LIFE.
Our slender life runs rippling by, and glides,
Into the silent hollow of the past;
What is there that abides,
To make the next age better for the last?
Life seems a jest of fate's contriving,
Only secure in every one's conniving—
A long account of nothings, paid with loss,
Where we, poor puppets jerked by unseen wires,
After one little hour of strut and rave
With all pastboard passions and desires,
Loves, hates, ambitions and immortal fires,
Are tossed pell mell together in the grave.
Ah! there is something here,
Unfathomed by the cynic's sneer—
Something that leaps life's narrow bars,
A seed of sunshine that doth leaven
Our earthly dullness, with the beams of stars
And glorify our clay,
With light from fountains, older than the day.

A BUFFALO HUNT.
It was a calm, beautiful morning in the month of October, that my friend, Bob Morton, and myself mounted our horses and rode up the north bank of the South Platte on a pleasant hunt after buffaloes. You will understand that the Platte River at St. Vrain's makes a great bend—the river above the fort running almost due north, and turning almost due east at the foot. We thought we would ride up the river a few miles, and then striking north-west into the broad open prairie, where we should be most likely to find our game, return by a short cut across the prairie to the fort; though it made little difference to us whether we returned to-night or to-morrow, as we were accustomed to camping out.

We rode up the river until almost noon, seeing many deer and wolves—for one could hardly ride through this tall grass a mile without seeing them—yet, as we were not looking after this kind of game, we paid no attention to them until nearly noon, when feeling somewhat tired and hungry, Bob, who was an excellent shot, made a fine buck; and, dismounting, we killed a most delicious meal on the young tender venison.

Mounting, after dinner, we struck north-west across the broad prairie, where, with the exception of the tall grass, there was not a tree or shrub on all that vast expanse, except along the river bank. It was about four o'clock in the afternoon, just as we were beginning to get discouraged, and we were thinking of turning our horses' heads towards home, when we discovered the object of our search. There were two buffaloes quietly feeding on a little rise of the prairie—the first rise we had discovered since leaving the river. We were now many miles from where we had left the river at noon, but hoped we were not far from the foot by a direct route across the prairie, though we did not know how far, neither of us having been out there before.

"Hurrah, Fred!" exclaimed Bob, putting spurs to his horse and getting excited. "Now for a sport, and buffaloes' tongue for supper!" and away we went at a reckless, breakneck speed. Our game was a long distance off when first discovered, and had disappeared over the rise in the prairie, and was out of sight. We agreed to separate as soon as we reached the top of the ridge, and each take our game, and charge down upon them, and capture both if possible. As we came dashing up to the top of the hill they discovered us, and immediately took to flight. Buffaloes can run very fast, notwithstanding their weight; they seem to gather momentum as they proceed, and are not easily run down. We made our choice immediately, and gave pursuit. My horse was fleet, but the tall grass tangled his feet, and I had a long, hard chase before I came up with my game. I paid no attention to Bob; his game had taken a different direction from mine, and we were soon widely separated.

thus stop him somewhat in his mad career. I brought my rifle to my shoulder quickly; but as I fired, my horse stumbled slightly, his feet having become tangled in the grass and I missed my aim, but struck the beast in the shoulder instead of the heart; and the ball being large, made a terrible wound from which the blood flew in a stream.

This maddened him; and turning quickly, he charged with a terrible half snort, and half rear down upon me. My horse was taken by surprise, and frightened; and in springing partly to one side, as if to turn suddenly and fly away from the mad creature, his feet caught in the tangled grass, and he fell, throwing me many feet over his head.

The fall did not hurt me, and I was on my feet in an instant; but before I could reach my horse he was up and bounding away over the prairie, leaving me to my fate. I had no time to think whether I fancied the situation or not, for the mad bull was upon me almost; and with a look of despair after my flying horse, I ran. I knew not whether, but with an instinct of self-preservation; all this happened in an instant. I had hoped the maddened creature would pursue my horse; but not so—the buffalo knows well who is his worst enemy. I was fleet on foot, for I had run for my life many times; but the tall grass impeded my progress, and I knew I could hold out but a few moments.

I saw not the slightest chance for my life. Here I was, upon this ocean of prairie; Bob was, I knew not where, nor had I time to look; the grass tangling my feet, and taking away my strength, and a wounded buffalo within a few yards of me, and gaining upon me at every bound.

I thought of my revolver, and that I would sell my life as dearly as possible. I always carried it in my belt; and perhaps I could throw it over my shoulder and shoot the bull in the eye. I had no hope of the ball doing him any hurt if it hit him anywhere else; for you must know that these animals always have a thick mass of hair on their forehead, that is so matted together with sand and dirt, that no ball from a rifle will penetrate it. I knew if a ball from my revolver struck his forehead, it would have no more effect than the wind blowing against it.

I put my hand to my belt; but my revolver was gone, the scabbard was empty. It had probably fallen out when I was thrown from my horse. It was with a feeling somewhat of despair that I found it gone. It seemed as if there was nothing but death before me; for how could I escape from, or cope successfully with a wounded buffalo—wounded, as I knew, in no vital part, but sufficiently to madden him?

I could hear more plainly his half grunt and half snort close upon my heels—and could feel his breath upon my back—in another instant he would be upon me—would pierce me with his short, stumpy horns—would grind me to the earth with his monster head, and trample me beneath his feet. I indeed felt that my time had come—that no earthly power could save me; and instinctively I breathed a prayer to Heaven.

At that instant my feet became entangled, and I fell; the maddened creature had just touched me as I went down, and was under such terrible headway that he passed directly over me without touching me. As his tail brushed over my face I grasped it, and was dragged to my feet, as the buffalo stopping suddenly, attempted to turn upon me. But I had a new lease of my life. I held on to his tail with a death-grasp, and was dragged round and round. You may smile, dear reader, but the tail hold was my best hold now, and my only hope of life; and I held on with a grim determination, while the bull wheeled rapidly round and round, roared, snuffed, snorted, and pawed the ground in his terrible rage, but could not shake me off.

But what should I do now? I knew I could not hold on to him long, as my strength was nearly exhausted, having run so far before I fell. I had nothing to kill him with—not even a pen knife.

His wound was bleeding profusely, and my hope was that he might become exhausted first; but he seemed far from that now, while I seemed very near to it. I knew my strength could hold out but little longer; and to let go was certain death. The bull would suddenly take a freak, and run and bellow with all his might, dragging me with velocity—then he would stop, and with a terrific snort attempt to turn on me, and it was more than I could do with my failing strength to keep out of his way, and several times his horns rent my clothing.

This state of things could not continue, I was growing weaker, and felt my hold relaxing. I was jerked hither and thither, my arms nearly pulled from their sockets—worried almost to death, and about to lose my hold—when, as the mad creature paused an instant, the sharp crack of a rifle rang out upon the air, and the huge creature gave one plunge, and fell upon his side in the death-struggle.

I was safe, but it came not a moment too soon. I, too, fell to the ground, more dead than alive. The sequel is soon told. It was Bob who had saved me. He had been more fortunate than I, and after a hard chase, had killed his game, and then looked for me. The first thing he saw was my horse without a rider, and then he discovered me in the distance clinging to the bull's tail for dear life; and putting spurs to his horse, he came to my assistance. It was some time before he could venture to shoot, for fear of hitting me; but he finally succeeded in planting a ball directly in the animal's breast.

After resting, capturing my horse, and securing my revolver, which I easily found where I fell from the horse, we sat down to smoke and relate our adventures.

The Balance of Trade.

There has been much muddying of the waters concerning the exact import of the phrase, "the balance of trade." We think that the whole difficulty in the proper understanding of this phrase grows out of the presumed necessity of applying a cast iron rule of interpretations to every country that has commercial intercourse with the rest of the world. There is however, a vast difference between debtor nations and creditor nations.

The United States is a debtor nation. It owes large sums to other countries for money borrowed for various national, State, municipal, corporation and other purposes. If, now, in addition to owing the debts abroad, it should annually export less than it imports, undoubtedly it would be increasing those debts, and if this course were continued long enough the country would be bankrupted. It is because we have of late been exporting much more merchandise than we have imported, and thus decreased our debts abroad—and our gold shipments, that we say the balance of trade is in our favor, and so it is, for we are paying our debts. Great Britain is a creditor nation. Other nations owe it large sums of money for all sorts of loans and investments. Much of this indebtedness was created generations ago, and some of it of recent creation. In all cases the loans and investment were made from British savings, accumulated by means of her w-admiral industrial policy. If, then, Great Britain should in any one year or in any series of years export less of her manufactured goods than she imports of the raw or manufactured products of other countries, it does not follow, because the balance of trade is nominally against her, that she is thereby growing poorer. Not at all. In the very excess of her imports over her exports may lie her prosperity, for this excess may represent the profits she is receiving upon her investments in foreign countries. Of course the more of her manufactured goods Great Britain can export, the more her commercial prosperity is enhanced; but if her imports also increase the meaning is that her profits are increasing. The above is not the only explanation of the balance of trade problem that might be advanced, but it is the principal one, and for all practical purposes it is sufficient.—Bulletin of I. & S. Assoc.

Annual Ploughing Match of the Charlotte County Agl. Society.

The annual ploughing match of the Charlotte County Agricultural Society was held at the Alma House Farm, St. Andrews, on Tuesday last, the 9th inst. Ten ploughs, well horsed and manned, were on the field. At eleven o'clock, a. m., the signal to start was given, when the work commenced, and continued without interruption until the conclusion. At two o'clock the judges, Messrs. Chas. McQuaid, Wm. Burton and Robert Peacock, examined the work, and reported that considering the state of the ground, consequent from the long continued drouth, the work, though creditable, did not make as good an appearance as it otherwise would have done. Under the circumstances, they considered some of the work done by the boys equally as good as that done by the men. They awarded prizes as follows:—

1st Class—Ploughmen above 25 years.—

Owner of Plough. Ploughman. 1st prize $4

John McFarlane. Self. 1st prize $4

Robt. Stevenson. C. Chapman, 2nd " 3

TERRIBLE CONFLAGRATION IN PORTLAND.

TWO BLOCKS OF BUILDINGS SWEEP AWAY.—
THE METHODIST CHURCH AMONG THE DESTROYED.

The Daily News of Saturday says:—About a quarter to three o'clock this morning or a little later a fire broke out off Maine Street, Portland, which at 4 o'clock had done a great deal of damage.

At present it is impossible to give any positive information regarding the origin of the fire. The fire is supposed to have broken out in McPherson's woodshed, off Acadia street, and it is hinted that it was of incendiary origin.

At three o'clock the entire block, Main street on the North, Chapel street on the South, Acadia street on the East and Portland street on the West, was in flames, destroying a large number of buildings, turning out many business men, and rendering homeless dozens of families.

At four o'clock, the fire fiend took possession of the Portland Methodist Church, Rev. Mr. Ford, pastor. It was situated at the corner of Portland and Chapel streets. Every effort was made to save it, but without avail. First the tower began to smoke, and in about ten minutes after the first flame was seen to issue from it, the place of worship was almost entirely destroyed.

At fifteen minutes past four o'clock the scene was one not soon to be forgotten. Thousands of people were gathered upon Port Howe, looking down upon an immense mass of flame. People who were more interested in the work of the fire king rushed through the streets, almost frantic, sick women were carried from burning buildings and the cries of some of them were indeed pitiful. Mothers were slow to believe that their children were all right and the efforts of many of them to get into dangerous places where they believed their little ones were kept a great many persons were busy in preventing them from losing their lives. Shortly after four o'clock the wind grew stronger. It blew from the North, and sometimes one would almost think that it blew from the N. W. & N. E. at once. The shower of sparks was very great, and these and big pieces of shingles, some not burnt, were carried through the air in a manner calculated to strike terror into the hearts of all.

At ten minutes past four o'clock many persons had a narrow escape with their lives. A large crowd was at the corner of Main and Acadia streets, when the front and side of Mrs. Wood's house fell. The excitement was intense; but it soon subsided, the announcement being speedily made that no one had been dangerously hurt. One man had been struck on the head with a piece of the falling timber, but escaped without serious injury.

At 5:45 o'clock the Temperance Hall Simonds street, was on fire.

The following extracts are taken from Monday's edition of the News—

The Temperance Hall, corner of Simonds and High streets, was the only danger that was feared by the dwellers on the western side of Simonds and the northern side of High, but two streams of water kept the fire down so that the opposite buildings were not ignited, and the fire had to content itself with sweeping down Simonds street to the head of the slip. As the buildings were low, and a considerable space intervened between the lumber piles on the wharves and the last house, the wharves and the vessels in the slip were saved, the pumps of two or three tug-boats aided the engines. Rankine's warehouse caught from sparks, and much of its contents was thrown into the slip before the danger was seen to be over.

Then the engines came around to the edge of Fisher's pond, where woodpiles and board fences were burning, and wharves, lumber and rafts of standard ship timber were endangered, and prevented any further mischief being done.

This was at nine o'clock, the fire having lasted six hours and consumed everything of an inflammable nature on a large portion of the most densely inhabited section of the town.

There were 97 dwellings, the Methodist Church and Temperance Hall consumed, by which about 3000 people were turned into the street. Fifty families are sheltered by the Town and a like number fed by Charity. The St. John Relief Committee are generously extending aid to the Portland sufferers.

A sad feature connected with the fire is that one man named Baxter was burned to death in his house on High Street, and several others are reported to be severely but not fatally burned and injured by falling chimneys.

FIRE IN FREDERICTON.—A fire broke out in Westmorland street, Fredericton, on Monday night last, which destroyed a dozen buildings, and it was by hard work and an abundant supply of water that the city was saved, as a strong wind was blowing at the time. The loss is estimated at $15,000. A suspicion exists that the fire was the work of an incendiary—one of the fire engines had been platted, and it was some time before the engine was ready for work. Eleven families were burned out, but saved their furniture, &c.

The County Court was opened yesterday, by His Honor Judge Stevens.

PORTLAND FIRE.—In another column we have given a condensed account of the fire in Portland on Saturday morning last, copied from the Daily News. It appears that St. John, (for Portland is part and parcel of the City) is doomed to destruction—the loss and suffering is almost unparalleled—upwards of one hundred houses were burned, leaving nearly 3,000 people without houses.

WAR HAS BROKEN OUT IN SOUTHERN AFRICA between the Gallikas and British. Eight thousand Gallikas attacked the British but were repulsed, and 200 killed, only 1 of the British.

The war news from the East is meagre. The Russians have not yet taken Plevna, and the Turks are constructing new interior works.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT ST. JOHN.

A portion of the wall of the Wiggins Building, Princess street, collapsed this forenoon, 20th inst., resulting in the death of one man at least, and the causing of serious injury to others. A wooden building had been erected on Princess street, with its rear resting on the old wall. Shortly before noon, while a number of men and boys were working in the rear of the Walker and McMillan lots, the Wiggins' building wall gave way and brought down the vault with it. The mass of iron and brick came crushing on the unsuspecting workmen. Two boys—Dalton and Sullivan—both, belonging to Portland, were easily extracted, and were found to be only slightly bruised. A lad named Day was horribly mangled, his legs and arms being broken, and his other injuries such that he cannot possibly live. He was removed to the Hospital. It was declared that the other persons were in the ruins, and digging was soon commenced with vigor under the direction of Ald. Wilson and Mr. Willis. In half an hour the body of a man was recovered, and it was taken to the Dead House. Nobody knew his name, even his employer being too excited to remember. Search was now made for a lad named Alex. Gillis, of Indian town, who was missing, and was believed to be covered up with the debris. The digging for these bodies was a very sorrowful sight, especially when the tears and moans of afflicted relatives reached the ears of the spectators.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon a second body was recovered from the ruins. It proved to be that of Alexander Gillis, about 14 years of age. The body was taken to the Dead House.

The man taken out this morning has been identified as James Spinlaw, of Indian town.

The lad Day, who was taken to the Hospital, has died, making the third death resulting from the accident. The boy is a son of Geo. Day, of Indian town.

LOCAL MATTER.

LARGE TURNIPS.—Mr. Edward DeWolfe, among other crops, raised some monstrous turnips of various kinds; the Aberdeen are the largest—one left at this office turned the scale at twenty pounds.

We were favored with the visit of two young ladies in our office the other day, and only hope that such charming girls and excellent customers, may visit the STANDARD office as often as they think fit.

Mrs. Magee will have her Fall and Winter Millinery ready for inspection this week. Annual Fall opening Tuesday next, when she will display a choice assortment of Millinery and Fancy Dry Goods on the counters of her ware-room, for year inspection.

St. Andrews, N. B., Oct. 24th, 1877.

The work of Grading in the Schools was commenced on Monday last, and will continue through this week. The attendance as usual at this time of year is large, and it is probable that all the Schools will be full during the winter term.

The Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Tilley, are at Toronto, visiting his son, Rev. W. Tilley, who was dangerous ill of brain fever. We are happy to learn that the esteemed young clergyman is improving, and that hopes are entertained of his early recovery.

One of the Gleaner staff while shooting on the Miramichi, shot a wild goose, which measured five and half feet from tip to tip of the wings, and three feet five inches from snout to tip of tail.

The music of the "turnip waggons" may be heard daily in the streets; the work of "pulling and snugging" commenced last week, and the crop is an excellent one in quantity and quality. Vessels are being loaded for domestic and foreign markets.

In our last edition we mentioned the arrival of Thomas R. Wheelock, Esq., Mrs. Wheelock, child and servant. They are on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Gove, wife of the Collector of this Port. Mr. Wheelock has resided in Shanghai, China, where he is engaged in a large mercantile business, and it is reported has been very successful. His stay in this country will probably be extended for several months after which he and his family will return to their home in the far East.

A fire took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock on the premises of George Jackson at the Western end of Water Street. The alarm was given and the populace and Engine Company No 2 with their machine and hose reel were early on the spot. The barn in rear and attached to the house was in flames, caught it is reported from some careless children playing with matches. The firemen worked with a will, and after a short time succeeded in putting the fire out; the roof and side of the barn were partially destroyed. Had the house caught fire there would have been great danger of burning chambers being carried to adjoining buildings, as a strong Westerly gale was blowing at the time; happily however, the flames were extinguished, and the damage done is but small.

A terrible Goliath Disaster occurred at High Blantyre, near Glasgow. An explosion in the mine where 400 men were at work, and it is feared they were all suffocated.

Fredericton Brevities.

—The first snow of the season came on Monday and fell quite thickly for a few minutes.

—The "City of Fredericton" has discontinued her trips to Woodstock, the river being too low at present.

—The Steamer "Soulanges" has been repaired and is again on the route between St. John and here.

—The Metropolitan Theatre closed on Friday night last after a very successful season, and have gone to Bangor. Owing to their lease of the City Hall, the Granger Dow Opera Troops were prevented coming here, and the capital thereby missed a rare musical treat.

—The first competition for the ownership of the York County Monthly Challenge Cup came off last week. The competition was confined to the winners in the previous monthly matches. Mr. Master Lipsett was the successful one on this occasion with the handsome score of 87 points—the largest that has been made at the Queen's ranges in the Province this season.

She WANTED WORK.—The Bangor Commercial tells the story of a young woman, name not given, who disguised herself as a man and worked for a Brewer farmer during haying, and since then has worked in Orrington. When her disguise was detected, she gave as her reason that her father being dead, she was obliged to labor for the support of the family, and could get better pay while disguised.

A disastrous fire occurred at Princeton, Me. on the morning of the 18th inst. The alarm was given between one and two o'clock, and to those who first arrived at the scene it was apparent that all the mills on the dam, six in all, were doomed to destruction. The fire originated from an unknown cause in the outer mill, owned by B. Young, Esq., of Calais, and as a north wind prevailed at the time, the flames soon communicated to the other mills on the dam, and all were swept away. The Woolen Factory and the Tannery escaped, and their business will not be interrupted. In addition to the five Lumber Mills and the Grist Mill destroyed, the bridge and a considerable amount of lumber were also burned.

AFTER SITTING BULL.—The Herald's Montana special reports that a courier from the commandant of the Canadian garrison at Fort Walsh reached Gen. Terry on Oct. 1st with information that Sitting Bull and 30 warriors had been induced to go inside the Fort grounds, where it was hoped to detain them until the U. S. Commission arrive. Terry immediately decided to make forced marches, expecting to reach Fort Walsh October 16th; the courier also reports he encountered on route White Bird with twenty-four Nez Percés bucks and three squaws and children who escaped from Joseph's camp during the recent battle. White Bird says during the late battle Sitting Bull declined to assist Joseph. The courier further states that Sitting Bull expresses undying hatred of all Americans. He has, besides his thousands and lodges, about fifty Nez Percés refugees.

LUMBER.—Dealers, mostly, reported a very fair trade transacting in the New York wholesale lumber and timber market last week. A fair number of fresh orders were floating, and sales were readily made of the limited supplies coming in. The building interest continues to steadily improve, and lumber dealers are filling up reduced and broken assortments in anticipation of a good trade during the fall and winter both in the city and from adjacent points. The usual export activity to Europe, South America, West Indies etc., was noted.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Thomas Coram, a much respected resident of Carleton, died suddenly at Digby the other day, while on business for Messrs. Thorne & Co., of this city. Some years ago Mr. Coram was a prominent business man in this community and occupied the position of Alderman for Gay's Ward. Latterly he had been in the employ of Hon. T. R. Jones. He was over seventy-five years of age, and his death, caused by heart disease, will be lamented by a large number of friends.

News.

In refitting the old post office buildings in New York the carpenters discovered that the upper floors were double and were arranged so that detectives could watch the operations of those in the different rooms, who supposed themselves to be alone. The apartments through which the detectives looked were in most cases so small as hardly to be visible from the apartment below.

John Adams, of Boston, has just celebrated his golden wedding at the age of 81. He was captured at sea by the Guerriere in 1812, retaken by the Constitution; then was with letter of marque vessel that took an English schooner, but was captured by an English privateer in her turn and spent some time in several English hulks and prison ships, witnessing the massacre of American prisoners at Dartmoor.

Congress received Tuesday the first message of President Hayes. It is a brief document, devoted wholly to the business to come before the extra session, and making no reference to the state of the country.

The United States, with a population less than that of Germany, has more miles of railroad than Russia, Turkey, Germany, Austria, Great Britain, France and Italy combined—their total mileage being 76,620, while the United States is nearly 80,000.

The Quebec Official Gazette contains an advertisement announcing that the Montreal, Ottawa and Western railway is to be sold by public auction to pay the award and costs of the celebrated expropriation of the stone quarry at the Mile End belonging to Bourgeois and Lamontagne. The award was for $35,000 and the interest and costs amount to about $10,000.

It is not a strange and disquieting thought that thousands of people are at this moment hungry or in dread of hunger in a country which has stored in its granaries 325,000,000 bushels of corn—the yield of a single year?—Sun.

Seizure of Arms in Ireland.

On Tuesday last the police of Cork made a seizure of arms at the house of one Herlihy, a schoolmaster in that city. Some of the weapons bore the name of "Allport" and are supposed to have been carried away when Mr. Allport's shop was entered at the time of the Fenian disturbance; others were Towse-marked, and are alleged to have been stolen during the same movement from the Mallon Militia Barracks, but a few of the pistols found are said to be quite new, one of them having the stamp of a Bath maker. It is this which alone gives any significance to the seizure. If the arms had all been collected ten or twelve years ago, the affair would only excite surprise on the ground that they had so long escaped detection, and are now discovered when the country is so quiet. But the presence of new pistols would seem to indicate that a veritable insurrectionary army may have been brought to light.

The return of so many Irish-Americans during the past two years has possibly been attended by an attempt to revive Fenianism. The police at any rate, are confident that it has. But the Irish peasantry are too well off at present to engage in treasonable designs. —London Spectator, Sept. 20.

Resumption of Specie Payments.

The Tribune says the Committee on Bankers to which the matter of asking the Government to effect an early resumption of specie payments was referred in September, has substantially approved of the Coe plan, by which the banks unite and pledge themselves to furnish the Treasury with all the gold required by Government in redeeming maturing bonds and retiring legal tenders, the conditions being that the Government shall issue to the banks new United States bonds, to be held by the Treasury Department until redeemed either by gold or substitution of United States bonds of any issue or legal tenders. In the meantime national banks will credit the United States Treasury for the whole amount of the bonds purchased, as a gold deposit subject to order. A copy of the plan has been forwarded to Secretary Sherman, and it is proposed to have the banks make a formal offer to the government at once to subscribe fifty millions in gold to new bonds, and have a contract entered into, dated January 1st, 1878, and thus forestall the anticipated legislation opposed to resumption by Congress.

Thursday was a red-letter day in the annals of the Episcopal church of the Diocese of Maine, for that day witnessed the consecration of their cathedral. The eighteenth of October is the festival of the patron saint of the society, after whom the cathedral is named, and it seemed eminently proper that this date should be selected for the occasion. The services were attended by a large number of people, both of the clergy and laity. —Portland Advertiser.

A writ of habeas corpus has been applied for in the case of Ellis, the New York abolitioner, now in prison in St. John and against whom a judgement of $30,000 has been obtained on civil process. No crime, however, within the scope of the Extradition Treaty has been proved against him, and the question of setting him at liberty will be argued the 23d inst.

A modern French writer says:—"A physician, prescribing to a sick man, always reminds me of a child snuffing a candle; it is ten to one but he snuffs it out."

"Whatever made you marry that old woman?" said a mother to her son. "Because you always told me to pick a wife like my mother," was the dutiful reply.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in every form.

H. E. McDONALD & Co.,
Druggists and General Agents, San Francisco, California, and cor. Washington and Charles Sts., New York.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon those various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Stomach, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, &c., &c. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetters, Salt Rheum, Itchiness, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scour, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no cathartics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of Jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use VINEGAR BITTERS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
