an operation in one factory would not apply to another. Nearly every manufacturing company has machinery made specially for its use, and covered by patents, and it also employs processes discovered or devised by its own chemists and mechanics, and kept secret to prevent rivals from obtaining and profiting by them.

Some matches are shaved with the grain from sawed blocks, some are cut both ways by saws. In some factories the blocks are belled to make them cut easily. By some machines a boiled or steamed log is revolved on its own axis and a shaving—the thickness of a match—is cut round and round. This shaving is at the same time cut into lengths and split into many sticks. There is hardly a limit to the varieties of methods employed. Round matches are made by forcing them through dies. The Japanese make paper matches, which are wood after all.—Kansas City Star

A Liberal Postmaster.

When Amos Kendall was postmaster-general at Washington, on the story goes, he wrote one day to the postmaster at a little station on the Tombigbee River: "You will please inform this department how far the Tombigbee river runs up" to which the postmaster answered: "I have the honor to inform the department that the Tombigbee does not run up at all; it runs down." In due course of mail came another communication: "On receipt of this letter your appointment as postmaster will cease. Mr. [Name] has been appointed your successor. To which went the following reply: "The receipts of this office during the last year have been $4.37 and the office rent more than double that sum; please kindly instruct my successor to pay me the balance and oblige."—Argonaut.

BANNERMAN MAY RETIRE.

Report That Mr. Asquith May Succeed Him.

Alarmist Reports as to Labor Joining Socialists.

Pending Fight With the House of Lords in Prospect

London, Jan. 26.—The absence of the Prime Minister from the Privy Council meeting Saturday and the cancellation of the evening party that was to take place at his official residence next Tuesday is explained by the official announcement that "Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is confined to his room by a cold."

But I understand that Sir Henry's health is so bad that his retirement from active political life may be expected at any moment. He is suffering from angina pectoris, but this is not generally known.

In the event of the Prime Minister's retirement the conduct of affairs in the coming session, beginning Wednesday, would devolve upon Mr. Herbert Henry Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The promotion of Mr. Winston Churchill to the Cabinet is now regarded as a certainty, and there seems to be a good likelihood of the fulfillment of the plan to give Mr. Herbert Gladstone a Peirage and a seat in the House of Lords.

Labor Party and Socialism.

In all the political movements of England possibly no such sudden and remarkable swing of the pendulum of public opinion has ever been witnessed as that recorded this week, when in a conference at Hull the representatives of millions of British workmen forming the Labor party hoisted the red flag of Socialism.

The party put itself on record as accepting the Socialist doctrine that production, distribution and exchange should be controlled by the entire community, and as favoring the establishment of social and economic equality between the sexes.

Persons who professed astonishment and fear when the long-time figure of John Burns—raised to a seat in the Cabinet—entered Parliament as a representative of a Labor constituency many years ago, have now a real reason to fear for the traditional conservative trend of British legislative institutions.

Socialism in Parliament.

Among other things, the latest move of the Labor party really means that the cry of Socialism will not only be raised with a strong voice in the House of Commons, but that the present Labor members of Parliament who have so suddenly changed their political complexion will be backed in pushing the Socialist propaganda by the strong organization and wealthy treasury of the Labor party, though it is true that since the Hull meeting some non-Socialist members of the party have condemned its action and threatened to break away.

Nevertheless, it now seems plain enough that unless other political parties can succeed in breaking up the Socialist party, nothing short of a political revolution can be expected. There are already indications that the present Liberal Government will attempt to obtain the early support of the Socialists in the pending fight against the House of Lords, and that if this aid is forthcoming the next session of Parliament beginning Wednesday is likely to be the most exciting in many years.

Radial Liberal Programme.

Even the Liberal Government itself has a programme that is rather startling to conservative British voters, including, as it does, rapid progress with the old age pension bill, to further improve the conditions of Ireland and other measures which will entail bitter fights.

Impartial observers in some quarters declare that the middle and upper classes of England, who have such good ground to fear the present Socialist movement, have only themselves to blame for the Labor party's sudden change of front. In other words, laboring men seem to be practically driven to take their latest radical step from sheer desperation at their present deplorable plight—the growing rarity of employment and the rise in the cost of living.

Flagstuffs Before Bread.

The percentage of hungry men, women and children begging bread throughout England this winter is greater than for twenty years past, and the desolation in many towns and villages, to say nothing of the larger cities, is appalling. The labor leaders, while acknowledging the splendid efforts made to relieve the suffering, point to the utter impossibility of preventing starvation and to the utter indifference of the great mass of the people to the condition of the poor.

A Typical Illustration of their Ground for Resentment against the more fortunate portion of the community is found in London this week, where the County Council insisted on voting a liberal sum of money for the purchase of flagstuffs to be set up on the public schools rather than vote money toward school children who average less than one meal a day and always go to school hungry.

Countess of Warwick Delighted.

The labor leaders have wisely taken into consideration the economic conditions of the country in framing their accusations, and by so doing they strengthen another charge, that of "criminal callousness," against the prosperous sections that are always willing to open their cheque books for the aid of sentimental measures—monument funds, funds for the erection of old buildings, etc.—but who refuse to interest themselves in the demands of charity.

Among those who have hailed with delight the Hull Socialist avowals of the Labor party is the Countess of Warwick, who has since sent several telegrams to the newspapers on the subject.

Full Programme of Collectivism.

New York, Jan. 26.—The Sun has received the following cable dispatch from London: The programme demanding the socialization of the means of production and their distribution and exchange voted for by the Labor conference last week, is the full programme of collectivism. It means Government land, Government crops, Government manufactures, Government railroads, Government commerce and Government employment except in domestic service; in fact, Socialism pure and simple.

Fun for Times' Readers

An Enthusiasm.

"I'm very fond of literature," said Maggie MacGee, "Although I scarcely can endure the dullness in between. The picture pages where they tell of things that people have to see, and how it's safe to insure—I'm very fond of literature!" —Washington Star.

Grandma's Way.

When an elderly woman begins a conversation by saying, "I raised my children without help," it is an intimation that she is tired taking care of grandchildren.—Aitchison Globe.

The Esoteric Prune.

All hail the esoteric prune, A winner in the list. By any one who ever boards His presence won't be missed, Some people like him with the juice, Some like him eaten plain, White lots and lots of others treat His prunehood with disdain. —Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Question of Class.

"They are constantly catching more grates," said the hopeful citizen. "Not regular grates," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "Those who get caught are only amateurs." —Washington Star.

A Word From Josh Wise.

"I've noticed no one ever raises their question when a woman's usefulness ends. It simply doesn't." —Chicago Journal.

The Melodrama.

Like to see a melodrama, Something doing all the time, Loot and plunder, blood and thunder, And a medley of crime; There's the hero in distraction, With his fortunes running slow, And the killing of the villain To the music soft and low.

Out the heroine steps lightly.

To the centre of the stage, Sweet sixteen, or the demenor Of a maiden of that age. Then the plot begins to thicken As the villain sails in view, Under cover of her lover He begins the girl to woo.

Nothing doing for the hero

At this section of the plot, His intentions have dimensions, But they do not take the pot. For the villain does a curtain, Burns a will he doesn't need, And he nearly proves it clearly That the hero did the deed.

Ah, but right turns up triumphantly,

And the wrong is put to rout, His name as usual on the curtain, And the villain loses out, And the hero takes the lady, By the dainty little mitt, And the audience in rapture, Rises up and throws a fit.

Appreciation.

ROME'S AURELIAN WALLS.

Plot by Which their Demolition Was Accomplished.

Rome, Jan. 26.—The Mayor has decided to prevent any further demolition of the Aurelian walls. The Giornale points out that it is not Italians, but foreigners, who are responsible for the vandalism already perpetrated. It declares that two English women and an American are the culprits, and proceeds to unveil the following little plot of these Anglo-American conspirators. The ladies occupy houses inside and outside the walls. Thus, although they were close neighbors, they were unable to visit each other without a long walk around.

Burglar at St. Catharines Got a Brand New Outfit.

St. Catharines, Jan. 26.—On Friday night a thief broke into Bissonnet's (Cox's) clothing house and Coy Bros' hardware store, securing a large quantity of goods in both places. The thief took one suit of black clothes, one blue overcoat, leather hand bag, and numerous other articles, leaving his old clothes in exchange.

MONARCHS IN TRADE.

One Owns a Pottery and Another a Barber Shop.

London, Jan. 26.—A monarch and a man of business is a more frequent combination than many imagine. Emperor William owns a well-equipped pottery, which brings him $50,000 a year. The King of Wurtemberg is the proprietor of two large hotels, which yield a similar amount. The King of Saxony owns a porcelain factory at Meissen.

Queen's Property Stolen.

London, Jan. 26.—Three valuable miniature of the Duchess of Fife, the Queen of Norway, and Princess Victoria, all belonging to Queen Alexandra, have been stolen by burglars from the studio of an engraver in London, to which they had been sent for reproduction.

MISSION FIELD DAY AMONG METHUENISTS.

Little Doubt That the $15,000 Asked For Will Be Raised In Hamilton.

Some Fine Addresses At the Campaign Services In the City Churches.

In all the Methodist Churches of the city the missionary campaign was in full swing yesterday. Last year the churches of that denomination contributed something over $13,000 to the missionary cause—a large increase over the previous year—and this year they were asked to make it $15,000. Some of the ablest exponents of the missionary cause in the Province were here for the campaign, and last night, after the evening service, the visiting speakers, who included a number of prominent laymen, and all the city Methodist ministers, met at Wesleyan, the residence of Mrs. Sanford, and talked over the cause, and the work of the day. General satisfaction was expressed with the financial result of the campaign. Just what the Sunday schools and leagues may do is yet to be seen, as they have until the end of the financial year—April 30—to make their returns. The feeling last night was that the amount asked for would be exceeded. The churches generally did better than last year.

At Centenary. That a nation's gain depended as much on the support of the missionary cause as did its spiritual advancement was the ringing note of a clear cut, forceful plea by Rev. James Allen, Secretary of Home Missions, who presided in Centenary Church in the morning. The story of Abraham, who brushed aside the offer of military power and gain for the essential things so that he might fulfil the work God had assigned him, served as a text for the sermon. God, declared the speaker, had given to the people of Great Britain a work similar to that of Abraham, to build up an empire out of which should come in great proportion the future force of the world. This was beset with obstacles externally and internally. Externally by the great territory, not so easily defensible; by its people, the great majority of which included almost every race under the sun, and by the jealousy of the nations of the earth to everything bearing the British name. Prosperity invited envy and the tendency of latter years among the nations of continental Europe was to separate the British Empire. With immense interests at stake and immense territory to protect she stood alone. The danger though was not from without, but from within, and might be summed up in the lust of the world and the trust in it, faith in the multitude and majority instead of in Christian character. He believed that the parting of the ways had been reached, and that the nation's future depended largely on the course that was followed. Surely its people, like Abraham, would insist on the essential things, not be dazzled by the power of gain to forget Christian character, by which alone could be performed the work assigned by God. A nation's greatness did not lie in its broad acres or in its political constitution. No legitimate change he believed into heaven. If material gain was made the main pursuit it was sure to lead downward. With God the chief consideration it meant a strong nation. The bad and good were married, if the term might be used, and there was no divorce. If we declined to lift up the degraded it followed that they would pull us down. The great need in the missionary cause was men and money and a complete consecration of the people.

Mr. Allen was a former member of the church, and double interest attached to himself in his appearance in the pulpit yesterday. Rev. J. V. Smith, D. D., another former pastor, spoke at the evening service, and in the afternoon Rev. E. B. Lancelotti, of London, addressed the Sunday school.

First Methodist Church. The services in First Methodist Church were largely attended and the addresses were Rev. E. B. Lancelotti, of Dundas Centre Church, London, in the morning, Rev. James Allen, M. A., in the afternoon, and Rev. Mr. Livingstone, of London, in the evening. Mr. Lancelotti spoke from Acts xvi, 16-18. The text, he said, contained the very spirit of the missionary movement. A great many human schemes had one great failing. They are simply human schemes, and being human, are subject to change, modification, and even to entire obliteration. There is just one scheme which originated entirely with God, being carried on in His goodness and for His glory. That one is the missionary movement. Behind that movement is the sevenfold nature of God. It cannot ultimately fail. If the present instrument proves worthless He will provide others. There are other great and beneficent schemes, such as education, the young men's movement, the Y. P. S. C. E., the Sunday school, all of which may be, and are, doing great work for God and the extension of His kingdom, but they are subject to change and modification. We may change their forms or display them all together. It is no harm to criticize them, but to criticize and condemn missions is blasphemy. As sure as God lives His work shall go on. It is the one work of God. To take part in it is to have a share in the sevenfold work and ultimate triumph of God.

After referring to some of the old First Methodist Church men of the years when he was a boy in this city, Mr. Lancelotti said God is just as much with R. J. Treleven from Sunday to Sunday and from day to day as he was with William Morley Punshon. God is a present God. We are without hope if we are without God, and we are without God if He is not a present God. He referred to what Napoleon said a hundred years ago about the danger of China's awakening, and said it was for the Christians of Europe and America to so lead the now awakening nation so that, instead of a menace to the world, it would be a blessing.

The nominal conversion of the world, Mr. Lancelotti said, was now only a matter of the monetary consideration. The present generation would see the work accomplished if it made the fullest use obligation to see that the new corner to our shores are brought under the influence of the religion of Christ. The Rev. T. E. Shore, B. A., B. D., preached in the evening, and said that unless we could show ourselves concerned in the salvation of the heathen, we have no reason for the great expense of our modern church and if our love for our Saviour only carried us the length of supplying our own spiritual needs, the time would soon come when even that duty would appear too great and we would be in the same condition of darkness as Africa.

The pastor urged the congregation to a more general and liberal contribution to the fund and expressed the assurance that the amount would be much larger than at any former period of the church.

Barton Street. Barton Street Methodists had a highly successful day. Last year their contributions reached about $400, which was considered liberal. This year the church has about $1,600 in sight already.

Gore Street. Rev. J. A. Long, chairman of the Bradford District, Toronto Conference, was the speaker in Gore Street Methodist Church yesterday morning. His topic was "Our Duty to the Foreign Field." He spoke earnestly on this subject and explained the church's status in regard to the uncivilized. The only difference he said was that they were ignorant and we have knowledge. It is the duty of all Christians to reach the world of God to those who have not heard it, and even those who had not heard it were every bit as good as we were and are God's creatures also. All they need is a little light to make them subjects to revere the great Lord who made the universe in which they are suffered to live. Special music was rendered by the choir. The congregations were large despite the inclement weather.

Charlton Avenue. In Charlton Avenue Church Rev. T. E. Egerton Shore, Field Secretary of Missions, gave an address yesterday morning. He spoke of the field of labor, the work in Canada and the church's foreign missions, and made a special appeal for liberal contributions. In the afternoon Rev. Dr. Long gave a good address to the Sunday school and last night Rev. E. B. Lancelotti preached a very strong sermon. Incidentally, he referred to the fact that he had preached his first sermon in that church—old Hannah Street Methodist.

Last year Charlton Avenue gave $845 from church, Sunday school, League and other sources. Yesterday the church alone contributed $700. It is expected that the efforts of the other organizations will bring the total up to over $1,000.

Zion Tabernacle. In Zion Tabernacle Mr. C. B. Keenleyside, M. A., of London, spoke in the morning. He gave an interesting explanation of the missionary work of the Methodist Church in all its departments, including the Canadian or home field, India, Japan and China and laid before the people the necessity of so increasing the missionary fund as to ensure the placing of the missionary work every 25,000 of the heathen population. Rev. J. V. Smith spoke to the Sunday school in the afternoon and Mr. Joseph Gibson, of Ingersoll, gave one of his inimitable addresses at night.

Zion last night increased its giving by almost 100 per cent.—the largest increase in Hamilton—from $550 to almost $1,100. This year it will raise about $1,200.

Wesley Church. Rev. D. J. V. Smith, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit in Wesley at both services. Dr. Smith is a very convincing speaker, dealing out facts in a very concise manner, and in such a way that he cannot be misunderstood. His sermon in the morning while not a direct appeal for missions, dealt with the principle which lies at the root of the missionary movement—the brotherhood of man.

He chose as his text, Isaiah 60, 1: "Arise, shine for thy light is come." He said that the opening of the twentieth century was the breaking of the dawn of a new vision for the people, in regard to the what should be done for those who had not received the gospel of Jesus Christ. Many people looked on life with a fatalistic philosophy, believing that things are going to happen whether it is will or not. Dr. Smith contended that if life is to be considered a business, it has certainly been proved to be not paying expenses. Let the pessimist and the sensualist have their own opinions, that should have no effect on the thoughts and belief of the Christian of to-day. The church of to-day is approaching a crisis like the one which has never before occurred in its magnitude. Modern civilization is in transient state.

Dr. Smith was of the opinion that the church is having a social mission thrust upon itself to the live questions of the day. Therefore it is necessary to look on the religion of Jesus Christ with a much larger conception, than in the past. The brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God must go hand in hand, and the church of the present day has an unparalleled opportunity of doing good in this direction. The saving of souls is a divine art, not a human one. The church of the twentieth century has churches with strength and riches as churches have never done during the past nineteen hundred years, but where are the sacrifices that the churches of the past age made. Truly a few paltry millions are given to missions, but the board upon which that millions are being expended is the buying of stocks and bonds in the church's interest. That was and is not in accordance with the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Through all the ages up to the present time there has been little effort made to save the souls of men and women throughout the world, and with the education that is received by the people of this age, it should be sufficient to do more work in Christ's interest. What is wanted is men and women with enthusiasm, who will go ahead and preach the great truths of Christianity.

Simcoe Street. At Simcoe Street Methodist Church, the people turned out in large numbers at all the services. At 11 o'clock the Rev. W. W. Priddy, B. A., of Japan, told the wonders of the country, the climate and the people, and relating some of his experiences of his seven years' services. When Mr. Priddy took charge there was only one Christian member of the church and his congregation was often made up of four people while to-day there are fifty members of the church and a school of more than one hundred, while the prospects are brighter each day for a largely increased usefulness. The territory over which he has charge is a country 50 miles by 47 miles, but so mountainous that only 400 square miles of level land is available to sustain a population of 800,000 people.

In the afternoon Joseph Gibson of Ingersoll, gave one of his clever addresses to the Sunday School, in which he drew a vivid picture of the extent and resources of our country and of our

CANADIAN CHEESE.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir—Mr. Geo. H. Barr, a member of my staff, who was official referee of butter and cheese at Montreal last season, in speaking of his work at the recent dairy convention held at Pieter, Ont., made the statement that only 2 per cent of the cheese which he examined were of No. 1 grade. This statement was widely quoted as showing a serious condition in the Canadian cheese trade. As there is nothing in the statement itself or in the facts of the case to warrant such a conclusion, I ask your permission to make the following explanation. As Mr. Barr explained in his statement, he examined less than half of 1 per cent, or about one lot out of every 200 lots of cheese received at Montreal during the season, and further, as he was asked to examine only those lots which had been condemned by the purchasers, it is not surprising that only 2 per cent were first grade. The showing is a remarkably good one rather than a bad one. As a matter of fact, the quality of Canadian cheese never stood as high as it does at the present time. More improvement has been made in the last year or two than for many years previous. The writer has just returned from a lengthy visit to the markets of Great Britain and can speak with confidence on that point. By giving space to this explanation, you will greatly oblige. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 20th, 1908.

Beats the Regulation of Cast H. H. H. Charmed With Venice. A young lady had returned from a tour through Italy with her father remarked that her father had liked all the Italian cities, but especially did he like Venice. "Ah, Venice, to be sure," said the friend to whom she was relating some of the adventures of their trip. "I can readily understand that your father would prefer Venice, with its gondolas and St. Mark's and Michael Angelo's." "Oh, no," said the young lady; "it wasn't that. But he could sit in the hotel, you know, and fish out of the window."

LOOKS LIKE A MURDER. MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR HIS OWN HOME. Body Found Near Railroad Tracks. Lancaster and Theory is That He Was Fatally Assaulted and Robbed—Had Gone to Buy Groceries for Sunday Meal. Buffalo, Jan. 27.—Within a stone's throw of his home, Horace Chapman, a well-known resident of Lancaster, was found dead at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The discovery of the body beside the railroad track gives rise to the suspicion of murder, and the police last night worked with that theory uppermost. Chapman had been out Saturday night to buy groceries and do some other shopping. He usually took the railroad track to reach the grocery store. He did not take much money with him; no more than he needed for the groceries he intended to buy. When his body was found beside the tracks, there was not a penny in his pockets, nor were any groceries lying about. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Cornell, started out to find why he had not returned with the food for the Sunday dinner. This was at 10 o'clock. She had not gone many paces from the rear of her home when she found the body. The face was bruised and the nose broken. The woman rushed to neighbors, and Dr. Ewell, of Lancaster, was called. "That man was never struck by a railroad train," said Dr. Ewell to a reporter last night. "Was he assaulted?" he was asked. "I am not sure. The man's face indicated that he had been beaten, but death may have resulted from exposure, for it was a rather cold night." Medical Examiner Danzer was notified and viewed the body, and the premises last yesterday afternoon. He ordered the body sent to the home of the family. According to the residents of Lancaster, Chapman bore an excellent reputation. He was married and two little children and his wife survive him. Relatives and friends believe he was assaulted and left to die near the tracks. Chapman was employed by the Lancaster Machine & Electric Works.

LAYMEN'S DAY FOR MISSIONS.

Toronto Business Men Spoke in Baptist Churches.

Ex-Mayor Urquhart One of the Delegation.

Much Interest Aroused in the Congregations.

The laymen's missionary movement was the subject of the pulpit discourse in all the Baptist churches in the city yesterday. Four Toronto business men who are deeply interested in the movement were the speakers, and all made a favorable impression, giving inspiring talks on the great movement. In the James Street Baptist Church in the morning Mr. S. J. Moore was the speaker, and at the afternoon meeting at the same place Mr. T. Urquhart, ex-Mayor of Toronto, gave a most earnest and practical address. He gave a history of the movement, which was started in New York in 1906 by four Gotham business men, who realized that the work of evangelizing the world must be taken hold of in a business-like way by the business men of the churches. They started out with the idea of evangelizing the world in this generation. In the past most of the contributions to the missionary cause have been made by women and the children of the various Sunday schools; now it is the men who are expected to handle the purse. Speaking of the movement in Toronto, Mr. Urquhart stated that Jarvis Street Church last year gave $7,000 and this year it had undertaken to raise $15,000. The Walmer Road Church has undertaken to increase its missionary givings from $6,000 to $14,000. At a banquet the other night $1,185 in missionary stock was sold in a church that contributed only $300 last year, and since the banquet $500 more had been raised. According to the plan of campaign, it will be necessary for the Baptists to double their givings from $2 a head to $4. Instead of carrying the gospel to 1,500,000, the Baptists are expected to send the Light to three million heathens.

Ex-Mayor Urquhart spoke at the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church in the evening to a large congregation. He made a deep impression on his hearers. He gave the same facts and figures at both churches.

Mr. J. N. Shennone, who was to have been one of the speakers here yesterday, was unable to come with the rest of the Toronto laymen, on account of his son figuring in a serious accident on a toboggan slide in Toronto on Saturday evening. The young man was very seriously hurt.

In Wentworth Street Baptist Church Messrs. W. C. Senior and J. C. Bodley, of Toronto, were the speakers. Rev. A. L. Huddleston, the pastor, introduced them, and briefly explained the laymen's movement. Mr. Bodley gave an interesting history of the movement. He said that the missionary offerings of Toronto were $140,000 last year, of which the Baptists contributed $23,000, and $500,000 has been pledged for this year, of which $50,000 will come from the Baptists.

Mr. Senior presented the figures, and told of the amount needed to carry on this great work. In opening, he explained that the commission of Jesus Christ is to go into all the world, and preach the gospel, and this movement is to stir men so that they may awaken to the need of the executing of this commission.

Before dismissing, Mr. Huddleston expressed his appreciation for what the speakers had said, and stated that he thought the members would not only pray for it, but do the utmost to help along so good a cause.

There was a good gathering at both services. The members and adherents of Barton Street Church were out in large numbers yesterday morning to hear Thomas Urquhart, ex-Mayor of Toronto, give the history of the laymen's missionary movement.

TRIED TO HANG HERSELF.

Peterborough Woman Under Arrest Attempted Suicide in Cell.

Peterborough, Ont., Jan. 26.—Mrs. Mary Williamson, arrested on Friday evening for being drunk, attempted to commit suicide in the police cell in the night by tying a muffler to the top of the cell and fastening it around her neck. The constable on duty at the station heard the woman strangling and cut her down before her life was extracted. She is about fifty years of age.

THEIR ELECTION IS INVALID.

Welland Water Commission Must Step Out After Doing Work.

Welland, Jan. 26.—The Town of Welland finds itself in a peculiar position regarding its water works commission. On the date of the municipal elections the ratepayers decided in favor of commission management, and on the same date elected three commissioners to act with the Mayor. The new commission had no time in getting to work. Arrangements were at once taken for overhauling the system, and yesterday paid officials completed the taking of a water census.

Now it is discovered that the election of the commissioners is invalid, for the reason that a recent amendment provides that two or four commissioners must be elected and not three.

Was This Man Doped?

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—James Callahan, aged about 30, was arrested on Saturday afternoon while under the influence of liquor.

HOME MADE REMEDY.

Especially Valued by the Elderly People Who Suffer.

A large health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles receives the greatest praise, viz., Fluid Extract, Janderson, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumbler of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic affections, relieving the ache and pains and reducing swellings in just a short while.

A well-known local druggist states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongelike organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

DEATH OF OUIDA.

NOVELIST PASSED AWAY AT VIAREGGIO, ITALY.

Had Been Living for Some Time in Most Distressing Poverty—Often Compelled to Sleep Out of Doors—Starved Herself to Feed Her Dogs.

Florence, Jan. 26.—Ouida (Louise de la Ramee), the novelist died yesterday at Viareggio, after an illness extending over a long period. She died in most distressing poverty, her only attendant being an old servant woman, in whose arms she expired. She was completely blind in one eye, and the other eye was badly affected through her having suffered so much from exposure and privation. During the last few months of her life she was compelled at times to sleep in the open air when unable to pay for a night's lodging. The immediate cause of death is set down as asthma complicated by heart disease. Ouida had a passionate fondness for dogs, and up to the very last was surrounded by many of them, depriving herself of even the necessities of life in order to feed them. The Minister of Instruction had sent her considerable contributions which had been subscribed for her aid.

Louise de la Ramee was a British novelist of French extraction. She was born at Bury St. Edmunds about 1820, under the pseudonym, "Ouida," was a childless misanthropic woman. "Under Two Flags," was written in 1867, and was dramatized only recently. Other noted novels are "Moths," "Held in Bondage" and "Guldreyo."

WOMEN'S WORK OVER IN INDIA.

Splendid Address by Mrs. Sanford on Saturday

At the Annual Meeting of the Local Council.

National Convention in Canada in June of Next Year.

The annual meeting of the Local Council of Women was held on Saturday afternoon in Centenary Church Lecture Hall, and was largely attended. Mrs. J. M. Gibson occupied the chair. Reports were received from the different societies that are affiliated with the Local Council. There are 19 of these, most of which were represented. The report of the secretary was read by Miss Hood, the corresponding secretary, in which she stated that the Council had a membership of 14, with three life members. The treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Ballard, reported a balance of $47.19 in the treasury. The receipts amounted to $179. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Mrs. Sanford. President—Mrs. Gibson. Vice Presidents—Mrs. Lyle, Mrs. Levy, Lady Taylor, Mrs. Calder, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Leggat. Treasurer—Mrs. Ballard. Recording Secretary—Miss Wood. Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Harris. Lady Taylor announced that Canada is to be favored with the presence of the International Council of Women and the International Congress of Women, both organizations holding their convocations in Toronto, in June, 1909, for women to meet in social intercourse. Mrs. Sanford's address was somewhat in the nature of a travel talk, with reference to sights pleasant and otherwise of the places she had visited while on her trip through that mysterious country. She said that the English women and other women of Calcutta were quite anxious for the formation of a council, and she thought if it was started on a right basis it would be a success.

Mrs. Sanford goes as the Canadian delegate in April to the meeting of the Italian Women's Council. During the afternoon solos were sung by Mrs. George Allan and Miss Gwendolyn Holliday, accompanied by Miss Nellie Ham. Light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

ANOTHER INTERNATIONAL LINE.

Buffalo & Rochester Seeking Entrance to Niagara Falls, Ont.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 26.—An announcement of great interest to Niagara Falls and to all railway interests in southern Ontario was made yesterday. It is that the Buffalo, Rochester & Eastern Railway Company will apply to the United States Public Service Commission for permission to alter the plans for its road so as to enter Niagara Falls by a new line from Tonawanda. In the original plan Buffalo was to be the western terminus of the line, and its connections to points further west were to be over roads running south of Lake Erie.

This new application is declared by railway men to be practically a declaration that the Buffalo, Rochester & Eastern has at last arranged with the Grand Trunk for the use of its western terminus. If this is correct it means an enormous addition to the freight traffic across Southern Ontario between the Niagara and Detroit Rivers.

KITCHEN WAS WRECKED.

Three Persons Injured by Explosion of Natural Gas.

Blenheim, Jan. 26.—Three persons were injured and a house badly wrecked by an explosion of natural gas at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Coatsworth, two miles east of here, at 10 o'clock this morning. The injured were: Mrs. Coatsworth, her son, Mr. Herb. Lot, and a young man named David Hamilton, all of whom were badly burned. Mr. Lot some time previous to the explosion had disconnected the pipes in order to remove water from them, and in doing so quite a quantity of gas was allowed to escape.

When the fire was lighted in the kitchen range it was followed by a terrific explosion, and blew out two of the outside walls of the kitchen and saved in the roof. All three of the injured persons were in the kitchen at the time of the explosion.

GERMANY'S TRADE GROWING.

Great Gains in Both Imports and Exports in 1907.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Despite the fact that financial worry cast a dark cloud over the German business world in the last three months of 1907, the fatherland's general trade for the year showed heavy gains over 1906. The exports totalled $1,780,000,000, and the imports ran up to $2,000,000,000. The figures show increases over 1906 of $358,000,000 with respect to exports, and $320,000,000 with respect to imports.

SENDING TROOPS TO ASIA.

Russia Has Ordered Four Brigades to Trans-Baikalia.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—The Minister of War has ordered four brigades of infantry, not stationed at Odessa, to proceed to Trans-Baikalia to strengthen the garrison in the neighborhood of the Russo-Chinese frontier. This constitutes the largest transfer of troops in Russia since the war with Japan, and is a plain intimation of the disquieting character of recent military activity on the part of China with reference to the Chinese-Japanese relations.

SAFE IN PORT.

MOUNT ROYAL'S PASSENGERS FINISH THEIR VOYAGE AT LAST

Were Fifty Days at Sea—Last Trip Was Almost as Stormy as First—Some of the Unfortunates Will be Sent Back.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 26.—After nearly 50 days on the ocean the 300 immigrants who left Antwerp on Dec. 7 for St. John on the C. P. R. steamer Mount Royal to make homes in western Canada and the United States arrived here to-day on the C. P. R. steamer Montrose. As is known, the Mount Royal was buffeted on the Atlantic for a month, given up for lost and finally reached Queenstown. There the passengers were transferred to the Montrose, and on Jan. 11 left again for St. John. On the Montrose were also 100 other immigrants from Antwerp. The Montrose should have reached here on Wednesday last, but very rough weather delayed the steamer. For seven days between Jan. 13 and 19 little more than 60 miles was covered on any day. On the 14th a great sea carried away a lifeboat. On the 19th the storm was very heavy, and while it raged the body of a child who had died the day before was committed to the deep. The Montrose officers say the voyage was the roughest in their experience.

Of the Mount Royal's passengers few can speak English. One Englishman has, however, told a thrilling story. "When days followed days," he said, "and no land was reached the immigrants became alarmed, but their fears became absolute terror when on Christmas eve word went round that the boilers had given out. They prayed and cried, women tore their hair in their agony, and one woman attempted suicide by hanging herself to a beam, but was cut down. The weather was very rough and the ship plunged into the seas, one mounting almost to the crew's neck." Of those on the Montrose 225 are for western Canada, 50 for Cape Breton and 126 for United States points. Nearly all passed the immigration inspectors. A Russian had had his feet frozen while travelling overland to Antwerp from his home in the steamer. He, his relatives and the lad was placed in the hospital here, but will likely have to have his feet amputated and also will likely be deported.

When the immigration officials had completed inspection it was found that after all their hardships in trying to reach the new land eighty-five had been held up for various causes, shortage of money, old age, trachoma, etc. Some will eventually get to their destination, home again. Among the latter is a young Belgian. Just before sailing he heard of financial losses he had suffered, and this preyed on his mind. He is now in the asylum here, and will be deported.

BRITISH LADIES SMOKE.

Not Afraid of Publicity Either, on Board Ship.

New York, Jan. 26.—Lady Juliet Duff, daughter of the fourth Earl of Londale, and the Hon. Violet Mary Vivian, sister of the Queen, were passengers by the White Star liner Agraria, which reached her dock yesterday. The latter is a Second Life Guards, who has the opinion that his wife has just as much right to smoke as he has.

Some of the American women who had been smoking on the quiet in their staterooms, during the voyage, and the young Englishwomen openly indulging, went back and got their own packages, and soon there were eight or ten wreaths of vapor going up from the tables in the lounge.

DISMISSED THE ITALIANS.

Rockefeller's Method of Relieving Tarrytown Unemployed.

New York, Jan. 26.—To aid the large number of the unemployed of Tarrytown, New York, who are suffering from the effects of the strike, John D. Rockefeller sent word yesterday from the south to the superintendent of his estate at Paeanctio to lay off all foreigners and give employment to needy residents. In addition, Mr. Rockefeller has given permission to those who want to go into his woods and cut wood to warm their homes.

Mr. Rockefeller was appealed to by ministers and the wives of men out of employment, and he decided to relieve the laboring men. There were hundreds of Italians working on the Rockefeller estate and they were dismissed to-day. Three hundred unemployed men will be put to work on the Rockefeller estate on Monday.

TWO BODIES FOUND.

Supposed to be Indians Killed by G. T. R. Train.

Middlemiss, Jan. 26.—The bodies of two persons were found by a sectionman on the G. T. R. tracks about two and a half miles west of here, at what is known as Gentlemen's Bridge. One is presumably that of a boy, about fourteen years of age, and the other seems to be that of a full-sized adult, but both are mangled beyond possible recognition. It is the general opinion that they are two Indians who were returning to the Muncey Reserve when killed. Dr. Walker, coroner, ordered from Muncie about 6 p. m., and the remains to the G. T. R. station at Middlemiss, where they now lay awaiting the orders of the coroner.

VALUABLE FIND ON INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

While travelling on the I. C. R. Mr. Harvey W. Towers, residing at No. 7 St. Paul Street, St. John, N. B., made a valuable discovery. Some one had left a small box of Zam-Buk the great skin Bessie in the Car and as Mr. Towers suffered with badly chapped hands, he applied same. To his surprise it healed him rapidly. He says: "It is an excellent remedy, the best I have ever used for chapped hands, cuts, sores of burns, and I would not be without it."

Mr. Towers is only one of many thousands who are glad they hear of Zam-Buk. There is no skin disease it will not relieve and cure. Zam-Buk is everywhere regarded as Nature's Great "First Aid." No traveller should be without Zam-Buk as a healer of skin diseases. Barber's Rash and other skin diseases they are so liable to contact. It cures ulcers, festering boils, eczema, piles, rheumatism, etc.

LITTLE "TOOTSIE"

SAVED HIS MASTER'S LIFE IN SNOWSTORM.

Prof. Henry A. Chapman Has Narrow Escape From Death in New York Storm—Fell in Street With Heart Failure.

New York, Jan. 25.—"Tootsie," the smallest Skye terrier in the world, and a blue ribbon winner, saved her owner, Prof. Henry A. Chapman, from death in the storm yesterday morning. Before that the professor valued Tootsie at $500. Yesterday he said his pet was priceless.

When Prof. Chapman, who was formerly head of a sanitarium in Rhode Island, left his home, 161 West Thirty-fourth street, Thursday afternoon, to visit friends in Brooklyn, he carried Tootsie in his overcoat pocket. The dog had often made lengthy journeys in this way, and never had been known to betray his retreat to a trolley car conductor.

The professor was prevented on his main floor for dinner and spending the evening. When he was ready to start for home the storm was making its heaviest onslaught. To avoid its violence he took a subway train, but on leaving it at Thirty-fourth street found the cross-trolley cars were not running. This was after midnight.

Nothing daunted, Prof. Chapman, with Tootsie still safely sheltered in his pocket, started to walk the five blocks to his home. He was not far from his own door when an attack of heart failure caused him to sink.

His master's head, and being snowed under, when Tootsie awoke from a nap to find the flakes invading its snug bed.

The little animal realized something was wrong. It wriggled loose from the pocket and paddled through the snow to its master's head. The dog whined and licked off the snow covering the professor's face. But the man could not move. He was past the power to speak.

Looking up, Tootsie saw a shape approaching. It was a lay horse, that now he was laboring through the driving snow, was almost opposite the form on the edge of the sidewalk when the dog dashed through the snow and uttered a series of shrill barks that arrested the attention of the impatient cabman.

He stopped his horse, and with the aid of an electric light he made out the form of Tootsie, hardly larger than a ground-squirrel. The little dog plowed back and forth between his master and the cab, trying to indicate that help was wanted.

At last the cabby understood. He descended and went over the snowy form of the professor, and after brushing off the accumulation, forced whiskey down his throat. This accelerated the heart action and the professor revived enough to tell where he lived.

The cabman took him home, with Tootsie. Prof. Chapman had almost recovered yesterday.

BACKED SEVENTY BANKS.

"Morgan and I did," Says John D. Rockefeller.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 25.—John D. Rockefeller and Senator Ben Tillman were principals in a lively verbal set-to during the former's trip to this city. Senator Tillman boarded the train in South Carolina, and was introduced to Rockefeller by a railroad official. Hard times, the money situation, railroads and Roosevelt were discussed, and the Oil King was not enthusiastic about Roosevelt.

"I think," said Rockefeller, "that Roosevelt made a grave mistake. If he knew abuses existed and he wanted to correct them, he could have gone about it without causing all this agitation and feeling of distrust."

"Now, you might not know it, but Morgan and myself stood behind something like seventy banks in New York during the panic. Now, that was a pretty nice thing for two such very, very bad men to do, wasn't it? Think of the thousands of depositors we helped by standing by these banks. But I hope the people will see after a while that this agitation only hurts them. I can get along all right."

Senator Tillman seemed deeply interested in Rockefeller's remarks, and when he reached his station he had the Oil King a warm good-by. As Tillman left, Rockefeller turned to Mrs. Rockefeller and said: "Well, mother, we're only eleven miles from our vacation, and I'll be mighty glad when we get there."

JACK LONDON TURNS UP.

Arrives at San Francisco From Tahiti After Being Given Up For Lost.

San Francisco, Jan. 26.—Jack London was true to his character as a dramatic novelist when he appeared on Saturday among passengers of the steamship Mariposa the day after the Oakland Bank had filed a deed trust on his home in that city, having given him up as lost.

For four months London's whereabouts has been unknown. He left Honolulu on Oct. 7 to go to Tahiti. Now he returns with his wife on a flying visit, and declares he will go back and resume his voyage on his ketch, the Snark, which is at Paipete having her gas engines overhauled.

All the time London says he has been busy with writing. He has nearly finished a 150,000 word story called "Success," which will deal with a young Californian who falls in other things, but proves a success as a writer. London has also written a number of short stories as well as sketches of his cruise.

THE THAW TRIAL. TEA TABLE GOSSIP.

pains in the head. I diagnosed his case as one of mental disturbance.

On one of his visits the doctor said he found his patient in a highly excited state, despite the fact that his temperature was only 99 degrees. He feared Thaw might harm himself. Thaw did not respond to treatment, even opiates failing, and Dr. Wells said he decided to send the young man to the Devonshire Nursing Association's hospital. On another visit he found Thaw dancing about the room like a madman. He reported his case at the hospital as acute mania.

Mr. Thaw at the hospital had a perfectly enormous room, continued Dr. Wells, "but he complained that he did not have room to breathe. He also complained of the terrific heat, and demanded that twenty tons of ice be placed in his room. He did not like the nurse assigned to him, and wanted to employ a whole staff of nurses so he might find one he liked. When he was in bed the patient's eyes glared into vacancy. The acute attack at the hospital continued six days. He had no fever at any time. His talk was largely incoherent. There was no evidence of alcoholism."

"During your entire attendance on Mr. Thaw in 1890, doctor, what conclusion did you reach?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"I diagnosed his case as acute recurrent insanity," Dr. Wells said he saw Thaw in 1901, 1902 and in 1903 or 1904. He treated him at these times, but there were no acute symptoms as in 1890.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Jerome, Dr. Wells said that the time he treated Thaw in 1899 he had made no particular study of mental diseases, and had but little experience along that line.

Miss Lillian MacBride, of London, a professional nurse as she described herself, followed Dr. Wells. She was called in to attend Thaw as nurse in his rooms in London in July, 1899. Thaw was very restless and excited and his talk was incoherent.

"What was the appearance of his face?" asked Mr. Littleton. "Oh, very wild, indeed," replied the witness.

Although he was temperate, Thaw complained of the frightful heat. There was no evidence of alcoholism.

"Did his acts and appearance during your attendance impress you as rational or irrational?" A.—Oh, most irrational.

The third of the foreign witnesses to be called was Dr. Frederick J. Burton-Brown, of London, formerly of the India medical service, and for a time practicing physician in Rome. Dr. Burton-Brown constantly referred to himself as a "medical man" rather than a doctor. It was in March, 1902, that the witness was called to attend Thaw in Rome. He diagnosed the case as one of simple or mild mania.

Next came Dr. Maurice Gauia, of Paris, who gave his testimony through the official court interpreter.

He attended Thaw in Paris in the spring of 1904, when he attempted suicide by swallowing laudanum. Thaw constantly referred to himself as a "medical man" rather than a doctor. sheds are burning up a lot of old wood that would help to keep a lot of poor people in the city warm. He intends asking Colonel Gibson to permit poor people to cart this wood away.

Instead of dividing the city into four wards the Tory aldermen will support a move to make the number eight, making an additional ward in part of No. 7, and reducing the number of aldermen to two from each ward. They figure that by this move they would be sure of four aldermen from what is now No. 7 ward.

Moore & Davis have notified the city that if Gilkinson street is continued through the property owned by the Harvey estate as proposed the owners will look for compensation.

Lt.-Col. Logic, on behalf of the Ninety-first Highlanders, has applied for the city for the usual grant of $250.

The Sewers Committee met Robert Hobson, of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Company, on Saturday at noon to discuss the proposition to sell the company part of the strip of land, adjoining its property, purchased for the new annex sewer site. Another session was held on Monday.

Mr. Hobson said his company could not entertain the city's request that it fill in Lottridge's inlet, because it sold all the slag to Doolittle & Wilcox. The committee decided to award the tender for filling in the inlet at 37 1/2 cents a yard.

The city will take no action in the request to have Slater street opened through. Ald. McLaren and Allan waited on Donald Smith, a property owner, who holds the key to the situation, and he refused to give any of his land. Secretary Brennan pointed out that there was a two-foot reserve there, so that, although two streets would be within two feet of each other there would be practically no street. The committee will take no action.

A very large congregation at First Methodist Church last evening had the pleasure of hearing the beautiful oratorio solo, "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," sung in a most artistic manner by Mr. Roy Detenbeck, a Canadian, now residing in Buffalo. Mr. Detenbeck has a tenor voice of fine quality and great purity, and his singing was delightful.

TUESDAY $2.00 At this time of writing we cannot say positively that there will be a single suit or overcoat left to sell on Tuesday at $2. Only a handful here now and in the small and large sizes only, and, of course, the most undesirable patterns in the stock; but that is why they are to be sold at "any old price." There are still a few overcoats in the small sizes selling to-day at $3. Would suggest that big boys and small men call in to-morrow and chance getting one for $2. It may be of some interest to the hundreds of people who have been watching this sale to know that the two best days' receipts were when the prices were $11 and $10 and the next rush came at $7, $6 and $5. The reason why there were so few suits left to sell at $4 and under was that there were so few of the cheaper suits in the lot to start with, and the rush on Friday at $5 nearly finished them—they were tremendous value at that price. The boys' department will be the next victim.
