CHAPTER III
AN EXTRAORDINARY STORY.

"No, I know no one here," said Floris.
"Then shut it up and let us talk," he said, and he took the heavy book from her and laid it on the table. "Do you know that my cousin—perhaps you don't know that Lady Pendleton is my cousin?"
"No," said Floris.
"She is, alas! or she says she is; I am not quite sure. A cousin fourteen times removed, I think. At any rate, she is so much of a cousin that she thinks she is at liberty to avail herself of my valuable services."
"Yes," said Floris. "You were going to tell me something—"
"Yes. Well, my cousin fourteen times removed has been exceedingly unkind to-night. I asked her to tell me who and what was the lady I had the honor to take to dinner, and she refused. It was ungrateful of her, but I have no appeal excepting to you."
"Oh, I am Lady Pendleton's companion," said Floris, simply.
He did not express any surprise, if he felt any, but leaned forward, his dark eyes fixed on her face.
As they sat thus, Lady Pendleton passed them on her way across the room, and paused a moment to exchange a word.
"How thoughtful you look, Bruce! I really think you must be in love." He smiled absently, then sat up. "That was a foolish speech of my cousin's," he said. "But, like the random shaft, it struck home. She is quite right. I am in love."

Floris turned to him with a smile. "Do you wish me to commiserate your lordship?" she said.
"If you please," he answered gravely, "and for this reason, that I am in love with a young lady whom I have never seen; whose name I have only read. Think of it! To be in love with the mere imagination! Not to know the object of one's passion by sight! To pass her, perhaps, in the street, and yet be unaware that she is she. It is hard, is it not?"
"Very!" said Floris, smiling again.
"Shall I tell you how it happened?" he asked, after a pause, during which several other guests took their departure.
"If you like," said Floris.
"It is a strange experience," he began, in a low voice, with the manner of one commencing with himself, as well as addressing a listener. "You must know that my family has been under a cloud for several years past, for a couple of generations back. Did you ever read the story of the Old Man of the Sea, the old person who got on Sindbad's back, and couldn't be got rid of?"
"Oh, yes!"
"Well, we have had an old man of the sea on our family back; his name was 'Chancery Lawsuit'—what is the matter?" for Floris, whose eyes had been wandering round the room dreamily, started slightly and looked at him.
"Nothing," she said, averting her eyes again. "Please go on."
"The suit has been running for generations, and that it has made each generation poorer than the last, so that the old man threatened to kill Sinbad right out. I, as the last of my family, was reduced to—well, perhaps I had better not tell you all that I was reduced to, in case you should not believe me; and I should not like that."
Floris listened to the leisurely musical voice with a growing wonder in her mind. How singular a coincidence! He had described the actual state of the Carlisle family!
"Now comes the extraordinary part of the story. Lo and behold! with very little warning and no great fuss to speak of, the great case comes to a close, and greatly to my astonishment I am informed that I am the victor. The particulars and details I allowed to go, but the main result was satisfactory. I was proclaimed the victor, and learned that a great portion of the lands and moneys and houses were coming back to me. Judge of my astonishment when I was informed by my lawyer that my deadly foes were represented by two women; an old lady and her daughter—What is the matter?"
Floris had started with a sudden movement, and her face had flushed, then turned pale.
"You are tired! I forgot that you had travelled some distance to-day. Pray forgive me! My story will keep till some other time!" and he half rose.
"No, no!" said Floris, in a very low voice. "I am not tired, I am not, indeed! Pray go on! I am very much interested, my lord."
He was silent for a moment, and then resumed.
"Yes, an old lady and her daughter. I asked how the result of the trial would affect them, and was told that they would be nearly ruined. That is to say, that in addition to losing the estate we had been squabbling over, they would have to pay their own costs of the last trial. I asked the amount, and learned that it was five thousand pounds."

GIRLS' PAINS AND WEAKNESS

Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of Girls Benefited

St. Louis, Mo.—"When I was only fifteen years old mother had to put me to bed every month for twodays because I suffered such pain. I also suffered from a weakness and mother took me to a doctor but he did not help me. Finally mother made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has made me strong and healthy. So when mother or I hear any woman complaining we tell them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for me."—Mrs. JOHN FRAME, 1121 N. 18th St., St. Louis, Mo.

Girls who suffer as Mrs. Frame did should not hesitate to give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, as the evidence that it constantly brings published proves beyond question that this grand old remedy has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine.

charm, spell, whichever you like to call it, there is no cure like change of scene. Therefore, you understand, though my cousin never will, for I shall never tell her, why I have ordered my yacht and am off to the Mediterranean. I am going to take the vision of Floris Carlisle out with me, and drop it, with the memory of it, in the blue sea, in the hope that it will sink, and sink, and rise to haunt me no longer. As for the note, well I will keep that to remind me when I am old and gray, and on the verge of the grave, that I once loved a girl whom I had never seen, and whose only words addressed to me were the written ones of scorn—contempt!"

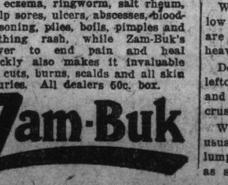

There was a subtle music in his voice that rang deep down in Floris' heart and made her tremble.
She tried to rise and had succeeded in making an effort, when Lady Pendleton flitted toward them.
"My dear Bruce, how kind of you to stay! And what have you two been talking about?" with her head on one side.

"I have been giving Miss—this young lady—an account of the various fishes and shells to be found within the Mediterranean circle, my dear Betty," he answered, instantly, and with calm gravity.
"Really? I didn't know you knew anything about them, or anything else that was useful. It is very good of you to listen to him, my dear," to Floris. "And now, Bruce, about this fancy fair. You must stay for it! I must have you down among the patrons. See how well your name would read! Patrons: H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, etc., etc.—all the royal family, you know—and then the 'Right Honorable, the Earl of Norman—'" Floris' head sank lower. Yes, his name was Norman! But why, oh, why had she not known it before? Why did they call him Bruce?

"I'll think it over and let you know in the course of two or three months, Betty," he said, rising.
Lady Pendleton shrieked.
"Two or three months! Why, the fair is next week! You are the most provoking of men, Bruce; now isn't he, Miss Carlisle?"
The name was spoken at last. He was looking for his opera hat while she had been speaking, but at the sound of the name he stopped and turned, and swiftly, but slowly round upon them.
"What on earth is the matter? Why do you look at her like that? Why, Bruce, you have grown quite pale; hasn't he, dear?"
"What name did you say?" he asked, his eyes fixed upon Floris' downcast face with its closely shut lips and white brow, wrinkled under her burden of shame and confusion.
"What name? Whose name? Miss Carlisle's? This young lady's name is Miss Floris Carlisle," and she laid her hand on Floris' arm.

of a skin disease, and the disease will naturally disappear. That is how Zam-Buk cures. The cause of all skin troubles is germs. Zam-Buk is a powerful germ-destroyer, not only of germs on the surface skin, but also deep down in the underlying tissues.
This is because of Zam-Buk's unusual power of penetration. Ordinary ointments, which have not this power of penetration, can only destroy the germs on the surface skin—hence the disease breaks out again. Zam-Buk cures thoroughly and, therefore, permanently.
Only Zam-Buk should be used for eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, scaly sores, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poisoning, piles, boils, pimples and itching rash, while Zam-Buk's power to end pain and heal quickly also makes it invaluable for cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. All dealers 60c. box.

WAR REVIEW.
Although the latest German official report announces that the situation on the battlefield is unchanged, there has been a change on one of the important sectors in Picardy, a American marines are responsible for it. Attacking on a front of about two and a half miles in a night they began on Thursday with the break down, the marines in four hours drove back the enemy over a distance, virtually two and a quarter miles and occupied all the important high ground northwest of Chateau Thierry which village in a previous fight American machine gunners had taken into a shambles by their accurate fire. The enemy tried to wrest a bridge from them. After a breathing spell on Thursday, the American marines, and at last accounts had five regiments in progress for this important sector which commands the Marne; that part of the front where the battle line wings eastward to Rheims. The marines took 109 German prisoners in the early encounter, while the French on their left also gained an advantage over the enemy and the prisoners 100 of his men. It is now believed to have the Germans been the attacks of the Americans in Chateau Thierry sector during the past few days that they have been compelled strongly to reinforce the front, using three divisions of pick troops in an attempt to hold back the men from overseas. Thus far, however, their efforts have been unavailing. The Americans would not denied their objectives. The heavy attacks of the Germans along the front from Rheims to the northwest of Soissons are still at a halt, though offensives are being attempted at isolated points and bombardments of violence are being carried out in various sectors, especially in the region of Rheims. Everywhere the Germans have essayed an attack, but has met with a sharp repulse. So far there has been no doubt that the Allies line has been sufficiently strengthened to withstand the shock of the German troops, and it is seemingly beyond the realm of possibility that General Foch's armies soon will take the initiative. Admission has been made by the correspondent of the Berlin Vossische Zeitung that the German army cannot be expected to proceed at present against the newly strengthened Allies' lines. In the Italian theatre there has been somewhat of an increase in the artillery and the front encounters along the mountain front and the lower reaches of the Piave River, but the anticipated attempt at an advance by the Austrians has not yet begun.

THOUSAND GERMAN DEAD.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS, June 6. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.) The attempt of the Germans to cross the Marne River at Laigonnelle was more serious than appeared from first reports. The enemy threw a ladder foot bridges across the river. Four were destroyed by gun fire. Prussian battalion crossed on the remainder, two men abreast, and were immediately on the river bank installing a machine gun detachment at the station and the remains spreading along the line behind the river at all costs and this was carried out on Sunday night by dismounting fragments, supported by American machine gunners. The latter engaged a duel with the Germans at the station, enabling the French to work behind the enemy who incidentally headed by their officers, some of who plunged into the river and swam out. The remainder of the battalion was killed or captured. The enemy loss in the machine gun battle with the Americans for Chateau Thierry bridge were also very heavy. Over a thousand

WAR REVIEW.

Although the latest German official report announces that the situation at the front is unchanged, there has been a change on one of the most important sectors in Picardy, and American marines are responsible for it. Attacking on a front of about two miles and a half miles in a fight that began on Thursday with the break of dawn, the marines in four hours drove back the enemy over a distance of approximately two and a quarter miles and occupied all the important high ground northwest of Chateau Thierry, which village in a previous fight the American machine gunners had turned into a shambles by their accuracy as the enemy tried to wear a bridge across them. After a breathing space on Thursday's battle, the Americans in the evening returned to the front, and at last accounts hard fighting was in progress for this important sector which commands the Marne. That part of the front where the machine gun wings extend to Rheims, the marines took 109 German prisoners in the early encounter, while the French on their left also gained an advantage over the enemy and made prisoners 160 of his men. So hard pressed have the Germans been by the attacks of the Americans in the Chateau Thierry sector during the past few days that they have been compelled to send reinforcements to the front, asking three divisions of picked troops in an attempt to hold back the pressure from overseas. This far, however, their efforts have been unavailing. The Americans would not be denied their objectives. The heavy attacks of the Germans along the front from Rheims to the northwest of Soissons are still at a halt, although offensives are being attempted at isolated points and bombardments of violence are being carried out on various sectors, especially in the region of Rheims. Everywhere the Germans have essayed an attack it has met with sharp repulse. There seems to be no doubt that the Allied line has been sufficiently strengthened to withstand the shock of the German troops, and it is generally expected that the present situation will be maintained. General Foch's admission will take the initiative. Admission has been made by the correspondent of the Berlin Vossische Zeitung that the offensive is spent, and that the German armies cannot be expected to proceed at present against the newly strengthened Allied lines. In the Italian theatre there has been somewhat of an advance in the artillery and the tactical encounters along the mountain front and on the lower reaches of the Piave River, but the anticipated advance at an advanced by the Austrians has not yet begun.

THOUSAND GERMAN DEAD.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS, June 6. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The attempt of the Germans to cross the Marne River at Jaulgonne was more serious than appeared from first reports. The enemy threw 22 batter foot bridges across the river. Four were destroyed by gun fire. A Prussian battalion crossed on the remainder, two men abreast, and advanced immediately on the railway, installing a machine gun detachment at the station and the remainder spreading along the line behind the sheltering embankment. We decided to throw the enemy back across the river at all costs and this was carried out on Sunday night by dismounted Sappers, supported by American machine gunners. The latter engaged in a duel with the Germans at the station, enabling the French to work behind the enemy, who had initially fled before their officers, some of whom slung into the river and swam over. The remainder of the battalion were killed or captured. The enemy losses in the machine gun battle with the Americans for Chateau Thierry bridge were also very heavy. Over a thousand

AIR SUPREMACY.

FRENCH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, June 6. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—During the first twenty-four hours of the battle the Germans had the mastery of the air between the Aisne and the Marne. Their triumphs were short lived, as the attack opened Monday a powerful aviation group including some of the best known French aviators started towards the Aisne via the German front in the air, causing the greatest possible damage en route. The group took the air Tuesday, engaging the German army and descending within twenty feet of the ground in order to attack troops and convoys, and by the end of the day the balance in the air was redressed. German airplanes which had been firing on our troops with machine guns from low altitudes learned caution quickly. During the course of Wednesday our supremacy in the air had been definitely reestablished and since then has hardly been challenged. French squadrons have carried out systematic attacks at short intervals of German concentrations at such places as Fismes, twelve miles behind the front. Scores of tons of explosives have been dropped on German camps and communications. A remarkably large number of enemy balloons have been destroyed lately. These the Germans use almost in their front line in order to compensate for the inferiority of their air service, they haul them down with remarkable quickness on the appearance of the French airplanes. The gas bags are protected by machine guns and anti-aircraft guns and it is dangerous to attack them. Yet they have been destroyed by the half dozen in the last few days.

WILL NEVER YIELD.

LONDON, June 6. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The battle situation remains unchanged. The Germans are held up from the time being on the whole front from Noyon to Rheims. They have lost very heavily in the last few days, particularly on Monday and Tuesday when their gains were smaller. French experts now anticipate that the Germans will attempt to break through somewhere else, possibly between Noyon and Mont Didier with the object of converging their advance toward Paris, though it is not impossible that the enemy will attack in a totally different sector. This would be in accordance with the habitual German strategy of pressing an attack in one sector until the moment is exhausted and then turning sharply off to strike elsewhere. The proximity of Paris in this case, however, may dictate a departure from these tactics. The attitude of Paris in facing the present ordeal is inspiring the most glowing eulogies in the British press, which pays fervent tribute to Premier Clemenceau's speech as expressing the invincible spirit of France and affording impressive evidence of the mutual confidence of the Allies and reliance in the growing might of America. The papers declare that M. Clemenceau also spoke for the British nation when he declared that France would never yield.

AN ANSWER TO SUB. SINKINGS.

LONDON, June 6. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Archibald Hurd, writing in the Daily Telegraph, says the output of British tonnage during the twelve months ended May 31, was almost exactly twice that of the preceding twelve months. He continues: "Since the spring of last year the progress has been consistent and steady, if not swift. It has been marked by no sensational developments and will be marked by none. While it is a subject for congratulation that this upward movement can be recorded it may be recorded on the other hand that considerably over a year ago it was stated that our resources of labor of material available would enable us to build three million tons yearly or twice what has been built in the past twelve months. The truth is that the output of three million tons yearly is possible so long as there is present shortage of labor continues, and long before the supply of skilled and unskilled workmen could be made good the demand for more material would have to be increased."

THE TONNAGE PROBLEM.

LONDON, June 6. The returns of new merchant ships completed in May, says the Times, shows a great advance on the previous month, and this is not the only proof of this energy now being thrown into shipbuilding. The accounts of new shipyards created where three months ago there was nothing but open fields is another evidence. There has also been a great deal of enterprise in the extension of existing yards. These achievements afford proof that the industrial energy of the country is not exhausted and has an abundant reserve force. Other items of news point to a general increase of activity in the shipbuilding not only here but in the United States and Canada, an activity which will certainly be stimulated by the new German offensive off the American coast. According to the Chairman of the Imperial Munition Board, there is construction in Canada one-quarter of the local merchant tonnage produced by the United Kingdom in 1917 and four-fifths of it will be completed this year. That is a remarkable achievement for a country in which ten years ago shipbuilding hardly existed in embryo. All this enterprise will bear fruit in due course, and before this

STARVING BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 6. John R. Clynen, Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Food, told the House of Commons today that no efforts of the submarines, however severe, could menace the civilian population of Great Britain. He said that 457,000 tons of bacon had been recently had been imported from America.

SHIPBUILDING SATISFACTORY.

LONDON, June 6. Merchant tonnage completed in United Kingdom yards and entered for service during May 1918 was 107,274 gross tons, the highest figure for any month during the past year. Official figures published to-day show that the completions for May marked an increase in tonnage over April 1918 of 85,741 tons. The next highest figure for any month the past year was 151,574 gross tons in March 1918. The total completions for the twelve months ending May 31st, 1918 were 1,406,838 gross tons. The corresponding figures for the year ending April 30, 1918, were 1,270,337. Commenting upon these figures the controller general of merchant ship-building says, the satisfactory output in May reflects great credit on the whole industry particularly the firms engaged in fitting out vessels. The average time for fitting out has been reduced considerably. In one instance during May a 6,000 steamer was completed for service within nineteen days of its launching.

ANOTHER HUN VICTIM.

WASHINGTON, June 6. The sinking of the British steamer Harpathian one hundred miles off the Virginia Capes at 9 o'clock yesterday by a German sub, was announced at the Navy Department to-night. The whole crew was rescued by the steamer Palmer which arrived today in Chesapeake Bay. The vessel was a torpedo. One member of the British crew was injured. The Harpathian is a freighter of 2,800 net tons.

point of Carlepout wood where the small hill of Mont a Lagache stand out like a bastion but the French drove them back immediately they left the protection of their lines. The sector between the Oise and Aisne also found the Allies very active. They were determined to hold this and are displaying the greatest energy in improving their positions, at the same time capturing small batches of prisoners, most of whom show signs of terrible fatigue and privation. A French prisoner who escaped from the German lines declared that hundreds of bodies of Germans were lying around everywhere. According to his story the Germans guarding himself and others had not received rations since May 27th and were compelled to live on what they found. The same conditions he added prevailed throughout the German armies in the front lines. An unmailed letter found on a German officer in another part of the line tells a similar tale of the shortage of food.

Had Piles for Ten Years

And Tried Nearly Everything Except a Surgical Operation Without Obtaining Relief—Tells How Complete Cure Was Effected.

There are reported here three cures of chronic cases of piles. In all three cases many treatments were tried before it was discovered that Dr. Chase's Ointment is about the only real cure for this distressing ailment.

Mrs. A. Oates, 22 Gilkinson street, Brantford, Ont. writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment as a household remedy for ever so long, and am particularly indebted to it for a cure from Piles. I had suffered from this annoying trouble for ten years, and tried nearly everything I heard of. After using Dr. Chase's Ointment a short while I was completely cured."

Mrs. Wm. Shantz, 155 Albert street, Kitchener, Ont. writes: "For several years I was troubled with hemorrhoids. I tried different remedies for relief without success. I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac of the benefits other people were receiving from Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I sent to your office for a sample box. I found it gave me relief. I went to a drug store and purchased a full-sized box. I have used several boxes since, and have derived more benefit from its use than any remedy I have ever used."

Mrs. F. Cussons, Victoria street, Ingersoll, Ont. writes: "About two years and a half ago I was suffering from Piles. I had tried many different remedies for this distressing trouble, but nothing helped me. Finally I got a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and after using it found that I was completely cured and have not been bothered in this way since. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to anyone suffering as I am."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Thers & Co., Toronto, Ont. There are no rivals to Dr. Chase's Ointment as a treatment for Piles.

The Red Cross March

With measured rhythmic tread they come, A red-starred, bannered throng, To sound of fife and roll of drum Fifth Avenue along— The Red Cross banners o'er them wave, Led by the nation's President!

In glory of the Maytime fair and splendor of the sunned day While cheers of thousands fill the air, These marchers walk as one. These Red Cross banners o'er them wave, Whose mission 'tis to heal and save!

Beneath the blue of Heaven's arch, A living Red Cross heads the march, Emblem of mercy true. While o'er them all, along the line, The Stars and Stripes in glory shine!

The grace, the beauty, and the bloom Of girlhood here we see 'Neath banners that their march illumine— Daughters of Liberty! And with them tread in graver mood The heroines of womanhood!

And as we look we hear the tramp Of thousands marching by, Each seems the "Lady of the Lamp," Under Crisman sky, Who won a glory ne'er to pale For the name of Florence Nightingale!

These are our country's heroines, Whose lives are consecrate, Whose victories fair Mercy wins, Who on the wounded wait— And bring new hope 'neath Red Cross tent Like mothers to the wounded rest. H. T. SUDDUTH.

Forty Years in the Public Service—The Evening Telegram

LONDON GOSSIP.

London, April 29th, 1918.

THE WAR SECRETARIES' SECRETARY.
 H. J. Creed, who has been appointed Lord Milner's private secretary at the War Office, has a unique record, having in that capacity already enjoyed the trust of six War Ministers. He was first appointed by Lord Haldane, and was transferred on each change, serving under Mr. Seely, Mr. Asquith, Lord Kitchener, Lloyd George and Lord Derby. Lord Derby, who has now taken up his duties in Paris, took over with him Lord Charles Montagu and Sir Samuel Scott.

YOUTH AND AGE IN PARLIAMENT.
 Samuel Young, M.P., the Irish Nationalist member for East Cavan, who has just died, is believed to have been the oldest man who ever sat in the House of Commons, though there have been older Peers. Various considerations obviate the need for any law putting a limit to the age at which a man may sit, but there are limits in the other direction. Even in the time of King James I. there were complaints of the youthfulness of some members of the House of Commons and there were accounts taken of "forty gentlemen not above 20 and some not exceeding 18." The poet Walker sat in Parliament before he was 17 years of age, and whatever the law may have been the practice was vastly different. Even when it had been settled in the seventh year of William III. that the election of any person under the age of 21 would be null and void Charles James Fox sat when only 15 years old, and so did Chesterfield, but the latter was more unfortunate, because when he had the indiscretion to attack the Ministry of the day his birth certificate was scrutinized and he received a pretty broad hint that he must retire from St. Stephen's.

THE LAND GIRLS.
 The procession of two hundred comely land girls in tunics and breeches through the West End of London the other day was the most decorative recreation they have ever made. They were already very popular in London, which has a strong sense of the theatre. The same beautiful leader headed the procession as was seen on previous occasions, carrying the Union Jack. She was followed by detachments of representative workers with banners appealing for twenty thousand recruits. The hay waggons were decorated with daffodils, and from one of them a choir sang a recruiting song. But the crowd admired most the live stock, the complacent ducks and hens and lambs, which several girls held with very grim grasps. All the way the land girls were calling to the girls they passed to come and join them. At Hyde Park a demonstration of lay-baling was going on, and recruiting speeches were being made. When the land girls arrived there they canvassed the girls in the crowd insistently. A glimpse of a young person in land uniform speeding triumphantly across the grass with eight likely maidens at her heels indicated that they were meeting with some success.

THE QUEUES CITY.
 The rationing of tea reminds one that even the tea-queues have virtually gone, and of the astounding indifference rationing has made to the lives of everyone and to the whole appearance of London. The only queues that remain are the amusement queues, and a few land and one or two cat's-meat queues. Until one other week there were tea queues every day in front of a big tea merchant's in Fleet Street, and that shop reduced its business hours to a minimum. Now there is no queue and the shop does business all day. The explanation of the manager is that the tea was not distributed to the small shops, whose customers then came to the big shops and formed queues. The margarine shops, whose queues used to stretch round the block, are now queues and have big displays in their windows. The butchers' seem full of food, and everyone seems moderately satisfied. What one would like to know is how is the time spent which was formerly wasted by the nation in queues, for it must have been enormous of publicity which made a big business of queue photos that were afterwards reproduced in German papers and made good German propaganda would now publish photos of the queueless cities and the stocked shops.

THE EXEMPTED CLERGY.
 More courage in the present emergency is being shown by many ministers of religion than by a number of members of Parliament. Despite the fact that, very unexpectedly and without full explanation, the Government have changed their original proposal and continued the exemption of the clergy, I learn from influential members of various religious denominations that it is not the intention of their executive officials to take unreasonable advantage of the concession. Committees are being appointed with a view to finding what ministers can best be spared, either for combatant service, for chaplaincy duty, or for national work. In the voluntary communions whose annual conferences and assemblies are held during the summer there will be substantial contributions to the manpower of the war up to the same age-limits as in the general population. The question of physical health is one that operates with especial insistence in the clerical profession, and it will affect materially the volume of war work derivable from this source.

A BOUNTIFUL BUDGET.
 War-time has accustomed us to heavy increases in taxation and to searching for new things to clap impost upon. The latest Budget speech of the Chancellor of the Exchequer increases the income tax in this country substantially, although not upon small incomes. It is the larger incomes that will bear the increase, both on income tax and that additional tax called the super-tax which is imposed upon extra high incomes. Farmers come in for a special share of attention this time. Hitherto they have come off lightly in the matter of income tax. They have not been assessed in the ordinary way but the Government has taken the amount of rent they paid for their farms and estimated that their income was equal to that, taxing them upon that figure; now they will be taxed upon a figure equal to double their rent and this will increase the revenue from this source alone from £12,500,000 to £25,000,000. By reason of the new taxation sugar will rise, from 5½d. (11½ cents) per pound, whilst tobacco, beer and spirits also bear extra burdens. One of the most interesting features of the new Budget is the tax on luxuries imposed for the first time in this country, unless one harks back to the very ancient days of early summary laws when it was sought, if I remember rightly, to limit the length of the toe of the shoe of the medieval gallant. A committee is now sitting to determine what are luxuries and the net is going to be thrown very widely. It looks as though everything that is expensive, as well as all the things that are not necessary, will be ranked as luxuries and the buyer will pay an extra price and the buyer will pay an extra price (4 cents in 24 cents) when buying a $300 piano therefore would find it now cost him $350 and $50 of this sum would go to the Government as luxury tax.

BISHOP'S PALACE FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS.
 Within the next few days Fulham Palace, the residence of the Bishop of London, will be available as a military hospital. The famous building, the old court of which dates back to Tudor times, and the magnificent and extensive grounds, long celebrated among arboriculturists, constitute valuable premises for hospital purposes. The Bishop of London himself offered the building a few weeks ago to the British Red Cross Society, and the society, with his approval, has requested the Free-masons' War Hospital Committee to take up and utilise the palace. Free-masons already have done excellent work for the wounded at their special hospitals at Chelsea (in the south-west of London) and Cavendish, near Reading, and by this new extension 100 further beds will be available. The plans has the approval of the War Office, and the palace will be opened to the wounded within the next few days, the patients being received irrespective of their membership of the Masonic body.

"Star" Released.
 Yesterday judgment was delivered by the Chief Justice in the matter of the application of the St. John's Daily Star for an injunction ordering the Department of Justice to remove the notice from the Star Building and to release from the operation of the Order-in-Council suppressing the paper and preventing the other printing business in connection therewith. The injunction was granted, and the Star will, consequently, resume publication, but as it will take some little time to get the machinery in working order, it is not expected that any issue will be made before to-morrow.

Women's Missionary Society
NEWFOUNDLAND BRANCH.
 The fifth session of the W. M. S. Branch was held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, opening with a Band and Circle Conference, at the close of which a quiet half-hour was spent. When the minutes had been read and business discussed, the election of officers took place, resulting in the following being elected:—Hon. President, Mrs. (Rev.) Curtis; President, Mrs. E. G. Hunter; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. (Dr.) Fenwick; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. (Rev.) Blount; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. (Rev.) House; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. Duff; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. Lindsay; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Peters; Secretary of Circles and Hands, Miss G. Parsons; Treasurer of Circles and Hands, Miss Goolber; Superintendent of Christian Stewardship, Mrs. A. Parkins; Secretary of Literature, Mrs. W. G. Currie; Auditor, Mr. W. G. Currie.

The afternoon session, beginning with devotional exercises, was conducted by the President. The minutes of the morning session were read, a solo sung by Miss J. Trapnell, and unfinished business taken up at the conclusion of which Mrs. Blount read a paper on "Room 410," which is the Methodist Book Room in the Wesley Buildings, Toronto. After a Sacramental service had been held, another paper was read by Mrs. J. S. Bennett on "The Three-fold call of the King." The meeting was then closed. The evening session opened at 7.45 with a service of "Intercession for the Empire," after which the President took the chair and called upon the Branch Corresponding Secretary to give a review of the year's work. Before Miss Hickman gave her address on her work among the Russians, she showed a complete Russian woman's costume, and after the address she was presented with a bouquet and a wrist watch as a souvenir. Miss Curtis then rendered a solo and the Courtesy Committee read a Resolution which was passed, thanking the Billings Committee, the hosts who entertained the Delegates at their homes, and the proprietors of the daily papers for much valuable space given to the reports of the Branch. The session was then closed and the 1918 Annual Convention of the W. M. S. Branch in Newfoundland brought to a very successful termination.

G. P. O. Anniversary.
 Yesterday, June 6th, was the thirty-second anniversary of the opening of the present General Post Office, which took place on June 6th, 1886. In those days the postal service was practically in its infancy and clear of St. John's, Harbor Grace, Carbonear and a few other important outposts, very little business was done. Of those who were employed as officials in the old post office which stood on the site where now stands the Court House, only six are now left in the service. Their names and the positions they then occupied there are: Mr. Geo. W. LeMessurier, Assistant Accountant; Mr. Edward Devereaux, Despatcher; Mr. John W. Kinsella, Registration Clerk; Mr. James Cox, First Letter Carrier; Mr. John H. Clarke, Fourth Letter Carrier; Mr. John F. Newman, Stampier. While not engaged at headquarters at that time, Mr. James Coughlan, at present chief Foreign Despatcher, was mail clerk on the Conception Bay railway. Mr. G. E. Lloyd was appointed to the Money Order Office two months after the transfer was made. Some very interesting stories are told of "Ye Olden Postal Days" many of which are very humorous. At the time of the transfer, included in the valuations, fixtures and books, etc., were several large cases of coppers which were taken in exchange for postage stamps, the accumulation of which was accounted for by the refusal of the banks to handle coins of so small denomination. Mr. James Campbell, for many years General Delivery Clerk, who was pensioned some years ago, and now resides at Montreal, was also a clerk in the old post office.

NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the hurry of preparing for press, the item referring to the arrival of the schooner "Carrie Harvey," printed in another column, we omitted mentioning that this marine event occurred on the 16th May, 1918, and was copied from the Evening Telegram of that date.

Star Released.

Yesterday judgment was delivered by the Chief Justice in the matter of the application of the St. John's Daily Star for an injunction ordering the Department of Justice to remove the police from the Star Building and to release that paper and its job press- men from the operation of the Order-in-Council suppressing the paper and preventing the other printing busi- nesses in connection therewith. The injunction was granted, and the Star will, consequently, resume publica- tion, but as it will take some little time to get the machinery in working order, it is not expected that any issue will be made before to-morrow.

To-Day's Messages.

ALLIES ATTACK SUCCESSFULLY.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, on the Marne, June 6.—Up to this hour the American and French troops, advancing between Veully La- peteri and Torcy, have reached the outer edge of the towns of Bussailles and Torcy. On the west the Allied line has been carried to Granges Farm, south of Cahelu and west of Veully. Bellau Wood, east of Torcy, has been cleared of the enemy. All details are not available at this hour. The Americans comprise the advance- ments on the left of the advancing lines. After capturing a small wood, shaped like the letter S, the Ameri- cans reached the cemetery at Veully and continued to press forward slowly under a heavy fire from German machine guns. During the attack this morning, at dawn, the German artillery was feeble, but the enemy front line was well studded with machine guns. In the action this morn- ing the Americans and French ad- vanced one kilometre in the German lines and captured 270 prisoners, in- cluding ten officers. Forty-five min- utes after the fighting started, one French regiment had attained the border of Maré's Wood, and the edge of a triangular wood, 600 yards south- east of Bussailles, notwithstanding sharp resistance. This regiment alone took more than 100 prisoners.

ENEMY SHOW LASSITUDE.

LONDON, To-day. The Germans do not intend to at- tempt any further or immediate pro- gress around Chateau Thierry, says Reuter's correspondent with the American Army in France, who spent Thursday north of that town. The enemy, he adds, shows lassitude, which might well seem an intention- al effort at deception. The French still hold that part of Chateau Ther- ry on the left bank of the Marne.

REPORT ON AERONAUTICS.

LONDON, To-day. A review, covering naval aerial op- erations during the period from June 1st to June 5th, was published by the Admiralty last night. It says: Eight bombing raids have been made on the following military objectives, Zee- brugge, Ostend, Bruges and the Thor- outh Railway Junction. Large quanti- ties of heavy bombs were dropped. In the course of the fighting two enemy machines were destroyed, and three driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing. In home waters—during the same period—escort du- ties and submarine patrols were car- ried out. Submarines were sighted and attacked and enemy mines locat- ed on several occasions. A squad- ron of large seaplanes carried out a long reconnaissance over the North Sea. A large formation of enemy ma- chines were met and engaged, re- sulting in two enemy machines being shot down. On the return jour- ney two of our machines were forced to alight close to the Dutch Coast, owing to engine trouble. They have been interned.

HUNS AIR-RAID PARIS.

PARIS, To-day. German airplanes raided the Paris district last night through a heavy barrage. Some bombs were dropped. One person is reported dead and several wounded. Material damage was done. The all clear signal was sounded at 12.30 a.m.

ON IRISH MATTERS.

DUBLIN, To-day. A warning to Ireland that Lord French's recruiting proclamation does not mean the withdrawal of con- scription, was made in a statement issued last night by the anti-conscrip- tion conference, after a four hours' session at the Magdalen House. The Lord Mayor of Dublin presided at the meeting, and John Dillon, Joseph Dev- lin and other Nationalist leaders, as well as representatives of Labor and the Sinn Fein were present. The Lord Mayor of Dublin, it was announ- ced, will proceed to the United States when the attempt to conscript Ire- land is renewed. The imprisonment of the Sinn Feiners without trial is condemned and the military administra- tion is denounced. The statement says nothing of the attitude of the conference toward the recruiting campaign. Its reference to the pro- clamations of Lord French follows: "The conference takes note of the latest proclamation from Field Marshal French. In view, however, of its terms, we warn our countrymen against false confidence that con- scription is at an end. In the future, as hitherto, Irishmen must trust above all else their unbroken unity, and un- shakable purpose for safety, against a renewal of the danger of conscrip- tion, which the proclamation has only provisionally postponed."

TURKS MASSACRE ARMENIANS.

LONDON, To-day. A bitter struggle is being waged in the Caucasus between the new Cas- casian Government, and the Turks, says an Exchange Telegraph des- patch from Moscow. The Turks are reported to have massacred more than ten thousand Armenians within a fortnight. The Caucasian Govern- ment has ordered the mobilization of all men between the ages of 19 and 45, and newly formed Caucasian de- tachments are concentrating in the Tiflis District.

ENEMY BEING HELD.

PARIS, To-day. In announcing that the Germans are being held, and that four counter attacks of the French have been suc- cessful, an official notice says that the latest fighting confirms the gen- eral impression of the past few days, that the enemy is being held every- where, and that his reactions which have become purely local, gained no result. The French counter attacks have enabled the French to improve their positions.

AMERICAN MARINES AS SCRAP- PERS.

BULLETIN: WITH THE AMERI- CAN FORCES ON THE MARNE, To- day. (By the A. P.)—American mar- ines last night reached the outskirts of Boury Esches, northwest of Chateau Thierry, and poured volleys of machine gun fire into the enemy in- flicting heavy casualties. Bayonets were used freely against many of the Germans, who attempted to make a stand on the streets at daybreak to- day, and the marines were slowly driving the Germans back in the face of heavy artillery fire including gas shells. The American artillery was performing magnificently in their op- erations. The second attack made yesterday by American marines, on German positions, northwest of Chateau Thierry, early gave promise of being as successful as yesterday morning's assault. The marines re- ceived all their objectives set for the first hour, within the time limit, and pushed beyond them. The early re- ports indicated the Germans on the run for the time being, and surrender- ing right and left.

Topics of the Times.

Proceedings Worthy of Prussia.

When the enemy aliens who have been collected recently on Ellis Island were moved across the bay, as the first stage of their journey to the in- ternal camp in the South where they are to remain for the duration of the war, they took pains to prove how well they deserved incarceration as alien enemies. They did more. They made as much harder and embarrass- ing as they could the position in this country both of all loyal American citizens of German descent and of all unneutralized Germans here who are trying to deserve, by scrupulous ob- servance of our law, the kindness and generosity with which our Govern- ment has treated them.

This the travelers in question did by singing loudly their national an- them and by making insulting dem- onstrations of contempt as they passed the Statue of Liberty. If these men had been prisoners of war, such conduct would have been highly injudicious, but it could have been excused, as coming from a class in a state of mind not conducive to manifestations of delicate courtesy toward their captors. It might even have won something of admiration as a bold defiance of their national an- them and by making insulting dem- onstrations of contempt as they passed the Statue of Liberty.

Expect German Fleet to Come Out. New York, June 2. — The United States now has a large number of first class battleships, "preparing side by side with our ships for an engagement on the high seas which is expected to occur at any time with the German fleet," according to a statement made in an address here to-night by Rear Ad- miral Albert Gleaves.

Should be Hanged. (From the Montreal Gazette.) John Hodge, British Minister of Pensions, is convinced that the war will have been fought in vain if the Kaiser and his war lords do not find their heads in a noose. The reason for his wish is the conviction that the executed gentlemen in question are responsible for the devastation in Europe. The view will be supported by many. The highly-trained and ex- alted monsters of the chancelleries, portulcates to conquer territories and peoples, are the evil geniuses of the world. For their glory tens of thou- sands, and even millions, of men are slaughtered. Their scheming brings war after war. If, instead of power and honor, they were treated to the violent death they have brought to so many others, the lesson might go far towards discouraging their kind in the future. No fate would be too cruel for the authors of the conflict that is raging to-day.

Old-Time Food Prices. LIFE ON TWO SHILLINGS A WEEK "Beef, 3 lb. for 1d." Just picture the scenes that would take place in these days of queues if a butcher were to hang the above notice outside his stall! Certainly he would de- serve a decoration if it were for nothing else but his hardihood in mak- ing such an offer.

Yes in the days of "Bluff King Hal" the London butchers sold beef at that rate to the needy poor of the city, and sometimes in the rush of trade they gave thirteen or fourteen 3 lb. pieces away for a modest "bob."

One could also buy the best mutton at that time for 4d. per lb. and the best pork for 3d. per lb.; while a gallon of good old English home- brewed ale could be had to wash it all down for 1d.

Don't imagine, however, that the food retailers were an altruistic lot then, for even with such low sale- prices they could still "make their bit."

Just note the market prices: An ox, "beef to the very heels," for 21 7s. 6d.; a fat wether or a fat calf for 8d.; lambs at 1s. each; the best pig or goose in the market, 4d.; a chicken for 1d.; and a hen for 2d.

The very rich could only afford to purchase sugar. People resorted to the simple device of rearing bees. Each family possessed its "swarm," and so valuable was it considered to be that he find it receiving particu- lar mention in the family wills of the period.

White bread was, of course, un- known. A coarse black bread of a pronounced "standard" quality was eaten, as to the wholesomeness of which there isn't a second opinion.

But if prices were low, so were wages. The standard rate of pay for carpenters, joiners, masons, plumb- ers, and such tradesmen was 4 1/2d. per day, and for unskilled laborers, 3 1/2d. per day. According to the his- torians of the period, that rate was sufficient to meet the needs of a fam- ily of eight or nine!

What a problem the parents of such a family to-day would have to face on 2s. a week!

Zeebrugge Tightly Corked by British.

OSTEND BADLY BLOCKED.

LONDON, May 23.—Continued ob- servation over Zeebrugge and Ostend, so the New York Times learns to-day from a high Admiralty official, has confirmed the high hopes entertained after the two raids. Fine weather has given the British aviators admir- able opportunities for photographing two ports, and they have been able to watch every development of the situ- ation.

The best proof of the efficiency with which the vindictive and her con- sort succeeded in bottling up the Germans is the fact that enemy craft observed at Zeebrugge three weeks ago are still there. They are "immobilized," in technical phrase, which means that they are lying at their berths in the docks of the canal, and exposed to British air attacks and that the Huns are quite powerless to get them out. They are trying hard enough.

When the Iphigenia and Intrepid forced themselves into the canal they sank between the two sea-walls, carry- ing the canal out into the basin of the harbor. The Germans have now been observed feverishly hacking away at one of the sea-walls.

Evidently they have found it im- possible to clear away the sunken cruisers and their cargoes of concrete, and prefer to demolish part of the solid masonry work and make a new channel. Meanwhile the harbor itself shows every sign of rapidly silting up.

Another gratifying feature of the situation is the discovery that the Bruges-Ostend Canal is so shallow that no enemy craft of any size can use it, so that, though the vindictive has not entirely blocked Ostend Har- bor, no German vessel can reach it from the interior waterways.

The Admiralty has just learned of another matter to encourage it. The U-boat crews, it hears, call the Irish Sea the "Witch's Cauldron," and it takes that as an admission of the miserable life the submarines lead with the Anglo-American sea and air patrols after them.

In a fair wind under full sail, the Soocny can clip off nine knots and with the addition of auxiliary power she can easily account for fifteen knots an hour. Capt. Vardy takes great pride in his vessel and hopes to establish a record in her in the near future. He left by to-day's train on a brief visit to his home at Hickman's Harbor.

Insane Woman Attempts Suicide.

An unfortunate woman belonging to Change Islands, who reached the city last night on the Prospero, accom- panied by her husband, attempted to end her life by jumping into the water while the ship was at West- leville. Several men who were standing near by jumped into a boat and after much difficulty succeeded in rescuing the unfortunate woman. The clothing which she wore was the means of keeping her afloat. We are informed by Mr. Eli Whitehead that he received no notice of the woman com- ing on the Prospero, and as a conse- quence was compelled to keep the patient on board the ship during the night. Mr. Whitehead phoned the matron of the Insane Asylum, stating the woman's condition, but was in- formed that every possible bed was occupied and that it was impossible under present conditions to accom- modate another patient. This morn- ing Mr. Whitehead reported the mat- ter to the Hon. M. P. Cashin, Acting Prime Minister, and to the Secretary of the Board of Works who, we un- derstand, are visiting the institution this afternoon to see what can be done towards accommodation for the large number of patients now wait- ing for admission.

The Victory Loan.

This loan will be placed on the local market within the next few days, and in connection with its issuance the Government have appointed a superintending committee comprising Hon. M. P. Cashin, Minister of Finance and Acting Premier; Sir P. T. McGrath, Hon. John Harvey, M. G. Winter, J. C. Crosbie and Mr. C. O'N. Conroy.

Patriotism.

Patriotism is of two kinds, that which serves and that which seeks. It is defined in the standard dictionaries as "Love of country; devotion to the welfare of one's country; the passion inspiring one to serve one's country."

Notes and Comments

Has the new Minister of Shipping been appointed, as per agreement? Of two evils almost any girl will choose the one without the moustache.

Too many so-called paying investments are those in which the investor does all the paying.

The non-commissioned officers are just as they were in the past—the backbone of the British infantry and cavalry regiments. (Lord Derby.)

The man who is only loyal until his own appetite is interfered with, should be fed on sawdust. It is as fine board as he is entitled to. (Vancouver Daily Sun.)

There are many reasons why the Red Cross should be supported, and the majority of them are in France. Get busy.

The London Gazette announces the institution of two new decorations for distinguished services in the Flying Corps.

Berlin chemists advertise a new drug described as excellent to enable one "to bear hunger without suffering from headache or other indisposition." This should be a great help in assisting a hungry Hun to hold out until the next meal time.

"Pop," asked little Tommy, "what is meant by beastly weather?" "When it's raining cats and dogs my son," the truthful parent replied.

Has the Committee appointed to look after the Minister of Militia's Department, during the absence of that official, been given plenary power? Why this perpetration of a new outrage on a long-suffering people?

Heroes Returning.

The following Royal Naval Reservists who have been on active service, are returning on tomorrow afternoon:—A. Andrews, A. Parsons, Jas. Avery, Alex. Rose, A. H. Butler, D. Easton, W. H. Churchill, W. Cowan, A. Parsons, Thos. Woolridge, C. Kelland, J. Collingwood, C. Cooper, E. Gale, S. Childs.

Supreme Court.

JUDGMENT IN THE "STAR" CASE.

The Chief Justice, Sir William H. Horwood, delivered judgment yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, on behalf of the Star Publishing Company, for an injunction against William Grimes, P. O'Neill, and J. Byrne, Police Officers, for wrongly holding the Company's plant, press and premises, and interfering with their regular business.

An interim injunction was granted, removing the aforesaid defendants from any hold or occupancy of the plant or printing presses, or otherwise, and judgment accordingly was entered with costs against the defendants.

Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., for the Star Publishing Co.; Mr. C. O'N. Conroy, K.C., for defendants.

Arrival of the "Carrie Harvey"

AN EVENTFUL EXPERIENCE.

The schooner "Carrie Harvey," Captain George Wyatt, arrived this afternoon to Messrs. Balne Johnston & Co., from Cadiz, with a cargo of salt. The "Carrie Harvey" left Cadiz for this port last December, and is the same vessel that was reported some time since as trying to steer the French steamer "Chateau Margaux," but had to let her go. This ship has since arrived at Halifax. The "Carrie Harvey" from stress of weather, had to put back to Plymouth, from which port she has just arrived, after a passage of 27 days.

Last Night's Entertainment.

The Casino Theatre was packed, last night, with an audience assembled to hear and applaud some of our finest local talent in the musical and dramatic entertainment, which was given in aid of the Returned War Veterans Association. It was under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor, who with Miss Harris, was present. A guard of honour from the Regiment escorted His Excellency at the main entrance to the theatre and as the Vice-Regal party entered their Box a vast audience stood, while the C. C. C. Band played the National Anthem. The programme which is given below was in two parts. The first consisting of songs by well known vocalists and a recitation by Miss Keegan. Every item was cheered, Captain Campbell responding to a re-entrance. The second portion, a comedieta: "To Oblige Benson" was presented in a manner that would do credit to professional and altogether the concert was one of the best that we have ever attended, and the congratulations of those who contributed to the success of the affair, and particularly to Mrs. John Baxter, under the management and direction it was carried out. The National Anthem by the C. C. C. Band terminated a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Parsons, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Parsons, to Mr. F. R. Clark takes place in Cochrane Street Centennial Church on Wednesday next at three o'clock in the afternoon.

France Expells British Writer.

London, May 21.—Robert Dell, the Paris correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, has been expelled from France. Writing in this morning's issue of his paper he says that on Saturday morning he was notified that a decree of expulsion had been signed by the Minister of the Interior on May 11, and that he must leave Paris that afternoon. The customary three days notice was not allowed him; neither was he permitted to return home from the Police Commissary's office to his home. He was even told that he could not take any luggage but must leave Paris for an indefinite period with nothing but a handbag.

A Poor Month For the U-boats.

On the eve of the submarine campaign to sink all ships without notice, that is to say last January, 1917, the German Admiralty boasted that 1,000,000 tons would be destroyed a month, and calculated the end of the British mercantile marine almost to a day, also the end of the British Empire. The Germans had some good months, but the average they aimed at was never attained. During the winter of 1917-1918 they destroyed about 400,000 tons of British and neutral shipping each month. The shadow of failure had fallen over their abortive enterprise. With the publication of sinkings for April by the British Government it is no longer possible even for a German official with a gift for self-deception to believe that the war can ever be won by the U-boats.

Episcopal Visitation.

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP MARCH VISITS HOLYROOD AND ADMINISTERS THE SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION. His Lordship Right Rev. John March visited Holyrood on Wednesday last, and after short rest as guest of Rev. W. P. Finn, P.P., at the Presbytery, proceeded to the Church where all the candidates for confirmation had assembled. The children were examined in classes by His Lordship and the examination was witnessed by Revs. Father Finn and O'Neill, of Conception. For some weeks past they had undergone a course of special instruction from their energetic pastor Fr. Finn, which profited them considerably and fitted them properly for the reception of this great sacrament. The teachers, too, of the different schools had been busy for some weeks brushing up the salient points of the syllabus for confirmation. On Thursday the Bishop in Pontifical robes, assisted by Father Finn, administered the Sacrament. Before and after the administration His Lordship addressed the candidates, and imparted to his youthful hearers a confirmation discourse, beautiful in tone, simple in diction and eloquent in language which must have left an indelible mark on the souls of the young soldiers of Christ, and was indeed listened to with considerable interest and profit by the older members of the large congregation, assembled to witness the imposing rite and to assist at mass. Immediately after the confirmation ceremony the Bishop officiated at Low Mass, after which the congregation dispersed. We are well pleased to welcome and at the same time farewell our good Bishop who looks in the pink of health and who entrained for Mr. Grace Thursday evening.

The Ramea-Burgeo Cable

The telegraph cable connecting Ramea Island with Burgeo, has cost almost money enough to lay an Atlantic cable, and has given a most unsatisfactory service. At no time since it was first laid in 1912 has it been six months in continuous working order and business men and people of Ramea complain bitterly of the general condition of this much needed service. It has been suggested, that wireless stations be erected at Burgeo and Ramea, for the better facilitating of business. These could be put up at ordinary cost, and the operating expenses would not be heavy. As a matter of fact, wireless should have been installed instead of the electric cable. I had this been done, the country would have profited and no loss would the good people of Ramea have gained. The cost of this absolutely useless cable has been enormous and its benefit has neither been appreciable nor appreciable. It was a second hand outfit, installed by a second hand Government. What, otherwise, could have been expected?

Growing Honest.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I'm more honest than I used to be," said the Authorman. "First man I ever heard admit that he wasn't honest," said the Cynic. "Perhaps honest isn't exactly the word I should use," calmly amended the Authorman. "I guess I mean more punctilious, more conscientious about obligations." "I like my voice," suggested the Cynic. (That is a pet expression of his crowd. It originated with a young man who on being complimented on his singing responded graciously. "I like my voice." Its use is obvious.)

Minard's Liniment Co., Ltd. Gents—I have used your Minard's Liniment in my family and also in my stables for years and consider it the best medicine obtainable.

Yours truly,
ALFRED ROCHAV,
Proprietor Roxton Pond Hotel and Livery Stables.

He Wants An Answer.

"Not at all," said the Authorman. "You quite misunderstand my purpose in mentioning it. My motives are purely generous."

"The point is," he went on, "that I used to be the very devil about acknowledging gifts and answering letters and all that sort of thing, and lately I've reformed. I don't know exactly what's made me. Probably the over development of my sympathetic imagination. I know how I feel if I send a gift or write a letter; if the person liked the gift, or if I want an answer to what I said in the letter."

Doesn't Take Any Longer.

"So if anyone sends me anything or writes me a letter I can feel him waiting for the answer, and I send it just as quickly as I can. I never postpone things now. I put them in a file on the top of my desk until they are answered. And after all, it doesn't take any longer that way. "Another thing I used to put off till over and the day after, was returning anything that had been lent me—books especially. Now I've even got myself trained so that I tend up just any more to pay a bill the day 'cu get it. Of course if you don't have the money, that's another thing."

But nine times out of ten it isn't that that makes us slow. It's hating to pay it out or just plain laziness. Gives One a Clean Feeling. As the Cynic seemed about to break into speech, the Authorman held up his hand. "I know what you are going to say. My generous motives? Well, because I've found that it gives me a clean feeling to get my obligations tended up to that way. I want to share it with you. It's like having bathed and shaved and put on all clean linen. And it doesn't cost any more or take any longer than writing. Besides it keeps that subconscious burden of knowing you ought to be doing something off your mind. Tell me one argument against it?"

But nobody could.

Your Boys and Girls.

Children at seaside resorts are in the water and on the sands so much it is well to provide rompers or jumpers, suits, overalls or bathing suits, both in the water and on the sands, the rompers being made of strong wash material and the bathing suits of flannel, serge or mohair. Evening, however, should find them dressed in the daintiest of frocks, slippers, stockings and ribbons, even though here economy may be practised without detection.

Instead of purchasing a great number of frocks, it will be better to get a few and invest in all the little accessories, such as dainty aprons, correct footwear, ribbons and bows, all of which help so much toward making a child's outfit attractive.

Shoes, whether high or low, should be substantial for day wear, slippers to be donned for the evening only. Sun bonnets of white lawn or dainty in delicate shades are dainty and picturesque and more practical than hats.

A MOTHER TALKS.

"It is too bad," a neighbor said, "too bad that he must go." The gentle mother raised her head and proudly answered "No. We do not think of it that way, at night when we're alone. We miss his smile of yesterday and all yet beneath the grief we know, the anguish and the care. We're glad we had a son to go to serve his country there."

"It would be bad, too bad, had he been ours for twenty years and would not step aside to see what caused another's tears. If unto right our son were blind and deaf to every plea. And thought not of his fellow kind; if he had learned from me that he must live for self alone, and fearing harm, must bow to tyranny, then we should own your deepest pity now."

"If he had failed to catch the gleam within the Flag above; Had missed the splendor and the dream and pride of country love; If he had lived throughout his youth and had not come to see That better far than life is truth, then you could pity me. Don't say to us that it's too bad, although we miss him so. A greater grief we should have had, had he not wished to go."

"We told him how the Flag was born, we trained him to be true. We spoke of wrongs that he must scorn and deeds that he must do. And if the worst shall come, and he on Flanders' fields shall lie, Our consolation then shall be we taught him how to die. We never say that it's too bad, beneath the grief we know, And all the loneliness we're glad he bravely dared to go."

To bring out the flavor of vegetables add a teaspoonful of sugar to the water in which they are boiled. Keep a pumice stone near the kitchen sink. It is excellent for cleaning scorched spots off cooking utensils.

CONTROL OF THE LIPS.

Real beauty, which is always of character, can be engraven upon the mouth by right living and right thinking. Physically the lips may be cared for properly so that they will be soft and red, well shaped by proper care of the teeth, by correct massage and by a little thought in their management, both in laughing and speaking. This last named method may seem to smack of artificiality, but this is not necessarily so. Have not you seen some singer's who grimace horribly over their utterances, while others make charming mouths which really enhance each word as it issues forth? In the one case, the singer has been taught to handle her lips incorrectly or, perhaps, has not been taught to handle them at all, all effort being concentrated on the forming of the tone.

In other instances, the facial expression has been taken into account and, while tone is not sacrificed, the pleasing effect of the music is not marred by grotesque mouthings and lip stretchings. If such lip control is possible by singers, it is also possible by those who do not sing.

The woman who will persevere may learn to speak and use the lips becoming, thus not only enunciating clearly but with a graceful movement. She will take pains to keep her lips when in response, in an expression of good cheer and courage rather than allow them to flabby droop in sadness and gloom.

We are all familiar with the nervous mouth that is drawn far to one side when talking. Others pucker the lips when thinking and often while talking. The former is bound to make the mouth incline permanently more to one side than the other. The latter habit will wrinkle the lips and age them far more quickly than the passing years. All these unbecoming little habits bring about anything but an attractive expression.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Which is proper to say in receiving a caller, 'Take a seat'; 'Have a seat'; 'Won't you be seated'; or 'Take a chair'?" asked Lucy. "Any of the phrases which you mentioned are proper but I think 'Won't you be seated'; 'Won't you take this chair'; or 'May I offer you this chair near the window'; or some expression like that is less blunt and more courteous than 'Have a chair'; 'Take a seat,' answered her mother.

Special Notice.

At the end of this year we will give 5 cts. for every 13 Outside Green Wrappers obtained from "STAFFORD'S LINIMENT". We will also give $10.00 to the person forwarding us the largest number and $5.00 to the 2nd largest. We will keep a record of every person forwarding us these wrappers from time to time and at the end of the year we will publish the names of the winners.

"STAFFORD'S LINIMENT" is the strongest and most penetrating Liniment for sale in Newfoundland and is sold in over 600 stores. It is the best Liniment you can use for RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA and all ACHES and PAINS. Owing to the cost of Bottles and Ingredients used in the manufacturing of this Liniment, we have had to advance the price a little, "but the bottle still remains the same size."

WALT MASON

CONSERVATION.

That I may save the price of rations I've shaken all my poor relations. In olden times my aunts and cousins would come to see me, scores and dozens, and stay as long as I would feed 'em, but now I'm standing up for freedom; I've taken Hoover as my mentor, and so my uncles cannot enter the dining room when dinner's ready—I must conserve, so help me Teddy. I have old spinster aunts aplenty, I reckon there are ten or twenty, and they have come from distant places, at my expense to feed their faces. They'd come in spring and stay till autumn, and sometimes longer yet, dod rot 'em. They'd bring their cats and pet canaries, and eat my dining room and my berries, and in the pantry and the cupboard for pies and cakes they'd daily rubbered. But yesterday my Aunt Deborah came to me, smiling like Aurora; she hoped to stay three months or nearly—she's pulled off stunts of that kind yearly. But now I met her at the portal, and handed her no smile or chordle. "I cannot feed you," said I, "anxiety; I cannot board you in this shanty. I hope to save this threatened nation by fussy curves in conservation; and so uncles, aunts or nieces, can visit 'me with their valises. You cannot use my roadster chummy, no prunes of mine shall fill your tummy; so take your birdcage and your knitting, and do some ground and lofty fitting."

And thus, with fortitude unswerving, I'm spending all my time conserving.

The Ship-Builders.

The German people reared them
An idol made of wood;
And Hindenburg before them
Lifelike and stupid stood.

To clothe him all in iron
And thus his soul express,
With nails and spikes they covered
His wooden nakedness.

And when they thus had clothed him
All in a suit of mail
Still came they, wild-eyed, looking
For space to drive a nail.

Whenever Teuton airmen
Slay boys and girls at play,
Or U-boats drowning babies,
Create a holiday.

Then, gathering round their statue,
A happy German throng
Drive nails into the idol
To make him still more strong.

Avenge the babes, shipbuilders,
That on the seas have died;
Avenge the little children
Murdered for Wilhelm's pride.

Come, gather at the shipyards,
And toil with healthy hate,
For only you can save the world,
The Hun is at the gate.

ARTHUR STANWOOD PIER.

Come, gather at the shipyards;
And let your hammers ring,
For more than ships and cargoes
Waits on your fashioning.

Come, gather at the shipyards;
The battlefields of France
'Are summoning your brothers;
Oh, aid them to advance!

Come, gather at the shipyards
With every bolt you drive
Bethink you 'tis the Kaiser
Whose brutish head you rive.

Come, gather at the shipyards;
And swing with might and main;
'Tis Tirpitz and the Crown Prince
That you to-day have slain.

Come, gather at the shipyards,
And heat the metal hot,
For it's Ludendorff the butcher
You're boiling in the pot.

Come, gather at the shipyards,
And when the day is done,
You've spent it well in driving spikes
In Hindenburg the Hun.

Ireland Answers Lloyd-George

An Emphatic NO from the Entire Irish Nation—Bishop Priest and People.

(Dublin Freeman's Journal)

The situation in regard to the menace of conscription has remained practically unchanged during the past week. We have already pointed out that while the enactment of a measure of this kind is one thing, its enforcement is another matter. Waiving for the moment the question of moral right, there are some things which it is really beyond the stretch of Parliamentary power to compass. One such measure would be the levying of a tax in the self-governing Dominions by the Westminster Legislature. Another certainly is the enforcement of the Law of Conscription in Ireland against the consent of the people of this country. Since the enactment of this iniquitous and immoral law the Government has circumspectly kept its own counsel regarding whatever may be its ultimate intention. It is of somewhat sinister significance, however, that certain preparations have been steadily going forward recently which are very consistent with an adherence on the part of the War Cabinet to its originally expressed determination to embark upon the dangerous course of imposing conscription by naked military force. But the Irish people, on their side, are taking no chances, and are ready for all emergencies. Directed in one solid phalanx by the bond created by their deliberate act in entering into the solemn league and covenant against conscription, they are prepared to face whatever may befall in defence of their sacred rights.

The vehemence of the Irish opposition to conscription and the fact that the Hierarchy have placed themselves at the head of the movement, have evidently taken the Government by surprise. That is a thing which could not possibly have happened if Mr. Lloyd George had acted with ordinary prudence and had consulted representative Irish opinion before he decided to make the fatal plunge. The Prime Minister, however, did not deign to consult Irish opinion, either lay or ecclesiastical, and accordingly, if his Government has been landed in a morass, as is undoubtedly the case, he has only himself to blame. In saying so much, we, of course, assume that Machiavellian motives have had no part in the shaping of the Government policy—that Mr. George is not riding for a fall, and that nothing in the nature of a fell design to utilize conscription as a means for securing the extirpation of the remnants of the Irish race forms part of a concealed purpose harboured by him. This may, it is true, be a large assumption to make. Whether it is actually warranted or

Annual Collection

For Belvidere and Mount Carmel Cemeteries.

Once more the time has arrived when the Catholic people of this city are called upon to respond to the request published from the altars of the churches that they would make the annual collection for improving and beautifying the cemeteries a record one. Every effort should be made to make them the beauty spot of the city. Hundreds of our most eminent people sleep therein, and nearly every Catholic family is represented amongst those who slumber under the grassy mounds. Much has to be done by the energetic committees and caretakers previous to the celebration of the annual Requiem Mass which takes place in the beautiful and historic little Chapel at Belvidere and Mount Carmel in due course. The graves have to be trimmed, railings and fences put in order, walks repaired, etc., and all this necessary work which entails considerable expense will be a sufficient inspiration that a ready and hearty response will be given on Sunday as all the Masses in all the churches which will be sufficient to enable the committees to leave nothing undone towards the improvement and beautification of these venerated and sacred spots.

We do not consider it necessary to dwell at any length upon this important matter, because the generous response of the Catholics on previous occasions has been proverbial. Amongst the first places visited by the visitors to our shores are our cemeteries—those cities of the dead—and the condition in which they are kept is, to a great extent, an indication as to the character, thoughtfulness and Christian feeling of the people. The committees are untiring in their efforts, giving their time and attention freely and willingly, and the caretakers are courteous and capable, but all their efforts to carry out the good work will be unavailing unless they are assisted by the Catholic people who, as we said before, will make the annual collection of 1918 a record one, and place in the hands of those appointed to look after our cemeteries the necessary funds to make our "Cities of the Dead" equal in beauty to any in the British Provinces.

Council Meeting.

The Municipal Council held its regular weekly session last evening. The Mayor presided and all the members attended. After reading of minutes, etc., the following matters were disposed of:

H. G. Herder wrote offering land free of cost on Pleasant Street, to straighten the line. The Engineer will report.

The Imperial Oil Company called attention to the bad condition of Ford's Hill, South Side. This was attended to.

James King applied for the position of swimming instructor. Appointment made.

James R. Knight wrote re damage suffered by him through surface water. Matter will be enquired into.

Thomas Volsey applied for sewerage connections. He will have to apply at the City Engineer's Office.

A petition from residents of Queen's Road was received objecting to the proposed garage to be erected by Jos. Sellars. Mr. Sellars has been notified the building will not be allowed.

F. Bursell, on behalf of William Ebeary, submitted plans of addition to co-operation on South Side. Passed subject to Engineer.

P. J. Shea requested permission for the erection of a shed on the water front. Permission withheld and he be notified the sides of such a structure must be entirely of unflammable material.

James Murdoch wrote regarding the disposal of sewerage at his proposed bungalow, Topsail Road. The Engineer's report on the matter was read and owing to this report it was held the Council could not permit the erection of a septic tank as it would be an injury to a neighbour's property.

On the Engineer's report the sanitary sewer was ordered to be extended in Spencer Street at a cost of $70.

The City Engineer reported on sewer work in Leslie Street. Owners of land are to be notified they will be called upon to pay their share of the cost.

The Asst. Adjt. of the Royal Nfld. Regiment wrote regarding the complaint of the conduct of volunteers in Banerman Park, that their military police were given instructions to deal promptly with any offenders.

The Plumbing Inspector and Sanitary Supervisor reported on work in their departments during the week.

Tenders will be asked for supply of hay for the Sanitary Stables.

The Sanitary Inspectors were present at the meeting and conditions in the town were discussed and they were told to be vigorous and see that the people will not place paper or other refuse matter on the streets. Also to see that people were to put out their ash tubs at the times prescribed and take them in immediately the sanitary carts have passed. Persons found offending against this regulation to be prosecuted.

After passing pay rolls, etc., the meeting adjourned.
