CHAPTER XXXIX.

There was no one in the hall as she passed through; every servant Jack and Jill, was down in the servants' hall talking his and her head off, and—quite properly—consuming the marriage feast. She opened the door, and passed out of the room unscathed. The air was growing colder, the light and heat of the February sun beginning to wane, and as she stood on the steps and looked round her with restless, vacant eyes she shivered slightly. A chill of presentiment struck her heart as she gazed down the road on which Vane had been borne away from her. Absently, mechanically, she walked down the drive and into the avenue. She had got half-way down it, walking with her head bent, her hands clinched at her side, when the figure of a man stepped out from the sidewalk under the trees and stopped before her. She did not start, though,

MOTHERS! DO YOU KNOW

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach? You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude safes are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores? Take no risk. Use always the purest ingredients provided in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal. It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It is antiseptic, quickly stops the smarting of a sore or cut, cures piles, killed sore and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. main; but let that pass for the present. Lady Florence, do you remember refusing to take your handkerchief from my hand? You remember, in my studio, when I was painting the portrait which will make such a stir, for several reasons, when it is exhibited in the Academy this year?"

She looked at him with as much of surprise as her already absorbed senses were capable of.

"Well!" she said coldly, haughtily. "Ah, yes, I see you do," he went on blandly. "Why should you not refuse? I was only an artist, a workman just a degree or two higher than the men who pointed your father's, the earl's, house-front. I ought not to have touched your dainty handkerchief with my common, plebeian fingers, but have summoned your maid."

Lady Florence glanced up the avenue with a kind of weary impatience. His manner, one of suppressed excitement, was as curious as his words; and yet she felt little interest. She thought he had come to get his money; to endeavor, perhaps, to increase the sum she had promised him.

"You thought nothing of it; the incident was too trivial a one to be remembered and yet, Lady Florence, upon the pivot of that very trivial incident—that unconsidered insult—turned your future happiness. It was the moment of your life."

She looked at him with a dull, cold stare.

"I do not understand; I have no wish to understand."

"Pardon me, but you will understand presently. Lady Florence, that ray of light which you so nearly quitted your delicately scented handkerchief upon the table was possessed by an almost irresistible desire to find it round your throat and stiffle proud, contemptuous voice forever."

She did not start or make the slightest sign of fear, but her gaze rested itself upon his face more directly and intently.

He smiled lightly as if he were looking back upon that afternoon, as if he were still writhing under her patronizing insolence.

"One thing only kept me from being that murderous impulse, which, like love, they say, comes at last once in every man's life. Lady Florence, I hated you at that moment; but keen, fierce as my hatred was, I loved you still more fiercely, more keenly."

She did start slightly, but only very slightly, and her eyes wavered in her intense regard an instant, then looked at him fixedly, watchfully.

"You loved me?" she said in a low voice, without a trace of emotion in it.

He inclined his head, his face a little

HUSBAND TIRED OF SEEING HER SUFFER

Procured Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which made His Wife a Well Woman.

Middletown, Pa.—"I had headache, backache and such awful bearing down pains that I could not be on my feet at times and I had organic inflammation so badly that I was not able to do my work. I could not get a good meal for my husband and one child. My neighbors said they thought my suffering was terrible. "My husband got tired of seeing me suffer and one night went to the drug store and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told me I must take it. I can't tell you all I suffered and I can't tell you all that your medicine has done for me. I was greatly benefited from the first and it has made me a well woman. I can do all my housework and even helped some of my friends as well. I think it is a wonderful help to all suffering women. I have got several to take it after seeing what it has done for me."—Mrs. EMMA SPRENSHAW, 219 East Main St., Middletown, Pa.

The Pinkham record is a proud and honorable one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

tle paler, if that were possible, his lips trembling slightly.

"Yes, I dared to love you—I, the struggling artist, the man of the people, the man from the ranks, one of the 'lower order,' I think you call us—had dared to love Lady Florence Heathcote, the daughter of an earl, the proud, immovable beauty who, probably, had the sons of dukes for her suitors. And why not? Do you think that because I was born in the gutter, God withheld a heart from me—a heart to love? He had given me the artist's passion for beauty, the artist's eye to detect it, the artist's soul with which to worship it. And you were, you are so beautiful, you see."

She dropped her lids for a moment, then raised them with cold, impassive hauteur.

"Have you nearly finished?" she asked, slowly, with languid insolence.

"I am tired of standing; I fear that I must return to the house."

There was a rustic seat near; he motioned to it with sardonic courtesy.

"I am afraid I must detain you a few minutes longer. Will you not be seated?"

With a slight shrug of her shoulders she sunk to the bench.

"I loved you, I think, the first moment I saw you. Your beauty, your pride, that hauteur which is insolence carried to sublimity, took my soul captive. They fascinated me. I said: 'Here, if you had but wealth and rank, is one to match you. Sen. Here is one who, linked with you, would help you to climb to heights beyond most men's ambition.' And that was all. You were as the stars above me. I could only love you in secret, with as little hope of winning you—bah! with as little thought of telling you of my love as—as the house-painter who last year painted your father's house-front. Then came the episode of the handkerchief. It was the spark, the fuse. It set my soul on fire, and from that fire sprang, full-grown, the desire to secure you, the determination to win you—by fair means, if possible, by foul means if they should be necessary. You little dreamed, Lady Florence, as you reclined with proud, contemptuous ease, that the brain of the man—the mere artist who was painting you so quietly, so humbly, so reverently—was plotting, planning your subjugation. One scheme after another presented itself to me, only to be rejected. Then in a flash I saw my way—the beginning of the thread which I should spin into a net with which I should ensnare you. You remember Vane Tempest's portrait? Your emotion when I threatened to destroy it gave me the idea. It was through your love for him that I meant to reach you. That afternoon I laid my plans. You shall judge for yourself whether they are successful or not."

She glanced at his sallow face, now slightly flushed, and then looked down.

The Bigness of Little Things.

By MATH CAMERON.

The bigness of little things of one kind or another is a fact that continually impresses me.

Some weeks ago I wrote you about the big effect of little things in influencing our feelings toward our friends. Today I am impressed by the bigness of little things of a more material kind.

In the restaurant this noon, I sat opposite a girl who would have appeared charmingly dressed but for one little thing. She had on a stylish suit and a becoming hat. Her well-her hand-bag and all the other accessories were trim and smart, but—

and what a big little word that is, by the way—she wore a linen collar which was about two sizes too large. Within that, her neck, naturally small, looked thin and gawky. It was the first thing one noticed about her and spoiled the rest. Such a little thing! And so big!

The dining-room of a small boarding-house where I once took my meals was most unattractive and unappealing. (How I hate that word, boarding-house. I wish there were some more euphonious term for it, like the French "pension." Or does "pension" sound as unattractive to the French as boarding-house does to us. I wonder?)

One day a new hostess took charge of the house and in a week that room was transformed. And yet she had made but two changes; she had the hideous figured paper replaced by soft, plain brown—not one whit more expensive, mind you—and she had shades put on the electric lights so that the light was pleasantly concentrated on the table, instead of glaring all over the room and revealing its defects. Later she made other changes but just these two worked a miracle. You see, they were as big as they were little.

The bigness of little things in house construction is just beginning to be glimpsed. A woman who has recently had new set tubs and sink put into her kitchen showed them to me with great pride. "They are six inches higher than the old ones," she said. "That may not sound much to you but it means the difference between back-ache and no back-ache. To think that the want of six little inches has been trying me out all these years!"

Do you know that it makes a house just twenty-five per cent easier to heat if the kitchen—of course that means a kitchen with a coal range in it—is on the cold, windy side of the house? Just think of it, twenty-five per cent taken of your coal bill by a little intelligence in construction!

"There are many little things," someone has said, and when one thinks of the big results that may come from what we carelessly call "little things," one is inclined to agree.

How Italy Capitalises Character.

Democracy Financing Itself and Enabling Men and Women to Become Their Own Employers—How to Eliminate the Strike.

"Wherever one travels through the north of Italy," writes John L. Matthews, in Harper's Magazine, "he sees large groups of working men, skilled or unskilled, with no padrone to drive them, making roads, carting the gravel from beds of torrents, constructing steam railways for the Government, erecting big apartment houses for the working people to live in, extending their operations to every sort of trade by organizing themselves into co-operative societies to undertake big contracts.

Their Own Employers. "Binding themselves together to work for themselves and for one another, paying their own wages, carrying the responsibility of properly fulfilling their contract, and depositing a fund to guarantee its completion, they eliminate the intervening contractors entirely, saving the middleman's profit to divide among themselves in proportion to the amount of work which each man has contributed and to the existing wage scale for his trade. Having now become their own employers, they have in their own work eliminated the strike.

900 Co-operative Banks. "The labor co-operative society is the latest and farthest advance of collectivism to-day, and some forms of it in Italy are unique. Ask these laborers about their work, how they are holding together, how they secured the contract and the necessary guarantee to obtain it, how they have been able to purchase all the machinery required to carry it out, and they will tell you that, there is a co-operative bank in the neighboring city to which they belong, with which their contract is deposited, and which advances them from month to month the necessary funds, for equipment supplies and wages.

"Based on assets which had previously been of negligible value to the laborer in the securing of credit —namely, character, thrift, the ambition of every man to get on, his normal impulse to produce the greatest within him, mere numbers which, joined together with their small mites of money, are no more to be despised than a Rothschild singly—there have arisen in Italy a host of Banks of the People—Banche Popolari—a veritable army of co-operative savings and loan societies which have given to individual members a credit service previously inaccessible if not impossible, and which now are extending their operations to reliable co-operative groups of workmen. Owned and operated by the people themselves on the most democratic lines, the power is diffused by the single vote which each member wields, irrespective of the number of shares he holds.

"Nine hundred such banks to-day are giving to persons or groups of every calling—day laborers, clerks, mechanics, tradesmen, manufacturers, farmers, merchants, and professional men—an enormous convenience in loans and discounts with so small a percentage of loss as to seem incredible.

The Founder of the Banks. "The founder of this system, Luigi Luzzatti, went as a young man to Germany to study the work of Schulze-Delitzsch, and became a great believer in the possibility of the application of personal surety to the needs of the average poor city dweller. The crying need of some new system of credit was unmistakable. Luzzatti began his work about 1862.

"Luzzatti was happy in emphasizing a point which Schulze-Delitzsch willfully ignored—the primary essential of having members of 'moral worth.' Co-operative banking, even with limited liability, is a species of financial weaving whose strength lies in responsibility. The thread, which is human character, must be scrutinized unremittingly, for the durability of the cloth depends on the selection of good strands. Acceptance of each proposed new candidate is, therefore, only given upon investigation which brings reasonable assurance of his honesty and thrift.

One of Italy's Strong Men. "Throughout the whole system Luzzatti's ideas and opinions have been held high, and his personality has been of incredible value in binding the banks to one general set of practices. If not to concurrence, to compromise with his beliefs. Until 1883, when the first co-operative statute was passed, the banks had to masquerade as limited liability corporations with limited shares. In that year, in accordance with the plan he proposed, the present satisfactory co-operative law was passed. Luzzatti has always been at Rome, on guard against unwise state interference or favour. It is noteworthy that he has never been out of public life in fifty years; that he has been Premier, and today, still a Cabinet Minister, is one of the strong and honoured men of Italy.

Some Cases of Borrowers.

"In the light of the varied purposes which the banks constantly serve, the humbleness of the accounts is striking. Maria Pedraglio, a housewife, borrowed eighty dollars, her husband and one surety signing her note for three months. The signora owned three shares in the bank. With the money she set up a pastry shop. She had a good stand, her Neapolitan cream cakes were famous, she was thrifty, and her success brought back the money to the bank and a new current account in addition.

"The name of a broom-maker turning up in the caselleto file, brought out the story of a man borrowing fives. Neither of them was known to the bank, and the information about them was scanty. The granting of the loan hung fire until a member of the Consiglio, seeing the application, said that he knew the man and would vouch for him. The note was annotated "Dr. Ferrugia if required." The broom-maker having obtained the money at five per cent, immediately invested it in new machinery to double his output, as he knew he could sell more brooms if he could produce them.

"A doctor borrowed to buy an equipment for X-ray treatment, there being no other in town. More picturesque was the old potter who made characteristic Italian faience, and, borrowing enough money to buy a larger and modern kiln, bettered his ware, enlarged his output, and consequently increased his income.

On Note of Hand.

"All these loans were given on simple notes of hand, secured only by one or two signatures. Many of the borrowers have nothing to pledge which could be called security in the ordinary sense. They do not own land or bonds or valuables. But they appreciate their loan, and repay promptly. There is little trouble from the source of repayment, because in a co-operative institution the stigma attaching to the failure to meet obligations is peculiarly effective. Social ostracism is invited; publicity governs such affairs. If members surfeit their moral coats or shrink their contracts, they are forced to resign.

"It is certainly the best educated poor and the middle class people who have found in the Banche Popolari a powerful lever with which to lift themselves.

No Strikes.

"When forty thousand iron workers were out in sympathy for a small union demanding recognition and union wages, leaving Milan practically strikebound, the Co-operative Craftsmen, having no one but themselves to strike against, went calmly on with their work.

"Democracy financing itself is a matter of financial moment not alone for its first service but for the possibility it affords to collective industrial undertakings. In co-operative banking lies a source of enrichment, not only of material wealth, but of character and the education of the common man to the management and investment of a common trust."

Starting here will be worn to match the new dress materials.

The Surplus Earned.

In 1912 the Canadian Life earned surplus of $1,530,667, exceeding by over $237,000 the earnings of 1911, and by a much larger amount the earnings of any previous year. This is of importance to policyholders, for their Dividends must come from this account.

TUESDAY, November 18, 1913.

The Premier's Lot Not a Happy One.

The Premier's lot is not a happy one. The situations facing him are by no means enviable. In the first place he has the consciousness that he has lost the confidence of the majority of the electors of Newfoundland, and that he is the head of a Government which has been retained in power by the anomalies of the distribution of voters in constituencies which have enabled 51,000 votes to elect 21 Government men, while 61,000 votes have elected not a fifth more Opposition members, but actually nearly 29 per cent. less. Moreover, the tactics resorted to by many of those interested in the election of these Government men were of a most reprehensible character. Appeals to passion and prejudice were common, cries of a sectarian character were used freely, and the result has been that the Government of Sir Edward Morris is to-day supported by 21 men in the House of Assembly elected by a large minority of voters.

It is a most anomalous and extraordinary state of affairs for a Government to be in such a position and naturally enough the position of the Government is greatly weakened by the adverse vote of the electorate. That the tide is running strongly against the Government is clear from the fact that the Morris administration is up against an adverse majority of over ten thousand votes. The tide will continue to run adversely and will gain in strength from day to day, in consequence of the base conduct of many of the canvassers. These matters naturally enough have created consternation in the Morris Party, particularly as the Government has in its ranks two ministers defeated at the polls. The question is what is Morris going to do about it? Will he show the white feather and try to put either or both of them in the Legislative Council? That body has already been swollen in numbers unnecessarily, as we pointed out at the time the last three members were added. It would be a further outrage to increase the numbers. The question therefore arises, if he contemplates such a course, which would not only show weakness but would be taking a step contrary to the democratic feature of the practice of the last quarter of a century, can he do it without increasing the already swollen numbers of that body? In other words, can he induce one or two members of the Legislative Council to retire? If he follows either course and puts the present Minister of Justice in the Legislative Council, he is flouting the opinion of a large number of the electors who have shown their lack of confidence in a Minister who was the subject of Memorials to the late Governor asking for his dismissal, and who has been put at the bottom of the poll in a great minority, although he was elected by them by an extraordinary large majority in 1909. Will Sir Edward Morris dare to do this? From this point of view also it is clear that Sir Edward Morris is hard up against it. Again, Sir Edward Morris has undertaken to carry the Fortune Bay railway through the Burin peninsula and to make Grand Bank the terminus. He cannot do it without floating another loan. The underwriters of Colonial loans have called a stop on all Colonial loans, even those at 4 per cent. and 4½ per cent., because the investing public are not taking them up, and the underwriters have decided not to embarrass themselves with more loans for the present. How then can Sir Edward Morris float another loan, with a falling revenue, a deficit for 1913 in sight, and increases in the Civil list made by the Executive to regularise by vote of the Legislature?

It is evident from the recital of these conditions that, like the policeman's lot in Sullivan's opera, the lot of the Premier is not a happy one.

Mr. King Does Well.

CATALINA, Nov. 4, 1913.
Messrs. Franklin & Company, St. John's, Nfld.
Dear Sirs,—Having used a 6 H. P. FRASER engine with kerosene adapter the past season, I feel compelled to write and let you know something of my feelings towards this engine. It has given me perfect satisfaction, never having one minute's trouble from the time I installed it in my boat. I have only used two gallons of gasoline for the season and could have done without any as the engine will start as well on kerosene as on gasoline. I heartily recommend the FRASER engine to all fishermen who are thinking of investing in a motor as the best engine on the market. It is simple to manipulate and strong enough to tow a boat load of fish and keep up with other engines without anything in tow, as I have proved this the past season. I secured 300 quintals of fish this summer, my cost for running was under $20 for kerosene, without the engine 70 to 100 quintals would probably have been my voyage.
You have my permission to use this letter should you care to do so.
Yours truly,
THOMAS KING.

Presentation

To Father O'Callaghan.
As we mentioned yesterday many of the parishioners and friends of Father O'Callaghan met at the railway station yesterday morning to see him and bid him God speed in his new field of spiritual labour as Parish Priest of St. Bride's. Among his friends were many of those who appreciate his labours in the city in the cause of Temperance. We learn that the appreciation of his labours was shown in a most tangible way and that he was the recipient of several purses of gold from his parishioners and that one of them was a purse of $250.00 from the Holy Name Society of his Cathedral Parish.

Police Court.

Two drunks were discharged.
A miner of Bell Island, drunk and disorderly, had to sign bonds.
A laborer of Water Street West, drunk and disorderly in his own house, was discharged.

A man summoned for a breach of section 16 of the Nuisance Act was instructed to settle the matter complained of.

Several civil cases were disposed of.

THE IDEAL Bed Spring!

Is known everywhere as the most luxurious article to sleep on ever produced. It has stood the test for more than 20 years and is more popular to-day than ever. The Ideal No. 10 is constructed of 120 double Coil Spiral Springs, made of the best quality of wire. The Springs are knotted at both ends and interlocked lengthwise, forming an unbroken surface for the mattress and occupant.

Each Spring is firmly attached to a flexible steel frame in the centre, which provides lateral support and eliminates all tendency to lateral motion, and at the same time compels perpendicular action of the Spring. There are eight angle iron bars crossing underneath the Spring, which are attached on each side to hangers that rest on the side rails of an iron bedstead. The outside row of Spiral Springs are directly over the side rail of the bedstead, forming a spring edge to the extreme outside edge of the bed. With this method of construction 9 inch Springs can be used, thereby increasing the flexibility and comfort of the bed and adding greatly to its durability and making it the Greatest Spring made.

A large shipment just in to select from. Prices from $6.50 up. Allow us to demonstrate its wonderful qualities.

NICKEL THEATRE!

"THE CROOKED PATH," in 2 Reels.

The title of this picture practically explains itself. It is a beautifully told story, the leading characters being portrayed and enacted by such well known "silent" players as Miss Ormai Hawley, and Messrs. Halliday and August. See the mental struggle to keep on the straight path. See Roberts being used as messengers. See the escape from prison. 2 REELS.

THE MANICURIST AND THE MUTT—A particularly humorous story, showing how a bright young girl makes "wise men" foolish.

JOHNNIE GOES DUCK SHOOTING—Does he? He does! But you must see him. It is too funny to explain.

THE UNDERSTUDY—How a young country girl being anxious to go upon the stage. Eventually having an opportunity to show her ability through the result of an accident to the Leading Lady, and how she "made good." A story to the life, splendidly acted.

Balance of entertainment consists of Peculiar Songs by Arthur Priestman Cameron. Ballads by Al. D. Fleming, and Incidental Music by Professor McCarthy.

Too Late.

A certain legal luminary, though a good administrator of the law in other respects, was noted for the way he got mixed in his charges to the jury. On one occasion a case was tried before him, the points of which may be briefly stated thus:—
Smith brought a suit against Jones upon a promissory note given for a horse. Jones defence was failure of consideration, he averring that at the time of the purchase the horse had the glands, of which he died, and that Smith knew it. Smith replied that the horse did not have the glands, but the distemper, and that Jones knew it when he bought him. The judge thus charged the jury:—"Gentlemen of the Jury: Pay attention to the charge of the Court. You have already made one mistrial of this case because you did not pay attention and I do not want you to do it again. I intend to make it so clear to you this time that you cannot possibly make any mistake. This suit is upon a note given for a promissory horse. I hope you understand that. Now, if you find that at the time of the sale Smith had the glands and Jones had the distemper and Smith knew it, then Smith cannot possibly recover. But, gentlemen, I will state it a third time, so that you cannot possibly make a mistake. If at the time of the sale Smith had the glands, and Jones the distemper, and that Jones knew it, then neither Smith, Jones, nor the horse can recover." The jury disagreed.

The Kaiser's Left Arm.

On January 27th, 1859, Berlin waited for the guns which were to announce the birth of the first baby, to the Princess Royal of Great Britain, who married Prince Frederick William of Prussia in 1858. For an heir 101 guns are fired, and for a daughter only twenty-two. At the twenty-third report all Berlin went mad with delight. The crowd near the palace captured old Field-Marshal Wrangel, clamouring for particulars. "Children," he said, "all is well. It is as fine and sturdy a recruit as one could wish." Thus was the birth of the present Kaiser announced. But the public little knew of the tragedy which had almost happened, and which might have resulted in the death of the baby Prince and his mother.

It is related in a biography of the Empress Frederick just published that the bedroom of the Princess at the Old Schloss, the Royal Palace in Berlin, was next to the death chamber where a previous King had died. This was kept in the same state as on the day of his death, and the Princess had to pass through it to her bedroom or her dressing room. It was in circumstances like these that the present Kaiser was born, and his defect at birth—a helpless left arm—was the result of a most unfortunate mischance. The letter summoning Dr. Martin, the English doctor that Queen Victoria desired to officiate at the birth, was put by a stupid servant into the post instead of being sent direct, and it was this delay which caused all the trouble. "Both mother and baby were for a time in imminent danger. No anaesthetic was administered, and the Princess, with characteristic courage, looked up to her husband, who held her in his arms the whole time. None of those about her thought her strength would hold out, and one of the German doctors actually said in her presence that she would die, and her baby too."

Fortunately, this dismal prophecy was not fulfilled, and as the years went by the young Prince grew up to be a fine, manly boy, in spite of the fact that he was permanently crippled.

Brother Kills Brother.

While Hunting One Mistakes the Other for a Deer. Moncton, Nov. 12. — A distressing shooting accident, with fatal results, is reported from Kent County. James and William Bagnell, about 25 and 27 years of age, and belonging near Harcourt, were in the woods on the Salmon River, about ten miles from Harcourt, on a shooting expedition. After travelling together for some time they separated, and about ten or fifteen minutes later William saw an object behind a tree in the distance which he mistook for a deer. He fired and hearing groans ran to the spot and found his brother lying on the ground unconscious, with a bullet wound in his abdomen. After placing his coat under his brother's head to make him as comfortable as possible he rushed to the nearest settlement, a place called Mortimore. He secured Dr. Fairbanks, of Harcourt, and went back to the spot where the accident occurred and found the unfortunate victim of the shooting dead.

Suffragettes Break Up Meeting.

SHEFFIELD, Nov. 17. A suffragette disturbance occurred here to-night, when Mr. Snowden, the Socialist member of parliament for Blackburn, attempted to address a no-subscription meeting arranged by the Labor Party. He was howled down by suffragettes. Stewards promptly took a hand and in the scrimmage were attacked by male sympathizers with the women. Some of the stewards were kicked and badly bruised, and in spite of the fact that many disturbers were ejected, the uproar persisted to such an extent that after half an hour the meeting was abandoned.

Advice.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash." Advice and air are the only free things left—even now, since the democrats have fixed up their tariff bill. Advice is given in enormous quantities by the rich and poor alike. No man is too hard up to stop in the midst of his labors and give a huge, irregular chunk of advice to some total stranger who may be needing it. On the other hand, advice is the one thing which is never stolen. Men have purloined shoes, hot stoves, tombstones, box constrictors and grizzly bears, but advice is perfectly safe. A man can leave forty million dollars' worth of advice in an exposed position for years.

Advice is more plentiful than dirt. Everybody is plentifully stocked with it and everyone does his best to get rid of it. Nothing is more affecting than to see a ragged and dejected man propping up a five story building by leaning against it on the sidewalk and trying to give away some pricelessness to the training and conduct of presidents. Year after year, while his children are clamoring for bread, while he offers his advice in vain. No president will even stop and take a sample. Older and older he grows, distended with undisposed of advice and will anyone take the time to extend a helping hand and relieve him? Not much. This is a vain and busy world, and our best friends may burst with advice for all we care.

One reason for this singular prejudice against advice is the fact that most children are brought up on it. After a child has existed for ten years on plain food and unlimited advice he cannot be blamed for scorning either for the remainder of his life. When an adult has any other property which is of no use to himself and which he cannot give away he goes and lays it on the ash pile. But if he has any surplus advice which no one else will accept he goes home and gives it to his children. One can force a child to take advice by well known methods, just as one can force him to take medicine. But it spoils the market for advice in that particular direction after he grows up and can't be thrashed any more.

The best way to produce advice is to grow old and rich and famous. The next best way is to grow old and poor and unsuccessful. The output in both cases is about the same, only the successful man tells you what to do and the unsuccessful man tells you what to do.

Every little while someone accepts some advice. There are now many thousands of these people in the world. Half of them are hunting their advisers with tears of gratitude and the other half are hunting them with a club. This proves that advice giving is as risky as advice taking. But man is ever adventurous.

Granulation of the Eyelids

Is Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment—Scores of Uses for the Great Soothing, Healing Ointment. Most people know Dr. Chase's Ointment best as a cure for eczema and itching piles. Nor is this to be wondered at when you think of the remarkable record made in this class of cures. But there are scores of other uses for this ointment, which are only discovered when it is kept constantly at hand. Mrs. Martin, 13 Carroll street, Toronto, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years, and found it invaluable in treating skin irritations and all sorts of burns and wounds. In fact, we would not be without it in the house. It is a most excellent treatment for granulated eyelids, from which I suffered without finding anything to help me." Wherever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with full assurance that it will prove entirely satisfactory. Price, 5 cents a box. The East Indian Trouble.

Special to The Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The question of the British East Indies has again reached an acute stage, nearly every Dominion and Colony to which those British subjects emigrate or remaining in these places the Imperial Government having more to say in the Government of Crown Colonies than it has in those of Dominions has taken steps to make life of East Indians in those Colonies more bearable. A commission composed of members of British Indian Government and an Indian of Indian trial experience is visiting the Crown Colonies to which indentured immigration is still permitted, for a thorough investigation into the conditions of employment of East Indians and generally into their position and treatment in those Colonies in the Dominions. The Imperial Government which would have Indians treated as are other British subjects is faced with exactly the same difficulty as the Federal Government at Washington has to deal with in connection with California's anti Japanese legislation. The people of the Dominions insist upon having White men's countries.

Huerta Still Defiant.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MEXICO CITY, To-day.
The organization of Huerta's new Congress was complete yesterday when enough Senators were gathered to form a quorum in the Upper House. General Proceres was chosen temporary chairman of the Senate and the Committee on credentials appointed. A similar committee in the Chamber of Deputies have begun at the work of revising Deputies' credentials and there is nothing to indicate that the formal opening of Congress next Thursday will be postponed. Huerta talked last night formally to members of his staff and a few personal friends regarding the possibility of intervention by the States, and intimated he would be ready to resist such a step. The opinion is expressed here that the States will soon inaugurate a blockade of Mexican ports, rumor has it that President Wilson would be content with such action, and might even permit the Embassy to remain in Mexico City until an open rupture occurred.

The statement in the Times of Monday to the effect that the Government had decided to arrange a compromise with Opposition leaders of Parliament on the Home Rule Bill provoked much discussion. Apparently, however, it goes beyond the actual facts. According to an inspirational statement issued last night, the Government will submit certain proposals to the Opposition leaders for the special treatment of Ulster subject to the acceptance of Home Rule by all parties. The scheme will only be submitted as a basis of discussion. It is clearly impossible to insert a clause excluding Ulster. This is thought to mean something in the nature of Home Rule within Home Rule, as recently suggested by Sir Edward Grey.

A Feeling of Uncertainty.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NOVALES, Sonora, To-day.
Obstacles which developed since the fall of Juarez have created a feeling of uncertainty as to the outcome of the diplomatic exchange between the States and Mexican Constitutionalists rebels, President Wilson's representative, William Bayard Hale conferred twice with Francisco Escudero Carransea, Minister of Foreign Relations. The event of the capture of Juarez and other rebel successes in the Interior has encouraged Carransea leaders to such an extent they believed the lifting of the American embargo on the importation of arms was not necessary, as previously it had seemed.

Tariff Hits the Boston Fishermen.

Without making any attempt to secure relief for our fishermen from Canadian and Newfoundland regulations which make it possible for our vessels to meet their vessels on even terms on these northern fishing grounds, the new Underwood-Simmons tariff gives to the fishermen of the Canadian provinces and of Newfoundland the privilege of entering fresh fish at our ports on the same terms, free of duty, that have been reserved so long for our own fishermen, says the Boston Herald editorially.

An attempt, at least, should have been made to obtain a modification of fishery laws and regulations which place our fishermen at a disadvantage compared to Canadian fishermen, before the same advantage was given to them which our fishermen enjoy in our own ports. If there is any value to the discretionary power given to the President to impose a countervailing duty of one cent a pound on fresh fish brought to our ports from any country or province which fails to accord equivalent and reciprocal treatment to us, it should be invoked without delay in order that our fishermen may obtain equal rights and privileges with Canadian and Newfoundland fishermen in their ports and on their fishing grounds, to equalize the advantages which we have surrendered and to compensate us for the benefits which we have so hastily conferred.

We have surrendered a national right without recompense of any kind. We have conferred a great boon upon Canadian fishermen without benefiting the consumer or removing any of the burdensome restrictions under which our own fishermen are compelled to operate.

Whaling Poor.

The season's whale fishery is over the Cachet, which is now at Trinity being the last steamer to discontinue operations. The total catch of whaler for 1913, for the six steamers that operated on different sections of the coast is one of the worst on record. The Cachet is high-liner of the fleet with thirty-seven whales, but, notwithstanding this is slightly more than half an average catch or not enough to pay for the expenses incurred in connection with the voyage. It can be concluded, therefore, that shareholders and all much interested in whaling this year, will have to dip to their pockets to make up for the deficit.

Strange Story.

A story is around town to-day to the effect that a certain captain of a coastal steamer, having missed some money out of his clothes, accused a steward of the same ship of robbing his pockets. The latter, who was innocent, stoutly denied the charge. Later the captain found the money missed in another suit of clothes he had home. The lawyer engaged by the steward threatened the captain with a libel suit for defamation of his client's character, with the result that the captain withdrew his damaging accusation with an ample apology and paid costs and damages.

British Toolmakers Not Behind.

Birmingham Manufacturer Disappointed Not to Find United States More Advanced.
Confessing that he was somewhat disappointed with the trade conditions of the United States, as he had seen them in a three weeks' visit, Mr. Walter Deakin, M.L., Mech. E., managing director of H. W. Ward & Co., Ltd., machine tool makers, of Birmingham, England, arrived in the city to-day. After a short study of local conditions he will spend a couple of weeks in seeing Canada, and then hurry home again. At the Queen's Hotel to-day he admitted that his trip through the United States had been a little disappointing, as he had found that the tool makers there were not as far advanced in the business as their advertisements had led him to believe they were. The supremacy of the British manufacturer had not been endangered by the American shops yet. At the same time, he said they were very aggressive, and were manufacturing not only for local uses, but for overseas customers as well.—Montreal Telegraph, Nov. 12.

Sentenced for Assault.

Boston, Nov. 14.—Representative Thomas J. Giblin, of East Boston, was found guilty of assault, and sentenced to two months in the House of Correction to-day. The court finding resulted from an attack by Giblin on the day after election upon James E. Maguire, editor of a weekly newspaper which had opposed his candidacy. Giblin's wife fainted when sentence was pronounced. The Legislature furnished $500 bonds after appealing.

Union Bank Robbed of $10,000.

Hazelton, B.C., Nov. 12.—The Union Bank at New Hazelton, four miles east of here, was robbed last evening by five masked men, presumably fire-burglars. The men shot the cashier, wounding him seriously, but not fatally, and made off with booty amounting to $10,000.

The robbers were at work in the bank about six o'clock when Cashier McQueen returned unexpectedly from dinner and surprised them. One of the men opened fire and the bullet, striking McQueen between the eyes, glanced downward and lodged in his face, making an ugly wound. The men escaped while the cashier was unconscious.

Citizens attracted by the shot armed themselves and hurried to the bank as the robbers were leaving. The citizens opened fire on the fleeing men, who engaged in a running battle with their pursuers, until they found shelter in the timber on the edge of the town.

A special Grand Trunk train was sent west with officers, as it was thought the bandits might canoe down the Skeena River.

Late in the evening six foreigners were arrested on suspicion on the road between here and Hazelton.

Boat's Crew Lose Lives In The Lachine Canal.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 12.—Seven and perhaps nine men lost their lives in the Lachine Canal at Cote St. Paul, early this evening, when a flat bottom boat capsized, throwing fifty workmen into the water.

All were employed in the construction of the Montreal Light and Power Company's new plant at Cote St. Paul.

It is believed that all are foreigners whose names will not be known until the power company's time-keeper checks up to-morrow morning.

It is understood that the indirect cause of the accident was due to the passing of a tug and the injudicious movement of the men from one side of the boat to the other as the craft passed through the tug's swells.

The tug put back as soon as the boat turned turtle, and rescued two of its former occupants. A boat put from shore rescued four others and two reached the south shore on planks sent floating in the canal by watchers on the beach. Two others were seen swimming for the north bank, but in the darkness it is not known whether they reached it.

About two hundred men crossed the canal night and morning in the single flat bottom boat as a short cut to a suburban car line, and the consequent congestion has been the subject of comment frequently owing to danger of passing craft.

It is stated that more might have been saved but for the scramble for positions of vantage on the upturned boat which swamped from the pressure put upon it by the fighting men.

Two Men Must Pay the Death Penalty.

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—It took the jury in the trial of Herman F. Clarke and Frank Davis but 25 minutes to find both guilty of the murder of Police Constable James Archibald on a brush-covered lot off Powell Street on May 28, when he surprised them in the act of packing their burglars' tools after having committed a burglary. They will be hanged at New Westminster January 15.

The trial occupied three days, and spectators fought with the police for entrance to court. Both men confessed to being present at the time of the shooting, and each accused the other of firing the fatal shots. Davis came from Seattle, and Clarke, alias Behernes, from San Francisco, after escaping from the state penitentiary, where he was serving a twelve-year term for burglary.

Davis spent his youth in Toronto through an American by birth.

"Cascarets" Cleanse Liver And Bowels

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

Get a 10-cent box now. Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, indigestible and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver; and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascare to-night will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Plead Guilty to Desertion.

The sailors of the s.s. Wasia, six in number, appeared before Magistrate Hearn yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge of desertion. The men were arrested on Friday night, on information sworn out by the captain, charging them with refusing to sail on the steamer to Wabana. All six were resident of Newfoundland and stated that they were willing to ship to any place but the Newfoundland coast. When the case came up yesterday afternoon the officers of the ship did not appear against them as the Wasia had not arrived at North Sydney. On the men pleading guilty the magistrate went on with the case.

The men told the magistrate that they did not consider it safe to sail in Newfoundland waters at this season especially on a ship of the Wasia class, on which, they said, it was necessary to keep the pumps going for a great deal of the time.

Stipendiary Hearn took into consideration the fact that they had already served a term in the county jail and relieved them of serving further time. They paid the costs of the action and were excused from the ship.—Sydney Record, Nov. 15.

The Frailty of Man.

We are all liable to error and will be so to the end of time—the most careful will make mistakes, sometimes, for are we not merely human? With the fact of our own frailty staring us in the face, would it be reasonable on our part to neglect the means placed within our reach for the elimination of error? Errors in the counting house are costly but they can be avoided by the use of present day inventions, constructed as well as human ingenuity can suggest, as human ingenuity can suggest, it is to busy men that we speak—the others have no time to listen.

An Operation For Appendicitis

Was Ordered by His Doctor, but Complete Cure Was Effected By Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months or years of derangements of the liver and bowels. Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctors had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine. Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation, and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak out gratitude for his cure." Conference on Safety at Sea.

London, Nov. 12.—Fourteen great nations are represented by delegates in the International Conference on Safety at Sea which opened its session here to-day and the intense interest manifested in the deliberations and proceedings of this conference, by the general public and the press, indicates the importance attached to this gathering. If the Titanic disaster proved a powerful agent in bringing about a general understanding between the maritime nations of the world concerning the necessity of certain laws and their enforcement to insure greater safety on the sea, the recent Volturno disaster clearly demonstrated other defects the correction of which equally demands prompt attention and intelligent action.

Length of Conference. It is impossible to predict with any degree of certainty how long the conference will be in session, but the general opinion seems to be that there is enough work to be done to keep the conference busy for a month. The delegation representing the United States will undoubtedly take a prominent part in the proceedings. The United States government had a large share in the activity which led to the calling of this conference and will probably take the initiative in proposing some important suggestions for the consideration of the delegates.

The conference was called for the purpose of considering general questions of safety appliances, the manning of lifeboats, the efficiency of crews, the prevention of fire, the introduction of wireless outfits on sea going vessels and other matters having a direct or indirect bearing upon the safety at sea. The necessity of having a sufficient number of lifeboats and safety appliances on board of a big ship was forcibly demonstrated by the Titanic disaster and since that catastrophe every maritime nation has passed laws and regulations requiring ships to carry a sufficient number of lifeboats. The Volturno disaster taught a double lesson. It demonstrated the necessity of crews efficient in launching and handling life boats and the importance of having adequate appliances for the suppression of fire and crews thoroughly drilled in the use of these appliances.

A New Decree. Both these problems will be introduced for consideration by the American delegates who will present a series of important suggestions aiming at the solution of these problems. The United States Navy Department has recently been experimenting with a new device for releasing and launching life boats so as to prevent their being dashed against the sides of the ship and as the tests are said to have been extremely satisfactory it is quite probable that the adoption of a similar device upon passenger-carrying ships will be recommended.

Another important recommendation to be made by the United States delegation refers to the subject of radio equipments. The delegates will suggest the general enforcement of a law requiring all passenger-carrying steamships to be provided with wireless outfits capable of sending messages to a distance of at least 100 nautical miles. All steamers built to carry twenty-five or more passengers or having a crew of sixty men shall be considered as passenger steamers.

Some Uses of Borax.

To make a "saturated solution" put plenty of powdered borax into a bottle or tumbler, and pour pure water on it until the vessel is filled. Then add more borax until the water will take up no more, and there is a sediment in the bottom of the vessel.

Use borax in preference to ammonia for softening water for toilet purposes. A teaspoonful to a basin of water is the right proportion.

After washing them in the usual way, dip your face and muslin curtains in a rinse of hot solution of borax, made by adding borax to boiling water—proportions, one tablespoonful to every quart of boiling water. This will whiten them.

To prevent starch from sticking when ironing is done, use a tablespoonful of powdered borax to each pint of boiling starch, stirring well until it is dissolved and thoroughly mixed.

To keep baby's milk bottles clean and sanitary, wash them, fill them with warm water in which a teaspoonful of borax has been dissolved and let them stand for an hour, or until needed, rinsing them with clear water before using. Soda is generally used instead of the borax.

CARGO TRANSFERRED.—Some of the cargo that was discharged from the damaged steamer Manchester Commerce, is being put on board the Furness Liner Tabasco, which sails this evening for Liverpool. The s.s. Bonaventure is now berthed alongside the Tabasco and the freight is being transferred.

An Act of Kindness.

Mr. Edward Roban, Richard Power and Denis Bailey, of Salmonier, wish to thank Capt. Kean, of the s.s. Fortia, for his kindness to them on Sunday night, when they were accidentally detained aboard his ship when sailing. They didn't discover their plight until in mid-stream. Mr. Roban went to the captain in person and explained their dilemma, who acted very kindly considering the circumstances. He hailed a schooner that he was passing at the time, slowed his ship down and had them put on board. Otherwise they would have had to proceed to Salmonier, which would have been very awkward under the circumstances, considering that they are leaving for home in their schooner in a day or two. The three friends are deeply grateful to Capt. Kean and they join most heartily in thanking him for this favor, which they deem an act of kindness that they won't soon forget.—Com.

America and Mrs. Pankhurst.

This nation resorted to armed rebellion against Great Britain only when every peaceful remonstrance had failed and when delay meant the forging of heavier chains. When that rebellion broke, it took the form of open warfare.

Contrast this course with that espoused and led by Mrs. Pankhurst. Peaceful means had not been exhausted. No heavier chains were being forged. In lieu of open warfare we have had the destruction of precious works of art, the attempted abduction of a British minister, interference with the mail of innocent persons, and, most cowardly of all modes of attack, the throwing of acid.

Men and women of America who believe with this newspaper that the extension of the right of suffrage to women is at once a step demanded by justice and a promise of better government will be on their guard against the sacrifice of their cause through an even seeming endorsement of the Pankhurst methods.—Ex.

Ate Fifteen Dozen Eggs

A New York paper recently published the following: "There is no telling what might have happened last night if John Larson, of 85, Hamilton Avenue, South Brooklyn, had had an appetite. It may have included the table cloth, knife and fork, and a few salt-collars, for John claimed that he was not in tip-top condition.

"Fully seventy-five persons watched John eat in a contest with Louis Johnson, of West New York, N.J., for a wager of 25 cents. The "bout" was held in Larson's hotel, South Brooklyn.

"Johnson quit after getting outside of fourteen dozen eggs. Larson was then declared the winner after eating eight dozen fried eggs, four dozen boiled eggs, and three dozen scrambled eggs. He added to this repast twelve slices of toast, one bunch of celery, eight portions of French fried potatoes, and two pounds of sliced bacon, washing it down with ten cups of coffee.

"George Christensen and Nelson Hill were the official referees."

Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitiate the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitiate, nor does it purify. Hear what these eminent men have said:—

"Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this, amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Dudley, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

"I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Tivlan B. Leves, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—nov8,1f

Was Ordered by His Doctor, but Complete Cure Was Effected By Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months or years of derangements of the liver and bowels. Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctors had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine. Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation, and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak out gratitude for his cure." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

C.C.C. Band Dance.

The C.C.C. Band Annual Dance takes place in the British Hall on Thursday next, Nov. 20th. This dance is eagerly looked forward to annually by a large number of its supporters and admirers, as it is usually one of the best dances for the year. And the object being a worthy one, that of paying expenses in connection with their Band Rooms such as rent, light, etc., also it receipts will permit to pay for two instruments just received for the Band, which they were in need of. For these and many other reasons, we hope that the bandsmen will be greeted with a bumper house on Thursday next. We would therefore advise all to take advantage of this dance, as we understand the band have definitely decided to discontinue playing for all dances (except for the Corps) owing to the many calls during the year for this kind of work.—adv.

That Stoker who Was Drowned.

Enquiries have been made concerning the unfortunate man named J. Bruce, a fireman on the s.s. Glen-coe, who was washed overboard and drowned between St. Jacques and English Harbor yesterday morning. It was first thought that the man's name might have been J. Bruce, belonging to St. John's West, but such is not the case. We are informed by Mr. J. Whelan, Delegate of the Firemen's Union, who has looked into the matter thoroughly, that neither Bruce nor Bruce is on the firemen's records. Delegate Whelan is confident that the unfortunate man Bruce does not belong to Newfoundland, and believes that he falls from some part of Nova Scotia.

Blue Jackets Robbed.

Raised $12,000 to Charter Special Train But Bandsmen Absconded With Money.

Rome, Nov. 17.—The bluejackets of the United States battleship "Utah" and "Delaware," now at Villefranche, and of the "Vermont" and "Ohio" at Marseilles, are greatly mortified, for they have been robbed of no less than $12,000 which they had entrusted to the care of Camerazzo, a former bandsman on the "Utah," for the purpose of arranging a Roman excursion for them during their stay.
Camerazzo had been recommended to the sailors by Captain William H. I. Reaney, of the "Utah," who is now in Rome. About 1,000 bluejackets who wished to pay a visit to Rome, handed over their money to the former musician with instructions to engage a special train for them. This he promised to do, but when the men had obtained their shore leave and were ready to start they found Camerazzo had absconded with the cash, and they had to abandon the trip.

Western Widow Awarded Medal.

Edmonton, Nov. 15.—Twenty-five dollars a month as a pension and a silver medal have been awarded by the Carnegie hero fund to the widow of R. Frederick Dayton, living at Viking, Alta. Dayton lost his life in the latter part of May, 1912, in saving William Kirkpatrick, a neighbouring farmer, from death in a well. He was lowered into the well with a rope by his wife. Reaching Kirkpatrick, who lay crumpled 40 feet from the surface and unconscious from the fall, Dayton tied the rope around his waist and had the man hauled to the top. The rope was afterward sent down to Dayton, but he was overcome by gas before reaching the surface and fell back into the well, being killed instantly. This heroic sacrifice happened in an out of the way place, but in some way the details reached the hero fund commission, which made an investigation into the facts with the foregoing results.

Grandfather of Lobsters.

"Grandfather of all living lobsters" was the title accorded to a giant crustacean brought into Boston last week.

The lobster was the largest landed there in 50 years, old time lobster men said. When they did finish their observations of the crustacean the following figures were given out: weight 27 pounds; age, about 50 years; spread from claw to claw, 37 inches; length of claw 24 inches; feelers, 20 inches; width of back, 10 inches; would make salad for 25 persons.

Afflicted Genius.

No wonder that Sir Walter Raleigh was filled with grief and melancholy, as he sat in his cell; his country would glory in her glory, as you will know who read his story—he served her passing well. And yet his vain, bearded ruler took Walt and chucked him in the cooler, and fed him stale rye bread; James said he was a Medding Maty, and kept him there till nearly batty, and then cut off his head. And who can think of old Jack Bunyan as he sat eating bread and onion, or paced the prison yard, with- out desiring, teeth-a-grittin', to take a poke at heartless Britain, for scourging sages and beads? And Britain still is quite a dinger at persecuting sages and singer, as Harry Kemp avows; he travelled there for local color, and Britain stupider and duller than any law allows, remarked: "For birds we have no uses, but we have divers calabasses, and heaps of stone to break." Then she removed the poet's sweater and fixed him with a rusty fetter and chained him to a stake. Oh, Britain, dour and stony-hearted, through all the years your birds have snarled beneath your iron fist; but when you cast your tyrant glances upon a hapless poet from Kansas, it's time for war, I wist!

Brass Knuckles in Football

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 11.—Rollo Anderson, a member of the Standard football eleven here, will not be able to play again this season, if he ever plays. In a match game with the Homewoods, Rollo wore gloves over his brass knuckles. A number of Homewoods boys were laid out in the scrimmage, which baffled the officials. Bloody noses and black eyes at the end of the third quarter could not be accounted for.
Rollo at the end of the game took off his gloves, and the brass knuckles were seen. The Homewoods, as one man, jumped on Rollo, and he had to be taken home and attended by a physician.

In a private sitting room at the hotel sat a party of merry-makers. Suddenly there came a knock at the door, and an attendant, entering in a great hurry, announced:
"The compliments of Mr.—, the author, who is in the next room, and he says you are making so much noise that he cannot write."
"He can't write, eh?" said one of the brightest of the party. "Why tell him everybody who has read his books knows that."

MINARD'S LINIMENT RELIEVES NEURALGIA.

King George V. Institute.

On Sunday night last the choir of the Cochrane St. Methodist Church, under the leadership of Mr. Arthur Mews, gave "Songs of the Sea" at the usual service in the Seamen's Institute. The auditorium was crowded with an appreciative audience, among whom were 100 men from the schirs, and outports. The choruses were well taken and the effective manner in which each item was rendered, gave evidence of careful training. Mr. Mews is to be congratulated upon the result. Miss Herder and Miss Vincent sang solos with remarkable effect. Mr. W. W. Blackall, B. A., Superintendent of Education, gave an inspiring address on "fruit bearing and was listened to with great attention. The opening exercises were taken by the Superintendent of the institute, Mr. W. H. Jones, who announced that next Sunday's Service would take the form of a Lantern Service.

Rossley Theatre.

There was a fair house at Rossley's last night, notwithstanding the very inclement weather, and all enjoyed the show. The Office Boy act was real funny. The Patterson trio in new songs; Miss Louise Arkandy, the talented young vocalist and instrumentalist, brought down the house with her beautiful rendering of the old-time song, "Silver Threads among the Gold." She has a charming voice and knows how to use it. The pictures, too, call for special mention. They are extra good. The pantomime rehearsals are going on day after day, and some beautiful costumes are being made by first class dressmakers. There is no doubt this pantomime season will be far ahead of anything yet produced.

The Choral Society.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Readers of the letter from 'Musico' in this morning's 'News' must assume that his good-will towards the Choral Society is sincere; and especially is it necessary for musicians to draw the mantle of charity over the opinions he gives. The first part of his letter is perfectly in order. There can be no objection to run the Society on a sounder financial basis than formerly. But when he talks about Artists and Oratorio, his views need considerable adjustment. The implications that no amateur can be an artist, and every professional is an artist, are statements which are quite original. That payment for musical services immediately transforms one into an artist is a conclusion doubtless imagined by the fortunate one but it is a result that does not invariably follow. It is probably too true that there are far more 'artists' among amateurs than among professionals.
Of course 'Musico' has quite a wrong impression of the meaning of the term artist, and his rather rough reflection on our musicians, "we have no artless here"—merely follows on his ridiculous mis-use of the term.
In St. John's we have 'artists'—in chorals, in orchestra, and in soloists.
In the next place, if a lawyer charges for advice, why not a singer for singing? Both have had to study hard. Both are earning their living, one at law, the other in music.
These days when the thinker, the laborer the grocery man are calling the tune 'one has to step lively' to it, and if anyone is supporting himself by music, I don't think that he has an enviable lot in most cases. The soloists selected for last year's oratorio were good, and if those solos had been left in inexperienced hands the result, I am sure, would have been disastrous. There is no question about that. We may have singers who would undertake the solos, but doing justice to them is entirely another matter.
Without taking one iota from the splendour of the choruses, I think it is rank foolishness to say that the solos in the 'Messiah' are simply an adjunct, as it were, to them and could be dispensed with without much loss. Handel had no such idea when he wrote them.
Yours truly,
T. N. M.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.
President Wilson does not regard the Mexican situation as having reached such critical stages as to require the closing of the American embassy. Discussing reports to that effect to-day, he said, Mr. O'Shaughnessy neither had been given his passports nor had he been told to come back. While details as to circumstances had changed, yet the main circumstances remained the same as when the President previously expressed a favourable view of the situation. Summing up the status of affairs, the President indicated that while the personal attitude of Huerta might have changed, the circumstances upon which the American Government based its convictions that the elimination of Huerta was inevitable, have not changed at all. "The mills of the gods grind slowly" expresses that slow and steady purposes are being pursued.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.
President Huerta regards his part in the recent exchange of communications with the States as finished. He expects to find no difficulty in consummating his plan to bring his new Congress to a full organization to-morrow, and continues planning his military campaign for carrying out his policies of pacification. What further move may be taken at Washington is a question which neither Mexicans nor foreigners find easy to answer. There is an increasing expression of opinion that the States would continue her "Hands off" policy.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 17.
Singing "God Save the King," and "America," two hundred members of the Twin City Bankers' Club, entertained twenty-five Canadian bankers at the annual dinner of the Minneapolis Club. The feeling of brotherhood between the two countries was touched upon by Sir Wm. Whyte, who declared that hands were being stretched from both sides of the border, and when they clasp, he said, war between English-speaking people will cease to be a possibility.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.
While prowling in the shadow of the shrubbery south of the White House to-day, a man, giving his name as Clyde Withers, was arrested by the police. He could give no explanation for his presence, and was imprisoned. He will be remanded to the Asylum Hospital for examination as to his sanity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.
A Peace Centenary Commission to confer with similar bodies in Britain, Canada and elsewhere, for the celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Treaty of Ghent, was proposed to-day in a resolution by Representative Smith, of New York.

LONDON, Nov. 17.
Right Hon. James Bryce, former Ambassador to the United States, was received in audience to-night by the King, when the relinquishment of his post at Washington was discussed.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.
Reports have reached the American Embassy here that General Blanquet, Minister of War, has decided to oust Huerta and install a provisional president of his own choosing.

MADRID, Nov. 17.
King Alfonso and Queen Victoria left here Sunday, on a three weeks' trip, during which they will visit Paris, Vienna, Berlin and London.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.
A private message received here from Vera Cruz, says it is reported there that Tampico has been captured by the rebels.

Boy Shot Playing Indians.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 10.—Joseph Caples, aged fourteen, was instantly killed by a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle in the hands of Arthur Danovan, aged twelve, while the two were rehearsing a wild west scene in a lonely field outside the city. In imitation of a moving picture drama they had recently seen, the two boys were defending themselves from the attack of an imaginary band of Indians.

In another case a possible fatality was prevented by the timely arrival of Police Sergeant Kilpatrick. The boys were imitating a picture they had witnessed in the movies and in the roles of Indians had tied one of their number to a stake to be burned alive. They piled straw and brush around the stake, and were about to set fire to the pile.

SALMON IN MARKET.—A quantity of fresh salmon was in the local market yesterday, and ready sale was got for it at twenty cents a pound.

An Underworld Story.

AT THE NICKEL.

Hundreds of ladies and gentlemen did not mind the rain last night, and attended the Nickel Theatre to see the great story of New York's Underworld entitled "The Crooked Path." It proved one of the best ever given there and was watched with the greatest interest. The principal characters are taken by well known artists and they gave a very clever presentation. The story tells of a young girl who is brought back from a life of sin and vice by a clergyman. It is full of pathos and all were pleased with it. Mr. Cameron sang "And the Verdict was," while Mr. Fleming rendered a beautiful illustrated song "When a College boy meets a College girl." This evening the programme will be repeated.

Stoker Drowned.

The Reid Nfd. Co. received a message from Capt. Arch Blandford, of the s.s. Glencoe, yesterday afternoon, stating that one of the firemen, named Bruce, had fallen overboard during the morning and was drowned. As far as we can ascertain, there is no man named Bruce in the Firemen's Union, and the general opinion was that the unfortunate man is Jas. Bruce, of Alexander Street, who recently left here to join one of the Reid Co.'s ships. But that is not so.

Whaler Finished.

The whaler Cachalot has now finished operations for the season, and is at Trinity where she will likely remain for the winter. Her total catch for the season is thirty-seven fish, two of which are sperms captured in the early part of the voyage. Capt. Devik and his men will arrive in the city to-day and will proceed to England by the Carthaginian and thence to their homes in Norway. A large shipment of oil and other products of the whaling industry, will be sent by the same ship.

Vandalism.

The new bridge erected at the head of Quidi Vidi Lake for public convenience and particularly convenient for people living on the north side of the lake, has been taken away. On last Saturday morning at daybreak a certain person was seen maliciously breaking down the bridge and removing the material. Such a mean act of vandalism is nothing better than an outrage and the guilty party should be severely censured.

Woman Meets Accident

Last evening an aged woman, named Mount, who resides on Barnes Road, met with a painful accident. She was visiting a friend on Livingstone Street in the afternoon and when leaving to go home fell over a flight of stairs. As a result one of her legs above the knee was badly fractured. Dr. Roberts was summoned, but the injured member in splints and ordered the woman to Hospital where she was taken in the ambulance.

Disgraceful Scene.

Yesterday afternoon, a disgraceful scene was witnessed on Duckworth Street. A young fisherman, of Flatrock, was engaged fighting with an elderly resident of the same place thrice his age. The latter was badly pummeled by his younger opponent and had to be brought to a nearby drug store for treatment to his face which was a mass of cuts and bruises. It was a pity no policeman were around to give the manacn his just deserts.

Politics not for Christian Men.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—The Rev. Dr. Bland, principal of the Wesleyan College, addressing the annual meeting of the Manitoba Presbyterian Synod yesterday, attributed the high cost of living to real estate speculation, the efforts of which, he said, were worse than Monte Carlo. He said the church was taking too much upon itself to ask Christian men to enter Canadian politics at the present day, as the strain upon the moral character is too great. He blamed both parties for political corruption.

RUBBERS!

A Billion Dollars Lost Each Year.

Dry Feet Could Save The Most of it.

The International Congress on Tuberculosis that met in Washington last winter discussed the financial side of consumption as well as its medical aspect. Prof. Fisher, Professor of Political Economy at Yale, made the statement that tuberculosis cost the United States a billion dollars a year. He based his figures on the cost of doctors' fees, medicines, nurses, etc., and added the loss of earnings during the patient's period of sickness. He went into the question in great detail, and nobody disputed his figures.

A billion dollars every year, that's a stupendous national loss, and all the doctors agree that this disease could soon be stamped out as effectively as yellow fever and cholera have been. There are four very simple things that will prevent consumption: Proper avoidance of colds, AND THE SUREST WAY TO AVOID COLDS, ESPECIALLY IN WINTER, IS TO KEEP THE FEET DRY.

There were 100,000 deaths from tuberculosis in the United States last year. Probably one-half of those unfortunate people would have been alive and well today if they had taken so small a precaution as putting on a pair of rubbers every time they went out into the rain or snow.
