WILL INVITE MR. WHITNEY

Conservative Leader Will Be Asked to Address Convention at Ridgeway Nov 21.

Will Be a Representative Gathering—Earnest Effort to Be Made to Redeem East Kent.

Thursday, November 21st.
The executive gathering of the East Kent Liberal-Conservative Association, which convened at the Hotel Rankin yesterday, decided to make the above date a red-letter day in the political history in that constituency.

At 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon there will be open in the town of Ridgeway the convention which will name the future representative of the district in the Provincial Legislative Assembly.

Every effort will be made to make this gathering the most representative in the history of the riding. J. P. Whitney, leader of the party, or one of his strongest lieutenants, will be present to deliver an address to the open after meeting and a thorough organization be instituted.

It is generally realized now that the people of the Province have come to an earnest realization of the fact that it's time for a change and our colleagues in East Kent purpose making a hearty whole-hearted effort to bring into line with the new and popular regime of Mr. Whitney and his progressive principles.

WIFE BEATER

One of That Lik Received a Severe Lecture at the City Police Court.

People generally go to a ball for pleasure, but an invitation not to go led to a husband being charged with wife-beating in the Chatham police court. The husband was out in the yard talking to a neighbor, when the wife requested him not to go to "The Rag," which is a technical term used in some circles to describe a dance. The male edition of the family told his spouse to "go inside and shut her mouth." One word led to several and a general mix-up resulted, causing the young man to lose his temper and throw his wife down. In the fall she struck her head on the wash-stand.

The wife told her troubles to the policeman, and forthwith the kind officer undertook to assist in punishing the husband who had used his spouse so roughly. The case came up in court this morning. The wife told her story and acknowledged that she, perhaps, had talked too much.

The defendant told his tale, how his wife had called to him not to go to "The Rag," and how he had told her to shut her mouth.

The Judge—Do you expect a woman to shut her mouth?
The defendant—Well, she could make a little peace in the family, anyway.

The Judge—I scarcely know what to do with you. Perhaps I ought to send you to the Central Prison for six months that you might learn to control your temper. I think the way man who will strike a woman, and woman that is delicate, should be punished. You promised to cherish and protect and it is your duty to do so. You are a great big strong man, one of the strongest in the city. You will kill somebody some day. You could easily take that woman in one hand and kill her. You must learn to master your temper or you will some day kill somebody.

The Judge then found Fred Herbert guilty and suspended sentence, holding his father in bonds of $100 for the re-appearance of the wife-beater when called on.

SICK LIST

Dr. Rutherford Thinks the City Papers should Curtail Their List of Personal Items.

"I saw in last night's Banner-News," said Dr. Rutherford to "The Planet" this morning, "a letter from Dr. J. L. Beay, condemning the publishing of trivial little sick notices in the local columns of our city newspapers.

"I quite agree with everything he said in the letters, and would like to see the papers themselves take some action towards preventing these items from appearing in their columns.

"People who are sick one day and well the next should not have themselves brought before the public as dangerously ill. We are only advertising our town as a very unhealthy place, when in reality it is the direct reverse. The doctors, who give the items, in some cases, don't wish to slight the press by withholding any information which they think will interest the public, but it is for the papers themselves to make a rule as to what should go in the papers and what should not.

PROGRESS IN RIDGETOWN

Mayor Graham Talks Enthusiastically of the Town he Represents.

A New Town Hall and Civic Buildings—Additional Industries—Building Operations.

Mayor W. D. Graham, of Ridgeway, was in the Maple City yesterday attending the meeting of the East Kent Liberal-Conservative Association.

Mayor Graham is a comparatively young man of more than ordinary magnetism and forceful personality. He is heartily loyal to the progressive town he represents and in a short chat with "The Planet" warmly extolled the advantages and accomplishments of Ridgeway.

"Our town is rapidly making headway," he declared enthusiastically, "and its rapid growth is very encouraging. We are completing the erection of a large, commodious and modernly equipped civic building will add materially to the town.

Business generally is very satisfactory and encouraging and every now and then we are adding a new industry of more than ordinary pretensions.

"A goodly number of new buildings have gone up and Ridgeway's record shows nothing to be ashamed of."

Alluding to the athletic proclivities of the town Mr. Graham said the game of bowling on the green had taken a popular hold this season and, despite the fall weather, the games were not yet at an end. He related with considerable interest the tale of a stirring contest between two stalwart bowlers, both of whom had passed the three score and ten age limit. Mr. Graham is himself an enthusiastic devotee of the game.

Of this quantity 85,000 tons will have been shipped since the 1st of February of the present year. Four or five consignments are to be sent during the month of November.

MASONIC EVENT.

Rt. W. Bro. Edward Worth, D. D. G. M. for Erie District, No. 1, A. F. & A. M. G. R. C. will hold a Lodge of Instruction in Masonic Hall, Fifth St., on Tuesday, Oct. 29th, as follows:

All Masons in good standing are requested to be present, and it is to be hoped the seating capacity of the hall will be tested on this occasion.

TERRIBLY MANGLED.

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 24.—A shocking fatality occurred at 12.15 a. m. today in the M. C. R. yards at Montrose. Michigan Central Car Inspector Belos Rowe in some unaccountable way was knocked down by a spinning car and terribly mangled. Both legs and one arm were taken off. The unfortunate man was at once taken to the hospital at Niagara Falls, where he passed away within an hour after the accident. Mr. Rowe was 32 years of age, and his home was at Chippewa.

Fish stories are again coming into season since some of the local experts have been going to the mouth of the river. Wm. Ball is an ardent fisherman. He is not inclined to the narrating of fish stories, but when he does, you can rely that it is not only a good one, but that it is true. Mr. Ball was fishing at the mouth of the river one day when he hooked a huge dog fish. On the line were two different baited hooks. The dog-fish took the lower one, and Mr. Ball caught three white bass on the upper hook while he was playing the dog fish. This fresh water shark put up a very game fight and it took some little time to land him, but the bass didn't seem to object to being on the same line with the dog fish.

FRIDAY, OCT. 25.

THE EAST KENT ELECTION.

The Liberal-Conservatives of East Kent did wisely and well. The Planet believes, when they decided at their meeting yesterday not to contest the ensuing bye-election, but to take active and immediate steps to inaugurate an energetic, enthusiastic and successful campaign for the fast approaching general elections.

But little would have been gained by forcing a contest upon the constituency at the present time. There is to be but one more short session to the dying parliament. The general elections are billed for the early spring and our colleagues in East Kent have deemed there can be no better time to fall into line with the new Government that is to be—the exponents of principles for the people, their progress and prosperity. They are right.

But it was both significant and amusing, notwithstanding, to note the exceptional haste developed by the Ross Administration in the issuing of the bye-election writ. The fiat went forth the day following the machine manipulation of the Liberal convention. Desperate straits demand desperate moves.

The enthusiasm and enterprise exhibited at the meeting yesterday in initiating the preparatory work of the big campaign was of the right sort—the sort that precedes victory. The stalwart sons of Liberal-Conservatism in East Kent propose to make themselves felt in the struggle of the people against the corporations and the machine employed to defraud them and to dishonor their Province. In their clean and conscientious battle they will have the whole-souled assistance and support of many of the sturdy exponents of the old and genuine Liberalism, whose integrity has rightly revolted against the methods that have maligned the once honored name.

They will choose a standard-bearer at their convention at Ridgeway on Thursday, Nov. 21, and there will follow a vigorous voluntary rally in the ranks.

We don't blame Mr. Lee, the Liberal candidate, for deciding to withdraw at the dissolution of the present parliament.

AS VIEWED IN RIDGETOWN.

In its report of the recent Liberal convention, in Ridgeway, when the scheduled nomination of Mr. Lee was consummated, the Ridgeway Dominion makes the following pertinent and pithy comments:

Malcolm Campbell, a prosperous Howard farmer and prominent Liberal, had canvassed the riding and up to Friday last was full of hope.

R. L. Gosnell, of Blenheim, a popular Liberal, had been frequently mentioned as a likely man, and his friends had been sounding; and Jonas Gosnell, of Highgate, had had many nice things said to him, and while not regarded as a sure winner it was thought he would have entered the race and likely to trot the first heat tolerably well.

R. P. Wright, of Dresden, was looked upon as a strong man of the north, and Mr. Sturgis had threatened to make things interesting and lively before he would yield the preference to any other man. George Johns, of Bothwell, a stalwart in the ranks of his party, was known to be ambitious. He had been a successful and capable municipal man and was prepared to devote himself unselfishly to the wider field of politics. All the above were anxious and hopeful, and the party were looking forward to a warm but genial contest for the desired honor. But, we do not know what a day or an hour may bring forth. While expectations ran high among the aspirants, a silent, subtle force was working through the executive and the ponderous figure of John Lee loomed up like a nightmare on the party horizon and paralyzed them all but George Johns, of Bothwell, who was not so susceptible to the influence of rumors and refused to believe that the giant of Orford would materialize. He was not to be scared by a spectre, so he stood his ground; but the majority of the delegation had got under the spell of the medium, and for the moment all the other figures were dissolved into thin air, and only that of John Lee stood out until the balloting was done. Then the seance was over. There was no enthusiasm, only a feeling that it was to go that way and it could not be helped.

On the platform, Alex. Smith, the party organizer of Ontario, sat perfectly satisfied, knowing the result in advance.

In groups on the street corners in town all forenoon the delegates could be seen discussing and the word had been passed round that the Government wanted John Lee to stand. This to many was as good as a request to respect the wish of the Government and disheartening to those who would like to have used their personal judgment.

A general feeling was engendered that to offer a nomination that would invite opposition to the favorite of the Government would mean the enmity of the machine and place the rash, presumptions individual among the kickers and disloyal to his party fellows.

Alex. Smith is undoubtedly a slick-aleck.

The machine was well oiled and worked smoothly.

East Kent was treated to a first class exposition of machine methods.

George Johns says, emphatically, that he was up against loaded dice.

The delegates as a whole left the hall feeling that they had been humiliated.

Walter Mills apparently wanted to say something but was promptly choked off.

An attempt was made to placate Mac Campbell by making him chairman of the after meeting.

The delegates slowly reached the conclusion that they had been called together not to select a candidate but to nominate a candidate already selected by the Government and its machine.

George Johns, who is evidently a man of spirit, refused to either move or second a resolution to make Mr. Lee's nomination unanimous.

The piece at the opera house on Monday was well staged by manager Smith and some of the scenic effects may have deceived some of the people, but not all.

"It was a cut-and-dried nomination, engineered by the Government, a loan company, and the conveners of the convention," remarked a well known Blenheim gentleman on descending from the hall.

One of the delegates was heard to declare that if that was a free convention he did not understand the meaning of the word free. The member of the cabinet and the organizer present on the platform, and the transparent fact that they favored Mr. Lee, hampered free discussion and a free choice and made the delegates feel that to oppose Mr. Lee was to put themselves in opposition to the Government.

Mr. George Johns will have his chance at the next Liberal convention.

It will be interesting to see what methods of compromise the "machine" will lay down and enforce in reconciling Mr. Parke and the "one district" of West Kent Liberals admittedly adverse to his nomination.

Liberal Candidate John Lee will not, positively, again seek parliamentary honors. He says so. By-the-way, this is the same Mr. Lee who said he would not, positively, take; or even consider, the Liberal nomination at Ridgeway convention.

We desire respectfully to call the attention of our esteemed contemporary, the local Liberal organ to the fact that Mr. John Lee has made another "positive" statement in connection with his candidature for the next nomination.

The following from the New York Sun is amusing:

Capt. Charlie Barr, skipper of the cup defender Columbia, sailed yesterday for England, to visit his wife and relatives and friends of the other side.

We suppose the Norwegian crew of the Columbia will soon be going home, too, to see their families.

Well, there's one thing fair about it. Mr. Lee's withdrawal from the field after the closing session of parliament will afford that rightful opportunity to the coteries of aspirants whose past services demand recognition. But they won't have it as easy as John.

The royal party left Canada in a snowstorm, and some contemporaries are bewailing the fact, and the "what-will-they-say-in-England" part of it.

Well, we do have snow in Canada and it usually comes in the fall and goes away in the early spring. We do not believe Canadians have any call to be ashamed of it. There are a lot of things a great deal worse than snow in countries that brag about the "salubrity" of their climates. Nature has its compensations in climatic conditions as well as in other respects. For instance, we do not think any sane man would prefer a three-days' dust storm to a nice clean snowstorm, and a good, healthy Canadian winter is preferable to a daily deluge of rain for weeks at a time with an occasional touch of broiling sun until a country is stewing in muck, mud and malaria, and the inhabitants have mildew on their eye-brows. Every country has its drawbacks and Canada has not half as many in comparison as a lot of Canadians appear to think.

WOMAN WENT OVER NIAGARA

Shoots the Big Falls in a Michigan Beer Barrel

First time the feat has ever been accomplished without a funeral as an aftermath.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, 43 years old, went over Niagara Falls on the Canadian side this afternoon and survived, a feat never before accomplished. She made the trip in a barrel. Not only did she survive, but she escaped without a broken bone, her only apparent injuries being a scalp wound, one and a half inches long, a slight concussion of the brain, a shock to her nervous system, and bruises about the body. She was conscious when taken out of the barrel.

The doctors in attendance upon her to-night, said that though she was somewhat hysterical, her condition is not at all serious, and that she probably will be out of bed within a few days.

Mrs. Taylor's trip covered a mile ride through the Canadian rapids before she reached the brink of the precipice. As her barrel passed over the brink it rode at an angle of about 45 degrees on the outer surface of the deluge, and descended as gracefully as a barrel can descend to the white foaming waters, 158 feet below.

True to her calculations, the anvil fastened to the bottom of the barrel kept it downwards, and so it landed. Had it turned over and landed on its head, Mrs. Taylor's head must have been crushed in and her neck broken. The ride through the rapids occupied 18 minutes. It was 4:23 o'clock when the barrel took its leap. It could not be seen as it struck the water below, because of the spray, but in less than half a minute after it passed over the brink it was seen on the surface of the scum-covered water below the falls.

It was carried swiftly down to the green water beyond the scum, then half way to the Maid of the Mist landing it was caught in what is known as the Maid of the Mist today and held there until it floated so close to the shore, that it was reached by means of a pole and hook and drawn up upon the rocks at 4:40 o'clock, or 17 minutes after it shot the cataract. Ten minutes later the woman was lifted from the barrel, and half an hour later she lay on a cot at her boarding place at First street in Niagara Falls on the American side.

She thanked God she was alive, thanked all who had helped her in any way, said she would never do it again, but that she was not sorry she had done it, "if it would help her financially." She said she had prayed during the trip except during "a few moments of unconsciousness just after her descent."

The barrel in which Mrs. Taylor made the journey is 4 1/2 ft. high and about 3 ft. in diameter. A leather harness and cushions inside protected her body. Air was secured through a rubber tube connected with a small opening near the top of the barrel. Bay City, Mich., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, who went over Niagara Falls this afternoon, has been an instructor in dancing and physical culture here for the past two years and a half. She is a widow, about 43 years old, and formerly lived in Auburn, N. Y. Her reason for performing the reckless feat was to advertise herself among theatrical and museum managers. Her barrel was built by a local beer can manufacturer.

ANOTHER BURNING

Terrible Fate of a Negro Who Assaulted a Woman

Columbia, Miss., Oct. 24.—The negro, Bill Morris, who assaulted Mrs. John Ball, at Ball Town, La., was burned at the stake to-day. After being captured he made an effort to implicate others, but they proved their innocence. Morris was taken to the scene of his crime and chained to a pine sapling. His hands and feet were bound to his body. Pine knots and pine straw were piled about the body and saturated with coal oil, and the match applied. The negro made no outcry when the flames first reached him, and only when he was partly consumed did the spectators notice any movement on the part of the wretch. He made no resistance, when being bound to the stake, and said that he deserved his fate. Morris beat his victim on the head with a pine knot and thought he had killed her. Going back to Ball's store he took all the change in the cash drawer. Mrs. Ball, however, recovered consciousness and crawled to her father-in-law's house. He at once gave the alarm, and the neighborhood commenced a search for the negro. He was found at his home, about 10 miles from the scene of the tragedy, and in trying to escape was shot by one of the posse and wounded in the hip.

PLOT AGAINST SHAH'S LIFE

London, October 25.—"News has been received here from Tehran," says a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Daily Mail, "of the discovery of a serious plot against the life of the shah. The leaders of the conspiracy were the shah's two brothers, the grand vizier, Sadr Anzan, and the shah's son-in-law. The two brothers have been banished for life to Ardabil."

Bed Fast.

Read the two sides of this story and then give a verdict on the evidence as to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

WHAT MRS. HAYTER SUFFERED.
"I had been sick for more than a year with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Lucy Hayter of Jacksonville, Fla. "I had tried many doctors, but none did me any good. One doctor said that I never could be cured. I had Bright's Disease. I suffered nearly death at times, had spells the doctors called spasms. Was bed-fast most of the time for six months. My mother begged me to try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

WHAT DR. PIERCE SAID.
"With but little hope I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he said 'he could cure me.' I began to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and although I had given up to die, I began to improve. After the first and by the time I had taken two bottles I was entirely cured. I weigh more than ever before in my life and am entirely well."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., which have their origin in disease of the stomach and its associate organs. Sick persons are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley, will be electrocuted at 7 a. m. on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Auburn prison. Only 25 witnesses will be admitted.

ARCHER GONE

Great British Organist Succumbs to a Cancer of the Stomach

Pittsburg, Oct. 23.—Frederick Archer, the great British organist, who, since 1880, had been a resident of this country, died to-day at his home in this city, of cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Archer had been director of Carnegie Music Hall since 1895, and previously to that time had been organist of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, and of the Church of the Incarnation in New York. In 1887, he was conductor of the Boston Oratorio Society, and founded the Pittsburg Symphony Orchestra in 1896. Two years thereafter he was appointed musical examiner of the University of Toronto, and, during the time of his residence in this city, he officiated as organist of the Church of the Ascension.

In England, where he was born, in 1838, Mr. Archer occupied an eminent place as an organist. He gave 2,000 consecutive recitals in London, all of which were largely attended and highly successful. In 1862 he was appointed organist of St. Clement's church and Merton College Chapel in Oxford, his native city. He was subsequently made organist of the Royal Panopticon and joint conductor with Sir Julius Benedict of the London Vocal Association.

Mr. Archer was a well known and capable contributor to the musical press. Until his death he was the editor of The Keynote, which he founded in 1888.

LEAVE FOR OLD ENGLAND

The Royal Tourists Sail for Home To-day on Board the Ophir.

Interesting and Appropriate Ceremonies at the Newfoundland Capital Marred by Frequent Showers.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 24.—The program of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York was carried out to-day amid frequent rain showers. The royal party landed at 11 o'clock, not any of them wearing uniforms, and drove to the Government House, under an escort of mounted police, through streets lined with sailors and marines from the fleet.

At the Government House, Sir William Whiteway, chairman of the citizens' committee, presented an address of welcome, to which the Duke replied in suitable terms. The Governor of Newfoundland, Sir Cavendish Boyle, then presented the people's gifts—two splendid caribou heads, mounted, for the Duke, and two albums, containing photographs of native scenery, for the Duchess. The women of the colony, through Lady Whiteway, presented the Duchess with a mink carriage rug.

The Duke later laid the commemorative stone of the new court house, and then children, numbering 4,500, in the rink, presented the Duke and Duchess with a Newfoundland dog, harness and cart for the royal children. The Duke thanked them.

The only function this afternoon was a reception by the Duke and Duchess in Government House, which was attended by about 500 persons. When the affair was partly over, it was suspended for a time, as the Duchess became somewhat faint, in consequence, it is understood, of her interesting condition. The reception closed at ten minutes past four.

The royal party then drove to the dock and went on board the Ophir, where the Duke and Duchess rested for a few hours, returning at eight o'clock to attend the state banquet at Government House, and to drive through the city at ten, for a view of the illuminations, which, the weather had improved, were general. At 11 o'clock the Duke and Duchess returned to the Ophir, which will sail for England at daylight to-morrow.

FIEND'S WORK

Attempt to Blow Up a Threshing Machine on a Farm Near Wallacestown

Dutton, Oct. 24.—While Daniel McKay was threshing for John McCallum, north of Wallacestown, a few days ago, some evil disposed person proceeded on the night in question to Mr. McKay's engine and tightened down the safety valve so that the steam would not blow off until it burst the boiler. The valve was set to blow off at 85 pounds pressure.

After threshing for some time the next day Mr. McKay, on glancing at the steam gauge, observed that it registered 150 pounds pressure. Mr. McKay, in trying to adjust matters so as to allow the steam to escape, slipped off the engine, fracturing a knee cap, from the effects of which he was laid up for several days. By heroic efforts he saved his engine, himself and those around him, for the engine would have certainly exploded only for the timely notice and action of his owner. The water gauge was so manipulated as to show plenty of water in the boiler, when there really was not. Mr. McKay's dealings with his fellow men are such that it is surprising that any person or persons would do him such an act.

LOVED EACH OTHER, BUT BOTH WERE MARRIED.

Denver, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Nellie Harder, wife of Philip Harder, a contractor of this city, is dead from morphine poisoning, and W. H. Flanders, a Lyons, Col., hotel man, is in a hospital and may die from the same cause.

"We fixed it up to die together, for we loved each other and could not live apart," said Flanders, who is a married man, after the woman died to-day in his room in the Midland hotel. Should Flanders recover he will be charged with murder.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—There were some 750 head of butchers' cattle, 80 calves and 800 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir yesterday. The butchers were present in large numbers and there was a good demand for all kinds of meat producing animals, excepting for the common and inferior beef critters, which are rather difficult to sell and bring very low figures. Prices of cattle ranged from 1-14 to 4-15c per lb., but very few brought over 3-15c per lb. Pretty good cattle sold at from 3-14 to nearly 4c per lb.; common dry cows and thirty young stock from 2-18 to 3c, and the leaner beasts and small bulls from 1-12c to 2c per lb. Common lambs sold at from 3-14 to 8c each, and good lambs brought 4c per lb. Shippers paid 3c per lb. for good large sheep and the butchers paid from 2-12 to 3c per lb. for the others. Fat hogs sell at about 6c per lb., weighed off the ears.

"Can your wife keep a secret?" "Yes, she has a dozen or so of her friends to help her."

All Eye Pains
Mean Something

Everything isn't right. What it is that is wrong can only be revealed by a careful examination by a competent optician.

We examine eyes carefully—and fit glasses accurately. Call and let us test your eyes. Maybe there is not the least thing wrong with them—but it's a good thing to know that there isn't. And it's a good thing to know that there is. It may seem slight—probably it is slight—but a little right treatment at the right time will save you any amount of annoyance at some future time.

Better let us examine your eyes, it costs nothing.

TRIFLE MIXED

Richard Slagg May Have Looked It But He Wasn't Really in the Camera Business.

Richard Slagg acknowledges being a baker and has some suspicion that he knows one or two things about the duties of a fireman, but as for being a photographer—no one, he thought, would ever accuse him of knowing anything about that business. Yet such are the queer tosses of fate that Mr. Slagg came near being attacked recently for the crime of being a picture taker. The popular maker of cakes and things has no general objection to a man calling him almost anything, and in his day he has been named under many non de plumes, but this was the first time he had ever been accused of a knowledge of photography.

It happened thus: Mr. Slagg was out on his front verandah with a lantern fixing the stove. A wedding was taking place just opposite and the children of the neighborhood were watching the upstairs window and admiring the bride, who was putting on roses—and things. The lads of the neighborhood were enjoying a little sport, making it interesting for the occupants of the wedding residence.

Suddenly a man came across the road in leaps and bounds and, as he saw him come, Mr. Slagg's heart kept company with the actions of the stranger, as he feared lest his boy had been a party to the annoyance caused to the people in the residence where the marriage was about to be. The stranger came right up and thus addressed the man of cakes and cookies:

"Blankity, blank you, are you trying to take a picture of the wedding? We won't have it done," continued the irate wedding guest, who thought he had discovered a kodak fiend, "and (pointing to the stove) you can just take your camera inside."

Mr. Slagg explained everything satisfactorily, but the joke was too good to keep, and if anybody mentions photographer to Mr. Slagg now he breaks out into a broad smile.

BOY INJURED

Ran Away from Home and Jumped from Moving Train.

A boy named Millerton, whose father lives in Dresden, ran away from home some time ago, and Wednesday evening was stealing a ride from Windsor intending to go to Buffalo on the M. C. R. on the tender of the car. When passing through Tilbury at full speed the engine was taking in water and in some way he was sprinkled. He thought that one of the train men had doused him, so he jumped off. He fell right on his back, fracturing his skull and severely lacerating his head. He was attended by Dr. Sharp, of Tilbury, until yesterday when he was brought in to the general hospital, where he was transferred to Dr. McKee's care. The boy claims ill-treatment by his father as the reason for running away from home. On a previous occasion he ran away from home and slept in a barn, freezing one of his legs to such a degree that amputation was necessary. Since then he has had to wear a peg leg.

BRUSH FIRE THE CAUSE.

James Innes, of the Sutherland-Innes Company, has returned from Syracuse, where he has been investigating the recent fire. He reports that the damage to the company's property is slight. The cause was a brush fire which spread to the company's property.

If the wind had not changed the whole of the property would have been destroyed. As it was only one shed, a car loaded with wood and one empty box car, were burned.

Rome, Oct. 24.—The Vatican officials are offended by an article that appeared in the Paris Relai, which declared that a coadjutor to the Pope was necessary owing to the decrepitude of the Pope which places him absolutely under the influence of Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State. Nevertheless, it is rumored that the Pope will never again be able to perform any independent act, and that his life is preserved solely by Dr. Lapini's extraordinary care of him. It is said that His Holiness is subject to continual fainting fits.

BOUGHT QUEEN'S PORTRAIT.

London, Friday, Oct. 25.—The report is confirmed that King Edward has bought Constant's great portrait of Queen Victoria, which will be hung in the dining-room at Windsor Castle. NEGLECT

If the tooth aches the owner goes to a dentist; if the stomach, he goes to the doctor; if his cough hurts he goes to a chiropodist, but if his eye aches he blames it to overwork or perhaps to a cold in the head.

A man in New York who once had good eyesight but turned blind offered $1,000,000 to have his sight restored. We do not know what the diagnosis of the case is, but as the offer has been pending for a long time, and the man is still sightless, we presume he is permanently blind. Perhaps his eyesight could not have been saved, but it is an undeniable fact that many are blind and many others are practically so whose sight could have been preserved by the early attention of a reliable optician. He was like hundreds of other people of the present day and who are troubled with a dull headache, which they blame to overwork, study, or perhaps to being up late the night before. There are others who complain of objects being dull, and again there are people who see specks floating in the air like dust, which is not dust, but eye trouble. These troubles can all be relieved by consulting E. J. MacIntyre, Chatham's reliable optician, who uses all the latest methods for treating these troubles.

Four applications from other business colleges for teachers, is our record for last week. We cannot supply the demand on our school for such help.

We do not place 300 students in positions in one year; neither do any other Canadian College. No ONE Canadian College ever prepared 300 students for office work in one year. These are facts that cannot be contradicted.

We stake our reputation upon EDUCATIONAL RESULTS and will refund the money to any student who is not satisfied with the instruction given in our school, after a trial of one month.

SEASONABLE HINTS.

Guard Your Health in Fall and Early Winter.

A change from warm to cold is always attended with more danger than from cold to a warm temperature, hence the greater mortality from lung and throat diseases at this season of the year, as compared with spring.

The best protection against colds is not so much in extra clothing as in good digestion.

If the digestion and circulation are good, colds will be unknown.

Poor digestion causes poor circulation of the blood and when in this condition severe colds are contracted on the slightest provocation.

People who make a regular practice of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals are free from colds, simply because their health is perfect, the heart strong and regular, and the whole system fortified against disease.

It requires little argument to convince anyone that the best safeguard against colds, pneumonia and changes of temperature is a good stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals are dissolved and mingling with the food, cause it to be promptly digested and assimilated; they do this because they contain nothing but harmless digestive elements, which digest meat, eggs and other food even when the stomach itself is weak and flaccid.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make people well and keep them well, and the best habit you can acquire is to keep daily use of them at meals to make the digestive organs strong and vigorous.

Johnny said: "I don't want it. I should like to wait until I have got to begin all over again."

Chafing and Itching Skin

Annoying Rashes, Inflammations and Irritations Are Soothed, Healed and Cured by the Great Skin Food.

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

There is always mystery and doubt about the action of internal remedies. Time is required for the medicine to take effect. It is different with Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it is applied externally, and you are sure to be relieved in a few hours. Its remarkable change it brings about in a few hours. Its cleansing, soothing, healing action allays inflammation and irritation, removes redness and roughness of the skin, and leaves the skin delightfully smooth, soft and velvety.

Notwithstanding its powerful action in the severest cases of skin diseases, Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used with perfect safety on the most tender skin, and is especially suited for the chafings, itchings and irritations which are so troublesome.

Ladies keep it constantly in their toilet, and mothers who have used it in place of powders for their babies would not think of changing it. It does not clog the pores of the skin, as do powders, and it does not stain the skin, and is pleasant to use.

Mrs. E. Clark, 71 Ingham street, Hamilton, Ont., states: "The results experienced from using Dr. Chase's Ointment on my children for various sores have been satisfactory in the extreme, especially so with baby, now two months old. All the sores, scalding and chafes were removed from the little fellow immediately after using Dr. Chase's Ointment on him, which freed him from pain. It came as a blessing. The cuts and bruises my children were with always disappear before I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment the very best of its kind. I advise mothers to have it in the house always."

Mrs. A. McNight, Kirkwall, Warrington County, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know what Dr. Chase's Ointment has done in a very bad case of eczema on our baby. We had tried any number of cures without any permanent relief, but from the hour we recommended using Dr. Chase's Ointment there was a great relief, and the improvement continued until there was a complete cure. We think it the greatest of family ointments."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard ointment the world over. It relieves promptly and thoroughly all cases of eczema, salt rheum and the most torturing forms of itching skin disease. Sixty cents a box, of all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

A smiling angel sitting high in glory
Heard this shrill wail ring out from purgatory:
"Have mercy, mighty angel; hear my story!"

"I loved, and, blith with passionate love, I fell.
Love brought me down to death and death to hell.
For God is just, and death for sin is well."

"I do not rage against his high decree.
Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be.
But for my love on earth who mourns for me."

"Great Spirit, let me see my love again
And comfort him one hour, and I will gain
To pay a thousand years of fire and pain."

Then said the pitying angel: "Nay! Repeat
That wail woe! Look! The dial finger's bent
Down to the last hour of thy punishment!"

But still she wailed: "I pray thee, let me go!
I cannot rise to peace and leave him so!
Oh, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"

The brass gates ground suddenly ajar,
And upward, joyous, like a rising star,
She rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon down the dying sunset sailing,
And like a wounded bird her pinions trailing,
She fluttered back, with broken hearted wailing.

She sobbed: "I found him by the summer sea
Reclined, his head upon a maiden's knee.
She curled his hair and kissed him. 'Woe is me!'"

She wept: "Now let my punishment begin!
I have been fond and foolish. Let me sin
To expiate my sorrow and my sin."

The angel answered: "Nay, and send; go higher!
To be decreed in your true heart's desire
Was bitterer than a thousand years of fire!"

DYNAMITE AND MINERS.

Long Immunity From Accident Results in Contempt of Danger.

"After a miner had handled dynamite for eight or ten years without a serious mishap it is a good idea to put him to doing something else about the works," said a gentleman of this city who has had a great deal of experience with high explosives. "The chances are a hundred to one that his long immunity from accident has given him such a contempt for danger that he is an unconscious menace to everybody on the premises. He will do things that not only imperil his own life, but the lives of all his comrades."

To give you an illustration, once I had an old Cornishman at work at a mine in which I was interested and had entrusted him with a general supervision of all the blasting. He had been handling dynamite for twenty years or more and was justly regarded as an expert. During that entire period he had never had an accident worth speaking of, and by degrees the care and vigilance that were responsible for his excellent record had worn away until he was beginning to entertain the delusion, common to old hands, that the danger of the stuff was very much exaggerated.

"One day I was passing through a cut where some blasting had been going on and noticed the old Cornishman hammering a drill into what seemed to be a boring in the rock. I asked him what he was doing, and he told me coolly there was a cartridge in the hole that had failed to explode and he was 'just knockin' out the tamper' to re-prime it. I was horrified, for at every blow he was liable to explode the dynamite, and I ordered him sternly to stop and never repeat such a performance. The proper method would have been to have drilled a new hole near by and exploded the first charge with a second blast. He obeyed sullenly, grumbling to himself, and less than a month afterward was blown up while doing exactly the same thing. He lost his left arm at the shoulder, his left eye and part of his left ear. He also lost his contempt for dynamite, and when he finally emerged from the hospital I gave him a more scrupulously careful employee than he was from that time on. It seems a brutal thing to say, but there is nothing that does an old dynamite hand as much good as to get blown up once or twice."

Parental Economy.

"Papa," said Dicky, "all the other boys are going to have torpedoes or firecrackers or something for the Fourth of July. Can't I have anything at all?"

"Dicky," said Mr. Stinley, beckoning mysteriously, "come with me, and I'll show you something."

He took him out to the summer kitchen and showed him a large package, neatly folded and tied with a string.

"There," he said, "are all the paper bags that have been brought into the house for a whole year from grocery stores and other places. I have had your mother save them for you. Every one of them will make as much noise as a firecracker if you fill it with air and pop it right."

It was not exactly what Dicky had set his heart on, but it was all the Fourth of July he got.

Willing to Take Chances.

"So you're going to marry Mike?" said the minister indignantly.

"Yes, minister."

"Are you sure you are not making a mistake?"

"Well," returned the cook thoughtfully, "he's not the best man in the world, to be sure, but if I have him go how I've been thinkin' about it. I don't look like I'm right and proper to take what ye kin git when ye kin git it. Them that holds off for the big prize has been known to lose the little wans. I think I'll take Mike."

The Usual Way.

"Do you expect to realize a fortune from your latest invention?" asked the capitalist.

"No," said the inventor. "I don't really expect to. I had some hopes, but I suppose it will be the usual programme. I'll imagine the fortune and some one else will realize it."

A SALE OF WARTS.

One Juvenile Transaction That Seemed to Confirm a Theory.

"This theory," said the traveling man, "that warts will go away when you stop thinking about them may have something in it, and I am inclined to have faith in it. I know from actual observation that warts can be transferred and will give you the case in point."

"I was buying a newspaper when I noticed that the hands of the newsboy were covered with warts. His stand was within a block of my house, but I am away so much the little fellow did not know me by name. I said to him: 'You should get some one to charm away those warts; that being the method of getting rid of them when I was a boy.'"

"They ain't mine now," he said. "I sold them last week to Teddie Stearns, and they'll all go to him."

"Now, Teddie Stearns is my own boy, and I did not like to think of his smooth, chubby hands being disfigured with warts, and we did not live in a wart atmosphere. They belong more exclusively to the barefoot boy with check of tan conditions. I had been such myself. When I went home, I called my boy to me and looked with some anxiety at his hands. They were as clean and white as a girl's."

"What is it, papa?" he asked curiously.

"I am looking for warts," "Oh," he drew a long, delighted breath, "there ain't any yet, but they're sure to come, for I bought them from 'Carrotty Mike' for a pin. He says I'm sure to get 'em. Ain't you glad?"

"Glad! I could have cried, and I believe his mother did cry. But that blamed little cub said he wouldn't be a tenderfoot, and he would have warts."

I read the riot act to him and went away for a month's trip, and when I came back he was as proud as Punch. His hands had grown a crop of warts that disconcerted anything I ever saw in that line. I hunted up 'Carrotty Mike,' and would you believe it, there wasn't a wart on his hands! He had transferred them all to my boy."

The Proofreader.

An anonymous writer in the American Printer of New York says: "The ideal proofreader for a small printshop ought to be an accomplished printer, a sensible person, a person understanding the scope and limitations of the English language, one comprehending the true office of punctuation one with a keen and true appreciation of literature, a storehouse of exact knowledge, a perfect grammarian, a perfect speller and with a fund of humor sufficient to enable him to do his whole duty along these various lines without making for an early grave. If he does not really know everything, he ought assuredly to be able to scent out an error and to know how to get at a truth. If he reads the proofs for a weekly newspaper, he ought to know all about local affairs and all about the town or city in order to prevent the reported marriage of the girl who merely acted as bridesmaid and untangle the mixed topography of the reporters' articles."

Henry Ward Beecher's Wit.

On one occasion Mr. Beecher was in the midst of an impassioned speech some one attempted to interrupt him by suddenly crowing like a cock. The orator, however, was equal to the occasion. He stopped, listened till the crowing ceased, and then, with a look of surprise, pulled out his watch. "Morning already!" said. "My watch is only at 10. But there can be no mistake about it. The instincts of the lower animals are infallible."

There was a roar of laughter. The "lower animals" in the gallery collapsed, and Mr. Beecher was able to resume as if nothing had occurred.

Don't Drink During Meals.

Be careful to limit the amount of water and fluids which you take during meals, since large quantities of these, especially ice water, hinder digestion. Not more than one glass of water should be taken during each meal. In order to quench the thirst which is so apt to clamor for water at meals an eminent authority suggests taking a glass of hot water fifteen or thirty minutes before meals. This acts especially well in the morning, as it cleanses the stomach.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Polson's Nerveine Cures Rheumatism

The remarkable strength and marvellous soothing power of Nerveine renders it quite infallible in rheumatism. Five times stronger than any other remedy, its penetrating power enables it to reach the source of the pain and drive out the disease. Nerveine is stronger, more penetrating, more highly pain-subduing in its action than any other medicine heretofore devised for the cure of rheumatism. Sold in large 25 cent bottles everywhere.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures radically—that is, it removes the roots of disease. That's better than lopping the branches.

WORD WAGER

Guests at the Hotel Merrill Have Been Engaged in Discussion on the Usage of English.

To the Editor of The Planet:
Dear Sir,—There is a very strong argument between two of Chatham's most prominent citizens and a large sum of money placed in my hands as a wager by each of the two citizens. Will you please decide which of the two is correct in the argument, so as I can relieve my pockets of the heavy burden to the winner.

One bets that the word "Fiasco" in the following is correct; the other bets it is not the proper word to use in such an expression. I enclose the writing written by one so as you can decide.

"The Pan-American proves a fiasco financially."

One claims the word "Fiasco" means fizzle, sham, and is too absurd a word

ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Welcomed the Employees of the Austin Store to Their Home Last Evening.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Austin, King St. West, was the scene of most festive last evening, when the employees of the store celebrated the sixth anniversary of Mr. Austin's business in Chatham.

A very sumptuous dinner was given, after which a program of speeches, songs and recitations was rendered, and everyone present enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Speeches were made by Messrs. Gray, Kehoe, Brock, Northwood and W. Goodreau. Miss Tucker gave a recitation and Miss Guttridge responded to one of the toasts. Songs were given by V. Goodreau and Miss Allie Humphrey, and Misses Humphrey and Tilton gave an exceedingly fine duet.

Mr. Austin, as host, made a capital

HEART and SWORD

ENDORSES IT.

The Planet this morning received the following telegram via C. P. R. The despatch speaks for itself:
London, Oct. 24, 1901.

The Planet—
Shipman Bros. Heart and Sword is the handsomest production Chatham has seen in years and deserves a crowded house. The entire company is very strong.

J. F. CAIRNS.

In the person of Miss Lelia Walston Mr. Whiteside has one of the cleverest leading women in the theatrical profession. She is a woman of vast of 1893 Miss Walston joined Mr. Whiteside's company and she has been continually with him since that year. She has appeared in many parts, Ophelia, Desdemona, Katarine, Portia and last season as Princess Sylvia in the romantic comedy, Heart and Sword, the play in which Shipman Brothers will again present Mr. Whiteside in the original role. The production will be given a most elaborate presentation. A wealth of magnificent scenic effects is essential to the production of the play, and there will be no slightest any particular part in the forthcoming production. Mr. Whiteside will be seen as Prince Victor, a part for which he is peculiarly well qualified. The supporting company is one of exceeding strength and dramatic worth.

MR. WALKER WHITESIDE

experience in many lines of work and her connections with the very best companies have won for her showers of commendation. As Phoebe in the late Augustin Daly's magnificent production of "As you like it," Miss Walston won lasting honors. In "The Taming of the Shrew," she also earned the approbation alike of press and public. Under the management of A. M. Palmer, in Augustus Thomas' "Alabama," Miss Walston again won praise, but it was merited by her rendition of her role. During the season

Magnificently costumed, artistically staged, and properly rendered, Heart and Sword, the delightful romantic comedy in which Mr. Walker Whiteside is being starred by Shipman Bros. this season, should be the dramatic success of the season. It was given a short trial last year and won fame and financial reward for star and management and the verdict of these cities in which it was presented last season will undoubtedly be endorsed by the press and the public in this community when it shall be presented here. An excellent supporting company has been selected to interpret the various roles and a perfect production is assured.

to use in the expression. The other claims it is proper.
Will you please decide this and come down to the Hotel Merrill Saturday noon and join in the Hotel Merrill's best.

HOTEL MERRILL'S BOARDERS.

The word "fiasco" is quite correctly used in the expression. Webster's definition of the word is "a complete or ridiculous failure of any pretensions undertaking," and in this meaning other lexicographers concur. When the party in question, then, uses the expression—"The Pan-American proves a fiasco financially," he only employs another and equally correct wording of the statement, "The Pan-American proves a complete failure financially." The party who wagers in support of the accuracy of the expression wins unquestionably. Sorry, but we have sworn off.—Editor Planet.

YOU NEEDN'T.

You needn't keep on feeling distressed after eating, nor belching, nor experiencing nausea between meals. In other words, you needn't keep on being dyspeptic, and you certainly shouldn't. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia—it strengthens and tones the stomach, perfects digestion, creates a normal appetite, and builds up the whole system.

Pride is increased by ignorance; those assume the most who know the least.

About Felt Hats

There are only seven notes in music, but out of these seven what endless combinations are made and will be made to the end of time.

Half a dozen distinct shapes cover the range of correct hats for men, but for every distinct shape there are a dozen semi-styles. Each is needed to give the right keynote to some man's dress. That's why our hat stock is so big and varied—such a chorus of hats.

A thin-faced man needn't buy a round faced man's hat or vice versa from this collection.

As usual we have a full showing of the famous Christy goods. Christy's London soft hats are here in all shapes, black and brown at $1. A beautiful line of fine soft felts in large and small proportions at $2.50. Christy stiffs, silk trimmed and warranted to keep their color through sun, rain and snow, $2.50 and $3.

Here is an offering that fairly dimples with excellence—a fedora shaped fur felt in black or the popular tobac shade—merely $2.

Fashionable American stiffs, square crown and medium large brim or cone shaped crown with rolling brim, $3.

"I see your name in the papers a good deal," commented the old friend. "I suppose you're really in society now."
"My wife thinks we are," replied the man who had become suddenly rich, "but sometimes I have my doubts."

"Well, when there's a swell charity entertainment to be given, with boxes quoted at $200 and $300 or more, the evidence seems to indicate that we are very much in society, but when some exclusive private function takes place there seems to be nothing but what you might call negative evidence. I think possibly it might be correct to say that our money is in society, but we are not."

Why the Line Was Endless.

The following story is told of a young Irish sailor:
After pulling in 40 to 50 fathoms of line, which put his patience severely to proof as well as every muscle of his arms, he muttered to himself, but loud enough to be overheard by an officer: "Sure, it's as long as today and to-morrow! It's a good week's work for any five men in the ship, but luck to it! What! More of it yet? Och, murther! The say's mighty deep, to be sure!"

After continuing in a similar strain and conceiving there was little probability of the completion of his labor he suddenly stopped short, and, looking up to the officer on the watch, he exclaimed: "Bad luck to me, sir, if I don't believe somebody's cut off the other end of this line!"
