Although it is recognized that the apid advancement made by Lord Kited here from Utrecht says that Mr. Kruger is seriously indisposed and chener has not been paralleled since the times of Nelson and Wellington, and that in the course of his life Lord Kitchener is likely to attain to the greatest possible distinction the sovereign can confer, almost all the morning newspapers in London comment upon the grant of £50,000 ($250,000) to

Lord Kitchener as unnecessarily NIGGARDLY. The fact that the Kitchener grant is only £50,000 created considerable discussion in the parliamentary lobbies and some regret was expressed that it was not equal to the award made to Lord Roberts, £100,000 ($500,000). It is known, however, that, during the continuance of the war, the question of granting Lord Kitchener £100,000 was seriously discussed by the authorities but the smaller amount was decided upon on the ground of Lord Kitchener's lesser rank, coupled with the fact that he received £30,000 ($150,000) at the close of the Soudan campaign, and is still a comparatively young, unmarried man, and at the height of his military career, while Lord Roberts is old, has a family, and is not likely to have a further chance to distinguish himself. The report that Lord Kitchener will come home for the coronation of King Edward is incorrect. He still has much to do in South Africa, and it is the chief note in England's reception not likely that he will leave there benot likely that he will leave there be-fore the middle of July. The South African commands will then be divid-uncompromisingly and angrily revived ed, Gen. Lyttleton taking charge of by the Times Monday morning.

from a disastrous flood. All the lower portion of the city is under water, and it is rumored that several lives have been lost. The police have the names of three persons said to have been drowned. Many were rescued in boats. Scores of families were driven from their homes and several buildings were swept away. The damage is estimated at $100,000.

KILLED BY A CAVE-IN. St. Catharines, Ont., June 5.—Yesterday afternoon Thomas Cassin, an employe of the waterworks department, was almost instantly killed. A new main is being laid on Chestnut street. Cassin was at work in the trench, when the gravel bank caved in, crushing him beneath it. He died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital. Cassin was 65 years old; and leaves a wife two sons and two WORKMEN CRUSHED IN TRENCH and leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters. Another man named Over-holt, was injured, but will recover. Three Men Lose Their Lives in AN ELECTRIC CAR STRUCK THEM.

North Brookfield, Mass., June 4.—While engaged in a scuffle or fight last night, at a point between here and Ware, Duncan Michael Haley, of Springfield, and John McEcheran, of Boston, were struck by an electric car on the West Brookfield-Ware line of the Ware. Brookfield and Spencer Railroad, and the first two named were killed. McEcheran was badly injured. SERIOUS AFFRAY AT WINDSOR. Windsor, Ont., June 5.—Angus McLeod and William Dalton became involved in a dispute in the local billiard room yesterday. Dalton approached McLeod, when the latter hit him over the head with a billiard cue, felling him to the floor and rendering him unconscious. Dalton may not recover. McLeod was arrested.

a "double-header," and was running down grade at great speed. Both englines were thrown into the ditch and completely wrecked. Engineer J. M. White and Fireman Fred Taffel, of the forward engine, were thrown under the wreckage and crushed to death. The mail car was thrown across the track, and all of the passenger coaches were ditched. A number of passengers were more or less injured, but so far as can be learned none were killed. The names of the injured passengers have not yet been ascertained. FATAL TORNADO. Plattsville, Wis., June 4.—A tornado struck Louisburg, a small town southwest of here, late yesterday, doing considerable damage to buildings. Edward Ward, a farmer, was killed. Heavy rains caused great damage to crops.

BOILER EXPLOSION. Rome, N.Y., June 5.—The boiler in the Watson Wagon Company's works, at Canastota, blew up at noon and killed George E. Gallaway, the engineer. Owen Thomas, an employe of the company, was fatally scalded.

BOTH DROWNED.

THREE MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES.
Calgary, N.W.T., June 5.—A serious accident occurred on the C. P. R., five miles east of here, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Owing to the recent heavy rains a culvert had become undermined, and an engine with a freight train dashed into the culvert, which gave way, precipitating the train into the water along the track. The engineer and brakeman and Car Inspector J. Corsey were thrown under the engine and pinned there in eight feet of water. The train was telescoped and six freight cars piled on top of the engine. The wrecking crews from east and west are now at work removing the debris, and traffic will be resumed before midnight, and the bodies of the unfortunate men recovered.

DISASTROUS COLLISION. Denver, Colo., June 5.-Rev. Cornelius O'Rourke, a well-known Catholic clergyman, of Silver, Colo., and John McComb, a mining man, whose home is in Denver, were drowned in the Las Animas River, near Durango, Colo., yesterday. The men were breaking horses, and their teams becoming unmanageable, plunged into the river, and both men were drowned. DAUGHTER OF SIR JAMES GRANT

WEDS.

Ottawa, June 5.—Miss Gwendoline Grant, youngest daughter of Sir James Grant, was married this morning to Mr. Harry Cassels, of Montreal. The ceremony was very quiet on account of the recent death of the groom's father. Rev. Dr. Herridge, of St. Andrew's Church, officiated, the ceremony being held at the bride's home. Only intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Cassels left this afternoon for New York.

DISASTROUS COLLISION.

Westchester, Pa., June 5.—A fatal collision occurred on the central division of the Pennsylvania, Wilmington and Baltimore Railway, between a special trainen route from New York to Lincoln University, and an extra freight train. John Hendricks, fireman of the special, was killed. Rev. Dr. Semple, former moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly, was severely bruised. Rev. George Alexander received scalp wounds, and Rev. C. W. Stewart was bruised. Six other passengers were slightly injured.

FATAL FLOOD. PLENTY OF FISH. Sydney, C. B., June 5.—There has been no drift ice on the coast this spring, for the first time within the memory of living men. In former years ice has made its appearance in April, and kept on the coast until late in May, but this year nothing of the kind occurred. This is supposed to be one reason for the early fish season, which set in three weeks before the usual time. The catch has been unprecedented. Over two thousand mackeral were caught in one night at Larders, on the southern shore. Similar reports come from all parts of the coast reports come from all parts of the coast.

London, June 5.-In accordance with King Edward's message to the House of Commons, Mr. A. J. Balfour, in the house today asked for a vote of Leeds and Granville. $250,000 to Lord Kitchener. As a remarkable coincidence, parliament, June 5, three years ago, voted its thanks and $150,000, to the same general for his services in Egypt. Mr. Balfour, in supporting the motion, referred to Lord Kitchener's rapid promotion. He said it had been given to few public servants to compass so much work for their country in so short a time as Lord Kitchener, who, besides being commander-in-chief in South Africa, was commander-in- To the Editor of The Advertiser: chief-designate of India. Balfour concluded with formally moving the vote of £50,000. The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who seconded the motion, paid a warm tribute to Lord Kitchener, as a soldier and statesman.

John Dillon (Irish Nationalist) said that he and his friends absolutely objected to the vote, because they were opposed to the policy of the war in South Africa and the conduct of the campaign, which involved wholesale devastation of the country, the burning of farms and sacrifice of life. SCENE OF DISORDER. During the course of the debate, Wm. Redmond (Irish Nationalist) caused a scene of great disorder by remarking that Lord Kitchener would go down to history as a general who had "made war on women and child-

SHOULD NOT ABANDON IT!

Rectory Street Car Line Should Be Maintained.

Only Cross-Town Line East of Richmond Street-Mr. Bennet's Lotter.

In the excitement of election times a matter which is of very great im-portance to the public, the proposed changes in the street railway service, has been allowed to rest untouched. It is likely, however, that it will be considered by the city council at its next regular meeting, and there are certain things in connection with it which I think the aldermen should consider very seriously before allowing the changes proposed to go through. I believe, and in this I am only one of a very large number of citizens who are of the same opinion, that it would be a decided backward He had erected no fewer than 4,000 step to let the street railway abandon the Rectory street line. The city counduct of the campaign had shown the cil should not forget that this line was not built upon the solicitation of less courage, energy and resolution, the property owners along Rectory and to these qualities Great Britain street, whose property will now be inthe property owners along Rectory jured if they tear it up as they wish to do. If I remember rightly, the newspaper reports published at the time, the matter of laying out the route for the car lines was placed in the hands of a sub-committee. One of the things that this sub-committee insisted upon, in conferences with the railway representatives, was that it should build an eastern belt line. The argument advanced for it was that it was the only cross-town line east of Richmond street, and was necessary to connect the southeastern portion of the city with the central and northern portions. It would be a convenience to the public in several among others, in allowing the residents of the eastern section to get to the north of the city without having to take the long, roundabout Horton street route. The street railway company would not build it on Egerton street as first proposed, but, finally, after a long fight on the part of the council they agreed to build the line on Rectory street. The council then had to go to the trouble and expense of securing the permission of privy council for the construction of a line passing over the Grand Trunk. It is well known that it is a very difficult matter to get this permission from the railway committee of the privy council, and the aldermen who are agreeing to the abandonment of this line should realize that it is highly improbable that similar permission will be again granted, which will mean that London will have no line cross-ing the city east of Richmond street.

There are two arguments put for-"London, June 4.-I have received ward in favor of abandoning Rectory street. The first is that it is necessary to let the street railway company do this in order to get them to build the desired extension elsewhere. I have no wish to keep the service from any portion of the city. The more the city gets the better. But why should the city of London give this sop to the London Street Railway Company? Mr. Meredith, our city solicitor, whose advice was accepted in the past, whether it is now or not. has given his written opinion that the city is entitled to a very considerable extension of trackage, leaving tha Rectory street line alone. engineer says the same. The two men paid by the city to look after its interests in these matters both say that the street railway company should construct the extensions asked, according to their agreement with the city. Then why should the city council not get what the city is entitled to, even if it does inconvenience the London Street Railway Company, instead of giving that company a privilege at the expense of the public, and especially the ratepayers on Rectory street? The other argument in favor of abandoning Rectory street is that it is a dangerous crossing, and that the system is deranged by cars being stopped at the G. T. R. crossing. With proper precaution, this crossing is no more dangerous than any other in the city and in regard to delays being caused there, they could easily be obviated by putting in a switch either immediately north or south of the Grand Trunk tracks. As it is now, a single line runs from the Hamilton road clear through to Dundas street. and cars that are caught at the track frequently have to back to Dundas street if met by another. But this could be done away with by the building of a switch such as I have mentioned. I bring these facts to the attention of the public and the members of the city council in the hope that they may be weighed seriously before the injustice of letting the Rectory street line be abandoned is allowed. Yours ROBERT BENNET.

Messrs. J. M. Douglas & Co., Mon w1: Dear Sirs,-

We have completed the examination of the 108 illustrated and 390 manuscript advertisements of Lee & Perrins' Sauce entered in your competition, and beg to advise you that prizes have been awarded to the following numbers (9 illustrated and 11 manuscript) in the order here

Illustrated-Nos. 4, 25, 42, 40, 66, 43, 22,

Manuscript-Nos. 53, 201, 74, 98, 340, 373, 202, 3, 144, 121, 15. We were somewhat surprised to find nearly one-third of the latter class in rhyme, and among them some of the best, from an advertising point of view. The supreme test of a good advertisement is, of course, its selling power, and to this end it must first attract the attention of the reader, then its matter must be such as to inspire the reader with a desire to use the article. It must be moderate, truthful, convincing, and appeal to the reason as well as to the curiosity of the reader. Many of the contestants seem to have lost sight of these facts entirely.

In many of the advertisements there

these facts entirely.

In many of the advertisements there was an attempt at being smart, which detracted much from the value of the advertisements. Some proclaimed Lee & Perrins' Sauce a cure for all the ills imaginable, with scarcely a word about its merits as a sauce; others made extravagant claims for its civilizing effects upon humanity, but there was a large number of carefully worded, well thought out advertisements, which would decredit to any advertiser, and doubtless many of them will be utilized by you.

On the whole, we consider the contest a very successful one, both as to the number of competitors and the many clever advertisements entered. Yourn truly,

Seven Principal Routes.

It is a well known fact that the C., M. and St. P. Railway system offers a great many different routes between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis. Its main line between those points is especially well known as the route over which runs the famous "Pioneer Limited" and the Government Fast Mail Train.

There are six or seven other routes over a number of which are run through coaches and sleeping cars, which are almost as direct as the principal main line.

These various routes traverse the most interesting and attractive sectoins of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, including the celebrated "Lake Region" of Wisconsin, and cross the Wisconsin River at the famous "Dells," where is the most picturesque scenery in the Northwest. The main line and several others include from 150 to 300 miles of romantic and picturesque scenery along the Mississippi River. On these various lines are located the most important towns and cities in the Northwest. Both one way and special excursion tickets between Chicago, St. Paul and

MERCHANTS MEET IN CONFERENCE

Board of Trade Delegates in Session at Toronto

THE PREFERENTIAL TARIFF

And Other Important Topics Taken Up-"Preference for Preference" Favored.

Toronto, June 5.—Delegates from every important board of trade and chamber of commerce in Canada were present yesterday morning at the opening session of the conference of the commercial interests of the Dominion. Mr. A. E. Ames, of the Toronto Board of Trade, in calling the conference to order, said it was a natural preliminary discussion to that which would be held this summer in London between statesmen from all colonies in regard to imperial trade relations. Canada had no reason to complain of her place in the empire. No element of greatness was lacking. The present conference was not intended to usurp the functions of parliament, but to express the views of business men on questions of trade and commerce, and matters relating to the national wel-

On the motion of Mr. Alex. McFee, of Montreal, Mr. Ames was appointed permanent chairman, and a resolution was passed expressing unbounded satisfaction at the return of peace, and the hope that it would abide during the King's reign. The members rose and sang "God Save the King," after which the notice on the order paper was taken up.

Capt. John Gaskin, of the Kingston Board of Trade, moved that the rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals between Canada and the motherland be reduced to the same figure as the domestic rate. This was agreed to without debate.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF. The debate of the day was precipitated on a resolution presented on be-half of the Montreal Board of Trade by George E. Drummond, to the effect that the conference was of the opinion that Great Britain could serve best the interests of the empire by giving the products of the colonies a preference in her markets as against the products of foreign countries, it being believed that such preference would stimulate trade and develop colonial enterprises, and, moreover, serve to make the colonies attractive not only to the large number of British subjects emigrating annually from the British Isles, but also to the surplus population of other countries, and at the same time benefit Great Britain by largely freeing her from dependence upon foreign countries for her food supplies.

Mr. Drummond said that as long as land gave her colonies a preference food stuffs in fifteen years she would e independent of foreign supplies. The first amendment to the motion vas adopted unanimously. It provided that Sir Wilfrid Laurier be urged to favor a joint British and colonial royal commission to consider the best means to bring about a preference. Mr. George McLagan, of Stratford Board of Trade, offered an amendment as follows: "That the preference between the motherland and the colonies should be voluntary rather than the result of bargaining, and each independent government should consider the interest of its own people first. That it is possible to continue the Canadian tariff preference in its present form or modified, if need be, so that no interest in Canada need suffer thereby, and in the opinion of this conference, Britain would be serving the interest of the empire by adjusting the present tax on foodstuffs and levying any other duties that may be imposed, in such a manner that imports from Canada and the other colonies will have preference over those from other nations when this can be done without sacrifice of British interests. Mr. William Preston, of Stratford, objected to going cap in hand to Great Britain, asking for tariff favors.

Mr. Pattullo, M.P.P., questioned if Canada was prepared to entirely remodel her fiscal system and bind herself to an agreement to a policy of preference. Mr. Robert Munro, of Montreal, stated the original resolution said nothing about making a bargain. Mr. John Russell, Winnipeg, said his own province could, from its 45,-000,000 acres of wheat land, provide all wheat required by Great Britain. The only thing that was needed was peo-Mr. W. J. Ferguson, of Stratford, said the Montreal Board of Trade resolution meant alms seeking. Mr. C. A. Young, Winnipeg, said that Remedy in Tablet Form to by 1905, the Canadian West would furnish as much wheat as is now sent by the United States and Canada to Great Britain. Mr. B. Dumoulin, Quebec, held that care should be taken to see if the proposed arrangement was better than closer trade relations with the United States would be. He rather favored turning to them for better relations. Retaliation for a preference policy would injure Canada. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, of the Imperial Bank, said there was no fear of fur-ther retaliation on the part of the United States. They had done their worst to Canada, and what he feared was that the next endeavor would be to bribe us by free trade or reciprocity to abandon the British preference. He should it come. Mr. F. X. Perrault, Gaspe, Que, and D. Masson, Montreal, favored the re-solution, speaking for French-Canadian businessmen, the latter saying hoped that bribe would be resisted

it simply places responsibility for the ne of the coming conference. Mr. Jacques Bureau, M.P., Three Rivers, thought the Montreal resolu-tion too broad, and Mr. Sanford Evans Winnipeg, feared that the wording might prejudice the case in the English mind. He moved to refer it to committee for amendment. This was lost, as was Stratford's amendment, and the Montreal resolution of preference for preference was adopted. A resolution of the Winnipeg grain exchange was also indorsed asking for a specific preference of colonial grain in Great Britain.

CART BEFORE HORSE

Some Treatments for Dyspepsia Aim at Symptoms, Not at Case.

A Popular Fallacy-The Wrong Method of Treatment and Why It Is Wrong.

One of the recent ideas in the treatment of Dyspepsia is a good example of "How not to do it." This theory says the nerves cause Dyspepsia, therefore cure the Nerves and Dyspepsia will leave. This is like trying to kill a tree by lopping off the top-most branches. The scientific truth is that the diseased Stomach and consequent bad Digestion impoverishes the body and the blood and causes ninety per cent of Nervous Diseases. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Stomach Troubles by Nature's only method. They rest and tone the Stomach and Digestive Organs, and at the same time furnish the body with perfectly digested food to maintain its strength. DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL-GARMENT A man with a broken arm may have nothing whatever the matter with his Nerves, and there is just as much sense in arguing that the healthy Nerves controlling the muscular move ment of an arm, in which the bone is broken, will make the arm do its work all right, as there is in the theory, that by stimulating the Nerves of the broken down and worn-out Stomach and Digestive Organs, you can make them work properly without first repairing them. The impulse to do its work may reach the muscles of that broken arm promptly, and they may make the effort, but instantly the impossibility of exercising it before first completing local repairs is made known by ex cruciating pain in the member. In precisely the same way, would a broken-down, tired-out Stomach fail to respond to the most pronounced impulse of a healthy Nerve, if healthy Nerves were possible with diseased Stemachs, which cannot be.

In both cases the local damage the organs must be repaired before the Nerves can do anything to restore power or produce results. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets rest and repair the tired and worn-out Stomach.

CONGREGATIONAL UNION. Ottawa, June 5.—The Congregational Union, of Ontario and Quebec, opened its annual session here yesterday. Rev. T. Bradley Hyde, of Toronto, presiding. Rev. Principal Hill and Rev. H. Pedley gave report of the Triennial Council of the United States church which they attended as fraternal delegates. Rev. E. C. Wood, missionary to Calcutta, also spoke.

LONDON, ONTARIO. London, Thursday June 5.

Canada's Big Problems.

A very ambitious programme has been mapped out for the conference of the Dominion Boards of Trade, which opened yesterday in Toronto. This enterprising body proposes to handle twenty large questions in two days. These are: Canadian copyright, Canadian insolvency law, commercial depot in London (England), Consular agencies, defense, duty on lead, establishment of customs union with sister colonies, fast steamship service, importation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain, metric system, mineral resources of Canada, newspaper postage between Canada and Great Britain, postal and telegraph communication, railway commission, steamship service for exclusive trade between Great Britain and her colonies, steamship service from Canadian ports, state cable from Canada to Australia, shipbuliding in Canada, trade relations within the empire, trade relations between the colonies.

There is no discourtesy suggesting that the conference has undertaken too much by far. Unless it drops a large portion of the programme, it can only skim over the surface and pronounce on every question in a most perfunctory way, which would rob the proceedings of any weight or authority. The two questions of defense and Imperial trade relations are important enough to occupy the undivided attention of such a body. These are problems on which there are marked differences of opinion, and they should be discussed from every point of view, so that the conclusions may represent the sober judgment of the business community, especially as the deliberations are supposed to be a guide to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the London confer-

A Public Outrage.

The City Council is not showing itself In a favorable light by refusing one business firm privileges which it has granted to another.

The Sifton Company seeks permission to string wires across the public streets for the transmission of electrical power, having contracted to supply several manufacturers. The request is opposed by the London Electric Company, who demand a virtual monopoly of the distribution of electricity in the city. The city solicitor, whose legal opinion has been asked for, informs the Council that it has the power to grant the Sifton Company's request: yet in the face of this, the majority of the aldermen refuse the application. The conduct of the City Council, or at least of the majority of the members, appears to be a public outrage. Surely the users of electrical power in the city are entitled to the benefit of competition. What right have the aldermen to put them in the power of a monopoly? The people are entitled to an explanation from the City Council. It looks as if the influence of a powerful corporation has been exerted only too successfully for the public interests.

Grateful to Her Heroes.

The British Government has lost no time in recognizing Lord Kitchener's services. The ink on the peace treaty is hardly dry before it votes him an earldom and the princely sum of $250,-10. For his conquest of the Soudan he received four years ago a peerage and a grant of $150,000.

Ingratitude to her military heroes is a charge that cannot be laid at England's door. History is full of examples of this national virtue. Blenheim Castle was the country's gift to the great Marlborough, and still stands; as magnificent memorial of public favor. Nelson, for the battle of St. Vincent, received a pension for life of $5,000; for the battle of the Nile $10,-000 a year for life; for the Naples expedition a dukedom and $15,000 a year for life, and had he survived Trafalgar his rewards would have known no bounds. His relatives, after his death, were granted sums aggregating nearly a million dollars. The Duke of Wellington was given £200,000 and a marquisate for his Peninsular campaign of 1812. In 1814 for his series of brilliant victories over the French he received a dukedom and £10,000 a year for life. His share of the prize money after Waterloo was £60,000, and in 1817 the nation presented him with an estate costing £263,000. Coming down to later days, Lord Wolseley has received for his several campaigns money rewards aggregating $200,000, to say nothing of a peerage and decorations galore. Lord Roberts, for his work in South Africa, was made an earl and received $500,000 in cash. These are only a few cases, taken at ran-

It is said that republics are ungrateful. Certainly the United States does not stand comparison with Great Britain in its treatment of martial heroes. Grant, for crushing the rebellion, was given a gold medal and a vote of thanks, though afterwards elected president. He died a poor man. Dewey who destroyed Spain's naval power in the East, was presented with a sword of honor, and a loving-cup. His prize money amounted to about $30,000. Sampson and Schley had to fight in the courts for their share.

The City Council asks for legal advice and then ignores it. The people

From remarks which Sir Michael Hicks-Beach dropped yesterday, it is inferred that the British Government intend to make the interest on the war debt a charge, to some extent, on the mineral wealth of the Transvaal. > The picayune proposal is made to unseat two Liberals, Messrs. Stratton and Pattullo, because ballots were printed (without their knowledge) at the newspaper offices owned by them. The Woodstock Express, which strongly opposed Mr. Pattullo, says that he fought a plucky battle, and that it would be trivial to try to unseat him on a technicality. Mr. Pattullo had over 1,000 majority and Mr. Stratton over 800, so that any attack on their seats could only be for the purpose of annoyance.

THE ORANGEMEN OF THE DOMINION

The Grand Lodge Gathers at Niagara Falls.

TRIBUTE TO LATE G. M. WALLACE

Extracts From Annual Report of Grand Secretary Lockhart-The Growth of the Order.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 4 .- The 73rd annual session of the Grand Lodge of British America convened in the town hall here at 2 o'clock today, the grand master, Dr. Sproule, M.P., presiding. The attendance is one of the largest in the history of the grand lodge.

The grand master's address referred in feeling terms to the death of the late grand master, N. Clarke Wallace, also to the happy termination of the war in South Africa. Special mention was made of the coming coronation of Edward VII. The Orange Mutual Insurance was also dealt with.

PROGRESS OF THE ORDER. Grand Secretary W. M. Lockhart's report says that 29 primary lodge warrants had been issued during the year, eight of which were in Ontario. lodge has been organized at Dawson City. A new provincial grand lodge had been organized for the Northwest Territories. One county lodge had been formed for Rainy River. Two district lodges had been organized—for Cape Breton, N. S., and for Queen's county, P. E. I. Four new lodges of Orange Young Britons had been organized, including one in Toronto and another is Toronto Junction. Five Royal Scarlet dispensations had been issued in Newfoundland. Three ladies' lodges were organized. Eleven primary and one county lodge had been incorporated. The membership of the grand lodge had increased by over 5,000, of which over 2,000 were for Ontario.

MATTERS TO BE OPPOSED. While looking forward to the federation of the British Empire, the lodge is urged to unite to oppose all attempts to alter the coronation oath; to open the throne of Great Britain to a Romanist; to repeal the rights of the act of settlement: to open diplomatic relations with the Vatican; to give increased political power to the Roman Catholic Church or any other.

LEGISLATION FAVORED. And to support legislation for maintaining Protestant supremacy in every branch of the constitution and life of the empire: for the inspection of convents and monastic institutions; and for the adequate protection of their inmates and the inspection of every institution receiving government grants

RE THE NATIONALISTS. The following reference is made to the Irish Nationalists and their visit to Canada: "Since last we met Nationalist members of the British House of Commons appoint a master of the motors, since have been in this country, whose mission was not for the promotion of the best interests of the empire, and who were well received by certain members of our commons, and, it is said, that even the prime minister of this Dominion was too assiduous in his attention to these enemies of the empire. If evidence were wanting of their disloyal sentiments, it is afforded in the cheering of these same gentlemen and their Nationalist supporters in the British House of Commons when it was "What announced that disaster met British had happened was that Americans had arms in South Africa. We certainly should not as loyal citizens remain silent, but should in the very strongest possible manner enter our protest against the recognition of such men. We rejoice to know that while these Nationalists assume to represent Ireland, they do not by any means represent the loyal people of that country, and that there are even among their co-religionists many who are truly loyal, of which they have given evidence in the struggle in South Africa." DEATHS. The report mourns the death of nearly 100 brethren during the year, among them the M. W. G. M. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, "who was known as a sturdy and valiant defender of our principles, and who was ready to forsake any position which would interfere with him in his duty to the association. * * * We will miss him at our annual meetings, but his memory will long be cherished among the Orangemen of the empire, having, as he did, occupied the position of presi-dent of the Imperial Grand Orange Council. A home for the aged and infirm would, in my opinion, be the best memorial that could be erected to his memory. I am quite sure no better monument could be erected."

There was a fair attendance at the market this forenoon, but it was only an ordinary market, with no new features noticeable. Prices were steady in most lines The principal offerings in grain, as usual, were oats; about 20 loads were on sale, bringing $1.36 to $1.38 per cwt. Not much wheat offered; prices, $1.36 to $1.38

Haw and Straw-Twenty-nine loads of haw and Straw—Twenty-mne loads of hay were on the stand; considering the large number of loads offered during the past few days, sales were good, at 88 to $8 50; $9 per ton was paid for choice hay.

Butter and Eggs-Butter is in fair sup-Butter and Eggs—Butter is in fair supply, at prices quoted. A gentleman who is connected with a wealthy New York firm was in the city recently and made arrangements with a local buyer to purchase butter for his firm. Eggs are steady, at 13c per dozen for crate and basket lots, and 14c by the single dozen. Vegetables—A light supply, with prices steady, as per quotations.

Poultry—The supply is fair, at 60c to 75c per pair for spring chickens and 65c to 80c per pair for old hens; live chickens are held at 60c per pair.

are held at 60°c per pair.

Dressed Hogs—Quite a few in, selling at $8.50 to $9 per cwt; only a few obtained the latter figures.

Live Hogs—The prices for next ship-ment could not be obtained. It is likely to be about $6.60 to $6.75 per cwt. Meats—Slow, with no material change in pries from those quoted.

Wool—There has been a lot marketed during the week; prospects are not very bright; nearly all the dealers have large stocks on hand, and unless there is a stocks on hand, and unless there is a change for higher prices, will lose money.

BRITISH DEMAND FOR OUR PRODUCTS

Canada's Ability to Furnish Good Supplies

READY RECOGNITION

Cheese and Butter in Particularly Good Demand-Careful Selection and Packing Requisite.

Ottawa, June 4.-It is learned that when in England recently Prof. Robertson, commissioner of agriculture, interviewed the secretary of state for the colonies, and the secretary of state for war in regard to shipments of Canadian supplies to South Africa for the use of British army. Prof. Robertson was, however, very reticent about the matter when interviewed today by the Globe correspondent. All he would say was: "I found a very ready disposition on the part of the Imperial Government to recognize the ability of Canada to furnish supplies of good quality at reasonable prices. I learned that, on the whole, the hay from Canada gave great satisfaction to those who in that the packers have declared that are using it in South Africa. At the same time, it should be borne in mind that a small lot of inferior quality in any one shipment endangers the repulower than that demanded by the men. tation of the Canadian shippers and of It is as follows: Cart drivers, 18c an all the products from this country. > "Did you have any opportunity during your stay in England of noting the prospects of an increased trade in Canadian food products?"

"Our cheese and butter are in particularly good demand, and the importers are very much pleased with the additional provision which is being made here to improve the conditions under which cheese are cured. Great gratification was also expressed at the steps that are being taken to provide cold Canadian bacon is taking a good place importers of nearly all the foodstuffs are taking a more intelligent interest in our products, and are looking more source of supply. A shipment of again had been contested bitterly by 1,500 chickens from this country was the mobs of strike sympathizers. a pound. I look for a tremendous ncrease of trade in beef and chickens. The latter take a remarkably good place, the only birds to rank with ours being the chickens from France and the south of England. I had good reports concerning eggs from Canada. The value of this trade has grown from $800,000 to about $1,500,000. The cold storage in steamships and our fruit marks act, providing for correct branding and proper packing should insure a great future for our apples. During my stay on the other side I looked into the conditions of the canned goods rade, and I shall give our canners the benefit of what I learned in regard to the selection of raw products and methods of canning, packing and labeling I was called as a witness before the imperial remounts committee to give information regarding the capacity of Canada to furnish horses for the artillery cavalry and mounted infantry. I pointed out that Canada could supply anywhere from 10,000 to 30,000 horses, and that what was needed was a little encouragement in the way of steady buying animals of the right type and sort in order that the farmers might have a standard breed to rear and train

THE PRESS INTERESTED.

Prof. Robertson expressed pleasure at the fact that he had been enabled to meet a great many newspaper men on the other side, and to inform them with respect to Canadian progress and development. The London Morning Post, the Manchester Guardian and the Liverpool Evening Post were among the leading papers which published articles descriptive of Canada's resources. Prof. Robertson hopes to pay a visit to Ohio this month, where school gardens have been in operation for the past four or five years. He desires to learn by a personal visit what is the exact nature of the benefits of the system, as well as the difficulties to be overcome. His expectation is to be able to provide for about 50 school gardens

Life Is Not Safe When Disease Is Allowed to Run Unchecked in Summer.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Gives Marvelous Results When Used in June.

The majority of people, young and old too often allow sickness and disease to follow them into the opening of summer. Some have foul and stagnant blood; some recognize the fact that kidney disease or liver complaint have commenced their quiet but deadly work; some are tormented with the agonies of rheumatism and neuralgia; others are made miserable by dyspepsia, constipation, headache, sleeplessness and nervousness.

Life is not safe when such troubles are permitted to run unchecked. The hot days of summer will aggravate all conditions of weakness and sickness. The ailing and suffering should take advantage of these June days and the life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound to rid themselves of dangers. The work of purifying nerves and fortifying the system is happily done for all who use Paine's Celery Compound. It has made life joyous and happy for tens of thousands in June; it will do the same good work for you, dear reader. Test its virtues today and be convinced.

COUNCIL DENIES FAIR PLAY

Mr. J. R. Shuttleworth Treated With Grave Injustice.

Attempt to Impose Elective Monopoly on the City.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Failing to receive what to me would seem justice and fair treatment at the hands of the city council, I beg to ask if you will permit me to use part of your valuable space to explain my position and correct, if possible, some erroneous ideas which the public may have gathered from previous reports.

Firstly, I have always complained of being overcharged for the power service which has been supplied to me, and when the new company appeared I asked a rate and was quoted $72 per year, with the assurance that as soon as a test was made of the power I was actually using the rate would be reduced, if possible. This was done a few days later, and my rate fixed at $60 per year for what previously had cost me $140, or a saving of $667 per month.

The London manufacturers' committee are very anxious to have manufacturers come to the city but with the backing To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The London manufacturers' committee are very anxious to have manufacturers come to the city, but with the backing of our council they allow one of their members to practically extort from me what is equal to a capital investment of $1,400, to do business in this city. No wonder that manufacturers will avoid London when we have to submit to this unjust monopoly. London when we have to submit to this unjust monopoly.

Secondly, I applied to the council in due form to be allowed to connect to Mr. Sifton's lines, the connecting wires to run from the top of my building to the top of the building opposite, entirely out of everybody's way, and the matter of so great importance to me is referred to a committee of four, with of so great importance to me is referred to a committee of four, with the general council and myself believing that if the city solicitor's report was favorable I should receive my permission immediately. Instead, of this, they use the power given them by having the power company at this meeting and listen to their arguments, which, if the paper reports are correct, I have evidence to show that their statements are incorrect; and moreover, I was not notified to be at the meeting, and had no idea the question was coming up, as they had previously almost indefinitely postponed the consideration. This I consider absolutely unjust treatment, and I desire to know what Mayor Beck thinks poned the consideration. This I consider absolutely unjust treatment, and I desire to know what Mayor Beck thinks of such actions of his committees.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valued space, and feeling sure that when the public know how a couple of blocks are receiving cheap light and power, and the manufacturing interests of the city are hampered, they will demand justice and competition wherever it can be secured.

that warn one to keep his distance. Tread not on the cactus with your heavy shoes even, for the barbed spines will often pierce thick leather; every rider of the plains has had the experience of picking cactus spines from his bare flesh. The mesquit tree, which is a near relative to the honeylocust, is covered with thorns, so that you trespass at your peril; the cat's claw strikes at you as you pass, tearing your clothing and lacerating your skin. Even the agaves and the yuccas, the green foliage of which looks soft enough in the distance, are armed with leaves each of which is a doubleedged sword with a spear point. The leaves of the spreading bunches of beargrass, which covers a thousand desert hills, often the only vegetation to be seen for miles, are so stiff, needle-pointed and rasp-edged that no animal ever ventures to touch them. Even the greasewood and the strange paloverede three-the "green pole" of the Mexicans, a tree with branches, but with almost invisible leaves-while having no spines, yet know well how to protect themselves. order to justify a conviction in such a case, there must be evidence which would place the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. The strongest evidence given was that of the defense. If Milne's story were true, and he went after Hayden with the deliberate purpose of asking for a bribe, then he would be an accomplice. Under the circumstances, said the police magistrate, he could come to no conclusion save that the defendant was not guilty, and he accordingly acquitted him.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy informed an Advertiser reporter that civil suits will at once be entered against the parties who were behind the charge against Hayden.

I found it after a long time—how, I will not harrow you by attempting to describe; I dentity it only by the clothing rings that she wore. I buried it, then began a quest for the body of my child, which I believed I should find in child, which I believed I should find in the cradle where my wife had so secure-ly bound it. I did not dream that it could ever reach a place of safety. I could get no nace of it—no one had seen ing like what I had described, and I finally came to the conclusion that it must have been crushed and destroyed in the mass of debris which had lodged below a bridge and afterwards been con-

With all my energy I threw myself into business, hoping thus to forget in a measure at least, my sorrow. I prospered; everything I undertook brought me abundant profit and year by year I grew rich. But what did it avail me, with no one to lavish it upon? You will have prepare that I might have formthink, perhaps, that I might have formed other ties and made another home for myself, but that I could not do, for my beautiful wife had been all the world to beautiful wife had been all the world to me—her memory was still in my heart— no other woman could have filled her place, no other could have prevented me from mourning continually for her. Fin-ally my health began to fail—lung trou-ble seemed to be undermining my con-stitution. I think I must have injured myself that night when I breasted that turbulent flood, for I was often lame and sore about the chest after it. But I had made money enough to satisfy any reasonable ambition, and I resolved to retire and try to amuse myself by visiting different portions of the world. I visited every state in the union, and during this on of travel a strange mania seized I all at once became impressed with idea that this cradle had not been destroyed as I at first imagined and I destroyed, as I at first imagined, and I began looking for it everywhere I went. For more than two years I roamed over Europe, seeing the best part of it; then, my h failing still more, I resolved to n to America, find some quiet, pleasant place to spend my last days in, and then give up trying to live. Three and then give up trying to live. Three months ago I sailed from Japan to San Francisco, and then determined that I would wend my way leisurely back to Pennsylvania and visit the spot where I had once been so happy. "I reached this city nearly a month ago, when my strength gave out, and I

While riving for a little while, three days came upon some teamsters unloadago, I came upon some teamsters unloading furniture, and saw them deposit on the sidewalk a strangely familiar-looking object. I stopped my carriage and got out to examine it, when, lo! I found it was the very cradle for which I had so long been searching. I knew it by the date, 1771, that had been cut upon the bettom of it."

"How very wonderful that it should ave happened so." Max remarked, feelhave happened so." Max remarked, feeling almost as if he must have been "Of course I purchased it," his father resumed. "I would have given a small fortune for it if I could not have secured it otherwise; but I got it for a mere song and brought it directly here. It has stood beside me ever since, for the most sacred memories cluster ground it.

Of course they are sad, for I have fived over again the horrors of that dreadful trag-edy—I have seen my house go to pieces, those surgand my wife swept out upon those surging waters and lost to me forever. I have seen again my boy sleeping peacefully among his pillows just as his mother had placed him, and then bound him so securely with that strong, new rope; and I have imagined, too, how the cruel waves must have rushed over him. cruel waves must have rushed over him, stealing his little life away, releasing his pure spirit to join his mother, perhaps, just as she entered the portals of heaven. All this has come very vividly before me while I have sat beside this time-honored relic, and the only comforting gleam amid the darkness has been the thought that I should soon join my loved cones beyond the reach of floods and all other ills of life." weary sigh escaped him as he concluded, which told more plainly than words how very sad and hopeless these

"You have been so long known as Maxwell Remington that it would be very awkward for you, as well as for others, to adopt mine now. Remington is not so very different from Wellington, and I am sure I can very easily learn to say 'Max.' I begin to feel sorry now, for the first time, that I am such a wreck," he concluded, gazing wistfully into the handsome face of his manly son.

he concluded gazing wistinity into the handsome face of his manly son.
"Surely you will get better; the weather is becoming milder every day, and we must try to build you up." Max returned, but regarding him anxiously, for he really seemed very feeble.

His heart went out with a mighty yearning toward this cultured man, with his noble face, his magnetic voice, and charm of manner such as he had rarely seen in any one. Now that I have you to lean upon, and to throw around me the arms of filial love and care, I hope I may be permitted to rest a little while in this new relation, and then I shall willingly go home to God and my darling, thanking my Heavenly Father for this evidence of His loving kindness. But Max." he added, with new interest, "I want to see this grand woman who has reared you to such a noble manhood."
"You shall, father, and you rightly designate her as as a 'grand woman,' Max responded, his face lighting. "There are few like her in the world. Whatever I am, aside from the characteristics I am, aside from the world. Whatever I am, aside from the characteristics which I have inherited from you and my own mother, I owe entirely to her. I will bring her to you before another day closes."

He then related the strange story of Mrs. Remington's early misfortunes and bereavement, and the recent remarkable developments which had resulted in the restoration of her daughter.

He also spoke of his approaching marriage with Agnes, and mentioned Mr. riage with Agnes, and mentioned Mr Trowbridge's connection with the family "Trowbridge — Trowbridge!" repeated "Trowbridge - Trowbridge!" repeated

London, June 4 .- The general holiday-making mood of the people arising from the announcement of peace in South Africa and the approaching coronation festivities was exemplified today by the unprecedented muster of the classes and masses at Epsom Downs, for the coronation Derby. Enormous crowds left London (the exodus beginning at daybreak), both by road and rail. Vehicles of every escription, stage coaches, automobiles, words how very sad and hopeless these last few days had been.

Max had been deeply affected by this recital; he had, indeed, been almost moved to tears during the latter portion of it, while he was stricken with wonder by the remarkable circumstances which had brought about this reunion with his father. Surely a wonderful romance was woven about that clumsy, old-fashioned cradle, in which so many of his ancestors had been rocked during their infence, and which been so miracused and princes of Cambridge, Prince and Princess of Charles of Denmark, and the Indian rajahs and their suites, took special trains to the course and received ovations everywhere from the crowds. ARGONAUTS ARE ROWLING FAST. Toronto, Ont., June 4.-The Argonaut. eight, which will try to win the scullyear, did a mile and a half in 7:331/2, which is 111/2 seconds faster than the time made for a mile and a half by the crew that last year won the championship of America for the Argonauts. ARGOS WILL GO TO HENLEY.

Toronto, June 4 .- The Arganauts are assured of making the trip to the Henley regatta. Their work of last week and this gives their supporters and critics every hope of their making a great race for the first rowing event of the world. The crew has been improving steadily, and are now rowing very much faster than any eight in America ever did before. Last year the best the men could do over the Henley course of a mile and a half was 7:45. Yesterday the eight rowed over the distance in perfectly still water in 7:35. This morning, under perfect conditions, the time was still further cut two and a half seconds. The new record, which is 111/2 seconds faster than the crew that won the American championship last summer could row, shows very good work. The eight that will make the trip are: Wright (stroke); MacKenzie, No. 2; Deggan, No. 3; Hamper, No. 4; Mason, No. 5; Parmenter, No. 6; Kent, No. 7 and Hardisty, bow. Bastedo will be coxswain. Doherty and Strange will go along as spare men. The crew will leave on the Niagara boat next Tuesday afternoon and will sail for London on the Germanic. The average weight of the eight is 175, and the average age

PORT HURON AND SARNIA TO GIVE REGATTA.

Port Huron, Mich., June 4.-The Port Huron and Sarnia Yachting Association has re-elected its old officers: Wm. Canham, Port Huron, commodore; Edmund R. Harrington, Port Huron, secretary; Mark Burrows, Sarnia, treasurer. It has decided upon a two days' regatta this coming season. The date chosen for the opening is Labor Day, and a regatta committee appointed of E. R. Harrington, Port Huron; Reuben Moore, St. Clair, and W. B. Ellsworth and Montney Moore, of Sarnia. One of the new features to be added to the regatta this season will be the sailing for trophies to be contested for during the several successive years. Much en-thusiasm was manifested by the local yachtsmen and it was thought that the splendid success of last season's event justified the association in arranging for a two days' regatta this time.

PARR BEAT McMILLAN. Hamilton, June 4.-Jim Parr, the English champion, defeated the California wrestler, Duncan McMillan, at an interesting contest (Graeco-Roman) at the Star Theater Tuesday night. The crowd was small. McMillan won the first fall by the hammerlock, in 11 minutes and 15 seconds. Parr got the second fall in 5 seconds less time. The third bout was exciting and the California looked like a probable winner, but the Englishman was given the decision by Referee Condon in 11 minutes 55 seconds. Parr will sail from New York for England on Friday.

If your little boy or girl comes home with a sore throat, the first thing to do is to rub the throat and chest with Polson's Nerviline. Don't be afraid to use Nerviline freely—a whole bottleful wouldn't burn or blister the tenderest skin. Rub in until all taken up by the pores, and just before the child goes to sleep give him a glass of hot water into which 30 drops of Nerviline has previously been stirred. This is a sure, pleasant and speedy cure. Large bottle, 25 cents. COMMITTEE REPORTS. The board of road directors reported on the letting of tenders for the erection of the Muncey and Walker bridges. In reference to the following motion, "Moved by Councilor Neely seconded by Councilor Murray, that the county commissioner be instructed to examine the bridge opposite lot 18, on. 6, North Dorchester, and the bridge over the stream near Derwent, opposite con. 3, North Dorchester, if found necessary, that the commissioner have them repaired or rebuilt," the board recommended that the Derwent bridge be not assumed by the county, but that it be laid over till such time as the township of North Dorchester complete the deepening and widening of the creek crossing the townline at this point. After considerable discussion, in which most of the members expressed themselves as in favor of the county assuming the bridge at once, the report was referred back to the board, to have the report amended to that effect.

The special committee re bridge over the Aux Sauble River, at the junction of Middlesex, Huron and Lambton counties, reported that the bridge would be of greater benefit to the residents of Lambton than to those of the other two counties. On account of Middlesex's heavy expenditure on bridges this year, the committee recommended that no action be taken till the January session in the mat-ter of paying one-third the cost of the proposed bridge. The library now composes ed and unconscious, and my husband would have to carry me back to bed. "Sometimes I could take no food for four days at a time, and experienced terrible gnawing sensations in the stomach, had bad taste in the mouth and bone, and my heart would palpitate as though it was about to stop beating. My greatest suffering was caused by the dreadful pains in my head, neck and back, and all this was in spite of the best efforts of three

"For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and for a considerable time I have not experienced a headache, or any of the sym-toms mentioned above. From a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh, and weight, until now I am strong and well, do my own housework, walk out for two hours without feeling tired, and am thoroughly 16stored to health. Is it any wonder that words fail to express my gratitude for this remarkable cure? You can use
