

COLLECTION OF A RECLUSE WORTH $30,000

Illinois Druggist Had Gathered 250,000 Geological Specimens All Over World

Love of His Rare Treasure Prevailed Over Financial Needs of Last Years

Olney, Ill., Sept. 2.—Dr. Victor E. Phillips, who had a geological collection valued at $30,000, is dead.

In a little frame building on lower White street there was a semblance of a drug store.

There are still the big bottles with their gilt letterings, the packages of patent medicines with a quarter of a century ago. But dust of many years covers them.

The one-time drug store long ago closed its doors to trade, but the packages remained untouched on their shelves.

Visiting children looked into the room and saw, though they made themselves familiar with the wonderful stones in the window, passed the latter in such surroundings as the last half of Dr. Phillips' life.

Considered a recluse, Dr. Phillips was one of the clearest minds on every subject, on things past and present, scientific, political and philosophic.

Never Sought Publicity. He never seemed to care for publicity. He was a student, enjoying his own and the researches of others; and over of nature for herself, without the desire to exploit his knowledge of her secrets.

Dr. Phillips was born in Ohio December 1, 1841. He was a son of Dr. Jeremiah and Adella Phillips, who died at an advanced age eight years ago.

Coming from Ohio, the family lived on Sugar Creek Prairie in Madison township, when the war broke out and the sons of the family enlisted.

Victor Phillips became a member of Company A, 53rd Illinois Infantry, and was elected Second Lieutenant and soon afterward promoted to the first lieutenant. He served to the close of the war with his company.

He was a student of military science and had letters from General Sherman, General Logan, General Hazen and others recommending him for higher positions.

Dr. Phillips was mustered out of the army July 18, 1865, and came to Olney to enter the drug trade with his father. Except for two years spent in Mount Carmel, Olney had been his home the remainder of his life.

For many years Dr. Phillips was one of the three directors of the Olney public schools. He became himself a student of chemistry and geology and the great power of his retentive and analytic mind made him a master of these subjects.

Various trips were made by him in the seventies and eighties. The most important was a foot trip along the length of the Ozarks, which consumed the whole of one summer.

It is estimated that Dr. Phillips leaves a geological collection worth from $20,000 to $30,000. Packed away in boxes under counters at his store and at his home, are specimens of great value, some of which he himself had not seen for many years.

Three years ago he was offered $20,000 for a portion of his collections. Long he debated the question of his financial needs as against his love of possession of the rare collection. The latter sentiment prevailed at last and the sale was not made.

Contains 250,000 Specimens. The collection consists of more than 250,000 specimens from all over the world. Only a small part of these was collected by him personally. In the guild of geologists his was a familiar name and there was constant exchanging of duplicates which resulted in the vast accumulation. Sometimes he paid money for specimens, but he never sold. He would exchange or give outright a duplicate specimen.

Dr. Phillips had clearly in his mind the geological formation of the earth at almost every point in America. Dr. Phillips also became interested in meteorology. He began to take observations thirty years ago, but it was only twenty-two years ago that he preserved his complete weather observations for government use.

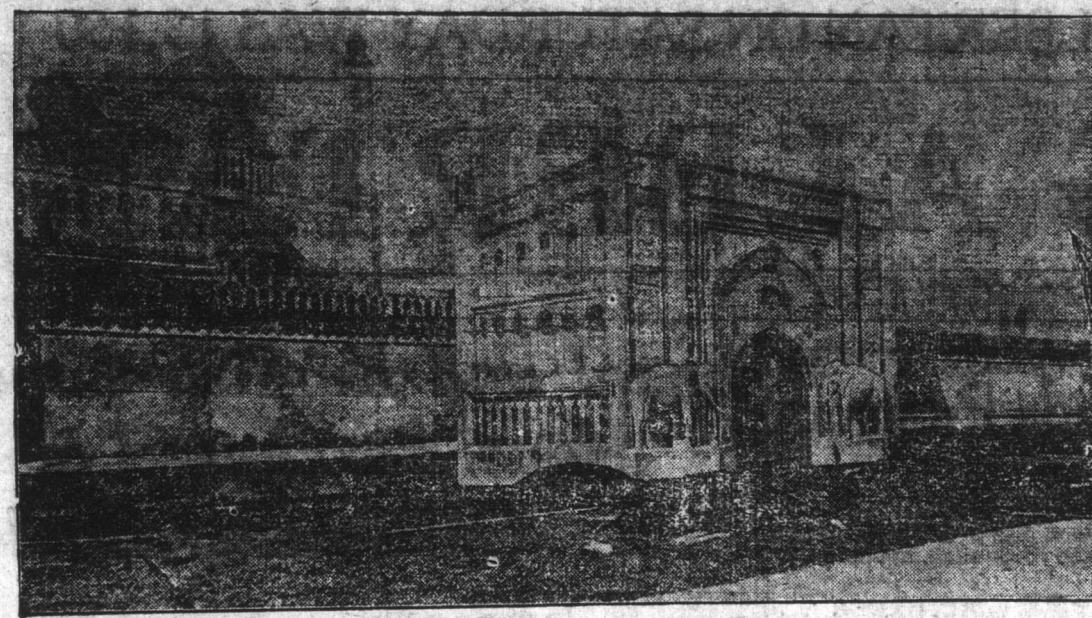

A kindly spirit was possessed by Dr. Phillips. He was approachable and ready to assist. He was always giving of his knowledge.

Men in the mining and oil business frequently consulted him. They gained the information they wanted, but seldom, almost never, were they allowed to give payment for the information they obtained.

Dr. Phillips was married August 14, 1870, to Miss Cordelia J. Wood, who with a brother, C. T. Phillips, a Presbyterian minister of Palestine, Ill., survives him.

Reckless Driver Gets One Year. Toronto, Sept. 2.—John Morton, a young cab driver, whose vehicle ran over Miss Agnes White on Saturday, July 13, crushing her right shoulder and fracturing several ribs, was convicted this morning of doing grievous bodily harm by reckless driving while in charge of a vehicle, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment. The evidence showed that after the front wheel of the cab passed over the girl, Morton stopped, but his passenger ordered him to go on, and he drove the rear wheel over Miss White.

DUCHESS OF WESTMINSTER TAKES UP AVIATION

London, Sept. 2.—The Duchess of Westminster, stung by her husband's indifference, has given up the Democratic assistance which she has led for the last few years and taken to living her own life and enjoying herself in her own way.
She is making a particular hobby of aviation, and has been seen much at the Hendon aerodrome, where she made several flights.
Later she intends to entertain on her own account, without regard of the Duke's actions.
Westminster has almost cut himself adrift from society. In the season just closed he scarcely went to a single function.
One night when a great ball was being given at Grosvenor House, his London mansion, he slipped away and supped at a Bohemian restaurant with a merry party. He cares only for polo, and is bent on securing for England the polo trophy won by the American team last year.

Taft Rescinds Order SENDING TROOPS SOUTH

Thinks 20,000 Marines in Nicaragua Will be Able to Cope With Situation

Assurances Given That Railroad From Coast to Capital Will be Kept Open

On board President Taft's train, Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 2.—President Taft tonight rescinded his twelve-year-old order directing the immediate dispatch from Panama to Nicaragua of the Tenth Infantry. From his private car in the Rochester, the president wired to the acting secretary of war to recall the order. A sufficient force of marines, the president said tonight, would be in Nicaragua, the Nicaraguan capital, and Corinto, its principal seaport, early next week to insure the safety of American lives and property.

The president's action tonight came at the close of a day spent largely in reading telegrams from state, war, and navy department heads in Washington. Two Thousand Marines.

The president expressed tonight to a friend his belief that there would be more than 2,000 United States marines on Nicaragua soil by Tuesday. A long telegram tonight from the commander of the United States garrison at Managua in Nicaragua, where the insurgent leaders had given assurances that they would open the railway line to the coast from the capital.

The message to the president said the rebels possess five locomotives and the government five. All 10 of these may be put at the disposal of the United States, if necessary. The recall of the order for the despatch of the Tenth Infantry followed the receipt of this telegram from the commander of the Annapolis.

Anxiety of the President. The president did not conceal his anxiety tonight over conditions in Central America. In Managua and Corinto and other towns the situation is not especially dangerous to Americans, but in other parts of the country pillaging of all sorts has been going on. The people of Nicaragua, the president was informed, are suffering, untold horrors, and Americans are suffering in many instances, with them.

To friends tonight Mr. Taft said that if the senate had agreed to the proposed treaty with Nicaragua, which he advocates, all sorts of things, the misery existing today would not have arisen. Under that treaty the United States, he said, would have administered the customs of Nicaragua, and since the customs are about the country's only source of revenue there would have been little to attract every American and all American property that might be endangered. If he finds the situation critical later he will not hesitate to use the army.

Information. The temperance orator had worked himself up into a fine frenzy. "And what is beer?" he screamed. "What is beer?"

"Fried fish and glass," replied a man in the rear of the hall.

TURNING BLACK FROM A STRANGE MALADY

St. Louis, Sept. 2.—Afflicted by a mysterious malady which had baffled more than fifty St. Louis physicians who have been called in consultation, E. A. Hendricks, 45 years old, a farmer of Van Buren, Mo., is turning black at the Mayfield sanitarium.

Five months ago his skin was fair and ruddy. Today his complexion is several shades darker than that of a mulatto and getting darker. This change is so rapid that it can be noted from day to day by the physicians, who are powerless to check it or even to find a satisfactory explanation for the strange transformation.

When Hendricks was taken to the sanitarium July 25, he weighed 190 pounds. His present weight is 95 pounds. Despite his weakened physical condition he begged that he be permitted to go out and seek employment. When told that he could not he smiled and said:

"Well, I guess I could not get a white man's job, anyway. They'd take me for a negro."

COMPARATIVE PRICES AND A WIDER MARKET

For some time past The Winnipeg Telegram has given great prominence to comparative statements, published almost daily, of cash prices for the higher grades of grain in Winnipeg and Minneapolis.

Advocates of reciprocity established their case for that measure after its defeat by reference to the comparative prices, showing clearly what the Canadian farmer would have gained if the tariff wall had been broken down.

Both the Telegram and The Herald are well aware that no argument hostile to the reciprocity proposal can fairly be drawn from the present quotations. These quotations are used in the hope that they will influence those who are unfamiliar with the conditions by which they are regulated.

To the uninitiated the case looks simple and clear. The opponents of reciprocity have an equal right with the advocates of that measure to compare prices and draw deductions from these comparisons.

The observant reader, however, will notice that the newspapers that are recklessly joyous over the quotations which they reproduce are very careful in the selection of those figures, confining their attention entirely to the higher grades.

By refusing on the occasion of a recent gathering of British visitors in Ottawa to deliver himself of the declarations of defiant jingoism similar to those which now fill the air, preferring rather to express a devotion to the cause of peace, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has incensed certain of those with whom patriotism is synonymous with noise.

LAURIER AND THE JINGOES

JUDGES begin life as ordinary babies, no offense meant, and afterwards become regular boys and common men, though some of them are a blamed sight commoner than others.

There is nothing about a baby to indicate that he will become a judge. When he becomes a youth other boys mingle with him freely, and sit on the same benches as he in the school.

It is not likely that the people of Canada will be much affected by misrepresentation so grossly exaggerated that it can hardly fail to defeat its own purpose. A majority of Canadians will be grateful to Sir Wilfrid for sounding the note which dominated his address at a time when the shriek of the jingo seems likely to drown all other sounds.

attitude of doubt an opportunity for political advantage. The attempts that are being made to damage him in the esteem of the Canadian people by misrepresentation will meet with little success.

It is not unnatural that the Conservative press should be much concerned with the declaration of Colonel Roosevelt that the people of the United States must repeal the standing offer of reciprocity in view of the danger that the government of Canada may at any time decide to accept it.

It must also be disconcerting indeed for those who have been diligent to cultivate the opinion that all the advantages of the trade agreement would be enjoyed by the United States, to hear one of the shrewdest politicians in the country, anxious to secure the support of a majority of the voters, warning them that they would lose under the operation of the agreement.

It is no less clear that he cannot be of the opinion that it would inevitably be followed by annexation. Believing as he does that he will shortly be president of the United States it is difficult to think that one who loves the exercise of power as well as the Bull Moose does would despise a chance which might give him the right to roam as monarch of all in a pasture of such vastly increased acreage.

ALBERTA LADIES' COLLEGE

AT THE DEER OPENS JANUARY 7

Building is Nearing Completion; an Efficient Staff of Teachers Are Engaged

The date of the opening of Alberta Ladies' college, has been set for January 7, 1913. The roof story of the building has now been reached and soon the finishing will be well under way. The staff of teachers is nearly complete. They include: Mrs. Muldrew formerly of Macdonald college, Montreal, lady principal, she will be assisted by Miss Frederica E. Campbell as head of the household science department, Miss Edith L. Bowker, of Granby, Que., head of the department of music; and Miss Marion F. Wilkie, of Toronto, in moderns, English and history.

The board feel that in the appointment of Mrs. Muldrew the success of the college is doubly assured. Her executive ability and business instincts, and her long experience in Macdonald college, where she has made a place for herself in the affection and esteem of students, faculty and governors, all combine to give her a special fitness for the work before her.

Miss Campbell, a native of Prince Edward Island, where she fought for a number of years, graduated last year with distinction from Macdonald college, Montreal, heading her class. Miss Bowker is a graduate and medalist of the Royal college of Music and Royal Academy of Music of London, England, taking the highest number of marks ever taken by a Canadian student in the advanced grade. She studied under Prof. von Koenigsberg, for two years, and as a student of the piano in McGill conservatory was chosen to play before Governor-General Earl Grey. She is also a concert performer of distinction.

Miss Wilkie is a graduate of Toronto university and gold medalist in Modern languages, and is also an specialist in French and German and has taught in Unbride high school, and in Renfrew and Sarnia colleges in Ontario. Appointments are pending in vocal music and in the commercial department. The college building will be complete in all its appointments and the equipment first class. The college site comprises twenty-five acres of land, and for beauty and location, is unsurpassed in the province. The prospects are that the attendance of students will be large.

Good Housekeeping

Cucumbers, Cooked and Pickled
The cucumber harvest, with cheaper cucumbers, begins about August 1 and lasts until October. It is a profitable market during this interval that seem most desirable for the season's use. Cucumbers may be eaten raw, sliced, and would be in greater demand if people in general knew that this vegetable is good stewed, boiled or fried, as well as pickled. Cucumbers, those too overgrown for ordinary use, be cooked and eaten as a vegetable, but the greener sorts may be stewed, boiled, fried or baked.

The government bulletin on the "Preparation of Vegetables for the Table" gives two recipes for cooked cucumbers with an introduction. It says: "The cucumber is much more often eaten in the United States as a salad than cooked, yet it is a valuable vegetable when stewed, served with white sauce, or seasoned with butter, salt and pepper and served on toast. The pared and quartered cucumber is excellent in salads, but when sliced, salted water, which will require about fifteen minutes. Cucumbers may also be cut in slices lengthwise and fried like summer squash or eggplant."

When people grow their own vegetables the least perfect or aged ones are saved as pickles. These must be carefully washed, but if the skin is tender, like that of the earliest summer squashes, it need not be removed. Cucumbers of equal size are boiled together in salted water, drained and then thrown into cold water. Let them remain until cooled, then drain again, after which quickly heat with butter, salt and pepper or in a good sauce or gravy. Serve on toast.

THE HEART DEPARTMENT

Choosing Her Path (By Laura Jean Libbey) (Copyright, 1912; By Laura Jean Libbey)

There are some who believe that their destinies are marked out for them with their advent into this dear old world of ours. Others maintain that there are those who can make or mar their own good fortunes. Especially is this supposed to be in the case of marriage. Even the most sensible of men and women seem to lose their reasoning powers when weight is in the balance against the heart's desire.

The young woman who can be reasoned with and made to see the sound sense of her parents' arguments in most cases is first to balk when objections arise as to a lover whom she has set her heart upon wedding. He may have every fault, without one virtue, but she will hold firmly to the belief that her love is strong enough to redeem him. She chooses her own path despite the warnings of those near and dear to her who think only of her welfare. Her faith in the man she loves is so strong that she believes it can work miracles.

No arguing can persuade her to change her belief that through love of her after marriage he will turn from the wine cup, that the fever of the gaming table will die out in his veins; that she can plant ambition in his breast. In short, she believes that she can make of him a model husband. He has promised all this, and she takes his word for it. She chooses her own path in defiance to reason.

In after years she cries out bitterly against fate being unkind to her, when the true fact is that she has been the instrument of her own misfortune. Where there is doubt, one should take every reasonable precaution to insure safety, especially on the sea of matrimony. The wisest of all courses is to place the lover against whom the doubt arises upon probation, at least for a year or so. If there is any return within him, it will manifest itself.

As for my part, I could never be brought to believe that a rotten peach ever could become sweet, perfect and wholesome again by any known process. It is seldom we ever hear of the entire reformation of a man who is wilfully bent upon the downward course. He loves the life he is leading better than he could love any woman outside the gates of his gay world. The more money these men have, the less apt are they to turn over a new leaf.

The man who does not deny that he is addicted to wine, and, furthermore, adds that the woman who marries him must overlook this falling, is a hopeless case. A mother's tear-stained letter comes to me: "We are a well-to-do family. We have but one child, a daughter. She is brilliant socially and highly educated. We fitted her to be the mate of the noblest gentleman in the land. She has become enamored with a dissolute young man. She is blind to his failings, insisting that she will marry him. Our every persuasion to make her see the man as he is fails. If she wed him she will have him to support."

He's So Blue!
"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been going steadily with a young man for about six months and I love him most dearly and I met a young man the other day in this town and he took a walk with me and this other boy seems to be blue about it. What can I do to win him back again?"
"BONNIE."
"Bonnie, if 'he' seems blue when you walk about with the other fellow, better not walk about with the other fellow any more if you don't wish to make him blue."

Goes With a Gambler
"Dear Miss Libbey: I have a sweetheart who claims to love me yet she keeps company with a gambler, when I have asked her not to. I told her I would have nothing to do with her unless she dropped him and she refused to do so. She says she loves me best and doesn't want me to quit her. What would you do? Do you think a nice girl will keep company with a gambler?"
"MAKCE."
"Better give the girl up. If she cares anything about you she would not go about with a gambler."
Trying to Engage Her Company
"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply interested in a young lady some years my junior. I have been trying to engage her company for five months, but I have been unable to do so. At times she seems to care nothing whatever for me. Now, what I want is for you to tell me how I can gain her friendship. I hate to give the girl up. I think lots of her, but she has never given me a chance to tell her. I can't see any reason why she will not talk to me, as I think she ought. I am not drunk and I have always tried to behave myself as a gentleman. But it is all in vain, or it seems so to me."
S. R. J.
"Perhaps you are making it too evident to the girl that you are greatly interested in her. It is not a wise plan always, particularly if the girl does not seem to reciprocate the feeling. A little indifference, a little attention to some of her girl friends usually has the desired effect of making her sit up and take notice."

She's Rather Pretty
"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young, rather pretty, or at least the boys all tell me I'm pretty, girl of 16 summers. I'm clerk in a little country town and the boys all like to trade with me; they stand around and talk to me so much that it hinders me from doing my work. Do you think I should ask them not to bother me during work hours, and if they wished to see me to call at my home, or would this be proper? N.E.G."

His Eyes Looked Sorrowful
"Dear Miss Libbey: I kept company with a young man all winter and grew to love him dearly, but he had a slight disagreement and for some time have not spoken. I am now going with another young man, but all the time I am with him I think of the other. I like the one I go with now, but I love the other very much and I think he cares for me. When he looked at me in the theatre when I was with the other his eyes looked so sorrowful and pleading I almost cried."
"What would you advise me to do? It was he who got angry first, but I think he is sorry now, but is too proud to say so. Please help me in this matter and I will greatly appreciate it."
"You cannot tell much about how one looks. He may have had on tight shoes. I would advise you to leave the fellow

CALGARY BOWS INTO GREAT ORPHEUM CIRCUIT

Places City on List of First Class Theatrical Towns of Civilized World

Best Specialty Artists from Europe and United States Will Appear Here

First Performance Makes Its Bow at Sherman Grand Thursday Afternoon

ON Thursday, September 5th, the theatrical world will celebrate the appearance of a new star in its highest firmament, and will bow Miss Calgary to the centre of the stage to make her debut within that charmed circle known as the Martin Beck Orpheum circuit.

This transition, as it is by one bound, from a little one night stand show town to the donning of the mantle of a first class theatrical city, is incalculable in value from an advertising standpoint. Martin Beck does not place a city in the circuit that is not entitled to rank as first class in the theatrical world. Once there, its name is enrolled in the list that completes a chain around the civilized world.

To the uninitiated the "Orpheum Circuit" awakens nothing unusual. They associate it with ordinary vaudeville, sometimes of the risqué, elastic variety. This is entirely erroneous. The Orpheum means the best of the world produces in the form of entertainment dishes up in tabloid form, brief but finished. The Martin Beck circuit embraces all the principle cities of Europe and the United States, and is the first word in refined vaudeville. It draws its talent from the London music halls, the Winter Garden, New York, the halls of Berlin, Moscow, Petersburg, in fact from every point where the public demand high-class specialty. A booking in the circuit is the highest achievement of the specialty artist, comedian, or character actor. From it Alice Lloyd, our own little English theatrical queen, graduated into the legitimate role of "Little Miss Fixit." It includes such well-known entertainers as George Beban, in the "Sign of the Cross"; Lena Lamou, the clever English actress; Chick Sayle, in his imitable impersonations; George Evans, in blackface; August Victoria, in "The Sign of the Cross"; and Florence Roberts has left the legitimate for character work on the circuit. Hardly a comedian of note today has not made his bow on the Orpheum stage. It will bring to Calgary the highest-class articles of the world.

The first appearance of the Orpheum people will be next Thursday matinee. The show comes complete from Winnipeg, and each act will be three performances at night and three matinees, the latter being put on at 2:30 p.m. and the evening performances at 8:30. Among the leading features of the opening bookings are Leonard Gauthier's Animated Toy Shop. This act is full of novelty and from the time the curtain rises upon the interior of a toy shop, in which are seen four beautiful puppets and a number of beautifully canines, interest is held until the final closing. The canines, when first seen, present stilted attitudes proclaiming the motto be actual rocking horses and other inanimate toys. This is the first appearance of this act in the west, and it comes from the old country, where Mr. Gauthier has a reputation as one of the leading tutors. This act should appeal especially to the children.

Jack Wilson is the sort of comedian that keeps one in a succession of laughs all the time he is on the stage. Assisted by Franklin Batie and Miss Ada Lane in what they term "A 1912 Review," Mr. Wilson has proven a prime favorite in the east, and it is safe to say he will add many more friends in Calgary. The act is full of clever songs, an eccentric dance or two, and a rapid fire of bright, clean wit and humor. "Votes for Women" is an interesting subject just now, and "The Suffragette," an advanced political comedy, written and played by Franklin Ardell with the assistance of Marie Walters, should prove interesting. Mr. Ardell depicts in highly humorous colors the happenings in the house of one Ned Matthews who is being opposed by his own wife for the office of mayor. The scene, being on election night and at his own house is, as can be expected, fast, while the shafts of comedy reach their goal with startling accuracy. Ben Lewin, an English actor of importance, has joined the vaudeville list and is presenting selections from his repertoire of character impersonations, which include a number of Charles Dickens' sketches. His Toby Teck in "The Chimney," and Fagin in the condemned cell scene in "Oliver Twist" are said to be exceptionally fine bits of acting. Each of the characters Mr. Lewin interprets is shown in complete make-up and costume. Ryan Brothers are aerial experts who present some difficult work. Non-rapidity on the flying wings, trapeze and Spanish waltzes, few athletes compare with them. An added value is given by their business and quickness. A great deal of the present vaudeville structure was built with musical comedy triumph. Mary Quive and Paul McCarthy being the most recent support to the towering edifice of the two a day. Miss Quive's last engagement in the former field was in the title role of "Louisiana Lou," and Mr. McCarthy played the leading juvenile with the same company. Miss Quive's violin obligatos prove a beautiful aid to her vocal range, and Mr. McCarthy's voice is splendid and at the piano he excels. Mary Quive is the sister of Grace Van Studdiford, who has graced many a musical occasion. Considerable uncertainty has been concerning the identity of the clever comedienne, who, under the name of Mary Elizabeth, has become a prominent success in vaudeville. Rumor has it that she is a prominent New York society girl inculcated with stage fever. Interest, however, centres upon what she can do and not who she is, and what she does, does not matter so much as the way Mary Elizabeth does it. In a dainty little act of song and story she displays refreshing enthusiasm and zest.

LIFEGUARD CATCHES BIG SHARK BY TAIL

Asbury Park (N. J.), Sept. 2.—A 400-pound shark that had been scaring bathers was captured by Frank Van Horn, a lifeguard at Gordon's pavilion, on the beach at Belmar. Van Horn rushed out into the shallow water, grabbed the shark by the tail and, with the aid of "Tom" Shepard, son of the president of the Good Year Rubber Company, succeeded in bringing it ashore. The shark, which was of the hammerhead species, measured seven feet in length.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—Robert M. Cunliffe, a retired iron and metal dealer, died suddenly here while at his home in the presence of his family. They had just finished luncheon, when Cunliffe told a joke, and with the exertion from laughing was suddenly seized with an attack of heart disease. He was 65 years old, and until recently conducted a large laundry here.

Music and Drama

(By G. Major)

The progress in local musical effort during the last couple of years has been most encouraging. The development in choral work being particularly gratifying. There are, however, one or two lines of musical activity which have not been given the serious attention their importance deserves, and the lethargy among the music lovers has been most conspicuous. It is an initiative for want of some good organizer who is possessed of energy, musical experience and, that most necessary attribute, tact. It refers particularly to the organization of a local symphony orchestra and to the formation of a local Women's Musical Club. The symphony orchestra would necessarily have to be limited in its membership in the initial stages of its development, but there are unquestionably a large number of accomplished amateur instrumentalists in the city at the present time who are not identified with any musical organization and to whom such an orchestra would strongly appeal. A number of these musicians have been members of orchestras on the other side of the line as well as in the Old Land, and they would welcome a movement to organize an orchestra for the study of serious works. Fortunately, we have in this city a man who has had the best of the best years' experience in orchestral work, both as a concertmaster and as a conductor, and during the present week overtures have been made to take hold of the organization of a local orchestra, with the idea of having it become the nucleus of a permanent symphony orchestra which would be a credit to the city.

Mr. Max Well, the party referred to above, was a member of the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra on the occasion of its two annual visits to this city, and was so impressed with the city of Calgary and its people that he desired to become a permanent resident. Mr. Well is not a stranger to Canada, as he resided for several years in the city of Halifax, where he played an important part in the development of music in that Eastern city. He has come to Calgary at an opportune time, and there is cause for congratulation that he has consented to devote some of his time to the formation of the new orchestra. Mr. Well will be very glad to make the acquaintance of any instrumentalist who would be interested in this work. His address is room 414, Macleod block. The question of the organization of a Women's Morning Musical Club has been discussed in these columns on several occasions, and the only reason for bringing the matter up again is that if anything is to be done it should be taken in hand next month in order to plan for the season. Where similar organizations are in existence in other cities it is customary to hold the first rehearsal on the first Monday morning of each month, and the programs are sufficiently varied in character to be entertaining as well as profitable. There are from twenty-five to fifty women in this city to whom such a club as this would be of the keenest interest, and in supporting such a movement they would be contributing in no small measure to the musical development of the city.

Two special trains, including twenty-six cars, were needed to carry equipment of the Liebler company from New York to Chicago last week over the Lehigh Valley Railroad. This record theatrical movement was bannered "It was made possible by the fact of getting many openings in the west within a few days." "The Garden of Allah" will open at the Auditorium, Chicago, August 31; "Oliver Twist" at the Illinois theatre in the same city, September 2; "Alias Jimmy Valentine" at the National theatre, August 25; "The New Sign" at the Fox theatre, Chicago, August 28; "The Sign of the Cross" at the Fox theatre, Chicago, August 28; "Pomander Walk" at Denver, August 28. All of these companies were transported in the special equipment.

Seven 70-foot baggage cars were required to hold scenery and properties for "The Garden of Allah," "Oliver Twist" production was squeezed into three cars of the same length, and a baggage car placed used for each of the productions. In addition, there were two animal cars to house the live stock used in "The Garden of Allah," the camels, sheep, donkeys, goats and dogs. The Bill Sikes dog of the "Oliver Twist" company was also included in this portion of the movement. In addition, there were fifteen cars in this section. In the second Liebler company special were the players in four of the companies, "The New Sign" actors came to the United States via Canada, including the players and the working force necessary to set up and handle the plays, there were 160 persons ordered to "The Garden of Allah," 40 to "Oliver Twist," 30 to "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and to "Pomander Walk," a total of 245, divided over nine Pullmans. Two dining were attached to this section, making eleven cars in the train.

Fritz Scheff will star this season, under management of Joseph M. Gaiter, in "The Love War" an operetta by Edith Ellis, W. C. Duncan and Charles J. Hambitzer, made over from "The Seven Sisters," opening at Ford's theatre, Baltimore, September 16, and will be brought to New York later. In the company will be Edward Marshall, Harold Fox, Hoebbe, Coyne, Helen Dietrich, Helen May, Ed. Leonard, Boydon Kelly, Horace Wright, Will H. Philbrick and Samuel Ash. Rehearsals of Edward Sheldon's new play, "Egypt," which Margaret Anglin is to produce next month, began last week in New York, under supervision of George Foster Platt. The play has thirty-seven speaking parts more or less subsidiary to the stellar role. Fred Tiden, Wilfred North, Elliott Dexter and Charles Garry have been engaged for leading parts in the new play.

Just a Workout The convicts played a baseball game. While smiles enveloped their faces: The players could go down to fame: For each stole fourteen bases. Cincinnati Enquirer, with which play Mr. Mantell will open his New York season.

PRAYER OF SMALL CHILD SAVES HIS LIFE

Baltimore, Sept. 2.—Raymond Soot, 6 years of age, whose parents live in Gardenville, a suburb of Baltimore, while playing in the chicken house squeezed himself into an empty food box and the top fell and locked automatically. For more than an hour the child was imprisoned and was slowly suffocating when his mother, impelled by an uneasiness for which she cannot now account, went to look for the child and found him barely conscious. His body, from which he had torn his clothes, was badly bruised. "I tried to get out and couldn't," he told his mother. "Then I cried and called and when you, did not hear me I asked the Lord please to send you to me." "How long did it seem to you before your mother came?" he was asked. "About five hours," he answered. "Then the Lord sent my mamma."

CHIEF JUSTICE OF SASKATCHEWAN HAS RESIGNED HIS POSITION

Speculation as to Who Will Succeed Chief Justice Wetmore; F. W. G. Haultain's Name Mentioned

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—One of the first acts of Hon. J. C. Doherty on his return to the capital will be to consider the acceptance of the resignation of Chief Justice Wetmore, which has been in the hands of the Department of Justice for some time back. Consideration of the resignation has been delayed pending the return of the minister, though it is not deemed advisable to create any vacancy in the Saskatchewan judiciary by accepting the resignation until after the cabinet party has returned from England, the matter of the appointment of a chief justice being one of the privileges of the premier in connection with the Minister of Justice. When asked this afternoon when the resignation would come into effect, Deputy Minister Newcombe replied that nothing would be done until the resignation was accepted by the return of the minister. Chief Justice Wetmore has been

In the judiciary of the west since 1887, when he was appointed a judge of the Supreme Court of the North-west Territories. When the autonomy bill was passed in 1905 he continued to hold that position, and when the province of Saskatchewan at its first legislature at the end of the same year created its own courts, he became chief justice of Saskatchewan. Previous to his arrival in the west he was leader of the opposition in New Brunswick for several years. Chief Justice Wetmore had a lengthy service in the judiciary, and his resignation, it is understood, is due to a desire to retire from the bench. Two names are unofficially mentioned in connection with the vacancy which will occur following the acceptance of the resignation. These are F. W. Haultain, leader of the opposition in Saskatchewan, and James McKay, M.P. for Prince Albert, both of whom have done long service for their party in the west.

PASTOR GIVES FIRST AID TO THE BASHFUL

Offers Introduction, Place to Court, License, Free Ceremony to Worthy Men

Minneapolis, Sept. 2.—"If any poor, bashful man in my audience has fallen in love with some worthy woman and wants to meet her for a wife, I will see that he is introduced, has a place to court, will help him get his license, pay for it if necessary, marry him free of charge, and furnish him with a wedding certificate, which he may hang over the motto, 'God Bless Our Home.'" This is the offer made by Rev. G. L. Morrill, a Minneapolis pastor, in his sermon on "The Bashful Masher." Mr. Morrill termed a masher as "a biped who roosts on the corner and, by look, gesture or speech, takes familiar advantage of women who pass by." "And if one of these fellows seems to want a hot time, girls," the pastor advised, "whip him with your hands and then throw red pepper into his eyes."

With Aid of Delicate Drill Holes Are Bored, Into Which Wire is Threaded

One of Most Delicate Operations as Yet Known to Science of Surgery
New York, August 30.—The life of Samuel Olson, an assistant engineer in the employ of the Bradley Construction Company, whose home is in 78 Second place, Brooklyn, probably was saved yesterday by the surgical feat of taking 19 stitches with silver thread through his skull. Olson was injured in a fall from a ladder in the subway excavation and was hurried to the Volunteer hospital at 93 Gold street, where Dr. A. J. Savage, the surgeon in charge, once began to operate. So hopes died the patient's condition seemed that the last rite of the Roman Catholic church were given him by a priest in the ambulance on the way to the hospital. That Olson will recover, Savage admitted, by no means certainly. So far as any of the officials of the Volunteer hospital could recall, the passing of 13 stitches in a patient's skull is an accomplishment without precedent in the annals of surgery. Should just one of the fine silver wires have got into contact with the engineer's exposed brain his death would have resulted instantly. The operation lasted almost three hours, and when it was ended Olson's pulse had risen from 45 beats to 70, which is reasonably normal. The nature of his work forces the engineer to do much climbing around the excavation for the new subway, which is being constructed by the Bradley Construction Company. Shortly after noon Olson ascended a ladder to a point 14 feet above the ground. The bottom of the ladder slipped, and he was flung backward. His head fell on the centre of his skull, which was split open like a melon cut into four parts. There was a fissure running from the base of the skull to his forehead, and another across his head almost from ear to ear. Olson's fellow employees, thinking he had been killed, called a policeman stationed near by. He, too, believed the man was dead, for he could detect no heart action. Nevertheless, he turned in a hurry call for an ambulance. The Volunteer hospital called its vehicle, which was stationed at Duane street and Broadway for the Olympic athletes' parade, and in five minutes Dr. Savage was at the apparently dying man's side. Father Gilmore, of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic church, also had been called, and as the ambulance bearing the unconscious engineer sped toward the Gold street infirmary, the clergyman gave the rites for the dying. Olson was recognized as a Catholic through the scapular he wore about his neck. "As soon as I placed the patient on the operating table and examined the wound carefully," said Dr. Savage in telling of the operation, "I realized the only chance of saving his life lay in

AMERICAN ANTIQUES ARE SHOWN IN LONDON

London, Sept. 2.—Americans who visit English antiquities will be astounded very often, when they see the collection of their own antiquities preserved at the British Museum. The trustees of the museum have just issued a short guide to these American antiquities, which will give any American tourist a summary view of the culture he has supplanted. There are many pieces of Peruvian pottery, for instance, long anterior to the rule of the Incas, and highly artistic and vivid. Mexico and Central America are treated in another section. Here Americans can find stone figures and Aztec gods, solid, life-size, rock crystal skulls, wooden helmets decorated with mosaic, grotesque songs for the ritual of religion, and weird ornaments.

DANGER IS PURCHASER OF OLD CASTLE

Paris, Sept. 2.—Isidore Duncan, the Green dancer, has purchased the historic chateau known for the past 80 years as Chateau de Beaurain and famous in history for the high links held there, which were a prelude to the great revolution. The chateau, which is near St. Cloud, was badly battered during the siege of Paris by the Prussians. The price paid for it is $200,000. Miss Duncan probably means to turn it into an academy and home for the young children she adopts.

BOY WANTED TO WITNESS A REAL WRECK

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 2.—Lawrence Gilman, 11 years old, told the police that he opened a switch to "see what would happen." Not many minutes later, as he sat in the window of his mother's home, a passenger train dashed through the open switch and crashed into a train of freight cars. Benton Harrington, fireman on the passenger train, suffered a fracture of two ribs and passengers were badly shaken up. They'll Both Do it at the Same Time. Natural! ONE MILLION WOMEN ARE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE FOR PRESIDENT IN FORTHCOMING ELECTION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—A preliminary statement has been issued by Director Durand of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, giving the number of women of voting age in the six states in which they have the right to vote in all elections. In this statement the number of such women is distributed according to color, nativity, and parentage, for each state as a whole and for each of its cities of over 25,000 inhabitants, as shown by the returns of the thirteenth decennial census, taken as of April 15, 1910. The statistics were prepared under the direction of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population in the Census Bureau, and are subject to revision. In using the figures contained in this statement, it should be understood that they do not represent the number of actual women voters, but rather the number who at the time the census was taken in April, 1910, were eligible to vote from the standpoint of age alone, aside from any qualifications based upon naturalization, education, length of residence, or considerations of a like nature; and furthermore, that no account is taken of those who have become of age since April, 1910, or those who may have died since that date. Distinction is made in the statement between white females of native and foreign birth, respectively, and also for the native white with respect to parentage. Those having both parents native of the United States are classed as native parentage; those having either both parents born abroad, or one parent native and one parent born abroad, are classed as of foreign or mixed parentage. "The whole number of women in these six states taken together who were of voting age in 1910 was 1,244,925, of whom 654,784, or 48.6 per cent, were

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 2.—World-famous physicians will gather in Joliet next month to take X-ray photographs of a man whose entire interior is upside down. Charles Schuppel, a farm hand, has been discovered, has a complete disarrangement of his internal organs; those generally on the right side are on the left, and those that are normally high in the body are considerably lower. Schuppel has refused large sums offered him by exhibitors.

FARM HAND, AGED NINETY, WANTS JOB

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—Tired of doing chores on a farm in Wisconsin for his board and keep, John Olson, 90 years old, told Judge W. C. Leary in the municipal court that he left his home in search of work pitching wheat in the harvest fields. Olson was found at night wandering about the streets in a penitent mood, willing to go back to the farm, where he got three meals a day and a good bed at night. He was unable to tell in what town in Wisconsin the farmer lived and had forgotten the name of the man who gave him a home. He said the call for harvest hands induced him to leave the farm.

Instead of going back home jingling fifty dollars in your pocket which would soon be spent or put back in the bank at 3 per cent., buy a FIFTY DOLLAR lot in BASSANO and keep it for a couple of years. It will never be worth less and may be worth a good many hundred dollars.

ATTEMPTS ROBBERY; IS CAPTURED BY CITIZEN

Bold Robber Pinions Proprietor of Store Against Wall With Counter

Falling in Theft, Bolts for Liberty, But Runs into Arms of Pedestrian

Owner of Store Clings to Lapelets of Coat Until Thief Fights Himself Free

Walking into the Calgary Second-Hand Store shortly before closing time Saturday night, a man giving his name as C. Randall showed the counter against the wall, pinning Mr. Martin, the proprietor, while endeavoring to get away with valuable goods in the showcase.

Though held from the waist down by Mr. Martin, Randall crossed the counter, grasped the man's coat lapels and held on until knocked loose by a blow in the face.

Frustrated in his attempt to make a haul, the man broke away and ran down Ninth avenue. Rushing to the door Mr. Martin gave the alarm by calling "Stop thief!" and Randall ran into the arms of Mr. R. Hackett, who turned him over to the police.

The robbery is about as bold a piece of work as has come to the police in some time. There were many persons walking past the store when Randall entered. Engaging Mr. Martin in conversation, he suddenly shoved the counter forward. Picking up some object on the counter Randall bent the glass in the showcase and bent forward to reach in. At this instant the storekeeper grasped the lapels of the robber's coat and hung on, calling for help. For some moments the struggle continued, when Randall reached the object which he had broken the showcase and door. Mr. Martin a blow over the eye, forcing him to release his hold. Once free he broke for liberty.

WIRELESS PROMOTER DEAD IN PRISON

Atlanta, Ga., August 31.—Colonel C. C. Wilson, 67, former president of the United States Penitentiary here, where he was serving a three year sentence for using the mails in an attempt to defraud.

Prison officials said today that Colonel Wilson had been enjoying good health up to yesterday. The Colonel's young wife, to whom he was married just before his conviction, a little more than a year ago, has been notified.

Colonel Wilson began serving his sentence on August 23, 1911. He was taken to New York last May by one of the prison guards to testify in bankruptcy proceedings instituted against the United Wireless Company.

Several postponements of the case necessitated his being held in New York for more than a month, and it became known that the guard was allowing him to amuse himself in the prison library during that period. In fact, he was permitted to stay in a private house. On one occasion, it is said, he was permitted to go to the Tombs in Wall Street. The guard was dismissed and early last month Wilson was returned to the Atlanta penitentiary.

NATIVES OF CRETE HAVE A NOVEL WAY TO FISH

London, August 31.—The natives of Crete indulge in what is undoubtedly the most unique method of fishing sport very similar to the old English pastime of hawking. During the visit of the British fleet to Crete, the British sailors threw overboard some dishes and other objects that appealed to the fancy of the natives, and to secure these they resorted to their ingenious tactics. Locating the prized objects with a kind of sea telescope, they lowered a captive octopus on cuttle-fish lines to the surface, when the fish had fastened its tentacles to the object desired they pulled it to the surface, repeating the process until the sea was compelled to give up all its treasures. Those familiar with the country assert that these fishermen acquire great skill in training and handling their expert divers.

MOORE MEMBERS GIVE TROUBLE TO GUN FOR BEHEFIT

There was something more than ordinary heroism in the feat; it was a woman facing death as her contribution to the fund that will go to make less tedious the life of the little widow of High River, who contributed her all to amuse an eager public.

Just before the assembly started the hat was passed among the assembled riders, each contributing cash in addition to his and her hobby.

At the close of the performance, it was announced that the receipts totaled $1800. Then the Stampedede management stepped forward and placed $100 in the fund, to swell it to $2900.

Mr. McMillen Pleased. Mr. H. C. McMillen, upon whose shoulders fell the work of organizing the entertainment, was very pleased with the success of the day.

It does me good to have witnessed such a turnout as these boys and girls have brought here tonight, and to give this grand audience a show worth the money. We had but two days to prepare for this performance.

Miss Lucille Mulhall, whose roping was a feature of the show, was jubilant. "I say this audience just simply does me good," she said.

Moisture of Past Week Has Retarded Harvest; Frost Did But Little Damage

Much of the Crop in the South is Harvested and Some of it Threshed

Another Week of Fairly Good Weather Will Mean That Record Crop is Safe

At this season of the year, the attention not only of the farmer but of every citizen is centered on the weather and its effect on the harvest that is being garnered.

For the past week the weather has been favorable for harvesting operations, owing to the excessive rain falling, which has had the effect of delaying the ripening of the grain. However, the judgment of the weather men is that the conditions will prevail for the next couple of weeks.

It is estimated that there were two degrees of frost, which, although damaging to a certain extent tender vegetables, was not sufficient to injure the grain crop, which were past the stage where a slight frost could do much damage.

DISGRACEFUL EXHIBITION OF LACROSSE GAME AT VANCOUVER

Another disgraceful affair which has marked many meetings between the two cities this season again cropped up when Maurice Gifford and "News" Lalonde, tried to settle their differences with their sticks, and an impetuous riot, with a dozen players engaged in swinging their sticks and a few spectators indulging in fistfights, resulted. Referee Jim Kavanagh lost all control of the game when the riot occurred. Gifford and Lalonde were sent to the fence for ten minutes each, but their actions justified a heavier penalty.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Sergeant Guthaus of the 43rd Regiment, Ottawa, won the governor-general's prize in the D.R.A. meet in a shoot-off with three other competitors at noon today. There was a big snipe-up in positions as a result of the final range of 100 yards. Three dark horse shots came to the front with ties of 198 each.

The shoot-off took place under intense excitement on the part of hundreds of riflemen and spectators at the 100 yard range. Capt. Crowe and Hay were leading up to the last range with 171 each. Capt. Crowe won the match last year.

DISGRACEFUL EXHIBITION OF LACROSSE GAME AT VANCOUVER

Another disgraceful affair which has marked many meetings between the two cities this season again cropped up when Maurice Gifford and "News" Lalonde, tried to settle their differences with their sticks, and an impetuous riot, with a dozen players engaged in swinging their sticks and a few spectators indulging in fistfights, resulted. Referee Jim Kavanagh lost all control of the game when the riot occurred. Gifford and Lalonde were sent to the fence for ten minutes each, but their actions justified a heavier penalty.

LARGEST CROWD IN CITY'S HISTORY

The new car service between Calgary and Lethbridge, and Calgary and Edmonton, started today, and regular trains will run over that line. It is believed that the government is handling the crowds, and Calgary herself has risen to the occasion and is housing them, one way and another.

Big Historical Pageant Will Move at Nine O'clock

At nine o'clock this morning, Calgary will be treated to a spectacle that will recall to many old-timers the days when cattle were being driven over the prairie surrounding the city, and when the white man was drawn together in a common brotherhood to combat the red man and outlaw for possession of the land.

The parade of the congress of roughriders and other accessories to the great Stampede, for which the public has been eagerly waiting, will swing through the city to the strains of inspiring music and receive the plaudits of the thousands that will throng the streets.

Chief Cuddy has given his consent to the changing of the route of the pageant to the west side of the city. Commencing at Sixth avenue west and ending at the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, members of the old guard who stood staunch through many a battle with red men and outlaw. Then there will be the modern automobile with its regulation sign, and from the stage coach and ox team a leap to modern invention, the automobile will be made. Blending in the great pageant will be the old and the new, the timid and the brave, creating at once a spectacle grand and inspiring.

Lake View Park, As It Will Be When Completed In 1913

Of course you know that where the greatest amount of money is being spent in improving a property is where the greatest amount of profit will be made, and in this connection let us point out the fact that in the centre of LAKE VIEW HEIGHTS we have Calgary's one and only lake—30 acres—and we are spending over $100,000 in improvements there. Briefly, we have a concrete wall one mile around our lake, with beautiful lighting columns every hundred feet; around this is a ten foot walk, then a twenty foot plot of grass, trees, and ornamental shrubbery, a sixty-six foot drive or boulevard, and another twenty foot plot of shade trees and shrubbery. One entire block overlooking the lake and city will be utilized for a public dancing pavilion, band stand, refreshment parlor and observatory, with steps leading to the boat house and jetty at the water's edge; and remember our pride is in LAKE VIEW PARK, and we will spare no expense to make it the finest park in all WESTERN CANADA, and the beauty spot of Calgary. Our customers include some of Calgary's best people, and our building restrictions will make LAKE VIEW HEIGHTS Calgary's highest class residential property.

DO YOU WANT CHEAP LUMBER
Fifty-two Yards in Alberta—Two Yards in Calgary

Few people appreciate that there is quality in lumber the same as there is in tea, or in paint, or in most other articles. Cheap cut lumber or green lumber in better grades will build a house that, when well painted, will look fairly well for a few months. Such a building in our extreme climate soon takes on a dilapidated cheap look, making it difficult to sell, difficult to rent, and uncomfortable to live in.

We have always made a specialty of the highest quality, and owing to the tremendous size of our business we are able to buy on a basis that permits us to sell our lumber for as low a price as would be generally asked for a poorer quality. This has built up our large business—the largest in Western Canada.

Before building inspect our stocks and permit us to give you evidence that quality considered, our prices cannot be beaten. Particular people use our lumber. If your contractor obtains his lumber from us it is a sign that he is a particular man and demands the best of everything.
