

Why is HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

Such a great success, and why is it impossible for other Sarsaparillas and blood purifiers to compete with this great medicine? Because

No Other Sarsaparilla or blood purifier gives as much medicine for the money as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the careful personal supervision of the proprietor in all the details of its preparation, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the merit to secure the confidence of entire communities and hold it year in and year out, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla can produce from actual cures such wonderful statements of relief given to human suffering as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla possesses the Combination, Proportion and Process Peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and which makes Hood's Sarsaparilla in curative effect Peculiar to itself.

No Other Sarsaparilla combines economy and strength as does Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the only preparation of which can truly be said, 100 Doses $1.

No Other Sarsaparilla has effected such remarkable cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla, of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, blood poisoning and all other blood diseases.

No Other Sarsaparilla has equalled Hood's Sarsaparilla in the relief it gives in the severest cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Heartburn, and other stomach disorders.

No Other comes that Tired Feeling, Restores the Appetite, and "Makes the Weak Strong," like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's do not be induced to take any other Hood's Pills cure Biliousness.

Handsome New Sleeping Cars Between New York and Toronto via the West Side Route.

Two of the handsomest sleeping cars that the Western Company have turned out from their Buffalo works are the Crathorne and Gracielac for service on the West Side route through line between New York and Toronto on the West Side.

These cars are vestibuled with platform lighted by gas and have all the modern improvements that have been devised for the comfort of passengers. Walter Raleigh introduced the use of tobacco in Europe centuries ago, but if he could see a Highland kiltie cigar manufacturer, H. McLean & Co., London, he would consider himself one of the greatest of the benefactors. It is five-cent kiltie cigars, superior on the market. No composition is of the choicest nature, the workmanship of the best and the flavor delicious. Try them.

The Chemist and the Explorer. When Stanley returned from his last expedition to Africa he told the world that he had found an inexhaustible supply of rubber trees in the interior of that dark continent. At the time this was intensely interesting, but it has lost very much of its interest since the chemist has made it possible for us to have towels, worsteds and any of the various wool materials from which our clothing is made, rendered perfectly waterproof, without changing either their appearance or the porous nature of the cloth in the slightest degree. Last year gentlemen may now have an outer garment made from material to their taste, which will keep out the rain without their experiencing any of the discomforts produced by a rubber coat.

THE FREE LIBRARY.

Number One Committee Considers This Question

And Recommends That the Mechanics' Institute and Free Library be Amalgamated—The latter to get $100 in the meantime—A Committee Appointed—Civic Salaries—Taxes in Installments.

The much-discussed Free Library question called to the attention of No. 1 Committee yesterday afternoon by a communication from the Free Library Board asking a grant of $500. A deputation was on hand to back up the request.

Mr. Henry Smith gave the committee some information. They had worked hard and had nearly run the length of their line and yet the supply was inadequate. They had 800 volumes, valued at $1,000. Their expenses last year were $150, which had been raised by entertainments, etc. No one under 17 years of age could take out a book without the consent of parents. The money was only wanted for current expenses.

Mr. Joseph Marks followed. They appealed for this library because it was free and because the works were new. The number of young men who came there for practical books to develop their ideas in their trades was astonishing. They were willing that the council should have two representatives on the board, to have a voice in the selection of the books. It would form the nucleus of a general free library in the future.

The Ministerial Association in this matter. Mr. Marks said that Rev. Mr. Rogers was satisfied if it was the same board for the Free Library as that of the Amalgamated Engineers. He could say the personnel was about the same.

Mr. Henry Keene said the Ministerial Association was laboring under a misapprehension when that resolution was passed. In the light of present knowledge the association would not adopt it again. If one individual could be found on the Free Library Board they didn't want the money. The speaker represented the building trade in the board and religiously the Sir John Galt, six thousand books had been sent last year.

Mr. Christopher Thornhill added a few words in support of the library.

Ald. Yates said there should be a good general free library. The Mechanics' Institute had been struggling along and its supporters had been out of pocket because it was not properly encouraged. Was there not a chance of amalgamating the Institute and the Free Library? The former's building was just the place for public convenience.

Mr. Marks said the line the Free Library Board was working on was for a "free" library, simple and free. They would hear of nothing else.

Ald. Yates said he intended that a general library should be free.

Mayor Spencer was willing to go in for a free public library. Was there not a Government grant for such?

Mr. Smith said that there was a Government grant of $1 for every $1 expended by a Mechanics' Institute. There must be a certain number of mechanics in that library, and he doubted if, in this regard, the Mechanics' Institute was entitled to the grant it got. The Free Library had a more valid claim on it.

Ald. Leonard moved that the Free Library be granted $100 for the present year, and in the meantime some scheme be inaugurated to affiliate the two libraries with the object of establishing a general free library. Carried.

Ald. Draney moved that Mayor Spencer, Ald. Yates and Ald. Gortchore be a committee to interview the Mechanics' Institute and Free Library Boards with a view to consolidation. This carried, and the deputation withdrew after thanking the committee.

The communication of the London Trust, asking that some remuneration be paid to the members for their several years' services, the remaining mortgages be sold, and that they be relieved from further duties, was read. It was decided to recommend a grant of $250 each to Chairman J. B. Powell and Secretary Pritchett. The other portions of the request were acceded.

Hitherto the committee has had to consider the individual salaries of city officials very closely. It is a troublesome job. The bylaw will be amended so that the salaries need not be discussed, except when there are special reasons.

It was deemed advisable to permit the city clerk to go to Bradford and other cities heretofore where the system is in operation to investigate the workings of the scheme whereby ratepayers are enabled to pay their taxes in two or three installments. It would be impossible to adopt the plan here until next year.

Moses Cox asked that interest be allowed ratepayers who deposited the required $50 when sewer connections were being made with their houses. No action.

A number of petitions for remission of taxes were considered. An adjustment will be made on certain taxes charged to Chas. Hutchinson in accord with a report by Spencer, Ald. Jeffrey, Yates and Draney and Secretary Pope were present.

One of the sights of the City of Hamilton is the famous old clock, the celebrated "Myrtle Navy" tobacco is made. Some people may suppose that putting up plugs of tobacco must be a very simple matter, but a walk amidst the ponderous and complicated machinery of the establishment would speedily undeceive them. Here are hydraulic presses, screw presses, iron frames, all of enormous strength, besides steam engine and many other pieces of machinery.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the delicacy of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hiccups, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are especially subject.

We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefits she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

TEMPERANCE NEWS.

The Prohibition party has over 800 newspapers advocating its cause.

The Philadelphia Press tells a good story of the late Bishop Doane, of New Jersey, who was strongly opposed to prohibition, and his sideboard was lined with brandy, wine, etc. On one occasion the Rev. Mr. Perkins, of the Sons of Temperance, dined with the bishop, who, pouring out a glass of wine, desired him to drink with him. "Can't do it, bishop. 'Wine is a mocker.'"

"Take a glass of brandy, then." "No. 'Strong drink is raging.'"

By the time the bishop, becoming excited, remarked to Mr. Perkins: "You'll pass the decanter to the gentleman next to you."

"No, bishop, I can't do that. 'Woe unto him that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips.'"

Not long ago the recorder of deeds in Washington received a letter asking if an affidavit to forego the use of liquor could be recorded. A dubious reply was sent. The next day the recorder, a fine-looking gentleman, called and told the deputy that he should feel much safer if it was done, and it was. It is as follows, names omitted: "I, of Washington, D. C., do solemnly promise and declare that I will not, under any circumstances, unless ordered and prescribed by a physician, taste any alcoholic liquors during the remainder of my life; and I do further solemnly promise and declare that I should I break the aforesaid promise and declare that my marriage (soon to take place) to Miss —, also of Washington, D. C., she may then, if she so desires, leave my bed and board, and that I will support her thereafter financially so far as my means may admit of."

Sometimes a person will insult me by asking me which side of the temperance prohibition question I am on. Which side am I on? Well, you go to the drunkards and thieves and gamblers and saloon-keepers and the makers of the cursed stuff and find out which side they are on, and then put me down on the other side. —B. Fay Mills, the evangelist.

Rev. John G. Woolley: Four words answer all arguments. "We must be polite," says one. "Not with my bottle." "It will always be drunk." "Not from my bottle." "Men have a right to drink." "Not from my bottle." "Perhaps the saloon is to go on. I am not bound to abolish it, but only my interest in it. There are 12,000,000 voters in the United States; I'll vote my fraction right, and every time I vote I'll carry my share of the saloon as long as God is alive. That may not do the saloon any harm, but will be good for me. I am not bound to be successful, but I am bound to be true. My vote won't never wrong side up. 'My vote won't count.' Listen: 'Abraham believed God, and it was counted.' Yes, the saloon may go on, like the brook, forever, and men may go on, like the brook, forever, and men may burn their hearts to drink, and bell grow fat on drink; the mistress of the saloon, the priestess may still deprecate of the saloon in either end; senators and representatives may be drunk on the floors of Congress; the soldiers' homes may still sell drink to the old soldiers; the mistress of the White House may brew her famous punch. But not from my bottle.

The trained intellect does not see "men as trees in just measure. The trained temper does not rush at work like a blind bull at a hay-stack, but advances with the calm and deliberate pace of conscious power and the world to new and the future so fresh as to him who has spent the early years of his manhood in striving to understand the deeper problems of science and life, and who has made some headway toward comprehending them. WORDS THAT BURN.

Oh, words of love that are unspoken, You do us glorious wrong, For hearts grow weary, and broken, If silence lasts too long.

Why should not eyes be dim with holding A watch that does not cease, While just beyond their grasp unfolding Love's radiant blooms increase?

"Hearts that are well, no knife can sever," The ancient proverb says; But what if waiting lasts forever, While the pulse that beats forays?

O love, yours is the treasure, lying Red with the stains of rust, Where sweet, and ghosts are vainly sighing Above the bitter dust.

When garden ways with blooms are freighted, Who thinks of winter's snow? Only the souls that are belated, Who think of love and woe.

O love, that "silence may be golden," That had no "tender quiet and olden" Or fountain fed with tears; No wedding chimneys, to music waking, Are given words unsaid.

Nor can you through the silence breaking, Wait gladness to be found. Speak, Love! The oft-repeated story But wins to higher heights of glory Each time that it is told.

And lips are ready for replying With words of love on lips. Speak, Love! For swift the years are flying, And lo, the time is near. —Thos. T. Collier.

A COMFORTER. Vex'd with the trials of a dismal day, I sat me down to rail at God and man, To pour into a bitter venom'd lay, A curse upon a curse, a ban.

Hope seemed to stumble on her weary way, And a dark purpose like a river ran Through my soul and soul. But how, O friend, I pray.

Can long murmur at the snow-fallen plain, When to the haven of his arms there slips A baby daughter robed in snowy white, Who with her prattle on her infant lips Has come to kiss and bid me sweet good-night.

And whispers, cuddling close her precious head, "Sleep, papa, come, put me to bed!" —Robert Loveland, in the June New England Magazine.

A BIG DEAL. $250,000 Paid for a Half Interest in the Trade Mark of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the United States.

The brilliant reputation achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Canada has not only extended to the United States, but has led to an important business transaction. One of the best known American proprietary medicine houses, the head of which is the president of a leading National Bank in New York State, has recently purchased a half interest in the trade mark of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the United States only, for which we understand the consideration was $250,000. This sale is probably the first instance in which an American institution has purchased an interest in a Canadian remedy, and offers the very best proof of the sterling merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as we may be sure the American capitalists, before venturing so large a sum in the half interest, verified the claims made for the remedy. It is a tribute, too, to Canadian medical science, which has brought to perfection this remarkable medicine.

LEGAL QUERIES. SUTHERLAND.—A keeps a bull and B takes his cows to him. Can A make B pay for service to all of the cows or only for those cows which are with calf? A says: It depends upon his contract or agreement. If the price was for service only, then he must pay for all served, but if guaranteed to be effective, then only for those which calf.

INTEREST.—If D gets goods from C, a storekeeper, on credit, can C charge interest on the price of the goods? A says: Not without an agreement to pay interest or unless C makes a demand of payment in writing informing D that interest would be claimed from the date of such demand. Q.—If the bill having run a year or more, and C has rendered the bill two or three times, can C charge interest? A says: No.

SLANDER.—If A says B is a rogue and he can prove it can B sue him for damages or have him fined? A says:—He cannot sue him for slander unless he has sustained and can prove actual damage resulting from the words spoken. He may have him fined on summary proceedings before a justice of the peace for using grossly insulting language if the words were addressed to him personally, and provided there be a by-law in force in the municipality against such offences.

HYDE PARK.—Have hunters a right to run their horses and hounds over farms and through crops whether the farmers are willing or not, and if the dogs follow a fox or hare through a field of grain has a hunter a right to follow them? A says:—Hunters whether on foot or horseback have no right to go over the lands of farmers or any other owners of private property without permission, and in so doing render themselves liable to a civil action of trespass in which substantial damages if the crops were injured by the dogs, or if they did not suffer injury, but were inclosed by fences they are also liable to summary conviction before a justice of the peace under the Petty Trespass Act. The natural level of the ground is not to be made more favorable to the hunt by the fence and even to join in pursuit of the game so that strict legal rights are infrequently asserted.

A Word to Carmen. Mr. William Beach, a champion carman of Australia, gives a word of good advice to carmen. He says: "I have found St. Thomas' Oil of great service in training. For stiffness, cramps, muscular pain and soreness it is invaluable. I always keep a bottle with me. It cures rheumatism."

PIONEER TEA TRADERS.

The Rise and Progress of a Commercial Establishment.

A Peep Into a Model Warehouse in the Forest City.

[From the Toronto Mail of May 2.] The commercial agencies have discovered that 90 per cent. of those who begin business as merchants sooner or later fail. There are three prime factors in producing this result—lack of experience, lack of capital, and carelessness in catering to the wants of customers. Where a merchant is able to avoid these snags, he has a chance to succeed, and he deserves success. The Mail has led the head of the house, the pioneer in the establishment of a purely tea business in Western Canada. That was twenty years ago, when Mr. Marshall, who had become a tea expert in England, where so much of the trade in tea is concentrated, came to Canada and started the business, over which he has exercised a continuous and vigilant supervision. To what an extent the firm's trade increased since then! In 1873 the house consisted of but one or two travelers, and its business was confined to a few counties surrounding London. Today it has travelers all over the Province of Ontario, as well as in Quebec, the Maritime Provinces, and in the far North-west. To expediently supply its customers it was recently compelled to enlarge its warehouses and put in the most approved machinery, that tea reaches the dealer in boxes, and all he has to do is to put it in bags or caddies and send it out. Not so. In these days of progress, merchants doing business in the tea trade must have the aid of mechanical genius before they can market either their tea, coffee or baking powder. The tea mill and mixer which the firm recently purchased, really imported from England is one of the most perfect of its kind in the world. It is a tea dealer some Dundas street warehouse. This mill and mixer, which is used to mix and blend the various grades of tea, is driven by a gas engine, which supplies motor power for the coffee grinding and coffee roasting machines of the firm. There is a baking powder factory; it has machinery capable of preparing 300 pounds every ten minutes. The warehouse is complete in every respect, and its thorough adaptability to the purpose for which it was fitted up enables the firm to transact its ever-increasing trade with order and dispatch. It is something to know, from the frank confession of so old, reliable and successful a tea dealer as the senior member of this well-known firm, just what are the elements that have conduced to its phenomenal success. The long experience of the firm gives it a great advantage over younger houses. Mr. Marshall has spent his lifetime in the business. Nobody can give him points on tea. He cannot be cheated by unscrupulous foreign brokers, and he gets the best that each can buy in the markets of Europe, Asia and America. The firm has special agents looking out for the best of everything that is to be had at the tea marts the world over. It handles no inferior goods. Its teas are absolutely pure. The differences in prices is made by the difference in the date in picking. The firm sells for cash, and thus has no bad debts, necessitating discounts on its business with paying customers. What benefit such a system of trading must be to both buyer and seller! In coffee the same principles are applied. The firm's coffees are what is represented. Being specially imported in berry, and roasted and ground on the premises, they are always fresh and wholesome. The history of a firm doing the enormous business of G. Marshall & Co., after so many years of public service, supplies convincing proof to all doubting ones that it pays a merchant to thoroughly master his business and to invariably keep faith with his customers, and keep an ever-vigilant eye upon means for serving them. This article appeared in the Toronto Mail of Saturday last, and Mr. Marshall is to be congratulated for gaining the praise of the outside press. The standard establishment is well known in the city.

ARM AND HEAD CUT OFF. Terrible Accident in the Tunnel Yard at Sarnia.

SARNIA, June 3.—About 5 o'clock this evening Edward Postle, dentist, 22 years of age, was run over in the tunnel yard by a train, which severed his left arm and head from his body. He was seen to fall across the track by the engineer, who immediately reversed his engine, but there was not sufficient time to avert the terrible accident. Deceased was employed in Detroit, but was here visiting his parents.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, SATURDAY, JUNE 4.

price 10c. The shorts in corn became anxious buyers when the scare came in wheat. The advance was very sharp and strong. July, which opened unchanged at 85c, went flying to 90c; there was a drop of 10c to 80c later, when a final advance to 85c was made. Oats were also stronger and made a gain over yesterday's closing price of 10c per bushel. The advance was a little in the article of lard and pork, but not as high, and this was from the fact that the market was not so active.
