AN ALL-B. B. MEAL

The menu seemed to be designed to impress upon the visiting newspapermen from the Motherland that the Province of New Brunswick quite alone and of its own resources can supply as appetizing a bill of fare as the whole world combined. It was as follows: New Brunswick Clam Bouillon, New Brunswick Celery, New Brunswick Mushrooms, New Brunswick (Saint John Harbor) Salmon, (Admiral Beatty) Lobsters, New Brunswick Baby Lamb, New Brunswick New Potatoes, New Brunswick Cauliflower, New Brunswick Native Pears, New Brunswick Sardinia Salad, New Brunswick Strawberry Shortcake, New Brunswick Blueberries, New Brunswick Apples.

THE CLAM BOUILLON

This is the product of the factory of Shaw & Ellis, Poolbegon, Charlotte county, 35 miles west of Saint John, and located on the Bay of Fundy. Their output, which is exclusively clams, is sold in Canada and the United States.

THE LOBSTERS

These were caught on Northumberland Strait, the body of water separating the province of Prince Edward Island from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. On the coast of the Maritime Provinces one-third of the world's lobsters are raised. The value of the catch, which is sold all over the world, both in the raw state, as served at this dinner, and in cans, is estimated at $1,600,000.

THE SARDINES

These are the products of the factory of Connors Bros., located at Black's Harbor, 50 miles west of Saint John. This factory is the largest sardine canning plant in the British Empire and the largest of its kind in the world. Its output is sold in all parts of the world and aggregates 20,000,000 tins per year.

THE SALMON

These are caught within sight of the Admiral Beatty Hotel and are world famous as "Saint John Harbor Salmon" being so labeled on the menus of many of the largest and most famous hotels and restaurants of America. The commercial fish salmon industry of New Brunswick last year yielded $500,000. New Brunswick rivers, such as the Restigouche, Tobique and the Miramichi, provide the finest salmon fishing for the sportsman of any rivers in the world. These fish are frequently caught weighing 40 pounds. The total average value of the fisheries of New Brunswick is $6,000,000.

THE LAMB

New Brunswick spring lamb comes from the wonderful pastures of this province, where droughts are unknown, where a spring or a brook is always to be found and where climatic conditions are ideal.

NOTICES OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS. 50 cents.

DEATHS

MACDONALD—In this city after a brief illness, at her residence, 43 Cedar street, on Aug. 25, 1925, Mary, widow of Dr. Manfred H. MacDonald, leaving a daughter, Mrs. M. J. MacDonald, step-son, brother, two sisters and half-sisters to mourn.

IN MEMORIAM

HUMPHREY—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Ann May Humphrey, who departed this life on Aug. 25, 1925.

We who loved you miss you sadly as there dawns another year. In the lonely hours of the night, thoughts of you are always near. The memory of your smiling face time never, never can erase.

Inserted by her loving parents and family.

THE VEGETABLES

New Brunswick produces the finest of seed and table potatoes. Through the port of Saint John there was last year shipped from this province to Cuba 3,000,000 bushels in addition to large cargoes to Great Britain and Western Canada. The average production of field crops in this province is $40,000,000.

THE BLUEBERRIES

Even the so-called barren lands of New Brunswick produce a delicacy, the gathering and exporting of which has grown into an important industry. The blueberries served at this luncheon are the product of these lands. They are exported, both in their natural state and in cans, and yield to the nation and canners many thousands of dollars annually.

THE STRAWBERRIES

One of New Brunswick's important crops. Handled under modern conditions these appetizing berries are forwarded in cooled refrigerated cars to the large centres of Canada and the United States, where their noted flavor has earned for them growing markets. New Brunswick produces each year over 2,000,000 tons of this luscious fruit.

THE ICE CREAM

Dairying is one of the most promising of New Brunswick's industries, and ice cream an important product of her creameries. The value of the creamery butter and cheese manufactured in 1924 was $750,000—but this is altogether apart from home dairy products, which are exported considerably in the above figures. Standardization of dairy products for export would place New Brunswick in a splendid position to compete in the British markets. The advantages enjoyed here in transportation charges on overseas shipments provide promise of a great development in the dairy industry.

THE APPLES

Were grown in the Saint John River Valley where New Brunswick's widely celebrated Mackintosh Red apples, among the many varieties produced. To eat a New Brunswick Mackintosh is to partake of an apple—than which none more attractive in appearance, none more delicious in flavor or more remunerative to the grower is packed in any part of the world. The apples served today are the advance guard of New Brunswick's rapidly increasing Red Apples. The yearly average production of this province amounts to 75,000 barrels, but is capable of a wide and profitable expansion.

SOME ENJOY GOLF

This afternoon the party were left to their own devices, members of the Board of Trade being on hand to act as guides to whatever part of the city or suburbs they might wish to visit. Several of the party had a game of golf at the Riverside Golf and Country Club. Tomorrow morning they leave on the steamer Empress for Digby and will spend three days in Nova Scotia. Yarmouth will be visited first and from there they will motor through the Annapolis Valley to Halifax.

ARE DELIGHTED

F. G. R. Peterson, of the London Times, said this was the first time he had visited the Maritime Provinces and he had been delighted with what he had seen in New Brunswick. The members of the party had an idea that while there was some settled land in the province it was largely forest and they were surprised to see the splendid farms which we had here. It had been a revelation to them and would be so to any person not acquainted with the province. They would certainly be in a position to correct some of the wrong impressions which prevailed in the Old Country about this province.

MANY IN TRIBUTE TO MRS. E. WALSH

Large Number Attend Funeral and Hundreds Call at Bereaved Home.

The high regard in which Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh was held and the respect and esteem of all who knew her, was shown this morning at the funeral, held from her home in Main street. Citizens in every walk of life assembled to a last tribute to the memory of a friend, and to many a one a benefactor. The funeral cortege wound its way to the Holy Trinity church, hundreds walking behind the casket. At the church high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. F. Cronin, with Rev. James Moran, C. S. S. R., rector of St. Peter's church, and Rev. Wm. McCullough, C. S. S. R., being present in sanctuary. After mass the body was taken to the old Catholic cemetery where interment took place. SEVERAL SEEK SCHOOL PLACE

Vocational Committee Receives Applications for Post of Director

One Puts Aside $5,000 Offer in U. S.—Appointment Awaits New Board Member

The names of applicants for the position of director of the Saint John Vocational School were before the vocational committee meeting last night in the office of the school trustees.

PEACOCK MAY APPLY. While no application was received from Fletcher Peacock, the vocational education in New Brunswick, it was said by some of those present that it was possible that Mr. Peacock would be an applicant.

Dr. L. M. Curran, chairman, presided. Others present included Alexander Wilson, John MacKinnon and Allen A. McIntyre, members of the committee.

Dr. Curran said while the erection of the vocational school was progressing satisfactorily and could be completed by the specified time of Jan. 1, 1926, he understood from George F. Hennessey, superintendent of construction, that from the viewpoint of seasoning of materials and finish it might be inadvisable to have the work pushed so as to finish the building on schedule time.

APPLICANTS FOR POSITION. Dr. Curran and Thomas Nagle had been a committee to get information regarding possible applicants for the position of director of the school. A number of applications received were before the meeting. The special committee will go over the applications and bring in a report later but all information was laid before the full committee last night. It was agreed that the applicant must appear in person before the committee before an appointment is made.

It was emphatically stated that upon the appointment of a director the success or failure of the school must depend but other things being equal a New Brunswick man should receive preference.

Mr. MacKinnon said the Workmen's Compensation Board of the province was composed entirely of local men who had had to acquaint themselves with the work but that the board was considered second to none in Canada.

AWAIT NEW MEMBER. Mr. McIntyre told of the preparation of the grounds of the school. The soil that had been put on was unsuitable for lawn growing, he said, and Commissioner Frink refused soil from the Shamrock grounds. H. E. Gould, at Mr. McIntyre's request, had given a recommendation as to how to prepare a seed bed.

A committee consisting of Mr. MacKinnon and Mr. McIntyre was appointed to report on the matter after consulting with H. Gould and F. Neil Brodie, architect.

The meeting was adjourned to convene again at an early date as possible following the appointment of a member of the committee to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Green's retirement.

Issues Booklet On Rivers of Province. An attractive booklet entitled "Rivers of New Brunswick" has been prepared and published by A. D. Correll, of this city, for distribution to tourists. It is beautifully printed and contains much information of value to the visitor here.

Besides the description of the Saint John River and its tributaries and the towns and cities on its banks, the booklet contains a map of the river, one of the province and one showing the Canadian National Railway lines through the province. It has numerous beautiful plates of scenes on various parts of the river. There is appended a list of hotels in the various places.

The foreword was written by A. M. Belding, editor of The Telegraph-Journal.

FIGHTS ARMED MAN IN STUCK ELEVATOR

Cincinnati Operator Attacked by Enraged Negro With Knife.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Imprisoned in a stalled elevator car with an infuriated negro armed with a knife, Robert Mathison, elevator operator at the City Hall, battled with his bare hands for 15 minutes, while policemen and detectives standing on the first and second floors stood by powerless to aid. Mathison was stabbed slightly several times. Finally, with the aid of a blackjack passed to him through the roof of the car by detectives, the elevator man succeeded in beating his assailant into unconsciousness. Then he and the negro had to remain in their prison for nearly an hour while firemen chopped a hole in the top of the car.

wounds he stalled it. His cries coupled with profane expressions of the negro attracted the attention of detectives on the second floor and policemen on the first floor. They rushed to doors of the shaft but were unable to aid Mathison until one of the detectives succeeded in passing the blackjack to him. Mathison and the negro were taken to the hospital, where physicians said both would recover.

COUNTING INSECTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The Department of Agriculture has started taking a census of the insects in the United States. The census will throw some light upon the origin and habits of all species, and it is hoped that forecasts will be made of the periods in which certain insects are most likely to appear in great numbers.

FREAK STORM AT SEA IS RELATED

Schooner Meets Waterspout, Gale, Calm and Lightning in One Night.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 26.—A waterspout just after dark, a 50-mile gale and then dead calm while bolts of lightning flashed throughout the entire night and twice struck the schooner, was experienced by the crew of the four-masted schooner Paul E. Thurlow on Aug. 12 in the Straits of Florida. The ship now is discharging rock phosphate from Port Tampa at Canton.

Waterspouts are rare and 50-mile gales are not uncommon, but the electrical phenomenon was the strangest thing he had seen in a life of seafaring, the schooner's master, Captain A. W. Beale, said today.

"CAPTAIN'S STORY. "When I went below shortly after midnight had fallen," Captain Beale said, "there was a moderate breeze from the northwest, and no indications of any unusual weather. I hadn't been below more than a few minutes when the mate came to the companionway and yelled down that the queerest looking storm he'd ever seen was almost on us. I rushed on deck and ordered all hands called, and the canvas taken in.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Aug. 26.—Miss Manola Bilis, 18 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Bilis of Cristobal, Canal Zone, died in Muhlenberg Hospital. She had been suffering from blood poisoning. According to her aunt, Mrs. Glenn Bilis of Westfield, N. J., whom she had been visiting, her father, who is Postmaster at Cristobal, Canal Zone, was about to leave for the United States by navy hydroplane when he received word that it was too late. The girl went in swimming at Long Beach a week ago, her physician, Dr. C. T. Decker of Westfield, said. The next day she noticed a slight infection of the nose. The infection reached her brain, the physician said.

Attacks Operator.

The negro boarded the elevator to descend to the street, but the operator had hardly closed the door when his passenger accused him of betraying him and lunged at him with a knife. Defending himself as best he could, Mathison attempted to drive the car back to the second floor, but in his excitement and pain from the knife

SAINT JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 26, 1925.

A FUTILE AGITATION.

The inconsistency of Communist agitators is well displayed in the report of a happening from Marseilles during the week-end. After protesting against war in general, and the struggle with the Rhifans in particular, these alleged pacifists went into the street and waged bloody battle with police who protested, in the public interest, against a "red" demonstration.

There is much talk in England today concerning a campaign, proposed by the Communists, amongst the members of His Majesty's land and sea forces, to enlist support of the soldiers and sailors in the event of an outbreak fanned by these disgruntled persons against organized authority.

The British army is not for a moment to be compared with the Russian horde which fell under the influence of the Bolsheviks during the Red Revolution in that country, and Communist leaders who are building Russian dreams on the fabric of recent Russian history would do well to choose a different background for their imaginings.

TOO MANY ACCIDENTS.

There are too many automobile accidents occurring these days there is no doubt of that fact—and it is time the car-driving public sat down for a few minutes' serious thought with this one question before it: How can these mishaps be reduced?

So many circumstances can enter into, and so many causes lead up to the fatalities and near-fatalities happening on our roads every day that it is almost impossible to prescribe any panacea which would prove a positive cure in all cases. But it is a certainty that many of the accidents which have, in the past, caused sorrow and suffering, should never have happened, and, having happened, should prove a strong lesson for the future.

In the first place, not enough care is taken by those driving cars. The level crossing toll is a glaring example of this, which prompts the superintendent of the Safety Section of the Great Northern Railway, New York, to observe:

"No one denies that railroad crossings are potential hazards, but it is not the mere existence of crossings that makes them dangerous—it is the reckless way in which people use them." The collisions which occur on road curves might be prevented. It usually develops, after one of these occurrences, that one of the parties in the crash was not keeping to his own side of the road. Most of the roads in this part of the country are sufficiently wide to allow two cars to pass; and, if the rule of the road were followed in its strictest sense, this kind of accident would be eliminated.

Next to carelessness comes inefficiency as a cause of automobile accidents and, in the light of experiences which have been reported in the press during the present season, the suggestion of an English magistrate that auto licenses should not be granted until the car owner has passed an examination in the operation of the vehicle is worthy of more than a passing thought. Governments have adopted stern methods to stamp out many forms of violent diseases. It might not be considered amiss for them to adopt just as severe measures in an effort to crush the germ which is deadlier than any of the ailments which they have attacked—the fatal automobile accident germ.

Premier King will address his constituents of North York at Richmond Hill, Ontario, on September 5. He will be accompanied by Hon. G. P. Grahau and Hon. Charles Murphy. Obviously, it is the intention to make an important deliverance on the political situation. The general opinion appears to be that the Prime Minister will on that occasion announce whether the general elections are to be held this fall or whether there will be another session of Parliament. In view of all the discussion there has been, and the work done by the parties in preparation for a possible campaign this year, it would perhaps be as well for the Premier to take the people into his confidence. It may be assumed that opinion on their operation as is possible until their actual interpretation in use. It points out, too, some of the wider implications of the document. It was drafted as a project for European security and, as he shows, inextricably bound up with the League on the one hand and the new postulated disarmament conference on the other. It attempts to set up a process of compulsory arbitration with a binding obligation upon the signatories to defend the decision of the arbitral tribunal against the deliberate infraction by one of the parties to the controversy. This is something which no nation has as yet been willing to agree to—though we have, as few of us realize, in the Bryan treaties, clauses which require the preliminary arbitration of every dispute of whatever nature.

Mr. Miller is not afraid to face the conclusions of his analysis. No doubt the plan as at present worked out does "consecrate the status quo" by providing for the outlawry of war and the peaceful settlement of all disputes. That he considers the price to be paid for security against a catastrophe like 1914, adjustments of the present disequilibrium must come from some other source than a war of revenge. That this is a present possibility, Mr. Miller is not so sanguine. It will come to be a reality only by education and experience. "The feeling of security must be planted in the soil, and progress toward disarmament cannot be realized except to the extent that that growth comes. All that can be done now is to make a beginning; if too much is attempted, less will be accomplished. The world must rely on the development of the new idea of the reign of law and reach its feeling of security as that reign succeeds and triumphs.

The protocol of Geneva is one of the most important of modern international documents. This is true whether it comes into force as binding international law, or whether it is a mere moral document, which, while of no legal force, may be called morality, of what may almost be called international religion, which, while of no legal force, may be called morality, of what may almost be called international religion, which, while of no legal force, may be called morality.

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

Aids to Success

If you wish to be both successful and happy, you must get a true perspective, so that you can distinguish between the big and little things of life. You must not waste your energy on little matters; and you must not fail to use all your energy—every last iota of it, when you are confronted with a great opportunity.

Most men—is it not true—build up a life of petty details, as a bricklayer builds a house with 30,000 bricks. This would be correct if they would only put their windows on fire; but the build their lives like houses without windows.

They create lives of routine—eating, sleeping, smoking, working in a routine way and reading the news of the day. Such lives often bring happiness but they never bring success. They bring a lower grade of happiness, a cheap lease of happiness which is often mistaken for gold.

There are times when a man must act like a lion. Also, there are times when he must act like a lion. We must always be on the watch for big opportunities. We must know when to use our reserves.

Great chances come to everyone. They do. But most men keep on with the routine or with some trifling matter and never see the great chances. When, at last, your chance comes, the main thing is to be ready. Too many men realize that when it is too late—when they are members of the "Wish-I-Had Club," to which most of us belong at 40.

Life is partly self-control and partly self-expression. He that has both—each at the right time—will be a happy and successful man.

Nero and Goff. (New York Times.)

Memories of Imperial Rome to be going to destruction are stirred by the report of a party of British Rotarians just back in London after a month's visit to the United States. They could not help observing "the reckless wealth of America and the tremendous life of pleasure." Does this evoke their days in the bath and the circus and their nights in banqueting on nightingales' tongues washed down over their carapace and the barbarians thump at the gates and the farmer sinks into destitution; trifle with rare manuscripts while the masses cry for bread? Not quite. The tremendous life of pleasure has taken modern form. "The American is mad over golf."

Yet his madness has not reached the stage where the life of the nation is scrapped while strong men strive to hole out in 4. On the contrary, the visiting Rotarians observed that production is increasing "enormously" and that prohibition is a great success. If a nation can produce more and more wealth while going mad over golf, there would seem to be but one rational conclusion: More life to golf. Perhaps the lack of reason was one of the causes of the fall of Rome, which declined and fell for so many reasons that one more can do no harm. If Nero had spent on the links some of the many hours he devoted to wine dinners, he might have felt less inclination for burning Rome, assassinating members of his family and writing bad poetry. It is true that his stories of yesterday's game on the links might have bored his courtiers even more dreadfully than his poetry did; but for the empire as a whole the consequences would have been salutary.

The Geneva Protocol. (Boston Transcript.)

The Geneva protocol, temporarily sidetracked by the events of the last six months, is likely again to become the centre of discussion of the security problem in Europe. It is therefore fortunate that so competent an authority, both by experience and training, as David Hunter Miller, should give us a thorough commentary on its legal implications. His "The Protocol of Geneva" (The Macmillan Company, New York) performs that service admirably.

It is essentially a brief on the legal effects of the individual clauses. Mr. Miller takes the protocol by sections and interprets what their effect is likely to be from the legal point of view. His discussion is lucid and brings to bear on each clause as nearly a definate

SNAPSHOT OF A ROBBERY

Detective David S. Groh, of Chicago, forced a band of thieves to admit a series of robberies when, hidden in a building across the street, he snapped this picture of them unloading produce stolen from vegetable farms and delivering it to a "fence." The gang tried to kill, but the camera couldn't lie, and nine convictions resulted.

Four Minutes' Havoc. (Edmonton Journal.) What a bad hailstorm is like, even in this good and comfortable Alberta, is suggested by the following news story from the Sedgewick Sentinel: It just took four minutes on Monday afternoon about five o'clock for the elements in the form of hail, rain and wind, to destroy nearly all the crops on the ground and heads of grain with a strip of territory ranging in width from three to eight miles and extending from Buffalo Lake, near Stettler, nearly to the Saskatchewan border past the town of Wainwright.

Fields of grain in the Killam and Sedgewick districts were levelled to the ground and gardens were demolished beyond recognition. The storm lasted just 21 minutes, and when the sky had cleared there were banks of ice along the roadside and in front of buildings a foot or more high, while on the hillside and summer fallowed fields a white mantle of ice covered the landscape.

All day the sky had a peculiar hazy appearance, and as the storm gathered it grew exceedingly dark, and some people lit their lights. Those parts especially south and southeast of Dayland represent some of the finest crops to be found this year in Alberta, according to an observer who has traveled through many parts of the province this summer.

The hail-out crop will be from 50 to 100 per cent loss with much smaller losses in some cases, some of the owners having insurance. Some of the fields look like a freshly mown meadow, and some farmers are raking up the straw and heads of grain with a hay rake. In order to put it through the threshing machine. Cattle are seen here and there grazing over some of the ruined grain fields.

COMMITTEE RECEIVES $120 FOR MEMORIAL. The war memorial committee will wait a day or two before asking the City Council for the grant to meet the outstanding indebtedness on the memorial. It was said yesterday by one of the committee members that the delay in being made in order that all those who desire to contribute to the fund may have an opportunity to do so. M. Rowan, $10. Deducting the amounts received yesterday there is left $2,113.90 still to be raised by city grant or by subscription.

AUTO INTO RIVER, COUPLE ESCAPE

Fredericton Man and Wife Jump when Car Goes Into Jemseg.

JEMSEG, Aug. 25.—As their automobile plunged through the open draw-bridges across the Jemseg River this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hartley P. Smith, of Fredericton, narrowly escaped drowning. They were approaching the bridge and did not see the danger until they were quite close.

Mrs. Smith jumped out and alighted uninjured, but Mr. Smith as he jumped went over the bridge and was caught on a ledge above the river. He was able to clamber up the side to safety but had been painfully injured.

THIS SUMMER IS BUSIER IN PORT

Best Season in Recent Years With Increased Sailings

Potato, Cattle and Sugar Shipments Swell Total at Saint John.

The summer port business of Saint John for this season has been considerably larger than for any of the recent years. The increase in port traffic is largely due to the numerous and regular sailings to Cuba with potatoes, to the United Kingdom with cattle, and to Upper Canada and Europe with sugar from the local refinery.

While it would be very difficult to make an accurate check-up of the amounts of business in the different summer ports, some idea of the greater volume of port traffic may be obtained from the pilotage figures. They show an increase of $8,706.25 for April, May, June and July, of 1925 over the same months of 1924.

PROBABLY UNSURPASSED.

There have been sailings of 112 steamers and 19 large schooners from this port since May 1, as well as a good number of small schooners and gas schooners in the coastwise trade, and a few steamers plying between Canadian ports. Included in the last category are the Kirkwood line boats from here to the Great Lakes, the coal packets from Nova Scotia and others.

The total foreign tonnage of good sized vessels, including steamers and larger schooners, since May 1 is 241,029, a figure that has very probably not been surpassed. It is said by shipping men of the city that the summer business has been larger than for many years.

DETAILED FIGURES.

Fourteen potato boats have left this port with cargoes for the Cuban market since May 1, and one is due to load here this week. There have been 18 ships sailing with refined sugar during the same time, and 11 extra boats, making a total of 6,834 head of cattle to the United Kingdom. These three items are largely responsible for the increase in business over recent years, the potato and cattle shipments particularly having grown considerably.

In addition to these extra there have been the regular sailings of the Royal Mail Steam Packet boats, the fortnightly Manchester Line service to and from Manchester, the imports of raw sugar for the refinery, the long-hauling vessels, mainly schooners, the America-India line service to India; the coal boats from Nova Scotia; the Eastern Steamship regulars, and freight boats from Boston, and the monthly summer sailings of the Furness line from the United Kingdom.

In all, the summer port trade through the port of Saint John has been increased considerably, and in shipping men's opinion there is every prospect that the new lines who have contributed largely to this result will prove permanent ones.

KEEN COMPETITION FOR LOCAL OARSMEN

Strong Field of Scullers Will Face Starter in Maritime Championships.

HALIFAX, Aug. 25.—Five Saint John oarsmen will seek titles in the annual Maritime rowing championships, to be held on the North West Arm Saturday. Ingraham, Logan, McCavour in the junior singles, and Ward and Glasgow in the senior singles, are the Saint John men already entered.

Against the visitors will be one of the strongest fields to compete in a championship event in recent years. Frank Penny, Frank Lovett and William Taylor will represent Halifax in the junior singles. In the senior race, Alf Scallion, harbor champion; Reg. Hart, who always gave Hilton Belyea a great race and never lost by more than a length and a half; Joe Reardon, local champion, and Arthur O'Connell, last year's junior champion, have entered.

This race will be one of the features of the big programme. Saint John will send over a number of rowing officials, who are responsible for the entrance in the races of the single scullers. All of the four oared events will be confined to Halifax crews, as Saint John was unable to get a four strong enough to give the locals a good race. The junior row race will not be rowed in heats. Two Mic-Mac crews, St. Mary's, Lorne and Jubilee have entered.

Auto Fells Woman, Hits Boy And Damages House; 9 Hurt

LIVERPOOL, N. S., Aug. 25.—A speeding motor-car knocked down Mrs. John Richards, 60, tonight, swerved and struck a boy riding a bicycle and pushed him through the bay window of a house, wrecking the car, the front of the house, and the bicycle. Nine were injured.

The woman was in a critical condition tonight. Six occupants of the car were badly hurt but dangerously, while the boy on the bicycle escaped with a slight cut on the head.

Two women standing on the steps of the house were grazed by the car, but not hurt. George Chandler, of this place, driver of the car, was thrown through the windshield and rendered unconscious from head and chest injuries. He had swerved in a vain attempt to evade the woman who was crossing the street, when he lost control of the car.

Novelist Enjoined Her Not to Destroy Manuscript of Autobiography

Estate Valued About $300,000—Recalls Fortunes of Other People of Letters

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Details of the will of Sir Rider Haggard, famous novelist, are now available. He died on May 14, and left an estate of the value of £21,725, or about $300,000. His will bequeaths to his wife all his literary works, published or unpublished, including all dramatic rights, but impresses on her "the advisability of not making any sale or disposal of them" except after consulting his literary agents, and emphasizes the "inadvisability of out-and-out sale."

FOR CHEAP EDITION. He expresses the wish that the publication of a cheap uniform edition of his books shall be arranged, and he leaves seven instructions with regard to the manuscript of his autobiography, "The Days of My Life." With regard to his work he says: "I enjoin my wife not to destroy such manuscript under any circumstances, and I express the hope and belief that she will reflect well and take sound and expert advice, not only as to when it shall be published, but also as to what passages, if any, should be omitted."

The bequests include £1,000 to his wife, £200 to his son C. A. M. Green, and £1,000 to his secretary, Miss Ida Hector, "as a small and inadequate acknowledgment for her long and faithful service." All his other property he leaves in trust for his three daughters.

Screw in Lungs 40 Years, Is Removed

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Ida Ferguson of Canton, Mass., has recovered from a bronchoscopic operation at the Jefferson Hospital here, where a small screw that had been lodged in her lungs for more than 40 years was removed.

Mrs. Ferguson accidentally swallowed the screw when a child, but, fearing parental chastisement, failed to tell her mother. For the last several years, she said, she suffered regularly from cold in the lungs, but doctors were unable to discover the cause.

At the hospital it was said that Mrs. Ferguson's operation broke all records for the length of time foreign objects had remained in undisturbed captivity prior to their removal by the bronchoscope. Until now the record was held by a man in whose lungs a tack was imbedded for 36 years.

THREE WEEK-END SUICIDES IN TRENTON

Woman Said to Have Been Jealous of Her Husband at Dance.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 25.—Three persons, two girls and a man, committed suicide here during the week-end, two by drowning and the third by gas.

Mrs. Elsie Kistler, 28 years old, was found dead this morning by her husband on the return from a dance at Washington's Crossing. Mrs. Kistler is said to have accompanied him to the dance, and then became jealous when he left her, selecting another partner. She returned home alone during the evening, and was found in bed with a gas tube at her side.

Following a quarrel with his children, the body of Charles Muscarelli, 49, was found in the Delaware River, after several hours of dragging. First intimation of his death came this morning when his clothing was found on the river bank.

The third suicide, Carrie Spahr, had been missing since Thursday night. Her body was found in the Delaware and Hartman Canal in evening. It is believed that a quarrel with her sweetheart led to her death.

SYDNEY, Aug. 25.—Miss Dorothy Spencer, 15, daughter of John Y. Spencer and Mrs. Spencer, 167 Bentick street, was instantly killed in a collision between a freight train and an automobile in Kings Road crossing this afternoon.

Miss Emma MacDonald, 15, is in the City Hospital with concussion of the brain, but will recover. Miss Marie MacDonald, 23, driver of the car, was rendered unconscious, but escaped serious injury.

The car attempted to cross in front of an oncoming train. The locomotive hit the car toward the rear and carried it 20 feet beyond the crossing, leaving it in the ditch a pile of junk. The Spencer girl was instantly killed, receiving a fracture of the skull, a deep cut in the neck, a broken arm, and other injuries.

At an inquest held tonight, the girl driver of the car was exonerated of all responsibility. The jury also found the train crew blameless.

FOR UNIVERSAL 'PHONE SERVICE

Bill to President Urges the Adoption of Standard Methods

HALIFAX, Aug. 25.—That the Telephone Association of Canada would be doing a national work if it brought about the adoption of standard methods of operations and apparatus which would make possible at some future time a universal telephone service, was the point stressed today by C. F. Sisco, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, at the daily business session of the Telephone Association of Canada, which opened its fifth annual convention here yesterday.

STANDARD METHODS. Mr. Sisco quoted the late Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's statement of the telephone, to the effect that the Bell system was founded on the broad lines of one system, one policy and universal service. The speaker stated that in Canada there was not one system or one policy, and he was of the strong conviction that the Telephone Association of Canada might do well to bring about the adoption of the standard methods of operation and apparatus which would make possible at some future time this universal service.

Referring to the proposed continental "all red route" Mr. Sisco spoke of the various problems which would have to be solved before this work could be regarded as an accomplished fact. The problems were so much of an engineering character as of a commercial nature, which arose to a very large extent out of the great expense of unpopulated territory through which the contemplated pole line would have to be built.

Mr. Sisco referred to the fact that the semi-centennial of the invention of the telephone was approaching, and that it was fitting that the achievements of the telephone systems in Canada should be reviewed and compared with those of other countries. The best way of gauging these achievements, said Mr. Sisco, was to study the number of telephones in use for every hundred of population.

11 PER CENT IN CANADA.

In 1921 the Canadian census was 8,736,468. At the end of 1924 there were over 1,000,000 telephones in operation throughout the Dominion of Canada. This worked out at 11 telephones per 100 of population, or 11 per cent, and in respect to development Canada was second only to the United States, the figures of which were 18 1/2 per cent.

"Considering the wide and sparsely settled territory in Canada," said Mr. Sisco, "I think that we have some reason for satisfaction."

GROSS EARNINGS LOW.

"As to the latter, the gross earnings per telephone are lower in Canada than in any other country of which we have record. The gross earnings per telephone for the ending of the fiscal year of 1923 are highest in the Netherlands, which are $61.17; in Great Britain, $38.15; in the United States, $46.46, and in Canada, $43.14.

"The value of the service," Mr. Sisco reminded his hearers, "is so much greater than even the highest rates charged for it that I am inclined to discard the idea that rates have any material effect on development, and, therefore, the answer seems to lie in the methods and standards in use."

Presbytery Meeting Is Off Till Tuesday

Lawyers Admit Telling of Slaying—Refuse to Repeat His Comment. HARTFORD, Aug. 26.—Gerald Chapman in his death cell at the Wethersfield State Prison learned for the first time that his betrayer, Ben Hance, of Easton, Ind., and Mrs. Hance, were slain last week and that his pal "Dutch" Anderson, was being sought as the murderer.

Chapman had a long visit from his lawyer, Frederick J. Groehl, of New York City, and Nathan O. Freedman of Hartford. They admitted informing Chapman of the crime at Muncie and the hunt for Anderson, but declined to repeat Chapman's comment. A report current here that Anderson was in this neighborhood arranging to free Chapman through "fixed" guards was taken as a joke by the attorneys who said they had practically completed their client's appeal and were confident that the Supreme Court next fall would order a new trial.

ARRIVE HERE FOR FAMILY RE-UNION

Sons and Daughters of Late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Nealis Come to Old Home.

The attraction of the old home brought to Saint John yesterday from places widely separated members of a family prominent in the commercial and social life of this city and Fredericton in years gone by. Six children of the late Simon Nealis arrived—four sons and two daughters. Two of the sons were accompanied by their wives, making a party of eight in all. They went to Fredericton today.

Those in the party were Simon J. Nealis, of New Haven; Dr. E. J. Nealis and his wife; of Boston; H. G. Nealis, of Oakland, Cal.; Charles J. Nealis and his wife, of Sacramento, Cal. and Miss Mary and Miss Laura Nealis, of Boston.

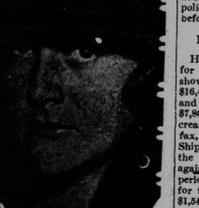

ARRANGED REUNION. Mr. Nealis, their father, kept a clothing business at the Market Square here previous to 1870, and in that year the family removed to Fredericton. Some of the children were born in Saint John and the younger ones in the provincial capital. All have been away from their native province for a good many years, and have prospered. There is another daughter, Mrs. L. E. Hubbard, of Boston, and she has been spending the summer for several years at Oranmore. This season the idea of all coming home for a visit was conceived and correspondence resulted in the arranging of a reunion for the home-coming.

They arrived yesterday on the steamer Governor Dingley from Boston, which city had been chosen as the rendezvous when they made their plans. They made their headquarters at the Admiral Beatty Hotel and spent yesterday in visiting places about the city and in meeting friends of their own days, and some of a previous generation who welcomed them because of memories of the heads of the family.

This morning all will leave for Fredericton by river steamer. They plan to spend some time there and in the vicinity, meeting friends and also at the summer home of their sister in Oranmore. They will be in Saint John again on the way back to the United States. A very hearty welcome was given them by friends whom they met in their scattering around Saint John yesterday.

Pass Resolution on This at Meeting Held in Douglstown

Wildest Pandemonium Reigned During King Solomon-Maloney Bout

Along The Sport Trail

By RAY HANSEN

BEHOLD! The baseball morgue of Saint John is about to be cheated out of several members whose life on the diamond was supposed to have ended years ago.

IT IS AN OPEN SECRET

that the New York Giants are still turning longing glances at a fifth pennant, but judging from their recent series with the Pirates their vision is somewhat blurred by Pittsburg smoke.

MICKY WALKER seems to be slipping a little. While it is true the heavyweight champion had the better of Salter Freedman of Chicago in Monday night's encounter it was anything but a decisive victory.

ONE OF THE biggest comebacks in the major leagues this year is George Sisler. Last year he had a hard time finishing in the 300 class but this year he has been well to the fore and is one of the most consistent hitters in the league.

THE PIRATES evidently have a decided advantage over their ancient rivals the New York Giants judging from the results of their recent five game series in which the smoky city aggregation won four.

Patience King was purchased by Mr. King from the Wilkes stables in Galt, Ont., three years ago. He was still in the green class never having been marked.

Worn Out Bell Was Responsible For Flukey Foul

A SAINT JOHN man just returned after an American trip says the fight on the "Brave" baseball field in Boston last Thursday night, when King Solomon of Panama lost to Maloney, Boston heavyweight by the flukest kind of a foul, was the scene of the wildest pandemonium when the mixup took place.

Maloney Goes Down

The preliminary bouts disclosed the fact that the time-keeper's bell was a poor contraption that sounded like a worn-out sledge of a decrepit street car.

THE noise was deafening and King Solomon stood poised for another attack on his adversary, seemingly dazed by the tumult about his ears.

ATHLETICS AND SENATORS BOTH LOSE GROUND

Mackmen Slump And Leaders Fail To Hit

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—New York fans have turned their major interest once more to an American league battle of thrills and spills between Philadelphia and Washington, separated by but a single game.

The Athletics, in their worst slump of the year yesterday, dropped their sixth game in eight starts to Cleveland, with the score 4 to 3, but the champion Senators were helpless before the pitching of Gaston.

In St. Louis, connecting for only five safeties, and taking the dust of an 8 to 2 defeat. Both teams conclude their western invasion on Sunday. They will then come to a more definite settlement of the dispute in crucial series at Washington, September 1 and 2, and at Philadelphia September 7, 8, and 9.

Braves Stop Pirates

The Pirates, fresh from their sweeping victory over New York, ran into cross currents at Boston, where the Braves, fighting to emerge from the cellar, tossed back the pennant-bound craft, 2 to 1. A Giant cast-off, Jess Barnes, limited the Pittsburg outfit to six hits.

Pulls Gridiron Stunt

The Giants thrust back the challenge of Cincinnati, seven to six, cutting Pittsburg's lead to five games. Russ Young fared up at Picher Donohue after being hit on the arm, with a pitched ball. Young warmed out to the pitcher's box, and aimed a return blow at the hurler, but Umpire Quigley turned the diamond into a temporary gridiron, by locking the Giant player at the knees, lifting him in his arms, and then banishing him from the park along with Donohue.

SANI-BILT

They Looked Alike, But —

No Guarantee!
Guess what was under the covers!

Light vs. Strong Frame

A SHORT time ago we were shown another make of Chesterfield of practically the same style and size and with almost the identical covering of one of our Snyder "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfields. The retailer said he could buy the other Chesterfield at $10 less than ours.

We purchased one of these other Chesterfields ourselves, took it to the factory, cut it to pieces, compared it with our own and this is what we found:—

A Big Difference in Fillings

The other Chesterfield was filled chiefly with cheap, lumpy, dusty, second-hand material. Our "Sani-Bilt" was generously and skilfully stuffed with fresh, clean, sterilized filling, all brand new. The filling alone of our Snyder's "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfield was worth much more than the other.

3 Rows vs. 4 Rows

The other Chesterfield had three rows of springs in the seat. Our "Sani-Bilt" had four rows of springs; 25 per cent. of the cost of the springs had been saved in the other Chesterfield.

The other Chesterfield did not have the springs tied in nearly so securely as our "Sani-Bilt". The "Sani-Bilt" Springs were firmly held in place with heavy cord, so as to prevent sagging or leaning to one side.

The other Chesterfield had a much inferior, cheaper webbing across the bottom of the seat. It made a poor support for the springs, let alone the weight of a couch full of people. Before long, it would most certainly have gone to pieces under the strain. The Snyder's "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfield had a heavier, high-grade, non-stretching Webbing. This heavy Jute Hessian Webbing, as it is called, is stretched to the framework with a generous hem and nailed to stay, and interlocked in basket-weave fashion, so that there is no weakness or slackness, no matter how much weight or strain there is put upon it.

Difference in Mothproofness

The other Chesterfield had some bug poison sprayed on the outside and was called mothproof. Our Snyder's "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfield was given the famous Snyder mothproofing process inside and out, every particle of the fillings and both sides of the covering being made permanently uneatable by moth worms. Moth poison evaporates or wears off in time, but the Snyder process is permanent. It makes a "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfield uneatable by moth worms for all time. Death by starvation is the only permanent protection from moth worms we know of. Our mothproofing process is at the very least, worth $10 more. If moths had got into the other Chesterfield, it would have cost almost the price of a new one to refill, rebuild and recover it.

We have told you these facts to impress upon you that you cannot judge a Chesterfield on outward appearance alone. Two Chesterfields may look just alike, but under the covers may be totally different.

The only way to get real value for your money is to choose a Chesterfield that carries an honest guarantee of its quality. The Snyder "Sani-Bilt" trade mark and guarantee are put there to show our faith in our product and to protect you against cheap, inferior construction. Why take chances on other Chesterfields when you can get guaranteed quality in a "Sani-Bilt"?

Ceremony of Much Interest Today in Centenary Church

Rev. R. G. Fulton Officiates—Colorful Scene as Troth is Plighted.

The marriage of Richard Peniston Starr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Starr, Carleton street, scion of a family long connected with the business and social life of this city, to Marion Ida Cooper Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Henderson of the executive staff of Manchester, Robertson, Allison Ltd., in Centenary Methodist church just before the noon-hour today was the occasion of much social brilliancy and a very pretty ensemble.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. R. G. Fulton performed the ceremony, Miss Hes presided, the organ and during the signing of the register Mrs. L. M. Curran sang "The Touch of Love" to the violin obligato of Mrs. Harold Macneil. The bride was attended first by her sister, Miss Margaret Henderson, as maid of honor, while Misses Ruth Starr, the groom's sister and Ruth Robinson of Robbsey were the bridesmaids. Cecil D. Fitzgerald, formerly of this city but now of Boston supported the groom and the bridesmaid, Mr. Edward, Richard Starr, David Turnbull and Graham Taylor.

LUNCHEON AT HOME

After the ceremony at the church the bridal party and guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mount Pleasant avenue, where luncheon was served. The rooms were prettily decorated in summer blossoms and over the table was suspended a beautiful white rose tied with white satin streamers and chiffon. The staircase and the reception hall was dotted with old-fashioned nosegays and the bridal motif was everywhere. The splendid array of gifts covered a wide range of useful and ornamental articles. The R. P. & W. F. Starrs entertained a large silver-plated; there was another gift of a silver chest, silver and silver, fine china, checks, furnishings and rich furs were included.

HERE FROM PANAMA TO VISIT OLD HOME

Harry Fielding is on Staff of U. S. Protecting Canal Zone.

Among visitors to Saint John this week is Harry Fielding, now of Panama and a member of the U. S. staff protecting the Canal Zone. A few years ago he was a school boy in Saint John and is here for the first time since engaging the U. S. service and going to the tropics. He has much to tell of life and happenings in the district five miles wide on either side of the entire length of the Panama Canal which is under control of the United States, and reflects constant and strict supervision.

The canal does an enormous business, running into millions of dollars monthly, he says, and must be of immeasurable value to commerce throughout the world, though the prevailing language is Spanish.

Mr. Fielding is accompanied by his wife, formerly Senorita Marguerite Villafraza, of Balboa, Costa Rica, and they are guests of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Emms, 247 Douglas avenue.
