(Continued.) Another vivid flash of lightning illuminated the scene. It lit up the group with startling brilliancy. The boy, still somewhat shaken by the vicious blow, was nevertheless able to see clearly the pale, handsome, but dissipated features of his enraged assailant, whose evening dress and immaculate linen were soiled by the black mud of the pavement. The girl, dainty and fair-like, a little maid of aristocratic type, and of a beauty that promised much in later years, was dressed now and almost tearful. Through the crowd of frightened servants, augmented by a few daring pedestrians, a burly policeman, gigantic in waterproof overalls, was advancing with official bluster. "What has happened?" he demanded. "Is anybody hurt?" The man answered. "My horses were startled by the storm. I jumped out and was endeavoring to extricate my niece when this wretched boy got in the way. " "Take," protested the girl, "you closed the door on me, and the boy—" "Shut up!" he growled, curly. "Go inside the house!" But his niece shared with him at least one characteristic. She possessed the family temper. "I will not go away and let you say things which are untrue. Listen to me, Mr. Policeman. Let me claim any credit for simply opening a door and helping the young lady to alight, but I lost both my dinner and my papers in doing so. Everyone experienced a shock of surprise at hearing the boy's elegant diction. The policeman was puzzled. He instantly understood the facts, but dared not browbeat an earl. "You do not bring any charge against him, my lord?" he said. "But his lordship deigned no reply. He told the coachman to arrange for the removal of the carriage, grasped his niece by the arm and led her, still protesting, into the house. The policeman saw the bundle of papers scattered over the roadway, and near them, the partly-eaten bun. After a wrench at his garments he produced a penny. "Here," he said to the boy. "Buy another bun and be off. It's a good job for you the young lady spoke up the way she did." "She merely told the truth. That man was a liar." Refusing the proffered penny, the boy turned on his heel. The policeman looked after him. "That's a queer kid," he thought. "Talked like a regular young gent. I wonder why he is selling papers. Poor lad! He lost a bob's worth at least, and small thanks he got for it." Passing out of the square by the first eastward street, Philip Anson, with his head erect and hands clinched in his pockets, strode onward at a rapid pace. The lightning was less frequent now, and the thunder was dying away in sullen rumblings. He was wet and hungry. Yet, although he had three halpence, the remaining balance of the only seals effected

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

POMPADOUR COIFFURES GOING OUT OF FASHION. Many women are bewailing the indications that pompadour coiffures are going out of fashion. They believe firmly that it is the only style of hairdressing that becomes them and they will adhere to it just as long as possible. But with the radical changes in gowns and coats, hat shapes have so altered that few of them accord with a built-up coiffure. If an absolutely flat effect above the brow is impossible, owing to the facial contour, the better way is to arrange the front locks over a small roll, drawing them loosely to the back of the head. The hair may then be coiled, or pinned on, at whatever point below the crown is best adapted to the shape of the head. Ribbons threaded in and out among the tresses are fashionable, and every type of costume. In the house during the day the fashionable pastel tones are favored, gold and silver bands are used with evening toilettes, and with street suits whatever shade of ribbon matches the hat trimmings.

MANY SHINGLES ST. JOHN VESSEL BEING SENT HERE

Fredericton Mills are Doing a Rushing Business With St. John—Auditor Finds Game Warden's Accounts Muddled.

Fredericton, July 23.—On the last three trips of the Vigor a large number of shingles have been shipped to St. John. The shipments amount on an average of three hundred thousand per day. Owing to St. John mills being down a larger demand is being made for these shingles. It is understood that several more large shipments are to follow. Surveyor General Grimmer, who is here on departmental business, this morning gave out the report of Special Auditor Robert Miller, of Montreal, on the accounts of Chief Game Commissioner L. B. Knight, of St. John, whose services were dispensed with recently. When the time of Mr. Knight's resignation with the government terminated, the final accounts rendered by Mr. Knight showed the balance in favor of the province to be $10,774, but Mr. Miller in his audit of the books of the chief game commissioner for the fiscal years 1906 to 1908, inclusive to June 12th, found that the amount in the receipt, although in the ledger, this made Mr. Knight's balance in favor of the province $28,774. An additional amount to the amount mentioned in the receipt was made up of $28,774 in 1906, and $28 in 1905, making a total of $57,548. The report mentions a number of game licenses issued whose accounts require attention, the list including the following: 1908, John Robinson, Jr., New castle; William Wise, Charlottetown; Taylor, Leprore, and Arnold, Sussex; Ezra Downey, Harvey; 1905, A. R. Arnold, M. S. Keith, A. L. Green and J. S. Bassett. Mr. Miller concludes his report with the following: "I would point out that with regard to the game licenses issued in St. John or in your Fredericton district there is not any satisfactory check on returns from these, and I would suggest that all licenses be issued through some department, such as the auditor's office, which has nothing whatever to do with the sale thereof, and that at the end of each fiscal year the counterfoils and unused licenses be returned to this department with statement of each collected."

FAIRY TALE AT NICKEL

There is no one so old or yet so young that the charming simplicity of an old-time fairy tale does not appeal to the imagination and brighten many a dull moment. The reading of these lovely little fictions is pleasing enough, but to have them enacted in living photographs and those photos gorgeously colored and embellished is truly the limit of enjoyment. What would dear old Hans Anderson, or the writer of Grimm's tales say of this wonderful new process? The clever "Princess"—a film of 1000 feet length, and elaborately tinted. The scenic grandeur of it is marvellous. "The Patriot" will deal with the war between North and South, in a most realistic way, and "The Story of the Boots Told," is certain to stir loving homelike folks with its naturalness and domestic spirit. The sweet little baby is going to be a star performer. Miss Foley will sing her new song "Everybody Loves Me but the One I Love," and Jack Gurney will repeat his hit "Dipper," which was redempted last night instead of the songs he had prepared. LIGHTNING KILLS SIX SOLDIERS IN CAMP

Severe Electric Storm at Gettysburg, Pa., Where Pennsylvania National Guard Regiment Was Encamped.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 23.—As the result of a terrific electric storm which passed over the Pennsylvania National Guard encampment here tonight, it is reported that at least six troopers were killed and two score injured, some of them seriously, by being struck by lightning. The known dead: Private Morrison, 10th Regiment; Private Barbe, 15th Regiment; Unknown man, Company C, 10th Regiment. The latter's body was completely severed in twain. The tent occupied by Governor Stuart was blown down as were a number of others. Several friends were sitting with Governor Stuart when his tent collapsed, but the party managed to hold the canvas and all escaped injury. The camp is flooded and telegraphic service is practically at a standstill. The entire camp is panic-stricken. The darkness is impenetrable and men are wildly running about through rivers of water seeking the injured. Every tent of the 10th Regiment was blown down, but no one in the battery was hurt. The regimental guard tent of the 10th Regiment was struck by lightning and forty men of Company B were injured. The field hospital is full and men are lying about the camp waiting for aid. The Young Men's Christian Association tent, which was filled with men and women who had taken refuge from the storm, was razed to the ground, but so far as known no one was seriously injured.

INTERESTING POINT IN CITY COURT CASE

Question of Liability of First and Second Endorsers of Accommodation Paper.

An interesting commercial law case engaged the attention of acting Judge Henderson yesterday. It raises the point as to how far a second accommodation endorser can recover from a first accommodation endorser when the latter knew that the maker of the note could not get it discounted without his endorsement. Nathan Drucker, formerly a Dock street merchant, being in need of ready cash, had Harry J. Garson endorse a promissory note for $100. This note Drucker discounted. Subsequently, at maturity of the note, he again applied to Garson for another $100 note but finally Garson gave him one for $75. This note, with Garson's endorsement, Drucker took to Max Grosverner and stated that the bank would not give him $75 on Garson's endorsement for his (Drucker's) accommodation, which he did. Drucker recently left this province for the United States. Grosverner was sued on the $75 accommodation note as the last endorser. He paid and then brought suit against Harry J. Garson for the amount he had been sued for. Grosverner, after paying the note took all endorsement except Garson's and sued him as first endorser. Garson defended the action and insisted that he was liable for only one half the amount paid by Grosverner as they were both accommodation endorsers and consequently both were co-sureties and each would be liable for only half the amount of the note to each other. E. L. Gerow appeared for Grosverner and J. King Kelley for Garson. Judgment was reserved.

A GLEE CLUB CONVENTION

The Worcester Board of Trade Glee Club, which is to tour New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the first two weeks in August, has been organized more than fifteen years. Few changes have taken place in the original organization, and their annual concert in their home city are as important an event as is the famous old Worcester music festival, to which many of the musical people of the province go in the fall. The organization was for a long time conducted by J. C. Bartlett, the favorite Boston tenor and teacher, and the critic of Boston do not hesitate in giving the club credit for being one of the best singing organizations in New England. Mr. Callipers (diastically)—Hunger, my son, is the best sauce. Little Clarence—Yes, sir, but how do they "swallow" it on anything—Buck. Amateur Photographer—Look cheerful, old chap. Subject—Can't; this is for my wife, who's out of town. If I looked cheerful she'd be back to-morrow.—The Tatler.

DID COMPANIES BELIEVE THE GOVERNMENT WOULD PAY BILLS?

At Yesterday Afternoon's Session of the Central Railway Commission of Enquiry Judge Landry Said it Looked That Way to Him--Mr. Barnes' Bookkeeper Called.

The Central Railway Commission of Enquiry held two sessions yesterday. At the morning session George McAvity was the principal witness, and his evidence was particularly interesting. Hammond J. Evans, bookkeeper who had been in the employ of the James Barnes Construction Co., was the first witness in the afternoon. He said he accepted the position about a week after the work was started. Work was commenced in Sept. 1901 and ended in January 1904, and the witness kept the books and was familiar with the entries. Progress estimates were made by E. G. Evans and forwarded to St. John. At the time the work was in progress, the books were sent to Mr. Sharpe for audit. After Mr. Sharpe's death the witness tried to locate the books but could not. He searched in Vroom & Arnold's office. The construction company was paid monthly by the railway on the progress estimates. Payments were made in cash to the company. The money was sometimes raised by discounting notes given by the railway company. The witness could not tell the amount of the indebtedness of the company to the People's Bank of Fredericton. He had no direct dealings with the government. Mr. Barnes had dealings with Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Freeman. As far as he knew the financial business of the company was run by Mr. Pugsley, Mr. Freeman, Mr. Skinner and Mr. Winslow. He had no idea where Mr. Barnes' books are now. He had never been asked to make up a statement of Mr. Barnes' account for the government, and had done so for his own information. An audit of the company's books had been made by an auditor from the railway department at Ottawa, who wanted to know the cost of the road at that time. The witness gave this official all the information he asked for. He had no knowledge that the auditor had examined Mr. Barnes. The witness said he attended the organization meeting of the James Barnes Construction Company but could not remember what went on. Mr. Whitehead would have the directors' books and the shareholders list. Before entering the employ of the James Barnes Co., he had done survey work for the railway. He was a brother of E. G. Evans, formerly manager of the Central Railway Company. To Judge Landry the witness said he discovered the books to Mr. Sharpe in February or March, 1904. This was after they had been audited by Mr. Shannon, the dominion government auditor. To Mr. Powell the witness said he left the company in August, 1904, and the books had then been in the hands of Mr. Sharpe for some months. He attended at Hampton before Mr. Shannon, the government auditor and was there throughout the whole audit. Mr. Shannon's statement was made up from the company's books. Mr. Shannon took the time sheets and the cost of material which were kept in the same shops whether the work was being done by contract or by the government. A CRIME THAT IS NOT PUNISHABLE.

How many people reading this article have gone into a drug store and asked for some well known and highly tested medicine and some unscrupulous drug dealer has said, "Yes I have that, but have you ever used this remedy, it is just as good and costs less." Any drug dealer doing this has no interest of your health at heart, but the interest of his pocket, as he can make more profit out of the cheap substitute. For the protection and benefit of the public, we wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Cherry has been used in thousands of homes for the past sixty-three years and has never failed to give prompt relief and cure in all cases of Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cholera, Stomach Orange, Summer Complaint, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Fluxes of the Bowels. When you buy Dr. Fowler's, you are not experimenting with a new and untried remedy, but are getting one that has stood the test of time. Miss Lettie Reil, Vivian, Ont., writes: "Last year I suffered untold agony from cramps in the stomach and did not know what to do until a friend suggested I should try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Cherry. As soon as I was able to get anything I purchased a bottle. When I had taken four doses I found relief and since then I never fail to keep a bottle in the house."

PROYAS AT QUEBEC

His Royal Highness Conferred Knighthood and Other Honors on Several Canadians--The Formal Welcome by Mayor Garneau a Gorgeous State Ceremonial--Pageant Performers in Grand Review Make Dazzling Spectacle.

Quebec, July 23.--The full glory of the Tercentenary festival was unveiled to the citizens of Quebec and the 50,000 visitors gathered here, and the effect was absolutely dazzling from early morning until late at night. The quaint streets were thronged with people, and the march of troops and parade of the pageant performers in their medieval costumes which appeared so perfectly natural in the old street scenes. In honor of the Tercentenary, the Prince of Wales early this afternoon bestowed a number of decorations at a special investiture, held at the Citadel. The royal honors include four knighthoods and a number of other distinctions. The decorations were conferred on several of the most distinguished citizens of Quebec, including Sir George Drummond, a member of the House of Commons, and several other prominent figures. The ceremony was a grand and impressive one, and the recipients of the honors were presented with their decorations in a most fitting manner. The Prince of Wales also conferred knighthoods on several other Canadians, including Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The ceremony was a fitting tribute to the contributions of these men to the history and development of Canada. The Prince of Wales also conferred knighthoods on several other Canadians, including Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The ceremony was a fitting tribute to the contributions of these men to the history and development of Canada.

The great event of the day, however, was the formal welcome of the prince, by Mayor Garneau, which was a gorgeous state ceremonial. The reception took place at the foot of the magnificent statue of Champlain, in the presence of the entire population of the city. The prince, accompanied by his entourage, arrived in a grand procession, and was met by the Mayor and a large number of officials. The prince was presented with a magnificent welcome, and the ceremony was a most impressive one. The prince and his entourage were then taken to the Citadel, where they were lodged for the night. The prince's stay in Quebec was a most enjoyable one, and he was deeply impressed by the hospitality and friendliness of the people. The prince's visit to Quebec was a most successful one, and it was a fitting tribute to the contributions of the people of Quebec to the history and development of Canada. It gives me the most profound satisfaction to be able to join with you in celebrating the 300th anniversary of the foundation of Quebec by the immortal explorer whose statue has so justly its place on this spot, commanding a panorama which the most ardent imagination could scarcely conceive. The history of New France is singularly attractive, as much by the moving events recorded on its pages, as by the heroic personages who have made that history, amongst whom the name of Champlain stands out with great brilliancy. It is owing to his pen that his recital of his adventures has reached us today, and this vast dominion which today is honoring the memory of the great Champlain. The mother country also claims the honor of associating herself in this homage, and from the most distant parts of the empire come the assurances that our fellow-citizens desire to celebrate the occasion and have sent representatives whom I am glad to see here today amongst you. In the same way other lands, justly proud of the renown of Champlain, chief of whom is the great nation to which he owed allegiance, which he loved with passionate devotion, and which has delegated as its representative here today one of its most distinguished citizens. The last words which you have addressed to me have most profoundly touched me, and I most cordially thank you. I shall be happy to convey to you, my father, the assurance of your loyalty and devotion to his person and to the crown. His Majesty, King George V., takes a most lively interest in all

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA (Maple Leaf Label) has no superior. It is absolutely pure, very nutritious and very economical. THE COWAN CO., Limited, TORONTO

The scene was well worthy of the gathering. The harbor with its fleet of warships all brilliantly decked out in electric lights and a number of private yachts even more elaborately decorated, presented a wonderfully beautiful view, while in the foreground the quaint Don Dieu rode at anchor, every detail being plainly visible in the light of several searchlights which were concentrated on her from the shore. Shortly after 9 o'clock the fireworks were started on a scale which the famous Brock Farm state they have never attempted before. Their stage extended over 800 feet of the Lewis cliffs, and the set pieces and bombs were tremendous. The production lasted nearly two hours, and the more effective displays were greeted with loud cheering from the terrace.

The prince's second day in Quebec was concluded with a brilliant state dinner given by Earl Grey at the Citadel. The list of invited guests was one of the most noteworthy in the history of such functions in Canada. Among those invited were: Vice-President Fairbanks, Vice-Admiral Jauriquerry, Earl of Dudley, Sir Henry De Villiers, Earl of Banbury, Earl Roberts, Duke of Norfolk, Lord Anson, Viscountess Grey, Lord Curzon, Lord Howe, Sir R. Pole Carew, Sir Arthur Biggs, Rear Admiral Sir J. Jellicoe, Sir Francis Howard, Lord Bruce, Rear Admiral Cowles, Lord Lovat, Marquis De Lewis, Count Montcalm, the lieutenant-governor, and parliamentarian, and the members of his cabinet and many others well known in public life.

It was particularly strong kick is being registered by the soldiers and sailors here, most of whom develop pretty fair-sized chests during their day's drill. But today most of the hotel and saloon men put the price of small glasses of beer to ten cents, while whiskey goes at twenty cents per, and it is by no means above suspicion at that. Sandwiches and coffee have likewise deteriorated in quality and risen in price, while all over the city the most absurd advances are being made for everything. It looks as though having left the success of their celebration to be assured by the people from elsewhere the people of Quebec are determined to do all possible to spoil it by driving their visitors away.

PICNIC GAMES LAST EVENING

The races and games in connection with the picnic of St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Fairville, which were postponed were brought off successfully on church grounds last evening. The prizes were of a substantial character and had been selected with much care and at considerable expense. The winners were as follows:--Ladies' bean board, carpet sweeper, Miss Jessy Campbell; gentlemen's bean board, croquet jar, Wellington Lester; slug gun, lamp, Martin Campbell; air gun, sugar bowl, Albert Galloway; ring tons, pickle dish, Albert Galloway; bunny-in-the-hole, a table, Miss Bessie Compton; nine pins, rocking chair, Harry Byers.

Alonzous Dunham of North Grafton wondered why his vegetables were in such poor condition until he found the other day five woodchucks having a picnic in his garden. He promptly asked the whole family.

THE UNEASY SUN

The St. John Sun is singularly inconsistent with itself. It hotly denounces the Central Railway enquiry, and yet contends that the enquiry glorifies the politicians who were connected with the affairs of the Central and the N. B. Railway and Coal Company. Why, in this sultry summer weather, should the Sun lash itself into a fury over a proceeding which makes for the greater glory of Dr. Pugsley and his friends? Surely, could not reasonably object to an added brilliancy of the halo from the midst of which their august countenances always shine forth when viewed by the Sun. If, as the Sun contends, this Central enquiry confounds the enemies of righteous railway and mining operations, let us all be thankful for the boon. Let us all know with what brilliant success Dr. Pugsley and the other railway experts concerned in the matter provided this province with the Central Railway at the cost of a mere trifle like a million and a quarter, or thereabouts. In some respects, it is true, their skill cannot be fully appreciated by the ordinary mind. Even auditors and financial experts admit that the book-keeping, for example, is beyond them. But this is an important part of the work, and no doubt adds to the obligation the province owes to these distinguished pioneers of transportation in Quebec county.

The Sun should be grateful to Mr. Powell. Even if the lost books are never found; even if "W. P." should forever remain incognito; even if the lost copies of orders-in-council are not discovered; even if many more deserving persons are discovered who admit that they found gifts of stock on their doorsteps; in short, no matter what happens, Dr. Pugsley and his co-workers will, in the Sun's opinion, occupy an even more exalted position. Therefore that journal should rejoice at Mr. Powell's persistence in the Central enquiry.

SASKATCHEWAN

There are two reasons why it may be deemed expedient for the government of Saskatchewan to bring on the provincial elections next month. The provincial government is Liberal. If the elections were postponed until after the federal, and the latter resulted, as so many believe they will, in a Conservative victory, it might be difficult for Premier Scott to carry Saskatchewan in a provincial campaign. On the other hand, if he could carry the province now with a good majority, the Liberal leaders all over the country would use the fact as an argument to persuade the people that the west would also support Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The announcement that the provincial elections would take place on August 7th was a complete surprise to the people of the province. Premier Scott and Provincial Treasurer Calder had been in Ottawa, and on their return the dissolution was announced. The decision was the result of the conference at Ottawa. The campaign is brought on at the beginning of the harvest season, when the farmers are thinking more about crops than politics. Premier Scott hopes to get a snap verdict in favor of his government, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier hopes to receive a word of encouragement from Regina before taking the plunge himself.

REALLY WONDERFUL

Who was the unknown benefactor who presented so many deserving financiers with shares of stock in the N. B. Coal and Railway Company and insisted upon making them directors, or something of the sort, in that great gift enterprise? The story reads like a romance. In some mysterious manner, which even at this late date they are unable to explain, these worthy citizens found themselves busily engaged in the noble work of providing the farmers of Quebec county with a railway, and opening up extensive coal mines, the mere royalty from which would wipe out the provincial debt. It must have been a source of constant wonder and surprise to them that they were thus honored, while their curiosity as to the identity of the master mind behind these remarkable manifestations must have been very great. Apparently that curiosity has never been fully satisfied. In some inexplicable manner they were singled out for this great honor, and they accepted it without demur. The tribute to their ability and patriotic zeal was amazing, but also flattering. They accepted it at its face. The banks did the same. So did the government. It was altogether a delightful exhibition of mutual confidence and esteem, and the province paid the bills.

TUBERCULOSIS

In Montreal recently, a man who was dying of tuberculosis was unable to find any other refuge than the house of detention of criminals. There was no room in either of the hospitals which are open to such cases. The Montreal Star, commenting on this humiliating incident, pays a tribute to the Anti-Tuberculosis League, and the two hospitals which do what their facilities and resources will permit for the victims of the disease, but very properly and forcibly points out that this is not enough. It insists that the provincial government should aid in providing a refuge for those in an advanced stage of consumption. This course must eventually be adopted in every province. Such action was promised by the late government of this province, and will doubtless be taken by the present one. There is need of hospital accommodation, systematic out-door treatment, and a general campaign of education to cope with and eventually overcome the ravages of a disease which is claiming its victims everywhere in numbers which when thoughtfully considered are appalling.

The following criticism of the Federal government is from the Ottawa Journal (Independent): "In the blocking of that portion of the election bill which aimed to place in the hands of the Dominion authority the preparation of the voters' lists in Manitoba, British Columbia and Quebec the Opposition defeated a cynically brutal assault upon the franchisees of some thirty odd constituencies and in doing so it deliberately accepted the risk of public condemnation for the practically complete suspension of public business. And in the end it was able to show to the closer observers of parliamentary procedure that the unreasonableness of the determination of the government to withhold till a late period of the session all of its most important legislation was alone responsible for the almost intolerable protraction of a highly costly session."

Of the extravagant policy of the Federal government a western exchange says: "Without dotting to say anything adverse to a general policy of development for the Dominion, we must concede that under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier the future is being discounted at a rate that would have made plain Mr. Wilfrid Laurier horror-stricken. He used to tell us that the Conservatives were extravagant because their expenditures amounted to $500,000 a week; but this year his government is going to expend money at the rate of more than $2,000,000 a week. We admit that Canada can afford to spend more money now than in 1896, but nearly three times as much is an increase calculated to stagger the average voter."

Of the historic pagents at Quebec the Toronto World's critic writes: "Nothing on the American continent has ever been produced like it, and it is doubtful if Europe has seen such pictures of her royal mantle past, while the dramatic incidents of purely Canadian story could only be produced on native soil. It would be an undying regret to anyone who could understand the beauty and interest of the spectacles to think that he had willingly missed them."

The address of Vice-President Fairbanks at the tercentenary celebration in Quebec yesterday was one which will be read with pleasure by the Canadian people. His references to the relations between the United States and Canada, and Great Britain were singularly appropriate to the occasion, lofty in sentiment and eloquent in expression.

THE JOURNALIST

What is a hero in this modern age? No longer crowned with laurels, no longer warriors that old Homer sings are dead—or live but in the deathless page. This is no time for prophet, seer, or sage; The tribute of a dream art vainly brings For souls in time to earth's material things No oracle or idler can engage. At the hour of the conquest of to-day Is he who grasps the moment as it flies— The arbiter through strife and failure wise, Fronguard of all life's moving play— The knight who curbs the wild barbaric dial And breaks it to the dust for the ideal, —Henry Tyrrell in N. W. World.

IN LIGHTER VEIN HOW TO BE HAPPY.

Old Gentleman—"Rastus, if you had had that big watermelon, would you be happy?" Little Rastus—"No, sah." Old Gentleman—"What more would you want to complete your happiness?" Little Rastus—"De older half ob dat melon, sah."—Chicago Daily News.

CUTTING THEIR WEEDS.

Hyker—"Why did you give up smoking?" Hyker—"In order to marry a rich widow." Hyker—"I'll tell you the connection." Hyker—"She refused to give up her weeds unless I would give up mine."—Chicago News.

SWEEPING THE CONVENTION.

"I nominate for president our friend and former associate now nobly serving his country in state's prison," suggested another delegate. "But a man in jail can't run," suggested another delegate. "Nor he isn't apt to make any bad breaks," Hyker resumed the convention, this happy hit sweeping the convention with the force of a tidal wave.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A PARABLE (The Parable.)

A tomat was once arrested for indulging his taste for cantarides. The cage was empty; Tom's whiskers were full of feathers. seemingly he was asleep. It did not deny the charge, but apparently he put a question to the judge as to why. If a fool canary would break out of its cage and fly down your throat, what would you do?"

THE ACCORDIONATING CURMUR (M. A. P.)

The Bishop of London, at a recent dinner, told a story the cigar came on about one of his predecessors. "When Dr. Cheighton was Bishop of London," he said, "he rode in a train one day with a most useful curia. Dr. Cheighton, an ardent lover of tobacco, was smoking. The curia, with a smile, he said: 'You don't mind my smoking, I suppose?' The Bishop, who was bowed and answered humbly: 'No, your lordship doesn't mind my being sick.'"

THE STRIKE OF PIE-BATTERS. (Toronto World.)

Sit down, my friend, let's talk of pie. There's a pie in the oven, and it's hot and nice. Let's find wherein the trouble lies. Is 50 cents too much for pie?"

A pie is just two slabs of pasta. Some treat between to give it taste. Thrown in a pan and cooked for an hour. Then on the restaurant counter placed. I'm a doubt within your eyes; I watch your indignation rise. They took our people very far. Then sprung those pies—and there you are!

My friend, it was the C. P. R. They wouldn't run a dinner car; They took our people very far. Then sprung those pies—and there you are!

This is no dream, as you surmise. One Byron Walker, who was with me, With many other lesser guys, Were stung for once for pie's sake. These pies were not a bit more grand. The little children out to play. Can make about as good a brand.

I bear an awful about arise; It grows in strength and rage and size. It'll live on grass or wood or sile; We'll pay no 50 cents for pie!"

AMERICA'S LAND KING.

On the Blue Ridge Mountains in North Carolina, near the famous winter society colony at Asheville, George W. Vanderbilt has created one of the greatest estates in America. He has turned a mountain into a home site, torn down, blasted and dug away a vast pyramid of earth and rock, at a cost of a million dollars; then he told his engineers to go a thousand miles away and get enough limestone to build a house on this out-of-the-way rock slope or recording centuries. Below the garden that man made is another that nature made, through the heart of which dashes the wistery ribbon, so there are two gardens where flower and shrub vie with each other in charming the eye and the sense. Such is Biltmore House. You hear travelers speak of it as the finest country seat in America, and the Biltmore House and Vanderbilt domain constitute the greatest estate in America and probably one of the greatest estates of modern creation. That is a big phrase, but only big phrases fit those hundred thousand Biltmore acres that rise and fall over mountains, that are covered by fifteen square miles of virgin forest and two square miles of cultivated field and pasture land, that boasts of a thriving village—Biltmore of 300 souls, and that are crisscrossed by twenty miles of magnificent macadam roads. It represents an investment of $2,000,000. Upon it are a dozen farms, of which eight are leased to tenants on shares and four are directly under Vanderbilt cultivation. Over its great pasture clearings graze 275 cattle, mostly blooded siltch cows, besides the Berkshire hogs, poultry and pigeons for which Biltmore is celebrated.

Yet it would be hard to find a region so devoted to agricultural promise, so discouraging as the site of a great country home, as the wilderness which George W. Vanderbilt has made into a veritable wonderland.—Broadway Magazine.

Governor Fort of New Jersey tells this story: An old Quaker woman was a witness in a case which was being tried one day before Judge Garrison over in Jersey, and she wore a big polka-dot net which muffled her ears and prevented her hearing the lawyer's questions. Finally the lawyers appealed to the judge, and he ordered her to remove the bonnet. "I'll do no such thing," she said tartly. "I am accustomed to having my will respected," said the judge.

"Well, I don't care if you are a judge, that bonnet stays right where it is!" "Perhaps, madam," the judge put in ironically, "you would like to take my place as judge, too, eh?" "No, 'tis of it," she shot out. "There are enough old women on the bench in Jersey as it is!"

ORIGINAL OF SIR WALTER SCOTT'S NOVEL. Chatsworth is one of the most magnificent private residences in England. Standing as it does, amidst the beautiful scenery of Derbyshire, this historic mansion has received the admiration of poet and painter alike. So far back as the Norman survey, in the eleventh century, the manor of Chatsworth belonged to the crown, and was in charge of William Peverell, who built for himself the fortress called the Castle of the Peak. For several generations Chatsworth was the property of a family named Leche or Leech, one of whom was chirographer (or leech) to King Edward III.

It was not until the sixteenth century that the estate of Chatsworth came into the possession of Sir William Cavendish. Chatsworth saw much of the illustrious Mary Stuart, for here the Queen of Scots was imprisoned, and her captivity extended over the space of several years. The spot in the ground near a small lake is still shown as the place where she was permitted to take air, a raised garden overlooking some of the loveliest scenery in England. Here the luckless Queen of Scots would sit with her attendants and ply her needle, guarded on every side by warders. The fourth Earl and the first Duke of Devonshire planned and rebuilt Chatsworth. Sir Christopher Wren was then at the height of his fame, but was presumably too busy on St. Paul's Cathedral and several city churches to spare time for Chatsworth, so much farther from London than that now. The work was entrusted to William Talman, an architect of some note. The interior of Chatsworth is magnificent, done by such famous men as Verrio, Laquiere, Sir James Thornhill, Cibber, as noted for his carvings in stone as his contemporary Grinling Gibbons, in wood. The grand entrance hall is painted with scenes from the life and death of Julius Caesar, while the staircase has a double flight of steps of rock amethyst and variegated alabaster, guarded by a heavily built balustrade. The state apartments are lined by choice woods and hung with Gobelin tapestries. The Scarlet Room contains the bed in which George II died, and the chairs and footstools used at the coronation of George III.

MIKE TWIN AND FOLEY

Sydney, July 23.—Mike Twin Sullivan, welterweight champion and Tom Foley, champion of Nova Scotia, went ten rounds with no decision here tonight in a way that made the thousand and odd sports about the inside sit up and take notice. Foley caught the Twin on the jaw in the fourth, and the shifty Bostonian barely saved a knockout by side stepping. Mike came back with a wicked left jab to the face and a right uppercut. In the eighth the men slugged each other all over the ring, the referee having difficulty in breaking them from several clinches.

The Twin has agreed to stop Dan Littlejohn of St. John and Jack Ryan of Moncton inside of ten rounds. At the Redville track they are predicting that Peter H. Bradley's Bingen Border Knight will be another 210 trotter for his sire this season, if given the opportunity. Ed. Bither stepped the stallion a mile in 2:13 the other morning, and he is making speed so fast that it looks as if a few more workouts would put him on edge for a mile inside the select circle. Border Knight is by Bingen (2:04) out of the former Forber Farm stallions that are coming to the front so fast as extreme speed sires.

ST. JOHN CRICKET TEAM WINS MATCH WITH FREDERICTON

The St. John Cricket Team defeated Fredericton yesterday on the Every Day Club grounds by seven wickets in a keenly contested and interesting game. Being a whole day match time permitted the game being fought out to a finish much to the satisfaction of the local players. In the first innings the eleven from the capital ran up a score of 110, mainly through the brilliant batting of Captain Deedes and A. Turner, who accounted for ninety-one runs between them. St. John replied with eighty-four and were thus in a minority of twenty-six. The tables, however, were turned in the second venture. Fredericton was dismissed for thirty-nine and St. John hit off the sixties runs required to win the match, with the loss of only three wickets. A feature of the game was the all round play of T. D. Popham for the local eleven. In addition to making thirty-one and twenty-eight by sterling cricket he captured seven wickets during the match.

H. E. C. Sturdee demonstrated that he had lost none of his old form with the ball, and in the visitors' second innings was responsible for the downfall of more than half the side. C. H. Jackson played a useful not out innings of fifteen and F. R. Fairweather, who captained the eleven, also hit well. The visitors had a tower of strength in Captain Deedes, who, in addition to his fine score in the first innings, accounted for eight wickets. His runs:

Table with 2 columns: Player Name and Runs. Includes names like H. L. Johnson, J. W. Rawlings, Capt. H. Deedes, etc.

which were made all round the wicket with great freedom, included one over eight threes and ten twos. Turner, who went in second wicket down when the score was eleven and not dismissed until eighty-three had been registered. His contribution was invaluable to his side. Loose bowling and mistakes in the field accounted for many of the runs scored against the St. John team in Fredericton's first innings. Much better work was done, however, when the chances of matches in the maritime provinces. It is probable that a return match will take place at the capital early in August. While the number of spectators yesterday was not large, the opinion may be hazarded that the throngs of children who visited the supervised playgrounds near the pavilion would welcome a whole day match six times a week with enthusiasm. A substantial luncheon was served to the players at the mid-day interval, and in the afternoon, the fragments which remained in the shape of piles of sandwiches, cake and biscuits were distributed among the youngsters amid tumultuous cheering on their part. The score in the match was as follows:

Graco-Roman wrestling contests on the ground that one of the Swedish representatives, Peterson, was unfairly deprived of a bout yesterday. Whatever may be the facts in the unfortunate episode, the English and the Americans firmly believe that their men are absolutely right and the others wholly wrong and the latter are likely to be extremely damaged to Anglo-American athletics for years to come.

MANY ENTER FOR THE WESTFIELD SPORTS

Water Sports and Outing to be Held on Saturday Should Prove Most Interesting.

They are certainly looking for a big time at the water sports at Westfield, to be held by the Westfield Outing Association on Saturday afternoon next. The sports will be started at 3 p. m. sharp. The events and entries are: Single Canoe Race—R. Church, P. McAvity, G. Patterson, Ronald McAvity, E. A. Inches. Two Men's Skiff Race (double)—A. S. Bowman and H. B. Robinson; John Froeham and partner; J. H. Doody and H. O. Crighton; C. T. Nevins and John H. O. Crighton; W. Hasford, G. W. Lewis; G. W. Cooke and W. C. Rothwell.

The upset continued for nearly half an hour, and as the people poured out of the stands, the arguments were taken up in the aisles and gateways by excited thousands, and the race is still the subject of the bitterest wrangling everywhere. Matthew P. Halpin, the manager of the American team, who was in the arena, immediately entered a protest, claiming the distance, according to unofficial watches, in the remarkable time of 48.25 seconds, some watches making it even less. A committee meeting of the Amateur Athletic Association, the details of which have not been made public, was called, and the decision was rendered in favor of Halpin, and Halpin was called to state their case. Neither any member of the American committee nor any of the three American runners, however, was called on to make any statement and the committee after upwards of two hours consideration rendered the following decision: "The judges decide the race void, and order the same to be run over again on Saturday at noon. Carpenter is disqualified."

BASEBALL ITEMS

On November 3, 1908, Bech's All-American baseball club will sail from San Francisco for Japan, China, the Philippines and Hawaii Islands. The team will be composed of some of the star players in the United States. This is one of the greatest trips that a baseball club has ever taken, in all covering a distance of about 20,000 miles. It is the first time that an American club has ever visited the Orient and will tend to increase the popularity of this great American game in these countries. In fact, the influence of this trip should make baseball the national sport in all these countries.

At the present time baseball is very popular in the Orient. In Japan they have a four-team league, composed of the players of the club in Manila there is a five-league club composed of United States troops and civilians. In Hawaii there is a four-team league composed of athletic clubs. The class of baseball played by these teams is very high, but they will undoubtedly be much benefited by seeing these great players in action and will be educated up to the finer points of the game.

The series of games played in Japan the people of Yokohama and Tokio will be apt to break the world's record for attendance at a ball game. The personnel of the club will consist of no doubt of some of the best players in the Orient. BEAVER HARBOR BODY WAS NOT IDENTIFIED

Although it has been Buried Yet Identity of Man Has Not Been Determined. A message received by telephone from Beaver Harbor last evening stated that the body of the unknown man which was picked up in the harbor on Wednesday, had been viewed by the Coroner, Dr. C. B. Alexander and buried yesterday by his instructions. It is thought the body was that of a man who lost his life some weeks ago from a pilot boat of Leprux or of a man who was drowned a month ago in St. John harbor. There is no record of either body having been recovered.

The description of the body shows that the man was of stout build and about forty-five or fifty years of age. It was clothed in black serge pants, two thin flannel shirts, fine brown stockings, a heavy leather belt and strong elastic side boots with the words "St. Vincent" on the straps. It is thought to have been in the water five or six weeks.

DEADLOCK OVER THE PRINCE RUPERT LOTS

Grand Trunk Pacific and Government Cannot Agree and Lots May Not be Sold This Year.

Vancouver, B. C., July 24 (Special).—A hitch has occurred between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the provincial government, in consequence of which it is doubtful if any Prince Rupert lots will be sold this year. The Grand Trunk Pacific asks for 17,000 feet of waterfront in a continuous line, while the government says this is all there is. Under the agreement the government is entitled to every fourth lot in the townsite, and demand that this apply to the waterfront also. The result is a deadlock.

TRAGIC DEATH OF ST. JOHN MAN

Bernard S. DeWitt Died at Barton Landing, Vt., as Result of Injuries in Drowning Accident.

St. John people will hear with regret of a tragic death which occurred at Barton Landing, Vermont, on Thursday, July 16.

At the time of the accident Mr. DeWitt was engaged in the regular discharge of his duties as an employe of a large wood working establishment at Barton's Landing, and the horse he was driving became frightened and ran away.

Man Charged With Misappropriating Funds From P. F. Collier & Co. Committed for Trial.

Frank M. Burns arrested at Halifax on 4th inst., at the instance of P. F. Collier & Co.'s local agency charged with misappropriating $750 collected on behalf of the concern from F. H. Earle, of this city, was committed for trial at the police court this morning after his preliminary examination was completed.

J. A. Barry appeared for the accused and J. H. A. L. Fairweather represented the company.

E. H. Earle testified that Burns entered the office of William Peters where he was employed stating that he represented Collier's. Eventually Earle subscribed for a monthly and a book containing 37 stories paying in cash $7.50 and receiving a receipt from Burns for the amount, although he subscribed on March 4th he did not receive either periodical or books until June, three weeks following his complaint to the local branch manager regarding the matter. He did not enquire until a month after the occurrence.

W. D. McAvity maritime manager of Collier's stated in his testimony that he received no money in the Earle account from Burns and did not know Earle had subscribed until the latter showed him the receipt.

Mr. McAvity stated that Burns entered the employ of Collier's here in January coming from upper Canada. There was no contract made to work between Burns and himself, but he could refuse to accept Burns' business if he so chose.

Burns accepted work for Collier's during the month of May. He subsequently sent in several orders and in June was informed by communication from Mr. McAvity to refrain from soliciting in the future. Burns was in Middleton, N. S., at that time.

When arrested at Halifax several orders for publications which the prisoner secured in the sister city were found on him by Detective Killen, who on his arrest some placed the papers in the hands of Mr. McAvity.

He did not know whether Burns had been instructed to continue working by other officials of the company or not.

The evidence of the two witnesses combined the case for the prosecution was closed and Burns was sent up for trial on the fourth Tuesday in August.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge. Several other charges of a similar nature are hanging over the prisoner.

JUDGE LANDRY WANTS TO HEAR FROM DR. PUGSLEY

simply wanted to attend to watch the progress of the inquiry and follow the evidence if he had thought he would come and testify at once he might have taken a different view of the matter.

Mr. Carvell asked if the inquiry would be adjourned provided he got word from Dr. Pugsley today setting a definite date, but Mr. Powell said he could not agree to that as he expected some witnesses on the 29th or 30th who might not be able to get here again.

It was decided to hear from Mr. Blair as to the other N. B. C. & R. Co.'s bonds which the bank had held. Mr. Blair said they were placed in the bank Aug. 20, 1903. There were 14 bonds of $500 each, numbers 831 to 844, 4 per cent.

The commissioners decided they had a right to know who deposited the bonds, as they were in the series handed to the late A. I. Trueman, and they had no other way to trace them.

In reply to Mr. Powell, Mr. Blair said they were not deposited by A. Trueman. "By Mr. Evans."

Asked if he knew of any other transactions between the bank and Messrs. Evans and Blair, the witness said he knew of none with the N. B. C. & R. Co. The railway had no current account with the bank.

Witness said there was no other record obtain that produced which would show transactions. The bonds referred to were returned three of them on April 5, 1904, and the balance on November 5, 1904, to the Bank of N. B. on an order of Mr. Evans.

Mr. Carvell questioned the witness about the method of keeping accounts at the bank, endeavoring to show the unreliability of their bookkeeping.

Adjournment was made until 2.30 p. m.

Delegates of fourteen countries, numbering about five hundred in all, are in attendance. The United States was well represented.

To-night there was an exhibition of national dances in which the United States was symbolized by a figure made up of a mixture of the two-step and cakewalk. The American professors present, however, consider this somewhat undignified.
