The MONITOR will greet its seventeen hur dred patrons with a superb and beautifully illustrated 8-page Christmas issue, which will be mailed from the office on Wednesday 19th instant. The title page has an excel-lent likeness of our old friend Santa Claus holding a slate, in front of which are a number of little boys and girls writing upon it what Xmas morning, while the other six pages reading matter appropriate to the festive season. Each scheme has a steamboat attachment, which is to connect its terminal with Boston or New York, and by this means acquire and control the through traffic between the capital of this province and the United States, and at the same time make flourishing cities of the terminal points. Speaking of one of them, the Herry line, a Queens county contemporary asys. "It will give Liverpool, Mill Village, and Port Medway, as well as all North Queens, railway communication; will utilize the Rosigod waters to bring hard wood in scows to the railway at Indian Gardens; will make a vast game-preserver and summer resort in North Queens and Shelburne, and make this county rich."

This is rich. The faith which can see soows loaded with cord-wood on the Kosigool waters and as "vastgame preserver maded" for North Queens and Shelburne, through the instrumentality of the Hervey scheme, must indeed be stupendous. It surely could move mountains. Ballington Booth III.

Chicago, December 2.—Commander Ballington Booth of the salvation army forces in the United States had 2,127 vessels engaged in the foreign trade, aggregating 1,304,221 gross tons. At present they have but 1,350 such vessels, of 916,890 gross tons. This shows a loss of about thirty-five per cent in the number of ships and gross tonnage in the teat years. The record of vessels engaged in the domestic trade is but little better. Since 1884 their steam tonnage has increased some 80,000 tons, but for some reason or other the United States have almost ceased to be a factor in the carrying trade of the world.

Letter from New Mexico. (No. 1.)

MR. EDITOR.—I have many times been asked by friends in the Valley to write for your paper, some articles on New Mexico, but have hitherto neglected to comply. Now that I have undertaken the task, I hope to be able to interest at least a few of your numerous readers.

Perhaps the thing of all others the most striking in New Mexico is its wonderful climate, and therefore I will give it first place. New Mexico is called the Land of Sunshine, and the name has not been given amiss, as New Mexico is called the Land of Sunshine, and the name has not been given amiss, as perhaps for six months together the sun sails through summer skies unclouded save by fantastic shapes of fleecy white, and where there are not more than twenty rainy days in a whole year. The air is so entirely free from moisture that even the intensest heat of summer is not as unendurable as the July weather of Nova Scotia, though the thermometer here sometimes rises to 110°. Almost all the winter days are warm enough to be delightful. The nights the year around are cool.

most all the winter days are warm enough to each of our subscribers gratis, and will also be on sale in different places throughout the county at the low cost of five cents per copy.

The bright, unchanging weather, the pure, dry, life giving air, the elevation of from 4000 to 8000 feet, and the porous soil, have given New Mexico the prestige in medical circles of being the most perfect year-round health resort in the world for those having any affections of the lungs or throat. Many almost incredible tales may be heard from people who came here invalids and who are now sound and well.

It might be supposed, that as New Mexico has such scanty rains, it is a barren and unfrufful country; but this is very far from being promoted in these western counties should be carried to completion this part of the prevince would certainly be well provided with railway facilities. Just look at the-projects that are being seriously discussed in the press and elsewhere at present.

But how is all the winter days are warm enough to be delightful. The nights the elevation of from 4000 to 8000 feet, and the porous soil, have given New Mexico the pures of the lungs or throat. Many almost incredible tales may be heard from people who came here invalids and who are now sound and well.

It might be supposed, that as New Mexico has such scanty rains, it is a barren and unfurtful country; but this is very far from being the case with regard to a very large portion. In New Mexico preaches, pears and apples the very finest, and loading the trees so heavily that at least three-fourths must be picked from the tree when green to leave room for the rest; grapes the qual of any raised; wheat which at the World's Fair carried off first prize against the world, and onto the products

At one time the prospect for this line approach was a second to the same day last season. Canadians received during the week have been small and unattractive, but generally ungenerally demand for good sound stock. At one time the prospect for this line appeared very promising. Subsidies from both local and dominion governments were promised, or secured, and a number of laborers were at work. September days inevitably suggest the purchase of Autumn and Winter supplies for dress purposes and household use.

You buy and use Dry Goods; we buy and sell them. You buy the good kinds for as little as you can to use; we buy the best for as little as we can to sell, and we can and do buy for less, because there is scarcely a limit to quantity, and we always buy from headquarters, thus saving the customer the middle profit to a great extent. So much for argument. Now to prove it. We have just opened and placed on sale
