Six thousand three hundred troops will be sent to Tonquin in the next fortnight.

During the Tonquin debate to day Admiral Jaureguiberry insisted that either the credit be voted or that France abandon the credit be voted or that France abandon forever her influence in her Indo-Chinese possessions. If she should abandon Tonquin she would surrender 400,000 christians to butchery. France can wage successful war like that of 1860 without blockading the Chinese, ports or important cessful war like that of 1890 without blockading the Chinese ports or ignoring the rights of neutrals. He refused to believe in the ill-will of England. Premier Ferry read a published despatch from Sontay and said "I believe our troops only encountered Black Flags. I do not believe the Chinese regulars were spen. Chinese the Chinese regulars were seen. China does not accept responsibility for the acts of the Black Flags. If it were otherwise it would give rise to many serious claims

The minister of marine received the following telegram from Admiral Courbet dated before Sontay, Dec. 16: "An expedition-captured the fort of Phusa and all the earth works erected on the banks of Song Koi (Red river) opposite Sontay. The assault was carried out by the marines, infantry, and Algerian sharpshooters. The Flotilla rendered very efficient assistance. The enemy were very well armed and resisted desperately. The condition and spirits of the French troops are excellent. To-day we commence an attack on Sontay."

A Royal Quarrel.

From the London Truth.

The true story of a quarrel which has taken place between the grand duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and his nephew, the duke of Edinburgh, does not appear to have reached the English papers, although the real facts have been current gossip at Berlin for more than a week past. The duke and duchess of Edinburgh did not countermand the ball in celebration of the duchess' birthday. Every preparation had been made for it; the saloons were lighted up, the musicians were in attendance and the supper was ready, but the guests never appeared! The grand duke on the morning of the fete sent a peremptory appeared? How the affair will end it is impossible to conjecture. There has long been a decided coolness between the parties, and now mortal offense seems to have been given on both sides. The duke and duchess can not well return to Coburg, and the grand duke will no doubt deprive his heir of every mark which is in his power, even if he does not go still further, and come to an "arrangement" with the German government, who would not be too scrupulous about "rights" and "interest" if it were to their interest to ignore them. Now, in place of the chairs substitute four piers of masonry; instead of the two rules, balance upon the piers two beams resting upon the intermediate piers and with the shore ends of the beams placed upon and fastened to the two extreme piers; another span resting upon their outer ends substituted for the third rule, and this is the cantilever bridge. The shore arm of the cantilever rests upon a second river's brink. If there was no such suptrain-if placed upon the shore arm, would depress it toward the ground and correspondingly elevate the outer or stream and. It would be as if, after balancing a plank on a log, you should place a weight at one end of the plank. But this is not enough. Suppose the railroad train has passed under the tower over the main pier out upon the outer end of the cantileve or balanced beam; the extra weight would depress the outer end and at the same time elevate the inner or shore end. So the shore end not only rests upon support of masonry, but it is fastened to it, to prevent the train from tipping the beam into the air and falling into the stream. For long spans this plan is Less material need be used to secure the same strength, rigidity and stiffness than in a suspension bridge, for instance. Less false work or scaffolding is needed for the erection of a cantilever bridge than for any other braced structure, thereby making it capable of construction with more ease and less danger of disaster and with no ob-

Africa. At the last moment a passage was taken for him to the Cape of Good Hope. He had both tickets on him when

At last the truth may be told, he says, and then boldly declares that every plea set up for O'Donnell was a deliberately invented falsehood. Cable despatches were written to create sympathy. Everything was done to arouse the American nation. This revealer further state "Patrick O'Donnell did deliberately kill James Carey and he killed him because he was James Carey. There was no struggle. Carey made no attack on O'Donnell." What is more this man declares O'Donnell was no American citizen. He was never naturalized. No record of the alleged naturalization was even found or produced. No witness of it appeared or was heard of. The murderer himself could not remember when or where he was naturalized.

"Revealer" may be the biggest liar of them all, but it must be confessed that a calm review of the whole case is apt to lead to a belief in his latter-day truthfulness. At any rate it will have a great tendency to destroy any sentiment of regret for O'Donnell's fate. It is even stated that "the brother" who has figured so prominand even the gang go about with a hang a spy and as an instrument to arouse public sympathy. The whole scheme was cleverly worked. Too cleverly, in fact, for words that if Riordan and Bunting wish to get their money back they must get it by undoing. Robinson, Finerty, Calkins and paper, a prurient paper and an indecent hood would henceforth be well advised to cease their howlings.

> We have received communications pr esting against the attack on Mr. Goldwin Smith by the newspaper blackguards, employed by Riordan and Bunting, but do not think it necessary to publish them. As Bystander says. "being unmasked they are disarmed."

The expedition of Hicks Pasha into the far back country of the Upper Nile appears to have been a first-class blunder He left his safe base of operations, and tract." And why should he? He simply marched into the depths of a wild country to meet a savage enemy greatly superior slander him, who is proof against their atenter a bear's hole, where his rifle would be useless and where the bear would have the bear came out, for the chance of getting will at once withdraw from the gang and a dead shot at him. The proposal now is to fortify a point at the first cataract, and there wait the attack of the false prophet's savage and undisciplined hosts, should they venture to make one. In this way the advantage would be with the arms and the advantage would be with the arms and the hordes the savage and experience. I have no with the mess and will not tolerate it any they venture to make one. In this way what is a Cantilever Bridge?

The following answer to this question is given by a bridge engineer to a New York and rifle a sweeping away that they would be mentiting the citizens from his extensive knowledge and experience. I have no doubt that a requisition, asking him to be a candidate for the office, would be largely signed by all the classes of citizens. As the time is short, action should be taken remember for several decades of years.

Mr. Senecal aspires to be the Jay Gould of Canada, and his big financial enterprises create great interest in the province of Quebec, especially in Montreal. The Gazette asserts that some damaging stories recently circulated about these enterprises have no foundation, in fact, and that it will all be right in the spring, or words to

The railway engineers' strike in Manitoba was a very foolish and ill-advised novement. Generally the press comes well up to the support of striking workmen, when they have anything like a case. But in this instance the press has been unable to support the strikers on any reasonable grounds. The heads of their own union, at Cleveland, declined to endorse the strike, which it appears is now about ended by the defeat of the strikers.

Halifax people are down on the project of making Portland the winter terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway. It is con tended that if this is really a national road, it should be so for the east as well as for the west of the dominion. > A Chicago contemporary, referring to the revelations in the case of O'Donnell, says: "The country that has taken to its sheltering bosom so much foreign pauperism and insanity, so many foreign criminals and promoters of crime, has hardly ever been shamed and humiliated so much in its own eyes as it is by this confession of mendacity, of a deliberate game of deceit, practiced upon its too ready sympathies by avowed encouragers of crime and crimiever stained the pages of history with blood. And those who, sharing the moral guilt of the criminals, have practiced this game of mendacity to defeat the ends of justice, do not blush to call themselves American citizens. What would make such characters blush?"

Prof. John Watson of Queen's says the three sectarian colleges are not denominational in any sense which should prevent them from receiving assistance from the legislature. They are of such a character and so struction to navigation. The central span resting upon the outer or stream ends of the two brackets can freely expand with the heat of the summer and contract with the cold of winter. One end of this central span is fastened to one of the brackets, the other end being placed upon rollers. The deflection from the horizontal under the full load capacity of the bridge is not half so great as it would be in a suspension bridge of the same length of span.

Emigration Agents And The Dominio.

To the Editor of The World. SIR: You are performing an act of public good in exposing in your issue of to-day some of the tricks of so-called governme agencies for emigration in England, et During my late visit to London and som conspicuously posted, setting forch the golden opportunities offered to the poorer classes by emigration to the colonies or to America, and offering a passage from Liverpool to New York for £3. I naturally felt curious to know by whom these "agencies" were employed, and on making enquiries found in every case they were "doing business" in the interests of steamboat and shipping companies.

Now, sir, there may be no good reason why steamboat companies and passenger shippers should not publish the advantages their respective lines may have to offer in the transportation of emigrants from the European continent to the colonies of Great Britain or elsewhere, but surely ing from that starvation by which their whole existence is continually surrounded Could not the dominion government take steps to nullify or in a great measure render inoperative this disgraceful traffic in the misfortunes of the poorest of our fellow creatures, and thereby clear itself of the accusation of trades unions and others that the government alone is responsible for the flooding of our shores with pauper labor mistakenly supposed to be brought here by "assisted" emigration.

Toronto, Dec. 20, 1883. Goldwin Smith for Mayor.

To the Editor of the World. Sir: The celebration next year of the bi-centennial of the incorporation of the queen city of the west imperatively de mands that Toronto should have a chie magistrate in every respect fit and worthy of the position. Every citizen must admit that Mr. Goldwin Smith is just the mit that Mr. Goldwin Smith is just the right man to be placed in the right place. As one of the first scholars of the age, with a vast knowledge of statesmanship and an earnest desire to elevate the working and other classes of his adopted country, his elevation to the mayor's chair would reflect a lustre and credit on the city upon such an appropriate occasion.

Toronto, Dec. 20, 1883. FINANCE AND TRADE.

TORONTO, Wednesday, Dec. 20. It is stated in New York financial circles that Mr. Villard had no alternative but to re sign the presidency of the Oregon transcontinental company. It is said that the director were not satisfied with his policy. The existence of the floating debt was covered up, and it was only when the January dividend was passed that their eyes began to open to the passed that their eyes began to be the true condition of affairs. A movement is on foot among the preferred stockholders of the Northern Pacific company to replace him as oresident of that company.
