SETTLEMENT OF MINE DISPUTE IN SIGHT

DEADLOCK MAY COME TO END IN FEW HOURS

Great Pressure Being Exerted Upon All Concerned MEETING SOON

Premier Baldwin Expected to Take Hand in Affairs If Negotiations Fail

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, July 21.—The dispute between the miners and mine owners, centering on wages and working hours, appears to be on the way to settlement, some going so far as to say that the deadlock may end today.

Great pressure is being exerted upon the miners and mine owners to induce them to get together for a discussion of their differences and to negotiate a new agreement. Hugh P. Macmillan, chairman of the government inquiry board, is among others who have done their utmost in this direction.

Miners Unsettled. Meantime there is some uneasiness among the miners owing to the report that the government is arranging for awarding in special constables, this giving the impression that some form of coercion is intended.

The question is to be raised in the House of Commons today, when, if the fact is as reported, it is expected the government will explain that the step is to be taken merely in the interest of the public with a view to assuring the food supply, and the necessary public services in event of a strike.

SAW THE PLANS. Mr. Larkin denies that he approved any such proposition saying that though he had seen the plan he did not agree with it.

It seems that Mr. Mark Sheridan brought Mr. Bosom to see Mr. Larkin who saw the pictures and plans and expressed interest but nothing more.

MEANWHILE Lord Beaverbrook's Express is featuring the story on its front page and it would appear that someone is pushing a publicity drive at the expense of the Dominion High Commissioners in London.

SEES COMPROMISE. Mr. Baldwin is still striving with might and main to find a compromise on the crisis issue. He is very anxious to avoid any sensational resignation, but Bridgeman's friends say today that the First Lord has "dug himself in" and unless he gets substantially what he has demanded for the navy, will resign and carry with him most of the sea lords, including Earl Beatty.

Mr. Churchill has offered to allow the Admiralty to lay down two new ships this year, and possibly three next year, under an increased accelerated programme. If the Admiralty can effect other economies. The civil and sea lords have laughed at this proposition and just when Mr. Baldwin thought he had worked out a settlement he found today that he had to start out all over again, owing to Mr. Bridgeman's stubbornness.

Previously the judge had ruled that evidence given yesterday by William Jennings Bryan should be expunged from the record.

FATHER KILLS HIS DAUGHTER AND SELF

Harry Simon, of Orangeburg, Wounds Wife and Two Others.

It is stated unofficially that if these efforts are shown today to have failed, Premier Baldwin intends to take a hand personally to try the effect of persuasion on the leaders of both sides. The main barrier to a meeting of the rival parties, is said to hinge upon interpretation of the word "abstain."

Hon. P. C. Larkin Not Favorable to Scheme For New York Consulate.

Reinforcements for French Are Arriving in Morocco; Propaganda Among Tribes

Canadian Press Despatch. FEZ, July 21.—The situation is calm along the battlefield, where the French troops are facing the rebellious Riffian tribesmen. MORE DIFFICULTIES FACE BALDWIN

Differences Over Naval Programme Are Not Yet Patched Up.

LONDON, July 21.—Mr. Baldwin's difficulties, which seem yesterday to be clearing up a little, are steadily getting worse. Even if he secures a settlement either with the dispute between Winston Churchill and W. G. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, over the cruiser construction programme, there is bound to be a rift in the government with anti-Churchill cohorts on the one side and pro-Churchill forces on the other.

AGREEMENT ON PROBLEMS MAY BE REACHED

Conciliatory Nature Of Communication Makes Good Impression

SOME COMMENT

Newspapers Say Berlin Is Not Likely to Abandon Haggling Methods

Canadian Press Despatch. PARIS, July 21.—Germany has replied in a conciliatory manner to the Allied observations concerning her suggestion for a security pact guaranteeing her western frontiers, and it is agreed, with but few exceptions, that the German communication, while far removing all the obstacles to a settlement of the security problem, opens the way for negotiations from which an understanding may emerge.

Meanwhile the evacuation of the Ruhr region by the French and Belgian forces of occupation, is going on apace, the belief being expressed that by July 31, virtually all of the Allied troops will have left the Ruhr, in fulfillment of the promise made by the French government that France would evacuate the Ruhr within a year after the Dawes plan became effective.

So little has been expected from the German communication on the subject that the impression that its conciliatory nature had made a highly favorable impression, and foreign office officials appear to think the difficult points can be cleared up within fifteen days. Such optimism is not shared by the commentators in the newspapers, who believe that Germany is not likely to abandon her "familiar haggling methods."

The first duty of the negotiators, the Paris Journal points out, "is to establish exactly what is meant by the German promise, by arbitration, by the right to impose penalties and by the right to intervene. This is by no means an easy task."

MARAUDING BAND ATTACKS SEARCHERS

Relics Found in Cave Are Sought by Bandits—Scientists Wary.

GROVE, Okla., July 21—Added to the thrill of digging in a cave to uncover the remains of a civilization thought to have existed 8,000 years ago, J. B. Thoburn of the Oklahoma Historical Society and expeditionists here today keep wary eyes out for attempts on their lives by an organized band who covet the relics for their own profit.

The expedition is digging into what is known as Big Mouth cave for evidence of a lost civilization. The cave consists of a number of dark subterranean passages leading under a mountain. From the cave trickles a tiny stream washing out fragments of human skeletons, pottery, peculiar jewelry and implements, said to be the rarest ever found in America.

Funds for the exploration of the cave were appropriated by the last Oklahoma state legislature. Archaeologists believe the cave was inhabited between 2,000 and 8,000 years ago by a wild species of the human race. An attempt is being made to find a passageway between sections of the cave.

As members of the expedition dig in this vicinity know the cave is not uncommon to see a huge boulder hurtling down the lonely mountain side toward them. Strange noises and shots in the night trouble their sleep.

All of the expedition carry arms. An armed guard is kept over the unearthed treasures night and day. It is believed marauding bands in this vicinity know the cave is not uncommon to see a huge boulder hurtling down the lonely mountain side toward them.

Steady, Honest Work More to be Desired Than Following of Rules, Says Dr. F. H. Sexton, of N. S. Technical College.

THE tenth annual reunion of the staff of T. S. Simms & Co. Ltd., in the Admiral Beatty Hotel last evening was one of the most successful ever held, fully 135 being present.

President Simms in his address spoke with pride of the company's record since its founding 14 years ago.

He contrasted conditions surrounding the present banquet with those of former years and spoke of the great value the Admiral Beatty was to Saint John.

He reviewed briefly the outstanding features of the year and the company and said he looked to the coming year with every confidence.

MR. SOLANDERS SPEAKS. Mr. Solanders said he appreciated very much the honor of being president.

His subject was "Industrial Spirit of Corps as the animating spirit of a collective body."

Such a spirit, he declared, must originate with the higher executives and in time it would permeate the entire organization.

DR. SEXTON'S SPEECH. Dr. Sexton was greeted with approval as he had had an extremely pleasant day in Saint John.

He said he had chosen as his subject for the evening "Personal Efficiency."

He advised them to sit down and take stock of themselves and discard all the minor little details and fasten onto the major and more important things.

He recalled that on his previous visits years ago to the factory things were done in a different way than today.

MUST HAVE PURPOSE. It was necessary to have a purposeful plan for their work, he declared.

He urged each one to study his own reactions to mental fatigue and find out his limitations in this regard.

HARVEST MONEY.

From the grain crop alone this year it is now estimated that the farmers of Canada will receive $195,000,000 more than they did last year. Taking the official estimate of the grain crop, which is regarded as conservative, and taking the current prices for October delivery, the amount of money put into circulation as a result of harvesting would be more than $200,000,000.

In describing the stimulating effect of an immense increase in the purchasing power of the farmers upon the general business of the country it is necessary, of course, to consider more than the grain crop. Generally speaking, the prospects for a heavy yield of all the grains are good, and in nearly every province the outlook for favorable yields of hay, vegetables, and fruit and for a profitable season in dairying and animal husbandry present most encouraging prospects. Reports in general of a very much larger production of cheese and butter.

Canadians as a whole were recently described by an American authority as "a people of exceptional buying power." That buying power has suffered in this country as in many others because of the depression following the war, but there are many indications that it will steadily improve from this time forward. So much depends upon successful agriculture, there is at least every cause for encouragement in the assurance of good crops throughout the country together with the prevalence of profitable prices for the producers.

TALK OF A PLEBISCITE.

Among the reports coming from Ottawa is one to the effect that the Government may submit the question of the future of the two great Canadian railway systems to the vote of the people when the federal elections come. It is highly improbable that any such course will be followed, but the suggestion is interesting because of the proof it affords of sharpening interest in the railway problem and of the growing public conviction that things cannot merely be permitted to drift along as at present. It is felt that the grave economic loss to the country will force some change of policy upon Parliament. As to the talk of a plebiscite, the Ottawa report says that a series of questions might be placed before the electors, such as these:

1. Are you in favor of state ownership of the Canadian National Railway, substantially as at present carried on?
2. Are you in favor of disposal of the system to a private corporation?
3. Are you in favor of the continuation of the two present systems under joint directorship and share of profits which may accrue?

It is suggested that the Government would not necessarily be bound by the result of such a plebiscite, but that the vote would be of value as indicating public opinion and supplying guidance for Parliament.

The special committee of the Senate on railway expenditure, which heard testimony from various witnesses whose identity was not disclosed, confined itself to considering the best means to relieve the country of its heavy annual railway deficit, and at the beginning of the inquiry the committee decided that would not enter "into intimate details or particulars of the administration of the railways." The testimony taken was that of business and railway experts, and several plans were suggested by them. These included co-operation between the two systems, the purchase of the C. P. R. by the Government, the sale or lease of the Canadian National Railway to the Canadian Pacific, and the transfer of the Canadian National system to a private company, to be owned and operated by such company. A fifth plan, which the committee decided was the best of those proposed, and the adoption of which it recommended, was this:

The merger of the two systems for purposes of administration and operation.

That both the C. P. R. and the C. N. R. should be placed under the management of a board of fifteen directors, five to be named by the C. P. R., five by the Government, and these ten to choose "five proved, capable business men to complete the board; these last five directors to hold office for ten years and to be removable only for cause."

That a recapitalization be made of the Canadian National Railway from the point of view of earning capacity.

That the Canadian Pacific Railway be guaranteed an agreed dividend on its stock.

In the event of the joint management producing a surplus, a dividend at the same rate as is paid to the Canadian Pacific Railway be paid to the Government on the recapitalization placed on the Government Railway. After the payment of these dividends any surplus earnings available for distribution be divided between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway, in proportion to the valuation of the two systems.

The evidence heard convinced the committee that a considerable part of

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

There is a Land

Cut into the stonework above the main floor of the new Houses of Parliament is the poetic quotation, "There is a Land," the poet laureate, J. A. Ritchie, K. C., crown attorney of Ottawa, who has more than a local reputation as a poet and dramatist, says the Ottawa Citizen.

The poem, "There is a Land," reads as follows:

There is a Land that we must love,
A North Land, wide and fair,
A Land of pine and maple trees,
And beauty everywhere;
And there free hearts have found a home
And space to still be free,
Facing the morning confident
In her high destiny.

When the leaves are crimson,
When the fields are white,
When the woods are green in spring,
Or bathed in summer light,
Be sure we love her dearly,
Her woods, her streams, her flowers,
This sunny pine and maple land,
This Canada of ours.

And oh, her skies are bright and blue,
Her waters bright and pure;
There's balm within her forest shades
The wholesome air she breathes,
Her gates both East and West,
Then is it strange that we should love
This Land, our Land, the best?

When the hills stand drizzling,
When the slumbering earth awakes,
Be sure we love her dearly,
Her woods, her streams, her flowers,
This sunny pine and maple land,
This Canada of ours.

$6,750,000 In Asbestos Is Sold by Canada

LONDON, July 9—According to the Canadian Official Mining News Letter issued recently in London, dealing with Canada's asbestos industry, the production of this material is from the point of view of value the most important of the non-metallic mineral industries of the Dominion, exclusive of fuels and structural materials.

Shipments of asbestos at all grades in Canada last year amounted to nearly six and three-quarter million dollars. At the present time, a merger of the more important operating companies is being negotiated in order that the Canadian industry may be co-operative among the existing operators to better able to meet successfully increasing foreign competition.

Conditions Better For Prairie Crops

Grain Heading Out Well in Western Provinces—Drought in Places.

WINNIPEG, July 20—Crop conditions in Western Canada have been materially improved as the result of recent rains, although the prolonged drought in certain sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan is believed to have caused some damage, according to the weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railway, agricultural department.

Additional moisture would greatly relieve the situation and help the grain, which the report declares is heading out uniformly well in all three prairie provinces.

In Manitoba harvesting of rye and barley will commence in about ten days, except for slight damage from rust and cut worms, the condition of the crops in this province is regarded as favorable.

Kent Ready to Run in Gloucester County

BATHURST, July 20—W. J. Kent, former Mayor of Bathurst, has consented to take the place of M. H. Polfer on the Opposition ticket. Mr. Polfer made it clear at the Opposition rally here tonight that he withdrew willingly and said he would be in the fight to support the party. The formal nomination will be tendered Mr. Kent at the big political picnic to be held here on Wednesday.

Premier Sees $1,000,000 N.S. 1925 Deficit

SYDNEY, N. S., July 20—A deficit in provincial current account for the present year of at least $1,000,000 was predicted tonight by Premier E. N. Rhodes in a brief public speech.

He was addressing a gathering of several thousands which crowded Westworth Park and vicinity in a reception.

"No provincial government in the history of Canada has been confronted with difficulties of such magnitude and moment as those which confront my government," said Mr. Rhodes. "Let us forget politics and work together, remember that this government is your government until the next election rolls around, and if you give us your moral support we will give you the best that is in us," he concluded.

Hail Toll Heavy.

Hail has taken a heavy toll in some districts of Saskatchewan, but generally the outlook is promising and many points report conditions from which "wonderful crops" are expected. Rain is needed in these sections of Alberta where the soil is light and the weather has parched fields at some points. Very little damage has been reported in districts along the Canadian National lines, and a heavy deficit is expected if nothing untoward occurs the report states.

MRS. LAURA OSMAN BORN IN VIRGINIA

Widow of Hon. C. J. Osman, of Hillsboro, Dies After Short Illness.

HILLSBORO, July 20—Women's work in New Brunswick has lost a strong supporter in the death of Mrs. Laura Osman, widow of Hon. C. J. Osman, of Hillsboro, Albert county, who died this afternoon after a short illness.

Mrs. Osman had attended the recent meetings of the New Brunswick Women's Institute at Moncton. She took ill there with a slight stroke from which she never rallied.

Mrs. Osman was a woman of superior mind who maintained a noticeable womanliness with strong character and sweet reasonableness. She gave herself for her community and became identified with the Women's Institute as chairman of the board of advisors of the Institute at the time of her death and had held many offices in the organization.

She was an American by birth, born in Virginia, but no native Canadian loved her country more than Mrs. Osman. She made the Women's Institute the outlet for her activities.

Her home was the centre for literary gatherings and many a tired, discouraged woman, who needed a rest from the world's cares, found shelter there. With young people Mrs. Osman had peculiar influence. She inspired them to high ambitions to be useful in the world by her affectionate trust that they would make good. She thought only the best and kept in touch with the world at large, ready to discuss at any time the weightier as well as the trivial things that vex many of her sex. This tribute was paid her memory by one who came under her charm in childhood and who never lost the influence then imparted.

Notice of the funeral will be given later.

HUSBAND WAS PROMINENT

The late Hon. Mr. Osman was prominent as a business man and later in life in politics. He was speaker of the House at Fredericton for several years. He was also a member for Albert county for the Liberal Government, being successful in three elections. He was a member of the Albert Manufacturing Company, which business was established by Mrs. Osman's father, Mr. Tompkins. Mr. Osman was manager for years of the company and of their large stores in Hillsboro. He was president finally and left the active management to others, taking extensive tours, particularly to the southern states with Mrs. Osman. He was in ill health for some years before he died.

DEATH WILL BE REGRETTED

MONCTON, July 20—(Special)—News of the death of Mrs. C. J. Osman at her home in Hillsboro this afternoon will be heard with deep regret by her many friends in Moncton as elsewhere throughout the province. Mrs. Osman was in this city recently attending the annual meeting of the Women's Institute of New Brunswick. As president of the provincial advisory board, she occupied the chair, presiding with much tact. She took a deep interest in the affairs of the organization and followed closely the various questions that came before the gathering.

Her skill in handling debates and her comments from time to time during the sessions revealed a comprehensive grasp of the various matters engaging the attention of the women of New Brunswick.

Blaze in Forest In Madawaska

FREDERICTON, July 20—A report of a forest fire in the northeast branch of Green River, Madawaska county, was received today by the Department of Lands and Mines from the St. Quentin lookout. According to the location given, the fire is about seven miles from the Quisibis lookout, which so far has failed to report the outbreak. It is believed that the fire is but a small one and that it has been investigated by the Quisibis lookout in view of its proximity.

This is the first forest fire reported in the province in a month, exclusive of a small one at Newcastle last week caused by a burning house.

Fables On Health

WHAT HEALTH EDUCATION DOES

WHAT are the purposes and aims of health education? To instruct children and youth so that they may conserve and improve their own health.

To establish in them the habits and principles of living which throughout their school life and in later years will assure abundant vigor and vitality which provide the basis for the greatest possible happiness and service in personal, family and community life.

To influence parents and other adults, through the health education programme for children, to better habits and attitudes, so that the school may become an effective agency for the promotion of the social aspects of health education in the family and community as well as in the school itself.

To improve the individual and community life of the future; to insure a better generation and a still better third generation; a healthier and fitter nation and race.

These are the answers given by a special New York committee on

Adventures of the Twins

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON. THE MIRE-OF-MUD.

The next place the Twins came to on their way to Pixie Cave was the Mire-of-Mud.

"We'll get across it all right," said Nick to Nancy. "Our magic shoes don't mind a little bit of mud. Come along and walk right over."

But they had not gone three steps when down they sank in up to their knees.

"I was just waiting to see what would happen," said someone nearby, and looking up the Twins beheld a queer-looking man all dressed in leather.

"When magic meets magic," said this queer-looking person, "then comes the tug of war. I guess my magic is stronger than yours and it will take some tugging to get out of that mud." Then suddenly he whistled shrilly on his fingers.

There were sounds of galloping and in a moment a wooden horse appeared out of the woods and ran up to his master.

"There are two passengers for you, Saddle," said the Saddler, for that is who the queer person was. "They want to get over the Mire-of-Mud. I suppose they are trying to get to Pixie Cave. Are you?" he asked the Twins.

"Yes, we are," answered Nick. "We are looking for the golden beehive that the Pixies stole from the Fairy Queen. It's hidden in their secret cupboard."

"Have you the key?" asked the Saddler. "Yes, here it is," said Nick, reaching down in his pocket and holding it up for the Saddler to see.

"I'm not quite sure that is the right one," said the Saddler. "I can't let my wooden horse carry you over the mire unless you have the right key to the secret cupboard. Let me see it."

So Nick threw the magic key out on the bank and the Saddler picked it up. Instantly the wooden horse took the key in his teeth and galloped back into the forest.

"Oh dear! What have you done, Nick?" cried Nancy. "Never mind," cried the Saddler.

ANGUS M'LEAN WANTS HYDRO INVESTIGATION

Would Hold Up Grand Falls Work for Time—$30 Per H. P. Prohibitive.

BATHURST, July 20—Angus McLean, president of the Bathurst Company, Limited, at a rally of supporters of the Opposition party here tonight, went on record as opposing the development of Hydro-Electric power at Grand Falls until a further inquiry had been instituted.

Mr. McLean declared that much of the water was located in Maine and he felt that the development ought not to be proceeded with without further inquiry.

Mr. McLean declared that, if power were available at a sufficiently low rate, it would mean an addition to the paper mill at Bathurst, but he went on to say that energy at $30 a horsepower delivered in Bathurst would be prohibitive because, he declared, the Bathurst mill had to compete with mills in Quebec, where power was available at from $12 to $15 a horsepower.

DEALS WITH INDUSTRY. In his address Mr. McLean dealt with industrial conditions in the province but devoted most of his address to the Grand Falls development.

When it was announced by the chairman of the meeting, Sydney DesBriay, of Petit Roche, that W. J. Kent, former Mayor, had consented to replace M. H.

Other speakers at the rally, which was attended by about 200 persons, were Mr. Kent, Mr. Poirier, Mayor J. L. Ryan, M. J. Robichaud and J. B. Hachey.

Cloudy teeth—dull teeth

How to make them whiter—quickly

The new way world's dental authorities advise. What to do

THOSE whiter teeth that you envy. Don't think they are beyond you. You can now lighten dull and dingy teeth—make them gleam and glisten.

Modern science has discovered a new way. A method different in formula, action and effect from any you have ever used. This offers you a test. Simply use the coupon; it brings free a 10-day tube.

Look for film on your teeth—that's the cause. How to combat it.

Look at your teeth. If dull, cloudy, run your tongue across them. You will feel a film. That's the cause of the trouble. You must fight it.

Film is that viscous coat which you feel. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It hides the natural luster of your teeth.

It also holds food substance which ferments and causes acid. In contact with teeth, this acid invites decay. Millions of germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So dingy teeth mean more than loss of good appearance. They may indicate danger, grave danger to your teeth.

New methods now that mean greater tooth beauty plus better protection from tooth troubles.

Ordinary tooth pastes were unable to cope adequately with that film. Not one could effectively combat it. Harsh grit tended to injure the enamel. Soap and chalk were inadequate.

Now modern dental science has found new combatants. Their action is to curdle film and then harmlessly remove it. They are embodied in a new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent—a scientific method that is changing the tooth cleaning habits of some 50 different nations.

Don't you think it worth while to try it for 10 days; then to note results yourself?

Send coupon for free 10-day test. Make the test today. Clip the coupon for a free 10-day tube. Or get a full-size tube of your druggist. Why follow old methods when world's dental authorities urge a better way?

OAK POINT CHURCH WINDOW DEDICATED

Memorial to Late Rev. D. W. Pickett, Former Rector of St. Paul's.

OAK POINT, July 20—A service of exceptional interest was held at St. Paul's church, Oak Point, Sunday afternoon, when a beautiful window was dedicated to the memory of the late Rev. David Wetmore Pickett, D. D. and his wife, Helen Boyle.

The window shows Christ the Good Shepherd in the central light with the font and chalice in the left and right lights. The work was done by the N. T. Lynn Glass Co. of Toronto, and was installed through the kindness of Messrs. John and Angus McLeod, of Oak Point.

A very large congregation was present at the dedication service which was read by the Rev. H. A. Cody, of St. James church, Saint John, and who succeeded Dr. Pickett as rector of Greenwich in 1897. Mr. Hoyt, the student from Bishop's College, Lennoxville, read the service for the day and William Hoyt was organist. The singing was exceptionally hearty.

MARTIN TO RUN AS INDEPENDENT

Three-cornered Fight if he is Not Put on Opposition Ticket.

CHATHAM, July 20—J. S. Martin, Labor representative for Northumberland in the last Legislature, has hung his hat into the ring and will be in the field as the workers' representative and promises fair and impartial support to all classes.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT.

It seems that there will be a three-cornered fight in Northumberland unless Mr. Martin should be endorsed by the Opposition convention which meets at Newcastle Friday. The probability of this does not seem so great as it did several weeks ago, as it appears that the Opposition leaders here feel that the party's ends can best be served by the nomination of four straight Conservatives.

IDEA APPEARS DROPPED.

The bringing out of a coalition ticket has been much discussed of late, but now the idea seems to have been dropped and the general opinion appears to be that only a simple Conservative will be nominated on Friday.

CONCEDED PLACES.

Messrs. Walling and Lavole are conceded places on the ticket and the probabilities for the remainder are in favor of Doyle and Holmes.

HUSBAND DOES NOT APPROVE OF WIFE'S IDEAS

Mrs. Arthur Whitneys' Separation Suit Brings Out Her Ultimatum

NO LIBERTY FOR BACHELOR

Offered Him One Night of Freedom Each Week—Access to Bank Account.

NEW YORK, July 21—A wife's "fourteen points" submitted to her husband as the conditions on which they could live together in future, were disclosed in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn when Mrs. Virginia Mowbray Whitney applied to Justice James C. Crozier to allow her $15 weekly alimony and counsel fees pending her action for a legal separation. The court reserved decision.

Her husband, Arthur Whitney, an aviation lieutenant in the war, had approved some of the points, it was brought out, but had refused to sign the ultimatum because he said it resembled the terms of a victorious general to a foe he had forced to unconditional surrender.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney were married on Feb. 17, 1922. They have a son, John Livingston Whitney. Mrs. Whitney, who is a graduate of a woman's college, is living with her mother at 616 1/2 Third street, Brooklyn. Whitney is in business at 283 Lafayette street, Manhattan. His wife estimated his annual income at $10,000.

Submitted Points

Mrs. Whitney submitted her "fourteen points" to her husband with a letter dated Aug. 21, 1924, at the Shoreham Club, Oak Point, Conn. A copy of the points was submitted by Whitney to the court as follows:

1. That you understand that this is your last chance to prove yourself; in other words, if I receive any of the points, I will have to leave you from you in the past, it will immediately cause another break, which will be permanent and in no way.

2. That the home that we may form will be run on the principles of love and gentleness, and that the baby will know only kindness from one parent to another.

3. That there will be no interference or quarrels from either parent.

4. That the running of the house and the managing of the clothing of the baby and myself is in so that I can manage, and I shall look to you for funds which I deem necessary.

5. That if I have help to relieve me from the heaviest drudgery, such as scrubbing floors, washing, etc., and some one to take care of the baby, I can leave the baby occasionally in the afternoon and evening.

6. That I will have my own bank account.

7. That I have your entire confidence in financial matters and access to your Irving Bank account, and at least some small margin for myself, so that I shouldn't feel as poor as a church mouse.

8. That this marriage shall be run on a 50-50 basis, with neither of us trying to rule the other, but on points of discussion arise a calm discussion of the facts.

9. That if you will have your utmost cooperation and thoughtfulness in every way.

10. That we will stop all discussion of past unpleasantness.

11. You will have one night a week for yourself and I will have the same. Week-ends we both play when the work is done.

12. No more talk of bachelor freedom nor entraining of young ladies by you.

13. That you will not put obstacles in my path if a divorce seems the best solution.

14. That you will always stick to the truth and never make statements that you have previously made.

Mrs. Whitney concluded her letter with the reference to the fourteen points: "If these things are lived up to, I hope and pray that we may find the happiness that I have sought. I invited her husband to meet her and discuss the fourteen points promising to live up to them."

Whitney Refuses

But on the following day (Aug. 22) Whitney wrote his wife, saying, "I confess that after the way we parted on Wednesday night, that I was greatly surprised at the terms of your letter, as well as its substance. If we either of us want to make a go of things, we are not going to get anywhere by talking to each other like that."

"Your letter read for all the world like the terms of a victorious General to a foe whom he had forced to unconditional surrender. I am willing to meet you half way—I am willing to meet you more than half way, but I could not in self-respect accept any such terms, taken as a whole, as you lay down in your letter. I am willing to talk with you and see what we can do to smooth out our differences, but I am not going to sign on any dotted line."

Mrs. Whitney had informed her husband that she had retained a copy of her letter and the fourteen points. He told her that he was glad she had done so, and he advised her to read it over and try to imagine such a letter coming from me to you; try to imagine me telling you that I would give you one more chance."

Whitney told his wife he was hoping to hear from her within a few days, to share with him some news he was ready to provide for her.

The fine weather of last evening added measurably to the enjoyment of the programme. All numbers were well received and in some instances the musicians were forced to respond to the applause with encores.

MANITOBA FARMER KILLED BY THUGS

John Rodway is Waylaid on Returning From Community Party.

WINNIPEG, July 20—Returning home from a community party with a group of friends on Saturday night, John Rodway, a prominent farmer of the Inwood, Man. district, was brutally murdered by two thugs, who armed with clubs waylaid the party as it drove through the woods.

The highwaymen rushed from ambush, halted the team and lashed at every member of the party with their clubs and after beating Rodway into unconsciousness, hurled him into the road. They then ordered the rest of the group to "move on." Returning a few minutes later to the scene of the assault the battered victims found the farmer lying in the ditch with his skull crushed in. A sum of money had been taken from his pockets.

The assailants are still at large.

Government Undertakes Task of Eliminating Work Duplication

HIGH OCEAN RATES BLAMED

Greater Effort to be Made in Selection of New Settlers.

OTTAWA, July 20—Real efforts are being made by the Dominion Government to reduce the duplication of work and consequently costs in getting immigrants for Canada.

Following a conference held toward the end of the session between the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. George P. Graham and Hon. James A. Robb, representing the Government, and Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty, heads of the two railways, on this question, attention was directed to the steamship companies chiefly interested in immigration.

W. R. Little, Director of European Immigration for this government, who has just returned here, conferred in London with the Canadian Pacific Ocean Steamships and with the lines co-operating with the Canadian National Railway. The reports of the conference to the Canadian offices of the two railways will be reflected in the recommendations which they later make to the Government.

HOPES HIGH FOR SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH COAL TROUBLES

Parliamentary Lobbies Optimistic that Affairs will be Peacefully Adjusted—Views Conflict on New Insurance Bill—News and Gossip From London.

From Times-Star Special London Correspondent.
LONDON, July 9, 1925.—Though the prospect of a miner's and railwayman's strike, if the trouble extends no further, is imminent enough to be unpleasant, a vague optimism pervades the parliamentary lobbies. Such an occurrence at this moment would gravely prejudice our whole industrial position, and retard national recovery indefinitely. But those best able to form an opinion seem hopeful that affairs will be peacefully adjusted. The situation is rather complicated and several factors may play their part in determining the issue.

Though we still lack any practical alternative, short of a complete re-organization of the industry for low carbonization, for the present uncooperative working of the coal-fields, except a return to the eight-hour day, the owners wisely do not stress that point. They leave it to the miners to show whether, on this point, they are in agreement with their leaders. But either lower wages, longer shifts or the closing down of many more pits, is what the industry has to face. There is no escape from it. The miners and the extremists, realizing that the miners' unions alone cannot face a fight, are concentrating their efforts on resuscitating the old triple alliance. Much may depend on their success in this endeavor.

CONFLICTING VIEWS

Extraordinarily conflicting views are held, even among those who support the present government, about the new insurance bill. Those who are in favor of it may not receive full or frank expression in the House of Commons, they are strongly held nevertheless. A school of thought is convinced that state meddling is being carried to evil lengths, and that the new insurance bill is a far less worthy order of humanity. Others assert, just as firmly, that the new insurance scheme will play a bigger part in our social and political evolution than the famous factory legislation associated a generation or two ago with Lord Shaftesbury's name.

PARTY TACTICS.

You will hear the insurance bill more freely criticized, however, in club smoke rooms than in the House of Commons. Some old staggers say that the politician, in their rivalry for votes, take the slightest hint for consequences. I heard one gentleman, a very distinguished university figure, ask why it should be a criticism of the bill, when an elector with a glass of beer, but quite the recognized thing to promise him a bigger drink, if the bill is passed. The gentleman in question is not a Tory. He voted for Mr. H. G. Wells in the last election at London University. The Labor party's tactics are to press for increased benefits under the scheme on a non-contributory basis, well knowing that this is impossible, and conscious of divisions in their own ranks on the subject of the discount of ex-Liberals, the radical group in the House of Commons adopts the same role.

THE FRANCIS RISE.

In spite of the rise in the value of the franc, I can find no real belief in the city that it can be maintained round 100, much less 85, to the pound, the figure on which the British government is based. Indeed, there is some doubt whether the exchange can be supported over the very heavy buying in which the Paris Government is indulging—especially if the news from Morocco continues to be bad. The city today is saying that the reason the pound is based on sterling, and not on dollars, is that "sterling" Paris experts believe the pound must decline if the franc cannot be maintained. London believes that the pound is now free of the franc, and that Paris is counting on a saying that the stability of the pound will frustrate them.

THE VARSITY MATCH.

The Varsity cricket match at Lords was more exciting on the fashion side than the sporting. At one time the batting was so tame, and the fielding so lethargic, some onlookers actually started a mild brawling, a thing absolutely unprecedented at the match, and brutal and unbecomingly to the grave and reverend elders. "Safety first" seemed to be the cricketing maxim, and there were times when one sighed for "a little touch of Jeeves in the afternoon." As to the frocks and suits, however, criticism is disarmed. Ascot in all its glory produced no more wonderful confections. Our ladies grove over more flimsy and elastic. Some of them looked like Mr. Sims' portraits—as though you might blow them away. Oxford "bags" were taboo for the most part, though the Light Blue team wore flannels that flapped idly round their manly calves.

OXFORD'S CHANCELLOR.

The Oxford University would choose Lord Curzon rather than the Earl of Oxford as its Chancellor, despite the earnest pleas of some distinguished Conservatives who are old Oxonians, was hardly in doubt. Generously admitting the fine qualities of heart and intellect possessed by the Lord Chancellor, chief among them a judicial severity of soul, the Earl of Oxford's personality, like his place in the great pageant of British history, is beyond compare more illustrious. Oxford University's choice is its own affair, yet it is perhaps unfortunate, emphasizing the narrowness of the academic perspective. The country patron, who constitutes a majority of the electors voted "party," and the resident influence was largely "anti-Asquith" for such paltry reasons that they recent his choice of title, and his omission to pay the small fee for his M. A.

MRS. ROLAND McNEILL.

Mrs. sympathy is expressed with Mr. Ronald McNeill, the gigantic Ulsterman, who is under-secretary for foreign affairs, on his wife's death. He was formerly rather a turbulent parliamentary blade, and once opened a barrage of Dodd's parliamentary complaints across the floor on Mr. Churchill. CLAIMS $3,000,000 IN CHICAGO LAND

FRANK ROPKE AND HIS BOATS.

Columbus had some fame as a bold explorer. Vasco Da Gama and Magellan also were noted discoverers. And so was Henry Hudson. But Capt. Frank Ropke, sailing a frail craft in the year of the big wind, discovered the foot of Fiftieth street, Chicago, and claimed the new territory by virtue of being the only man in sight. And now his son, Frank Ropke, is fighting for title to this land. It isn't so much the honor of the discovery that worries him. But since the day that bit of earth has increased in value until now it's worth somewhere between $500,000 and $3,000,000.

It was 1892 when Capt. Ropke, his wife and five children shook the Loop's dust from their breeches and started out in Capt. Ropke's little boat to seek a new place of residence. They had barely left the Thirtieth street pier, however, when a terrific storm arose. For twenty-four hours the little boat was buffeted and tossed. When the storm subsided all were exhausted. Then, regaining strength, Capt. Ropke went ashore to see if he were off Halifax or Nantucket. Now there must be no reflection on his good boat. Probably a light gale would have moved it a little. But the fact remains that twenty-four hours of storm had carried it only to Fiftieth street and the lake-front. Disgusted at being unable to leave Chicago, Capt. Ropke went ashore and "squatted" on the barren lake-front. Frank Ropke, his son, still lives there. But since that fateful night a railroad has run its lines nearby, and big buildings are all around. The land's value is sky high. So is Ropke's determination to keep it. Likewise, the railroad's determination that he won't. But courts twice have decided in Ropke's favor. He says he'll stay until his title is clear, and then cash in at last on that awful night of 1892.

800 francs in 1906, you are at least worth $15,000 today. Just as Milton was, according to Professor Raleigh, the touchstone of taste in English poetry, Casanova is the criterion of taste in modern art. His work anticipated the evolution of modern art after the Impressionist era. He painted ahead of his time, worshipped by a few artists and critics, but ignored by the multitude. They crowd to honor him now, and at the Leicester Galleries you may see some of his most characteristic work. Two small studies are lent by Princess Bibesco.

STRAWBERRIES—

They are telling us that this is a very poor season for strawberries. The only overt justification for this rumor is that the price, which is Londonish, is somewhat startling in the West End shops, for the quality of the fruit is excellent. It may be that a certain amount of business policy dictated the statement, and that after the first crops have been sold at inflated prices we shall eventually find our London street hawkers vending strawberries at democratic rates. Friends who cultivate strawberries privately in their gardens in what may be called the strawberry country tell me that their fruit seems pretty good and plentiful, and quite up to average seasons. Meanwhile, strawberries and cream, whether on the Terrace at Westminster or at the best West End cafes, are expensive luxuries, and, perhaps for that reason, sought after by all the delightful ladies.

OUR LAWN TENNIS.

The result of the match in the ladies' championship final between Miss Lennox and Miss Joan Fry was a foregone conclusion. It seemed to me that Miss Lennox dealt kindly with her young 19-year-old opponent, and set her down more lightly than did Miss McKane in the semi-final. Perhaps this was because Suzanne returned their psychological sympathy by differing over the eating of those berries. The lady took cream with hers, but the gentleman contemptuously ordered wine with his. The Times seems to think that this was a sure proof of villainy. But on the Continent they usually take wine, and genuine human nature, with strawberries. Italy they eat wild strawberries, only of a much fuller flavor than our cultivated fruit, but always with wine or lemon juice. This admirably brings out the flavor, and makes the dish more sustaining, and less cloying, than when cream is used. In ultra-fashionable Palermo, which is far more chic than Rome, cultivated strawberries are, except by a few foreign residents, used only as buttonhole ornaments. Your Sicilian dandy likes a strawberry in his lapel!

CATERPILLARS IN HYDE PARK.

A considerable number of smartly-dressed people turned out in Hyde Park one day this week for the half-hour stroll before lunch which is now quite the fashionable thing. But they did not stay for the regulation half-hour. Elegantly-dressed women were to be seen running across the road, while their manfolk followed laughing helplessly. There is a plague of caterpillars in the park, and just now they are falling off the elm trees like hailstones, seeking places in which to weave their cocoons. Some of them mistook smart hats for cocoons—not at all a popular mistake with the ladies!

BIG CROWD ENJOY SHOW AT IMPERIAL

"A Kiss in the Dark" Pronounced Delightful English Comedy.

Adolphe Menjou is still trifling with the women and has them crying for more in his latest picture, "A Kiss in the Dark," which he is featured with Lillian Rich and Aileen Pringle, and now being shown at the Imperial. "A Kiss in the Dark," a picture of the stage play by that name by Frederick Lonsdale, is a smart marriage comedy with Menjou cast in the role of Walter Greham, engaged to marry Janet Livingstone (Aileen Pringle), who has accepted him conditionally that he forget all about other women and settle down.

Menjou does quiet down a bit—for a day or so, anyway—and then Betty King comes in and ruins everything. Betty is in love with her husband, but she has no reason why she cannot engage in a little innocent flirtation with the personable Greham. Of course, King and Menjou are in a bit of a jam, for a time it looks like the end of a happy domestic life for the Kings and a case of "nothing doing" for Greham so far as Janet is concerned.

But leave it to Menjou to wriggle out of a jam, anyway—and then Betty places him in through her thoughtless attentions. Without batting an eyelid he explains everything good to Janet and—well, when the curtain comes down on having something that's about all there is to it.

The singer, Miss Eleanor News, whom the Imperial introduces this week, is the first vocalist to come to St. John from Newfoundland. She possesses a sweet little voice of moderate range and volume and has been a popular artist on the colonial island.

"I WANT MY MAN" IS EXCELLENT DRAMA

Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon Featured in Tense Drama at Unique.

How will the future judge America in its present era of social dissolution which came as a reaction to the anxiety and agitation of the last war? That is the question evoked by Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in their latest First National drama, "I Want My Man," which opened last night at the Unique Theatre.

Will they see it with the eyes of Sills in his hole of Guilan Eye—a man returning after eight years' seclusion in France, during which he was seeking cure from blindness incurred in the war? To Sills it is a world up-ended, a whirl of mad dancing, mad dancing, mad dancing and mad dancing. But he is not alone, he sees, there is that soundness of heritage that will emerge above the phase of pleasure-madness that prevails.

RELIQS OF BRITISH SCHOONER SECURED

Rush to View Remains of Nancy, at Georgian Bay.

K—RELIQS OF BRITISH WASHINGTON BEACH, Ont., July 20.—The trek of summer people on Georgian Bay to view the remains of the Nancy, fighting British schooner burned during the war of 1812 near here, is like a rush to a gold mine. Scores have commenced digging for relics and already many articles have been uncovered. The dreariest lies under sand on a little island and those acquainted with the history of the gallant ship are convinced that beneath the sand lie the old naval guns which made up the ship's armament in 1812.

Three cannon balls of ancient variety were found by William Freeman, while J. G. Patterson located a 24 pound cannon ball yesterday. Mr. Freeman also found a button from a British uniform bearing the name of the maker "P. Nutting and Company, Covent Garden," on one side and on the reverse the anchor sign of the royal navy. Hooks for grappling and oak cask staves have also been found.

Two caches of alleged contraband liquor were located by three local customs officers early this morning in the woods some distance below Black's Harbor and trucks were sent to bring the confiscated "wet goods" to the bonded warehouse here. A partial report of seizure was made to Collector C. B. Lockhart.

The liquor, which is alleged to have been landed from a rum-runner cruising off the coast near Black's Harbor, was in small kegs and the first cache located, it is said, contained 20 kegs. This was discovered after a search by Customs Officer J. H. B. Wright, assisted by Officers Douglas, Thompson and Orlean Cole. A second search of the vicinity brought a further quantity of liquor to light.

When interviewed this afternoon, Collector Lockhart said that he had received word of the seizure and added that he had despatched a truck to bring the scene early this morning, but later word caused him to send two additional trucks to bring the liquor to Saint John. He said that he had not received particulars of the capture. So far as it could be ascertained this afternoon no arrests have been made.

PENDER EMPLOYEES TO WORK OVERTIME FREE TO HOLD MARKETS

Co-operate With Management in Effort to Cut Production Costs to Compete With Foreign Goods in Export Field—Will Share Profits.

A NOVEL and unusual development in co-operative action between employers and employees was reached here yesterday when the employees of James Pender & Co., Ltd., manufacturers of nails and wire products, and a subsidiary of the British Empire Steel Corporation, presented a resolution at a conference with the management, expressing their willingness to work overtime without pay in order to permit the company to compete with foreign manufacturers in export markets.

W. F. Knoll, manager of the company, this morning confirmed the fact that this agreement had been reached. He said that a few weeks ago word came to him that European firms were underbidding Canadian prices to a great extent on account of the low rates of exchange in some of the export fields. This was discovered after a search by marketing the products from this country.

DISCUSSED IN COUNCIL

The matter was discussed at one of the council meetings between the management and employees of the Pender Company and a suggestion made that, if the cost of production were cut sufficiently by free overtime work, the local firm might be able to compete with the foreign manufacturers. The men asked for a few days to consider the proposition and yesterday returned with the announcement that they were prepared to try the experiment in order to hold the market for the company and
