CHAPTER XXVII.

"Let us repeat the happy experiment of last autumn," said the Duchess of Epsedene to Sir Arthur. "Come with us to Dene. I do not remember to have enjoyed anything more than your visit. I will ask Sir Basil to come, and the two lovers will be happy—that is, if such unreasonable beings as lovers are ever happy. They seem to me more of them discontented."

The duchess had keen eyes, and she had noticed the shadow that lay on Sir Basil's face. It was not the shadow of discontent, or of sorrow, but of something that words could not define. More than once she had wondered if he were quite as happy as the successful lover of one of the most beautiful girls in England should be. She knew nothing of the general's interference, and had no idea that Basil's declaration of love

PITIFUL WRECK SAVED FROM EARLY GRAVE

"I couldn't sleep, my nerves were all unstrung, I was steadily losing weight."

"My husband is a mechanic and earns good wages," writes one woman. "We have six children between the ages of seven and fifteen. Both my husband and myself have denied ourselves actual necessities to give our children the best schooling we could afford. I have often stayed up all night making clothes for them or doing mending. Besides this, I have always done the washing and ironing for the eight of us. I also do the scrubbing and the cooking. The outcome of this was that I was doing more than any human being could stand and so broke down. I became a complete nervous wreck. I was reduced to a skeleton. I was in such a nervous, high strung condition that the least excitement would start me on a crying fit which I couldn't control. This breakdown meant keeping my children from school to eat in the housework, because I couldn't do anything as the least exertion left me a wreck. I was the finest example of a complete nervous breakdown that you ever saw. Everything was wrong with me—I couldn't eat, I couldn't sleep, I had that dreadful weak feeling which I cannot describe but can only be understood by those who have had it. I was so weak that I was ready to catch anything that was going. I tried several preparations but none of them did me any good. One day my husband came in and said, 'I see a preparation in a drug store called Carnol. No extraordinary claims are made for it and I have an idea it might do you good. Why don't you get a bottle? They say if it doesn't do you any good they will refund your money.' I believe that advice of my husband's saved my life because seven weeks after I started taking Carnol I was doing more work than I had ever done before and was feeling stronger than I ever felt in my life." Mrs. T.

that scene. The name of his daughter and the hated stranger had never been breathed; yet when the crimson sun sank into the waves and the day died "in a dream of amber skies," it was of his beautiful Leah he dreamed and thought, the child whom he had intended to succeed him.

A man like Martin Ray is soon lost to memory. He lives on popular agitation; and when strength and health fail him, and he can no longer go among the people with words that "fret and stir," he is soon forgotten. Martin had few friends; his name was no longer a tower of strength. He learned in that beautiful home by the sea some of the most bitter lessons. The one joy of his life was his fair, sweet Hettie—the child who loved him with such faithful, tender love, who had devoted her life to him since she made her choice five years before. He could not have lived without her.

Hettie made the most of her education; she gave lessons to the children of the well-to-do people who lived in the neighboring villas, she sung in the fine old Norman church, she made pretty little sketches of the lovely scenes around them, and so earned money enough to supply her father with all that he needed. It was characteristic of him that he never noticed his daughter's shabby dress or her worn shoes. She gave him unreservedly all she had—her love, her money, her time, and her attention. The only break that ever came to the moptony of her life was when her father, going out on business, took her with him for a few days. She thought it an act of kindness on his part, while he knew that without his most loving and devoted daughter he should enjoy very little comfort. She had never spoken to him of what she had read and seen of Leah. She knew that he perused the newspapers, but no word or look from him revealed the fact that he had seen her name. Hettie was compelled to preserve silence on the subject, but her thoughts ever reverted to Leah. So it often happened that, when father and daughter sat together in the porch of the pretty cottage, watching the sea in the distance, both were thinking of Leah. Martin saw her still as the beautiful child with the flash of defiance on her face with which she had left him. Hettie dreamed of her always as she had seen her last, in the brilliancy of her beauty and magnificence. Neither of them ever imagined how near she was to them. Southwood did not possess a newspaper of its own, and Dene Abbey was quite out of their world. The great green hill rose between them, and separated them as though they were in different hemispheres.

In Southwood no one troubled himself or herself about politics. "The Voice of the People" was dumb there; the popular agitator was little known. Most people had an idea that the quiet, stern-looking occupier of Rosewalk was a writer; and they knew that he could not be well off because his daughter had to support him by her exertions.

Spring coats show many throw-collars, which are often embroidered in Chinese designs. Embroidery is coming into prominence once more, but this time it is used in irregular and fantastic fashions.

Partly on account of its bracing air, and partly because he at times had a few engagements in the neighboring towns, Martin Ray had for some years made this place his home. His health was bad, his spirit broken, his means were small, his life was spoiled, saddened, blighted, his heart restless and embittered. It seemed that only hatred kept him alive—hatred that burned in his heart more virulently than ever—hatred of all rule, all authority. The spirit and courage of his youth had left him. For four years he had lived in a cottage standing alone on the slope of the hill. When the tide was in, and one looked from the upper windows, it seemed as though the house almost hung over the sea. It was called Rosewalk, because the hedges of the lane in which it stood were covered with roses. Rosewalk was one of the beauties of Southwood; and here, where the murmur of waves lulled him to rest and the song of the birds woke him in the early morning, Martin Ray made his home.

As he sat watching the crimson sunset over the waves, what visions came to him! His life had all gone wrong. He had intended to make for himself a place in history, and he had failed; he had mistaken self-love and self-interest for patriotism. Most of all, as he sat hour after hour watching the blue sea from the rose-wreathed windows, he brooded over the loss of his daughter, the child that had voluntarily left his side and clung to a stranger. He never forgot Western Europe's Last Word to Russia.

Entente Reaches Limit of Concessions—Genoa Conference World's Greatest Political Conclave—Council of Irish Catholic Bishops Approve Treaty—Recriminations Between Opposing Leaders in Dail.

GENOA, April 27. The French, Italian and Belgium delegations have reached an agreement on the concessions they are willing to make to Russia, and these will be made to-morrow. The delegates to the agreement represents Western Europe's last word to Soviet Russia.

GENOA, April 27. Representatives of the big and little nations of Europe are expected to meet before them in form to-day, to be presented to the delegates in answer to their proposals, which the Allies had unacceptable. Meanwhile the Genoa Conference has developed into one of the most important world conclaves in history.

DUBLIN, April 27. The Catholic Bishops at a meeting held yesterday issued the following statement: "Nothing but the peace and solid virtue of the people has saved us from the anarchy and civil war. Unfortunately the general public can up to now look on with helpless anguish at everything dear to them in the order, life, property and nationality, is being hacked to pieces by military in contentiousness. Like the great bulk of the people we think the best and wisest way for Ireland is to accept the terms and make the most of the free-

STORMY SCENE IN DAIL. DUBLIN, April 27. The debate in Dail to-day provoked stormy scenes. Arthur Griffith asserted that on the eve of the London negotiations resulting in the treaty Emamonn De Valera asked Griffith to extricate him from "the straight jacket of the Republic." Mr. De Valera described this as a lie and turmoil followed. Mr. De Valera demanded that Griffith's allegation be sifted by a Judicial Committee. Michael Collins announced that the full correspondence would be published.

SOVIET APPROVES. MOSCOW, April 27. The Soviet Government has sent a wireless message to Foreign Minister Tchitcherin in Genoa embodying a resolution of approval of the Russian delegates' policy at the Economic Conference and giving instructions that no concessions be granted the Allies which would interfere with the rights or the political freedom of the Russian workers.

BERLIN, April 27. The German Foreign Office in a statement to the Associated Press emphasizes that the Russo-German Treaty, signed at Rapallo, on Easter Sunday, contains no secret clauses as charged in some quarters. The Treaty has been published in its entirety, the statement says. It is not of military or political character, being entirely of an economic nature.

Latest From Sealing Fleet.
SHIPS OUT HAVE 2,400.
The sealing ships on second trips have not done much during the past few days. The Seal, Ranger and Thetis, the only ships out report for total of 2,400, so that with the 114,875 landed the total in sight is 117,275. Last night Capt. W. Winsor of S.S. Thetis reported that his crew had taken 700 old seals during the day. Capt. Jacob Kean of S.S. Seal reported yesterday that his ship was still jammed. S.S. Ranger is about 15 miles East of Cape John, and owing to weather conditions during the past three days nothing has been done.

Gambo Notes.
The willing workers of Gambo Methodist Church held a Social on Tuesday night, April 18. Although times are on the blink, the affair was a success, the splendid sum of $60.00 being realized. Much credit is due to the ladies for their untiring efforts to make this a success.

We deeply regret the loss of one of our most willing workers in the person of Mrs. J. Squires, who recently left for Boston, Mass. Whether her stay will be long or short, she will be missed. We are hoping for the latter.

During the past few years one can see a large decrease in the congregation, but we are, the few in number, still doing our best to keep up our faith and church.

A Real Policeman's Job.

The motto of the Northwest Mounted Police, "Maintien le droit," was freely translated by the troopers to mean "Go where you are sent," says the New York Herald. This famous police force has been reorganized and has a new name, but its traditions and sense of duty have descended to its successor and co-operating bodies. An instance of this is found in a recent official report by the Saskatchewan Provincial Police and constitutes one of the most remarkable details ever given a single police officer in that it was undertaken in the midwinter of northwestern Canada. It entailed 103 days of consecutive duty with the necessity of providing food supplies in an almost uninhabited region and it involved a journey of 1,900 miles by snowshoes, dog teams and canoes, the thermometer hovering all the time between 30 and 50 degrees below zero.

An Indian tramping down from the Arctic circle region told a priest at Fond du Lac, on the northern frontier of Saskatchewan, that he had found a man dead in a shack about 100 miles away. The priest notified the commanding officer of the police at Prince Albert, 500 miles to the South. Within an hour Officer M. Chappius was on his way to investigate the matter. It is from his report, written with the least expenditure of words, and with no attempt at magnifying his task, that the details of his trip are gathered.

TRAVELLING AT 50 BELOW.

When he reached Isle a la Croix, on February 16 he had to buy a dog-sled and a sleigh "owing to the fact that no one would hire me a sleigh, and no one would make the trip with his own dogs." Five days afterwards when he reached Cree Lake the snow was four feet deep and the thermometer about 50 degrees below zero. His guide refused to go further and the native Indians declared it was impossible to reach Fond du Lac, but a white trapper agreed to accompany him. The only food he could buy was four quarters of caribou.

On March they had left only a little tea and a half bannock and no food for the dogs, but he says, "we kept on." The next day "we had nothing to eat, our dog team got smaller, as I had to leave two dogs behind, which were eaten by wolves." In the evening of March 14 his "feelings were revived" by the sight of a shack, the first he saw since leaving Cree Lake. He found in it some frozen fish. "I took fifty of them; I could have taken more, but it is not a good policy, as I did not know who was the owner of the shack and was afraid of putting him in the same position we were, almost starving." He found out later, however, who the owner was and paid him "10 cents a fish, making a total payment of $5."

A MAN'S JOB.

After he reached Fond du Lac he had yet an eight day journey on snowshoes, as the dog team could not travel much of the way owing to the high banks of rocks. He found that the man whose death he had come to investigate had died from natural causes, perhaps cold or starvation. He had been dead at least a year. It was impossible to bury the body on account of the solid rock. So he says: "I pulled the rock stove to pieces and brought in some stones from the outside and lowered the bed and body to the ground; after wrapping up the remains with a blanket and canvas I put a number of logs and wood over the body, then placed the stones on top, thereby forming a grave. Before leaving I nailed up the door and window and wrote on the door in English, French, Cree and Chipewyan that this was the grave of Emmanuel Person, and that no person was to interfere or attempt to go inside the shack."

A few little details, which were crowded into the last paragraph of the report and which Officer Chappius almost forgot to mention, were that the trip back "was harder owing to the fact that I took a lunatic at the request of the residents of Fond du Lac and handed him over to the Alberta Provincial Police, that he saw no game but was never out of sight of a large number of wolves, and that for much of the distance there was such a blizzard blowing that we could not see the dogs in front of us."

Chappius' job was a man's job, one for a man of resources and of the kind of grit that looks upon "insurmountable" obstacles, only as some thing to be overcome. Obedience of orders was as natural as drawing breath; he was sent and he did what he set out to do. He was the real policeman, to whom the sense of duty is above everything else, and it matters little whether his post covers 1,900 miles of Canadian snow or a city street.

Siamese Twins Die Inseparable.

Rosa and Josefa Blazek, Siamese twins, died at Chicago on March 23. Josefa, who had been in a stupor for nearly a week, was the first to pass away. Her sister, Rosa, died fifteen minutes later at 3:10 a.m. The twins had been suffering from catarrhal jaundice. Josefa had been near death for nearly a week. Rosa was apparently in good health until two days ago. She made up her mind that she wanted to die with Josefa. Frank, the twelve-year-old son of Rosa, was with his mother and aunt when the end came. The boy is normal in every way. Frank Blazek, brother of the twins, also was present. No attempt to operate to separate the two after the death of Josefa was made. An X-ray had never been taken to determine the possibility. This was in accord with the wishes of the sisters. Rosa and Josefa were born 43 years ago. They were educated and learned to play the violin. They romped like other children of their age. In early childhood the two started a tour of Europe which lasted over a decade. They came to America a year ago to tour the country. Rosa was married. Her husband was killed in the world war.

Anatomically they were two complete persons, with the exception of two organs they had in common," said Dr. Breakstone. "They were joined together at the side and back. Like two individuals they had different likes and dislikes, as far as similar environment would permit."

Over-eating was the indirect cause of the deaths, according to the doctors' diagnosis. In the old country Dr. Breakstone said the women seldom ate meat. Since they have been in the United States they have eaten five meals a day consisting of from five to six pounds of meat each. The twins were the second offspring of a normal percentage. There were four other children, all normal and all still living. The twins had amassed a large fortune while travelling with shows in Europe.

Grandma is Their Doctor

"ON an old-fashioned bureau, in a house I know, lies a large-sized New Testament with the binding well worn, and with it a much-used old copy of Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. When the calves have the colic or the neighbor's baby the sarache, 'Grandma' hands out well-assimilated advice from the Dr. Chase Book. When 'Grandma' herself feels 'run-down,' Dr. Chase's Nerve Food stands ready on the dining-room table among the salt and pepper shakers."

In these few simple words Mrs. Bert Smith, Way's Mills, Que., beautifully describes the way in which many a grandmother is a blessing to her family and to her neighbors as a guardian of health.

And what finer compliment can be paid to Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Dr. Chase's Medicines than the approval of such mothers of experience as the one here described.

Just as in this home, Dr. Chase's Almanac hangs on the wall in the great majority of Canadian homes, and in the cupboard or medicine chest will be found one or more of Dr. Chase's Medicines ready for use in case of emergency.

If you did not receive a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac it will be sent free by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

GERALD S. DOYLE, Distributor, St. John's.

The Right of Precedence

The wives of two Presidents of the Courts of Justice and Revenue at Cleve were continually disputing about their respective ranks, and the lady of the President of the Court of Justice insisted that, in all public places, she was entitled to a rank superior to the other.

This provoked her rival so much that she wrote to King Frederick the Great and prayed that he would be graciously pleased to decide which of the two ladies had a right to go first. The king wrote back to her in the following manner:—"The greatest fool goes first."

"Frederick."

Annual Meeting Nidd. Motor Association.

REPORT OF SECTY-TREASURER.

The annual meeting of the Newfoundland Motor Association was held at the West End Restaurant last evening. There was a fair attendance of members. Mr. H. E. Cowan, President of the Association, presided over the meeting and conducted the election of officers. Mr. W. Angus Reid was unanimously elected President for the forthcoming year.

The report of the Secretary, Mr. P. E. Outerbridge, was as follows:—

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—

During the season of 1921 the Newfoundland Motor Association held the following meetings:—Four General Meetings, One Public Meeting of Motorists, one combined meeting of the Executive, Road Committee and Committee on Laws and Ordinances, one combined meeting of the Executive, Road Committee and Committee on Discipline and twenty-two meetings of the Executive and Road Committee; the latter meeting at luncheon every Saturday through the season. The Executive and Road Committee meetings were always well attended but the General meetings were poorly attended till about half way through the season when, luncheon being combined with them, the attendance somewhat improved.

Out of these various meetings the following business was transacted:—

(1) The appointment of officers of 1922 (as given below) was made:—

OFFICERS:—Mr. H. E. Cowan, President; Mr. Wm. White, 1st Vice-President; Mr. J. A. MacKenzie, 2nd Vice-President; Mr. P. E. Outerbridge, Secretary-Treasurer.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:—Messrs. J. A. Bowring, Frank T. Brehm, W. B. Tomford, L. Mc K. Marshall and Mrs. Munn.

ROAD COMMITTEE:—Messrs. Thos. Soper, R. C. Harvey, E. Collislaw, D. M. Baird, Wm. Barker, T. A. Macnab, W. Angus Reid, and Wm. White.

COMMITTEE ON LAWS & ORDINANCES:—Messrs. Wm. White, Fred R. Emerson, Jos. Crocker, J. B. Urquhart and E. R. Watson.

COMMITTEE ON DISCIPLINE:—Messrs. Mark H. Brehm, P. F. Fearn, W. J. Higgins, K. C. W. R. Howley, K. C. and R. G. Silverlock.

(2) Through nothing but persistent efforts on the part of the Executive and Road Committee of the Association, the Government was induced to vote Ten Thousand Dollars which they were morally bound to under the agreement of the previous year for Road Commission work.

(3) After many Executive and Road Committee meetings on the matter at a well attended public meeting of Motorists members of the Association and otherwise a method of taxation apparently agreeable to all (as it was carried by unanimous assent) was arrived at and forwarded to the Government who acted upon it.

(4) A certain refund of taxes over-charged certain small car owners during 1920 was obtained for these car owners.

(5) A suitable design for the official badge of the Association was obtained and several hundred of these badges were ordered for Member's use. The badge which is a handsome one is familiar to you all so it is not necessary to describe it. To date about one half of our members have taken these Badges. This is no doubt due to the fact that they were received late in the season but it is hoped and expected this season that every member will sport the Association's Badge.

(6) The affiliation agreement with the Royal Automobile Club, London, was completed and already three of our members visiting the Old Country have taken the advantage of the privileges offered our members by the R. A. C. under the affiliation agreement.

(7) Messrs. Higgins, Hunt & Emerson, were engaged under retainer by the Association to give free legal advice in motor matters to members requiring same and to provide free defence in minor police court cases taken against members by the Police Department.

(8) The matter of two dangerous "blind" corners—one at the junction of King's Bridge and Forest Roads and the other at the junction of Reid's Mill and Circular Roads—was taken up with the owners of the adjacent properties, viz: Mr. H.D. Reid, and Hon. M. G. Winter. Mr. Reid at the cost of the privacy of a portion of

TANLAC WAS A BLESSING TO HER, SHE SAYS

Little St. John's Woman Pours Out Gratitude to Master Medicine for Restoring Her to Enjoyment of Splendid Health.

"It is simply beyond the power of words to express the joy and gratitude I feel for the wonderful way my health has been restored," said Mrs. Nora Chapman, 26 Pleasant Street, St. John's, Nfld.

"My ill health dates back to the shock I received from the Halifax explosion. My nerves were completely shattered and my health was never the same afterwards. When I had recovered from the shock sufficiently to travel, I came back here to St. John's, thinking the change would do me good, but it was not until I started taking Tanlac that I began to recover.

I am just delighted at the way Tanlac has benefited me. I feel stronger and better than in years and I think that it is a blessing that such a grand medicine is in the reach of all those who suffer as I did. Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

his grounds, removed a section of his fence permanently doing away with the "blind" corner in question, and Mr. Winter has made arrangements to do the same before the opening of the coming motor season.

(9) After the fund of the Newfoundland Road Commission had been exhausted the Association advanced certain moneys for road repairing at the foot of Topsail Hill and in the vicinity of Beaver Pond, Portugal and Cove Road.

(10) Through the efforts of the Association and the kindness of certain members, cars were provided on Commemoration Sunday to bring soldier patients from Sudbury Military Hospital and the Sanatorium to the cemeteries.

(11) A weekly "Motoring Column" was arranged for in the Evening Telegram throughout the season and helped considerably to keep the doings of the Association in the public eye. A list of Registered Cars and their owners was published by the Association and a copy supplied each member and an arrangement was made whereby the Annual Report of the Association was published in the "Newfoundland Sporting Annual" and a copy provided each member.

(12) The preliminaries of a "Safety First" campaign to be inaugurated this season under the management of Mr. Wm. White were arranged.

(13) The St. John's Municipal Council were written to upon many matters such as giving immediate attention to certain portions of city streets which needed repairs, ditto to certain bridges and crossings, the matter of projecting telephone and telegraph poles in the city limits and other matters. The matters brought to the attention of the Council were in practically every instance given prompt attention.

(14) The Inspector General of Police was also sent considerable correspondence re the need of extra traffic police at certain city dangerous crossings and other matters having to do with the safety of both the pedestrian and motorist, and in every instance he met the wishes of the Association as far as the somewhat limited number of men and facilities at his disposal permitted.

(15) The Minister of Public Works was written to upon several important matters such as the dangerous and disgraceful condition of Manuel's Bridge, the need of making an effort to collect unpaid taxes which were due and other subjects. Several suggestions, coming from the Association have not yet been acted upon, particularly Manuel's Bridge which our Executive and Road Committee consider a death trap.

(16) The matter of providing a special gate for motor traffic coming from St. George's Field after the match had been taken up with the proprietors of the field who looked into the matter and decided that it was not feasible.

(17) The Executive handled satisfactorily our complaints against motorists for inconsiderate driving, three of whom were not members of the Association.

The above and many minor matters comprised the activities of the Newfoundland Motor Association for the season of 1921.

The important matter of road improvement is not actually handled by the Newfoundland Motor Association, but by the Newfoundland Government Road Commission, the Newfoundland Motor Association being officially recognized by being asked to nominate three of its members to serve on the Commission. The most active member of the Road Commission is a Motor Association nominee—Mr. Thomas Soper—and he has done yeoman service in superintending road repairing during the season of 1920 and 1921. I am absolutely correct when I say that every St. John's motorist and other user of the suburban roads owe Mr. Soper a deep debt of gratitude. The funds of the Road Commission were, unfortunately, exhausted early in August, but, up to that time, excellent road repairing was done in the following localities:—Manuels, Seal Cove Lane, Torbay Road, Petty Harbor Road, and Portugal Cove Hill.

The second annual dinner of the Association was held at Donovan's on October 6th, and was a success. Members and guests to the number of one hundred and fifty attended. Features of the evening were the many good speeches having to do with "roads" and "motoring" and the excellent musical programme prepared under the management of Messrs. J.A. MacKenzie and Ern Fox.

The membership of the Association during the 1921 season was one hundred and thirty-nine car owners. The success of the Association depends upon the support of every motor car and motor cycle owner and driver, and it is hoped to treble the membership during the coming season. To this end the help of every motorist is cordially invited.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Executive of the Newfoundland Motor Association.

(Sgd.) P. E. OUTERBRIDGE, Secretary-Treasurer.

The report was adopted as was that of the Treasurer, which showed a small balance in hand with a large amount to be collected.

CLUBHOUSE DISCUSSED.

Mr. T. Soper read his report on the work of the Road Commission last year, which showed that several much needed improvements had been made. No announcement could be made with respect to the plans of the Road Commission for the coming season. The question of providing a suitable club house for the use of members of the Association was discussed, and it was finally decided that this should be left over to be dealt with by the incoming executive. Dr. Macpherson expressed his pleasure at the fact that roads were better at the opening of this season than in any previous year. Mr. Cowan expressed the hope that every motorist would make an effort to join the Association this year. He then proceeded with the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—

President—Wm. Angus Reid.
1st Vice-Pres.—Wm. White.
2nd Vice-Pres.—J. A. MacKenzie.

Executive Committee—Messrs. W. B. Comerford, F. H. Steer, L. K. Marshall, H. E. Cowan and A. Munn.

A vote of thanks to the outgoing officers, proposed by Mr. Alber Soper, was heartily accorded, after which the meeting adjourned at 8 p.m.

D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East."

A PHOTODRAMATIC MASTERPIECE

It is safe to say that the most successful motion picture to reach St. John's is D. W. Griffith's astounding photoplay, "Way Down East," which has been running at the Majestic since Monday. A climax in which the terrific force of the elements are masterly employed for a sustained effect caps this truly wonderful screen triumph. This climax is nothing if not tremendous. There practically unconscious is Anna. And off on the river banks beating wildly in the terrific snow storm is David. As he finally approaches the ice-caked river, led there by pieces of Anna's apparel, the ice starts to crack and flow. Slowly the piece which holds the hapless form of Anna crumbles below. David, frantic with the realization of her peril, darts and leaps from one treacherous piece of ice to another, slips and is half submerged, regains his footing and goes on, each frenzied bound bringing him nearer the girl dearer to him than life itself. With such thrills as this the spectator of "Way Down East" looks upon the sensation of a lifetime. The audience at the Majestic, each night was quick to catch the tremendous power of it. Such a background has never before been provided for a thrill. In the production of the whole work Griffith's has shown himself at his best. Scarcely second to the picture in merit is the magnificent work of the Orchestra whose selections synchronize with every phase of the feature and make the production perfect from every angle.

SUPPLY MAKES FURTHER PROGRESS.

Further progress was made in the passage of Supply in the House yesterday. The Votes for the Justice, Posts and Telegraphs and Public Works Departments were considered. During question time the Prime Minister admitted that R. G. Winsor, who had received $1500 for fishery supplies, was a member of the House. He also said that it was correct that Dr. H. M. Mosdell would be Secretary of the Tariff Commission. Mr. H. W. LeMessurier will be deputy chairman and virtually chairman.

PEOPLE STARVING.

When the House went into Committee on the Estimates, the Minister of Justice moved the passage of his Vote with the exception of the mounted police, which he asked to be allowed to stand over.

Mr. Walsh took occasion to bring to the notice of the House, the serious condition of several of his constituents. He read messages from Rev. A. Shuter and Rev. Fr. Cacciola and others, which set forth the appalling condition in which the people in the neighbourhood of Long Island found themselves. The messages stated that it was imperative that immediate action be taken if the people were not to starve. Able bodied relief had been stopped and no credit was being given out. Mr. Walsh appealed to the Government to assist these people. (The Prime Minister later promised to see that the Relieving Officer discussed the situation with the senders of the messages).

NO SUGGESTIONS.

Sir Michael Cashin asked the Prime Minister if there had been any further consultations with the Board of Trade Committee and if any progress had been made. He was told that no suggestions had been made by the Committee but certain ideas had been put before them for consideration. These consisted of the questions of taxation

She could eat anything without indigestion or sleeplessness

For a time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. Appetite is always kept normal and you are protected against indigestion.

Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

Branch Railways.

To-day we publish the concluding article or letter of the series addressed to the late Chairman of the Newfoundland Railway Commission, and some time advisor to the Government on Railway matters. The whole of these articles constitute a damning indictment of certain phases of the Railway policy in Newfoundland, particularly the reckless plunge into the building of useless and unnecessary Branch Railways by the Government of Sir Edward—now Lord—Morris, a policy against which the Telegram fought with all its power, but unfortunately, for the taxpayers, without success. To those who have followed the letters addressed to Mr. Morgan with that studious care that must ever accompany the reading of documents so bound up in the past, present and future history of this Colony, there must remain an impression that Newfoundland was grossly betrayed into a proceeding fraught with all the elements of danger and menace to ultimate success, a menace which the construction of so many miles of subsidiary lines to the Trunk system but intensified, and so plunged the Colony into a morass of debt from which it will never extricate itself.

Contrary to expectations and blasting the hopes of the hack scribes of the Government press, who apparently are anxious to using their own expression—"cross swords" with the writer, his real name, for reasons, has been withheld. Over a non de plume he has given the thoughtful public something to consider, and if ever anonymous correspondent did service to a people so thoroughly exploited and mulcted financially to suit personal political exigencies, the gentleman who signs himself "A Student of Law and Politics" has clearly and straightly performed a duty which he deemed he owed to his fellow-countrymen. It is not enough for certain advocates of the policy being pursued by the present Government to shout blatantly, also under the cloak of anonymity, for the real name of the writer of these letters to be made public. There is an ulterior motive behind their clamor, a maleficent motive, and one which bodes no good to the future of Newfoundland. The baleful influences which have brought the Colony to her knees, were set in motion by the adoption of the policy of building Branch Railways twelve years ago, and from the very day on which that pernicious Bill was passed by the Legislature, that day marked the Avernian descent of Newfoundland.

MASS MEETING TO-NIGHT.

All arrangements have been perfected for the holding of a mass meeting of the citizens of St. John's in the Casino Theatre to-night, and for the good of the cause of Newfoundland it is hoped that the spacious theatre will be filled to overflowing. There are many outport men now in the city. All these should attend, in order that they hear first hand just for what purpose this demonstration is being made, and witness for themselves the proceedings, in order that they may be in a position to take home with them actual statements of the conduct and object of the meeting and the number of voters present. In this manner will they be able to dispense any rabelled report which undoubtedly will be made in a certain section of the city press. As the notices of the meeting imply, it is for the purpose of considering and adopting a resolution requesting SIR ROBERT BOND, P.C., K.C.M.G. to deliver a public address in St. John's at an early date on the present situation of the country. That this resolution will be carried without dissent is indubitable. That the people have as length made up their minds that they need more information on public matters than they can obtain, appertaining to the conduct of affairs in Newfoundland, to-night's meeting is evidence, and there is no man more fitted to supply that information and to give advice than the gentleman who has been named. Sir Robert commands the respect and confidence of all classes, and the finalising of the purpose of the meeting to-night, backed by strong popular sentiment will be in the adoption of the resolution of invitation. No voter who believes in the future of his native land, should remain away. Irrespective of party or any other affiliations he should be present to-night, as a lover of country—a true patriot.

An Open Letter on Railway Matters.

(Concluding Article.)

To R. C. Morgan, Esq., C.E., of Winnipeg, in the Dominion of Canada, and of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, City.

Dear Sir.—Such legislation as I have had under review, and such improper conduct on the part of a public Contractor in connection therewith, is wholly contrary to the traditions of Responsible Government, and could not fail, if it were overlooked, or condoned, to profoundly impair public confidence in the integrity of the Legislature of this Colony. But further, in view of your strong condemnation of the construction of the branch lines as "unwarranted" and your portrayal, as an Expert, of the dire financial consequences to this country that must ensue from continued operation, I think the basis of this country's claim against the Contractor for damages is well established. More than Ten Million Dollars have been lost to this country by the construction of Branch Lines, when you include cost of flotation, Debentures, payment of interest of way, lawyers fees, and Arbitrators fees. The situation existing, is sufficient to cause the utmost dismay, and it is not surprising, therefore, that the only way out of the difficulty that you can suggest, is the immediate closing down of the Branch Line Railways, unless the loss upon operating account is assumed by the Government. From my point of view, no such alternative is possible. My position is, that unless the Contractor is compelled to carry out their contractual obligations, the branch lines must be closed down, for the country cannot afford to assume the loss of a Quarter of a Million Dollars, which is "your approximate" of what the annual loss will amount to. It is a shocking thing to contemplate. But is there any possible way to which these branch lines may be put? If I may humbly offer a suggestion, it is, that you should take into consideration the advisability of not only "recovering the rails from the Port aux Basques Branch, and replacing worn rails on Main Line from such recovered rails," but the recovery of the rails from all the Branch Lines for the purpose you have mentioned, and the conversion of the road beds, of the respective branch lines into suitable motor roads. As you are aware, motor transportation of freight and passengers has become a most important factor in the United States, and is competing to such an extent with Railway Companies, as to cause them to learn to those Companies. A recent investigation by a Committee of the New England Traffic League, "showed that for certain classes of freight, for distances of fifty miles or less, motor truck rates were lower than the railroad rates. And to the railroad rate must be added the cost of cartilage at point of origin and again at the point of destination. The business community seems to have decided that for one hundred miles or less the motor is to replace the railroad for freight carrying." This was a very remarkable and important pronouncement, and, I respectfully submit, coming from such an important source is worthy of your consideration in connection with our railway problem. At present there are nine hundred thousand motor trucks in use in the United States, for passengers and freight purposes, and the number is being rapidly augmented, to compete with the Railways. Of course in this country the motor service could not exceed seven or eight months during the year, but neither does the Railway service over that period, does the traffic warrant more. The comfort and convenience of passengers would undoubtedly be greatly conserved, for distance would be covered in one third or more of the present time table, and passengers would be able to get off at any point. The same applies to freight. Further, the substitution would be an incentive to tourist traffic, and thereby a very valuable source of revenue to the Colony, and a contributing revenue to the Main Line Railway. Rails are now exceedingly expensive, and to re-rail the Main Line as you suggest, at present prices of rails, would entail a very large expenditure, if we had now to go into the market to purchase; but, we have almost sufficient rails on the branch lines to re-rail the Main Line, if they were "recovered," as you say, and sufficient Rolling Stock to keep us supplied for some years. I venture this suggestion in view of a possible default on the part of the Contractor to carry out their contractual obligations, and the then taking over of the Railways, temporarily, by the Government. As a Railway Engineer, you probably would not be in sympathy with this idea, but, perhaps for the moment, and under the circumstance that confront us as a people, you may be able to forget your professional position, and assume that of a General Adviser of the Government on traffic facilities. Sir, I have about completed my task. Pity, the Elder, who, as you will doubtless remember was famous as a Roman historian, and also as the man who warned the citizens of Pompeii of the great eruption which, proceeding from Vesuvius, destroyed that city of fifty thousand inhabitants, in the year A.D. 79.—I have stood on the spot where Pity himself fell dead—I would as Pity did, from this spot, warn my fellow countrymen of the doom that awaits them if they heed not the sign of the times. Pardon this digression; I was about to remind you that Pity has told us that Ohio, one of the seven Sages of Greece, caused the two mottoes—"Knew Thy Self" and "Remember the End," to be inscribed in letters of gold on the walls of the Temple of Delphi. I say, with all reverence, "would that the Council Chamber of the Government of 1909 had been adorned with Ohio's mottoes, for then, perchance, the worshippers in that Delphic Temple would have taken heed as to their ways, and we would have been spared the tragic fate that has, in part, been realized. I have only to add that I entirely dissent from your postulates, but I associate myself whole-heartedly with the clear warnings that flash out from your Report; they may be summarised as follows, namely:

- 1. The deliberate violation of Contractual obligations by the Railway Contractor, and the duty of this Government in the premises.
2. The utter unfitness of the Reid Newfoundland Company to manage their great public trust, for you have not hesitated to declare that from the frenzied on the engine to the manager in his office, all require to be "educated" in their respective duties.
3. The absolute necessity for the immediate enforcement of all Contractual obligations, to-day the Government are actually committing parties to the violation of some of those obligations by permitting the Contractor, and without legislative authority either—to reduce the number of trains provided for by Contract.
4. The duty of the Government as public trustees, to bring back into the Reid Newfoundland Company, by process of law, all rights and chattels, if improperly alienated, and that may properly be considered attachable for damages done this people, namely: Lands granted, as payment in advance, for operating the Railway; eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars received by the Contractor for lands sold to the Government in 1901; the sum of one million eight hundred thousand dollars, being award and interest thereon, received from the Government of this Colony under the Telegraph Award (said Telegraphs being part of the chattels conveyed to the Railway Contractor under the 1898 Contract).
5. I would here say that some years ago, at the instance of a Shareholder in the Reid Newfoundland Company, who came to consult me, I wrote the Attorney General of the day suggesting, that as the question of the transfer of that Telegraph Award to the private account of R. G. Reid, as was alleged, was a matter of great public concern, the Government might, with advantage to the Colony, stand behind the Shareholder in a test case before the Supreme Court. I received no reply from the Attorney General, and the Shareholder, for some reason best known to himself, did not proceed further in the matter.
6. The duty of the Government to bring back into the Reid Newfoundland Company the enormous profits on the sale of the S.S. "Bruce" and sister ship, which ships, under the Railway Contract must be considered part of the Railway—if such profit was alienated.
7. The duty of the Government as public trustees to recover the Millions of Dollars of public money given by them to the Reid Newfoundland Company within the past two years, and the unquestionable duty of the Government to abstain from an Agreement of whatever character, with the Reid Newfoundland Company until justice has been done this people by that Company.
8. And now, I would bid you farewell, if I have offended you, or any other person or persons, by the publication of this letter, then, I pray you and them to attribute my offence to the ardour of conviction, and that zeal for the service of my country which neither hope nor fear shall influence me to suppress. I am not a politician, nor an aspirant for political honours; but only a citizen, who recognizes that he owes something more to his country than rates and taxes, and who is determined, to exert his endeavours, at whatever hazard, to drag the wrong deer to justice, whoever may protect him in his wrong doing, and whoever may partake of his plunder.

I have the honour to be, Dear Sir, Your obedient servant, A STUDENT OF LAW AND POLITICS. St. John's, April, 1922.

Resolved, that moving pictures are beneficial to the community" formed the subject of a very interesting debate held in the B.I.S. Club Rooms last night. The speakers for the affirmative were W. When the vote was taken it was found that the affirmative speakers were upheld. The debate was conducted in a masterly manner by Mr. J. G. Muir who acted as Chairman.

ALFRED KING.
His many friends and shipmates will regret to learn of the early passing of Alfred King, for many years of the S.S. Rosinold. "Al" as he was familiarly known and called, was a young man of a quiet and retiring disposition, and it may be truly said of him he was seen and not heard. Some years ago he was a trusted employee of the Hudson's Bay Co. in the far North. Some of his associates at that time were the late Capt. Leo Coady and Mr. Caines, the latter being a son of our respected fireman, Sergt. L. Caines of the East End division. All three have now passed beyond the vale. (peace to their ashes). The deceased contracted a heavy cold in the closing weeks of the old year, which quickly developed into a more serious malady, and in spite of all that medical skill and loving care could do he passed peacefully away on St. George's Day. Alfred King has made his last voyage and let us hope that he is anchored on that celestial shore to enjoy the reward of a well spent life. He leaves to mourn his aged father, mother, five sisters and a brother, to whom his demise comes as a severe blow. The writer extends deepest sympathy, in which the Telegram asks leave to join—W.F.C.

Llewellyn Club

RECTOR AND GOVERNOR ADDRESS—FINAL MEETING SEASON.

The final meeting for the season of the Llewellyn Club was held at Canon Wood Hall last night. His Excellency the Governor, who presided, made a short address. The speaker of the evening was Rev. E. C. Rector of St. Thomas' and President of the Club. He made an eloquent address on "The Church in the Future." There was a large attendance. Mr. C. E. Hart was in the Chair. The evening was most enjoyable and Mr. Charles Hammond presided by Mr. L. Colley.

He traced the journey of the ship across Canada from England on a trip across the Atlantic on the "Olympic." He next spoke of the trenches and gave several of them a diary which he had kept during his stay in the trenches. His address was enlightening and interesting and was well received. The President then gave his address which was thoroughly enjoyed. At the conclusion Mr. Hart was applauded.

At the request of Rev. Mr. Rector the Governor addressed the meeting. He was most optimistic concerning the future of the country. He spoke of his pleasure in attending the meeting as a member of the Club. His Excellency spoke of long connection with the Club and of the happy memories he would carry away. He appealed to all present to be unselfishly loyal to the Club and expressed his hopes that the Club would be bright.

At the conclusion of His Excellency's address, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to His Excellency and Rev. Mr. Rector for their address.

The Daily Questions

FRIDAY, April 28. Mr. Moore.—To ask Hon. the Minister to lay on the table of the House a copy of the Report made by Mr. Collishaw to the Commission in connection with his visit to Washington a year ago on Government business, and also a copy of any amount paid Mr. Collishaw's expenses, etc., in connection with his visit.

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask the Prime Minister what amount is being paid for relief work on the coast and otherwise in the electoral districts of St. John's East and West; how many men are employed and what policy does the Government propose to pursue after the end of the month, also to table a statement of the amount paid for snow-removal, road building, and other given by way of relief from January up to the 30th of April (including the amounts yet to be paid for the remainder of this month).

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask the Minister of Finance and Customs the amounts due the Government by the F. P. U., or the Union Steamship Company, on account of the salt by the steamer Tuckahoe which has been paid, and if so when, and does he know when these amounts will be paid; and is interest charged on the same as is being paid on goods held in bond, by the same company.

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask the Minister of Finance and Customs is meant by the words "guaranteed" against the name of Tobias W. Abbot, of Foggo Bay, and against the name of S. J. Abbot of Twillingate, district for the statement furnished to the Government respecting the amounts provided for fishery supplies last year, and on the Table of the House a copy of a letter from Mr. O'Rielly who is in charge of this fund, explaining its meant.

Prince of Wales. WILL VISIT ANCIENT JAPANESE CITY.

TOKIO, Apr. 19. (Associated Press.)—Nara, one of the ancient Japanese cities which the Prince of Wales will visit on his tour of Japan as guest of the government, is a classic center of Shinto worship, and was the first capital of the nation. Much of the building and beautifying began in A.D. 708, the "Golden Age of Japan," and is still intact. The great Kasuga Park conveys the impression of an English manor with its lordly pines and graceful cryptomerias, interspersed with ancient cherry trees and rows of maples, beneath whose shade hundreds of deer may be seen at all seasons. During the time of the Tokugawa Shogunate, the killing of one of these deer was punishable by death, and while no such penalty is meted out today, any injury to these animals is severely dealt with. The deer seem to know it and make friendly advances to all visitors. During the early days of Nara prosperity, the Todaiji, one of the seven great temples, was the head and most interesting old shrine called Kaidan-in. The Great Gate was built in 752 A.D. and remodelled in 1199. On either side are two gigantic figures of Ni-o or the Deva Kings carved by Tanket and his pupil Unkel. With the two stone lions close by, excellent specimens of 12th century Chinese sculpture but grotesque to modern eyes, they are listed and protected as "National Treasures." The Narano-Daistui, the vast bronze Buddha cast in 749 A.D., is the largest of the kind in Japan, if not in the world, being 83 1/2 feet in height. The Kaidan-in is remarkable for its unusual construction and arrangement inside—a series of platforms rising one above the other picion of advocating serious study as what might be regarded as a fad." The writer notes that the invented language Esperanto has already held 13 international congresses in different countries and is taught in schools in Geneva, Breslau, Milan, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria. Ido, he says, claims to be a later and improved form of Esperanto, having hitherto had a smaller vogue but being in appearance and sound more attractive. "The vital requirements," he concludes, "is that the auxiliary language should be kept auxiliary, the vehicle of formal statement. If it should become a language of common speech, of emotion, or of literature, it will at once fail of its purpose and be only an additional linguistic burden."

Reindeer for Canada's Northland.

The value of the reindeer to the native inhabitants of Labrador and Northern Canada generally has led to efforts being made to build up herds of these animals in the regions referred to. The Hudson's Bay Company has taken hold of the enterprise and recently landed 623 reindeer, most of them at Baffin Land, some months ago. Because reindeer, in common with other animals, are liable to certain diseases and parasitical infestations, the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, through the Health of Animals Branch, has seen to it that the imported stock included only healthy specimens. The inspection of the animals was made by Dr. E. A. Watson, Chief Animal Pathologist, who was sent to Norway to examine the shipment before embarkation. Some years ago importations were made by Dr. Grenfell in connection with his mission work in the Labrador. The herd prospered well while under the care of Lapp herders, but after the Lapps returned to their native land the animals became scattered and lost. Most of the reindeer comprising the present shipment have been landed in good condition, and it is hoped that a beginning has been made in establishing a reindeer industry which may prove of great value to Canada.—Acadian Record.

No Woman Senators.

The Department of Justice has issued an official ruling that no woman senators can be created in Canada without an amendment to the British North America Act.

The official declaration is "that under the British North America Act as it now stands it is not competent for the Governor-General to summon any female person to the Senate."

The ruling was made in response to an enquiry made by the Prime Minister, the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, who had received a request from the Franchise Committee of the Montreal Women's Club asking that in view of the admission of Lady Rhondda's claim to a seat in the House of Lords Canadian women might be admitted to the Senate, and whether an amendment to the British North America Act would be necessary.

Hon. Thomas Crerar, leader of the Progressives, expressed his interest in the point of issue and stated that he saw no reason why women should not be admitted to the Senate.

Take Lessons From Movies.

NEW IDEA IN JUNEVILE EDUCATION.

STOCKHOLM. (Associated Press)—Swedish school children are beginning to read their lessons from the movie screen. The use of educational films is becoming more and more a part of the lower curriculum, even in the most remote districts, and leading educators are making elaborate plans to extend the scope of "film classes." In the city of Geneva, northern Sweden, the children are said by visiting American professors to know more about Manhattan Island than young students in western parts of the United States who never have visited the metropolis. One of the most prominent champions of films as a means of study is Prince William, second son of King Gustaf, who has taken complete motion picture outfits with him on his trips of exploration through Central America and South Africa.

Under the Curse of Babel

NO UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

LONDON. (Associated Press)—Language, the master-key to thought and the vehicle of communication remains under the curse of Babel, while Arabic numerals, measurement of latitude and longitude, mathematical signs, chemical formula and even the metric system have progressed to such an extent that they are now used by all nations, declares the Times scientific expert, urging the necessity of a universal tongue. Esperanto or Ido, or some modification of them, seem to hold the balance of advantages in the choice for an international language, he adds, although Latin and English have received sufficient support to be ranked as serious candidates. Scientific men, he says, form the group most anxious to see a world agreement on some auxiliary language and are not inclined to care what one is chosen. "Were it possible to acquire a second language in addition to the natal tongue to convey ideas," the Times expert says, "one of the greatest barriers to the progress of science would be broken down."

A CHOICE OF TWO. Of the languages contending for world recognition, he says that a difficult and irregular grammar is one of the chief objections to Latin, while English has a "chaotic" spelling, with a difficult and various pronunciation. Also, he says, the choice of one from the many living languages would excite intense and destructive jealousy. Reviewing movements that have been made in the movement, the writer calls attention to the work of the International Research Council, in Brussels during the summer of 1913, of the British, American, French, and Italian Associations, and of the League of Nations. These various bodies, he contends, are "free from the sus-

PILLS.

WALT MARCH

I take pink pills to cure my fits, my gout and flu and tetter; I swallow ten, and now and then I think I'm feeling better. I read the boast of Dr. Yost, who does much advertising; his pills, he claims, cure ailments and ailments with quickness most surprising. His ads appear throughout the year in every moral daily; his pills will cure the rich and poor he tells us, proudly, gayly. The village doc is prone to knock the pills he sees me taking; "These healing guys who advertise," he says, "are always faking. Oh, come to me, my friends," says he, "when you are sick and jaded; I'll feed you pills of nux and squills that have the Yost pills faded." But old Doc Yost he gets the most of all the coin I'm earning; he takes his stand, throughout the land he keeps his lantern burning. In every sheet I chance to meet his pills are recommended; day after day we hear him say, "My pills are truly splendid. My pills are made of junk and jade, of harks and buds and simples, they'll cure catarrh and leave no scar, they'll banish boils and pimples." Physicians roast this Old Doc Yost who keeps on advertising; and still he trills about his pills, whose sales are most surprising.

THAT CONFOUNDED CHAIR.

Is there anything in the world more typically masculine than the way the male always object which for the time being happens to have been involved in some occurrence that annoys him?

If you heard someone fall over a chair and then heard the words (without knowing whether it was masculine or feminine voice that spoke them) "Who left that confounded chair there? I about broke my leg over it," wouldn't you know

It was a male who spoke? Two things will prove it. First, the instinct to blame someone for leaving the chair there ("there" being doubtless just where it always stands). Second, the adjective "confounded" as applied to the chair.

Expected to Apologise.

A woman might say, "Who left this chair in the way?" (more likely she would be apologizing to her husband for the noise she made and he would be saying something about her awkwardness) but I am sure she would never say "that confounded chair" or even whatever adjective a ladylike woman does use when she wants to infer blame.

The "confounded chair" is the classic example of this sort of thing but here are a few others. (Be it understood that I use confounded as a synonym of all such words).

"How did I break my pipe? Oh, I laid it on a magazine on the table and the confounded thing must have been on a slant and it slipped off."

"The confounded train was late again this morning."

"Where have those confounded shoes gone?" (where are they indeed but in the place where he left them?)

How Disobliging!

The funniest example I ever heard was this. I was out shooting with a man. We waited on the shore for a covey of ducks which a boat had scared up. Instead of flying inward over us, they flew out.

"Confound those confounded birds" said the man, "they fly anywhere but where you want them to."

"Can you equal that for pure masculinity?"

Inborn Instinct.

Of course the reason why man flies

Royal Wedding Gifts.

PRINCESS MARY RECEIVED A VARIETY.

LONDON (Associated Press).—The vast number and varied assortment of wedding presents to Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles displayed here caused many people to wonder what the newly-weds would do with the 66 jugs and bowls, 16 silver toast-racks and 22 clocks included in the offerings. The late King Edward, after his marriage, found himself the possessor of 1,500 teapots of all types and descriptions and of more than 800 cruets. It is reported that some of these are still stored in London. Only persons who had been presented at court or who could claim personal acquaintance with either Princess Mary or her husband were permitted to tender wedding gifts on the occasion of the recent royal wedding. Charitable and other public organizations and institutions were, of course, excepted. This ruling perhaps saved Princess Mary the embarrassment over disposing of teapots and cruets suffered by King Edward.

A VARIED ASSORTMENT.

A classification of the gifts exhibited at St. James' palace shows only 28 tea services were presented. Other items are 155 articles of jewelry, including bracelets, necklaces, pendants, tiaras, brooches, rings, caskets, fans and watches; a trayful of flawless, unset, precious stones; 893 gifts made from precious metals, including 29 trays, 24 vases, 31 cups, 12 goblets, 18 inkstands, 25 statuettes, 14 card trays, nine cigarette cases, eight travelling cases, and seven workboxes; 197 books and manuscripts, 22 candleabra, 17 umbrellas, 14 lamps and shades, 17 rugs, 22 sets of cutlery, eight wall brackets, 36 dinner services, 47 breakfast table services, 15 silver salvers, 70 pairs of gloves, 10 wedding cakes and seven hunting crops. While correspondents invited to a private view were being shown about the state rooms where the presents were on display, the 22 gift clocks all began the chiming of 6 o'clock at almost the same instant—and the newspaper party was ushered out as it had been invited to call "between 5 and 6 p.m."

Magic Beans.

The Soya bean is undoubtedly the world's most wonderful plant. It grows with extraordinary rapidity, taking only one hundred days to mature from seed to plant and seed again, and is of a bright scarlet color, which afterwards fades to green. It needs very little attention, will yield as much as one hundred bushels to the acre, and improves the land on which it grows. The beans can be made into flour, salad-dressing, lubricating and illuminating oil, glycerine, paint, varnish, celluloid, printing ink, soap, waterproofs, explosives, linoleum, and substitutes for milk, rubber coffee, and margarine! The inhabitants of the East have used this magic bean for thousands of years, but it has only been introduced recently into Europe. In 1914 J. L. North, of the Royal Botanic Society, England, obtained thirteen tiny seeds, and every year he has grown the bean, selecting the seeds most likely to

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—"Constant Reader" hoped that an able pen, than his would take up the question of Compulsory Education. Mine is not such an able pen, mine will not prove so forcible an argument as his. But, Mr. Editor, if the current of feeling running through my system when I read "Constant Readers" letter, were felt by each and all of the great mass of Telegram readers, I'd venture to anticipate the outward expression of some of it. Such incentives, as those occasional insertions in your paper are doing their work. Newfoundland is awakening to the immediate need of Compulsory Education. J. R. Clynes, English M.P., says: "When we consider what a nation loses through ignorance, it is folly to try and save an education." We, as Britain's oldest Colony, are not going to let our youth grow up with an insufficient acquisition of life's essential, knowledge. Because we know we will lose in lower ideals and inferior standards of living. Awake! Government of Newfoundland! Vote out the old system, and draw up an iron-bound contract that will make the attending of school compulsory! No finer thought has lately entered the public mind. Think of it, you responsible ones! Write this picture indelibly in your memories. The world rushing on, taking more pleasure in crushing than in lending a helping hand. Are we going to deprive our boys and girls of early training, and then see them grow up reaching blindly for opportunity and seeing life, as one writer has put it, "turn to ashes in the grasp?" Imagine the thoughts of that man or woman, as he or she looks down upon the mound covering the fossilized remains of his or her parents! May we so plan and direct that those dependent on us may not have to say in later years when confronted with any life-problem (as did the heathen Korean girl to one of our missionaries): "No one ever told me that before." God grant that by our Government's immediate action they may instead "rise up and call us blessed."
Thanking you very, very heartily in anticipation of space.
Yours, etc.,
C. RHODES PERRY.

Moonshine in Ireland.

MADE IN ALARMING QUANTITIES.
DUBLIN (Associated Press).—The making of moonshine liquor in Ireland has assumed alarming proportions and threatens to impair Erin's standing in the British Isles as the most temperate of the group. The traffic in illicit liquor or "potheen" is described by the Catholic Total Abstinence Society as a by-product of the conflict in Ireland, and its rapid growth during the past three years was confined by many of the bishops in their recent Lenten pastorals. Even the Daill Eireann, in spite of the many weighty political questions confronting it, has taken note of the situation and appointed a Commission of Inquiry to examine the excesses which one bishop declares "are gravely demoralizing the masses of the people."
HUGE DRINK BILL.
Ireland's drink bill for 1921 amounted to 30,200,000 pounds, of which nearly half went to the British Exchequer in taxation. Formidable as this figure may appear, however, comparative statistics for the United Kingdom show that the drink record of Ireland was lower by a comfortable margin than that of England, Wales or Scotland. Per capita of the population, Ireland consumed £6 14s. in drink last year as compared with £8 17s. for England and Wales, and £7 10s. 6d for Scotland. But these estimates are based solely on the liquor that pays tax, therefore the patent computers of daisy statistics are endeavoring to ascertain Erin's standing with the addition of her bootleg fraternity.

TEMPERANCE SENTIMENT.
While there is no move in Ireland for prohibition there is a strong public sentiment in favor of temperance, and it is believed that the Free State government when established will among its earliest legislation pass laws intended to check abuses. In the area of the Northern Parliament there is a strong party, mainly composed of members of the Presbyterian church, which favors total prohibition. But the pressure of current politics and the need for keeping a united front against any interference by the South with Northern independence has induced a temporary shelving of the question not only at the elections but in the Parliament itself.

How Rand Crisis Arose.

PLOTTING BY RUSSIAN IMMIGRANTS.

Johannesburg is the centre of the Rand—Dutch for a ride—which runs roughly in a line to Krugersdorp on the west, and Benoni on the east, for some 20 miles on either side of the town. Primarily the strike is a bread and butter question of work and wages. Many of the older mines are poor in gold-content and are "petering out." To keep them going, now that the price of gold has fallen, the question of reducing costs is vital. The Chamber of Mines decided to reduce the pay of the White miners, to employ fewer of them, and to employ more natives.

The natives do the hardest labour. They drill by hand the holes in which dynamite is charged for breaking out the "reef." The actual work is done by White overseers. White overseers. By attacking the natives the Dutch miners hope that they will be afraid to work in the mines, and that the mine owners will have to come to terms. Many of the Dutch miners have deserted the Nationalist Party of General Hertzog since they came to the Rand and joined the Labour Party. They are particularly associated with the extreme or Communist section, which is largely controlled by emigrants from Russia. This section was bitterly opposed to the Allies in the war, and has always been openly hostile to the control exercised by the Chamber of Mines.

The danger to the Rand lies in the fact that apart from a small force of police, South Africa has no standing army. All British garrisons were brought home early in the war. The next line of defence behind the police is the Active Citizen Force, which has now been called up.

Advocates Execution By Gas.

Objection to the proposed use of lethal gas in putting to death in Nevada two men convicted of murder is based purely on unthinking sentimentality, says Brig-General A. A. Friess, chief of the U. S. War Department chemical warfare section. "Death by either carbon monoxide or hydrocyanic gas, is instantaneous, painless and without struggle," Gen-Friess says. "It is easier than death by chloroform and ether. If you and I were sitting here and there were some means of your inhaling either of these gases, you would die in your chair without the slightest premonition or pain. Both these gases are odorless, tasteless, and produce no irritating effects. Carbon monoxide tends to solidify or coagulate the blood. This gas is found in all illuminating gas. It is the element that kills. Hydrocyanic acid gas paralyzes the nervous system. This gas leaves absolutely no mark of its action. In executing criminals by this method, there would be no need to wait till they were asleep or even until night. The condemned person would never know when the hour of his death approached—or came. One second he would be alive. The next he would be dead. The infusion of the gas into the air of his cell could not be detected by him. When sufficient of the gas had mixed with the air to make it effective, the man would simply collapse—dead! As a humane method of execution, General Friess maintains lethal gas is as much ahead of the gallows or the electric chair as these are ahead of the drawing and quartering of the ancients. Nevada has already legalized this method of executing murderers.

From Peasant to Royal Consort.

When Alexis Razoum opened his eyes, under the humble roof of his peasant father, he would have been a daring prophet who would have foretold that he would one day blossom into a Count, Field Marshal, and Viceroy, the greatest man in one of the Empires of Europe, with an Empress of all the Russians for his wife.

It was a sordid novel in the village of Lemesh where the child drew his first breath on April 23, 1729. His father was a drunken shepherd, of a violent temper, and a terror to the neighbourhood. The village priest took young Alexis in hand, little dreaming that he was paving the way which was to lead the shepherd's lad to the dizzy heights in Russia. Alexis had a voice of almost superhuman sweetness, and people flocked from far and near to listen to him. He was brought under the notice of a great Court Official at Moscow, to enchant the Princess Elizabeth who weary of the pomps, vanities, and wickedness of a depraved court, took him to her heart, and in a few years gave him charge of her purse and properties; before he reached manhood Alexis found himself chief favourite and "minister" to the daughter of an Emperor. A few years of splendour and luxury passed for the peasant's son, until at last Elizabeth succeeded to the throne of Russia and Alexis was raised to dizzy heights. He blossomed into General, Grand Master of the Hounds, Chief Gentleman of the Bedchamber, and Lord of large estates. He was given for bride a grand-niece of Elizabeth, and at twenty-two he was Viceroy of the Ukraine, virtual sovereign of a kingdom of his own.

But Alexis cared little for power, rank and riches. "Pansy," he said, "is peasant's son bring a count; and a man who ought to be tending sheep, a Field-Marshal." However, partly due to fate, and partly due to the machinations of Elizabeth's ministers, he one day found himself standing side by side with Elizabeth before the Village Altar of Perovo, and the words were spoken which made the shepherd's son husband of the Empress.

Two children were born to them, a son and a daughter, the latter, after a life of strange romance, ending her days in a loathsome dungeon of the fortress of Saint Peter and Paul, the victim of Catherine II's vengeance. On Elizabeth's death, Alexis was glad to turn his back on the splendours and shallowness of the court. He asked nothing better than to be allowed to spend the rest of his days in retirement and obscurity, and with this object in view he made his home in the most modest of the country houses Elizabeth had lavished upon him.

TOKIO, (Associated Press)—Lovers of almost any popular sport enjoyed in the Occident would find an appeal in Japanese polo or "dakyu," as it is called here, for the game seems to be a combination of golf, lacrosse, billiards, bowling, horsemanship and even football, as it entails considerable risk to the players. A special exhibition of this game will be played in honor of the Prince of Wales during

THE HOME TOWN.

It doesn't matter much be it buildings great or small, the home town, the home town is the best town, after all. The cities of the millions have the sun and stars above, but they lack the friendly faces of the few you've learned to love, and with all their pomp of riches and with all their teaming throngs, the heart of man is rooted in the town where he belongs.

There are places good to visit, there are cities fair to see, there are haunts of charm and beauty where at times it's good to be, but the humblest little hamlet sings a melody to some.

And no matter where they travel it is calling them to come; Though cities rise to greatness and are gay with gaudy dress, there is something in the home town which no other town possess.

The home town has a treasure which the distance cannot gain, it is there the hearts are kindest, there the gentlest friends remain; It is there a mystic something seems to permeate the air.

To set the weary wanderer to wishing he was there; And be it great or humble, it still holds mankind its thrall, For the home town, the home town is the best town, after all.

his visit here, and as the future British ruler is a lover of all sports, particularly horsemanship, he is expected to display keen interest in the contest. How the game originated is not known, but it has been played since ancient times, and still is reserved largely for young noblemen and officers of the military staff, who are practically the only ones able to acquire an equestrian standard high enough to make the sport exciting. The contest is held on a regular course 60 by 20 yards, boarded up at one end by a high fence. In the middle of the field is a small pocket into which the balls have to be thrown. On either side of this pocket are movable discs, which mark the score by being moved up and down. The last two discs are marked by a cross, and it is not until one of these has disappeared that the game is decided.

HOW IT IS PLAYED.

A number of red and white balls, one of each crossed to correspond with the discs, are thrown in before the game begins. Then the players, eight in red and eight in white, all dressed in old style native costumes, with saddles, and accouterments to match, ride in alternately in stately procession, salute the distinguished guests and begin the game. Each player carries a short bamboo wand with a small net attached to the end, and his object is to stoop and capture the ball in this net corresponding to the color of his team. He then rides furiously towards the goal, where he attempts to pitch the ball into the cup from the net. During the throwing of the first three or four balls there is no serious opposition on either side, but when they have been thinned out somewhat and one side finds itself losing ground, the battle becomes fast and furious. The losing side begins riding and dashing at its opponents from all sides, cutting in front, circling from behind and halting them in every way possible. The crisis is reached when nothing remains but the last two crossed balls, by which the game is decided. Here the horsemanship and skill of the players is developed to the fullest and it is described as no mean feat to secure and carry a ball in a little net through a crowd of skilled players, yelling, galloping and interfering with all their energy. Even when the ball is safely in the net and the goal is reached, the last shot has to be made with eight men dashing forward, straining every muscle to prevent it going into the cup. When one side has scored, the game is called and the players ride from the field, saluting the dignitaries as before.

Upon His Honor as Minister of the Gospel
REV. W. A. THOMPSON WRITES OF DR. F. G. KINSMAN'S HEART TABLETS.

I had heart trouble severely for fifteen years and had many doctors to treat me with no discernible effect. I had become so low that I could scarcely walk fifty steps. At night I was troubled with fluttering of the heart, and by no means had a night's rest for that length of time. I had pains most excruciating and could not lie on my left side even for a moment. I tried five boxes of your Heart Tablets and can now truthfully say that I am well. I am a Minister of the Gospel and upon my word as such, I believe I could not have lived had it not been for your remedy. I am not, generally speaking, willing to give testimonials, but I fully owe this or more to you as owner of the Heart Tablets.

SOLD AT ALL DRUG STORES.
