CHAPTER XVIII
"COURAGE MOUNTETH WITH OCCASION."

"And I am wanting to tell all I can. Mr. Vaughan, did you tell the boys I meant to give them watches?"

"Tell them? No."

"Oh, thank you."

"Thank me? Why?"

"Because I cannot do it. I have not changed my mind, but things are altered."

"Altered? How?"—noticing even in the waning light that her features wore a very different aspect to when he had last seen them.

"In this way. You remember what you said to me of riches—"

"And their flying away? Yes."

"Well, mine flew the very moment their wings were fledged. And all my plans flew with them."

"My poor child! Why, how—"

"Please ask nothing. I did use them as you said I ought while I had them. That is all I can tell. I wish I could have let you hear the whole. But I cannot, though I should go away happily."

"Go away?"

"Yes, soon—leaving so much I had meant to do undone! But I'm not to talk of it. It's best for every one I should not. This much even I can only say to you—my spiritual counselor."

"And your spiritual counselor repeats it to none," the rector answered, discerning deep anxiety below the would-be jest. Then he let her walk by him with but few words till his garden was regained, where she made a bad attempt at thanking him for years of kindness, midway in which she broke down into all but speechless farewell, and hurried away toward home.

"Is there a ban upon my pupils?" the master thought, watching the slender figure out of sight. Then with a sigh, turning in-doors, "First one, and now this other, seem to come into deep waters. And both I should have claimed as fit as any for the best things the world had. I wonder how old I shall have to be before the truth is driven into me that One above knows best!"

Late in, Sydney followed her mother up-stairs to explain her absence.

"I have done as you wished, mamma—found a place where I can earn a living. Will you wish me to go directly?"

"I wish!" exclaimed Mrs. Alwyn. "Have I a single wish on such an unnatural proceeding? It is no wish of mine, Sydney, but your obstinacy, that takes you away. Who are the people and where is the place?" leaning back, a fan over her eyes.

"It is a lady to whom I wrote. I traveled with her last week. By accident she told me she was wanting a companion, and now she is willing to let me go. I shall be paid only a little, but enough to get on with if I suit her."

"If! Yes, and if you do not! What then?"

"Well, then, mamma— fighting bravely to keep hopeful—"I must do as many before me. People have had to trust in Providence—"

Mrs. Alwyn flung up her hands and brought her eye-brows into an acute angle. She had no intention of being blasphemous, but the contempt she contrived to pour into her answer was worthy of a staunch Agnostic.

"Providence! Sydney—Providence! If I had wanted proof of your appalling wrong-headedness, I have it now, when I hear you adopting the slang of a canting pauper! There, go on—fanning herself rapidly—"this state of things will drive me demented. Pray go wherever you choose. What is the name of the person who takes you?"

"It is Miss Hurst, of Wynstone, in Herefordshire, mamma."

Mrs. Alwyn looked up with a start of angry fright.

"You remembered my injunction about your own name? This woman may be a connection of people who once knew us. Hurst is abroad in that part of England. For you, Sydney Alwyn, to be known as living in a species of service might prove an injury to Leonora, who is, at least, unending. Never forget that, Sydney, unless you desire to be malicious."

"I have not forgotten it, mother. I never will. Shall I leave here on Saturday?"

"If you are determined on going, yes."

So, daring to make no general adieus, with no time to spare for nursing grief, Sydney made ready to go. On her last evening she ventured a brief visit to the Gate House, where her pumiled friends had missed her sorely.

"And now going out again?" cried the doctor, after his wife's bona fide improvement had been gladly vaunted.

"Why, how restless you've turned! Pray how long are you going to neglect us, and what are we to do without you?"

Questions that went nigh to drown the phrases prearranged for such curiosity. Answer died on her lips. Mary saw in her pallor something that escaped the elder folks' notice, and filled the pause:

"She must come back as much her usual self as mamma is now."

"Ah! and tell us," said Mrs. Dacie, patting her hand, "when we are all to set about making wedding favors. I wanted to hear that the last night we were at Chaddley but her head ached so when she came back from Lutter-horpe, she could hardly talk. But you will have settled all that by when you come home again, my dear."

Mary saw the girl's face changing, now flushed, now white.

"Perhaps," the doctor cried, "the naughty lassie means to get it all settled before she comes home, Molly, and we are to say a long good-bye to Miss Alwyn."

Another word, and her self-restraint must have snapped asunder. She got up with a laugh marvelously close on tears.

"Right, Dr. Dacie, of course. I am eloping. The chaise is waiting, now so fare ye well."

But Mary, at the outer door, whispered, "There is something wrong, Sydney. But you will write about it to me?"

"As soon—if ever I can," faltered Sydney, avoiding this pleading by a sigh. "And if you don't hear, don't be frightened, or angry with me. Oh, if—with a more passionate outburst of regret than she had ever spent on herself—if only I had done something for you all before I went!"

"We owe you too much now," Mary checked her tightening her arm round Sydney's waist, as they went down the path between gleaming patches of scented pink. "Can I pay back nothing by sharing whatever pain you have now? I know there is something. Am I to be no good to you?"

"Not this time, Mary, for—the difficulty lies between mamma and me. It is—weighing each word—"that I am doing something she—dislikes. And I—won't give it up. Don't name it to her, Mary; and ask me nothing more."

Mary felt panic-stricken. "But you will write then, and give me your address?"

Sydney hesitated. To admit herself going among strangers, discarding her full name, was impossible. There was only one road out of the dilemma, and that she took.

"I might offend doubly by giving my direction. So, when I write, it shall be through mamma, and I will ask her to send me your answers back. And Mary, if—Mr. Drayton should come here, tell me directly, will you?"

Mary Dacie's touch trembled as she stroked the head now resting on her shoulder. "I will. Do you want him to return, then?"

"Oh, I do! Badly! If only he came. I think my troubles would half vanish. And when you see him, be very kind to him."

"For her sake!" Mary Dacie thought, giving with her farewell the promise that for long dogged her like a nightmare. For what could dispute with Mrs. Alwyn mean but rejection of Rupert Villiers? What that rejection but preference for Richard Drayton? He worthy of Sydney, Sydney of him, who was she to come between them? Why, if she were not traitor to the girl who had brightened so many years, she must foster all chances of happiness for these two, and yield herself fully to that solitary state, never unpalatable till the rector's quondam pupil had visited St. Clair's. A highway of simple propriety lay before her. Along it the doctor's daughter prepared to trudge, through it was like journeying from sunshine into night.

Next morning Sydney quitted the Dale and started on new seas, horizon limitless, ultimate haven unknown. Quickly St. Clair's, with its wide, flat meadows, sleepy stream, and church-crowned straggling village, was left far behind. Dream-like the swift retracing of last week's expedition, "what when and how years seemed to have rolled. By afternoon Chaddley was passed. A rose she recollected in bud upon the station fence was only just full blown. Why, seasons might have come and gone since she last saw it! The longer route by Stillcote she had chosen, just for a sight of Jacob Cheene. As the old man stood the four waiting minutes beside her carriage, she was with a sort of timid fear lest her valiant purpose should be giving way, she told him all was going well, and the promised funds would reach him soon from Major Villiers. Then, when Jacob could send her word it was portened out aright, she should be happier and so thankful to him."

NERVOUS, IRRITABLE, SICKLING WOMEN

Mrs. Britten Tells How She Was Restored To Health After Suffering for More Than A Year.

Another Triumph for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dimondale, Mich.—"I had inflammation and a displacement and weakness, and it was so nervous I felt almost that it caused great pain, and this affected my mind and nerves so that I was very irritable. I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work."—Mrs. W. D. Britten, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich.

Another Michigan woman says: "I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good."—Mrs. Jesse Granger, R. No. 3, Box 61, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother, and the life of the home. Without it she suffers agonies herself, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition.

Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such distressing conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous depression, "blue devils," and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted, as everyone knows a nervous, irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition tries both husband and children.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

THE CONFERENCE.

The heavy nations soon will send their delegations here, to the crash out schemes by which to end the present reign of fear. As things are now we're all afraid that what may hit us soon; we tremble when a dog has bayed its grievance to the moon. Rhode Island hears a rumor fraught with trouble and dismay; New Jersey's built another yacht, and suffers for a fray. Rhode Island builds herself a large her bulwarks to defend, and Jersey builds one just as large, and so on, without end. The voters raise despairing yells while digging up long green; the money goes for foolish ships that should buy gasoline. "We'll strike," New Jersey proudly cries, "until the foe expires," and socks more taxes on the guys who'd fain buy rubber tires. Rhode Island says, "Our dauntless souls defy these warlike booby's," and takes eat up all the rolls that should buy inner tubes. And thus it is, the world around; we can't enjoy a nap, for every time we hear a sound we think it means a scrap. Through all men's history there runs the same old crazy theme; we're building ships and buying guns, and peace is but a dream. And when the wise men of the world for peace are here convoked, may all the battle flags be furled, and all the swords be soaked.

A Distinguished Painter and Poet.

On Monday, August 19, 1850, Sir Martin Arthur Shee died, having been born at Dublin, in 1789. Coming to London, he became a celebrated artist, and from 1789 his paintings appeared in the Royal Academy. He was elected a full Royal Academician in 1800. His produced portraits with amazing speed, and in 1830 was elected President. But his most remarkable distinction is that he became celebrated as a poet, as well as an artist. In 1803 his "Rhymer on Art, or the Remonstrance of a Painter" were published, including "Strictures on the State of the Arts, Criticism, and Public Taste," and for his second poem,

Libby's California Fruits

Picked at the moment of perfect ripeness.

Fine, firm textured fruit, mellowed with the sunshine of the Golden West.

Picked, full-ripened, from the tree and hurried to near-by Libby kitchens to be packed in rich cane-sugar syrup at the very pinnacle of their flavor.

Whether your preference is for Peaches, Apricots, Pears, Plums or Cherries, each comes to you under the Libby brand with its full native flavor sealed in—so good that they improve the simplest luncheon or the most stately dinner.

Your grocer has Libby's Fruits, or he can get them for you.

And don't forget Libby's Hawaiian Pineapple—genuine sun-ripened fruit, packed before sundown on the day that it is picked, preserving all its native flavor and lusciousness.

Buy it in half dozen or dozen lots. It will keep perfectly until you need it, and is always ready for tasty desserts, appealing salads, and dainty fruit dishes.

The First Sign of Fall! A Return to Soft Hats!

The Summer Straw has gone the way of the weary, so with his pal the Panama. Up in the locker 'till next year, or down to Kearney's for a quarter—so dromes the funeral dirge.

Old chum, I'm just comfort-glad to get back to you after Summer's scorching, says every man. You Stetson—you Borsalino—you Christy. Of course it's one of these three for the man who doesn't stint himself when he wants good looks and lasting wear. A cheap hat! No, sir; you couldn't make a man buy a cheap hat after wearing one of these famous brands, not if you gave it to him for advertising purposes. These men have cultivated good taste; have received some of the refined ingrained atmosphere that makes these hats distinctive. The atmosphere of gay old London, of romantic Alexandria, of vivacious New York, where these fine hats come from.

Two points to remember when buying your Fall Hat: Kearney knows how to make hats, and he knows how to sell them too.

Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Lloyd George Frankly Discusses Subject -- Sacrifices to Ulster: None to Britain--Confidence in Dublin -- Captain of Lady of Gaspe Has Certificate Suspended.

THE JAPANESE ALLIANCE.
LONDON, Aug. 18. Premier Lloyd George in a statement in the House of Commons to-day concerning the proposed Anglo-Japanese Alliance, said the Conference had agreed unanimously that Japan had legally observed the Alliance with Great Britain during the war. He said it was right for Britain to turn round and say to Japan, "Thank you for the trouble you have taken, but we don't want you any longer." There were cries of "No" from commoners. Lloyd George declared the British Empire must behave in a gentlemanly manner, but asserted he did not see why it should be impossible to fulfill Great Britain's obligation to Japan, and at the same time observe the spirit of fraternity to the United States. If the United States and Japan could combine on the problems of the Pacific, the Prime Minister declared, that would be a great event and a guarantee for the peace of the world. The next way to succeed in the forthcoming Disarmament Conference, he said, would be through an understanding on the Pacific, and he was all hopeful that such understanding would ensue as the result of the Washington Conference.

SACRIFICES TO ULSTER.
DUBLIN, Aug. 18. In answer to the reply of the Irish Republican Parliament to the British Government's offer of Dominion Status to Ireland, was begun by that assembly in secret session here to-day. Mr. De Valera stated yesterday that he was ready to get in touch with the Government of Northern Ireland.

and the Irish Republicans would "make sacrifices to Ulster that they would never think of making to England." The nature of the sacrifices to Ulster that Mr. De Valera had in mind was not disclosed yesterday, but it was believed to-day that he would reveal to members the steps he would advocate in bringing Ulster in accord with Dall Eireann. Should such entente be reached, it was indicated yesterday, new proposals to Great Britain might be made, and there were observers who expressed the belief that the offer would take the form of a proposition to enter the Commonwealth of British Dominions as an independent state.

DALL EIREANN.
DUBLIN, Aug. 18. The members of Dall Eireann arrived singly and in groups of young men and young women, as most of the members are with an occasional veteran such as Count Plunkett and Professor Stockley. All the women were in mourning and some wearing widows' weeds. Most of these youthful Sinn Fein representatives are shy and bashful, avoiding any demonstration as far as possible, and displaying particular skill in dodging camera men. Judging from newspaper reflection of public opinion, the people of Dublin seem to have more confidence than many people abroad that Sinn Fein hostilities will not be renewed.

CHILLI ACCEPTS.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. Chilli's formal acceptance of President Harding to an invitation to participate in the discussion of Pacific and Far-Eastern questions here, was received to-day at the State Department.

WARRANT FOR FIGHT PROMOTER.
CHICAGO, Aug. 18. A warrant for the arrest of Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpenter bout, was sworn out this afternoon by John V. Clinin, Assistant District Attorney. Rickard was charged with violation of the Federal law prohibiting the interstate transportation of fight films. Arrangements were made to serve the warrant at once. Rickard exhibited films of the Dempsey-Carpenter match before an audience of wounded soldiers here last night.

BIG FIRE AT SCUTARI.
PARIS, Aug. 18. One thousand houses have been destroyed by fire in the Scutari section of Constantinople, situated on the Asiatic bank of the Bosphorus, says a telegram to the Journal.

THE PERMANENT COURT.
GENEVA, Aug. 18. Creation of a permanent court of justice is secured, it is announced here. The Secretary of the League of Nations has been informed that Spain and Haiti will soon deposit their ratifications of the agreement to establish the court and, when they have received the number of nations which have deposited ratifications will have reached 24, the requisite number.

MAYFLOWER ENTERED.
GLOUCESTER, Aug. 18. The schooner Mayflower, built by a Boston syndicate as contender for the right to represent the United States in the International Fishermen's Race off Halifax in October, was to-day formally entered for the elimination trials. It was the first entry made with the United States Race Committee. The trials will be held off the Massachusetts Coast, beginning October 1st.

DEATH OF A MINISTER.
FREDERICTON, N.B., Aug. 18. Word has been received here of the death of the Rev. Edward C. Wall, for many years a Baptist Minister in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, who passed away at Sheffield, Sunbury County, aged 73 years.

CERTIFICATE SUSPENDED.
MONTREAL, Aug. 18. The court of enquiry into the stranding of the steamer Lady of Gaspe on Turim Cap Shoals, Halifax Harbour, on August 8, has suspended the certificate of Captain Nicholson for one year and censured First Officer Monroe. It was announced by Dominion Wrecks' Commissioner L. A. Demers.

WILL MEET AT GENEVA.
PARIS, Aug. 18. A special meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, to take up the question of Upper Silesia, will be held in Geneva beginning August 29.

Long Way Yet to Go.

There are those who have been endeavouring to persuade us that we were rapidly getting back to normal conditions in the matter of prices, etc., but to our mind we have a long way to go yet before that stage is reached. While there has been some noticeable reduction in a few cases, in other instances prices continue at a high plane and this contributes considerably to the dullness of trade. About the only thing that has got back in price anyway near that of pre-war days is the fishery products. Lobsters are now down to $15 a case, codfish $4 and $5 a quintal, herring to $3 and $4 a barrel, while flour continues at nearly three times the price ruling seven years ago, sugar at five times the pre-war price, pork and beef, and hard bread corresponding with flour, footwear and clothing show very little if any reduction notwithstanding the fact that raw hides, cotton and wool have been down nearly seventy-five per cent. for about a year.

One large firm at St. John's has been questioned why they were maintaining such a high price on a certain class of goods, remarked that they had a big stock on hand purchased while the price was high, and they intended clearing off that stock. And yet we were told during the five years of war that the market must be followed upwards as they would have to be followed downwards when they begin to descend.

It has been argued that supply and demand regulate the price. There is only half a truth in this; and it is being demonstrated daily. Perhaps no better illustration of this is needed than that of freight and passenger rates, which to-day are higher than ever before. These conditions cannot continue; prices must tumble before there can be any great revival of trade. Three to four quintals of codfish is too much to barter for a barrel of flour, and unless some relief is forthcoming in the way of prices, our people will have to adopt substitutes for the high priced articles.—Western Star.

Fatal Accident Barely Averted.

On Sunday, the 14th inst., as the excursion train was leaving Bay Bulls station going south, a serious accident was barely averted by the alertness and presence of mind of Const. Fahey. A passenger from St. John's alighted from the train to speak with some friends, and when the train started, in attempting to board the car he missed his footing. Constable Fahey who was standing near the edge of the platform but some distance from the scene of the accident, immediately ran to the man's assistance and but for the extraordinary strength of the constable in holding up the man until he regained his footing a different story might be told. From the above incident two important lessons may be drawn. First the danger of passengers alighting from excursion trains at the different stations and depending on chance to re-embark when it often tries the experienced train hands to board the train in motion. Secondly we are reminded of the one man always on the job—the policeman. The poor man's friend and very often the rich man's strength. Too often we are prone to cast a slur at the man in uniform, but in the hour of distress he is always on the job. Const. Fahey is one of the oldest po-

Hook and Line Do Well.

NUMBER OF ICEBERG TRAILS.
The Western Star of 17 publishes the following for the last trip of S.S. Home on smooth-Battle Harbor Service: The S.S. Home, Capt. Norman, in quick time to the Straits of this season, doing the trip from four and half to five days taking up the service. She reached at one o'clock on Monday for last trip to Battle Hr. and brought a quantity of salmon and other products and a few passengers. Norman reports very good catch with hook and line on Labrador coast from Blanc Sablon to Battle Hr. At Forteau one man has five hundred quintals, with thirty last Friday, others, however, at the same place haven't a fish under salt. A large banker at Forteau is getting a lot of fish, her dories loading twice daily. At Lance au Loup there are several bankers all doing well. Codfish have struck in at West St. Modeste and Red Bay and boats got 3 to 4 quintals daily while some got as high as eight. All the schooners that went in the Straits have loaded. The weather on Labrador Coast last week was boisterous and some of the fishermen had their gear badly damaged. There is nothing doing with codfish on Newfoundland coast between Flower's Cove and Bonne Bay. Whiteley's schooner went ashore below Flower's Cove with this middle of the week, but after throwing away some salt she floated off again without sustaining any damage. Whiteley secured one hundred three salmon. At Pleasure Hr. and other places fishermen have done well with salmon. The ship brought a large freight this trip including fifty three salmon which were landed at Bonne Bay to be trans-shipped to Halifax. There are a number of icebergs in the Straits at present. The Home will "blow down" before sailing on this week's trip. This will delay her a couple of days, so that she will not likely get away from Humbermouth until the arrival of Friday's No. 1 express.

An Open Prospect.

The statement made by British Trade Agents that the immediate expenditure of thirty-five million pounds sterling, in the purchase of food stuffs for Russian relief, opens up a prospect for the disposal of the one hundred thousand quintals or more of last year's catch of codfish yet unsold. And if this lot could be gotten rid of at figures netting a reasonable profit, there would be little difficulty in following up with sales of new fish. It is undeniable that a certain proportion of fish must be sent into Russia amongst the other food supplies. And Newfoundland exporters are in a position to negotiate a sale of their holdings stored in Mediterranean ports very speedily, providing they at once move to have the matter taken up by the Government of the Colony with either the British authorities or the American Russian Relief Committee, whose organizer at Washington is Mr. Herbert Hoover, late Food Controller. There is a lot to be said in favor of the follow-up communication of Mr. W. White, published in yesterday's Telegram. Our fish, as he states, is the nearest big lot of food to Russia and could be shipped there without any unnecessary delay, while consignments of other food purchases made on this side the Atlantic for shipment, must necessarily take a longer time to reach their destination. The opportunity is there to effect a deal which would be profitable to all concerned, and fish going into Russia would afford immediate relief, particularly as it would enable the peasants in obtaining a measure of diet from the surplus of food, and which, besides, they are hoarding up against their future privations. Fish, properly cooked, and served, will sustain life indefinitely, and it would be greatly to the advantage of the South Russian people if cargoes could be sent to Crimean ports for immediate distribution. It but requires initiative, we think, on the part of the exporters themselves to make this fait accompli.

Millions of hungry Russians are being driven to the cities in search of food, and the fear of Divine Vengeance upon holy Russia is said to out-terror even the terrors of starvation. Twenty million people in the once prolific and fruitful land of the Czar are calling upon humanity to save them from hunger and its attendant horrors. Drought has dried up the streams, opened crevasses in the parched land and left these millions little more than dying vegetation to stay the pangs of hunger. The huge wheat belt, extending from the region of Samara on the Volga River to Perm is being denuded of its population, men, women and children fleeing from their homes in a panic stricken exodus and moving westward. The sole cry of these starving masses is Bread, and an appeal from the head of the Orthodox Russian Church to the Archbishops of Canterbury and York asks that bread and medicines be sent immediately. That appeal is about to meet with response. The most pathetic feature of all is the millions of little children, who must die miserably if not instantly looked after, yet who if they survive the terrors of famine and disease, will be broken and weak specimens of humanity unfit to carry on the duties required of them, and mainly the developers of a race of imbeciles and idiots. But before relief can be sent into stricken Russia, there has to be a change in methods of the Government of the Soviet, which has not yet sent out any official call for help. Controlling every system of transportation it may be that officialdom would refuse to permit the passage of food from sea to interior, or even to permit it to be landed at all. But the cry of the starving millions must have its effect, and with negotiations proceeding for permission to the world to help Russia, even the rulers of "Lenine's Paradise of Atheism" cannot hold out against overwhelming sentiment, but will finally have to open Russian ports and Russian railways to the cargoes of food supplies that are even now being gathered in the producing countries of two hemispheres.

To-day's public message from Washington declares that a complete agreement on the question of Food Relief for Russia has been reached at Riga. All that remains to be done now is the acquisition of whatever supplies are deemed necessary for immediate shipment.

Held Over.

In consequence of pressure upon space to-day, the fourth installment of the Review of 1921 House of Assembly Proceedings, has to be held over until to-morrow.

Trinity.

The day after Canon Lockyer posted his items for last week, whilst working in the cemetery, he was put out of action by a bad attack of sunstroke. Though the symptoms looked serious for a while—yet after nearly a week in bed he is up and about again, but still altogether too unsteady to prepare items for this week.

Orphans Entertained.

The orphan children of Belydere were given an outing at Topsail yesterday afternoon through the kindness of a number of well known ladies and gentlemen. The little ones numbering 160, and in charge of the good Sisters, left the city by motor cars shortly after 3 p.m., and on arrival at Topsail, spent a very enjoyable hour on the beach, afterwards being treated to ice cream, candy and fruit by their kind entertainers. The outing was thoroughly enjoyed by the children and they are deeply grateful to their kind benefactors. Return to the city was made at 5:30 p.m.

Both Sisters and children are deeply grateful to those who so kindly sent their motor cars to convey the orphans to the picnic grounds, those who did so being Sir M. P. Cahin, Hon. M. P. Gibbs, Messrs. T. Smyth, J. D. Duff, M. P. Howlett, W. Howlett, B. McGuire, J. H. Monroe, Dr. V. P. Burke, J. J. Lacey, Mrs. C. J. Cahill, Mr. J. J. Mullaly, Mrs. J. V. O'Dea.

Cochrane St. S. S. Picnic.

Cochrane Street Sunday School picnic was held at Brookfield yesterday. A special train with four hundred scholars, teachers and friends left the depot at 10:45 a.m. and duly reached the grounds, which were ideal for picnic purposes, the weather was delightful and everything went with a swing. Games were indulged in, such as football, races, etc., the tents were well supplied with ice cream, fruit and drinks and found many ready customers in the young folk. At 4 o'clock tea was served and all did ample justice to the good things provided by Mr. P. C. Baines, under Capt. A. Morris' residing on the grounds during the afternoon and immediately won the good-will of the scholars, for he came laden with a bountiful supply of prizes for racing. This kind act on the part of a member of the congregation cannot soon be forgotten. The pastor, Rev. C. H. Johnson, M.A., and Rev. James Wilson were also present. Return home was made at 8 p.m., all voting it to have been the best outing held for some years.

The Advocate's Modesty

Shakespeare says "That nothing so becomes a man as modest stillness and humility." Unfortunately, the Bard of Avon did not live to make the acquaintance of the Advocate. That paper, finding that it is fast falling into disrepute, had on Wednesday an editorial which was full of flowery phrases concerning itself. There is only one excuse for self-praise, and even that is a poor one. When one can find no one who will say a good word for one, then and only then, is it permissible to praise one's self. But under these circumstances it is the height of bad form. This the Advocate possibly does not realize. And on what a plane does that paper place itself.

Champion of the truth, indeed! Imaginably have laid claim to being virtuous. The Advocate has told a great many journalistic falsehoods in its day, but when it states that its word would be taken before that of any other local journal, it caps them all. We have a humorous weekly paper. Now it seems that we are to have a daily comic paper.

The influence of the Advocate! Ye gods! To think that the Advocate could exercise any influence. How the editor of that paper must have laughed when he wrote that article, speculating as he did so, how many would believe this latest advertisement. The editor of the Advocate must have written his modest editorial on Tuesday night, when Luna in all her glory was sailing across the heavens. It would require the very widest stretch of the imagination to picture the Advocate as influential and truthful. But after all, self-praise is no recommendation.

Police Court.

A 19 year old domestic of Caddyby Street, who was arrested for safe-keeping, was ordered sent home to her near home.

A loose and disorderly girl, arrested at 3 a.m., was fined 15 or 14 days.

A young housewife of the Higher Level, who killed her husband about three months ago on account of his cruel treatment, summoned him this morning for the support of his child, an infant of 18 months. The custody of the child is to be given to the father, who will maintain and support it.

A resident of Allendale Road was sued by his young wife for desertion. The hearing was adjourned until to-morrow.

Landed Sick Boy.

The banking schooner Harold Conrad arrived in port this morning from the Banks to land the captain's son, being about 10 years of age. He was taken to Hospital in the ambulance. The 170 and left the Banks two days ago.

A. A. Sports.

The Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association Sports, which take place in St. George's Field next Wednesday afternoon, are the fitting wind up of the season's athletic meet. All the contestants are now in the pink of condition, so that each event will be keenly contested and good times will be made. These sports are an epoch-making event, because they are the beginning of a new era for Newfoundland. They are the first to be held under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Association, which has just acquired the Parry Ground for its headquarters. Medals, specially designed for the Association will be ordered for the sports, and the winners will later be presented with certificates from the Association which will be recognized throughout the sports world. Mayor Morris, under whose Mayoralty the grounds are passed over, has kindly consented to open the sports. We predict a large attendance. All that is now required is a fine day.

Dogs Destroy Valuable Property.

Mr. D. J. Galway, whose residence is in St. John's, was both a surprised and sorry boy when he found when going to his fowl house to get some eggs for his breakfast, he found fifteen of his dogs huddled on the floor destroyed by a dog, which, he says, was a class that are termed thoroughbred. There is a dog named "Paddy" who is very far distant, and Mr. Galway desires us to say that if any of the dogs leave their parental home another night to the picnic grounds, should they invade his poultry yard.

Enjoyable Social Function.

A delightful dance was given last night by Mrs. W. B. Fraser for her daughter, Miss K. Fraser, who has recently arrived home from school. The dance was held in the C.C.C. Hall and over 100 couples had been invited. The ball room was brilliantly lighted and was decorated with flowers. The C.L.B. C. Band, under Capt. A. Morris' residing on the grounds during the afternoon and immediately won the good-will of the scholars, for he came laden with a bountiful supply of prizes for racing. This kind act on the part of a member of the congregation cannot soon be forgotten. The pastor, Rev. C. H. Johnson, M.A., and Rev. James Wilson were also present. Return home was made at 8 p.m., all voting it to have been the best outing held for some years.

At the close of the installation the Immediate Past Master, R.W. Bro. R. French, was presented with a Past Master's Jewel. Subsequently all attended a banquet and a right royal Masonic time was spent, the customary toasts being honored. The list of officers for 1921-22 is as follows:—

The brethren going from St. John's all returned yesterday, having had a very pleasant visit.

Obituary.

JOHN McNAMARA.

The sudden passing of Mr. John McNamara, Customs Broker, which took place at his home on Patrick Street last midnight will be learned with regret by his many friends in the city. For some time Mr. McNamara had been troubled with heart disease, but not of a nature to prevent him from pursuing his avocation. Yesterday he attended to his usual duties at the Custom House and appeared to be enjoying his customary health. During the evening he did not complain of being ill and retired at his usual hour. Shortly after midnight, however, he was seized with a sudden pain near the heart and Doctors Tait and Carnell were hurriedly called. Rev. Fr. Kennedy was also summoned and administered the last rites of the church, and shortly after he breathed his last. Deceased began his business career with the firm of James Fox and Sons with whom he was accountant for several years, afterwards starting a small business for himself at Cape Broyle. Some years later he became Sub-Collector at Badger, and on the death of the late Mr. J. P. Rogers some eight years ago was appointed Sub-Collector of Customs House. Left to mourn are his wife formerly a Miss Carew of Cape Broyle, his Aunt, assistant to his father at the Custom House, George employed at Grand Falls; and James attending school; also two daughters, Margaret and Mary both at home. Hon. F. McNamara and Mr. A. McNamara the Jeweller are brothers of deceased and Mrs. A. O'Driscoll, Willes Bay is a sister, all of whom the Telegram extends sympathy.

Taking Father's Tip.

A remarkable incident in the early history of the house of Child, the famous London bankers, illustrates the old saying that thoughtless remarks can lead to serious consequences.

Robert Child, head of the banking house one hundred and fifty years ago had a daughter whom the young Lord Westmorland of that day greatly admired, but without openly declaring his intentions.

Dining one night with Mr. Child, he said to his host: "If you were in love with a girl, and her father would not let you marry her, what would you do?"

"Do? Why, run away with her, of course!" was the prompt reply.

Young Westmorland forthwith planned an elopement with Miss Child, and one May morning she walked out of her father's house, carrying in her hand a small parcel. A girl whom she had taken into her confidence had a hackney coach waiting round the corner to convey her young mistress to the protecting arms of her expectant lover.

A Runaway Marriage.

He also was in readiness with a carriage. This she entered without delay, and away they drove towards Gretna Green. As soon as her flight was discovered a hue and cry was raised. Mr. Child, guessing his daughter's probable destination, went off in pursuit, preceded by a mounted messenger, who, by dint of hard riding, managed to overtake the runaway near Rokeby, in Yorkshire.

"Shoot!" cried Miss Child, whereupon Lord Westmorland frustrated any attempt at discussion by firing a couple of pistol shots at the approaching messenger.

Mr. Child, hearing the scene of action, saw his trusty servant's horse fall dead by the roadside. He turned back, realizing that further pursuit was hopeless. After the marriage he declared that no one bearing the name of Westmorland should ever be his heir. Yet, unwilling to disinherit his own descendants, he left the whole of his fortune to the first daughter of the runaway pair who should be christened Sarah and take upon herself the name of Child.

The daughter, Lady Sarah Sophia, ultimately became his sole heiress, and married Lord Villiers, afterwards fifth Earl of Jersey.

Bold Bandits in Montreal.

ENTERED MOLSON'S BANK AND $2,000 TAKEN.

MONTREAL, August 12.—A pair of bold bandits to-day entered a branch of the Molsion's Bank at the corner of Mount Royal and Bordeaux, and after holding up the teller and cashier escaped with over two thousand dollars in currency. Neither of the men wore masks, but both were armed with revolvers.

J. H. Belanger and A. Belanger, cashier and teller respectively, were the only employees of the Bank at the time of the hold-up, the manager having gone out to lunch.

After procuring the money, the two thieves escaped in an auto.

Although it is estimated that about two thousand dollars was stolen, the exact amount has not yet been ascertained.

No. 42 Police Station was immediately notified and a score of policemen rushed to the scene, and are at present scouring the city for the perpetrators of this outrage, which was boldly carried out during the busiest time of the day, while hundreds of people were passing outside.

Household Notes.

A little barley and salt pork will add interest to the vegetable stew. Cut the stew in thin slices and add the barley when the vegetables are done.

To make Marguerite's best 1 egg white stiff, add 1/2 cup of sugar, flavoring, and 2 tablespoonful of nut meats. Spread on crackers and brown in the oven.

Cook equal quantities of cubed ripe pineapple and blackberries until tender; then add three quarters their quantity in sugar, and simmer for an hour.

When French dressing is to be used for fruit salad, make it with a citrus-fruit juice, using very little pepper, but a double quantity of paprika.

Deviled cheese is savory on crackers. Mix to a paste 2 cupfuls of grated cheese, 1 beaten egg, a pinch of salt, paprika, pepper, sauce and onion juice.

Your preserve closet will look better if your labels are the same height. Cut a notch in a right angle of light cardboard and measure them as you put them on.

Dress up your chicken sandwiches with a little shredded lettuce, mayonnaise and thinly-sliced radishes inside, and stuffed olives and sliced tomatoes as garnishings.

A very refreshing cold drink is made by crushing a few sprigs of mint in a pitcher, adding lemon juice, sugar and water, and—just before using—a bottle of ginger ale.

To 1 pint of stiffly-whipped cream add the beaten white of 1 egg, 1 1/2 cupfuls of raspberries, 1/2 cupful of finely chopped marshmallows, and sweeten to taste. Mix and chill.

Shelf Oil Cloth

8 pieces soft, pliable Oilcloth for shelves; assorted colors, fancy pinked edge; 1 1/2 inches wide. Special, per yard 15c.

TO-DAYS MESSAGES.

SUBJECT NOT REACHED. DUBLIN, Aug. 18. Dall Eireann spent three hours in a recent session this morning without reaching the subject of Irish peace negotiations. Time was spent in the discussion of reports of various ministers, the first time this has been possible without fear of police interference. Dall Eireann resumed its sessions at four o'clock this afternoon, but just before the session Arthur Griffith told newspapermen that there was no possibility of the subject of negotiations being reached before Saturday at the earliest, as reports were still under consideration. There will be no session of Dall Eireann to-morrow as sub-Committees will then be holding meetings.

FOOD CAN NOW BE SENT. WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. A complete agreement on the question of food relief for Russia has been reached at Nixa, Secretary Hoover announced to-day.

COLLISION IN ST. LAWRENCE. QUEBEC, Aug. 18. The steamer Canadian Recruit, of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, was sunk off the Stone Pillars, at Traverse, at 10.30 o'clock to-night, as the result of a collision with the steamer Maskinonge of the Dominion Coal Co. Service. The accident happened about 45 miles below Quebec, at head of the Traverse, where a dense fog had settled over the river. The Canadian Recruit was so badly damaged that an attempt was made to beach her and this was eventually partly successful, for it was reported that she was sunk, but not entirely submerged. The crew of the Recruit were rescued by the Maskinonge, which suffered little damage, and will return to Quebec as soon as the fog clears.

HIGH SEAS JURISDICTION. WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. Formal notice that it cannot recognize the jurisdiction of United States over the high sea, beyond the three mile limit fixed by international law, for many years, has been served by the British Government in connection with the seizure, twelve miles off Long Island coast, of the British schooner Marshall, reported to have been laden with liquor. It is expected, however, that the British authorities will await the outcome of court proceedings and the final establishment of the vessel's registry, before any further diplomatic step is taken. It has been deemed necessary, however, to give notice in advance that Great Britain cannot acquiesce in the extension of American jurisdiction over the high seas beyond the usual limit.

FOLLOWING NEWFOUNDLAND'S EXAMPLE. LONDON, Aug. 18. Uncertainty over the Irish situation has caused the Government to change its plans, and instead of proroguing parliament to-morrow, as had been intended, it will merely be adjourned until October 18. The speaker in the interval will have the power to convoke parliament, should Irish developments necessitate it. Premier Lloyd George is expected to make a statement on the Irish situation just before adjournment to-morrow.

PREMIER LAUDS DOMINIONS. (Canadian Press Cable.)—The House of Commons to-day, Premier Lloyd George, in reviewing the Imperial Conference, paid tribute to the war services of the Dominions and India, and dealt with the consequence of the changed character of the Conference compared with conditions before the war. He said the Conference had fully discussed the foreign policy of the Empire, including Silesian and Asia Minor issues, reparations and disarmament of Germany. The Premier emphasized how strengthened he and Earl Curzon were at the Supreme Council, and how impressed were the other members of the Council by the knowledge that they represented the views of the whole British Empire. Lloyd George said it had been decided in war time to have discussions on the constitutional aspects of the Empire, and he was bound to include that in the agenda, but the consensus of opinion was that it would be a mistake to lay down rules, because thereby, the indefinable things that make the British Empire would be limited, and its unity weakened. Two and a quarter millions of fighting overseas men were better than written rules. The gigantic events of the war had consolidated the Empire in no fast a fashion, that a generation could not otherwise have done. The thing, he said, that matters, is that there should be as frequent conferences as time and distance will permit, hence the question of the possibility of improving communication was discussed, including suggestions to use fast cruisers, and even warships. But experiments further before I will agree to go to Australia through a typhoon in one, he said. The most effective way, continued the Premier, of securing the unity of the Empire was by means of conferences, hence he hoped the Prime Ministers would shortly be able to consult with their parliament in this regard. It was the consensus of opinion at the conference that the Empire must have naval forces equal to any country in the world, and that it would be unfair to leave to the Motherland the whole burden of a naval defence, but the extent of the contributions must be left to the Dominions and India, because each naturally is anxious to guard its own independence. Some would like to contribute by means of naval stations, and some by having their own fleets, he stated. These questions must be decided by the Parliaments of the respective dominions. This is not a matter in which we could presume to dictate, prescribe or even suggest.

BELATED MARINE LABEL. NEW YORK, Aug. 19. The steamer, through British courts, of United States Mail Steamship Company liner George Washington, on her scheduled arrival yesterday at Southampton from Bremen, has been threatened by the Atlantic Steam Navigation Co., D. Nicoll, counsel for the receivers of the Mail Line, announced last night on receipt of a cable message from England, that the threatened seizure arose from a claim by the Asiatic Co. for ninety thousand dollars damages which, it is alleged, were caused by the George Washington in collision with the cargo boat Nizan, while the former was acting as a navy transport in 1918.

TARIFF DISCRIMINATION. LONDON, Aug. 19. That New Zealand should not continue favorable tariff terms to countries such as United States, which impose prohibitive duties on the products of New Zealand, is the view generally held in discussions over revision of customs duties, according to the Wellington correspondent of the London Daily Times.

APPLIES EVERYWHERE. WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. U.S. railways must share with farmers and others the burden of the present economic situation, by reducing freight rates, Secretary Wallace said yesterday before the Interstate Commission, which is investigating rates on grain and hay. High freight rates have stopped production, the Secretary said.

EVERYBODY WAITING. LONDON, Aug. 19. A statement of the Irish problem, or measures to be taken in case Irish republican leaders break off negotiations with the British Government, may possibly be laid before Parliament prior to final decision by Premier Lloyd George and his ministry. This apparently was indicated by a sudden change in the plan to prorogue Parliament to-day, and an announcement that it had been decided merely to call a recess of two months, before ending the autumn session. Members of Parliament were instructed to hold themselves in readiness to answer a call to London at any time before October 18 should developments in Ireland require the calling of the session.

Council's Weekly Meeting.

MINISTER OF EDUCATION WRITES LETTER. The regular weekly meeting of the Municipal Council took place last evening. Mayor Morris presided and Councillors Vilcocks, Post, Jackman and Callier were present.

After the Minutes were read the following business was transacted: The Prime Minister forwarded a copy of a communication received from Dr. Barnes, Minister of Education, in reference to the handing over of the Parade Grounds to the N. A. A. The letter stated that it was the intention to erect a Memorial, a Normal School and other educational buildings on the site and it requested that no disposition of the land should be made by the Council until selections for these sites should first be made. The Council, understanding that these proposed erections were now in abeyance and the project abandoned, they had acceded to the request of the N. A. A. A number of the Council will meet a representation of the Association at 8.30 to-night, when the subject of the letter will be discussed.

A communication from the Royal Stores in reference to drainage from the water main damaging their property, was referred to the Engineer. An application was ordered to be made to the Colonial Secretary for a copy of the Municipal Charter passed at the last session of the Legislature. A complaint from the residents of Monkstown Road was referred to the Engineer for remedy. A number of plans for houses and improvements were passed. An application from F. Parsons to erect a stable on Power Street, was referred to the Engineer. It was decided to repair the railing at Battery Road, the work to be given to Thomas Stamp.

Mayor Morris reported an interview he had with the Prime Minister in reference to the application of the Gas Co. for exemption of tax on gas coal. The Prime Minister stated that as the tax was purely a Municipal one, the Government could not interfere as regards exemption, unless the Council was agreed. The matter was left stand over for consideration at a future meeting.

The matter of the extension of the street car service to Bowring Park was also taken up with the Prime Minister, and Mayor Morris informed the meeting that the movement would have the support of the members of both Houses of St. John's. The Prime Minister himself thought well of the project, and would assist the Council in any steps. The matter was ordered to be taken up with the President of the Reid Co., who will be asked when it is convenient for him to meet a deputation of the Council to discuss the matter.

Councillor Jackman brought up the matter of raising a loan of 1 million dollars for Civic improvements, it was thought a loan should be floated in the colony. This matter will be taken up by a special Finance Committee, who will report to the full board the feasibility of the plan. The matter of cab stands was also dealt with. The Council proposes to take this up with the Inspector-General, when something definite may be done. After the passing of the pay rolls the meeting adjourned.

When you are in need of a holiday, but cannot have one, imagination will supply a mental holiday. Sitting in your own chair you may fly to the wings of imagination to the banks of a favourite river to enjoy sport with trout, roach, or pike. Imagination enables you to get outside yourself, to get out of the rut. Without imagination you can only accept things as they are; with it you can improve them, and therein lies the whole secret of happiness in life.—Tit Bits.

Calvin's Grave Revealed. Geneva, (Associated Press)—Leaders of the Protestant church throughout Europe are showing lively interest in the announcement that the burial place of John Calvin, the Swiss divine and reformer, has been revealed after having been unknown for 357 years. Calvin died in 1564, and was buried somewhere in the Plain-Palais cemetery here, but no stone has marked the spot. According to the legend, he was buried secretly from fear that his grave would be desecrated. Knowledge of the location of the grave is said to have been held by one family for more than three and a half centuries. The secret is said to have been handed down from father to son for all these generations. Disclosure at this time is accounted for by the statement that the last holder of the secret, Eugene de Sprey, has no descendant and, being 71 years old, decided to reveal the site of the grave to the Council of the Protestant Church in Geneva.

LIONS DEFEAT CUBS 4-2

The vice of one, Bat Hall, crying in the wilderness, made official the defeat of the Cubs by the Lions last year at St. George's Field. Last night in the vast expanse of the night, the stentorian tones rang clear above the mad cheering of the customers who were present.

"Brien!" was what he said—as loudly as Claude Egbert Hall can shout. Typical Cheshman-Hartnett was the umpire, when added to the fact that when Gosse hit a pop fly midway and just inside the first base line, he purposely left the straight and narrow path to give Walter Callahan a single, just as he was about to lay his mitts on it, with the result that due to the unexpected attack in the region of his midriff the ball was dropped. Umpire Hartnett immediately called him out, and was supported in his contention by Big Chief Cheshman. In vain did the lithe man run up and down the base, expostulating and protesting from one umpire to the other. It is superfluous to remark that the league's official action of all disputes was promptly supported in his decision by all the Hillz clan, so that for about five minutes the "gabfest" was deafening. To our minds it didn't make much difference anyhow as the Cubs were right out of it from the start, when the Red Lions showed three runs across on scratch hits between Murphy and Dugan, which they both admitted at, but failed to gather up. Subsequently Walter got a bit wild and allowed the sacks to fall. Then came Clouston who has been doing some remarkable batting this season, pulled out a long fly to deep left field, which fell into the hands of the Cubs' catcher. At this juncture all the Lions were skyrocketing a bit, and things looked a kind of bright for the Cubs supporters, when suddenly Hall started a wild steal for third, was trapped, and succumbed at the hands of Cockey Munn. "Was a no game then up to the sixth when Clouston hoisted Billy Callahan's grander and the Lions added another wily when Tommy Manning pegged a wild one to Joe Murphy. The Cubs' supporters, who were brightened visibly when Clouston again walloped a long one for safety and got to third, but Murphy couldn't reach his connection, suddenly and Ernie died at the plate.

The Lions' infield was in great form last night, not an error being made up against them. The Cubs on the contrary had the perritory between first and second shot as full of holes as a sieve. Both pitchers did remarkably good work, but the support that Callahan got was far different from that accorded Callahan. It was a good lively game, and even the fans were affected and kept up a continuous chorus of rooting. The Lions' chances of getting through are now remarkably bright, and there will be a wonderful record for sport in Newfoundland if they can hold up the new pennant for three years. A suggestion: The muchly contested Allen Cup will then be theirs for keeps.

NEXT WEEK'S GAME.

The main attraction in baseball circles next week is the return game between the St. John's "Turriners" and the St. John's All Stars, which will be played on Wednesday morning at 10.30. It will be remembered that in their last clash, the locals were victorious by a very small margin, but this time the Cubs have strengthened their team considerably by the addition of three American travellers, one of whom was for two years with the Yale University team, and who has the reputation of being a second Babe Ruth. However the All Stars are not worrying. The proceeds through the generosity of the Baseball League) are being devoted to augmenting the Halifax Marathon Fund, for which the committee feel very grateful to President Orr and his executive.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP MEET.

Wednesday's sports to decide the championships for the season of 1921 will be the biggest event ever pulled off in Newfoundland, and already there are many entries for the various events, the positive programme of which will be published to-morrow. The Victor Ludorum medal, presented by the A.A.A., is a very handsome work of art costing in the vicinity of £10 sterling. The competitor winning it will be the acknowledged all-round champion of Newfoundland for 1921. It is proposed to give four points to the winner of each event, three to the second, two to the third and one point to the fourth. At the end of the programme the competitor with most points to his credit will be its happy possessor. In addition, a gold medal will be awarded for each event, donated by gentlemen interested in the formation and aims of the A.A.A. A Great Britain football team organized by Mr. Norman Hendry, has challenged the locals, and the selection of the latter is in the hands of Mr. Fred C. Brien and Mr. B. B. Harris of the Football League. This will be a most interesting event and sure to be attractive.

A Storehouse of Words.

SIXTY-SIX YEARS TO MAKE A DICTIONARY.

As long ago as 1857 the Philological Society (philology is the science of languages) decided to begin the work of compiling a great dictionary which should contain every word in our language. Nine huge volumes have already been published; the tenth and last will be on sale in 1923.

Sixty-six years will have passed between the first approval of the giant scheme and its completion. And what has been done in this time? More than twelve thousand pages, each of which measures about twelve inches by nine, densely covered with small print—these are the results of the labours of those who worked upon the dictionary. Half a million words are catalogued and explained in it; and the ways in which they are used are shown by means of two million quotations from English writers of all ages.

A Murderer's Valuable Help.

The idea originated with Archbishop Trench, a writer of popular books on the fascinating study of words. As soon as the Philological Society had decided to adopt it, a committee was formed to begin the gigantic collection. Voluntary helpers in all parts of the world were asked to assist; and from them came in a ceaseless stream of words and illustrative quotations. One of the most valuable of these voluntary helpers was Dr. Minor, the murderer, who for twenty-five years was an inmate of Broadmoor Criminal Lunatic Asylum.

In 1878 the compilers possessed no fewer than three and a half million slips of paper, each containing a passage to show how one particular word was used.

Think for a moment of the labour involved in sorting these slips and in selecting the quotations. If one man had been employed upon the work his task would have occupied him for more than twenty years, working eight hours a day. It took ten years to get the first volume ready for the press.

When Dr. Johnson's Dictionary, which is still in use, appeared in 1773, it was regarded as a monumental work. But the New English Dictionary contains more than ten times as many pages as his, and there are a great many more words on each of its pages. Dr. Johnson disposed of them in 127 pages; the late Sir James Murray, the first editor of the New English Dictionary, required 1,240 pages to deal with them—not an excessive allowance, considering that he collected 31,254 of them!

The Last Word—Zyxt.

Sir James Murray gave up his whole life to the work: for thirty-seven years he laboured on his task. Unhappily he did not live to see it completed, for he died six years ago.

And what a task it was! Think of the problems that had to be decided. There were several spellings of this word. Which was the correct one? There were two or even three ways of pronouncing the next; the right way must be decided upon. Was the next one slang, or could it be called good English?

Every word had to be examined carefully; its derivation must be found, and if it had changed its meaning, a history of it must be written illustrated by quotations from many writers.

The story of the compiling of the New English Dictionary is one of the most romantic in the history of writing. The last word—"zyxt" old Kentish for "how seest"—has just been added to its vast collection; but the compilers cannot lay down their pens.

They must begin at once upon the supplement. In the years that have elapsed since the first volume appeared, hundreds of new words beginning with A and B have come into the language, and all must be recorded and explained. When the supplement is finished another must be begun.—The Bits.

wrong way, but a specialist, lecturing recently, pointed out that the habit many people have of sitting down on the edge of the chair is very injurious. A certain nerve is set upon, and the result is sciatica, caused through the nerve being injured.

Walking up stairs is another thing that nine out of every ten people do the wrong way. The usual method is to place the ball of the foot on the stairs and then take the whole weight of the body on that part of the foot, the heel never being placed on the ground until the top is reached. The right way, however, is to place the whole of the foot on each stair. If this is done, there will not be so much fatigue when the top is reached.

The habit of bolting eggs and bacon, coffee, and other things, and then running for a train or bus, is fatal to the digestive system. The food is not properly digested, and the whole body is disorganized by the wild rush for the train.

How many people drink a gallon of water a day? This is the amount that should be taken if one wishes to retain good health.

Many people go wrong in cleaning their teeth. The habit of merely washing the outside of the teeth is wrong. The back and the top of the teeth need just as much attention. Decay sets in as easily at the back and on the top of the teeth as anywhere else. Remember also that the top of the teeth is the part that comes in actual contact with food.

Don't Stand Carelessly.

Standing does not appear to be a particularly difficult operation, but notice people standing in a railway station. Notice the men, with their hands buried in their pockets, backs bent, and heads drooping forward; and the women with their feet in extraordinary angles, and so on.

The body, when one is standing, should be balanced equally on the two feet, which should be turned out slightly. The whole body should be held upright, including the head.

Representatives of India

Although India has not yet attained to the status of the Dominion—Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa under the new constitution, known as the Montague constitution from the name of the Secretary for India, she has taken a great step forward in the direction of self-government, and under this constitution is expected to develop so that in time larger powers can be entrusted to her people. In the war India acquitted herself with great distinction, bringing her spirit and genius into willing co-operation with Great Britain and the other parts of the Empire. Because of these things India was entitled to representation at the Imperial Conference which had to deal with the difficult and delicate problems of the status of the Dominions and to Indian in the Dominion.

India had three direct representatives at the Conference. First, of course, was the Rt. Hon. Edwin Samuel Montague, M.P., for the Chester Division of Cambridgeshire, and Secretary of State for India. During the war he filled several high offices, such as Minister of Munitions and Member of the War Committee. He served a four years' apprenticeship to his present post by acting as Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for India.

The two other representatives were Indians by blood and place of birth. They were Maharao of Cutch and Mr. S. Bester. Cutch is one of the Bombay States, having an area of 7,516 square miles and a population of a little more than half a million. Maharao of Cutch is a man in the prime of life who enjoyed in youth excellent educational advantages, and has grown up, it may be said in public life. He was well-qualified in many ways to represent and speak for his countrymen at the Imperial Conference.

Intellectual Isolation

About to Be Broken.

Stockholm. (Associated Press)—Moscow's seven years of intellectual isolation is about to be broken according to the Soviet Foreign Office which expresses its willingness to use its efforts to help further the exchange of scientific literature between Russia, Europe and America. During the last few years only a few scientific works have been printed, but a large number of manuscripts have been collected under the Soviet regime. A delegate of one of the Finnish commissions for the distribution of food in Petrograd stated that the libraries there are generally well preserved, but that his general library at Petrograd had its stocks depleted in 1915, when, after the German conquest of L'bat, 25,000 valuable books were carried away and deposited in an unknown place. All attempts to trace them have failed.

Prohibition and Woman Suffrage.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—The Ladies, in their history of the Woman Suffrage Bill, are unwittingly shown their attitude towards the Moderate Prohibition Bill. They say:

"The further suggestion,—of having our Bill go to the electorate in connection with the L'bad Prohibition Bill—we felt to be not only unjust, undemocratic and injurious to our cause but a gratuitous insult to every woman in Newfoundland."

This they say after telling us that they protested against a plebiscite at all. So it must be the "L'bad Bill" which they find the insult. All I have to say is that the Moderate Prohibition Bill is an improvement on the present law and will remedy present evils.

Some time ago I pointed out that the Woman Suffrage movement in this country, which had not even been mentioned in the General and Bye-elections, was revalued into life by the Editor of the Methodist Greeting. The avowed purpose of killing our movement for temperance and aiding the prohibition movement.

The women sneer at our Bill and say they are insulted to be connected with it. What do they do to it when they get the vote? And tobacco? And anyone mention the Prime Minister's cigar?

Yours truly,
ARWICK SMITH.

Lantic is in Yellow Packages--2 lbs. & 5 lbs.

Next time you open a barrel of sugar, count the bags, the 2's, the 4's, the 5's, the 7's, the 10's, the 14's, you use in weighing up the barrel of sugar. Figure the cost of the bags and twine and time spent in weighing. Don't forget to estimate the wear and tear on your scales.

Next time you're busy weighing up sugar keep your eye on the people who come into your shop to buy something, but finding you busy weighing up sugar, go out without buying anything. Charge up these losses on your barrel of sugar.

Taking your several parcels of sugar from 2 lbs. to 14 lbs. and reckoning that you put up 50 parcels of sugar out of a barrel, consider that you're taking 50 chances of making a mistake. 50 chances to waste a little sugar.

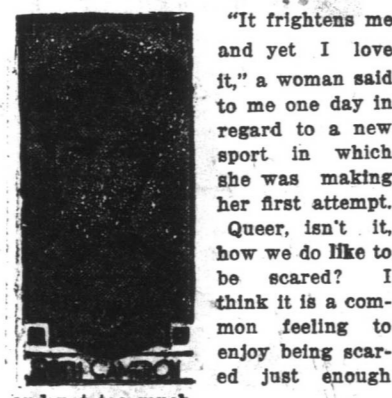

Consider also why it is that grocers in Canada and America use package sugar in preference to barrel sugar? If you carefully consider the above matters you will realize that 1 cent per pound is a fair estimate of your loss in retailing sugar out of a barrel.

If you sell package sugar (you can get Lantic in 2's, 5's, 10's and 20's) you have no weighing to do, each package contains full weight of sugar. Selling Lantic in packages saves you the cost of all wasted bags and twine. Saves you loss from short weight. Enables you to attend to all customers who come into your shop. You'll know Lantic Sugar by the red ball on the YELLOW package. Try a 100 lb. case of 2 lb. packages. Your customers will prefer Lantic.

SOME OTHER KINDS OF STIMULANTS.

"It frightens me and yet I love it," a woman said to me one day in regard to a new sport in which she was making her first attempt. Queer, isn't it, how we do like to be scared? I think it is a common feeling to enjoy being scared just enough and not too much.

Isn't it one of the prime factors in all our joys, in all sports with a tang of danger in them such as sailing, tobogganing, diving, horseback riding, skiing, and so on?

Fear is a Nerve Stimulant.

We love the nerve stimulus of a bit of fear. Just how much danger we like, is dependent on our skill at the sport and our temperament. Some people pass very quickly over into the uncomfortable stage of fear. Some people, usually very young folks with no nerves and very little common sense, seem almost incapable of reaching that stage.

But one thing we ought not to lose sight of, and that is that this thrill of fear is a nerve stimulus, and as such to be used in moderate quantities because it has a reaction just like any stimulant.

If a man takes a glass of whiskey he knows he is taking a stimulant. If he gives himself some other form of nerve stimulation he does not realize that he is doing something stimulant, but he is.

Matrimonial Quarrels Are Nerve Stimulants.

We all crave stimulation and reach out for it in one way or another. I have heard it claimed that matrimonial quarrels are often just the result of this blind reaching out for something to excite the nerves, and that people who have very monotonous lives really enjoy this form of excitation.

It is a novel and interesting thought. And its corollary is that people who live full lives with plenty of nerve strain don't need this form of excitation, and more than that, absolutely cannot afford it.

Driving a Machine is a Nerve Stimulant.

Driving a machine is often more of a nerve strain than those who do it realize, especially when they drive in so much traffic that they have to concentrate on the road every instant.

There are some people, to be sure, who can accomplish this concentration without the tenseness that wears out the nerves. But there are others who have not learned the lesson of doing things in a relaxed matter-of-course way, and to them the driving is a strain to be taken in moderate quantities, or to be gone at in a different spirit.

Many a man or woman who spends his or her week-end holiday in driving from 100 to 200 miles, is running up a bill of nerve strain to be paid some time in the future.

We need some nerve stimulation. We do not need too much. Maybe you have reached that stage where you think you do need it because you are not happy without it. If you have you are just about as badly off as the man who can't do without drink—you can't begin too soon to reduce the dose until you have gotten yourself back to normal.

Just Folks

Looking back, it seems to me All the griefs which had to be Left me, when the pain was o'er, Richer than I'd been before, And by every hurt and blow Suffered in the Long-ago, I can face the world to-day In a bigger, kinder way.

Pleasure doesn't make the man, Life requires a sterner plan. He who never knows a care Never learns what he can bear, He who never sheds a tear Never lives through days of fear, Has no courage he can show When the winds of winter blow.

When the nights were dark and bleak, And in vain I'd strive to seek Reasons for my bitter grief, When I faltered in belief, Little did I think or know I should find it better so; But to-day I've come to see What those sorrows meant to me.

I am richer by the tears I have shed in earlier years; I am happier each morn' For the burdens I have borne; And for what averts me yet, By the trials I have met I am stronger; for I know What it means to bear a load.

With the Rod.

J. Keeffe landed a salmon and two grise on Harry's Brook on Saturday.

There are several parties fishing at Hard Scramble. Last week they secured several fish.

O. Brown of Humbermouth caught forty pounds of trout at Rabare's Brook one day last week.

Rev. H. Petley, his two sons and B.

D. Lilly, fishing at Little Rapids, caught four salmon on Thursday and Friday.

Good salmon fishing continues on Harry's Brook and on Saturday Dean O'Rourke secured a splendid fish weighing over twenty pounds at Green Camp Pool.

The only fishing that we have had any reports of late is that on Lower Humber, where there is a good run of salmon at present. The fish seem to be just in from sea and are in the pink of condition, and the river is in good condition for fishing.

Dr. Fisher and M. A. Johns, manager of the Bank of Montreal, caught two salmon at Little Rapids on Saturday. The fish weighed 14 and 16 pounds respectively. They had only made a few casts when Doctor Fisher got a rise; the fish took the fly and the Doctor had some real sport landing him. About twenty minutes later Mr. Johns got a rise. The fish played well, but was successfully landed, and the party returned home same evening, having been gone only a few hours.—Western Star.

The Horseless Carriage.

(A weekly column devoted to the interest of the Motoring Public.)

The City Council have at last been in a position to publish the advertisement calling for Car tax—only two and a half months before it is up to you, Mr. Motorist, to take up by to-day or explain to Judge Morris. The horse power method of rating met at a largely attended public meeting of motorists held in the early part of the season. Ford owners, of course, come out a little easier than others but then as "the world loves a lover" so all the world sympathizes with a "tin Lizzie" proprietor. Chevrolet owners are treated well. We are not sure of the special reason for this as there are several other cars of similar horse power. We which get no special treatment. We which get no special treatment. We which get no special treatment.

men who cause accidents are those who may be the most expert drivers, know all the traffic regulations and laws, and can handle a motor perfectly. But they take it into their heads that they are going to speed, they want to try out their new car, or their overhauled machine, and perhaps they may want to pass a speeder car which is ahead of them. There are a dozen reasons one might mention as to why a driver puts on speed—quite natural, but a great risk not only to themselves but to everybody else using the road, be he driver or pedestrian.

"The man who knows the law, and yet deliberately sets out to break it, may, and undoubtedly has, a license to drive, but he fails to remember that license carries with it an implied obligation that he must drive at all times with care and discretion, that he must be reasonable and not a danger to his fellow men."

"Then there is another class of people who cause accidents. And these are the children. Last year a careful analysis of the fatal accidents in the city (Montreal) in which motorists were involved, showed that fifty per cent. of them were children, and of this number ninety per cent. of them were under ten years of age. No matter how careful a driver may be, even if his wheels are barely turning, there is always the danger of some child darting out from the sidewalk or from behind some other vehicle, or from some side street, without looking where he or she is going, and the driver of the automobile has no earthly chance of doing anything."

"What should be done is to have a campaign of education for the parents as to traffic conditions, tell them how to cross our busy thoroughfares, teach them "safety first" and then get them to teach their children. Impress on them the danger of playing in the streets, of looking first to see which way the traffic is moving before attempting to cross, of crossing only at street intersections and of waiting a few minutes, if necessary until the stream of traffic slackens—it is much better to wait a minute at a street crossing than to spend weeks in a hospital through an effort to hurry."

"Educate the motorist to drive at a reasonable speed, educate him to keep to the proper side of the road, to realize that other people have rights as well as he. Make examples of those road hogs who are a big nuisance to their fellow motorists as they are a menace to the public generally. Let the police look out for these kind of drivers and when they are caught in "flagrant delicto," let the judges deal with them severely and deprive them of the right to be dangerous."

"Educate the public to use the streets rationally, to cross busy thoroughfares at intersections. The policeman is there to hold up the traffic if necessary, so that they can cross in safety. Our traffic police are doing good work but they want the co-operation of the public, and if they can eliminate those who are under age, and are not considered competent to drive, our streets will be safer and many precious lives saved."

MR. DUNLOP.

By the way, what a splendid description of the Surgeons of some of our more popular doctors, the name of that car is "Scraps-Booth" do you get it? A booth where you are supplied with those useful letters of introduction to the Controller.

Julius Caesar—or one of those wise old guys—remarked once that "a live dog is better than a dead lion" but nothing doing now-a-days as far as anything like that goes. Did you ever have the misfortune to run over an all-rooster? You could have bought a live one for fifty cents but once you have sent it "West," it immediately develops into "the finest laying hen in the farmyard, Mister, and I'll call it square for a five dollar bill." And yet some people think it pays to be honest.

Somebody asks "where do the flies go in winter time?" What we want to know is "why do the cars stop at Seal Cove Bridge?"

We are cutting out the rest of the "car" this week to make room for extracts from a splendid article in the Montreal Standard of July 30th by the President of the Automobile Club of Canada headed "Safety First Motoring," for which we are indebted to Mr. Wm. White:

"Licenses have not all the bearing on the accident question. Think of the thousands of people who learn to drive a car every year—greenhorns, but you rarely hear of them being in an accident or killing somebody. The reason is because they are naturally careful. They don't know their machine, the extent of its power, the ability or otherwise of its control. They are afraid to drive recklessly, either because of a desire to save themselves from injury or because they do not want to run the risk of losing their newly acquired car. They may have some slight mishaps, but they are as a rule careful drivers and a self interest point of view. Who, then, are the people who cause accidents? The men and wo-

Bonavista Notes.

The three-masted sailing vessel Beacon has been harbored here during the past few days, loading coal for P. Templeman.

A few days since a cargo of coal arrived to the firm of P. Templeman, and was immediately disposed of to their respective customers. This is the first cargo for the season. We understand that Messrs. J. T. Swaine and J. Ryan intend having bargoes at a later date. The price has not been definitely fixed, but seems to have dropped considerably, in fact "easier" price than last year as anticipated by the general public.

As far as the fishery here has been a very poor one. Little trapping has been done, save what a few of our more habitually fortunate "habkillers" succeeded in securing during a day or two's "spurt." We refer to a couple of days when good hauls were made in a few traps but their good fortune was of short duration, and the majority of trappers have very little to show for their summer's labor. The hook and line men have not been doing anything worth while, though small catches are being taken and squid bait the past few days.

Hon. W. F. Coaker motored over from Port Union one afternoon last week, and returned the same evening.

Our friend Mr. J. H. Scammell, the venerable member for St. Barbe, returned from Catalina on Saturday and returned by train next day. How are you going to wet you? Whistle!

Household Notes.

When you buy a roast get it large enough so that you will have some left over to slice for sandwiches. It is excellent in toasted sandwiches.

When making huckleberry pie, sprinkle a pinch of salt and a few grains of pepper on the fruit. This takes away all that insipid flavor.

A vacuum bottle is indispensable in the sick-room. Water, milk, whites of eggs, etc., can be kept in perfect condition within reach of the invalid.

Mix dried fruit with a generous amount of sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Sprinkle with chopped nut meats and serve on lettuce.

Random Jottings.

It seems, Mr. Editor, that your Random correspondents have passed away, at least we never hear from them. I am a very lean survivor of the hard times we are passing through since the Croker-Squires dynasty have ascended the Throne.

A very important and happy marriage has, we learn, recently taken place. The important and prosperous persons of Harcourt and Somerset have united under one name and will in future be called Hallingside.

Messrs. Stone of Monroe have just delivered a very fine vessel, which will be engaged in the foreign trade. This is the fourth foreign going vessel to be built in Smith Sound since the war broke out—a very good showing.

Recently Mr. Currie of Britannia removed his dwelling house, which was over 50 years old. It has a slate roof and when removed the slate was just as good as they were 50 years ago. It is good as they are in those days when a great part of the inferior roofing material for sale, the most perfect and durable roofing material in the world is to be had in Smith Sound in abundance, there is no one to produce it in its proper form. Plenty of slate is to be had both in Smith Sound and Harcourt Sound. An English Co. carried on the manufacture of slate shingles at Harcourt for some years and then let it down, and to-day thousands of dollars worth of machinery is lying idle. It seems a great pity that there should be so much waste of material and thousands of fine proof homes and yet people go on building wooden structures that after a few years will rot if not destroyed by fire. Random is the only brick producing locality in Newfoundland.

It may surprise people to read that the big modern building known as the Insane Asylum for the Insane was built entirely of native brick, manufactured by Messrs. Pelly of Smith Sound. So says friend John Anderson, can get all the material to make St. John's a fire proof city of slate and brick. Pelly Pittman and Smith, who operate the three yards, are not doing much as sales are slow.

Last summer a Norwegian Company reported half million brick. It seems they were under the impression that the brick was not produced in the colony. If it were we didn't blame them coming from Norway, but if it's true our Government gave them a free duty on the bricks, then it seems they were millions miles further away from Newfoundland than Norway as far as their knowledge and interest in local bricks were concerned. However, American and Canadian firms have shown much interest in local brick-making. Large quantities of local brick are now being used in the big bank buildings erected by St. John's by Toronto contractors, and both the Dominion Bank and Steel Co. and the Anglo-American Development Co. look large quantities of brick from C. & M. Pelly of St. John's.

The Bar—a shallow place at the base of the island, which can be crossed at high tide—has the reputation of being the base from which the island started on his first trip to the island of Newfoundland. Repeated attempts have been made to the Government to have the Bar dredged, and the contractors of the present trip of Messrs. Pelly men who represent as they hope will have this necessary work accomplished before again soliciting your support. Stick to your promises.

The Shore fishery in Random has been poor this year, and the recent coming up of the Grand Falls paper mill will be a good help to people who have done nothing at the fishery.

St. John's has the distinction of being the junction of the Bonaville Railway and is a growing town. Messrs. Wiseman have recently opened a steam saw mill, and Messrs. Tully a motor mill. At the east end of the town is the store and factory of Messrs. Mills & Sons, and a mile further down on the railway is the siding and brick works of Messrs. Pelly.

Clareville has the distinction of being the town where the Nfld. railway crosses Trinity Bay. A large wharf, many stores and many houses are being built every year, giving employment to many. It is famous, too, as being the centre of large fox breeding farms, and it has the most successful Post Office in Nfld. If not, at least, they have every fortune in developing this territory and domesticating the beautiful and costly Silver Fox of the Nfld. But I guess I am using too much of your very valuable space.
