PROGRESS.

VOL. XIII., NO. 660.

7, Dr Jas Blenkhorn to Mary Chad-

DIED.

Arisey, 58. ELellan, 3. Risser, 92. Shortall, 86. Chas Hatt 85.

lisa Woods, 50.
Annie Illsley, 15.
Aubrey Bell, 16.
diss M 8 Allan.

lary Wescott, 62.
bert Letson, 69.
les Milligan, 67.
la Musson. 60.
corge Rodger 66.
John Smith, 80.
Hannab Chase 52.
rs Blenkhorn 58.

rs Blenkhorn, 68.
7, Mrs D C Snide, Sichard Trefry, 60

ichard Treiry, 60.

19, Dora Swim, 11.

Joshus Burt Sr.

rick Burke, 80.

Im J Gaudet, 56.

Rector McIntosh.

Hector McIntosh.

Wm Hubley, 73.

2, John Ehler, 82.

ald McKinnon, 81.

striet Landers, 72.

day Farmer, 23.

lomon Jordan, 81.

lomon Jordan, 81. Jos Oldford, 56. Jabriel Pitcher, 34.

mes McDougall, 68. erbert Mitchell, 82. s Arthur Faitf 31.

n McWilliam, 63. Mexander Murray.

Mrs Peter Boutilier 16, James McPhee.

Richard Farrel, 29. Min Blackwood, 73.

Edmunp Silver, 33.
Edmunp Silver, 33.
John McGarrigle, 86.
Clareta May McBrine, 3.
ar 17, John Blakiey, 90.
Mrs Samuel Creelman,

cid that arises from gestion and dyspep-

after eating, and it is and aid digestion.

on Stan's Pineapp

AN

IFIC

sion

AST POINTS.

ts good to start on 8th, April 2nd, 9th,

DE A

ST. JOHN

MHOL .T8

IA AND

DHN. N. B.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY APRIL 6, 1901.

MONEY & CENTS PRICE

The Failure of Messrs. Black, Bliss and Nealis Causes Lots of Talk in Fredericton.

has not been confined only to the Celestial that there is a stir. It is perhaps not too much to say that considering all things no names stood better in the capital city than individual popularity and the big estates and corporations the firm represented to say nothing of the various positions each of the firm held as officers of trust, it seemed impossible for the ordinary citizens to feel that the well known office of Black, Bliss & Nealis was anything but prosperous and even today in spite of all circumstances, in spite of all rumors and in spite of all difficulties there are not a few who believe that the firm has placed itself in an awkward, disagreeable and unnecessary situation. Too much pride must have its fall. There was no more popular man walked the streets of Fredericton than John Black, no man was a barder worker than he. As Secretary Treasurer of the county of York he filled the position in a manner that called orth praise from even those most bitterly opposed to him in politics and then to use a common saying the name of John Black on the back of any paper was as good as gold in any bank and friends as well as enemies took every advavtage of it. Yes, not a few of those who are loudest today in condemnation of those now in misfor tune were the foremost in asking and receiving help. They took every advantage in seeking aid from an individual whose greatest fault was his big heartedness. It is so exaggeration to say that John Black's friends at the present time express the belief that had the man en as good a friend to himself as he had been to others a different story would be told today. There are rumors and stories of all kinds afloat. The departure of John Black from 'he city was and is the foundation of many reports. People have taken it for granted that affairs must be in a desperate state when he bas found it necessary to leave. But it is just here that the difficulty arises to explain why he did leave. As account after account is gone into, affairs appear even more than satisfactory, in fact not a few parties find out that they even received interest in advance. One man early in the week when he heard of the crisis, became almost a raving lunatic. He had given the firm $2000 to invest and they had misappropriated it. It was a terrible case of hardship and defalcation and everyone had the story, and condemnation knew no ! nits; yet when affairs were looked into the money was found as safe as could be. If it had

PROGRESS does not know now just exactly how matters stand, nor does anyone else. There were large sums in the knows where he is. Mr. Neal's was but a bank on behalf of the county, and of course bank on behalf of the county, and of course nominal partner and he departed they were all gone, but it was a surprise for Boston. He did not attempt to conceal how every cent was accounted for, and the system and regula. ity shown in which the faction to anyone he has left behind him books were kept. It was a great disappointment to some that nothing wrong den has fallen very heavily. During the

It was the estates that had suffered was the next report. There was the O'Dell to doctors orders he has gone daily to the estate, the Fenety estate and numerous other estates, had got it very much in the neck, to use a common expression. Tavestigation soon brought out the fact that these estates had not a single cent. The more | 000, but as said before it is only guess things were investigated the more the resu't became apparent that it was the banks that stand. That affairs are in a desperate conwere the real losers, and it is wonderful to diston is token for granted but it does not listen to the sympathy being extended on all sides to hese institutions. The popularity of banks in Fredericton cannot be estirated, that is, judging populari y from the number of people that are pleased in seeing banks stuck. PROGRESS has made a search into matters as far as possible. It must be confessed that there is much dark- of papers and the barks will now demand ness, and the only one that can let in any light is John Black himself. His hiends may get it in others they will not be so who have stood by him in years, express for unate. The remaining lawyers in Fredbut the one opinion, that he has made a ericton cannot but feel the blow and people mistake. They all claim that had they had cannot be found fault with for become

There has been no little excitement in the least idea of the difficulties under Fredericton this week and the excitement which he labored they would have come willingly to his assistance. He was no City. When an announcement is made that that kind of a man, however. He had such a well known firm as Black, Bliss & pride in his name and his worries he kept Nealis has gone to the wall it is no wonder to himself, and so his unselfishness he bore to the end and kept every financial secret from his very closest triends. John Black had lived nearly fifty years in Fred-Black Bliss & Nealis. On account of their ericton, the son of a clergyman, he lived a most exemplary life. By perseverance he worked hard for his education, and his genial manner, his wonderful push and kindness to relatives and friends put him in the front rank. His life was that of a true christian, and he soon became a leader among men. Then the crisis came slowly but surely. He and his firm were the guardians of many funds. First came the Fisher crash by which so many lost their money and persons began to get suspicious of everyone else. But excuses were made and the Vanwart Bros. were the examples of everything that was correct. Then it came, the Vanwarts went to smash and then of course the rumor became general that no one was solid among the lawyers. People became more than excited and the law office of Black Bliss & Nealis soon resembled a bank that was about to fail. But in spite of all rumors and difficulties they weathered the storm. It was hard but it was done, then Mr. Duffy a well-known lawyer followed in the career of the Vanwarts and just at the time that Black Bliss & Nealis were getting public confidence restored that had been so much shaken by the Fishers and Vanwarts failures Mr. Drffy became the notorious man as a defaulter. The barden came on the leading conveyancing firm in Fredericton and the burden was heavy. The name however was a prestige, the way business was at tended to and the high reputation of the individual members of the firm served Black, Bliss & Nealis during the bitterest days and the days were bitter. They were gloomy and bad ones for lawyers especially lawyers who had much money to handle But Fredericton was not to be outdone. St. John's legal fraternity began to follow some of Vanwarts and Fishers careers and so the remaining lawyers began to get a still further dese and Black Bliss & Nealis under stress of circumstance began on the downhill road. Still no one knew it, certainly the banks did not and the bar ks always know it all or they think they do. So the day of reckoning ap proached and the climax came. Mr. Black and Mr. Nealis left Fredericton apparently ill and business had to be neglected. The banks became suspicious and they began to crowd as the saying is, and when banks that give so many p.ivileges very suddenly begin to be harsh trouble is might have been offered, on account of the Bliss & Nealis and paper commenced gogreat carelessness on the part of the client. ing to protest and the curtain fe". It was given out that Black had lett for England. But there is no one living today who his movements and if it will be any satishis Boston address. On Mr. Bliss the burpast two or three weeks he has been a great sufferer from sore eyes, and contrai office to meet the vast multitude. His action in this respect is praiseworthy and has made him many kiends. The indebtedness of the firm will probably amount to $30,work as time only will reveal how matters appear as yet that there has been any wrong doing, that is any creat defalcations. The barks were deceived no doubt but the banks cannot allege deception as an excuse for it is their business to know the francial standing of parties. There are a number of individuals who v. "! lose heavy as endorsers immediate payment. In some cases they

CAPITAL'S SENSATION.

| Suspicious. The history of Fredericton lawyers is a spicy one. The capital was the home of Wilmot and Fisher, brilliant men. So the place has had the best examples of all classes of men. Those who were always good, those who were good and went astray, and those who were always bad. Yes, the story of self made men is interesting.

> WILD OAT MINING SCHEMES. A King Street Merchant Has His Say Abou

A King street merchant writes to Prog RESS regarding the boom in mining shares and he characterizes many of the propositions before the public at the present time as "wild cat schemes."

"Not long ago he says "I read in the New York Herald, that a certain promoter sold mining shares in New York city, in every quarter at $2 00 a share, and in a little while the unusual monthly dividend of 10 per cent would come around, and so great was the demand from all parts of the Globe. that the post office authorities took the trouble to investigate, and before they got through they exposed one promoter and his friends the Directorate divided nearly one million dollars." Referring more particularly to the mining properties placed before the people of St John he speaks of one in particular, which quoting from an upper province is paying dividends and not a lovel of earth has as yet been taken out of the ground." Speaking from his own experience he adds: "In the last twenty years, I have put nearly $7000,00 in mining schemes, and in going over my books find that I have received some $200 00 in dividends, so merely write to advise all not to touch mining propositions, unless they have explicit confidence in the Directorate, and ethical grounds for those differhave explicit confidence in the Directorate, and even then to be very careful. My last and final investment was in all sold in St. John, and the price being in the reach of every one, it had a wide course, and I am told from good author ity, that thousands of people hold shares. On making enquiries about this prospect I find it is worthless, and have every reason I find it is worthless, and have every reason to believe that fraud is connected with it, and the promoters should be called to task but as I have passed this with my other investments to profit and loss account, I trust that my past experience will be the means of correcting likely investes," PROGRESS does not give the names of the mines in which this gentleman says he has been interested for the reason that he does not furnish us with adequate proof of his assertions, but the subject of his letter is printed for what it is worth.

The Philadelphia and Reading Company has issued a circular announcing a reduc tion in the price of anthracite coal of 50 cents per ton for the sizes most in demand. The new schedule makes prices at tidewater as follows: Broken sizes, hard white ash, per ton, $3.75; egg, $4; stove, $4 15, and chestnut, $4.15.

This is good news to the citizens, but better news would be that or local dealers are making their prices accordingly.

PROGRESS CONTENTS

TODAY.

PAGE 1.—This page speaks for itself. Read

PAGE 3 .- Musical and dramatic news of

PAGE 4.-Editorial, poet. 7, and other time-

PAGES 5, 6, 7, and 8.—Social happenings PAGE 9. - No Dread of Death-A celebra

PAGES 10 and 15.—First "retalment of a th. 'lling story entitled "Lover and husband,"

Page 11.-Many matters for Sunday read-

PAGE 12 .- A Brief Disappearance .- How Detective Abe Cronkite solved . . problem.

PAGE 13.-Facts and farcies from the PAGE 14 -Adventures of a Diver A tough time with a cargo of sunken dyna-

PAGE 16.—"Swanson"—A bright story of

VOLUNTARY EVIDENCE

The Sackville Man's Brother-in-Law Convicted the Jury of His quite recently was arrested, tried and found guilty in Massachussets of murdering his employer. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and there were many people who believed in his innocence. The trial lasted proofs could be found have been tried many days and the greatest surprise was manifested when Best's brother in law, jury. He repeated a conversation that he conviction was set aside on a legal technihad with the prisoner and this seemed to cality, and at the second trial no convicconvince the jury that there was no doubt of the guilt of Best. It is now said that Stiles wife, the sister of Best is dying and that the cause of her illness was the shock the evidence of her husband against her brother gave her.

In spite of this the Advertiser of Boston which concluding that Best is probably guilty has some strong comments upon the evidence in the following article.

That J. C. Best killed G. E. Bailey is true, in all human probability, and beyond a reasonable doubt. Judge Sherman, in commending the services of the jury which brought in last Thursday night to the court in Salem that verdict, "Guilty of murder in the first degree," expressed a sentiment which finds an echo in the breasts of good citizens of the Commonwealth with a near approach to unanimity. There ences, regarding the conduct of one of the state's witnesses, whose information, minus property, which stock I am told was gained from the prisoner under circumstances that many regard as binding the witness to the most sacred confidence was voluntarily offered to the prosecution and indisputably contributed more than enything else to the prisoner's conviction But that the verdict was just, there is, we repeat, no reasonable doubt. The jury, at any rate, did its duty faithfully. So did the presiding justices. So did the prosecution attorneys; who, whatever may be their personal opinions concerning the conduct of their star witness, considered from an ethical standpoint, were themselves clearly justified in making the most of the

The public welfare is promoted in a very noteworthy degree by the promptness and completeness with which this atrocious crime, committed in North Saugus, has been ferreted out, and its perpetrator placed in a legal situation which is nearly certain to be followed, in due time, by his exemplary punishment.

We wish we could extend this line of remark so far as to endorse all those optimistic expressions made by Atty-Gen. Knowlton in his masterly summing up for the state, and by others who have com- this city, whose little daug ated upon the trial since its conclusion; to the effect that murder cannot be concealed; that however shrewdly the slayer of his fellowman plans to hide the crime, he is sure to leave a loophole by which his guilt will be discovered; that the arm of the law is long enough and strong enough to reach the most cunning murderer, etc. But the truth is that in the prompt detection, arrest, indictment and conviction of the murderer of G. E. Bailey, there has of the murderer of G. E. Bailey, there has been presented an instance of retributive justice which derives no small paid of its noteworthiness from the fact of its being rather an exception to the rule than an instance in the ordinary course of events. & Statistics show that but a small fraction of the murders committed annually in the United States are followed by the punishment of the murderers. In a majority of cases the murderers are not even tried for their crimes. Of those who are tried, fewer than one half in number are convict. ed, a considerable portion escape the final penalty, by one means or another. Even in New England, where, on the whole, penal laws are enforced better than anywhere else in the Union, the deplorable truth is, nevertheless, that murder very often goes unpurished. A great many instances might be cited in proof of this state ment, without entering far into ancient history. Within the past 10 years a number to Miss Pike in Calsis on Tuesday. diventure.

Briss marriages and deaths of Briss marriages and deaths of Sometimes not even sufficient exidence of and his many friends that both Sometimes not even sufficient evidence of and his bride will be gladly welcomed guilt has been found to justify arrests. In when hey visit St. John.

John C. Best is a Sackville man, and other instances arrests have been made, but indictments refused. In still other in stances, as in that of the exceptionally a stances, as in that of the trocious murder of Mr. and Mrs. Borden, trocious murder of Mr. and Mrs. Borden, proofs could be found have been tried and acquitted. In the case of the murder Miss Deltina Davis, the only person whom Stiles, came forward and voluntarily gave there was so much as reason to suspect of the evidence that had most weight with the tion was secured. What this case of J. C. Best proves is not at all that, even in Massachusetts, 'murder will out,' nor that, as Daniel Webster said, 'there is no escape from confession but suicide, and suicide is confession; but rather, that whoever commits murder in Messachusetts incurs very serious risk. For this much safeguard to human life in our Commonwealth, let us all be duly thankful.

Bis Memory Was Good.

A tew days ago a gentleman who is well known in Charlotte county and who lives at the shiretown there was in the city and meeting some good friends was put up at the Union Club. While there he was introduced to a commisson merchant, who is also a member, and his title, which, by the way, is Count, was given him. "A Count," said the commission merchant, "why you look more like a Maine lumberman. This flash of rudeness was not resented and everything apparently passed off very quietly, but a day later the gentlemen met again and a friend not knowing that they had been introduced attempted to make them acquainted. The commission merchant, said with a cordial smile that he had the pleasure or meeting the Count before and recalled the introduction at the Club. With the most impassive stare the gentleman with the title said there must some mistake, it was quite impossible that they bad met before and he significantly added "I always remember a gentleman once having met him.'

A Fake Business

The Toronto Publishing Co., published a very enticing advertisement in a number of papers sometime ago, and offered $200 to the successful competitor in a jumbled word contest, the condition of which was that once having sent in the answer, which could be written out in about five minutes the successful applicant should send in fifty cents for a paper called the Welcome Visitor. This is on the same basis as the Queen contest of years ago, with the exception that the Queen people carried out their promises fairly well. A gentleman of interest in the contest sent the fifty cents when she was notified that her answer was correct and a few days ago received from the dead letter office his letter asking why he had not received either paper or answer from the publishers. Peogress is glad to be able, with the assistance of Mr. Quinlan who is the gentleman referred to above, to warn its readers against sending any money to this concern.

Nothing But Rumors,

Rumors! rumors! rumors! nothing but rumors! That may in effect sum up the gossip of the week in the city. It is hard to understand in whose interest certain stories are started or why they are started. but the fact remains the same nevertheless that the names of a number of very well known poople have been bandied about the streets this week, apparently without warrant or excuse. Dame gossip placed one man in the asylum, and the same old lady divorced two or three couples and sent another woman out of town. Perhaps there was more truth than rumor in the last one, but even that has not been placed upon such a basis that it could be said to be authorized.

Congratulations to Mr. Johnstone.

The many friends of Mr. John M. Johnston of this city will join in hearty Noted Criminals of the State of Maine.

months the second

breaking case, he might find a deal to interest him in the records of Cel. E. C. Stevens, who is trial justice in the town of Chelsea, in Kennebec county, Maine. These records refer to the Carson family. For years the family has been one of the most notorious on that thoroughfare of notorious haunts, 'Hayseed Avenue,' located near the United States Soldiers' Home at Togus. Hayseed Avenue is made up of a colony of dives-webs to catch the unwary old veteran and his pension money. The Carsons are easily the top notchers of the avenue.

There are iather, mother, two daughers and several sons. The records show that for the last 15 years or more there has never been a time when some member of the family has not been either in jail or prison or under indictment. The crimes range all the way from murder down. In the ordinarily quiet surroundings of Chel-sea, such a record sticks out in very ugly family was behind bars charged with various crimes, with the exception of one of the sons. That one had skipped his bail bonds and was a fugitive with the police of half a dozen states looking for him. The Carson family, not content with its own inherent naughtiness, has been careful to take unto itself in marriage only such as would assist in maintaining the general average of misdemeanor. It will be neither pleasant nor profitable to chronicle the crimes of the entire aggregation, but I can assure the reader that Maine has never furnished anything like it.

Until a few weeks ago two of the Carson sisters were in state prison together. Recently the elder sister finished her sentence and was released. A state prison term reforms some people.

Not so in the case of the Carson woman She picked up one Smith, an exconvict, as soon as she had been released from prison. '- In company they arrived in Chelsea. Both were intoxicated. After making trouble in various resorts along Hayseed Avenue, they visited the house of one of the relatives of the Carson woman and attempted to gain an entrance forcibly. The man of the house brought out a shot gun and fired through the window at the intruders. The woman's scalp was shot away and the man was dangerously wounded. They are now being brought back to life in an Augusta hospital.

The sister who is still in state prison is nearing the end of a seven years' sentence She shot and killed her husband, but owing to some of the circumstances connected with the case, escaped with a sentence on the charge of manslaughter. Some letters of hers that are extant indicate that as soon as she gets out of prison she meditates an assault on society that will eclipse all her previous performances.

This woman will enjoy the unique reputation of being, the only female that ever escaped from the Maine state prison. She not only got away herself, but she also took one of the male prisoners with her. She had taken a fancy to the man and lugged him along-and it is a matter of record that he was not willing to go. This test indicates the self-reliance and ability of the young woman who has so determin edly chosen a life of crime.

After she had planned and executed the escape-which, by the way, occurred two years ago-she took her companion and started out. The entire state of Maine was searched for them. The prison officials spent money regardless. The weather was very severe and for some days the im pression prevailed that the man and woman had taken to the woods and perished.

But one morning a Waldoboro farmer, while pitching down the early fodder for his stock, uncovered a rather good looking young woman on his haymow. He took her into the house and gave her some breakfast, and recognized in her the miss ing female convict. There was no sign of the man, however, and the woman would not or could not say in what direction he

He was captured some months afterward and his story showed that he had travelled over the most of Maine and into other states as well. He arrived back at the prison in a very bitter frame of mind. He explained that he really didn't want to run away, for he preferred to stay in prison and complete his sentence and receive the usual deduction for good behavoir, which had been forfeited by his act.

It may interest the reader to learn that

If some student in criminology and the name of this crime-incarnadined female degeneracy is looking for a record. is 'Rose White.' It remains to be seen whether on her release she will excel the record of her elder sister.

> Maine town, Brighton, in Somerset county, has been forced to take a step backward, abandon its town charter and go back to the plantation form of government on account of its paupers. Two families there married and intermarried until they evolved such characteristics as made them in reality 'a tribe.' There was a score of them and more, and there are as many today. They live in a lonely part of the town, and resent all intrusion with great fury. Some time ago the writer visited the place with an officer, and though this officer knew them well and they feared him, we were obliged at last to retreat precipitately in order to svoid an attack. As the most of them are chretins of a most lamentable type, the law could give victims of their assault but little satisfaction. He who goes among them does so at his own

The support of these paupers became so enerous that Brighton's purse could not stand the drain.

Residents were abandoning their farms and moving away because they were taxed so much to support these persons who evinced a truly aboriginal carelessness as to whether they worked or not. The state law provides that paupers living on a plantation shall be supported by the nearest town, and that the town shall in return be reimbursed by the state. So Brighton appealed to the legislature of Maine and was able to present such a good case that it was allowed to go back to a plantation. Maine is now supporting the tribe.

Some time ago several of the men committed such depredations on the Brighton sheep that were pastured in back lots that officers arrested them, after farmers had repeatedly tried to shoot them in the act of carrying of sheep. They were photographed in the jail as veritable 'wild men.' One of the chretins was a man of 40 years wore no clothes except of the most rudimentary nature. His body was entirely covered with thick, black hair, that afford ed protection from the weather. He had no language except unintelligible sounds. His strength was herculean. The other members of the community frequently yoked him in with a steer or a cow, even, and worked him at the plow when they scratched the soil for their scanty gardens. He worked willingly, and for that matter Any museum manager who wants a first-class article of wild man can find him in the plantation of Brighton in northern nembers of the tribe to take 'Jed' along with them when they went on a sheep-bunting expedition. Jed was pushed ahead into the danger that he couldn't appreciate. The others feared the bullets of the farmers, who, after a time, got to be remarkably on the alert, and usually took turns in watching the sheep. The head of the foraging party would hide behind a stone wall, point to the sheep and say to Jed: 'Ma wants one. Go bling.' Anything that 'Ma' wanted Jed would take withou fear or scruple. He didn't realize that it was stealing. He was so agile that no farmer ever hit bim, even when Jed had a sheep in his arms.

The only creature that Jed really fears is a woman-a strange woman. Forty years old and a giant in stature, he will run from a woman as though she were the arch fiend. His mother told me that many times the man would run for miles, crying and blubbering, till he could find her and hide behind her after he had met a

This trait makes Jed an uncertain beast of burden to take down into Brighton village. The men of the tribe oblige the women to come into town and ask for supplies. There are no horses in the com munity and frequently when bags of flow or other heavy commodities are to be conveyed Jed is hitched to a little cart and utilized as motive power. I have seen one of the old women come riding placidly into the village perched in the eart and driving Jed, who 'played horse' with a great deal of enjoyment. But if a woman attempted to come near him there was trouble for the driver.

He never has been willing to come in -

It's Not Like Dr. Chase's to Disappoint People.

His Great Receipt Book Did Not Disappoint, and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Have Astonished Physicians and People Alike by Their Wonderful Cures

Derangements of the kidneys cause the most painful and the most dreadful fatal diseases to which man is subject. The symptoms are unmisiakable and the evidence goes to prove that no freatment has ever been so successful as a cure for diseases of the kidneys as Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. Pains achees or weakness of the back, deposits like brick dust in the vrine, scanty, rainful or scalding urination, puffiness wider the eyes and emaciation are the indications of kidney disease.

Mrs Persley, 130 Lipbincott street, Toronto, says: 'I may say that Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills and says been able to control any sickness amongst our children by using the receipts given in its pages. For the past few years I have suffered much with my kidneys, accompanied with severe pains in the back almost unbearable at times. After using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will not disappoint you. They act directly and specifically on the liver, kidneys and bowels, regulating them and invigorating them to perfect action. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

side the store, appearing to apprehend captivity since his confinement in jail. Therefore when it is necessary to leave him outside for a time the woman who has of the Colorado River in Lower California driven him in usually ties a rag over his and Mexico, have been brought to ligh eyes and sets him down on the store plat- by Professor McGee of Washington, who form in order that some female may not has returned from a visit to that part of

And yet not always is Jed used to tug | ington Star: the loads. Not long ago one of the women shoulders and trudged back home. That lious to move to the United States. tribe had been seen doing that the matter

Different—What a bideous hat Hilda has on! 'Why, that's the latest style.' Isn't it sweet?'

The peculiarities of the Cocopas, a queer tribe of savages living in the valley the country. He describes them to Wash-

I supposed they were a fishing people, of the tribe, a sturdy old matron 70 years living so near the gulf. I found them esold, lugged a bag of corn three miles to sentially agricultural, cultivating corn, the grist mill, sacking it on her shoulders. beans, peas and squashes, and locating while it was being ground she fried a broad | their farms according to the caprice of the strip of ham in the mill stove and devoured floods. They professed to be inimical to it. Then she took the meal sack on her the Mexican government, and to be anx-

sight attracted no special attention in the The Cocopes are et finc physique, and community, but if one of the men of the the men are tall and robust, I measured one, and found him to stand six feet three would have been talked of for a week. It inches. Their skins are dark. They have has been suggested that the state break up | very large feet, notable for the fact that the this lamentable colony and prevent their middle toes are invariably the longest. I intermarriage and further degeneracy, but saw the big fellow I measured 1an bareso far no governor's council has seen fit to footed over a patch of sharp stubble left by stalks of the cattail flag which had been burned. His feet were not hurt in our camp fire and poke the coals with their naked toes. One fellow had thus burned all his toe-nails black, although his feet were otherwise uninjured.

The toes of these people are remarkable for their nimbleness. I saw one man pick up a red-hot coal with his foot to light his cigarette. Another, walking along the road, thus clutched a stick which he wished to use for a cane. I gave a child a lump of sugar. He dropped it, but the nimble toes caught it and brought it to his

Upon the death of one of the tribe his kinsmen all cut their hair to a shortness proportionate to the relationship of each to the deceased. The property of the dead man is given to different members of the tribe never to the relatives. This is to prevent disputes as to ownership. The house having been deprived of the valuables the corpse is permitted to remain within while neath. Thus each man's house becomes his funeral pyre.

All the Cocops paint their faces and are or less tattoed. The foreheads of the men are tattoed with circles or zigzag marks. Upon marrying the women must be tattoed with various designs.

When a Cocopa girl is ready to take a husband a hole is dug in the ground and in it is built a fire, kept burning until its surrounding earth is thoroughly warmed. The fire is then extinguished and the bride elect placed in the pit. She is buried to the beck and in this condition is left standing until morning. After being dug out the next morning she is supposed to be ready for the duties and trials of matrimony. This would seem to be a reasonable sup-

Mis Trip Awheel,

A devotee of the bicycle started southward on his wheel at the beginning of winter. Saveral weeks afterward he reached Florida, none the worse for his jonrney. 'Do you mean to tell me,' exclaimed the friend whom he had gone to visit, 'that you made the entire distance by wheel?'

'Certainly,' he replied. 'When I couldn't ride the machine I got off and walked by

The reader will perceive that there is more than one way to travel 'by wheel.

Mrs. Jason—What is that you are tryin to sing far the land's sake? M.r. Jason—'The Lighthouse by the Sea.' Mrs. Jason—Well if you expect me to git the washin' ever done you'd better be thinkin' of the wood-house by the saw.

FRESH FLOWERS.

MacLaci lish bass will be r been in t orators f glad to l The " and prosp printed as Frank 1 ful season appear in Paula E Girl" com Furlong of to enter v be explor

Mabel

dona, is

Dumb Wa Edmund and Leone Bergerac Whether th him remain of Hugo's and today chiefly in c What An their operat up with is account giv recent date.

dard of Bos

"Lobengria

that her pro

the orchestr

notified the not be allo

promptly se ages for bre

be manage

hostile and r erous. But part on the Down with the Directors the Gazette, ever all oppo The Musici which is wo At the time J ist, was cond could see from were fond of while following ing their enth the ice and waindividuals los 'job' whether on. Jeachim skate. 'Oh. t ed our friend. as Joachim ha the following Joachim, stan you right leg, now go ahes directions be mysterious mo on the ice. 'I Joachim's instr violinist up an

The Herman engagement in The members s season. They ment at the Mo

TALK O

dle of May. The Frost Co series et perto They are not oint People.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-People Alike by Their

e grand reputation of Dr.

e grand reputation of Dr. se.?

clark, Consecou, Prince Ed., states: "Eleven years in with pains in my back, hips and extending up my in was very severe, and at tendurable, and many days to do an hove's work. consulted many first-class it (ried several advertised uld get no relief.

my father-in-law told me se's Kidney-Liver Pills and sev would cure me, I secur-ey would cure me, I secur-id great was my surprise to feel better after using to feel better after using continued their use until I it four boxes which made

m."

§ idney Liver Pills will not

. They act directly and the liver, kidneys and ing them and invigorating action. One pill a dose.
at all dealers, or Edmano., Toronto.

Kind of Savages.

ities of the Cocopas, a savages living in the valley River in Lower California we been brought to ligh cGee of Washington, who om a visit to that part of He describes them to ney were a fishing people, he gulf. I found them esultural, cultivating corn, d squashes, and locating ording to the caprice of the professed to be inimical to vernment, and to be anxthe United States.

are ef finc physique, and and robust, I measured him to stand six feet three skins are dark. They have notable for the fact that the invariably the longest. I ow I measured 1 an bareatch of sharp stubble left ne cattail flag which had His feet were not hurt in nd poke the coals with their ne fellow had thus burned black, although his feet uninjured. hese people are remarkable ness. I saw one man pick al with his foot to light his other, walking along the hed a stick which he wishcane. I gave a child a He dropped it, but the ght it and brought it to his their hair to a shortness o the relationship of each to The property of the dead different members of the he relatives. This is to preto ownership. The house prived of the valuables the tted to remain within while ch man's house becomes os paint their faces and are The foreheads of the men circles or zigzag marks. the women must be tattoed signs.

opa girl is ready to take a is dug in the ground and in kept burning until its suris thoroughly warmed. extinguished and the bride the pit. She is buried to this condition is left standng. After being dug out the he is supposed to be ready and trials of matrimony. m to be a reasonable sup-

Trip Awheel,

the bicycle started southeel at the beginning of wineks afterward he reached he worse for his jonrney. n to tell me,' exclaimed the had gone to visit, 'that you distance by wheel ?' e replied. 'When I couldn't e I got off and walked by ill perceive that there is way to travel 'by wheel. -What is that you are tryin land's sake? M.r Jason—is by the Sea. Mrs. Jason when the sake to git the washin' to the saw. Music and The Drama POPOTOTOTOTOTOTOTOTO.

A week from next Monday is the date fixed for the appearance of Miss Jessie MacLachlan and Mr. Tom Daniel the English basso at the opera house. The house will be reopened after being closed almost two months, on that occasion, and having been in the hands of the painters and decorators for the past few weeks, will present

Mrs. F.G. Spencer's friends will be glad to learn that she is recovering from

The "Stabat Mater" is exciting interest and prospects are that it will be well pat-

Mabel Gelman, the comic opera prima donna, is ill with pneumonia in New York. Bach wrote five oratorios called Passions. Of the five three are probably all that exist and of the three only two are

Frank Daviels is having a most success ful season in "The Ameer." He will go to London next season and when he returns to America next season Mr. Daniels will printed and accessible.

Paula Edward's, late of "The Runaway Girl" company in which Miss Kathlee Furlong of this city is playing, has decided to enter vaudeville. Miss Edward's will be explorted in a sketch entitled "The Edmund Rostand has forbidden Puccini and Leoncavallo to use his Cyrano de Bergerac as basis for an opera libretto. Whether they will pay any attention to him remains to be seen. Verdi used some of Hugo's works against the latter's will and today at least one of them is known chiefly in connection with Verdi's melodies.

What American girls who wish to make their operatic debut in Italy have to put up with is graphically illustrated by the account given in the Italian Gazette of recent date. Miss Harriet Gertrude Goddard of Boston was to appear as Elsa in "Lohengrin" at Modena. On the ground that her pronunciation was faulty at times the orchestral conductor at the last momen notified the management that she would not be allowed to sing. A lawyer was promptly secured, and a suit filed for damages for breach of contract. This brought be management to terms, and the permance was given. The newspapers had taken up the matter and there was great excitement. The conductor remained hostile and refused to let the singer have an encore, and the tenor also was obstreperous. But the audience was for the mor part on the singer's side, and some cried Down with the conductor !" 'Down with the Directors!" In the end, according to the Gazette, the American girl triumphed ever all opposition. She is said to have a beautiful voice and a fine stage presence.

The Musician revives the following story, which is worth reprinting occasionally At the time Joachim, the celebrated violin ist, was concert-master in Hanover, he could see from his windows how those who were fond of skating enjoyed themselves while following their favorite sport. Catching their enthusiasm, the famous artist decided to participate in the sport, although the ice and was soon asked by one of the individuals lounging around looking for a 'jeb' whether he wanted his skates strapped on. Jeachim answered affirmatively, adding, however, that he did not know how to skate. 'Oh, that does not matter,' answered our friend. 'I will teach you.' As soon as Joachim had his skates on, he received the following instructions: 'Now, Mr. Joschim, stand erect, so-now threw out you right leg, so—now your laft, so—and now go ahead.' Joachim following the directions be had received, made some mysterious movements first with his right foot, and just before repeating the oper-ation with his left found himself sprawling on the ice. 'Yes, yes, my dear sir,' said Joachim's instructor, while he picked the violinist up and put him on his legs again, 'you see skating is not as easy as fiddling.'

TALK OF THE THEATRE.

The Herman Stock Company open an engagement in Farmouth en Monda, next. The members spent two weeks here rehearsing and erganising for the summer season. They will play a brief engagement at the Mechanic's Institute the middle of May.

The Frost Company have been giving a series at performances at the Institute. They are not characterized by any special merit—unless one accepts the limited cast. as such.

was part author of "Very Little Faust" ere a couple of years ago.

Viola Allen is still helding her own in "The Palace of the King" in New York.

John Barrymore has been committed to an insere asylvm, wi'h slight prespect of William Faversham will retarn to the New York Empire to play his original Brother Officers.

Thomas Wise has been distinguishing himself in the new and uproaliously funny farce "Are you ai Mason."

To Have and to Hold has found favor in

Mr. Arthur Bov-chier has become the possessor of H. V. Edmunds play "My Lady Virtue" which has not yet been seen upon the stage and proposes soon to pro-

For the comedy scene in King Henry V. wherein the English, speeking no French and the French, speaking no Erglish, meet, Richard Mansfield engaged players from France, so that the illusion and the humor would be perfect.

Miss Arrie Russell makes a very short tour this season with her latest success "A Royal Family." On account of the run of over six months just ended in New York she will visit but six cities besides Boston between now and the close of her season just ended.

J. C. Williamson, the Australian theatrical magnate now in America, is negotiating with William A. Brady for produ of "Way Down East" and 'Lover's Lane" in Melbourne and Sydney. The company will be rehearsed in New York and sent intact to the Antipodes.

Paul Potter disappeared after his "Tril-by" again after "The Conquerors" and is about to do so once more after "Under Two Flags." During these absences he lives in Europe, lounging and observing until a scheme for a play comes to him whereupon he shuts himself up and writes.

Miss Nora O'Brien has severed her connection with the Valentine Stock Company and taken an engagement with Sarah Cowell Lemoyne. The clever young actress was formerly with Liebler and Co. and they were anxious to secure her again, hence her engagement with Mrs. Le Moy

Mr. James K. Hackett has retired from the stage for the rest of the season. His breakdown occurred at Cincinatti. His physicians say he is suffering from nervous collapse and must have a long rest. The Pride of Jennico will continue its tour with Bertha Galland as the star, Mr. Wright replacing Mr. Hackett in the cast.

Helene Odilon, the famous German actress, will sail for America on April 4, making her American debut in New York in "The Star" a comedy written for her by Hermann Bahr. She will star only two weeks appearing in "Camille", "The Countess Guicki," and in "The Twin Sister," Ludwig Yulda's latest play.

Here is where Mrs. Fiske gits a sun stroke. "It is said in London that when Marie Tempest brings out a "Vanity Fair" play the characters of Becky Sharp will re-tain some of the individuality which Thackeray gave to her and not be the mere deon a less degraded plane. There seems to be some doubt after all whether the "Paole and Francesca" of Mr. Phillips will be seen in the immediate futre at the London St. James's Theatre. Mr. Alexander protests that he is still consumed by an ardent lenging to put it upon the stage, but laments that the difficulties in the way of securing an adequate east for it seem to be insuperable. Of cerree he could not think of playing it in any conditions short of absolute perfection. Meanwhile, he has new pieces from Capt. Basil Hood and Mr. W. R. Walkes.

Jean de Reszke has engaged Ted Sloan's brother Cash, as jockey, and expects that he will carry everything before him next summer at Warsaw, St. Petersburg and Mascow. M. de Reszke, as is known, is a devoted lover of the horse, and known, is a devoted lever of the horse, and has one of the finest racing stables in Eastern Europe. He has also supplied himself with a stock of American steel herse shoes and a bulky box of American horse liniment. "What a good time I am going to have this year with my American horses, my American jockey, my American horse shoes and my American filminent!" the New York Times quotes him as saying.

The Frost Company have been giving a series at performances at the Institute. They are not characterized by any special morit—unless one accepts the limited east is such.

The death is announced of M. Louis the vact majority of them from unknown hadolphe Janne, a Parisian dramatist. He dramatist has no difficulty in reaching a was lucky enough to be with a family that manager, but it does not follow that a'll tried to make me comfortable by snugglhas only been able to use four. A fifth is the first thing he said was : in rehearsal. M. Antoine doubtless differs from most managers in his readiness to depart from beaten tracks and make all manner of experiments, and doubtless receives a larger number of manuscripts than most theatrical directors, but, of course, he enjoys no monopoly, and bis experience is much the same as that of the eyes of patrons of the New York Knickerbocker, and it has been decided to run the piece through Apill and May. the dear's of competent play wights. As to the production of plays upon the recommendation of an amateur committee, he has not much faith in that scheme. If a play is a good one, it ought not be thinks, to need any introduction. The managers, in his opinion, ought to have the directest possible relations with the authors. This is the gist of a talk which he had recently with an English correspondent. It does not seem to have occurred to him that possibly many English managers would not know a good play if they saw

> The death of Roland Reed, the actor occurred in New York on Friday of last week. Says the Boston Post of Sunday: The actor's death was caused by cancer of the stomach, from which cause he had been suffering for some time.

Roland Reed was born in Philadelphia n 1852. From his infancy he was brought up in the almosphere of the footlights. He was the offspring of a leading American theatrical fam'ly, and when only six weeks old made his debut, being carded on to the stage of the Walnut street theatre Philadelphia, in a baby pert.

Later on he became an usher in the Arch street theatre, Philadelphia, and his ambition and close study secured him s place behind the curtain as a member of was the school in which he received his stage education. At the age of 20 he played the parts of De Reingham in themselves placed properly before the played the parts of De Reingham in the parts of the Reingham in 'Richelieu' and Rederige in 'Othello,' with

Edwin Forrest in the principal reles.

After this he drifted into legitimate comedy parts and was the first Ko Ko in the American production of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera of "Mikade."

His best known creations of comedy parts were in "Cheek," 'Humbug,' 'The Woman Hater,' 'Lend Me Your Wife,' 'As Innocent as a Lamb,' and 'A Club

His latest play was 'The Wrong Mr Wright,' in which he was starring when he became so ill that he had to be removed to St Luke's Hospital, where several operations were performed upon him in the hope of saving his life.

WORKING UP A PRACTICE.

Plan to Get Patients Devised by a Young

'I recently came across a novel way of working up a practice in the medice! protesion, acid the young man who boards. 'For the last five years I have been subject to slight attacks of rheumatism. I had one of these spells last Nevember and was confined to the house for several days . I was living on Eighty fifth street, New very kind to me, and during my indisposition they made a fire in the parlor grate and coddled me like a baby.

'One day while I sat nursing my pains a book collector called to see one of the young women. He had to wait several minutes for her to come down and he devoted the interim to interviewing me in regard to my ailment and treatm

'Had a doctor ?' he asked. 'No,' said I. 'I've been this way so often that I k low as much about taking cere of myself as any doctor could tell me.'

'The collector shrugged his shoulders disapprovingly.

'That's where you make a mistake,' he said. 'No man can diagnose h's case so well as a physician. If you have no regular doctor I can recommend an excellent one. I'll give you his address in case you shen'd change your mind and decide to call in somebody.'

'He handed me a card on which he had scribbled the name and address of some dector down on Sixteenth street and before he went away he extracted a promise from me that if I found it necessary to consult a physician I would patronize him.

Two weeks ago I was laid up again with the same old trouble. I was living on Forty-forth street then, and again I manager, but it does not follow that a't tried to make me comfortable by snuggithe plays will be read. Not a few of them, of course, may be seen at a glance to be worthless. He selected twenty new pieces for production this season, but so far he had not a good memory, for faces and " Sick ? Had a doctor?"

'Upon my suswering in the negative he produced a card.

'You ought to attend to yourself right away,' he said. 'It doesn't pay to let disease of this kind run. Here is the address of one of the best doctors in towa. I'd give him a t.ial if I were you.'

'The ored was that of the Sixteenth street doctor and in spite of my aches I smiled.
'I don't want to be inquisitive,' I said

Mrs. John Drew's stock company. This other doctors who are bard put to it to get

address of one of the best dectors in town. It dig im a t. all if were youn, "The ored was that of 've Bittensth street doctor and in spite of my aches I smiled. If don't want to be inquisitive," I said 'but this i'the second time you have men a 'i'p on this fallow and I'd 'i'the 1s now how much you m'th sout of it." "Hel, looked me ever more closely 'bon. Well, I'll be blessed's be said. I have seen you before this, for a fact. H I repaired to be pedigree of that doctor don. a pat. But it's your or. I sail we used see often. You ought have to hang around the here now. "I recommend him every place I go and he pays me a convenience on the fees r. coived from patients thus secured. He says that in his experience he never heard of an advertising scheme to best ours. We began to work the game as soon as he laft college, and between to we have not been here long enough to est.'s upon any physician. In my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good among mough to est.'s upon any physician. In my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician. In my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many periment of my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician in my pereg. antions about tow. I meet a good many physician of the provention of the comment of the proventing physician of the prove MIIVUI U

Assisted by Cutiques Ointment; the Great Skin Cure, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the state cale, and dandruf, and the stopping of the state cale, and dandruf, and the stopping of the state cale, and dandruf, and the stopping of the state of the county of the cale of the state of the state that of his associate staff of specialista.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (in paper covers), 1005 pages, is sent free on secipt of 31 one-cent stamps, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume, to pay depends of customs at d mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

News and Opinions

National Importance.

The Sun

ALONE

CONTAINS BOTH:

Paily, by mail, - - $6 a year Daily and Sunday, by mail, $8 a year

The Sunday Sun

is the greatest Sunday Newspaper a the world

Price gc. a copy. By stall, $2 a year's Address THE SUR, New York,

PROGRESS.

PROGRESS PRINTING; AND PUB-LISHING COMPANY,- LIMITED.

ogress is a Sixteen Page Paper, published every Saturday, at 20 to il Canterbury street, St. John, N. B. by the Phogness Prinxing AND PUBLISHING COMPANY (Limited.) Edward S. Carrer, Editor and Manager, Subscription price is Two Deliars per annum, in advance.

emittances.—Persons sending remittances to this office must do so either by P. O., or Express order, or by registered letter. OTHERWISE, WE WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SAME. They should be made payable in every case to PROGRESS PRINTING and PUBLISHING CO., LTD.

All Letters seat to the paper by persons having no business connection with it should be accom-panied by stamps for a reply. Manuscripts from other than regular contributors should always be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope; etters should be addressed and drafts made payable to Progness Printing and Publishing ('0, Ltd., St. John, N. B.

Agents in the city can have extra copies sent then if they telephone the office before six p. m.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

ST. JOHN. N. B. SATURDAY, APR. 6. Subscribers who do not receive their pape

Saturday morning are requested to com municate with the office .- Tel. 95.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

Whether Japan is talking too much, or not, is a question that cannot be decided at this distance without knowing how much, if any, secret backing up that plucky little island empire is getting from other powers. But we suspect that whatever aid and comfort Japan thus receives is more delusive than reliable. We are afraid that if worst comes to worst those other powers will find that they have pressing engagements else where, and will leave Japan to confront alone the rugged Russian bear.

The empire of the Mikado is no match. by land or sea, for the empire of the Czar. This is said in all friendliness to the plucky little bantam, which crows perhaps some what too loudly, but is wonderfu'ly at tractive and deserving of admiration nevertheless.

It is true that Japan has made a degree of progress within these 20 years past to "history presents no parallel. It is transhat Japan very lately thrashed Chins so badly that the empire of 400,000,000 people got on her knees and sued for peace to the empire of 40,000,000 people, and was glad and grateful to get peace on the latter's terms. It is true that Japan's army and navy, as well as her churche and schools, and factories, and railways and bridges, and even her homes, have lately been reconstructed on the best American and European models.

All the same, and all the while, it re mains true, too, that Russia is by land incomparably the most powerful warlike na tion on the globe, and that by sea she compares favorably with any single nation of has many more than 100.000,000 people. the field tomorrow.

Wherefore, though it may possibly be good policy on Japan's part to 'sass' the bear, if the lion and the (French) sagle other beasts and birds of prey approve, it will be wise to keep out of the reach of Adam Zad's paw, which, as Mr. Rudyard Kipling has feelingly described, does not leave much of a beauty spot on the countenance over which that paw passes.

THE SICK MAN OF AFRICA.

While the European powers are busy in China, and England has trouble of her own in South Africa, France little by little is edging in on Morocco. English nave authorities have called attention to this point before now. They point out that it is necessary that Morocco must be maintained in its integrity as a Moorish empire, or Gibraltar will become almost valueless. The building of the French railway in Algeria has to an extent diverted the caravan trade from Morocce to Algeria. To protect this railroad France has been stretching out to the west, encroaching little by little on the Sultan's domains. Scientific expeditions, equipped largely with the weapons of modern war fare, have been launched into southeastern Morocco, and this has finally resulted in a gain to Algeria of a belt some 150 miles wide from the desert to the coast. Now, the trade returns from this section of Africa cannot repay France for the money and men which she is constantly expending in patrolling and pros territory, but if she hopes that ultimately Morocco may fall into her grasp the game may be worth the candle.

A glance at the map of Africa shows the strategic importance of Morocco from the Mediterranean standpoint. France has been accused before this of purposely stirring up the desert tribes in order to get an excuse for still further inroads into the Sultan's territory. To day she is fighting the Honi Menia tribes below Figuig, a caravan junction well within the limits of Morocco. It is predicted that before long will be found that France has been obliged to tortity Figuig for the sake, she will say, of protecting her own towns in Algeria. The Sultan of Morocco is generally looked upon as a hopeless young man, who will see his territor from him without much torn effort to protect himself. It remains, therefore, for Europe, or rather for Great Britain, the English naval authorities say, to check any further advances which threaten the integrity of the Moorish em pire. France has done her work quietly, and while the trouble has been going on in South Atrica she has pushed her cam paigns vigorously. The future of British naritime supremacy may some day rest in the control of the gates of the Mediterranean. Now would seem to be the time to check France, and not allow her to gain a further foothold in northwest Africa by means of what has been called the ever shifting, ever advancing frontier of Algeris.

CLOSURE.

By refusing to leave the House of Com nons when a division was called for, forty or fifty Irish members of Parliament recently created a disturbance such as that historic chamber has rarely witnessed The ground of their refusal was the application of 'closure' to a measure which they desired lenger to debate: and as they per sisted, it became necessary to summon the police and remove them by force.

On the last day of the session of the United States Senate one of the members defeated the liver and harbor bill, a measure which carried appropriations of about fifty million dol'ars, by talking it to death,' in other words, by prolonging his speech until the hour of adjournment.

The two cases are interesting as showing the difference in the customs of these two deliberative bodies.

In the House of Commons, when the party in power decides that a bill has been sufficiently debated, or that further discus sion is intended merely for delay and ob struction, the leader moves that the ques tion be put. It rests with the Speaker whether or not the motion shall be enter tained; but if it is enter:ained and carried. further debate is shut off. That is 'closure.' The same end is reached in the United States House of Representatives by the operation of the 'previous question.' In the Senate there is no l'mit upon debate whatever.

The question which is the better way has often been raised and much debated. On the one side, it is urged that full and free discussion is the only assurance of sound legislation; on the other, that no one man or body of men in a minority should be permitted, by 'filibustering' under cover of the privilege of debate, to defeat the will of the majority. All that has resulted Europe excepting Great Britain. Russia from the discussion so far is that each deliberative body follows the course which it She can place 10,000,000 armed men in considers best suited to the accomplishment of its own business.

> Roports of the famine disclose conditions quite as terrible as those which have drawn the charity of the world to India during the last two years. No crops can be expected this year be cause the drought prevented sowing Meantime, men and women fall in the fields and are devoured by wild beasts; and while China faces the penalties of the outrages committed by the Boxers against the foreigners, the only hands stretched out to help those starting peasants in Shensi are the hands of foreign missionaries.

The defense is now made more complete by a provision to keep mosquitoes from introducing germs of disease into, the huge reservoirs which have been cut out of the side of the rock. Each tank is rendered mosquito proof by means of gauzs wires. The millions of gallons of water, which siege would render an important resource, may be reckoned among the assets of defensive works which are a symbol, the world over, for impregnability. Not even the mosquito will be permitted to capture the stronghold.

Mr. Bustin's Wheresbouts.

While it may be hardly fair to conclude that Superintendent Bustin of the Reformatory has gone away with a woman whom he has been seem in company with the circumstances point strongly in that direction, Mr Irvine, the secretary seems to have no doubt upon the subject and the boys cenfined in the institution took advantage of his absence to give the hard worked police a good chase around

VERSES OF YESTERDAY AND TODAY

The Braners of the Glory of the I ard. cause have we ever for mystical dreams, Nor need we sage scleme explore.

To learn what the lights are whose lovel ness gleams
When the great north realms open 'heir door.
On their lance pointed arms as they swiftly advance
And their many hues splendor afford
What see we as upward and onward we glance,
But the glory that loveth the Lord.

see with the insight is silence revealed, From the glory celestial and grand;
From all but the past for ages concealed,
All the lights of the heavenly land.
All the lights of the No..h at the great ...ampet

When it swings out the pearl jeweled gate; The banners of glory their Lord that march past;
Are born by his servants of state.

There out of the Temple of jusper and gold And the garaished foundations spring forth; The colors whose splendor the banners aniold, As Aurora moves out of the north. How brilliant are they as the dancers are seen,
As a fi .me in their beauty they go,
The blue of the amethyst clasping the green

The sapphire follows the sardias red. The emerald and chalcedon shine; And by the blue jacinth the chrysolite led, Keep the topaz and be. /l in l ne.
The chrysoprase leadeth the sardonyx o'er Where cornelian tints border their glow,

They show forth in dances and streamers galore The glory we gaze on below.

Entrancing the sweep the wast acres of space, n magaince of glory before the high place, Of Jehovah the father and founder of ligh The crackle upblending in many a ray,
Of an opaline cystal andreseate glow As merrily meeting they cradle the day, In the luminous garments they show.

O never I gozo on that glistening fold, Of the tale bannered lance points in one; But I think of the hosts of the northwen of old, Who saw their gay marches and p'ak t' tled hue Their tremulous glances on high;
But I see away through them the beautiful views,
In the city of God in the sky.

Where the obelisk points to the far starry zone: where the opensk points to the lar starry zone;
In the land of the still midnight sun;
Where the pyramids saw the North star through

In the dawn of the earth days begun; These banners of glory, the woof of the Lord. He has marshalled through long vanished years, Forever they honor His will and His word, Man cometh and disappears. CYPRUS GOLDE. N. Y. Observatory.

A Soliloguy

The folding-bed raised up his head.
And opened his mouth a-yawning;
"I'm sick of double life," he said,
"From nightfall until dawning!"
He creaked a bit, and muttered, "Onch!
Would I be so unstable.
Had I been bo. a perm ment couch,
Or an undivided table?

"From morn fill night, through dark to light,
Two drea, y duties claim me,
By day I am a bookcase digut,
At night a bed they name me.
I tremble lest in some sad bour,
My task forrost, I anoudle enTangle my terrible dual power—That's why I act so wooden.

"Pray, don't blame me, Hereditic Is what makes me so shifty.
I had a two-faced forbear, he Was made by a Puritan thrify.
He was a seitle, grim and brown,
To rest on him none was able.
And when you turned his flat back down,
He turned into a table.

"My forbear got reposed 'n state
In a New England kitchen,
Forewarnings of my dual fate,
This ances.or was rich in;
And I, with varnish and veneer,
With gilt and gine resplendent,
With knobs and scrolls your eye to che
I am his true descendant."

So the folding-bed raised up his head,
And opened his mouth a-yawning;
"I'm sick of double life," he said.
"From nightail until dawning!"
He creaked a bit, and muttered, "Oach!
Would I be so unstable,
Had I been born a permanent couch,
Or an undivided table?"

Days.

A dull day, a drear day,
A day ofmist and rain
That : ets among the sodden tree
And whimpers at the pane;
Gh im within and chill without—
My ever, my only dear,
Bright this day had been for me
If only you were here.

A gay day, a May day—
Alt the world aglow—
Whisper of a wind aplay,
Green of earth below;
Song of bird and bloom of svi—
My ever, my only dar,
Sad and sere this day for me
With only you not here.

The new day, the blue day
When you come agaia,
Shall we care for sun or shine,
Care for gloom or rain?
Love with'a and love withou'My ever, my only dear.
Word of you and smile of you
And all of Summer's here.
—Theodo

Dancin' Round About Seg When the breakers roar like lions
As they dash upon the rocks.
An' the white guils, breastin' ether,
Rise in lively snowy flocks;
An' the waves are racin' shoreward
'Zif each one was bound ter win;
Then I like to see the whitecaps Dancin' roundabout Seguin.

With the combers soothing sand heaps "Long the edge of Popham beach,
An' the children digain' cellars
In the sand above their reach,
With the bathers jumpin' rollers
That are comin' in 'o'm sea,
There's all the world of happness
Along the shore for me.

With the summer sails a-driftin'
'Long the line of outer blue,
An' the pleasure boats a-skimm
In the nearer waters, too.
'With the fabes slowly pullin'
'Up the traps among the rocks,
Or the feller with the shotgun
Poppin' harmiessly at hawks-

Tell yer there is fun is bein'
Where the sun an' waters meet,
Gettin' bronze upon your forehead
An' the sait upon yer feet!
When the waves are racin' shoreward
Zil each one was bound tar win,
Then I like ter see the whitecaps Dancin' round about Segnin.

Chairs Re-scated Cane, Splint, Perforal ed, Daval, 17 Waterlee

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

THE SPREAD OF DISEASE. dany Maladies are Carried About by Pet Animels.

The subject of the relationship between the diseases to which man is liable and those from which animals suffer is very interesting and important, and will well repay the study now being given to it by physicians and veterinary surgeons. These diseases may be divided into three classes -those equally affecting both man and animals, those special to man, but which may also be caught by animals, and those belonging to animals, but which may attack man if he comes in close contact with the sick animal.

Of those equally affecting both man and animals the best known is tuberculosis. Some physicians insist that the tuberculosi of cows is not the same as that of human beings, but most are of the opinion that the difference between the two diseases are only such as might be expected to exist in view of the vital differences between the two classes of beings.

Another disease common to men and some animals is smallpox. In this case there seems to be more difference between the disease in man-smallpox, and that in animals-cowpox and horsepox. Yet that the two affections are closely related is show by the protection against smallpox that is afforded us by inoculation with cowpox, or vaccination.

Diphtheria and scarlet fever are shared with us by various animals, and it has been assert d by certain English physicians that those diseases may be conveyed to children in the milk from sick cows. However this may be, there is little doubt that cats, rabbits and perhaps other domestic animals, can acquire diphtheria i.om sick children, and can in turn transmit it to

The plague is a disease common to man, monkeys and rodents, and is so equally shared by them that no one knows whether it was primevily a human disease or a rat

Among the diseases belonging especially to animals, but which may also be contracted by men, are hydrophobia, anthrax or malignant pustuie, glanders and foot and mouth disease. Some of the parasitic skin diseases are also transmissible from men to animals, and the reverse. A very common example of this is ringworm, which is not infrequently introduced among the children of a family by the cat.

Canton's Water-Clock.

The famous clepsydra, or water-clock, of Canton is housed in a temple on the city walls. In "Chin; the Long-Lived Empire," Miss Scidmore tells of a visit paid to this famous temple.

We went into a sort of subbish-room and sat down to wait until the expected bargaining should be concluded and we were free to enter some further halls, the supposed splendid Temple of Time.

'Lady, jump down. Lady sitting ancient water clock,' said Ah Poll. our swaggering parrot of a guide ; for three big earthern jars on successive shelves beside us, a tourth and lowest one with a wooden cover constituted the whole clepsdra, and we had unwittingly sat down upon a quarter section of all time. The water decends by slow drops from one jar to another, the brass scale on a float in the last crock telling the houses as it rises. Every atternoon at five o'clock since 1321. A. D., the lowest jar has been mptied, the upper one filled, and the clock thus wound up for another day. Boards with the number of the hour are displayed on the outside wall, that the city may know the time.

Fell Half a Mile.

Mr Birkbeck was one of a party of enthusiastic tourists assembled at the top of said: the Col de Miage to see if it were possible to ascend Mont Blanc from that direction. He had stepped aside for a moment, and when he did not return his comrades fol lowed his tracks, and looking down over precipitous slopes of snow and ice, descried him nearly half a mile away at the foot of the slope near the head of the Glacier de Mi.ge. It was evident that he had tallen and his possible; but it took nearly two hours and where he began to fall and the place where where he began to fall and the place where he stopped there was a difference in level of about seventeen hundred feet.

A contributor to the Leisure Hour tells a Norwegian because he is a VII King, met with a cold exterior. ne stopped there was a difference in level of about seventeen hundred feet.

the story of the fall as given by Mr. Birk-

At the place where he lost his footing the slope was gentle and he tried to stop himself with his fingers and nails. The snow, however, was too hard for this, and he went on slipping. Sometimes he descended feet foremost, sometimes head first.
Then he went sideways, and once or twice he had the sensation of shooting through the air. He came to a stop at last at the edge of a large crevasse.

When he was reached it was found that almost half the skin had been taken from his body by abrasion.

The Judge's Narrow Escaps

A Southern judge, who is a man of much dignity and presence, lost his father in infancy, and as a small boy, often received correction at the hands of a darky on the place, in whom his mother had great con-

This trust was well placed, and the boy grew to manhood with a strong reflection for 'Uncle Rast' firmly planted in his heart. As years went on the old negro took an evergrownig pride in the successes and bonors which came to youn Marse 'Gene, but usually tried to hide his satisfaction frem its object.

Well, Uncle 'Rast,' seid the judge one day, after a particularly brilliant speech at a dinner had been printed and landed far and near, 'how did you like what I said on the school question at that dinner last week? Did you approve of my views?"

'Um m,' said the old colored man, blinking up at the tall judge, 'I reckon you know well 'nough, Marse 'Gene, dat if yo'd said diff'rent your ole Uncle 'Rast would've been jess ready to spank you!'

Ouly the Men.

Children, says a writer in the Spectator, have a strange sense of justice. They have been taught to sympathize with the sufferings of animals, and to show them an unvarying kindliness. Human beings. on the contrary, are divided, in their minds into the two classes of good and bad. The good are to be rewarded, atter the manner of fairy tales; the bad are to be punished.

Ronald's father one day gave an animated description of a bull-fight, meaning thereafter to point a moral. But the lad was delighted.

'Wouldn't you like to see a fight, daddy? he asked, breathiessly.

'Why, no, my boy. Surely you wouldn't want to see cruel men baiting the bull? You wouldn't like to see poor horses gored to death?'

'No,' said Ronald, with the thoughtfulness of eight years, 'I shouldn't like to see the horses hurt; but,' he added, after some reflection. 'I shouldn't mind seeing those men gored, though.'

Sufficient Contrast

A noted woman went to a photographer's one day to sit tor her portrait.

'I want you to print one or two photographs from the negative without retouching it,' she said. 'But let the others be finished in your best style.' 'May I ask your reason for that?' he

'To be sure,' she raplied. 'A manufacturer of cosmetics wants me to furnish him my 'before using' and 'after using' portraits for an illustrated advertisement in one of the magazines.' To the credit of the photographer be it said that he refused to lend himself to the scheme, and the woman went elsewhere.

A Literal Construction

In a school for colored children there was a little boy who would persist in saying 'have went' says a contributor to the Christian Endeavor World. The teacher kept him in one night and

'Now while I am out of the room you may write 'baye gone' fitty times.' When the teacher came back he looked at the boy's paper, and there was 'have gone fifty times.' On the other side was written, 'I have went home.'

Carpets, Curtains and Blankets

Your attention in your house will soon be drawn to the above articles and knowing as you do our splendid facilities for friends went to his assistance as soon as handling them, we sincerely trust you will not torget Ungar's Laundry Dyeing and a half to reach him. Between the place Carpet Cleaning Works. Telephone 858.

winter social seas many clubs which provement or ame means of whiling s Cycling and gol tention of the so caxiously waitin both of which On Wednesday from Sackville co other sea's of lea the city ready for Lady Tiltey, I Howland left her Stephen, where with Lady Tille leaving that to Ottawa to spend H. C. Tilley and for a fortnight. Miss Howland Miss Howland very popular wife city and her ma that she intended guest of her aun vacation. The vand friends gathermade things mer

Miss Amy Sm on Friday last in number of young nd as Miss 8m tess it is little Skinner leaves

On Saturday Wentworth stre-tea; the affair friend and guest > day evening was thoroughly enjoy that occasion. The pretty co dramatic club in

The lecture of Rev. Mr. Fr

Mrs. George Tuesday called t sister, Mrs. Wil death. Much s Miss Bertie T > and was enroute she will spend h Iney are being home by their n Wednesday afte they will spend Miss Fitzpati \ isiting friends Mr and Mrs ed in the city di They will rema Mrs. Thomas tion in New Yo

St. John people Uncle Sam's te

ish str wh tin

AKING

fall as given by Mr. Birk-entle and he tried to stop is fingers and nails. The was too hard for this, and oing. Sometimes he desmost, sometimes head first. deways, and once or twice ation of shooting through ne to a stop at last at the crevasse.

reached it was found that skin had been taken from rasion.

ce's Narrow Escaps.

udge, who is a man of much sence, lost his father in insmall boy, often received e hands of a darky on the his mother had great con-

as well placed, and the boy firmly planted in his heart. on the old negro took an ride in the successes and ame to youn Marse 'Gene, ed to hide his satisfaction

'Rest.' seid the judge one rticularly brilliant speech at een printed and landed far did you like what I said on estion at that dinner last u approve of my views?'

the old colored man, blinkall judge, 'I reckon you gh, Marse 'Gene, dat if ent your ole Uncle 'Rast jess ready to spank you!

Duly the Men.

ys a writer in the Spectator, sense of justice. They ght to sympathize with the nimals, and to show them kindliness. Human beings. y, are divided, in their minds lasses of good and bad. The rewarded, atter the manes; the bad are to be punher one day gave an animan of a bull-fight, meaning oint a moral. But the lad ou like to see a fight, daddy? athiessly.

ny boy. Surely you wouldn't ruel men baiting the bull? like to see poor horses conald, with the thoughtfulrears. 'I shouldn't like to see t; but,' he added, after some shouldn't mind seeing those ough. ufficient Contrast man went to a photographer's tor her portrait.

to print one or two photohe negative without retouch-id. 'But let the others be ur best style.' your reason for that?' he re,' she replied. 'A manusmetics wants me to furnish ore using' and 'after using' an illustrated advertisement in gazines. dit of the photographer be it efused to lend himself to the the woman went elsewhere. Literal Construction.

for colored children there by who would persist in saynt' savs a contributor to the leavor World.

er kept him in one night and

I am out of the room you ave gone' fifty times.' teacher came back he looked paper, and there was 'have es.' On the other side was we went home. . Curtains and Blankets tion in your house will soon the above articles and knowour splendid facilities for n, we sincerely trust you will ingar's Laundry Dyeing and ing Works. Telephone 858.

man who came into this office state that King Edward was because he is a VII King, old exterior.

England. They will also visit Paris and other ities in France before retarning.

Mr and Mrs C G Stevens of Halliax are spending short ime here, guests at the Victoria hotel.

The many friends of Miss Geraldine Sears are

The many friends of Miss Geraldine Sears are pleased to hear that she has almost completely recovered from her recent illuess.

Mrs E Hutchinson of Douglaston accompanied by her little stat Harry spent the greater part of the week here, porchasing Easter goods.

Mr and Mrs M F Miller who have been staying here with friends returned on Thursday to their here the recently of the stay of the search of the se home 'n Anaspolis, N. S.

Mrs. H. H. Melrason of Mone 'n arrived in the city this week, and will spend a shoultime with friends he.z.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ryan have returned from a short but pleasant trip to Wcodstock.

Miss Annie Gallagher left by I. S. S. Co. boat on Thursday morning for Boston, where she v. 11 make

Mr. and Mrs. George Young of New York are here enjoying a pleasant visit with friends and re-Mrs. J. Bn.ton left on Monday atternoon for provement or amusement, and which have been the means of whiting away the long drea y mon'ns will meet for the last time "trutll next winter."

Cycling and golfing will soon occupy the entire attention of the socie y ladies, many of whom are craiously waiting for fine days and good roads, both of which the so essential to outdoor enjoy-winter social season, and during the coming week many cubs which have been fo. ned for social im-provement or amusement, and which have been the

Lady Tiltey, Mrs. Herbert C. Tilley, and Miss

Howland left here on Wednesday a. ernoon for St. Stephen, where they will spend a couple of days with Lady Tilley's mother, Mrs Chipman. On leaving that fown Miss Howland will go to hostess it is little wonder that the tea is said to have been the most delightful affair of the season.

On Saturday a ernoon last Miss McLaughlan, Wentworth street enterlained a few lady friends at tea; the affair being for the enteriainment of her friend and guest Miss Dalsy Winslow of Frederic-Joung people have been rehearing for some time and promise a pleasing entertainment.

Mrs. George Barbour went 'r Fredericton on Tuesday called there by the aerious il'aess of her sister, Mrs. Wilson, w.fe of Judge Wilson, Mrs. Barbour arrived but a few hours before her sister's death, Much sympathy is expressed for her and the other members of the deceased lady's family.

Miss Bertie Thomas was in the city for a day this week. She has been studying at Sackville college and was enroute to her home in Fredericton, where she will spend her Easter vacation.

Mrs C E Laechler and Miss Laechler of Boston

Mrs C E Laccaier and mass ascenter to book as are here for a few days the guests of relatives. They are being warmly welcomed back to their old home by their numerous friends.

Mr and Mrs James F Robelson left here on the state of the stat guest of friends.

Mrs. John McCready Snow left on Thursday for Boston and from there will sail for Jamaics to rejoin her husband whom she has not seen for so many years.

Miss Wa.ing of Queen street has returned from a pleasant visit to Boston and New York of some

On Wednesday and Thursday many students from Sackville college, the N. B. University and other sears of learning in the provinces, a...lved in the city ready for the full enjoyment of their Easter vacation. The usual namber of loving relatives and friends gathered at the depot to meet them r id made things menty with their welcome. Miss Bernice Currie who has been spending some Miss Beraice Currie who has been speading some days here as the guest of Mrs Groge W Carrie, Waterloo street, returned 'n her home in Bath, Carleton Co., on Wednesday, She was accompanied by her friend Miss Gertrude Roscoe of Wolfville N. S. who will visit her for several weeks.] Mr. and Mrs George Ellis, formerly of this city,

Mr. and Mrs George Ellis, formerly of this city, but now residing in Wolfville, are rejoicing over the advent of a little stranger at their home.

Hon. James and Mrs Holly have returned from the home of Mr David Tapley.

Mrs. A. A. Stockton and Miss Elvie Stockton were passengers on the Monday afternoon train for New York, from which city Miss Stockton strits on her long journey to Chili. Quite a number of young friends were at the depot to bid them goodbre. leaving that town Miss Howland will go Oltawa to spend some weeks with friends, Mrs H. C. Tilley and Lady Tilley go to Clifton Spring ⁸ M. C. Tilley and Lady Tilley go to Clifton Spring sor a fortnight, They return by way of Ottawa.

Miss Howland, during her stay here has become very popular with the young society people of the city and her many friends will be pleased to hear that she intends spending the summer here, the guest of her aunt Lady Ti'ley at Carleton House, bye.

Mrs. Dewdney, wife of Pov. A. D. Bewdney, who has been so very seriously ill for many weeks, is now considered out of danger, and her physicians Miss Amy Smith gave a pleasant a ernoon tea on Friday last in honor of Miss Howland, A large number of young ladies and gentlemen were present rad as Miss Smith makes a ve. / charming young claim that she will soon be on the road to rocover J. Her many friends throughout the city will be Her many friends throughout the city will be pleased to hear this.

Mr 2nd Mrs P. S. MacNutt have relarated from a somewhat extended, and we presume very pleasent trip to New York, Washington, and other Amerimiss E. A. Johns in of Montreal is spending a Miss Gertrude Skinner daughter of Mrs. C. N. Skinner leaves next week on a trip to the west ew weeks in the city.

Mrs R. L. Johnson has recovered from her recent Dame rumer hath it that on arriving at her des-tination she will be a principal in an interesting

The famous Canadian Jubilee Singers who have The famous Canadian Judice Singers who have been heard on two or three occasions in 'his city have been engaged by the Portland St. eet Methodist church to assist at their grand concert to be held on the evening of May 70'. These g'ited singers have travelled extensively through Great Britain, Canada and the United States and their song of the Sanny Roadh have been set, where received of the Sunny South have been eve. swhere received with great enthusiasm.

The lecture on Robert Louis Stephenson given by Rev. Mr. Fraser in St. Andrews church on Tues-day evening was 'ideed an intellectual troat and thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present on that occasion. The ladies of the No.:h End who are interested in the erection of the soldiers memorial dripking fountain, have about completed arrangements for the bazaar and tea with they intend opening on mext Tuesday a..ernoon, for the purpose of raising funds for that wo.:hy object. The affair promises to be a high success, for the zealous workers have less nothing undone that would add to the e.joyment of those who will attend. They deserve liberal patronage also for the object is indeed a worthy one, and one which will no doubt appeal to the citizens in general. The pretty comedy entitled Snowball is '9 be presented in the Mission Church school room on nex. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by the dramatic club in connection with that church. The the citizens in general.

Miss Lilliru Weatherhead has gone to New York where she will remain with relatives for several weeks. Her brother, Mr Will Wea'herhead, who has been paying a visit to his parents here, returned on the same day to that city.

Mr and Mrs Pidgeon have returned from a should APR. 3-Mr J But on Clark has bought the prot the first of May.

Miss Gerande Dick and Miss Flo Lavers have been spending two weeks with Miss Russell.

Dr Taylor returned from St John on Monday.
Mrs A. S. Baldwin and Mrs H D. Wallace were in the city last week attend ig the milline. / open-they will spend the Easter vacation.

Mass Fitzpatrick of Elageton, Hent covary is Listing friends in the north end.

Mr and Mrs C S Atkinson of Boston, Mass arriv-Mr. and Mrs Gillmor Stewart are rejoicing over od in the city during the early part of the week.
They will remain here until after Easter.
Mrs. Thomas Ellis is spending the Easter vacation in New York and other American cities.
Mr and Mrs Charles H. Peters are among the St. John people who are enjoying the holidays in Uncle Sam's territory. They left for New York on

Mr. and Mrs Gillmor Stewart are rejoicing
the Advent of a baby boy.
It is reported we are soon to have two weddings.
Dr Nase has removed to the recory.
Lais being hely week services are held every evening in the Episcopal church.
Rev. Fe Lavery attended the funeral of the late Bishop Sweeney returning home on Saturday.
MAX.

Tacsday.

Miss Troop, of this city, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Lydia Killam of Yarmouth will leave here by steamer Lake Ontario, on next Fiday direct to England. The young ladies will spend direct to England. The young ladies will spend some time visiting relatives in different parts of some time visiting relatives in different parts of very se...ons illness. Miss Bertha Rice is the guest of her sister Mrs Raad, Mrs B York, Mrs Guest and Mrs Creighton attended openings in St John and Hahtax.

Miss Hickey, Amberst is visiting Mrs Walsh,
Mr Lawrence Hoke has returned to resume his consular daties after a 'sit of several weeks at his home at Windsor.
Two successive victo. 'es in Cecilia rir't of Parraborro team over Amberst teams ended the hockey borro team over Amberst teams ended the bockey season. At the last match Laesday March 26:h tae score stood 9 to 2. Mrs FL Jenks is back from a visit of several weeks in St John and Amberst.

Miss Faulein I. ice leaves on Thursday to return to the Acadia Seminary, via Truro where she will make a short stay.

Misses Jo and Winnifred Gillesple who both came home from Halifax ill with is grippe have recovered and; the latter will return: Mt St Vincient after Mr E R Reid has been to Halife ; in the interests of Farraboro Board of Trade.

Rew Charles Camming left to day for Crapand,
PE I having been appointed rector of that parish Mrs Cammings will remain here until Jrue.

ST. STEPHEN AND GATAIS.

[FROGRESS is for sale in St. Siephen at the bookstore of O. S. Wail, T. E. Atcheson and J. Vroom Co., in Calais at O. P. Treamaine's;
Apr., 4.—Mrs J D Dawson and her daughter Ins are in Woodstock, visiting Mrs Rankine Brown. Mrs Almon I Teed gave a delightful evening at her home last Friday for the pleasure of her gues' Mrss Ne'lie Lingley of Westfield, Mrs Scott; Bradish of Eastpo., is visiting in Calais.

Miss Florence Rerne who is a pupil at Roger Hall, L. well Mass, is spending her vacation at her home in Calais.

Mr. and Mrs George Eaton and Senator Murchie have returned from Augusts, Maine.

Miss Abble Smith entertained a sparty of friends at her hom; one evening last week.

Mrs Otis W Bailey and Miss Loraine Bailey have gone to New York city to visit relatives.

J D Chipman was a guest of 'Lady Tilley in St
John for a few days last week.

Mr and Mrs Fred McCullough are residing now with Mr and Mrs Folensbee Eastman.

Miss Ehel Waterbury returns to Lubec next week to resume the charge of the kindergarthen in week to resume the charge of the kindergarries. In that town.

Mr and Mrs Harry Burring')n of Calais are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Miss Annie Etevens has gone to Woodstock this week to spend Easter with Mrs Rankine Brown.

Mrs Frank Nelson has returned ; from a pleasant

Miss Dora Hanson le.t vesterday for her home in Fredericton after spending a month in town. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Daisy Hrason who will spend Easter in Eredericton.

Mrs John Graut is improving from her illness, Miss Christine Whidden arrived home from Philadelphia yesterday after a long and delightfe!

visit with friends in that city.

Miss Ada Penna has returned to her home in St
John atter a visit of several weeks with Miss Miss Annie King entertained the whist Iclub last

Mrs W A Murchie has retuined from Bo

Mrs W A Murchie has retu. 1ed from Boston, Mrs Theodore Murchie's pa. 19 last Thursday was a most pleasant affair.
Miss Mary Bouness is home from St John.
MissiNelile Stua. 19, who was Mrs W A Waterbury's guest has returned to her home in St Andrews.

Miss Aubrey Street of St Andrews was a guest this week of Miss Emma Watson.

Mrs Leighton of Pembroke was the guest this week of Mrs B B Murray, in Calais.

MONOTON. PROGRESS is for sale in Monc'on at Hattle Tweedie's Bookstore and M B Jones Bookstore. APRIL 3.—Mrs R P Norton of Charlottetown, is ere paying a visit to her friend, Mrs C D Thomson

Botsford street.

Mr and Mrs L Berryman returned today from a

Mrs L Berryman returned today from a two weeks' enjoyable trip to Boston.

Miss Hellett of Moncton is the guest of Miss Mable McKee at Fredericton.

The members of our city fire depa...ment are arranging a splendid minstrel show for Easter Monday night. The Harmony Club of St. John and many local musicians will assist at the entertainment of the members of the mem ment, which promises to be well patronized,

Miss Snowdon has returned from a pleasant visit to friends in Ontario.

Miss Emma Toombs, who has been spending her vacation at her home here, returned on Friday last to Charlottetown, P E I.
Mrs Gilbert De Mille is paying a visit to her old

Rev H A Meahan went to St John last week to Attend the funeral of the late Bishop Sweeney, Miss Minnie Bockler, who has been spending the winter in Moncton, has returned to her home in Mrs J W Y Smith has returned from a visit to Montreal, where she has been absent for the pas two or three weeks.

Mrs F Ferguson of Richibucto, arrived in the city this week and is the guest of Mrs J P Clark, Church strees.

Judge and Mrs Landry of Dorchester have been cailed ') Montreal on account of the illness of their eldest son, a student at McGill.

Mrs L Wright of Salisbury returned home Monday, a ter spending a few days at the residence of Mr and Mrs A E Holstead. Mr and Mrs A E Holstead.

Miss Mai, Smith of Amberst, who is attending school at Rothesay, is spending a few days in the city, a guest at the residence of Mr F G Hunter.

Mrs W B McKenzie retu_aed Saturday evening from Boston, where she accompanied Miss McKenzie who will take a course in nursing at the Massachusett general hounital.

Massachusetts general hospital. CHATHAM.

Miss Alice Irving one of Chatham's most, charming young ladies, was married on Wednesday evening of last week to Mr Robert Smith, of Lakewille, Carleton Co., by Rev H R Read, at 'the residence of her father, Mr Andrew Irving, Douglasfield. The bride looked bewitching in fawa cloth trimmed with white silk. They will live at Lakeville. Mr Smith recently retuned from South Arics, where he helped in maintaining the cause and the prestige of the Empire. The happy couple let on the Maritime Express on Thursday morning. The best wishes of their many friends follow

There has been a card party or two in Chatham nearly every night since the beginning of Lent. It has been decidedly the gayest portion of the year for nearly half the citizens.

mson, of Sydney is visiting her mother, Mrs Marquis.

Mrs W H White left this week for Sydney to re-

Umbrellas Made, Rc-covered, Repaired Deval 17 Waterice.

The D. & A. Straight Front is hygienic-it does not strain the abdomen nor compress the bust.

The lungs and digestive organs have full play.

Pressure of lacing is all put upon the hips and STRAIGHT FRONT back muscles, forcing the shoulders erect.

Price $1.00 to $2 00 per pair.

Leave Your Orders Early for Spring Painting, etc.

At ST. JOHN PAINT STORE. 158 PRINCESS ST.TE L. 697.

H. L. & J. T. McGowan

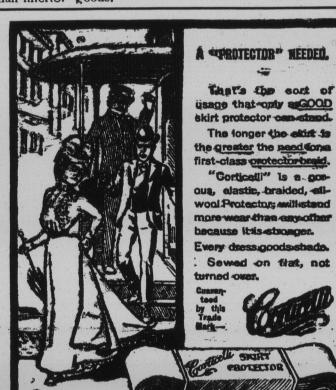

We sell Paint in Small Tins, Glass, Oil, Turpentine, Whiting, Putty, etc. WHITE'S WHITE'S

For Sale by all First-Class Dealers in Confectionery.

Snowflakes

Don'ttake inferior goods; the best do not cost any more han inferior goods.

When You Want

a Real Tonic 'ST. AGUSTINE' (Registered Brand) of Pelee Wine.

E. G. Scovil,-

GAGETOWN, Sept. 21, 1899. "Having used both we think the St. & Agustine preferable to Vin Mariani as a tonic.

JOHN C. CLOWES E. G. SCOVIL Commission Merchant 62 Union Street

FOR ARTISTS.

WINSOR & NEWTON'S OIL COLORS, WATER COLORS, CANVAS. etc., etc., etc.

Manufacturing Artists, Colormen to Her Majesty the Queen and Royal Family.

FOR SALE AT ALL ART STORES. A. RAMSAY & SON, - MONTREAL; Wholesale Agents for Causda.

Buctouche Bar Ovsters:

Received this day, 10 Barrels No. 1 Buctouche Bar Oysters, the first of the Spring catch, At 19 and 23 King Square,

J.D. TURNER. Pulp Wood Wanted

WANTED—Undersized saw logs, such as Bat or Spiling. Parties having such for sale can co spond with the St. John Sulphite Company, I stating the quantity, price par thousand superfi-feet, and the time of delivery

M. F. MOONEY,

Fry's Cocoa

most concentrated form. It is very rich, healthful, nourishing. It is economical to use because of its great strength. It dissolves easily. It has taken medals everywhere because of its superior excellence. A quarter pound tin of it costs but 25 cts. and makes fifty cups.

is absolutely pure Oceoa in its

Sold by leading dealers everywhere.

	PROGRESS is for sale in Halifax by the 'ewsboys and at the following news stands and cent es.
-	MORRON & CoBarrington street
	CLIFFORD SHITE,Cor. George & Gra-ville Sts CARADA NEWS Co
	CAMADA NEWS Co Railway Depot
	J. E. FINDLAY Brunswick street
	. W. ALLEE,Dartmouth N. St
	Queen Bookstore109 Hollis St
	Mrs. DeFreytas181 Brunswick St
	4

mr 5 a Marthall gave a most successful vocal rectial at the conservatory on Thursday evening last. A large number attended and the musician received much applause. He was assisted by Miss Grace Bullman, Miss Eva Sircom and Miss Louise months visit to relatives in Boston and vicinity.

Miss Margaret M Moore, Roome street, Halifax, left this week on the Halifax for Boston te visit her brothers. She will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs R J Thompson, Hubbard Ave., Cambridge.

their many friends at the Armonies on Tuesday evening of last week. As is usual when any affair is given by the local militia a most delightful even-

The residence of Mr Stephen B Cross at Willo Ark was the scene of arr Stepnen B Cross at Willow Park was the scene of a very pretty Wedding at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, when his daughter, Miss Beatrice, was united in the holy bonds of mastrimony to Mr Charles S Doolittle, electrician of Newport, R I. The house had been beautifully decorated with plants of all descriptions and the decorated with plants of all descriptions and the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev Arthur Baker, of Oxford was tastefully adorned with palsas, camellas, etc., Only the contracting parties, immediate friends and relatives were present, and the bride was accompanied by Miss Edith Butcher as maid of

The bride wore a pretty costume of pearl satin en train; applique and lace trimmings. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and madden hair fern.

The maid of honor wus attired in a pink silk dress and her bouquet consisted of pink eamelins. The bride was the rectificate of a large number of beautiful presents, includings silver tea service from the choir of the Normal Amplitation of the Morean Sanghaperon with diamonds and pearls, and his gift to the maid of honor was a gold ring with turquoise setting.

Mr and Mirs Doolittle left on the afternoon train for a trip to Karmouth. Boston and Providence before returning to Newport, where they will raside. The bride's travelling dress was blue cloth with steel trimmings.

teel trimmings.

Dr and Mrs Tobin left on Saturday morning last for Boston and other cities in Massachustrs.

Dr Maud Killam, who has been in China for the past few years arrived in Halifax on Friday last.

Her home is in Yarmouth and she will leave for that place during the week. Mrs Bloomfeld Donglas accompanied by her sis-ter Miss MacDonald left here Monday morning on a short visit to Sydney. Mr and Mrs J. W. Vidits are enjoying a vacation

The marriage took place in St Luke's Church on The marriage took place in St Luke's Church on Thursday evaning last of Miss Leitite Bremmur and Charles A Innes of Halliax Tramway Company. The bride wore a suit of gray trimmed with white satin and lace, Miss M Covey was brideemaid, James Bremmur supported the groom, Mr and Mrs Innes will receive friends at 28 Harris street.

The "Chimes of Normandy" will likely be spien-didly rendered by local talent on Easter Monday and the two following evenings. Miss Foster will appear as "Serpollatie," and Mr Wikel as 'Gas-pard.' The character of the Marquis will be sung by Mr Pyke.

Miss Shields left last week for Boston where she TRURO.

April S.—Miss Olive Hudson left this morning for her home in Glace Bay for a short visit, Miss Sutherland, North Symey, and Miss McGregor, New Glasgow, who have been visiting Miss McKay left today to visit Halifax friends.

Mrs. Learment was in receipt of a telegram last Saturday moraling announcing the death of her mother as the result of an attack of pneumonia, Mrs. Learment left in the afternoon for Northern New York to be present at the obsequies, which co-curred on Monday.

curred on Menday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Craig, Pictou, spent Sunday in town, guests of the former's brother, Mr. B. T

Mr. and Mrs John John Robertson, Moncton, were in town a day or two last week, guests at the

M. D. took place last Saturday afternoon. The in-terment was conducted by the Forresters, who walked in a body. The following of citizens was unusually large the whole community deploring Mr. McChure's early and sudden death. The bea-ranged relations have year widely expressed.

TO CURN A COED IN ONN DAY Take Largitte Brome Quinine Tablete, druggists retund the money if it falls to cure. E. W. Gloppe's signature is on each box.

FOR ADDITI NA OCIETT NEWS, SEE FIFTH AND RIGHT PACES.

IN CHART PACES.

IN

D G M Dot kin, Amherst, was in town last night attending a special Masonic meeting. Pro.

WISDSOR.

APR 3 .- Mayor and Mrs Black were in Halifax ones new smith.

Mr Monson Wardrop, Milford, graduates at Dalhousie Medical College this spring.

Mrs Woodill a daughter of Mr Watson Smith is risiting Miss A. E. Robinson.

Mr James Armstrong left Windsor for Boston on a husipeas falls.

nouth, where she has been visiting her son.

Mrs Red McDonald and Mrs F W W DesBarres of Halifax are visiting Hantsport, their native place Mr and Mrs Judson F Dalton of Hantsport ex-pect to leave Saturday for Nelson, B. C., there to Mrs Wm Beckwith of Kellyville, has been very ill with la grippe. She was reported slightly better

Mrs Conion has arrived home from Quesec waere she has been visiting her parents.

Mrs Crossley, wife of Captain William Crossley, arrived home; on Wednesday of last week from South America, after an absence of six months,

Miss Maggie Logan, teacher at Bible Hill, Truro, attended her sister's funeral at Millord, and settement to her school again on the 27 h March. returned to her school again on the 27 h March.
Mr and Mrs Claude K Eville and two children of Truro are in town and will remain two weeks the guests of Mrs Eville's parents, Mr and Mrs John M Smith.

Mr N J Lockhart, of P E Island at one time Principal of the Hantsport schools who has been attending the law school of Dalhousie College, is

Mrs Chas Hensley and two children of Canning came to Windsor on Monday and will remain for a few weeks, the guests of Mrs Hensley's parents Mr and Mrs Chas DeW Smith.

Mrs D McLaughlin, Marble Mountain, C B spent a few days visiting Mr Norman Logan's Millford, during his daughters illness. She has again returned to Cape Breton,

Miss [Lydia Killam returned to Yarmouth on Treaday morning. Next week she in company

Tuesday morning. Next week she in company with her cousin Miss Troop of 8t John, will sail on the steamer Lake Oatario of the Elder Dempater line for England where they will visit relatives and will take in the sights in Paris before returning

April 8-Mrs Doherty is paying a visit to diferent parts of Massachusetts.

Mrs H A Crimlan and Mr and Mrs Hall were passengers on S S Boston for Boston last week, Miss Sadie Comean is spending a few weeks with relatives at the Hub.

with relatives at the Hub.

Mrs B W Rsy and Miss Rsy went to Boston last week. They will remain there several weeks.

Mrs Norman H Beat and Mrs Eva Bent returned from Boston Wednesday last.

G D Campbell, Weymouth, was a passenger from Boston per Prince George on Wednesday. Miss Rood, of Le Bon Ton, returned from Bos-ton per Prince George on Wednesday. Rev Father Hamilton went to St John to attend the funeral of the late Bishop Sweeny of St. John. He returned Saturday.

He returned Saturday,

Mrs F J Largie left Wednesday morning for a visit with friends in Halifax and other provincial towns,

school in Windsor, arrived home on Tuesday to mend the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs E K Spinney.

Mrs W J Crosby is paying a visit to relatives in different parts of Massachusetts.

Mrs Hermeon is also visiting in Boston and vi-

Mrs J Frost left last week for a short trip to ston and New York.

KENTVILLE.

APRIL 8.—Mrs L St Clair Saunders gave a very delightful afternoon tea on Friday of last week. Mr L S Eaton is seriously ill at his home at Elm"

Mrs C F Bockwell is visiting in Bridgetown . the

Mrs C F Rockwell is visiting in Bridgetown, the guest of Mrs Frank Fowler.

Mr Barrons, whe has for some time past been general superintendent of the carriage company, has resigned his position, the climate not agreeing with Mrs Barron's health. They supert to leave for their old home in western Ontario early in May. Mand. May J. H. Gonziler will take that most tree. Mr and Mrs J H G little cottage.

Mr J A Grierson of Weymouth, Miss Jean Grierson of Yavmouth, and Mrs W H Uhlman of Carletop, Yarmouth, are all in Kentville this week. The operation being the death of their father.

Mr A E H Chesley leaves on Saturday for a trip to New York.

Mrs Henry Farrell, Chapel Hill, has been quite Miss Edith Brock left on Wednesday for a short visit in Halifax, but was recalled on Thursday owing to the sudden illness and death of her

Mr Allison Borden of Acadia was in town for Sat urday and Sunday.

Latest styles of Wedding invitations and mnouncements printed in any quantities and at moderate prices. Will be sent to any

Progress Job Print,

WOLFVILLE. APR. 2.—Miss Clara Cohoon has returned after omewhat extended visit to her sister, Mrs Flo of her friends on Friday evening last,

On Monday evening of last week Canon Brock Kentville, lectured in Assembly-hall under the au pices of the faculty on 'The Expulsion of the A adians.'

The Art club met last Saturday at Mrs Weeks'. The life of Sir Joshua Reynelds was studied.
An interesting event took place on Tuesday last in Serwick, when one of Wollville's fair daughters. Miss Kate Munroe was united in marriage by Rev Mr Gaests to Mr. A.J. George, Journalist igts, of Amrherst. The happy couple went to Halifar on the evening train. They will leave soon for the Pacific coast where Mr George has a position in the office of the Vancouver World.

Mrs Ross of Aylesford is staying with her sister, Mrs R A Burgess of Greenwich has been visiting with Mrs B O Davison.

Mrs F A Burgess of Greenwich has been visiting with Mrs B O Davison.

Mrs F A Burgess of Greenwich has been visiting with Mrs B O Davison.

Mrs F or Burges of Greenwich has been visit to the city on Thursday evening.

Miss Bossic Eaton of Canard sister of Mrs (Dr) Regs, migsteners to India, in visiting-friends in town.

eries in German East Africa Not From the ludian Ocean.

Mr. P. Chaudoir writes from Africa o ome interesting limestone caves that have west of Tanga, one other ports of German East Africa. These caverns have long been known to the natives but the attention of white men has only recently been called to them.

The cavern of which Mr. Chaudoir particularly speaks has a very large opening on the side of a cliff with a river flowing out of it. Only a short distance within th opening the roof suddenly rises to a height of about 200 feet and along the side walls are passageways leading through great widenings in the rock which form enor-

The same difficulty has been found is exploring these caverns that are usually ncountered in caves of tropical countries. In some of these passageways the walls are covered with legions of bats. Mr Chaudoir writes that it is no exaggeration to say there are millions of these animals covering the rock walls like a tapestry.

At a little distance the stone seems to be hidden under black earth, which is nothing however but this agglomeration of bats. Many of them are extremely large. One, which was killed by a blow with a stick, measured from tip to tip of the wings abou four feet. Its body was as large as that of

Disturbed by the torches of the explor ers hundreds of the bats take wing, flying against the men and compelling them eften to beat a hasty retreat. Their cries are so deatening that the men though shouting at the top of their voices can not hear one

Under these circumstances it has not ver been possible to make any thorough exploration of the caves. Some underground lakes, however, have been discovered and air. One of the caves has seven entrances within a distance of less than half a mile.

On several occasions when the men have ground the flight of startled bats has extinguished their torches and the explorer have been compelled to grope their way back to the exit. Mr. Chaudoir says these esverns are worthy of thorough explora-tion and he believes they equal in extent and interest some of the most famous caverns of France.

Tourist (in Kansas, stopping in front of wrecked saloon)—'Hello! Explosion or cyclone? Native—'Mixed—with petticents on.'

Maypole Soap Makes Home Dyeing Easy.

It washes and dyes at one operation without mess or trouble. The colors are brilliant and fadeless — it dyes to any shade. It is the quick, easy, safe Home Dye. 10 cts. for colors; 15 cts. for black. At druggists, grocers and depart-

If you can't get it, send the money to the Canadian Depot, 8 Place Royale, Montreal.

Use

Perfection Tooth Powder.

For Sale at all Druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Doubles a Mother's Joys and Halves Her Sorrows.

It does this by a pre-natal pre-paration in which the mother finds herself growing stronger instead of weaker with each month. Instead of nausea and nervousness, there are healthy appetite, quiet nerves, and refreshing sleep. The mind's con-tent keeps pace with the body's comfort. There is no anxiety, no dread of the approaching time of travail. When the birth hour comes it is practically painless, the recovery is rapid, and the mother finds herself abundantly able to nurse her child.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge, and so obtain without cost the advice of a specialist in the diseases peculiar to women, All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mra. Annie Blacker, 620 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorile Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby. I heve recommended your medicines to several of my friends and they have been benefited by them."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

"Silver Plate that Wears" MADE AND QUARANTEED BY

A very complete line of this reliable brand in Tea-ware, Bake-dishes, Fruit Bowls, etc., and also latest patterns in "1847 Rogers Bros." Knives, Forks, Spoons, etc.

FAT REDUCTION.

Mrs. M Dumar studied the reduction of human int for over 20 years, with the greatest specialists in Europe and America. Over 19,000 graterial patients attest her successes. Her treatment is not "Banting," nor starvation diet. She protests against the "Free Thail Treatment" Fraud, so often advertised. Her's is no "Monthly Payment" scheme Mrs. Dumar's treatment is endorred by the Colleges of Physicians and by "The United States Health Report." Her total charge is $1, which pays for prescription, for medicine sold in all first class drug stores, full instructions as to the treatment, and everything necessary to reduce one pound or more oversything necessary to reduce one pound or more everything necessary to reduce one pound or more a day. No extra charges. No wrinkles and no in-

FROM NEWSPAPER EDITORIALS. The patients of Mrs. Dumar are legion, and all of them are her friends.—Weekly Tribune and Star. Twenty old years who has spekt in serving her sister-sufferers and all have benefited by her treatment.—Family Paysician Magazine, N. X.

For many years this successful specialist has been curing excessive list, and we (soknowledged to be the highest American authority on all masters pertaining to health, sanitation and hygiens) legistations of the health, sanitation and hygiens) legistations and the second state of the secon ment, ask any preprietor of a first chair newspaper. They all know Mrs. Dumar and what the has done. She has not published a testimonial in years. She does not need to. Her work is too well known. If you are interested in reducing flesh and believe that a sure, guaranteed reduction (as promised above) is worth $1 to you, mail that sum in bill, stamps or Money Order to MRS. M. DUMAR, 15 West 28th St. New York.

Eugene Given Free to each person in-terested in subscrib-ing to the Engene Field Monum en a Bouveair F un d, ubscriptions a s as$1.00 willen-doner to this antily artistic vel-Field's Poems. A $7.06 anie PIELD FLOWERS (cloth bound, 8 x II) as a certificate of subscription to fund.
Book contains a relection of Field's best and most representative works and Book.

THE Book of the century. H and doming the subscription to fund, 5 x 111 as a certificate of subscription to fund. Book contains a solution of the World's greatest artistate this book could not have been manufactured for less than $7.00. The Fund created is divided equally between the family of the late Engune Field and the Fund for the building of a monument of the measury of the beloved poet of childhood. Address

EUGENE FIELD MONUMENT SOUVENIR FUND, (Also at Book Store.) 180 Monroe St., Chicago.

BRANDIES!

Landing ex "Corean." Quarts

or Pints THOS. L. BOURKE 25 WATER STREET.

NOTICE.

Through the efforts of Mr. W. A. Hickman, Immigration Commissioner, who has been in England for some months past, it is expected that in the coming spring a considerable number of farmers with capital will arrive in the province, with a view to purchasing farms. All persons having desirable farms to dispose of will please communicate with the undersigned, when blank forms will be sent, to be filled in with the necessary particulars as to location, price, terms of sale, etc. Quite a number of agricultural laborers are also expected and farmers desiring help will-also please communicate with the undersigned.

Dated St. John, N. B., Feb. 9th, A. D.

2-14 lm ROBERT MARSHALL.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that an application will be made to the Legislative Assembly of this i Province at its next session, for an Act to amend the wrelating to Hard Lat v Sentences in Gools, for the purpose of the better enforcement of such sentences in the Gaol of the County of the City and County of Swint John.

Dated the 17th day of January A. D. 1901.

By order

By order GEORGE R. VINCENT, 1 W s tf

NOTICE.

APPLICATION will be made to Legis APPLICATION will be made to Legislature at its next session for the passing of an act to incorporate a company by the name of THE COTYAGE. CITY PARK, Limited, for the purpose of acquiring, owning and managing Real Estate, and improving the same, and the erection of cottages and other buildings thereon, with power to lease, mortages or sell the same, and with such other powers as may be incident thereto.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 14th, 1901.

Scribner's

FOR 1900

J. M. BARRIE'S "Tommy and Grisel" (serial). THEODORE ROOSEVELT'S

"Oliver Cromwell" (serial). RICHARD HARDING DAVIS'S iction and special articles.

HENRY NORMAN'S The Russia of To-day.

Articles by WALTER A. WY. KOFF, author of "The Workers".

SHORT STORIES by

Thomas Nelson Page, Henry James, Henry van Dyke, Ernest Seton-Thompson, Edith Wharton, Octave Thanet, SPECIAL ARTICLES The Paris Exposition.

William Allen White.

FREDERI IRLAND'S article & on sport and exploration.

"HARVARD FIFTY YEARS AGO," by Sena-

NOTABLE ART FEATURES THE CROMWELL ILLUSTRA TIONS, by celebrated American and foreign artists.

Puvis de Chavannes.

by JOHN LAFARGE, illustrations in color.

Special illustrative schemes (in lor and in black and white) by WALTER APPLETON CLARK. E. C. PEIXETTO, HENRY Mo-CARTER, DWIGHT L. ELMHN-DORF and others.

Illustrated Prespectus sent free to any address.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SOMS, Publishers, New York.

APRIL 3—Rethe season at the season at the Main, Holm Con Dr Wheeler, turned from tal many, spent at Mrs James Mrs Ja Mrs N B Ste Mrs J J Bair and Lake St Jo were guests of street for a few Mrs D R Pri Lending Librar
After a long Greve Cottage, to her home in Mr and Mrs

MUF

LAN

Apr. 4.—Miss of Mrs Beeler I Miss Annie I
fax, where she
Mr and Mrs and will spend

Mr and Mrs T Mrs Cochran evening last 20

he will take up day Party will

APR. 4.-Mis been visiting in Miss Bertha by the serious spring milliner tion in Digby a

Dr Black of I the second time of the serious il

guest of Capt a Capt L Halit Mr and Mrs A Mr Percy Tu for several wee Rev A M Hi John. Mr L H Sny millinery estab to St John. Coporal Fred

his sister, Mrs Latest style and at mode

APRIL 4.—Ming her friend Hon James here recently a Miss Kathlee
were in town fo Miss Lizzie her aunt Mrs. I turned to her h Mr. and Mrs days of last we Carlisle hotel. Mrs Dr Law Aberdeen.

Mrs. M Pelle ston were here week.
Mrs Matthe visiting in New Miss Elizabe

She was accom Mrs B Bull where she wi Clarke. Miss Mildre has recovered this spring. W B Jewett to Woodstock.

last of the weal
George M B
mail service at John H . West Mrs J B B daughter, Miss defforts of Mr. W. A. Hicktion Commissioner, who has ad for some mouths past, it ast in the coming spring a umber of farmers with capiin the province, with a view tarms. All persons having to dispose of will please with the undersigned, when will be sent, to be filled in sary particulars as to locarms of sale, etc. Quite a icultural laborers are also farmers desiring help will mmunicate with the under-

ohn, N. B., Feb. 9th, A. D.

ROBERT MARSHALL.

NOTICE.

eby given that an application will gislative Assembly of this tPro-cession, for an Act to amend the ard Lattr Sentences in Gools, for better enforcement clauch sen-ted of the County of the City and-obn.

ohn.
a day of January A. D. 1901.
By order
GEORGE R. VINCENT,
Becretary. 1 w s ti

NOTICE.

the passing of an act to incorr-by the name of THE COTIAGE. nited, for the purpose of acquir-nanaging Real Estate, and im-and the erection of cottages and 3., Jan. 14th, 1901.

ibner's R 1900

NCLUDES >

RRIE'S "Tommy and RE ROOSEVELT'S mwell" (serial).

HARDING DAVIS'S special articles.

NORMAN'S The Bussia

WALTER A. WY.

or of "The Workers".

TORIES by Welson Page,

n Dyke. ton-Thompson, arton,

Allen White. . ARTICLES

Exposition.

I IRLAND'S article d exploration.

ARD FIFTY

AGO," by Sena-

E ART FEATURES WELL ILLUSTRA celebrated American

Chavannes,

N LAFARGE, illus-

lustrative schemes (in black and white) by APPLETON CLARK. ETTO, HENRY Me-OWIGHT L. ELMENothers.

instrated Prospectus any address,

SCRIBNER'S SONS,

where she is visiting her daughter Mrs. E N Case.
Mr and Mrs Hugh F Murray speat Sunday in Woodstock guests of Mrs. Murray's mother, MrsBaker, Mr. and Mrs. Murray are preparing to depart for Winnipeg, where Mr. Murray's company, the Yarmouth boot and shoe company have made him manager of a branch they are establishing there. He will have two or three travellers under

MURRAY &

LANMAN'S

HANDKERCHIEF,

TOILET & BATH

REFUSE ALL SUBSTITUTES.

AMHERST.

Mr and Mrs T H Cochran.

BRIDGETOWN.

Apr. 4.—Miss Berry of Annapolis was the gues

of Mrs Beeler last week.

Miss Annie Evans left last Wednesday for Halifax, where she will remain for an Indefinite period.

Mr and Mrs L F Doring of Clarence left on Saturday for a visit to Boston.

Mrs J N Rice and Master Victor, returned on Saturday from a visit in Yarmouth.

Mr and Mrs Fred J Reed leave for Boston today and will spend two weeks in that city before re-

Drother.

The ladies of St James' church will hold an Apron Sale, Wednesday 17 th inst, in the Council Chamber, Ruggles building. In the evening a Birth day Party will be held. A very interesting program is in preparation for the evening entertainment, consisting of musical selections by local talent.

ANNAPOLIS.

AFR. 4.—Miss Locke of St Andrew's school has been visiting in Windsor.

Miss Bertha Ruggles was called home last week by the scrious illness of her brother, who died on Saturday.

Miss Mary Brittain was in St John taking in the mus Mary Britain was in St John taking in the spring millinery openings. She has accepted a posi-tion in Digby as head of a millinery business.

Mr and Mrs E K Spinney of Yarmouth, spent a day in town last week, the guests of Mr and Mrs J

Dr Black of Halifax was in town twice last week, of the second time remaining several days on account of the serious illness of Miss Cecile Ritchie. She is slowly improving and it is hoped all cause for anxiety will soon be removed.

Mrs Wm deBlois of Amherst is with her brother,
Mr J J Ritchie.

Apr. 3.—Mrs Ernest Lewis of Freeport, is the guest of Capt and Mrs C F Lewis, King street.

Capt L Haliburton and bride are the guests of Mr and Mrs Aubrey Brown at the Mytle house.

Mr Percy Turnbull who has been at Bridgetown for several weeks has returned home.

Rev A M Hill pastor of the Digby Presbyterian church, left yesterday afternoon for Boston via St.

John.

Mr L H Snyder who has spent the winter at Marshalltown was a passenger to Boston Wednes day afternoon.

Miss Chisholm and Miss Banks of J F Saunders' to St John.

Coporal Fred W Coembs of St John who has recently returned from South Africa is the guest of his sister, Mrs George Whightman.

Latest styles of Wedding invitations and amouncements printed in any quantities and at moderate prices. Will be sent to any address.

WOODSTOCK.

APRIL 4.—Miss Page of Centreville is here visiting her friend Miss Clark.

Hon James and Mrs. Holly of St. John wer here recently as guests of Mr. David Tapley.

Miss Kathleen and Annie McIntyre of Richmond were in town for a few days last week.

Miss Lizzle McLaughlin who has been visiting her aunt Mrs. P Hayden for some months has returned to her home at Grand Falls.
Mr. and Mrs Pidgeon of St. John spent a few days of last week here. They were guests at the Carlisle hotel.

ment have returned from a tri

Progress Job Print.

APRIL 4.—Miss Budd and Miss Swetman were guests of Mrs. Rushton last week, Mr W J Miller of Chatham was here last week, Miss May E Stothart of Boston arrived on Mon-day night. She is visiting her home at Douglas-returned home.

Miss Addie Bockler left last Saturday for Lawrence, Mass., to visit her sister, Mrs F Belknap.

Miss Minnle Bockler accompanied by her sister Mrs C G Delkill, returned from Moncton last week.

Rev Mr Pickles fell and injured himself last Wednesday, but we are pleased to state that he is again able to attend to his duties.

APRIL 3—Rev Dr Steel gave the third reading of the season at the residence of Mr and Mrs W D Main, Holm Cottage, Victoria street last week. Dr Wheeler, formerly of St John but now returned from taking a post graduate course in Germany, spent a few days in town.

Mrs James Mcfiatt gave a family party on Monday evening of last week in honor of Dr Wheeler, Mrs N B Steel has returned from her long visit to Boston.

Rev Mr Baille occupied the pulpit of the methodist church at both services on Sunday.

Mr. Thomas Kingston left on Monday night's express for Wisconsin.

Miss Maggie Eastey of Millerton was in town on Monday.

CAMPBELLTON.

APRIL 4-M rs J E Mill of Maria, is visiting her to Boston.

Mrs J J Bain, superintendent of the Quebec and and Luke % John Railway, Quebec, and little son were guests of Dr J G and Mrs McDougall, Church street for a few days recently.

Mrs D R Pridham gave an At Home' on Tuesday afternoon from 5 until 7 o'clock at her residence, A bion street.

Mrs Wm DeBlois, proprietress of the Strathcona Lending Library has returned from Annapolis. APRIL 4—M rs J E Millof Maria, is visiting her sister Mrs H McIntyre.

Mrs Theodore LeBlance of gCarleton, has been the guest of Mrs George St Onge.

Miss Josehine Cemea returned last Friday after seguding sometime at her home in Petit Rocher.

Miss Ida Gerrard who has been spending the winter with friends in town, left Thursday morning accompanied by her niece Miss Mamie Young.

Muss May Scott of Dalhousie is visiting friends in town. Lending Library has returned from Annapolis.

After a long visit with her triend, Miss Dickey, Greve Cottage, Miss Violet Bullock has returned to her home in the city.

Mr and Mrs R T H Weir gave a reception for Mrs Cochran gave a whist party on Wednesday evening last comprised principally of young people. There were four tables and after supper dancing own,

Rev Mr Drapeau of Nouvelle was in town or

Miss Laura Audet of Amqui is visiting friends in THINGS OF VALUE.

The first half of life the old house is too small for the large family; the last half of life the old family is too small for the large house.

the large family; the last half of life the old family is too small for the large house.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panaces, in one remedy for all ills to which fiesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, nowever, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and indicaous use, the trailest systems are led into convalenceme and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by trangullising the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northroo & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and gauged by the opinion of scientists' this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggits sell it.

A TONIO FOR THE DEBILIATED.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills by acting mildly but thoroughly on the secretions of the body are a valuable tone, stimulating the lagging organs to healthful action and restoring them to full vigor. They can be taken in graduated doses and so used that they can be discontinued at any time without return of ailments which they were used to allay.

Mrs Clubleigh—But Henry dear, in that photo-graph you have but one button on your coat. Mr Clubleigh—Thank heaven, you've noticed it at last! That's why I had the photograph taken.

To PREVENT is BETTER THAN TO REPRIN.—A little medicine in the shape of the wonderful pellets which are known as Parmelee's Vegetable Filis administered at the proper time and with the directions adhered to often prevent a serious attack of sickness and save money which would go to the doctor. In all irregularities of the directive organs they are an invaluable corrective and by cleansing the blood they clear the skin of imperfections.

Voice of the Lookout—Mr Binglebunger, seven women are coming down the road with axes!

The proprietor—What, ho, there! Drop the drawbridge, flood the sidewalk, clew up the iron shutters, stretch the barb wire, jetch up the fire hose, light the sulphur pans, and stand ready to let loose the mice! Now let 'em come!

There is danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. Had they used Bickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup, before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

'Don't you think this all night business of the Montreal carters is demeralizing?' asked Weirdly, as he dodged a plunging burlow and caught the last car that took tickets. 'Yes,' said Gimlet, 'it leads to many a man being driven to drink.'

driven to drink."

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E Crandell, Port Perry, writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief. I was advised to try DB TROMAS' ECLECTRIC CIL. I warmed the Oil and poursed a little of it into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of dealness being cured by the use of this medicine.

The Dyspeptic Cannibal. A Cannibal was seated on a green Pacific isle, With the temperature at ninety-nine degrees; His dress was rather scanty, in a truly savage style Just a pair of Boston garters round his knees,

But he didn't seem quite happy, for now and then groan

Escaped—which tore his savage breast in two;

And he chanted in a melancholy, meditative tone

The ditty that I now repeat to you.

Mrs Dr Lawson and Miss Lawson of St Stephen are here for a few days. They are staying at the 'I've eaten hostile tribeamen without a single question,
I've feasted on the yellow, black and brown;
But I never have encountered such a fit of indigestion
As accompanied the minister from town. Mrs. M Pelleter and Mrs Matthews of Edmund-ston were here on Friday and Saturday of last Mrs Matthew Hutchinson, Upper Wicklow is mrs Matthew Hutchinson, Upper Wicklow is visiting in New Yerk.

Miss Elikabeth Buil left for Boston Saturday last. She was accompanied by Master Gordon Carr.

Mrs B Buil went to Fredericton on Saturday where she will visit her daughter Mr George Clarke.

Miss Midwas Committee of the State of Saturday where she will visit her daughter Mr George Clarke.

'I have wied the Uambago, belied and roasted, baked and fried; I have chewed the woolly Colah stuffed with yam; But for all the after symptoms from the dishes I have tried I wouldn't give a Bamballoosdam.

Clarke.

Miss Mildred Carvell, daughter of F B Carvel has recovered from her third attack of pneumonia this spring.

W B Jewett and family are on their way home to Woodstock. They will probably arrive here the last of the week.

George M Bran, superintendent of the railway mail service and wife of St Jehn were guests of John H. West on Saturday.

Mrs. J B. Brewer accompanied by her grand-daughter, Miss Edith Holmes has gone to Chicago But I caught the missionary calmly strolling on the main; Cooked and served him dressed exactly comme is faut.

But a feeling deep within me, makes it disagrees plain That the missionary surely is de trop.

"I have eaten hostile tribesmen with the greatest subsarity:
I may seasted on the yellow, black and brown.
But the eat a unlesionary were the below of insanity.
You dan't keep a good man down."

"Yale Record."

CROUPY COUGHS OF CHILDREN.

The tendency to croup is a foe that all parents have to fight. Croup comes in the night, when help must be right at hand if it is to be help at all. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is a blessing to all families where there are children antifect to attacks of croup or any mean cough. It has a wonderful reputation for its a fliciency and rully deserves it.

You cannot tell what night your child may wake up choking to death with croup. In such a case what do you do? Send for a doctor and wait an hour or parhaps two hours, while the child is gasping for breath? How much simpler where the true specific for croupy coughs and all throat troubles is right at hand. Indeed, no other way is safe with young children in the house.

right at hand. Indeed, no other way is safe with young children in the house.

Adamson's Cough Balsam is a most delicate medicine for children, relieving the little throats at once. Its action is scothing and certain. It clears out the phlegm, which produces the croupy condition, and is a safeguard which no mother who knows about it will dispense with. All coughs and inflammation of the throat or bronchial tubes are cured by the Bal sam with promptness that surprises. All druggists sell it, 25 cents. The genuine has "F. W. Kinsman & Co." blown in the bottle.

A Reputation for Himself.

Herbert Gladstone seems to be unwill ing to be known to fame merely as a son of his father, and has started out to make a reputption for himself. His letter to his constituents make such a bold attack on the present government and such a fierce demand for reforms ,that it has created as much of a sensation as one of his distinguished father's eloquent speeches

Mr. Gladstone is not content with showing how many popular demands have been refused and how many measures of national importance ignored, but he insists on saddling the whole responsibility for this disobedience to the popular will on the conservative party fand the ministry now in power. He is even understood to suggest again, though not in plain terms, the abolition of the house of lords.

It is some time now since we have heard anything about the once famous popular dictum that the house of lords must be 'amended or ended,' and this particular time, when the nation is in the thross of war, seems inauspicious for renewing it; but Mr. Gladstone may be shrewd enough to see that this is a good time for effort in that direction. The British people are growing very restive under the burdens of the war; they are beginning to grumble loudly and to cast about them for a scape goat to bear the responsibility of the mismanagement of which we on this side of the Atlantic have heard so much. What if Mr. Gladstone shall succeed in persuading them that the house of lords is the real scapegoat? They seem almost ready to listen to this kind of talk now.

Kind pedestrain—Here's half a dollar, my poor man. Instead of living this way why don't you learn a trade? Panhandler —I would, sir, if I knew of a better one will be wonderfully freshened up, and his whole little fat body will shine with health and cleanliness after his tub with the "Albert"

His babyship

Baby's Own Soap.

This soap is made entirely with wegetable fats, has a faint but ex-quisite fragrance, and is unsurpass-ed as a nursery and toilet soap. Beware of imitations.

ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mirs. MONTREAL

APIOL&STEEL Mic-Ladies. PILLS

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES.

Superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, &c.
Order of all Chemista, or post free for $1.50 from EVANS & SONS, LTD., Montreal and Toronto, Canada. Victoria, B. C. or Martin: Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southans aptor

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS. nouncements underthis heading not exceeding five lines (about 35 words) cost 25 cents each insertion. Five centsextra for every additiona

WANTED SALESMEN to travel with most complete like of Paints, Colors and Varnishes on the market. Jevel Befining Co., Paint Department, Cleveland, Ohio. 3-16-8. HUSTLING TOUNG MAN can make $60,0 HUSTLING oper mouth and expenses, perm at an approximation of the streets, perm with the streets, Phila, Pa.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

OF NEW YORKI

RICHARD A. McCURDY, President.

STATEMENT FOR THE YEAR ENDING AUGUST II, 1900.

		70 000 0TT
Income,	2	58,890,077	21
Disbursements,		38,597,480	68
Assets,		304,844,537	52
Policy Reserves,		251,711,988	61
Guarantee Fund or Surplus, -		50,132,548	91
Insurance and Annuities in Force,	1	1,052,665,211	64
Loans on Policies During the Year,		4,374,636	86

J. A. JOHNSON, General Agent for the Maritime Provinces and Newfound Provinces and Newfoundland

ROBERT MARSHALL, Cashier and Agent, St. John, N. B. M. McDADE, Agent, St. John, N. B. C. E. SCAMMELL, Agent, St. John, N. B.

Job... Printing.

Are your Letter Heads, Bill Heads, Statements, or Envelopes running short? Do you consider that you could effect a saving in this part of your business? Why not secure quotations your work before placing an order?

Consult Us for Prices.

And you will find that you can get Printing of all kinds done in a manner and style that is bound to please you. We have lately added new type to our already well-equipped plant, and are prepared to furnish estimates on all classes of work at short notice.

Progress Department.

Job Printing

29 to 31 Canterbury Street.

LEER BERKERE KERKERERERERERE

CAFE ROYAL

BANK OF MONTREAL BUILDING. WM. CLARK, Proprietor

Retail dealer in...... CHOIC: WINES, ALES and LIQUORS. PISH and GAMI

MEALS AT ALL HOURS. DINNER A SPECIALTY.

FREDERICTON, IN. B. A. EDWARDS, Propriet

DUFFERIN

This popular Hotel is now open for the reception of guests. The situation of the House, facing as it does on the beautiful King Square, makes it a most desirable place for Visitors and Business Men. It is within a short distance of all parts of the city. Has every socomodation. Electric care, from all parts of the town, pass the house every three manues.

L. LEBOI WILLIE, Proprietor.

Victoria Hotel,

81 to 87 King Street, St. John, N B.

Electric Passenger Elevator and all Modern Impro D. W. McCORMACK, Proprietor Some Without Wings-Others Without Song

Birds without wings are found in New Zealand and Australia. Kiwi is the name of one species. Beautiful mats are made of the feathers of the white variety, but it takes ten years and more to collect enough feathers to make even a small mat, which would sell for about $150.

Birds without song belong to Hawaii. In Honolulu one sees a bird about the size of the robin, an independent sort of fellow, that walks about like a chicken, instead of hopping like a well trained bird of the United States, and it has no song.

A bird that walks and swims, but does not fly, is a penguin. No nests are made by penguins, but the one egg laid at a time by the mother is carried about under her absurd little wing or under her leg.

The largest of flight birds is the California vulture or condor, measuring from tip to tip nine and a half to ten feet, and exceeding considerably in size the true condor of South America. The bird lays but one egg each season-large, oval, ashy green in color, and deeply pitted, so distinctive in appearance that it cannot be confounded with any other.

The California condor is rapidly ap proaching extinction, and museums all over the world are eager to secure living specimens. It is believed that there is only one in captivity.

Another large bird is the rlinoceros had in its crop a rim from a small telescope and three brass buttons, evidently belonging to a British soldier's uniform.

A bird which is swifter than a horse i the road runner of the southwest. Ite aliases are the ground cuckoo, the lizard bird and the snake killer, snakes being a favorite diet. In northern Mexico, western Texas and southern Colorado and California it is found. The bird measures about two feet from tip to tip and is a dull brown in color. Its two legs are only about ten inches long, but neither horses with their four legs, nor hounds, nor electric pacing machines, are in it for swiftness when it comes to anning.

Most curious are the sewing of tailor birds of India-little yellow things not much larger than one's thumb. To escape falling a prey to snakes and monkeys the tailor bird picks up a dead leaf and flies up into a high tree, and with a fibre for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf unto a green one hanging from the tree, the sides are sewed up, an opening being left at the top. That a nest is swinging in the tree no snake or monkey or even man would suspect.

Many a regiment cannot compare in per fection of movement with the flight of the curlews of Florids, winging their way to their feeding?grounds miles away, all in uniform lines, in unbroken perfection. The curlews are dainty and charming birds to see, some pink, some white.

Birds in flight often lose their bearings, being blown aside from their course by the wind. In this case they are as badly offlas a mariner without a compass in a strange ses on a starless night.

All very young birds, by a wise provision of nature, are entirely without fear, until they are able to fly. The reason of the delayed development of fear is that being unable to fly, the birds would struggle and fall from their nests at every noise Suddenly, almost in a day, the birds develop the sense of fear, when their feathers are enough grown so that they can fly.

It is always a source of wonder to Arctic explorers to find such quantities of singing birds within the Arctic circle. They are abundant beyond belief. But the immense crop of crapberries, crowberries and cloudbeiries that ripen in the northern swamps account for the presence of the

A stick of wood seven inches long and a quarter of an inch in diameter, was once taken from a wren's nest. It is very singular that so small and delicate a bird should use such rough material with which to construct its nest. If an eagle should use material proportioned to its size its nest would be made up of fence rails and small saw loge.

The extraordinary situations in which nests are found occasionally almost give one the impression that binds must be enone the impression that binds must be endowed with a sense of humor. For instance, a wren built its nest upon a scarcerow, a dead sparrow hawk, which a farmer had hung up to frighten away winged ravagers of his crop. In the pocket of an old jacket hanging in a barn a bird also a wren, made its nest, which when discovered, it contained five eggs. It was a robin that raised a young family in a was a robin that raised a young family in a church pew, and a robin also that built its nest in the organ pipes of a church. Places of worship have always been favorite building places for birds.

An Unfluished Poster.

An artist relates that one day he was represented a well known actor in the character of Henry V. Two men strolled by and stopped to look at it. Finally one of the men turned to his companion with a ook of disgust and asked impatiently: 'Henry V .- what ?'

The Drait That Saved a Town.

Whitsuntide of each year witnesses the historic towa of Rothenburg on the Tauber the acting of a drams which recalls a deliverance. In the Thirty Years' War, when the victories of Gustavus Adolphus had endangered the Catholic League, Tilly came to besiege Rothenburg, which was in league with the Swedes. The English Illustrated Magazine describes the town as being at that time wealthp and well fortified, standing upon steep cliffs above the Tauber, and having massive, tower-crowaed walls. Its citizens were proud, capable, trained in arms, and well provided with cannon and ammunition.

Against this town came Tilly, with massive guns that soon put fortune on his side. The defenders of the place, however, contested every inch ot ground. Not until the powder tower exploded through a grenade of the enemy did the Swedish garrison and citizens reluctantly hang out the white flag, after a fight of thirty hours.

Tilly would hear nothing of terms of capitulation. The Swedes might withdraw but unconditional surrender was demanded of the town. When he had taken possession of the beoutiful Rathbaus, he sent for the senate with Burgermeister Bezold at bird, which is about the size of a turkey. their head, and announced their condem-One recently shot on the island of Java nation to death for their obstinate resistacce and their disobediene to the imperial commander.

In vain did the women and children crowd into the market place, throwing themselves at the feet of the victors and begging for mercy. Tilly bad already summoned the executioner when some of the wives succeeded in penetrating into the council hall. The conqueror at last allowed himself to be softened, but he coupled his clemency with a clause that apparently made it of no avail. The senators should be spared it one of their number could empty at a dret the great loving cup of Tauber wine presented to the Hopeless as the case seemed, the con di on was fulfilled by ex Burgermeister Nusch, who thus saved his own "fe and the 'ves of his colleagues.

In the Place Of Her Bi.th.

The little lady who has the honor to have been born farthest north of any white child in America has gone to join the small brown skinned companions of her earliest days up in the region of her birth. Maile Annighito Pear, was boil in 1893 at Anriversary lodge, then lieutenant Peary's headquarters in northern Greenland.

She was born at the close of the Arctic summer day, and the first six months of her life were spent in cont nuous lamp light. When the earliest ray of the returning sun pierced through the window of the tiny room, she reached for the golden bar as other children reach for a beautiful

Throughout the winter she was the ource of the liveliest interest to the natives. Entire families travelled long distances to satisfy themselves by actual touch that this blue eyed, white-faced little stranger was really a creature of warm flesh and blood, and not of snow, as they at first believed. She stayed among them un'il she was

In July, 1900, Mrs Peary and her little daughter set sai' again for the frozen north. This is Marie A'tnighito's second visit to Greenland sinse she left that country in her infancy. She was four years old when she f at went back, and although she could not be expected to remember her friends of he north, they had not forgotten her. While the steamer neared Cape York Maile's nurse callied her on deck. It was snowing hard, and her nurse put on her a fr kr etc's, a cape with a hood, and fur toots such as the Eskimos wear. The steamer pushed its way in as near to the rocks as possible, and as the ice was heavy, the Eskimos came out to meet it by stepping from one ice floe to another.

An Eskimo named Keshu was the first to reach the stip, and his oily face shone with delight as he shouted, 'Welcome! H's delight was unbounded when the nurse put "ttle Marie into l's gans. He recognized the child at once, notwithstand. ng the change that a few years had made in her, and he danced about her so vigorously and kept up such a succession of shouts that Marie was at first alarmed.

Keshu was quich'y followed by all the inhabitants of Cape York who were able to jump along the ice, and they gathered in a ring around Marie, their faces shiring with pleasure, and all in a chorus shouting a welcome.

When the sterner neared the shore it was made fast to an iceberg. Lieutenant Peary broke open a number of boxes and standing in front of a huge poster which gave presents to the Eskimos, and an im"Hit the Nail

On the Head."

If you have eruptions, pains in the head or kidneys, stomach trouble and feelings of weariness, "Hit the nail on the head." Hood's Sarsaparilla is the hammer to use. It will purify your blood. The masses praise it for doing this and making the whole body healthy.

Sick Headache-"I was troubled with sick headaches. I took Hood's Sar-saparilla, my husband having been cured of salt theum by it, and soon it made me feel like a new woman." Mrs. Robert McAfee, Deerhurst. Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints

promptu feast was set out for them on board the ship. Men, women and children partook of the good things with great Atterward the Hope put in at severa Eskimo settlements, and everywhere they little people were rejoiced to see again the white child who had been born among them. They brought her strings of walrus teeth, little dogs and bears canved from walrus tusks, Eskimo dolls made from skins, and the beautiful skins of the white Arctic fox and the lemming.

The centre of population in the United States has been established. It is not merely four miles east and two miles south of Columbus, Indiana; to be accurate, it is in the far southeastern corner of Farmer Henry Marr's clover field, and the Chicago Tribune tells us how to get there.

Go down to Columbus, Indiana, and ask out to Hen. Marr's place. After you get to Hen. Marr's you go round the corner to Hen. Marr's you go round the corner to Hen. Marr's you go round the corner to Hen. We was a must be seen to Hen. Marr's you go round the corner to Hen. We was a must be seen to Hen. We was a mus the man at the livery stable to drive you and a black mule eating straw out of a

Take a turn to windward and bear off sharply on a long track, as the mule has a reputation for kicking. Pass the black dog to starboard and the pigsty to larboard. After getting out of the long lane come about and stand across the 'east forty' south by southeast.

Away over in the far corner there is a single melancholy fence rail sticking up in ground. Approach this rail with uncovered head and in respectful silence, because it marks the centre of population of the United States. A picture shows Farmer Marr standing grim and solitary in the clover field, the 'center man" in the centre of population. It requires a stretch of the imagination to believe that this agricultural desert is the centre of anything except clever tops, and that Farmer Mars has almost nineteen million persons respectively east, west, north and south of him. But for all these doubts, Farmer Marr is the centre man. It has been so officially declared.

A New Club.

Chamber's journal notes the birth of a ew and somewhat interesting club. The Automobile club of Paris has thrown out an offshoot in the shape of the Aero club, whose business it will be to solve the pro-

At first sight there seems to he little in ommon between road traction and seronauties, but the French auto-cars do their best to fly along the roads, as many unfortunate pedestrians know to their cost, and this is apparently the connecting link. We may also note that both groups of

To keep the chin in, means to keep it well drav.a back horizontally. That causes, what physical culturists call, "a lifted chest." A lifted chest insures deep and full breathing, hence, pure blood and perfect circulation. TRY keeping your chin in, and see how your chest will stand out, giving to a women a superb figure, and to a man a military bearing.

Most colds are caused by checked cir culation, known by a chill or shiver, Dr. Humphreys' "77" starts the blood coursing through the veins until it reaches the ex-icemities, when the feet warm and the Cold or Grip is broken, while its tonicity sustains the flagging energies.

At all Drug Stores, 25c. or mailed. Pocket Manuel mailed free. Humphreys' Homeopathic Medicine Co., Cor. William and John Sts., New York, its labors, for an anonymous donor has presented it with one hundred and twentyive thousand dollars, which is to be awarded to the inventor of the flying machine that will start from a given point, go round the Effiel Tower, and return to s starting place.

The distance about eleven kilometers, sum is to be given each year to the person who makes the greatest advance toward solving the problem of aerial flight.

In a certain North Dakota town there re two physicians, one elderly, with a long record of cures, the other young, with his record still to make. The older doctor was inclined to surrender some of his night work to the younger man. An exchange cites an instance in which this

One winter's night Doctor B. was roused by two farmers from a hamlet ten miles away, the wife of one of whom was seriously ill. He told them to go to the other doctor but they refused, saying that they

'Very well,' replied Doctor B., thinking o put a convincing argument before them. in that case my fee is ten dollars, the money to be paid now.

was obdurate and shut down his window. He waited, however, to hear what they would say.

'Well, what shall we do now?' asked the farmer whose wife was ill.

The reply must have been as gratifying as it was amusing to the distening doctor.

'Say, mamma, how much am I worth?'
'You are worth a million of dollars to me my son.' 'Say mamma, couldn't you advance me 25 cents.'

CALVERT'S 20 per cent. CARBOLIC SOAP

Cures and prevents insect and Mosquito bites. The strongest Carbolic Toilet Soap. F. C. CALVERT & Co., Manchester, Eng.

experimenters are endeavoring to find the same time be of very little weight.

The new club starts with money to back must be covered in half an bour, and the prize must be awarded within the next five years.

Meanwhile, the interest on the capital

Counting the Cost.

'turning over' was attempted.

preferred his services.

The men remonstrated, but the doctor

W. J. Bryan may be compelled to go to smashing mirrors; his paper is attracting no more attention than a last year's bon-

Easter Holiday Excursions.

EASTER

Call at Allan's White Pharmacy and

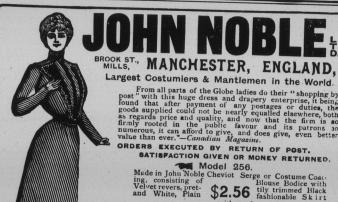

Choice Perfume

Always an acceptable gift. My assortment is most complete.
From the best French, English and American Perfumers
Everything marked at lowest prices. REMEMBER THE STORE.

W. C. Rudman Allan's, 87 Charlotte street, (Telephone 239), and 172 King street West (Telephone 54A). Mail orders promptly filled.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.

LOCAL and THROUGH EXCURSION TICK-ETS at One First-Class Fare will be issued as fol-For School and Col'ege Vacation from March 29th to April 6th, inclusive, good for return until April 16. 16.
For General Public, local and through excursion tickets from April 4th to April 8th, inclusive, good for return until April 9th, 1901.
E TIFFIN,
Traffic Manager. JNO. M. LYONS.
Traffic Manager. JNO. M. LYONS.
Moncton, N. B., March 26th, 1901.

PATTERNS of any desired material, and the latest Illustrated Fashion Lists sent Post Free.

SPECIAL values in Ladies and Childrens Costumes, Jackets, Capes, Underclothing, Millinery, Waterproofs, Dress Goods, Houselinens, Lace Curtains, and General Drapery.

JOHN NOBLE KNOCKABOUT FROCKS

FOR GIRLS. 24 27 inches 49 c. 61 cents. 30 33 inches. 78 c. 85 cents. Postage 82 cents. 36 39 inches. 97c. $1.10 42 45 inches $1.22 $1.84 Postage 45 cer with one box-pleat. Price complete, only $2.56; carriage, 65c. extra. Skirt alone, $1.35; carriage, 45c. extra.

Readers will oblige by kindly naming this paper when ordering from or writing to JOHN NOBLE, LTD. BROOK ST. MANCHESTER, ENGLAND.

'Buffal and rou English, American and guach Brooklyn town and the Madis night. I same old features v harmony least add The ne service on ing finishe joined for in his assa great Am tingent co adian of the of tourteer been with Mafeking. So far th have not be is no dispo unfriendly. finished So the seven a bit, and all the co Tommy At The Boe bave their Some of the bullets and rounded up Col. Cody Their comm

a Free Sta

at the begin

by Preside

later by De ant in comn

was also a

De Volkster after the v organ. He fough and Popular before the l away with escape fallin made his wa the forces of last Septemb stomach and looking, full gence. He s of the Boers

Another o

all over Eur

Kop," is D

with the Mid Mayer's divis earned undy flag on Spior Buller's force reliet of Lady The British t pied the bill the two Boer night they de British took 1 opposition, ar bing which t commanding British retirin Roos bas with pictorial pape bepictured to our own yello The other !

Utrecht comm dee to the reli kie, who was at Bos Kopje Kopje; Jan V Ladysmith, bu Oudhoff of the was one of the on Bos Kopje Elandsfontein fought under A. J. Wennip er for Delarey after being ca

Pages 9 to 16. PROGRESS. Pages 9 to 16.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1901.

Boers With Buffalo Bill

and rough riding Indians, Cossacks, English, Canadians, Boers, Germans, American Regulars, cowboys, Mexicans and guachos are at Ambrose Park, South Brooklyn, getting ready to come up to town and open their Wild West show at the Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night. This year's aggregation is not the same old outfit. There are some new features which, if they do not add to the harmony of the heterogeneous outfit, at least add to its interests, and that's what the whole shooting match is for.

dians and English soldiers, who have seen service on South African battlefields. Having finished fighting one another they have joined forces now to reenforce Col. Cody in his assault on the pocketbooks of the great American public. The Boer contingent consists of twelve men, the Canadian of twenty-two men and the English of fourteen men, seven of the last having been with Baden-Powell in the siege of

So far the English and Boer contingents have not become well acquainted, but there is no disposition on any one's part to be unfriendly. The Canadians and the Boers have chatted a little about the as yet unfinished South African unpleasantness, but the seven pure Britishers are holding aloot a bit, and the Boers speak more highly of all the colonial troops than they do of Tommy Atkins.

The Boers are the real thing. They bave their papers with them to prove it. Some of them carry the scars of British bullets and British lances as additional evidence if any be required. They were rounded up at the Hague by Jule Keen, Col. Cody's European representative. Their commandant is F. A. von der Loo, a Free Stater, who enlisted as a trooper at the beginning of the war, was promote by President Steyn to a lieutenancy and later by DeWet to the rank of commandant in command of a body of scouts. He was also a correspondent in the field for De Volkstem, a Pretoria newspaper, which after the war began was the Transvaal

He fought at Belmont, Magerslontein and Popular Grove under Cronje, and just before the latter was captured was sent away with despatches, enabling him to escape falling into English hands. He made his way to Pretoria, where he joined the forces of De Wet. He left the service last September, having been lanced in the stomach and shot in the leg. He is a fine looking, full bearded chap of high intelligence. He speaks fair English, as do most

Another one of the Boers who is known all over Europe as the "Hero of Spion Kop," is De Roos. He began the war with the Middleburg commando in Lucas Mayer's division. He and another Boer earned undying fame by planting the Boer flag on Spion Kop while Gen. Warren of Buller's force was pushing forward to the relief of Ladyemith. They two were alone. The British thought a strong force cccupied the bill and shelled it all day, while the two Boers hid behind the rocks. At night they decamped. The next day the British took possession of the hill without opposition, and then came that awful drubbing which the Boers administered from commanding kopjes, which resulted in the British retiring with enormous losses. De Roos has with him a collection of French pictorial papers wherein he is glorified and bepictured to an extent unsurpassed by our own yellows.

The other Boers are W. Beunk, of the Utrecht commands, who lought from Dundee to the relief of Ladysmith; John Lut kie, who was with Col. Villebois Mareuil at Bos Kopje and was wounded at Spitz Kopje; Jan Vink, who was wounded at Ladyemith, but fought under De Wet; Jan Ondhoff of the Free State Artillery, who was one of the seven survivors in an assault on Bos Kopje and who was wounded at Elandsfontein: C. Vereinigmen, who fought under Commandant von der Loo: A. J. Wennips, who was a despatch bearer for Delarey and escaped from Pretoria there the Fifth Lancers are said to have 'pig stuck' the wounded Boers; W. H. Hilarides, who helped to capture the ten British guns at Colenso, and H. J. Geritsen, who was a despatch bearer for Joubert and later for Botha.

Among the English soldiers is Henry Bolton, a Sergeant in the Protectorate Regiment, which Baden Powell raised to detend Mafeking. He had lived in South Africa many years when the war came on, in fact he bad fought with the Boers in their campaign against the native Swasis. While scouting a about Mateking he was captured by the Boers, who charged him with being a spy. The English, knowing of his previous service with the Boers, thought he had deserted and a price of £130, dead or alive, was put on his head. He was acquited of being a spy and was sent to the Watervall prison. He tunnelled his way out, escaped to Lord Roberts's lines and thus saved his honor.

The man in command of the Canadian contingent is H. V. McDougall, formerly of the Northwestern Mounted Police. He was a corporal in the Canadian Mounted Rifles and a fine figure of a man he is. He was in the fight at Belfast when De Roos was on the other side. They are now telling each other all about it. Ten of the Canadians belong to the regiment which was equipped by Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal which did such good work. Trooper McArthur, who is among them, was the man whom Trooper Richardson carried wounded from the field in a fight near Stannerton and thereby won the Vic toris Cross.

Course in addition to these new attrac tions there are all the other things which have been features of the Wild West Show and Col. Cody is already looking out for new ones. Some one handed him a newspaper yesterday containing an account of Aguinaldo's capture.

'Good drawing card,' said the man sug

Buffalo Bill's eyes twinkled.

'We'll have him next year perhaps,' he said. 'Aguinalde and some Japs would satisfy me. I tried to get some Japs, but the Government would not let any of their soldiers go. I guess they thought they might need them before long.'

How The Rictons Cowboy Compares With 'In the character of the men who for the herds and flocks can be found an interesting subject for study. The cowboy, it he be the genuine article, is a man would win applause at a Wild West show. In his chase after the fleet, unbranded yearling, he is compelled to ride at headlong speed over a country that a fex bunter would consider sure death. Danger confronts him in varied form, and no man can be an efficient cow puncher who hasn't in him the spirit of recklessness. The writer once witnessed a stampede of wild cattle at midnight. A great herd was being held in a canyon of the Mazatzal Montains. The night was as dark as it is possible for night to be. A coyote's bark started the nervous animals to their feet. and they were off. The two riding guards on watch howled for help. Their sleeping comrades were up in a twinkling. Each seized a horse at the picket line and mounted without saddle, stopping only to twist a loop of his rists about the pony's nose. Barely a dozen seconds had passed before the camp fire was deserted. The cowboys were plunging in the dark after fleeing cattle, through a wild, rocky unknown district, filled with mesquite and cactus, cut up by dangerous arroyos and canyons. By noon of the succeeding day the drive was resumed. A half dozen steers had been left behind, lamed or dead in the gulches, while a few of the horses in the 'wianglers bunch' in the lead were skinned and limping. But the cowboys, their clothing in rags from the thorny midnight ride, merely joked on their mutual after being captured by the British; C. plateau region he may hail from anywhere, good and evil.

but usually comes either from California or from Texas. But they all fraternize making issue only over the liking of the barreled rig,' which is a saddle with a sin gle girth. The Texan despises anything out a double cinched saddle, though us ually he does not tighten the second girth.

'The sheep herder has a distinctly lower social place. As a rule, be is a foreigner, the few Americans employed being in positions of unusual trust. Most of the erders appear to be Mexicans or Frenchmen. It is said that Basques are the best and most careful shepherds. They come from Northern Spain, many of them especially for this employment. Their wages are not bad, being usually even higher than the pay of cowboys or farm hands, but the nervous American cannot stand the life. The everlasting 'baa' drives him mad. He cannot endure the monotony and the neccessary separation from humanity, with only a dog for company for months at a stretch. And the diet, mainly tes and mutton is too simple for his luxurious palate. It is a fact that sheep herding furrishes a greater number of inmates for western insane asylums than does any other occupation. The shepherd like the cowboy, is gradually assinilated to his surroundings, and naturally acquires much of the nature of his charges. To his credit it must be said that he is rarely unfaithful to the interests of his flock and its owner. There is nothing poetical about him, but he will risk his life for the safety of a lamb and will doggedly search all night if there be a stray. He is a much quieter fellow than the cowboy, even in his cups, when the wool has been clipped and the hands are in town for a little fling. He has no wild yearning; for idly shooting holes in the firmament. He is happiest on a sunny hillside lying at ease where he may overlook his flock and hear the ceaseless voicing on Capturing tigers by a novel method is ow being adopted in Sumatra, and is proving almost invariably successful. As soon as the tiger's liar has been found na tives are employed to construct a wooden fence nine feet long and four feet wide a short distance away from it, and in this enclosure is then placed as bait a dog, which is tied to one of the fence posts. A narthere, | dettly concealed under earth, leaves and bows of trees, is placed a strong steel trap which is so designed that any animal that places its foot on it is certain to be held captive.

This trap is of recent invention, and consists of strong steel plates and equally strong springs. When it is set the plates form a sort of platform, and as soon as the tiger, which has been lured thither by the dog, sets his foot thereon the springs are released and the cruel steel grips the leg and holds it fast.

himself from such bondage, and as those who have set the trap are never far away he is in a short time either killed or securely caged. At the same time the dog is released, and indeed he could not be removed from the enclosure as long as the trap was set, since this instrument, strong as it is, is nevertheless so delicate that the pressure even of a dog's foot would release the springs and cause the animal's leg to be crushed in a twirkling.

The Doctor Failed, A prominent Baltimore physician was recently approached by a patient to whom he had given strict instructions the day before to confine bimself to a milk diet. 'Doctor,' the sick man began, 'can't git me to drink no more milk-no, sir,' and with a very determined look he shook his head. 'Why, what's the matter with you now ?' asked the doctor. 'I just received s warning from the Lord not to drink no more milk.' 'How do you know it's from the Lord ? Maybe the devil's been warning you.' 'No, sir, doctor,' replied the old man, at the same time opening a book which he had been holding under his arm. 'It's the Lord's words, right here in Hebrews, fifth chapter, thirteenth and fourteenth verses.' Taking the book out of his patient's hand the doctor read: 'For every one that useth milk is unskilful in the word of righteousness, for he is a babe. But appearance and solaced their weariness strong meat belongeth to them that are of with tobacco and with endles song. As a full age, even those who by reason of use rule the cowboy is an American. In the have their senses exercised to discern both to the Bureaus of Police and Fire, Philadelphia, should rank high as an expert. In the course of thirty seven years of active practice he has conducted over four housand post mortem examinations and man beings die.

Death is Not

Dreaded

He talked freely on the subject of death the other day. He has looked into the eyes | died but revived for a little time before he of dying men, women and children of every kind and condition, and this is the summing up of it all:

'Death is as much a mystery to me now as it was when I first saw a human being

'Nature is never so kind to man as when she is severing the ties that bind him to this earthly life. She removes all fear, ameliorates every harsh surrounding, softens every sound and smooths the narrow pathway to the grave with kindly hands. The easiest thing in life is to die.

'In your experience, Dr. Andrews,' 1 asked, have you ever found a case in which fear of death rose to the point where men fought and screamed at its approach?"

'Never. In severe sickness death comes n the guise of a welcome visitor. On the battlefield or as the result of accident or sudden shock, when it comes to a man swiftly, who but a moment before was in pertect health and half an hour later will be dead, a fortitude which I cannot describe and have never been able to analyze sustains the victim.'

'Do men and women of the higher grades of intelligence exhibit any different emotions as death approaches from those gifted with less mental power? Does the professional man or the scientist betray any different feelings or emotions from those exhibited by the day laborer or the most ignorant of men ?'

'No and yes,' was the reply. 'The cientist, the man or woman of keen intelligence and trained faculties, unless their lives have been conspicuous for an exhibition of faith in religion and its teachings, are slower to accept ministrations of clergymen and others. The man of low intelligence yields at the first approach and calls for religious consolation.

'The reason for this is, I think, that the vast majority of professional men, outside of the clergy, and particularly doctors and scientists generally, are not inclined to believe or accept what they cannot demonstrate as a scientific fact. And yet, as a rule, these men and women willingly accept religious ministration when death is only a matter of hours. One of the most distinguished men in the confederacy was brought to me for treatment. I saw at once that his death was a matter of hours only. He was one of the most brilliant and charming men I ever met. I told him that he could not live and asked him if he desired to talk with a clergyman. He replied in a rather careless way that he did not feel disposed to change his views-that death, as he believed, ended all and there was no use of dragging religion in at the last hour.

That was in the morning. He then telt strong and clear headed. When I saw him in the afternoon he was weaker, and referring to our earlier conversation told me that he had been raised in the Methodist faith and that its teachings had left an impress on his mind. He asked me to send for a Methodist clergyman, which I did. When I saw him just before he died he told me what comfort the talk with the minister had given him and that he now would face death with a braver heart than he could have done before.

'I merely cite this instance.' said Dr. Andrews, 'to show that there is nothing which influences a man so much in later life, and even in the death hour, as the environment and teaching of his boyhood days. 'Jimmy' Logue, the notorious burglar and criminal, told me here in my office that a night never went over his head that he did not kneel down and say

'Has there ever been any demonstration threshold of death which you could inter-

'Not one.'

which dying persons have told you of vishave heard P

·Yes. I recall particularly one instance, It was that of a man who had apparently finally passed away. He told me about the lights and sounds and chaos of magnificent things he had seen, 'beyond the river,' as he put it. Of course he really believed that he saw them, but it was the hallucination of his disordered brain. Persons of fervid imagination and strong religious convictions may be dominated by some illusion of this kind just prior to death. It cannot be accepted as convincing evidence of a future life.

Dr. Andrews it may be remarked, is a churchman with strong religious views. He explained in connection with the above statement that he was speaking purely from a scientific standpoint. Men and women in extremis, awakening from a semi-comatose condition, cannot be regard ed as furnishing reliable testimony of the evidence of their senses.

'I have found,' continued Dr Andrews, that persons of clean life, of honorable, upright religious character, not only do not display an indifference to the approach of death, as those of grosser life do, but welcome it as a relief from care and toil. There is something about the approach of death that reconciles men to it. The senses are dulled, the perceptive faculties are blunted and the end comes quietly, painlessly, like a gentle sleep.

'In this condition, I mean on the approach of death, those who retain their faculties to any degree become more or less philosophers. They know that death is inevitable; that it is only a question of hours, and they accept the verdict without any demonstration and in a philosophical way. In all my experience I have never found a case in which a dying man or woman complained against the inevitable, attempted to fight its approach or even feared it,' said Dr. Andrews.

'It is only in good health that we fear death. When we become ill, when we have sustained some injury of a very serious nature, the feer of death seems to dis-fore which science thus far has stood disarmed, is the secret and the mystery of the origin of life. Side by side with it I may seen, and I have never heard of any authentic evidence from the deathbed of any one, which could be accepted as scientific proof of the existence of a life beyond.

'That is a matter of faith. It has been a matter of faith through all the ages, and I believe that it will be a matter of faith to the end of time. I have, as I said before, discovered this, that the men and women of the purest lives and the strongest faith exhibit that fact conspicuously in their last bour, and in a manner that undoubtedly tends to rob death of even the semblance of terror.'

Good Way to Secure Converts.

On the last night of a series of 'protracted meetings" in the methodist church of a little Southern California village, the other day, the visiting evangelist, says the San Francisco Argonaut,' was making a special effort to obtain a showing of anxious souls. He had preached his best sermon, and reached an emotional fervor that he had seldom equaled. But nobody responded to his invitation. They saug a hymn, and then the evangelist rose again and called upon the congregation to 'enlist for the service of the Lord.' A battle-scarred, wooden-legged veteran who had dropped into the back seat watched the proceedings with interest. For the third time the perspiring evangelist ross and asked: 'Is there no one willing to enlist in the Lord's army?' Then response came from the back seat: 'Draft 'em, parson; damn it, draft 'em.'

'Has there ever been any demonstration physical or otherwise on the part of all the hundreds whom you have seen on the Dyes for home uses.

Rudman Allan's. LONIAL RAILWAY.

rfumers g marked at lowest prices.

HING

EASTER

Allan's White Pharmacy and is a pure hard soap

loliday Excursions, CHROUGH EXCURSION TICK-

nblic, local and through excursion il 4th to April 8th, inclusive, good april 9th, 1991.

JNO. M. LYONS.
nager.

G. P. & T Agent,
March 28th, 1901.

agazine. Eturn of Post. Or Money Returned Serge or Costume Coat-Blouse Bodice with tily trimmed Black fashionable Skirt and does give, even bette

one box-pleat. Price com-c, only $2.56; carriage, extra. Skirt alone, $1.35; age, 45c. extra.

JOHN NORIE CKABOUT FROCKS FOR GIRLS.

49 c. 61 cents. 30 33 inches. Postage 82 cents. 36 39 inches. 97c. $1.10

81.22 81.84

Postage 45 cents

LTD.

R, ENGLAND

10

Lover and Husband.

IN TWO NSTALMENTS-PART II.

CHAPTER I.

Well, aunt, what does he say? I really am dying to know.' 'He says, my dear, that he has much pleasure in accepting my invitation, and that he will come to us next Thursday. Don't you think we might get up a dinnerparty for Thursday evening? The time is certainly very short; but, under the circumstances, I feel sure people would foreign that.'

And sinking gracefully back amongst the cushions of her chair, my aunt surveys me with a glance which is positively radiant.

In silent amazement I, Coronilla, Sefton, have listened to her.
What can she mean?
To what invitation is she alluding?

'Aunt,' I begin slowly, 'will you explain

"Aunt, I begin slowly, 'will you explain what you mean?"

'My love, I certainly thought you knew. Did I not tell you?"

'Did you not tell me what?"

'That I wrete to—to Sir Gordon Alversene the day before yesterday, inviting him to come and stay a fortnight with us."

After this one horrified ejaculation, I be-

Not because I have not anything more to say, but simply through sheer inability to say it.

I am literally dumb with astonishmen and wrath.

My aunt has invited Sir Gordon Alverstone to stay with us a whole fortnight—fourteen miserable, dreary days—and he has excepted her invitation.

Surely it is enough to make me angry.

I have been looking forward with dread to my meeting with him, even when I supposed that he would only stay a couple of days at the hotel in Yerbury, our nearest town.

'How could you be so unkind? 'I gasp

Unkind P my aunt repeats. 'Oh, my dear, I am sure I never meant to be! I did it all for the best. I—I thought that, if he stayed here, you might learn to—to like stayed here, you might learn to—to like him."

'I never shall. I couldn't care for a man I didn't respect, and I can't respect a man who can be so despicable as to marry a girl for the sake of her money, as Sir Gordon Alverstone is intending to de. He has never seen me, so I may be as ngly as a toad fer all he knows to the contrary.

'Oh! but indeed, my dear, he does know what you are like. I—I sent him your photograph.'

'Indeed!' in a voice of deadly calm.'

Which photograph did you send him?'

'One of the last you had taken.'

'Did he ask you to send it?'

'No, my love. But I thought—oh pray do not look like that! You must forgive me this time, and I will indeed be more careful in the future.'

'Yes; now the mischief is done,' I mutter to myself; but aloud I say, as gracious.

'Yes; now the misohief is done,' I mutter to myself; but aloud I say, as graciously as I can: 'Never mind, auntie don't worry. It's no use crying over spilt milk. And new about your dinner party suggestion. How many people shall we invite?' 'Well, let me see,' evidently charmed that her plan has met with my approval. 'Twelve, including ourselves, would be just a nice number. I think. Suppose we ask the Bagshotts?' which has the effect of making me feel perfectly as I can: 'Never mind, auntie don't worry. It's no use crying over spilt milk. And new about your dinner party suggestion. How many people shall we invite?'

'Well, let me see,' evidently charmed that her plan has met with my approval. 'Twelve, including ourselves, would be just a nice number, I think. Suppose we ask the Bagshotts?'

'Yes, Mr. and Mrs. Bagshott,' writing their names down. 'Who next?'

'Sir Herbert and Lady Challomer, and their daughter.'

'They make five. Sir Gordon, six, our 'Really, I am honored, I rejoin, with a sarcastic smile.

'They make five, Sir Gordon, six, our two selves eight. Now who are the other tour to be?'

'Yes; I was

'Mr. Lutrell-' "And Captain Davenant—they make ten, so we only want two more, another lady and another gentleman. Don't you think we had better complete our list with the and another gentleman. Don't you think we had better complete our list with the vicar and his wife? You see, we have got the Law, as represented by Arthur Bag-sbott, Esquire; Sir Herbert Challoner, M. shott, Esquire; Sir Herbert Challoner, M.
P., will give a sort of political flavor to the soup; and that gallant officer, Captain Davenant, will ably personate the Army, so don't you really think that the Reverend Ornesimus Verender and his wife eught to be invited, to shed upon us the light of their countenances? We oughtn't to leave the Church out in the cold.'
'Cartainly not, my love.'

the Church out in the cold.'

'Certainly not, my love.'

'All right; then the matter is settled.

Here is the list. I will put it on your writing table, and then you will know where it is when you want it. Now I am going for a walk,' and, kissing my hand to Aunt Kate, I run out of the room.

But I do not enjoy my walk a bit, for truth to tell, I am in saything but an amiable frame of mind.

isble frame of mind.

I detest the very name of Alverstone.

Why has my father bethrothed me to Sir Gordon merely because he is the son of an old friend?

of an old triend?

He is fitteen years older than myself—I am eighteen—and I have never seen him, thanks to his globe trotting propensities.

The arrangement was eatered into between our respective families when I was only six months old, and when my father died, two years ago, he begged me to promise that I would become Sir Gordon's wife as soon after my eighteenth birthday as he might wish me to.

Having given my promise, I will redeem it, but I am looking forward with positive dread to my future, and when Thursday morning all too quickly dawns, I would willingly give all I possess in the world if I could exchange identities with the poorest girl in the village.

Swiftly the hours of this never to be for-

Swiftly the hours of this never to be forgotten day alip away.

Eight o'clock arrives, and I find myself being introduced to the man who, for weal or for wee, holds my future in his hands. Shyly I glance up at him, and, try as I will to prevent it, I cannot keep a deep flush from staining my cheeks, as I met the gaze of a pair of the keenest eyes it has ever been my lot to encounter.

There is something about them, too which is horribly disconcerting; therefore I am most sincerely glad when, a mement later dinner is announced.

later dinner is announced.
Captain Davenant is my escourt, but, thanks to Aunt Kate, I find that my seat is opposite to the one occupied by Sir Gordon—a discovery which does not cause

Gordon—a discovery which does not cause me much satisfaction.

And as the dinner progresses, my resentment increases for as often as I turtively glance at my vis-a-vis, so often do I encounter his disposing gase—a gaze which appears to be largely tinged with amusement, while I am perfectly convinced that the lips, hidden by his dark moustache are twitching with a smile, though what there is in the situation to amuse him I really fail to see.

fail to see.
At last Aunt Kate bows to Lady Chal-

But I am not long left in peace even here, for the gentlemen soon put in an appearance, and then Sir Gordon coolly crosses to where I am sitting, a little apart from the others, and sinks down upon the longer by my side.

lounge by my side.

'Miss Sefton,' he says calmly, 'your aunt has been telling me during dinner about her flowers.'

'Indeed,' I murmur, in a tone of the most studied indifference.

'She is particularly proud of a Charmante Dame cactus, and said that you would, perhaps, be kind enough to take me into the conservatory to see it. Will

What unexpected diplomatic powers Aunt Kate is developing! they fairly astonish me. It anybody had told me that she could be so clever, I would not have believed them.

But I am not going to be caught by such diplomacy; therefore, keeping my eyes fixed steadily upon my fan, I allow a moment of silence to elapse, then answer, with Arctic coldness—Excuse me, Sir Gordon, but the cactus will show to much greater advantage in the daytime, and my aunt will be able to explain its beauties better than—'

'Which means, I suppose, that you refuse to grant my request?'
'You are right, it does,' still keeping my eyes fixed upon my fam.

A low, amused laugh is his only answer, which has the effect of making me feel per-arcastic smile.

'Yes; I was thinking that you are very like your photograph,' he goes on. 'I would have known you anywhere; though, to tell you the truth, when I got your picture I was awfully surprised. For some reason, I had imagined you were dark, and....'

and——'
'That I squinted or had only one eye.
What delightful anticipations you must have had all these years!'

What delightful anticipations you must have had all these years!

'Oh, no; you are entirely mistaken! My anticipations during the past years have been anything but delightful, but during the past few weeks they have been—'Even worse,' I cut in sharply.
'No, pardon me, you are again mistaken; they have been very pleasant.
'Then I am atraid you will find the awakening from them a severe shock. I trust you will survive it.'
'Thank you, I trust I shall. To have one's dreams rudely dispelled, to discover that one's ideals are of the earth earthy, must indeed be a cruel disappointment, and one which no man would willingly court. But it such a catastrophe should happen to me, I hope it will net end in my utter downfall.'

'What a loss the world would sustain it

'What a loss the world would sustain it anything did happen to you!' I murmur ironically.

'Ah, yes, wouldn't it? However, let what will occur, I shall at least have one consolation: you'—dropping his voice to the softest ot whispers— have given me your sympathy.'

I am literally too angry to speak.

How dare he treat me so?

At this juncture Mrs. Verender favors with a cone.

piane laughingly declaring that she is exhausted and can sing no more.

Then, still forgetting who Sir Gordon is, and all about him, I turn and address him.

'Hasn't she a magnificent voice?' I exclaim enthusiastically, with flushed cheeks and sparkling eyes.

'She has indeed,' Sir Gordon agrees, with a smile. 'You are clearly very fond of music, Miss. Sefton; may I ask if you sing, toe?'

of music, Miss. Sefton; may I ask it you sing, toe?

But this question restores my truant memory, and I suddenly recollect that it is Sir Gordon Alverstone, my detested fiance, to whom I am talking.

Instantly I freeze into a sort of human icoberg, and it is not until he repeats his inquiry that I condescend to answer it.

'What a superfucous question!' I retort mockingly. 'Of course, I sing; everybody does nowadays.'

'Then, will you not give me the pleasure of a song? I would much like to hear you.'

'Pesple in this world, Sir Gordon, do not get all they want,' raising my eyes calmly to his face.

'Which means that you, for the second time this evening, refuse to grant my request.'

time this evening, refuse to grant my request.'

'How clever you are! But you are again right. I do refuse, and will always refuse to do anything and everything you may ask of me.'

'How awfully good of you to give me this warning! I shall know now exactly what to expect, and shall be able to save myself further humiliation. Pray accept my deepest gratitude, and—'

'Will you go away and leave me alone?'
I interrupted angrily, my patience at last exhausted. 'Surely you have annoyed and insulted me sufficiently for one evening!'

exhausted. 'Surely you have annoyed and insulted me sufficiently for one evening!'

'Annoyed and insulted you!' Sir Gordon reiterates, looking at me keenly; and then a gleam of amusement flashes into his eyes and he laughs. 'Now, upon my honor, that was too cruel of you. You might have let me down easier than that, for, do you know'—sinking his voice to a confidential whisper—'I have been flattering myself that you found my society and conversation eminently agreeable.'

What reply I might make to this audacious statement will never be known, for, to my great relief, I am spared the necessity of making any by Captain Davenant approaching me, and begging for a song. With a gracious smile I rise to my feet and asking Ceoil Davenant what song he would like, I let him lead me to the piano. It is close upon midnight before all our guests have taken their departure, and Aunt Kate, Sir Gordon, and myself are left alone; then, with a little sigh of mingled relief and satisfaction, my aunt sinks into her favorite easy chair.

She wants to talk over the events of the evening, I know from experience; but I am in ne mood to discuss them see I hid evening, I know from experience; but I am in no mood to discuss them, so I hid her and Sir Gordon a hasty 'good night' and retire to my own room

CHAPTER II.

Rat tat-tat!

Rat tat-tat!

'Come in!' I call out lazily. Whereupon Annette, my maid, makes her appearance with my bath water. 'What o'clock is it?' stifling a yawn.

'Half past eight, Miss Nills,' the girl answers; so, springing out of bed, I proeeed to make my toilet.

But, though I hurry, breaktast is half over when I enter the morning room.

'You shockingly lazy child!' is my aunt's greeting. 'You don't deserve to have any breakfast, does she, Sir Gordon?'
'But you will give me some, all the same,' I declare confidently, bestowing upon her my usual morning kiss.

Then I turn to the other occupant of the room, and greet him with a chilly little bow.

'But I am going to read,' I interrupt hastily.
'I thought you said that you were going to do nothing?' Sir Gordon laughs.
'Perhaps I did,' I retort indifferently, though inwardly I feel as if I could turn and rend him; 'but you see, I have taken a woman's privilege and changed my mind.' So saying I rise from the table—for by this time we have all finished breakfast—and march out of the from.
Going into the drawing room, I hunt for 'Her Bitter Foe,' the novel I am at present reading.

'Going into the drawing room, I must for 'Her Bitter Foe,' the novel I am at present reading.

Some time elapses before I find it, for it has been carried into the library and stuck in a bookcase; but when at last I have discovered it, I steal out into the garden.

Thank goodness neither Aunt Kate nor Sir Gordan is visible, and then the question presents itself—Where can I go to be safely hidden from them until the luncheon bell rings?

I finally conclude that I will seek refuge beside the miniature lake at the bottom of the pleasure grounds.

It is a particularly secluded spot, and is a tavorite haunt of mine; but as Aunt Kate is not aware of this last fact, she is not very likely to look for me there, so thither I go, and seating myself beneath the spreading branches of a large ash tree, I open my book and am soen absorbed in its pages.

Mother and Doctor Too

Until the doctor comes, and for miner ills and accidents, the mother must doctor her family. Tens of thousands of mothers have relied upon JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT, and have found it always reliable. It is used both externally and internally and it is the remedy and internally and it is the remedy for inflammation from any cause. Used continually for 90 years as a household remedy, its sustained popularity and increasing use every year are the best possible testimonials to its curative powers.

LINIMENT

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

I remain mute and fix my eyes upon the ovel in my lap.

But Sir Gordon is apparently one of those people who do not take hints, for he makes no movement to leave me.

On the contrary, he settles himself still On the contrary, he settles himself still more comfortably by my side, and proceeds to stare at me with the unflinching look of a marble statue.

For the space of three whole minutes I bear his gaze, then—
'I wish you would go away!' I exclaim crossly. 'I want to read.'

'Then why don't you read?' Sir Gordon sake cally.

'Then why don't you read ?' Sir Gorden asks calmly.
'How can I, while you are staring at me like a—a Chinese idol ?' with a frown.
But Sir Gordon only laughs a low, amused laugh, and suddenly catches one of my hands in his.
With an almost frightened gasp, I endeavor to wrench it from him, but holds it fast.

Then, raising himself upon his elbow he looks me steadily in the face, with eyes which seem to pierce me through and through.
'How dare you ?' I demand passionate.

'How dare you?' I demand passionately. Let me ge! Do you hear me?'
'Oh, yes, I hear you,' he answers.
'Then let me go this instant!'
'Why should I? You belong to me and I am here to claim you. In another month you will be my wife.'
Yes, I belong to him!

The very wind, as it plays amengst the leaves of the tree against which I am leaning, seems to whisper that I am fast bound.

'Nills, look at me!' Sir Gordon commands, atter a minute's silence; and though I tell myself that I will not obey him, yet, in another moment I find that I am slowly, but none the less surely, raising my downcast eyes to his face. 'Do yeu think I love you?' he asks softly.

asks softly.

'No, I am sure you do not;' I answer with great promptitude.

'Then why am I going to marry you?'

'For my money, of course,' with a with-

'For my money, of course,' with a withering glance.
'It is false !' he exclaims hotly.
'It is not !' I retort with equal heat.
'I say it is ! Listen—nay, it is of no use struggling; I am stronger thar you, and hear me you shall.'
'I will not,' and, with a quick movement,
I jerk my wrist out of his clasp and spring to my feet.

room, and greet him with a chilly little bow.

'And what are you going to do this morning?' Aunt Kate inquires presently. Nothing,' is my prompt answer.

'What a delightful employment!' Sir Gordon remarks. 'May I be permitted to join you in it?'

'I am afraid you would not find it so iteresting as I shall,' I return evasively.

'Oh, but I shall, I assure you!' he de clares. 'I love to do nothing.'

'Then you and Nilla ought certainly to be able to spend a very agreeable morning,' Aunt Kate interposes, with a smile.

'Having such tastes in common, you——'

'But lam going to read,' I interrupt hastily.

'I will not,' and, with a quick movement, I will not,' and, with a quick my will not, and will not of will not of feel more incensed than ever.

'It is indeed a fortunate thing for me that hard names break no bones,' he says lightly; 'but, remember this: for every unkind epithet you now bestow upon me, I will have revenge. When I was first told of the tie between us, I rebelled against it every bit as much as you can do, and would have severed it then and there, but, te please my father, I promised not to move in the matter until you were sighteen.

'As you are aware, I kept my promise, and you neither saw me nor heard from me until the morning of your eighteenth birthday, when your aunt received my letter, telling her I had just returned to England, and hoped to come down here and make your acquaintance. My determination still was to set you free; but, when your aunt answered my letter, she sent me your photograph. That photograph fixed your fate. Before your pictured face my determination melted away, and I swore that you should be mine. Instead of coming here to give you your liberty, I have come to cage you, my bonnie wild bird. Give you up? Set you free! A thousand times, no! I love you, with a love such as few women gain—with a love which will held you as long as life itself shall last.'

'But I don't want your love. I—I won't have it!' I cry in scared, bewildered tones.

'Ah! but you can't get rid of it.' Sir won't have it i' I try in scarce, bewindentones.

'Ah! but you can't get rid of it,' Sir
Gordon returns, with a masterful smile,
'any more than you can get rid of me.'
There is a moment's pause; then sink ing his voice to the softest of whispers, he goes on—
'Little one, will you not come to me of I am literally too angry to speak.
How dare he treat me se?
At this juncture Mrs. Verender favors us with a song.
I am passionately fond of music, and I feel as if I could sit forever, harkening to her rich, liquid tones.
I completely forget where I am, and who my companion is.

Presently Mrs. Verender rises from the

With dazed frightened eyes I stand and

With dazed frightened eyes I stand and gaze at him, my face growing whiter and whiter, my whole frame quivering with indignation and a something else which I cannot define.

Lewer yet Sir Gordon bends over me, and then, suddenly loosening his clasp of my arm, he snatches me to him with a strength which is almost painful, drawing my head down upon his breast.

Oh, how I hate him!

A very volcano of hatred is seething within me, and though I do at last lic passive within his arms, it is merely because my physical forces are exhausted, not because my spirit is subdued.

'Ah! quiet at last,' Sir Gordon remarks coolly, when I have ceased struggling. 'You foolish child! What was the use of trying your strength against mine? And now, see what I have brought you'—and, holding me easily with one arm, he thrusts the other hand into his pocket, produces a small leather case, and, opening it, takes out a magnificent half hoop emerald ring. 'Well, do you like it?' he asks, as he slips it upon my finger. 'What! still obstinate?' as I do not answer.'Never mind'—with his calm, aggravating smile—'you will make me happy before long. I shall receive a rich payment one of these days for all the saubs you are administering to me now,' and stooping, he lays his first kiss upon my lips.

'Let me go!' I cry, finding my voice at last; and slowly he unclasps his arms from about my shrinking form and steps back.

Thank Heaven! I am free once more, and I turn and fiee.

Nor do I halt until I have reached the house and my own reom, where I flung myself face downwards upon the bed, and house and my own room, where I flung myself face downwards upon the bed, and burst into a paroxysm of engry, convulsive

CHAPTER III.

'Happy is the bride the sun shines on.'
Many times in the course of my life I have both heard and repeated this well known saying, and how persistently does it ring through my brain now, as I stand in front of the flower decked alter of the quaint old church of Yerbury, beside the man who will so soon be my husband.
Am I geing to be happy?
Is the beautiful sunshine with which the church is filled an emblem of my future life?

I fear that is not, hew far can I be happy tied to a man I thoroughly dislike and fear?

remarks
d,' I resible, I

lear P
At last the solemn service comes to an end, the words are spoken which unite Gordon Alverstone and myself in indissoluble bonds until death do us part.
With trembling fingers I sign my maiden name for the last time and a reasonal I.

name fot the last time, and even as I do the white haired vicar addresses me by my new tittle.

How the name makes me start and flush. What an odd, unfamiliar ring there is

What an odd, untamiliar ring there is about it!

And then I find myself walking down the aisle of the crowded church upon the arm of my newly made husband.

To me the wedding-breakfast is somewhat of an infliction, but it finally comesto an end, and, followed by Aunt Kate, I go upstairs to exchange my bridal finery for a dark-green cloth travelling dress.

Then, 'amidat a shower of rice and good wishes,' to quote from the local press, we depart fer 'London, Dover, and the Continent.'

It is a long and wearisome journey from tinent.'

It is a long and wearisome journey from Yerbury to Dover, and I am more glad than tongue can tell when it comes to an end, and I find myself in one of the comfortable private sitting-rooms of the Lord Warden hotel.
'Tired, Nills?' my husband inquires.
'Tired to death,' I answer, somewhat unoracionals.

graciously.
'I am sorry, but you will feel better

The rest of his sentence I am not detimed to hear, for, at this moment, as waiter makes his appearance, bringing Gordon a telegram, which has been awaiting our arrival since the middle of the atternoon. 'Who in the world can it be from?' I ask curiously.

a Harper referring died in h I mean,' ing trawl caliber a one love you can't stand su beard suc Kellogg church. Why I call his 's times by Every one friends ar next sum ask Uncle tries to b bet they contributio 'I have $40 or $5 sure as he > ple. He cent for hi

appreciatio

years old. 'The po bear him p to apprecia understand along with tells 'em to flannels or that they r 'The per that. But along the r

they think the parson all their liv

forbearing

'Why he over my gr the great-g ers helped time he has fully six da rest of us, ed. He ha We have de him all we house, 40 y all his neigh Every ye party for hi

we can force to death to session of t snap for the distribute m people insid I tell you go up to Un He makes th your life. ses and says and father a your family these years, tears come t after, he is funny things the young for skylarking.

that Uncle K everything ri tells about w about manag

I have read

There is a Detroit who h is enjoying a increases. He that he is get say in his down and Too

nes, and for miner s, the mother must nily. Tens of thous-rs have relied upon ANODYNE LINIof from any cause, for 90 years as a tis sustained popular ing use every year ale testimonials to n's IT haa, cholera mor-s, coughs, croup, mess and pain and bottles, 250, and 264. The Ask first. , Boston, Mass.

frightened eyes I stand and y face growing whiter and le frame quivering with in-a something else which I r Gordon bends over me, only loosening his clasp of atches me to him with a is almost painful, drawing te him!

no of hatred is seething though I do at last lic pasarms, it is merely because ces are exhausted, not be-

is subdued.
at last,' Sir Gordon remarks have ceased struggling.
ild! What was the use of ngth against mine? And I have brought you'—and, ly with one arm, he thrusts into his pocket, produces a ase, and, opening it, takes cent half hoop emerald lo you like it?' he asks, upon my finger. 'What! as I do not answer.'Never calm, aggravating smile— me happy before long. I ich payment one ef these snubs you are administer-and stooping, he lays his y lips. I cry, finding my voice at I cry, finding my voice at he unclass his arms from ting form and steps back.

n! I am free once more, dee.

until I have reached the own room, where I flung nwards upon the bed, and oxysm of engry, convulsive bride the sun shines on. n the course of my life I l and repeated this well and repeated this well and how persistently does my brain now, as I stand lower decked alter of the h of Yerbury, beside the scoon be my husband. To be happy? It sunshine with which the an emblem of my future not, how far can I be happy thoroughly dislike and olemn service comes to an are spoken which unite one and myself in indissol-death do us part.

HAPTER III.

g fingers I sign my maiden t time, and even as I do e makes me start and flush.

nd myself walking down prowded church upon the made husband. sidding-breakfast is some-tion, but it finally comes followed by Aunt Kate, I change my bridal finery a cloth travelling dress. a shower of rice and good from the local press, we con, Dover, and the Cond wearisome journey from yer, and I am more glad tell when it comes to an myself in one of the com-sitting-rooms of the Lord my husband inquires.

but you will feel better sentence I am not de-for, at this moment, a is appearance, bringing m, which has been await-since the middle of the world can it be from?' I

Sunday Reading.

HOW FISHERMAN LOVED RIM. Elijah Kellogg Will be Missed by the Natives

He ain't appreciated round here,' said a Harpswell fisherman, a few days ago, in referring to the Rev. Elijah Kellogg, who died in his Maine home a week ago. 'What I mean,' said the native as he kept on pulling trawls,' is the size of his brain and his you can't get any one around here to say from the cities and who are able to understand such things, say that they never beard such preaching as that which Uncle Kellogg serves up at the Congregational

'Why I'll bet he has preached what we call his 'ship' sermnn more than a hundred times by request of the summer-folks. Every one who has heard it tells their ds and when the friends come down next summer, the first thing they do is to sity for delay, I growled and dealt in the ask Uncle Kellogg for that sermon. He same way with four others before finding tries to beg off, but they won't have it. the one I was after. Of course some of the eld parishioners ", went in the afternoon to see how my who have got the discourse almost by heart, have got kind of tired of it, but you bet they don't say anything. For those $40 or $50 on a Sunday. And just so sure as he gets it, over it goes to the people. He never knows how it is to keep a ple. He never knows how it is to keep a as though he were a delivering angel ? But cent for himself. He has no more idea or you can bet that the effects of that sermon appreciation of money than a child two have all gone."

'The poor fisher people who go up on the hill to the Congregational church to hear him preach Sundays may not be able to appreciate all the eloquent places in se sermons of his, but you bet they understand him when he comes plodding along with five or ten dollars in his fist and tells 'em to go out and buy some warm flannels or some flour or some other things

'The people down in Harpswell know that he has written some books and all that. But when they see him coming along the road or entering their homes, they think of him only as Uncle Kellogg, the parson who has been so good to them all their lives, patient with ignorance and forbearing at all times.

'Why he preached the funeral sermen over my grandfather. This spring some of the great-grandsons of his first parishieners helped him plant his garden. All the fully six days of the week, as well as the rest of us, and every Sunday he has preach ed. He has never asked us for money. We have done what we could, and helped him all we could. When he built the house, 40 years ago, where he now lives, all his neighbors turned out and helped.

Every year we have got up a donation party for him. It's about the only way we can force things on him—things that he really needs for his comfort. He is tickled to death to have us come and take possession of the house, but he doesn't care a snap for the things we bring. If we didn't make the housekeeper hide everything he'd distribute most of it round among the peor records inside at a record of the strain of feverish companies the strain of feverish companies the strain of feverish companies that the strain of feverish companies tha le inside of a week.

I tell you what, the young folks like to go up to Uncle Kellogg's to be married. He makes the most fun you ever saw in your life. When he prays for your hapiness and says that he married your mether and father and has always watched over your family and has prayed for you all these years, you can't help having the tears come to your eyes. But five minutes after, he is making you laugh with the funny things he says and does. Lots of the young felks went up with me when I was married and Uncle Kellogg led all the skylarking. He could run up stairs about

'There's one thing about the stories that Uncle Kellogg writes—he always gets everything right when he writes about the sea. He is a sailer himself and when he tells about working a ship in a storm or about managing a dery in a squall, you can use what he writes for a sailer's guide. I have read Clark Russell and Marryatt and Dana's 'Befere the Mast,' but I must say Uncle Kellogg gets it nearer from a sailer's point of view than any of them.'

A Good Samaritan, There is a young prefessional man in Detroit who has not yet made his pile, but is enjoying a nice income that constantly increases. He confessed the other day that he is getting 'near,' as they used to say in his down East home, and told how it

ous,' he modestly admitted. 'Besides I had a 'hunch' when I went to church last Sunday and heard a sermon setting forth the duty of those who have money toward days I was liberal with the class of fellows who want help to get a bed and then a beer, but became so well known and so popular as a 'mark' that I abandoned that line of charity.

'I felt just like a good Samaritan when a widow with several children called upon me for 'temporary' assistance. I gathered the fact that she was renting an expensive residence and that she was making strenu-ous efforts to keep the wolf from the door, caliber ain't appreciated. Ot course every one loves Uncle Kellogg as a man. But good resolves. When she told me that there was no food in the house I sent her that he is anything great on sermons. But right home so that she might be there the summer folks who come down here when the delivery wason arrived. I callwhen the delivery wagon arrived. I called a grocer and gave a big order, covering everything in that line to stock a household that I could think of, and ordered the goods sent at once.

"Now grocers send out their waggons at regular hours and cannot always deliver en call, and this one could not send the things at once. That wouldn't do me at all, so I rang off and called another, going ever the same list and being told of the same neces-summer folks put lots of money into the contribution box.

'I have known Uncle Kellogg to get been filed, and I remembered that I had not cancelled any of them. What could a fellow do, and the widow looking at him

Some six years ago New York society was startled by the disappearance of three of its most popular members. Leaders of cotillions, hunters, yatchsmen, always riding the top wave of goed fellowship, indispensible and rich, they wielded an influence-whether for good or bad-that they realized. But one day their world knew them no more.

It soon came out that these men, wear; of the vacuity of their existence, had join ed a brotherhood, and had chosen immur ment and contemplation for the rest of their

Only the other day another young me disappeared from the world that knew and loved him. The son of one of our leading statesmen, educated in two different pro lessions, in early manhood he conceived a distaste for society as at present constituted. The passion for frivolity, the madness for amusement, the shallowness of the hearts of those who spent their best hours in plotting for preferment—those conditions, so common to our great human con ters, were two much for the young man He resigned from life as one resigns from a college or from a board of trustees and and entered a monastry.

On the other hand, a great man lately passed away in Chicago. He was not great because he was one of the richest mer-chants in the West, and had the power of life or starvation over thousands o employees whom he had never seen: but say, 'will all be placed on the right side of the scale.' He was a man as much in the world as any one could well be, but he was not of the world. His aim was not wealth. but Heaven. His last words were: 'Read me the Lord's Prayer.'

The two types are ever with us. The one, when he comes to his better self, seeks the solitary cell, there to live uncontamin-ated by this world, and to feast his mind on the peace and purity of the next. The other, when the scales of sin drop from his eyes; rushes into life with a new purpose and a new power. He meets the condi as they are; and by the purity of his character, the nobility of his purpose, does the best he can, and is not discouraged when he cannot reform the world at ence.

Wherever he goes he leaves a sweet savor behind him, and men's faith becomes strenger for knowing that he is near them.

An Old Bong.

George P. Morris, who was an associate of Nathaniel P. Willis in journalism sixty years ago, wrote the words of the exce famous song, 'Woodman, Spare that Tree.'
The music was composed by an Englishman, Henry Russell, who sang it in America and in', Europe. In 'Our Familiar Songs and Their Authors' an account of how that song came to be written is given in Morris's own words. In spite of its semowhat sentimental style, a style characteristic of the period the narrative may happened.

'The naturally sympathetic and general be of interest to the present generation:

Riding out of town a few days since, in company with a friend who was once the expectant heir of the largest estate in America, but over whose worldly prosper-ity a blight has recently come, he invited me to turn down a little romantic woodland pass, net far from Bloomingdale.

'No,my mother sold it-'and I observe slight tremor of the lip at the recollection, 'Dear mother !' resumed my comanion. 'We passed many, many happy days in that old cottage, but it is nothing to me new. Father, mother, sisters, cottage, all are gone !

After a moment's pause he added: Don't think me foolish. I den't know how it is, I never ride out this way but I turn down this old lane to look at the old tree. I have a thousands recollections about it, and I always greet it as a familiar and well-remembered friend. In the by-Its leaves are all off now, so you won't see it to advantage, but I like it full as well in the winter sime.' These words were scarcely uttered when my companion cried out: 'There it is !' Near the tree stood an old man, with his coat off, sharpening an ax. He was the ccupant of the cottage.

'What do you intend doing?' asked my 'What is that to you?' was the blunt re-

'You are not going to cut the tree down, surely.'

'Yes, I am. though, said the woodman 'What for ?' inquired my companion, almost choked with emotion.

'What for ? Why, because I think proper to do so. What for ? I like that! Well, I'll tell you what for. This tree makes my dwelling unhealthy—it stands too near the house. It renders us liable to lever and ague.'

'Whe told you that ?'

'Have you any other reason for wishing

'Yes. I am getting old, the woods are great way off, and this tree is of some

He was soon convinced, however, that the story about fever and ague was a mere action for there never had been a case of that disease in the neighborhood, and was then asked what the tree was worth for

'Why, when it's down about ten dollars. Suppose I make you a present of that amount, will you let it stand?"

'You are sure of that ?'

'Then give me a bond to that effect.' Morris drew up the bond, it was with ed by the woodman's daughter, the money was paid, and Morris and his companion left the place with an assurance from the young girl, who looked as smiling and beautiful as a young Hebe, that the tree should stand as long as she lived.

On the word of Marion Crawford Ameri cans may travel in Italy with no peculiar misgivings lest they be suddenly confront-ed by brigands and carried away to some recess in the mountains. Mr. Crawford says that the Italian government has abforeigner can go from end to end of the meuntain in safety.

Not that there are no limitations to the safety of a foreigner's purse and his person. If he were to wander out at night into the suburbs of cities like Palermo, he might be robbed, just as he might be in the suburbs of New York, or any other large city; but in general, if he were twenty mile from a large city he would be comparative ly safe. Now and then a couple of peasants perhaps driven to desperation by hunger, stop a traveller on the road in the evening and demand money, but there are no or-ganised bands of robbers.

In Sicily the case is somewhat different, The government has not been able to sup-press brigandage in that island because the people will not help to reveal the hiding-places of the robbers.

Even here, however, a foreigner is practically safe. It is not the fereigner whem the brigands are after. The men they want to catch are the rich landowners of the island. These they occasionally or the island. These they occasionally carry eff to the mountains and hold for ransom. Many such landlords do not dare to go from Palerma to their estates without a guard. The bandits know them individually, and know what they can extort from them.

dividually, and know what they can extore from them.

Fereigners used to be treated in the same way; but the bandits have made mistakes,—shoe they carried off a peer photographer under the impression that he was the Duke of Devenshire,—and the uncertainty of the thing has caused them to give it up.

It you were travelling, through Sicily in the evening, and met a bandit, he might very likely tell you that you would be better off somewhere else. At the worst, if he were very poor, he might ask you to lend him five dollars, and tell you that if 'Merely to look once more at the old tree planted by my grandfather, near a cottage that was once my father's.'

'The place is yours, then P' said I.

And if he had the opportunity he certainly would return it.

A foreigner, even if he be unable to

A foreigner, even if he be unable to speak the language, is in no particular danger of being robbed. Among themselves the Sicilians quarrel readily, and when roused by jealousy or hatred or anger they are likely to fight with pistols or knives. They shoot on as little provo-cation as men used to require in the Western camps and pioneer towns of America. Then the slayer flees to the woods or the mountains, his relatives keep him supplied with food, and he remains in hiding until he can escape to South

TOOK OFF THE LOCK BARN'S URBW. Captain Marster's Watch a Memento of the

At 83 Halsey street, Brooklyn, there lives as fine's type of the eld time deepsea skipper as is to be found in Greater New York. In addition to many voyages to remote lands on the other side of the globe, he has made something like one hundred and thirty passages between American and European ports. On the inside of a fine gold hunting case watch which he carries and ef which he is very proud is this insertion.

'Presented to Capt. Robert H. Marsters ship British Queen of Windsor, N. S., by the owners of the ship Loch Earn of Glasgow, for his gallant and humane conduct in rescuing the crew and passengers of that vessel when foundering in the Atlantic the 28th of November, 1873.' The New York Sun recently published a new version of the rescue by the ship Tri-mountain of eighty-five passengers of the French liner Ville du Havre, which was sunk in collision with the Loch Earn in mid Atlantic in the latter part of November, 1873, with the loss of nearly two hundre lives. The Loch Earn was so badly injured that she sank a few days later after the Brh Queen had taken off her crew of thirty-one men and three passengers whom she had rescued from the French

The story said that Capt Urquhart of the ship Trimountain was out of his course. cause he was in search of a mysterious, unchartered rock supposed to be somewhere in that part of the Atlantic. When Capt. Marsters landed the Ville du Havre passengers and the officers and crew of the Loch Earn at Plymouth, England, it was reported that he was in the waters where he found the sinking ship, because he, too, was on a rock hunting expedition. 'Yes,' said Capt Marsters in his Brooklyn home the other evening, 'they said that of me and that I was crasy and all sorts of things. Yet it was a very simple matter that brought me where I found the Earn. 'We had been bucking against a terrific gale of wind for several days and I steered to the south'ard to ease the vessel off a bit. That is all the mystery there was in my being in latitude 48: 10 and longitude 36: 20 on the 28 of Nevember, and very glad I am I get there. The Earn could have kept above the water but a little time when we found her. She was right in the track of vessels but she was never sighted nor heard from again after we sank her below the horizon. But we had taken every living thing off from her except the rats. We even saved two cats and a dog besides the thirty four human beings.

'It was just after dawn that we made out the Lock Earn with her distress signals flying. The gale had died down but I knew that it was only a lull and that another gale would be on us soon. There was a very heavy sea running when we bore down upon the Earn.

'Her captain was a plucky fellow. The bows of his vessel were all cut off, but he did not want to give her up even then. He asked me to stand by until he made sail to see what he could do. I told him that the barometer was falling rapidly, that it was only a lull between the gales, and that if he was going to transfer he must do it there and then. So he consented and we sent our boats and got everybody on board including cats and deg, without accident of any kind, although it was heavy work in the big sea that was running.

When off the Eddystone light we transferred all of those we had taken from the Earn to a Plymouth pilot boat and they were landed in Plymouth. I was bound from Philadelphia to Antwerp. We had head winds after landing our shipwrecked passengers, and it was some time before we got to Antwerp.

'When I did arrive there, however,] heard that the landing of the Earn and Ville du Havre people had made quite a stir. Soon after the English Consul at Havre gave me the watch on behalf of the owners of the Earn.'

'You had to board these thirty-four people on your ship for some time,' the re-porter said. 'How is it about charges in such cases ?'

'The British Board of Trade provides fer that. You have only to put in your bill, and it will be paid. I was entitled to about $475. But it seemed to me always a mean and petty thing to charge for such a thing as that. The British consul at Antwerp told me to make out my bill and be would attend to it. I told him that there was no bill to be made out and that would take no money if it were offered to me, and I didn't take any.

'When I returned to Philadelphia I met
Mr. Bennet Smith of Windsor, N. S. the principal owner of the vessel, and he not only approved my course in this respect. but made a general rule to apply to all the thirty vessels of his company that no more money was ever to be taken for the support of people picked up at sea while they were on the company's ships. That is the way it should be.

Baron Steuben, the bluff old soldier of the Revolution, was greatly beloved by his men. He was | called everywhere 'The Baron,' and to one woman, who came to him asking for permission to name her child for him, he said, 'And what will you call him ?' Fer, like all titled personages, he had a profusion of proper names.

'Why,' said the woman, 'l'll call him

Baron he was, and so were the other namesakes. Indeed, when the old soldier was urged to lay aside his title, in the enm of the French Revolution, he answered that it would be of no use. There were too many Baron Steubens in exist-

One full-grown namesake he acquired under peculiar circumstances. When he was one day inspecting a Connecticut regi-ment, he found a fine-looking sergeant, named Jonathan Arnold. The baron had been one of the court which had unwillingly condemned Andre, and he detested the wretch who drew him to death.' So he advised the man to change his name.

'But what name shall I take ?' cried

'Any name you please,' answered the 'Take mine. It's at your service.'

So Jonathan Arnold duly became Jonahan Steuben, and under that name tought bravely and well. When he returned his Connecticut home, after the war, he married, and his son was named after the eld soldier, 'Frederick William.' To him Baron Steuben willed a farm, and Frederick William Steuben, a good soldier in the War of 1812, died in the service.

ONE FACT IS BETTER THAN TEN ONE FACT IS BETTER THAN TEN HEARSAYS. Ask Dector Burgess, Supt. Hospital for Issane, Montreal, where they have used it for years, for his opinion of "The D. & L." Menthel Plaster. Get the genuine made by Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

For value received: Jack—That's a fine deg you have, Jim. Do you want to sell him?

him?

Jim—I'll sell him for $10.

Jack—Is he intelligent?

Jim (with emphasis)—Intelligent? Why that deg knows as much as I do.

Jack—You don't say so? Well, I'll give you half a dollar for him, Jim.

BRONCHIAL AFFECTIONS, coughs Balsam. It has no equal. Acts promptly soothes, heals and cares. Manufactured by the proprietors of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer.

In the hunting season: Lady (in poul-terer's shop)—You can put aside half a dozen of your plumpest partridges. Poulterer—Yes, ma'am. Shall I send them at ence? Lady—No, my husband is out shooting partridges today, and he will call for them this evening.

A BUILDER—ARE YOU LOSING WEIGHT?—"The D. & L." Emulsion will always help and build you up. Restores proper digestion and brings back health. Manufactured by the Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

A kitchen remance: Lady—What de you think? I have a servant who gets up in the merning without heing called.
Cherus of voices—Impossible!
Lady—But it's true; she's in love with the milkman?

AT ALL TIMES OF YEAR Pain Kill-er will be found a useful household remedy. Ourse outs, sprains and begins. Inter-nally for exhaus and diarrics. Avoid substitutes, there's only one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'.

A Brief Disappearance

day, 'my old client, Thomas Blount, is deeply distressed about his wife ?'

'His young wife, sir ?' 'Yes, his young wife,' repeated the Judge tion. She is a good, true woman, sincerely from the daily struggle for bread of a copyist to affluence, while her happiness is now the one ambition of his life. Hence, seeing her consumed by a secret grief, which, so far from explaining, she denies, he is distressed and comes to me for advice and assistance.

'She must say something.'

saying that she is run down and nervous: to a mind diseased ?'

you say she is to confide in such a busband.'

'True; unless those very motives induce her silence. Mr. Blount believes, and I agree with him, that she is convinced that the trouble, whatever it is, would affect him more than her failing health can; and so he persists in silence. Now, he is determined to help her even against herself.

"You lawyers say," he said to me, "that every wrong has its remedy. Find out, then, this wrong for me and remedy it. wicked people who prey on the good, sometimes converting their holiest feelings into weapons against them. If such be no publicity, no punishment, no information even; it could not reassure me; it could not disillusion me. I want wife's peace of mind.

'Such are his instructions, Abe. I don't But his connection with our firm is so im- of his sentence? portant that they must be carried out; so the sooner you get the work the better.'

later he returned to report progress.

'After a quiet investigation here,' he beband first met her. That was about three that her husband's name was Albert Chid- Chideey at his home town?

is dead ?' asked the judge excitedly.

ly. You must, it you reflect a moment, recall the Chidsey case. He was tried and convicted for the murder of his uncle-Renhen Chidsey, and is now undergoing imprisonment for life.

'Ah, I see,' exclaimed the judge. 'That relieves her from bigamy at all events; since conviction of murder in the second degree freed her from him absolutely as death. After all, she is not so culpable; a poor young woman with such a disgrace attached through no fault of her own. You learned nothing to her discredit ?" 'No, indeed. Every one in either place with whom I spoke described her in your words as a good, true woman. I have found no reason to dispute it.'

·She met Mr. Blount naturally.' the business way: was struck with her appearance. He sought her out, wooed her. married her: from first to last rather against her inclination. Up to a month ago she has been unfeignedly happy with him. Evidently, then, it is not her venual fault of concealment that has wrought this change. But what else can it be? Her former husband is as safe in prison as in his grave. Let me see; let me see. You didn't hear, did you, Abe, of any efforts being made to pardon him?'

'On the contrary, it is generally thought that he got off luckily. There is no public interest in his behalf.' But I can't imagine-

'Cronkite,' said Judge Marcellus one | figure. Let's see it it won't lead you to the same possible solution.'

'Admitting her blameless life, her domestic happiness,' reflected the Judge, 'the natural inference must be that fear of impatiently, 'but that is beside the ques- her secret's being divulged is the source of il her sorrow. Can it be that some blackattacked to her husband, who raised her mailer has discovered her and is blessing

'No,' replied the detective, decidedly. 'I looked into that phase, the first thing. She has received no strange letter, she has met no strange person. Besides, under our reading of her character, blackmail is not an adequate cause. We agree that she is silent on Mr. Blount's account. 'Oh, yes; she belittles his anxiety by Now, would her confession of the circumstances which caused her to marry under but when he goes to her physician, the best | an assumed name and condition be such in the land, they ask, 'Who can minister an awful lasting shock to him ? I doubt it. The case is forgotton; the first husband 'And yet every motive of gratitude and safely immured. Probably during courtaffection should cause such a woman as ship Mr. Blount assured her that he did not wish to know of her former life. Hence, I say, she would confess rather than be coerced by any stranger: they would quickly come to an understanding, and the unpleasant episode be put aside forever, if not forgotten.

But the appearance of Chidsey on the scene is a far different matter. Women have but a shadowy idea of the law. She might believe that his pardon or vidication would restore him as her husband, break For such a purpose money is shoolutely up her happy home, and drive out into the no object. The world, I know, is full of darkness of despair the one who has so up her happy home, and drive out into the tenderly loved her, at the same time exposing him to the ceaseless exactions of an unworthy Enoch Arden. There is an adthe case, pay the price and end it. I want equate cause. Sir; and, in the circumstances, I believe, the only adequate cause,

'Vindication, vindication?' repeated the judge, clinging to the one word which had the happiness of my home restored; and impressed him. 'Vindication implies proof that happiness is dependent on my dear of Chidsey's innocence. Who, then, would have any such knowledge? You say that no efforts have been made for a pardon; say whether I consider them foolish or not. | that is general acquiescence in the mercy

Exactly, sir; but suppose that she alone has the proof; suppose that she alone And then, after learning the few details knows something that will establish his of Mrs Blount's past, which her husband innocence and release him; something had been able to give to the Judge, the de- lately discovered, if you will, neglected, tective set out on his mission. A week hidden in that past which she shuns. What then?

'My God, it must be so!' cried the gan, 'I went over to Mayfield, where Mrs. judge. 'No wonder the poor creature is Blount worked as a copyist when her hus- wasting away. She is on the horns of a horrible dilemma, bound in all good conyears ago. Her name then was Estelle science to see that justice is done; and yet Sanger. I soon learned that the only mail with every tender emotion pleading that she received in the very secluded life she Blount should be protected from mortificaled was postmarked Alvadene; so thither tions, persecutions, agonies, which we can-I proceeded. It is unnecessary to not foresee. Remember, she knows the make a long story out of what was after man; knows how stout or frail a barrier all mere commonplace inquiry. There is no doubt that at the time of her meeting temptations of such a situation. Tell me, Mr. Blount she was a married woman, and Cronkite, what sort of a reputation had

But he, her former husband, he was, he greedy villain. He is known to have been solately on the threshold like Eve outside rules call for dinners of courses, or lost 'Yes, in a way,' replied Cronkite, slow- whom it is supposed he murdered for the sake of a small property, had brought him up and even then was giving them a home and supporting them. You see it was this way. Reuben Chidsey, who had been out of health and very low-spirited, was found dead in his bed, with a glass by his side, containing traces of poison. It was taken for granted, at first, that he had committed suicide; but little by little circumstances came out, rendering such a theory untenable.

'For instance, the autopsy showed that he must have died shortly after the time he retired; while the effects of the poison are so slow that the quantity he had taken must have been in his system for sevaral hours before death. Reckoning this time back, he was found to have been then in judge went on. 'He came across her in a the company of his nephew, who had almost forced a drink upon him, which he had pronounced strangely disagreeable. Then it was discovered that Albert Chidsey had had some of this poison in his possession, and arrest and trial followed. Where was Mrs. Blount at the time this tragedy occurred?' 'It was she who had discovered the body sir, and the shock was so great as to throw recover until after the trial was over. She never saw Albert again. He made great assertions that he could prove by her old Reuben's suicidal tendencies, but there was no motion for delay when the case was called, no attempt to take her evidence by 'Follow it up, sir,' interrupted Cronkite, | deposition. The story prevails at Alvadeagerly. 'I'm sure you've got hold of the right idea. That's just the way I began to the case for the people was not over strong the District attorney bad in his possession certain proof which would render nugatory any attempt of the defence to bolster itself up with Mrs. Blount's supposed knowledge, and that a compromise was at length quietly effected by which the detence made no serious fight on this phrase of the case, in return for which the prosecution did not oppose the evident drift toward a verdict in the second degree, which the lack of any direct testimony as to the administration of the poison seemed to justify. In a word, sir, it was considered a compromise verdict and that is why I told you that the general impression was that Chidsey got off luck-

'If there was any such arrangement, why didn't you have a talk with the District Attorney P' asked the Judge,

'He is dead, sir.' 'Ah; and of course Chidsey's lawyer would refuse any information which might militate against his release. Well, Abe, your solution seems to stand the test, but I don't see that we are any better off for it. With such a fixed idea, Mrs. Blount will git him off a kitin. either worry herself to death or vield to her conscience. There is nothing money can do; nothing that will save my old

'Nothing,' interrupted Cronkite, 'unless Mrs. Blount can be made to realize that she has been deceiving herself.'

'I catch your idea,' cried the judge hopefully. 'You say that the proof on which Chidsey first relied and which he afterwards repudiated, must have been factituous. Likely enough; but how can we convince her? The information must come naturally, from a direct source, without a suspicion of our cooperation. 'Chidsey has now been in prison,' explained the detective, 'for a period long enough to convert a man of his evil nature, unsustained, too, by any intellectual resources, into a typical convict. A main characteristic of the typical convict is vanity; he can't refrain from boasting to his mates, even in despite of his better judgement. Suppose, then, that Mrs. Blount should overhear a man like Shorty, the head hallman, for instance, of whom I have often told you, relating as a mere matter of prison gossip what Chidsey says about his case.'

'It can be, it must be arranged,' broke in the Judge eagerly.

'Saorty comes out in about a week, I hear,' continued Cronkite, 'now if we can only keep her from acting prematurely.'

'Her first step would be to confess to a few days.'

'That is prudent precaution,' assented the detective, 'and I on my part, will attend to the other danger I tear, which is that she may conclude to disappear-become once more the wife of the convicted murderer Chidsey, and in that capacity advocate his pardon—thus saving Mr Blount from any possible knowledge of her first husband. I think we have covered the ground pretty well, sir, and having done our best can leave the rest to the hand of Providence-a hand that often holds the joker in detecting sir.'

One evening a week later, a closely veiled plainly dressed young women crept out of the side entrance of Mr. Blount's hand-'The very worst, sir, for a cold-blooded, some residence, and after pausing disconcruel to his young wife, while the uncle, paradise, entered a cross-town car which semicolons make laws void or lame, our took her over into the vast East Side, so the wealthy district she had left behind. She proceeded quickly and resolutely after she had alighted until she came to one of those obscure lodging houses, which scattered here and there, together constitute the modern city of refuge. She evidently had made her simple arrangements in advance, for obtaining a key from the women in charge, she went up the stairs to a room sparsely;furnished but whose unusual clean liness bespoke the express directions of s

This young woman had plainly determin ed to waste no time in homesickness or vain regrets. She took from her reticule certain modest writing materials; she drew from her bosom a folded paper and read over its message again and again, though she shuddered as she did so. Then, as she seated herself at the rickety table, pen in hand, from the adjoining room, through the thin partition, there came voices mentioning a name, which held her fixed and en ranced, the very personification of

'Cert'ny, Abe,' said Shorty, the peren nial head ballman, 'anny thin' to obleege her into brain fever, from which she didn't I know you're square and I kin talk free with you; so go shead with your inquisitur about Albekt Chidsey.'

'I simply want to know what he has to say about his case,' explained Cronkite. 'I mean him no harm.

'Unless he happens to be in

'You can't harm a lifer,' asserted the other doggedly; 'he's as eximpt from trouble as old Metusally hisself.'

ventured Cronkite.

'Innocent, nothin,' retorted Shorty: 'he scoffed his uncle, all right all right; I've heard him tell all about it a t'ousand time. You know how it is up at the old soup softer the graft. Naturally, thin Chidsey and I said: has the choicest cell in Bankers' row pick of 'orspital ratuns, and the freedom of the hall until the 9 o'clack gong strikes. Why, he's as fat and healthy as a holiday capon afore the eatun, with nothin' on his mind excipt to square hisself with the push as a deam game lag

'You jest orter hear him tell. Abe. of how he had iverythin' cut and dried to get off scot free. The idea wasn't a bad one; handkercher.' it was to have his wife, a reg'lar same-sing er, Abe, with the respict of ivery one, find a note written to herself by old Chidsey, who it seems was very fond of her, sayin' as how he was troo with life and a goin' to poison hisself. This was to be pointed so she wud come acrost it accerdentally perduce it, as wud be her juty in coort, and Well, it seems, Albert Chidsey perpar-

ed this note all right, and hid it in a proper place but like ivery odder smarty queered hisself for all that. The beaks got holt of some specimings of his writing, whin he was teachin' bisself to imitate the old man's hand; and so whin his trile came on and he wanted to set about his wife finding it all right, what does the Districk Attarney do but notifies his lawyer that anny attimpt to prove suicide wud slip up in a noose and no mistake; and so, in the ind, Chidsey got life, and has been t'ankin' his stars iver since, the invied of all beholders.

'My God, Abe, what's that; you ain't springin' no game on me, are you ?' cried Shorty, breaking off abruptly, as his trained vigilance caught the sounds of a sob, the closing of a door and fleet, soft steps in the hallway and down the stairs!

Abe Cronkite smiled, as he reassared his frightened companion, blotting the incident from his mind with an astonishing gratuity for he recognized in the sounds the agitated yet jeyous homeward flight of one to whom good tidings had unexpectedly

The Hotel Sandwich.

How dear to our hearts are the things of our childhood, as fond recollection presents them to view. The relics of past generations still linger along with the modern, the strange and the new. The oldest of all is the dry hotel sandwich, its Blount,' suggested the Judge, 'and that I dust covered sides still held firmly with can obviate by sending him out of town for glue; its battered old top so suggestive of granite and the dark strip of ham that our forefathers knew. The ages may pass and the dynasties crumble; the earth may dissolve in a whirlwind of flame; the sky may roll up as a scroll and then vanish, but the old hotel sandwich is ever the same. The hoary old sandwich, the petrified sandwich, the pleicene sandwich is ever the same.

Each Sunday its place is an honored one surely, for thousands rush up and demand it in view. They sit 'round the table where still it reposes and gaze at the sand-wich our forefathers know. Though parched dry with thirst and all craving refreshment (a liquid refreshment forbidden by law), they must reverently wait on the sandwich, the same weary sandwich that past ages saw. While stern police mysterious, so unknown to the residents of ful. The chances are, still, it will stay in the game. The hoary old sandwich, the petriged sandwich, the pleiocene sandwich is ever the same.

A Fearful Struggle.

'There goes a man who is having a ful struggle with his appetite.' ·What, that clear-cut, healthy-looking chan over there P'

'That's the one.' 'Why, he doesn't look like a slave any appetite. 'He is, though; and he's having an awful time of it. He grits his teeth, and succeeds in subduing it for a whole day, maybe, but the very next it conquers him, and he's just as bad off as ever. 'What is it—whiskey?'

'Oh no l He never drinks.' 'Morphine P'

'No indeed.' Well, what is it that has such a hold on on him P' 'His appetite, I told you.' 'For food P'

'Certainly. Well, what's the matter with it ? Why as he any struggle over it ?'

'Why, he says that if he could only go without eating for about a month he could get the girl he's engaged to an Easter preent as elaborate as she expects.

A Little Stronger Than Usual. 'One day back in Detroit,' remarked a inquired as to what had become of it, and some of the boys in the store said that Bill Webster-a tough old sot who dropped in on us occasionally-had just gone out, and maybe he had drunk it, supposing it house. Abe; the longer the term, the to be liquor. In a short time he came in

> Bill, did you drink that stuff in the glass on my table?'

> 'He said he did, and I then told him that he had drunk poison, and that he'd be a dead man in five minutes.

'Oh, I reckon not,' said Bill. 'but I knowed it was somethin' a leetle stronger than I'd been a-havin', for every time I blowed my nose I burned a hole in my Eyes and Nose ran Water.—

C. G. Archer, of Brewer. Maine, says: "I have had Catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose for days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. It relieves in ten minutes." 50 cents.—17

'Her rich old uncle isn't a bit nice to

'Nice! He's horrid! Why, he threat-

"Threatens her?"

'Yes, threatens to leave all his money to a hospital for asthmatic cats."

When Rheumatism doubles a when Rheumatism doubles a man up physician and sufferer alike lose heart and often despair of a cure, but here's the exception. Wm. Pegg, of Norwood, Ont., says: "I was nearly doubled up with rheumatism. I got three bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure and they cured me, It's the quickest acting medicine I ever saw."—18

Bilkins's wife found some poker chips in his pocket.'
'Yes ?'
'Well, Bilkins told her they were cough

loz sugers.'
'Clever of Bilkins, wasn't it?'
'Very—she swallowed two and very nearly died.'

Heart relief in half ah hour.-A lady in New York State, writing of her cure by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, says: "I feel like one brought back from the dead, so great was my suffering from heart trouble and so almost miraculous my recovery through the agency of this power-ful treatment. I owe my life to it."—19

Knew his business: Hostess-Dear me the conversation is flagging. What can we do to smuse our guests?

Host—I don't know, unless we leave the drawing room for a few minutes, and give them a chance to talk about us.

Death or lunacy seemed the only alternative for a well-known and highly respected lady of Wingham, Ont., who had travelled over two continents in a vain search for a cure for nervous debility and dyspepsia. A friend recommended South American Nervine. One bottle helped, six bottles cured, and her own written testimony closes with these words: "It has saved my life."—20

Born lucky: Bilks-Lucky man, that

Winks—I don't see how you make it.

Blinks—Why, he took out a life insurance policy for $5,000, and died six days before the company failed.

Never Worry.—Take them and go about your business—they do their work whilst you are doing yours. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are system renovators, blood purifiers and builders; every gland and tissue in the whole anatomy is benefited and stimulated in the use of them. 40 doses in a vial, 10 cents.—21

A schoolmistress in New York wants divorce because her husband will not talk to her. Those who have, in their younger days, attempted to 'asss back' the teacher, may know how the poor man has felt all south American Kidney Oure is the only kidney treatment that has proven equal to correct all the evils that are likely to befall these physical regulators. Hundreds of testimonials to prove the currative merits of this liquid kidney specific in cases of Bright's disease, diabetes, irritation of the bladder, inflammation, dropsical tendency. Don't delay.—22

Aunt Geehaw (of Hay Corners). 'Jist think of it, Jeshuway! them city wimmin git a noo boanet every Easter!' Uncle Geehaw (soothingly). Well, M'riah, you git a noo bonnet about every three or four tarra worse!!" Jours yourself!

Piles cured in 3 to 6 nights __ One application gives relief. Dr. Agnew's Ointment is a boon for Itching Piles, or Blind, Bleeding Piles. It relieves quickly and permanently. In skin eruptions it stands without a rival. Thousands of testimonials if you want evidence. 35 cents.-23

Miss Lafin—'What has become of Mr. Clay?' Mr. Rand—'He has taken empleyment in a powder mill for six months.' 'How strange!' 'Not at all. He wished to break himself of smoking.'

To Starve is a Fallacy.—The dictum to stop eating because you have indigestion has long since been exploded. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets introduced a newera in the treatment of stomach troubles. It has proved that one may eat his fill of anything and everything he relishes, and one tablet taken after the meal will aid the stomach in doing its work. 60 in a box, 35 cents.—24

Uncle Josh-'Mean to tell me that when "One day back in Detroit,' remarked a man from Omaha, 'I accidentally left some aqua fortis in a glass and soon afterward was horrified to find the glass empty. I to sit in a draft.'

Cha ****

FR In pretty foulard gow which match silk. This with rosetter of the front ates, and fal ending in fla another mid

Art buckle very much in Taffeta an > stitched in a A novel ic lace vest is s made of whit colored polk opens enoug front, shapes collar band, and a little a various lac

off. The for lace herths a Some of th under sleeve where the sle with a lace or as well as abo shaping down over the hand instead there white and trin acarf. Something becoming flar

A very stur

shows a felt c

tains is a mo bright, but no Accordion | delicate colors mounted upon

at the top wit

especially suit

and show grea ation is a ruch with loops of v with frills of ri

Travelling d have a place i outfit. The p over, but the t neither of which

Point of Ara are very popul On

We hear p gowns as if the that import go find a single go willing to wear ed to your idea of so called imp tions from imp form to Americ ed gowns.

Blue and red this spring. A better effect t would be cleare the color on the dress the coat l a flat, fitted bar and the skirt he ed with red.

The converse the table during of great educati esting to all. w of current even usual gossip. taken up in nes plan would effe to the children portion of the many subjects v familiar are son

A Savoy spo land an especi tablespeenful oontuls o at had become of it, and in the store said that Bill h old sot who dropped in lly-had just gone out, d drunk it, supposing it a short time he came in drink that stuff in the d, and I then told him poison, and that he'd be e minutes. not,' said Bill, 'but I methin' a leetle stronger avin', for every time I I burned a hole in my Brewer, Maine, says: "I for several years. Water ny eyes and nose for days four months ago I was ingnew's Catarrhal Powder, the wonderful remedy I attack. It relieves in ten nts.—17 uncle isn't a bit nice to orrid! Why, he threat-to leave all his money to sician and sufferer alike sician and sufferer alike ten despair of a cure, but tion. Wm. Pegg, of Nor-s: "I was nearly doubled sm. I got three bottles of Rheumatic Cure and they ne quickest acting medicine ound some poker chips in old her they were cough ins, wasn't it?'

rallowed two and very

f in half ah hour. ork State, writing of her w's Cure for the Heart, te one brought back from it was my suffering from so almost miraculous my the agency of this power-owe my life to it."—19

ess: Hostess-Dear me is flagging. What car ir guests ? now, unless we leave the a few minutes, and give unacy seemed the only l-known and highly respected Ont., who had travelled over vain search for a cure for dyspepsia. A friend recom-rican Nervine. One bottle ured, and her own written ith these words: "It has

Bilks-Lucky man, that see how you make it. the took out a life insur-.000, and died six days

y tailed y.-Take them and go ess—they do their work oing yours. Dr. Agnew's ystem renovators, blood lders; every gland and ole anatomy is benefited the use of them. 40 doses

s in New York wants er husband will not talk to have, in their younger 'ass back' the teacher, poor man has felt all rican Kidney Cure treatment that has proven the evils that are likely id kidney specific in cases e, diabetes, irritation of affammation, dropsical delay.—22

of Hay Corners). 'Jist yay! them city wimmin every Easter!' Uncle ly). Well, M'riah, you bout every three or four in 3 to 6 nights. ves relief. Dr. Agnew's on for Itching Piles, or les. It relieves quickly In skin eruptions it stands housands of testimonials ce. 35 cents.-23 hat has become of Mr. ad—'He has taken em-der mill for six months.' Not at all. He wished smoking.

is a Fallacy.—The ng because you have indince been exploded. Dr.
Tablets introduced a new t of stomach troubles. It may eat his fill of anything shes, and one tablet taken the stomach in doing its cents.—24

ean to tell me that when git cold, that cold is s P' Uncle Silas—'Of d by microbes that like Chat of the Boudoir. ********

FRILLS OF FASHION.

In pretty touch on some of the new toulard gowns is a mousseline de soie scart which matches the prevailing colors in the silk. This is used in scarf ends beginning with rosettes of mousseline at either side of the front where the lace collar terminates, and falling well down on the skirt, ending in flat rosettes, of which there is another midway between. The scarf is confined at the waist line by the belt.

Art buckles, buttons and brooches are very much in evidence.

Taffeta and velvet ribbons formed into various lace-like designs are cleverly stitched in all over roses on cloth gowns.

A novel idea for a foulard gown with a lace vest is an outer vest at either side. made of white taffets silk embroidered in colored polka dots and finished down either edge with handsome silver buttons. It opens enough to show the lace down the front, shapes out round a little below the collar band, and ends in the shoulder seam and a little above the belt where it rounds off. The foulard bodics is finished with a lace berthe around the shoulders

Some of the prettiest sleeves show the under sleeve effect only at the elbows, where the sleeve is slashed and filled in with a lace or mousseline puff. Below this, as well as above, the sleeve fits closely. shaping down in a little cuff which fits over the hand. The straight-around wristband has lost some of its popularity and instead there is a shaped band with the becoming flare.

A very stunning outing hat for summe shows a felt crown and a straw brim, both white and trimmed with a soft Persian silk acarf.

Something very effective for long curtains is a moire cloth which comes in bright, but not garrish colors.

Accordion plaited muslin in any of the delicate colors makes a pretty lamp shade; mounted upon cardboard and tied around at the top with a satin ribbon. This is especially suitable for the summer cottage.

Fancy boas are one of the season's fads and show great variety. A novel combination is a ruche of plaited white chiffon with loops of white satin ribbon and lace insertion. Long scarf ends are finished with frills of ribbon and insertion.

Travelling dust coats of black taffets have a place in the fashionable summer outfit. The prettiest are tucked nearly all over, but the tucks add weight and warmth neither of which is desirable.

Point of Arabe laces in the ecru shades. are very popular for dress trimmings. One Woman's Chat.

We hear people speak of imported gowns as if there were none like them. If you should visit the best New York houses that import gowns, you would probably not guages those young women learn and it is find a single gown which you would be willing to wear until it had become adapted to your ideas. That is what hundreds of so called imported gowns are-adaptations from imported models, made to conform to American ideas, but called imported gowns.

Blue and red will be fashionable again this spring. A blue serge is trimmed with red silk, but a fine red cloth would give a better effect than the silk for its color would be clearer. There is very little of the color on the skirt. If for an outing dress the coat has red collar and revers, or a flat, fitted band of the red if collarless, and the skirt has its hem and seams stitched with red.

The conversation which takes place at feel assured that no upheavals of old lines the table during meal time could be made of great educational value as well as inter- March and April indicate the same style of esting to all, were an intelligent discussion of current events to take the place of the usual gossip. As these topics are now taken up in nearly every schoolroom the cause of a possible and direct change of the days of Louis XV. plan would effer an excellent opportunity to the children as well as to the feminine longer as autocratic as they once were, portion of the household, whose views on and though willing and anxious for a com-

of salt, beating the mixture until smooth. Then add the whites of eggs beaten to a stiff broth. Pour the mixture into a buttered mold, the inside of which should be covered with sugar. Bake in a moderate

> Chemists tell us that cheese is one of the most nutritious and, at the same time, one of the cheapest of foods. Its nutritive value is greater than meat, while its cost is much less. But this chemical aspect of the matter does not express the real value of the cheese as a tood. Cheese is eaten. not because of its nutritive value as ex pressed by the amount of proteids, fats and carbohydrates that it contains, but always because of its flavor. Now, physiologists do not find that flavor has any food value. They teach over and over again that our foodstuffs are proteids, fats and carbohydrates, and that as food flavor plays absolutely no part. But, at the same time they tell us that the body would be unable to live upon these food stuffs were it not for the flavors.

SCHOOL FOR PRINCESSES ONLY. It Is at Bangkok, Siam, and is the Only One of its Kind.

Princesses are numerous enough in Europe to suggest that a school for them might be a profitable undertaking, but it is a fact that the only institution of this kind is not in Europe, but in Asia. It is in Bangkok and is kept by an Englishwoman who looks after the intellectual and physical needs of her boarders, who are fifteen princesses belonging to the royal family of Siam. Like other less aristocratic young lady boarders, they are allowed to return te their homes on Friday and remain until the time for their classes to begin on Monday. Then they are returned to the care of their English teacher by the servants of the family.

They learn only elementary reading and writing at school, and, indeed, rarely progress beyond these elements of education at any time in their lives. But they learn fully the mysteries of cooking, making beds, preparing poultices for the sick and attending to other details of household life. They practice with enthusiasm the art of writing menus in French, they experiment in dress ing the table with flowers and learn a kind of first-aid-to-the-injured system adapted to their country. Astronomy and the exact sciences have not yet reached this country of unemancipated womanhood. But the education they receive is the best kind to suit them for their work in life as they step from the school to the head of their husbands' establishments.

These royal pupils range in age from 10 to 15 years. This latter age is beginning to betoken the old maid in Siam and there are few of that age in the school. On Friday the nurses from the royal palace reenforced by other female attendants and guards, begin to arrive at the school to escourt their mistresses back to their homes. Here they remain until the same domestic delegation marches them back to their English teacher on Monday. In the mean time she had all the work requiring masculine participation attended to during the absence of the pupils. For men are never allowed to approach the building while the roval young ladies are inside. No masculine eye not related by blood to them is allowed to fall on their artless Siamese beauty until after marriage.

fashions have through this English schoolteacher's influence been introduced to the court of the Siam, where the French and English cuisines bave made their way in spite of Oriental prejudice. This has, of course, come from the early education of the young princesses in their royal boarding school. This much they have learned of the Europeans. But it is said that no ambition to imitate the women of the Western world has ever reconciled them to sitting in chairs in preference to on the floor.

Bodice and Shirt Lines.

Whatever new manifestations of gown modishness are to come later, women may are to take place, as the early models for skirts and bodices as those in use.

This is most solacing news to those who teared the loss of this season's gown beskirt and bolero. Foreign makers are no same lines season after season, says Vo-A Savoy sponge is considered in Eng- | gue. Women are more conservative and | ber of Deputies, who was recently married.

them. These are influences quietly at going to be married on the 13:h of the work in high places.

THINGS OF WILLOW. Whole Rooms Fitted Nowadays With Equipment of this Material.

'Surely,' said a willow worker, 'you are quite right in considering articles of willow as among beautiful things. They are graceful and light, and at the same time substantial and durable.

'Things made of willow finished in the natural color of the wood look cool and charming and they have an appearance of delightful freshness that is found in no other material that I know of. Of course the willow is delicate in its whiteness, and in this state it would in a season lose its first velvety sort of freshness.

But willow takes stains beautifully, the tans and greens and other colors that are most appropriate to it, and willow furni-ture finished in these tints is scarcely less pleasing to the eye than that made of the material in its original purity.

'Reeds, growing, as you know, of uniform dimensions, can be prepared for use in basketwork largely by machinery. but this would not be true as to willow. Machinery is used to some extent in preparing willow for use, as for instance in cutting the surface strips that are plaited into table tops and that sort of thing, but willow rods round willow, cannot be handled in that manner. The rods are not uniform in dimensions from end to end -they taper : nor are the rods absolutely uniform in size one with another. These must all be worked by hand. As a matter of fact many strips, too are still cut in that way. With the materials for them thus prepared and carefully hand-wrought as they are throughout, it would seem reasonable to describe these beautiful things of willow as productions of art.

'Many baskets one sort and another in the almost endless variety of forms and manner of ornamentation into which baske work is put, come from Germany; but France is yet nevertheless as it has always been, the home of the artistic in backet work. We make however, now, beautiful things in basket work in this country and in articles of utility and things of more or less practical character, combining use with decoration or ornamental efficts, we make here things quite as fine as are produced anywhere; as in all manner of willow furniture and fittings and so on.

'All these things we produce in the most raceful style, and the most comfortable style, and the most comfortable shapes. Ot course willow and rattan chairs and that sort of thing are old, time honored; but we make them all now in greater variety than formerly; we make a greater variety of things than we did, and people go in for these things more than ever, more particularly, of course, in country houses.

Rattan has been more used for some of these purposes, but now, again, we use more willow; and there is nothing but what can be made of this material. It is easily possible to turnish a room with it. We make bedsteads of willow, and, of course, an endless variety of chairs and lounges and that sort of thing, including tables. We make willow bureaus and chiffoniers and willow wall panels and picture frames and willow chandeliers and gas fix tures and so on. In fact, in all but the floor coverings, for which mattings are used, we can furnish rooms co uplete.

French and English are the two lan- 'And,' said the willow man, in conclusion while this might not be the cheapest outafter the fashion prevailing in these two fit you could buy, I don't suppose you countries that they acquire their ideas of could buy, I don't suppose you could find European life and manners. Some of these anything cooler, more comfortable or more pleasing to the eye.'

The New Corsets.

In regard to corsets, the essential thing in order to obtain 'the line,' is to mould the figure according to laws of modern aesthetics. At the present moment fashion ordains above everything, perfect ease and freedom to the waist. Wasp waists are completely out of fashion when they are obtained by modes of compression which force up the bust and make the hips project. A straight front a graceful curved line and a long waist are what is required.

The part played by the new corset is to do away with all projections by supporting the bust, rounding the waist and throwing back on each side all superfluity. And it is astonishing what results can be obtained by means of curves skilfully managed by the scientific use of whalebone and other ingenious methods. Fashion has come back to the graceful and supple figure of month, the Parisians rolled their eves so unanimously that the entire city had symptoms of an epileptic fit. But the fiances had their reasons.

A Thirteen Wedding.

The number 13, which give some people chanel, the president of the French Cham.

They were both born on the 13th day of the month. M. Deschanel was born Feb. 13. I856; Mlle. Germaine Brice April 13, 1876. The name and surname of the bridegroom contain 13 letters. There is the same number in the bride's names.

The two met in Florence when M. Des chanel was travelling incognito under the name of Pierre Duclaux-another 13 letters. It was on the 13th of January that Mile Brice formally consented to the marriage and it was on the 13th of February hat the ceremony took place.

Thirteen years from now the Deschanels will probably be able to state positively whether the number has really been a lucky one for them.

THE MYSTERIOUS DEWETT. Some of the Tales That are Told of Him by

It was early in the month of May, 1900, that Christian De Wett first began to impress the force of his character upon the english military mind, when the great army under Lord Roberts was in full sweep of its northward pilgrimage. Along the line of the railway there was little opposition, but to the eastward the dogged and determined Boer fighter was hanging on the rear of General Hamilton's division, engaging him in almost daily actions, harassing transport and rearguard. Since then it I have heard one English officer I have heard a score express the hope that De Wett would come out of the war alive.

Between Natal Spruit and Sanderton, De Wett, according to a recent Boer story, while endeavoring to move northward, found his transport headed by a large body of British troops. What did he do but approach the camp after dark, following the main road, and he drove his waggons straight through the camp. He was hailed, but enquired for some detachment of the British that was farther on, and was allowed to pass. The only objection that was made to his progress was one made by a group of officers dining near the roadway, who did not like the dust his waggon-wheels were making, I have heard this tale denied, but I tell it as it was told to me (I got it from a Boer source).

When General De Wett had made that emarkable march of his and crossed the Rustenburg road west of Pretoris, he was headed off about eighteen miles north at the Warm Baths. The evening before the army was jubilant, for it was supposed that they had the wily Boer on the hip. They had effectually prevented him joining forces with Botha. They had, so they supposed, cut off his escape southward, and there was nothing for him but to stand and fight or to break up his force into small parties and disappear into the bush veldt. At midnight all of the English troops were called suddenly to arms, and they stood in ranks until daybreak.

From the direction of De Wett's lasger they could hear sounds of much stirring and movement, the continual rattle o wheels, and the shouts of the Kaffir drivers. Something was up; what it was no one could tell. The Boers appeared to be confused, and it was whispered about cording to the captain he was most kind that they had lost their way and and just. He had his men well in hand and might stumble upon the outposts at any they respected and feared him. The otinute. The British advance lines stood with their rifles ready. Every one was ready for a midnight attack, and supposed at least that the action would begin at the crack of dawn.

But when the sun rose what did they find? About forty empty wagons dragged by a few played-out oxen, had been driven and thumped around in a circle all night ! A score of black boys and a half dozen white men were all prisoners taken. De Wett had escaped, and had managed to take most of his light carts with him along the top of the flanking ridge, and had actually rounded the end of the British line and was some twenty miles away retracing his steps towards the Vaal. At least, that is what he was actually doing at the time, but the English did not find it out quickly enough to pursue him. He got almost twenty-four hours' start!

Two nights after a watchman on guard at a railway crossing about twelve miles west of Johannesburg, on the Krugersdorp line, was surprised by the appearance of a trooper in a helmet and the uniform of a mounted infantryman, who asked his way to the Florida station. The sentry turned to point down the line, when he was confronted by a cocked revolver.

'Keep quiet,' said the supposed Tommany subjects with which they should be plete change of models, they are obliged to humor their patrons by repeating the had no terrors certainly for M. Paul Desthat he relieved the astonished man of his rifle, and, in true story paper fashion, A Savoy sponge is considered in England an especially dainty dessert. Beat insistent, whenever they find what is be lightly the yolks of three eggs, add four tablespeenful of powdered sugar, two tablespeenful of cornstarch and a pinch abandon the main lines when they suit

ber of Deputies, who was recently married.

Neither was his finance afraid of it. In fact both the bride and groom thought it a lucky number.

TO THE DEAF.—A rich lady, cured of her some men appeared from behind a near fact both the bride and groom thought it a lucky number.

When they announced that they were

TO THE DEAF.—A rich lady, cured of her
some men appeared from behind a near fact both the bride and groom thought it a lucky number.

When they announced that they were

TO THE DEAF.—A rich lady, cured of her
some men appeared from behind a near fact both the bride and groom thought it a lucky number.

When they announced that they were a long train of Cape carts and led horses, Institute, 780 Eight Avenue, New York. gave three low whistles. Immediately

Tonight

If your liver is out of order, caus Biliousness, Sick Headache, Heart burn, or Constination, take a dose of

Hood's Pilla

On retiring, and tomorrow your gestive organs will be regulated and you will be bright, active and ready for any kind of work. This has been the experience of others; is will be yours. HOOD'S PILLS are sold by all medicine dealers. 25 cts.

came down the road and crossed the railway. It took them almost half an hour to go by. The sentry judged they must have been in the neighborhood of 2,000, with at least eighty carts. When all had passed, the watchman's guardian said to him pleasantly:

'Your relief will come to you in about an honr. It you stir from where you are until two minutes before that time you are a dead man, for there is a sure shot with a rifle watching you from the corner of the shed. You can inform your officer that Christian De Wett and his army passed by here at twenty minutes to one.

The man, whose rifle was taken from from him, declares that shortly before the time for the relief came, he heard a man gallop away from the shed near by. Upon that, he walked into the camp, distant about a mile, and gave the alarm.

The same evening it was reported that another small party of Boers had crossed the main line heading north, and the post at Natal Spruit had been captured at daybreak and the bridge blown up. With which party was General De Wett it would be hard to state. I think myself he was with the one to the eastward, for the simple reason that he had led the English to believe he was with the one to the west.

When De Wett captured all the supplies and the huge quantities of ammunition and clothing at Vredefort Weg, he said to his prisoners; 'Now we have got more than we want-turn to and help yourselves. And soon Dutch and British we busy looting indiscriminately, taking everything they could get. A burgher and a 'Tommy almost came to blows over the possession of a camera that was being sent to an officer through the post. The mail pouches were all ripped open, and the veldt for miles around was covered with letters and newspapers. Some of these were afterwards gathered up and reached the proper authorities. Strange to say, among them was one of my own, which was tied up carefully and forwarded several weeks later, with the following remarks: "Found on the veldt and forwarded to destination."

When the Boers marched away, it was hard to tell captors from captives, for they all wore brand new winter suits of khaki serge and a sort of pea jacket of yellowish dun, called 'British warms.' In the mean t me, twelve thousand troops at Pretoria shivered in the cold, for what he and his prisoners left behind De Wett had burned.

Captain Corballis, who was in charge of the big transport train which was captured en route to the relief of the Highland Brigade under General Macdonald, told me something of De Wet's personality. According to the captain he was most kind army, possessed in common what was known as a mess cart, a light wagon or two wheeled trap, capable of carrying some six or seven hundred pounns, and usually laden with delicacies not down on the ration list. As the Boers were examining their capture, which was some fifty or sixty wagons, they came upon this valuable prize. But upon hearing that it belonged to the officers and was their private possession, Gen. De Wet put a guard over it. and not a thing was touched. That very day, as the officers were lunching on jam and pickles and pate de foie gras, they observed one or two men squatted about a fire near by, frying some bully beet in a skillet.

It was General De Wet's headquarters mess, and one of the Englishmen at once went over and asked the general if he would not come and lunch with them. At first he declined, but, upon all his staff being included in the invitation, he accepted and joined them.

and joined them.

Strange to say, the conversation was not about war, but of farming and the possibilities of irrigation. Later, however he expressed some of his views to one of the prisoners. He said that he knew the Boers had no chance of being victorious, but he intended to do his best 'to make it the most expensive war England ever attempted.' He has pretty well fulfilled his threat by this time.—James Barnes, in London Mail.

THE STATE OF THE S Adventures of a Diver. 2

much more generally than is the case with ngs. The son of an expert diver oldom looks outside of the home profession for his life work. In a certain family owning their own home in one of the silps by the East River there have been three generations to wear rubber suit. There are hundreds of divers working with the big wrecking companies who are fereigners, Swedes and Norwegians, who embarked in the calling more or less thoughtlessly and with no particular ambitions regarding But the New York divers in business for themselves are for the most part respon sible citizens liking the work for its own sake and proud of any reputation they may have gained in it.

On days when the wind is very high or it is unusally cold these divers de not work but put in their time cementing patches on their suits or making up their accounts by the hospitable stove that it a fea ure of the front office. Then is the time that they can be induced to unlock their store of experenices and afford glimpses of the everyday ordinary affairs in the diver's world.

I know the under water tracks of the barbor and the rivers about here as well as I know the city streets,' said the conservative east river driver one day. 'I have trudged up the bed of the east river more than once, and only lately went hunting tor some car wheels that had tumbled off a freight boat. They were thought to have been lost somewhere between Thirty. tourth street and the Battery and the whole distance had to be gone over.

The wheels were valuable. There were thirty of them to be hunted up and it wasn't a light job. The cables in the river hang seven, eight and ten feet from the bottom. The diver might walk under them but for the life line. I climbed over busy. every cable on the route and my man holding the signal rope in the boat that went it took considerable caution to execute. along with me had to use great care. I I was sore in every joint.

This is a great business for locating cranks,' he added after a while. 'Visionary, flighty-minded people are always hitting on some scheme by which the asures of the deep are to be turned into their hands. I went hunting once for Lake Erie copper in fourteen fathoms of water. My employer was a private party, an inventor much interested in the subject of lost cargoes. He came on to New York to engage me purposely because I had a reputation for doing very thorough

'He said that there was good proof that 350 tons of copper had gone down in a cer-tain boat in Lake Eric thirty five years ago and that he had invented an instrument guaranteed to point out the exact spot where the copper could be found. My part was to go down to the bettom at the place indicated, nail the copper with my spear and send up enough of it to the pat to be used as a sample. He offered boat to be used as a sample. He offered fair pay, and said he had gone over the records so eften and so theroughly that he as alin of land there owned by the Gov. to the location which his needle would show us.

Well be chartered a fine boat and we went out to a place on the Lake about ten or twelve miles from the town of Erie and fished around persistently for three whole days at the point where the treasure was supposed to be. But no sort of wrecked car-ge could I find, no trace of either boat or copper. Each time that I expressed myself as being certain there was no cargo to be found, my empleyer would say that the instrument had given a new tracing and we must move the boat in a certain direction and try again. His faith was something that would not be downed. At last realising that there was no copper, but that I had to stay below the surface in order to satisfy my man I took to fishing.

Fish show great curiosity about a diver They swim round close as if trying to make him out by getting new points of view. That time there were numerous striped base interested in me. It was as though they were fascinated, or else were m me. I amused myself by ing until they were on a level with my head-gear, staring me straight in the eyes, and then spiking them with the spear I was to have hit the copper with. I got seven or eight of the beauties and tied them on to the harling up rope, and when I appeared on the top with that fine catch the beat bouted 'Hurrah?' The inventor himself ate seme of the fish when they

The diver's vocation descends in families | "This lost-cargo fiend had risked all he was worth in getting out his invention and in hiring and equipping the boat. It was, his expectation to realize enough on the copper deal to make up for all expenses. Later he showed me how cleverly the instrument could locate a couple of nickles flung out haphazard in a vacant lot, but he agreed that as a locater of copper sunk in fourteen fathems of water for thirty years the invention was a disappointment.

The valuable diver is one who has learned the principles of stone masonry and building before he took up diving. He is hired to examine the abutments of bridges and seawalls and look into the underpinnings of waterside structures and decide whether they need repairing. He is educsted and alive to the value of new inventions and reads the engineering journals for new developments.

The other sort of diver does merely the drudgery of the trade. He is put to put of p drudgery of the trade. He is put to piling been done or deep foundations are to be laid. He is really an under water workman of a similar caliber to the hod carrier and coal heaver ashore, except that his movements are more difficult because of his dress. The superior diver will work at depths anywhere from seventy to ninety feet, whereas those less proficient will not go below thirty-five feet.

'The best paying undertakings nowadays such as the raising of a great liner or the removing of some conspicuous obstruction, all go to the organized companies,' said the expert diver.' The big wrecking houses have cut a good deal into the business of the individual divers, but still there is much work that demands care and tact and a man of known ability always keeps

'Only lately my son and I had a job that along with me had to use great care. I lighter with dynamite abeard had been located the wheels, but when I got home abandoned and sunk in the Hudson River. The authorities wanted the stuff done away with. Two separate companies of divers had investigated the matter and declined to undertake the removal before we took hold. The dynamite was in 196 fifty pound packages atowed away in with a cargo of coal bound for the State capital. There were several dozen boxes of gunpowder aboard also, a peculiar mixture that war-ranted a man's feeling when he tackled the game that it wasn't exactly worth the can-

'It is not known what became of the lighter's captain and men, but it seems they must have been sharpers smuggling the dynamite under the head of coal so as to evade the !laws regarding explosives. Prebably when they got wind that the authorites were on to their game they sunk the lighter as the best way out of the scrape ernment. We only made use of sufficient of the coal cargo to run our boats at the time; the rest is on the bettom yet. Some day we'll make a river man happy by giving him directions where he can get some fuel for nothing. The raising of that dynamite, although it sounds easy enough to tell of, wasn't an undertaking that we would want to tackle every day.'

The grandfather in this notable family of divers was an expert in underwater affairs at Dublin port long before he emigrated to New York and took up the business here. He educated his son to succee him in his business. The old man's first diving dress and helmet are kept as heirlooms and the grandson has also a picture of the diving bells in which his father, the a small bey, used to be taken down to see the wonders of the deep.

Black Ever Popular.

That black in the fashionable world will take high place against all the colors in fashion's brilliant rainbow is an indisput-able fact. Black is considered very approp riate for every occasion, and for won every age and degree. Well worn, it rarely fails to bestow a certain distinction, and it is a safe selection where ideas respecting celors, are crude or uncertain. It is however, an indispensable condition—if the best effect is to be obtained—that the material shall be of the best of its kind, and the making (however simple) above represent. These exactions fulfilled, there is nothing more to be said, unless, indeed, the admiration of the beholder finds ex-

It is true that special colors are more or less amiably disposed toward some individuals than others are, but there are times when one feels out of humor with a favorite dye, just as one wearies of a companion who persistently agrees with one. A little contradiction is more enlivening than eternal complacency, which often acts as a mental irritant, says the S:. Louis Republic. No one wishes to dine entirely on plum pudding.

Love of change dictates a trial of the less familiar, the less or the more conventional. The woman who looks superlative-ly well in blue or brown does not wish to dress solely in that color, and in certain moods may take a dislike to it. Black seldom adds to the youthful appearance of the wearer, and, yet nearly all men and most women consider that a handsome black gown, richly trimmed and gracefully made, heads the lists for general demi-dress uses of all the smart and stylish creations in the realm of modern fashion.

TRAIN HIT A BALLUON.

grade we were going a clip that would make the Empire State Express look like a dingy old stage coach in comparison. thought it was up to me to jack 'em up again. Accordingly I put the air over in the service position, but b'thunder it had no more effect on those flying cars than a thimble of whiskey on a Kentucky Colonel. They just kept on coming and shoving my Mother Hubbard engine along ahead of 'em at about a seventy mile an hour pace. I reached up for the whistle rope to pass s tip to the train crew in the dog house that they'd better get out and twist up a few brake wheels when ca smash we went into

'Some darned kind of a rubbery blanket enveloped my cheese box cab and came down over the windows, just as if some They would have got several years in prison it caught.

I made a frantic jerk at the whistle valve, but instead of the sonerous sound it us. but instead of the sonerous sound it us-ually handed off, the noise it gave out then was like the shrick of a penny horn. You but I had kept it on so long for a service application that the pressure was all out of the train pipe and it was like throwing straws under the car wheels. There was 'nothing doing' with the air.

'I was getting mighty scared because I didn't know what kind of a game we'd butted into. The rubber covering had settled down ever the cab windows and was shutting off the outside atmo from me so that I could hardly breathe and I surely thought I would suffocate unless I got relief somehow. No one on the train, not even my fireman, knew what dire straits I was in. I made several ineffe attempts to get out of the cab, but the rubber blanket had me completely cut off.
'I tried the whistle again, but it was mothered so by its covering that it hardly gave forth any sound at all. I had about given up hope when I heard the pop valve on the dome commence to blow off steam. At first this added greatly to my discomfort, but I realized that my only hope would be in having the safety valve blow off steam. At first this added greatly to my discomfort, but I realized that my only hope would be in having the safety valve blow off steam with sufficient pressure of lift the rubber covering.

Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Exntains no acids or other inju contains no acids or other injurious of ical compounds; is neither caustic, o save or irentating; but soothes and from the first application, and acts, qui If you want an irritating and flesh o remedy do not ask for Pulnamis, in just the other way. For sale at all or critical

WEATHER.

IS YOUR SYSTEM IN SHAPE TO CARRY YOY SAFELY THROUGH.

he Practice Of Taking A Tonic In Spring Is Descended From Our Wise; Ferefathers and Has Good Medical Endersement —A Few Suggestions Regarding Health

ers and Has Good Medical Endersement
—A Few Suggestions Regardies Health
The practice of taking a tonic during the inclement weather of early spring is one that has been bequeathed us by our foretathers, who lived in days when a sturdy constitution and vigorous health meant even more than they do today. The custom has the highest medical endorsement, and the healthiest people are those who follow it. Thousands, not really ill, need a tonic at this season. Close confinement in badly ventilated houses, offices, shops and school rooms during the winter months, makes people feel depressed and 'out-of-sorts'. Nature must be assisted in throwing off the poison that has accumulated in the system, else people fall an easy prey to disasse and are subject to many discomforts from boils, cruptions, and similar troubles. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best tonic medicine known to medical science.
These pills make rich, red blood and strong nerves. Through their use in springtime, TRAIN HIT A BALLOON.

The Fat Engineer of a Fast Freight Describes the Queer Celliston.

'One pitchy, dark night, early last summer," said the fat engineer, wiping his long-necked oil can with a piece of waste, 'I was coming east with a fast freight. As we were approaching the top of Pecane Hill I noticed some kind of a light moving way up in the sky. First I thought it was a new star, but as the sky was all beclouded and I ceuld see no other stars, I concluded that I was mistaken. The light seemed to be descending, but as we pitched over the top of the hill I dismissed the matter from my mind, having more important matters to attend to.

'The further along we got the darkness and fog seemed to thicken. I was a little bit skittish about going down the hill with that heavy train such a night and as the train dropped over the top of the decline I soaked the air on a little, to ease 'em off.

Then I thought it was no use slowing up, if I didn't make time with the fast freight they'd take me off and put me on the pick-up again. So I put the air brake handle back in running position again and let the care behind me set the pace.

'Atter we got about a mile down the grade we were going a clip that would make the Empire State Express look like a dingy old stage coach in comparison.

THE NEW GAME OF 'PUT OUT! Invented by Gearhart, a Louisville Athlete
It is Played in Western Gymnasiums.

A new game, in which are combined some of the best points of football and tug of war has been invented recently by Wilbur F. Gearbart, athlete of Louisville.

'Put Out' is the name of this new style of contest. It requires no ball or other ap-paratus, can be played by any number of persons, for any length of time, in or out of doors and at any season of the year.

It is a contest in which skill, agility, strength and endurance are important factors, and for that reason gymnasium and athletic associations in the west are giving it much attention. Several New York regiments and athletic clubs have become interested in it and soon will have teams drilled and ready for games. In effect, the game is the defense of a circle or fort by one team against an equal number of men on the other team.

1. Put out may be played by any number of players mutually agreed upon by the opposing teams.

2. The length of an inning shall be governed by the time required by an attack-ing team to put on a defending team. 3. The boundary for a regulation game shall consist of a circle 28 feet in diameter distinctly marked, inside of which shall be two smaller circles, respectively 21 and seven feet in diameter, marked parallel with the boundary circle.

4, The innings of the first play [may be decided by 'toss' or mutual consent of both

5. At the opening of a game players of the attacking team shall stand with both heels upon the inner circle, and at regular distances apart, facing the outer circle, with bodies erect and arms held to the sides. Players of the defending team shall eccupy corresponding positions on the middle circle but they shall face the centre. 6. When the players are in position the eferee may open the game by distinctly ounding the word 'put,' after which the sounding the word put, and attack and defense may immediately begin. 7. Catching hold of any player above the shoulder or below the hips shall be

8. Catching hold et any part of the bedy of a player below the shoulders and above the hips is fair. 9. Holding the arms of a player is fair;

but twisting or roughing of any description that is injurious to a player is feul.

10. A detending player who talk down during a play shall be considered out unless he has been tripped or thrown by an attacking player.

11. When any part of the person of a defending player touches the ground out-side of the boundary circle, he shall be

12. When a player is out he shall in mediately withdraw from the game until the inning he has been put out of is finish-

13. Attacking players may step ove the boundary circle at will and return to assist it the attack

14. Each inning shall be continued un-til all the players of the detending team are put out, or until a time limit is reach-

15. The time limiting inning shall be mutually agreed upon by both teams be-fore the game is called.

16.—The opposing teams shall alternately occupy the offensive and defensive positions after each inning until the series of innings originally agreed upon shall have been played.

17. The team making the aggregate number of put outs in the shortest shall be deemed the winner.

18. For regulation games there shall be appointed a referee, a judge and a

19. It shall be the duty of the referee to call off outs as they are made and to decide all points of dispute. His decision shall be final. 20. The judge shall note the actions of players inside the boundary circle and he shall enforce the rules bearing on them.

21. The timer shall time each inning and at the expiration of the game give the total time taken for all the innings by each

A Lesson From America

During the Paris Exposition an American firm obtained permission to drive an Artesian well in the Bois de Vincennes near Paris. The city of Paris has two Ar tesian wells which required respectively aine and six years to be driven. The American well was sunk to a nearly equal depth, 1,935 feet last summer in two months. The French were surprised by the rapidity of the work, as well as by the homeliness and simplicity of the apparatus.

The American company has since effered to donate the well to Paris as an addition to its water supply, and some of the French scientific journals express the hope that the practical lesson which the New World thus offers gratutitously will not be without its fruit.

Special From Kingston, Ontario.

Special Frem Kingston, Ontario.

Kingston, April 6.—It is a pleasure to announce that a new 25 cent size of Catarrhozone is new on sale in every drag store in Canada. This is the only remedy that can be implicitly relied upon to cure-Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis. It cures quickly, surely, permanently. Relief from Catarrhozone is quick. Nose, throat, head and lungs are cleared at one breath from the inhaler. Try it today for that cold. Prepared by proprietors of Polson's Nerviline, and guaranteed to cure or your money back.

A summer resident in a New Hampshire village a lady who, in Horace Walpole's phrase, 'site at the top of the world ' wee making her first friendly call of the season upon the family of an old widower. Only the father was at home, one of the

The accompanying rules show how the girls being absent on a visit to the other sister, who had been married during the past winter. Naturally the talk turned on the daughters.
'Yes,' said the father, Mary made out real well. But I do' know's I'll ever work 'Lizbeth off. There's a young man been cemin' here steady now for two year, an he's no further on yet, ma'am, than me 'n'

It was in the village justices's court, and and the incumbent of the office had fined en Indian for intexication. The fine was duly paid, and the justice was reaching for bis overcoat. 'Hol' on,' said the Indian, 'me want receipt.' 'What in the werld de-you want a receipt for P' said the 'squire. Well, bimby, Injun die—ago to the Great Father up there. Great Father say, John have you been good Injun an' paid all your debts ?' I say, 'Yes.' Then he say, 'Show me receipt. I get to go all the way down to hell to find Square Martin to get that

THE PRESIDENT.

A Slave to Catarrh.

Br. Agnews Catarrhal Powder Relieves in 10 Minutes.

D. T. Sample, President of Se Instalment Company, Washington, writes: "For years I was afflicted Chronic Catarrh. Remedies and treat by specialists only gave me temporalist antil I was induced to use Dr. &c Catarrhal Powder. It gave almost i relief." 50 cents.

'Don't kn ginning wit stops short his face gra-'Oh! what feet. 'Got what is the For an it with a swift his arms, b rests upon rests upon 'Nilla,' h leave you for to town alm

I feel stue and bending with wide-o
What care Oh, surely stalse!
'My darli look at me leme. How 'Aunt K telegram free 'No, she answers qui most drives shall know shall have to with a gage myself stepping babetween us, ent indignate He is sure me.

And yet, ing expressi tled in his e do not mean iation upon You are onl turns passio selt, be very But I canno ative one, ar Quietly—Gordon ans ness of his to How dare such a humil I will never I will ave pride, even i termination, my husband

'I suppose induce you to coldly, by w to speak.
'You know answers in Good heave leave you ?' 'Your con body that im 'You shall for it is fall.
The next this planned to h How alar turn mocking lessons in the What on Simply the gram is und which people want to slip gagement, ar 'That will perious gest enough, and very hard to 'Forgive!' that we are o this: If you duct, it you do pose doing, I so saying, I s What shall

It seems to the bitter hun
Having dre
the sitting roo
tently examin He glances but ere he can and, offering into the adjoin To me, at trying one, when it is ove the drawing r I am determing think his department of the trying and the trying that are concerned I would jus his company;

is suffering so So, sitting to a brilliant; anxiety.
Presently a strokes, and s door leading pushed open, passed open, passed open, 'Nilla,' he

But instead He permits through it, an movement, he and closes the liminary co

'How dare 'Why didn' I wished to sp ignore my with 'And what ensidered out unor thrown by an

the person of a the ground out-cle, he shall be the game until

be continued un-defending team a limit is reach-g inning shall be both teams beams shall altere and defensive until the series reed upon shall

g the aggregate e shortest time y of the referee are made and to te the actions of ry circle and he ring on them.

time each inning he game give the innings by each ition an Ameriion to drive an red respectively be driven. The to a nearly equal re surprised by as well as by the of the apparatus. as since effered as an addition me of the French the hope that h the New World ill net be without on, Ontario. is a pleasure to 5 cent size of the in every drug the only remedy ied upon to cure-nobitis. It cures ty. Relief from Nose, throat, ed at one breath t today for that today for that istors of Polson's to cure or ye

New Hampshire orace Walpole's the world ' wee all of the sesson widower.

home, one of the visit to the other arried during the talk turned on

Mary made out s I'll ever work young man been r two year, an^F 'am, than me 'n^F ices's court, and . The fine was was reaching for said the Indian, t in the world de said the 'squire. go to the Great Father say, John an' paid all your n he say, 'Show all the way down rtin to get that atarrh. l Powder Reinutes.

IDENT.

ent of Sample's schington, Pa., as afflicted with es and treatment temperative re-use Dr. Agnewis

(Communo From Territ Page.)

Don't know, I'm sure,' Gordon is beginning with a smile, when all at once he stops short, the smile leaves his lips, and his face grows positively awful in its pallor.

Oh! what is if! I cry, springing to my feet. 'Gordon, for pity's sake, tell me what is the matter!'

For an instant he is still silent, then, with a swift movement, he draws me into his arms, bending over me until his cheek rests upon my hair.

'Nilla,' he says, in a hoarse, passionate voice. 'Oh! my darling, I shall have to leave you for a few hours; I must return to town almost at once.'

I feel stunned—yes, literally stunned—and bending my head back, I gaze at him with wide-open, dilated eyes.

What can he mean? He must leave me! Oh, surely my ears must have played me false!

'My darling, for Heaven's sake do not look at me like that.' he cries; you un man me. How can I tell you what—

'Annt Kate?' I falter. 'Is—is the telegram from—or about her?

'No, she has nothing to do with it,' he answers quickly. 'It is—my dearest, it almost drives me mad to tell you, but you shall know the truth, the bitter truth. I shall have to leave you for a tew hours.'

With a passionate movement I disengage myself from his clinging arms, and stepping back until I have placed a chair between us, I stand regarding him in silent indignation.

He is surely only -saying this to tease

ent indignation.

He is surely only saying this to tease

And yet, he certainly does not look as if

And yet, he certainly does not look as if joking; rather the contrary, for all the brightness has left his face, and a haunting expression of pain and misery had settled in his eyes.

'You do mean it,' I gasp at last. 'You do not mean to inflict such a cruel humiliation upon me, as you have hinted at? You are only saying it to tease me. I am sure you are. It cannot be true.'

'I wish to heaven it was not true,' he returns passionately. 'If I could help myself, he very certain that I would not go. But I cannot. The summons is an imperative one, and it must be obeyed.'

'Who is that telegram from?' I demand. 'My lawyer.'

Quietly—nay, slmost apathetically—

'My lawyer.'
Quietly—nsy, slmost apathetically—Gerdon answers me, and the very quietness of his tone only adds to the fury of the volcano which is raging within my heart. How dare he offer me such an insult,

How dare he offer me such an insult, such a humilitation?

I will never forgive him for it—never.

I will avenge myself and my outraged pride, even if I die in attempting to do so.

And, having arrived at this valiant determination, I forthwith proceed to make my husband acquainted with it too.

'I suppose that nothing I can say will induce you to alter your purpose?' I ask coldly, by way ef opening the attack, so to speak.

to speak.
'You know I would stay if I could,' he answers in a hoarse, suppressed voice.
'Good heavens! do you think I want to leave you?'
'Your conduct would certainly give anybody that impression,' I retort.

'You shall not say it,' with sudden fire,

You shall not say it, with sudden fire, 'for it is false, as you very well know. The next thing you will insinuate is that I planned to have that telegram sent.'
'How alarmingly clever you are !! I return mockingly; 'or have you been taking lessons in; thought-reading?'
'What on earth do you mean?'
'Simply that you have put my thoughts into words. I was thinking that that telegram is uncommonly like one of those which people have sent them when they want to slip out of some disagreeable engagement, and se——'
'That will do,' he interrupts, with an imprious gesture. 'You have said quite enough, and have uttered words I shall find very hard to forgive.'
'Forgive!' I flash out scornfully. 'And do you really flatter yourself that I care whether you forgive them or not? Pray allow me to undeceive you. And now that we are on the subject, I will tell you this: If you persist in your shameful con-

the drawing room again.

I am determined that Gordon shall not think his departure wounds me in the least; nor does it, as far as my personal feelings

e concerned. I would just as soon have his absence as his company; it is simply my pride which is suffering so keenly, not myself.

So, sitting down at the piane, I dash into a brilliant galop by way of testifying to my utter indifference and freedom from anxiety.

Presently a clock chimes out ten bell-like strokes, and as the last one dies away, the door leading out of the dining room is pushed open, and Gordon makes his ap-pushed open, and Gordon makes his appearance.

'Kills,' he says quietly, coming to my side, 'will you kindly cease playing for a few minutes? I want to speak to you.'

But instead of complying, I strike a few preliminary cords, and dash into a march.

He permits me to get about halt way through it, and then suddenly, with a quick movement, he lifts my hands from the keys and closes the piano.

'How dare you!' I exclaim indignantly. 'Why didn't you obey me?' he demands with the utmost calamess. 'I told you that I wished to speak to you, and you chose to ignore my wish, so——'

'And what notice do you take of my 'And what notice do you take wishes?' I demand in my turn.

'I trust that your wishes will always be my first consideration. I hope I shall always gratify them, when it is possible for me to do so,' he answers quietly. 'Heaven is my witness that it is more bitter than death itself would be for me to leave you here alone; but I cannot help doing it. Go I must. If I did not——'
'Your pocket would suffer, I suppose,' I interrupted again, with a sneer. 'I hope you will always remember that, whenever your lawyer may require you, you must not let any thought of me keep you from rushing to him.'
'You are talking nonsense, and you are perfectly aware of it too,' sternly. 'You know I love you too well to leave you unnecessarily.'

know I love you too well to leave you unnecessarily.

'Your love takes a very queer form,' with a sarcastic laugh. 'But there, what is the use of discussing the subject any further?'

With a heavy sigh he moves away to the other end of the room.

For several minutes he remains standing there; then he again crosses to my side, and lays his fingers upon my arm.

'Nills,' he says gently, 'I have only ten minutes to spare. Will you not speak one kind word to me before I go?'

'No, I will not,' I answer in clear distinct tones.

tinct tones.
'How can you be so cruel?' he breaks out passionately. Will nothing move you? Are you ulterly heartless?" "Yes, in this case I am," raising my eyes quite calmly to his.

'Am I to go without even a parting

'I would not kiss you if I knew that I was never to see you again. You are pleased to say that you love, me, but I repeat that I do not believe it and even if it is true, I want none of your love. I hate and despise it, as much as I hate and despise you, and I would rejoice with all my heart if, after you leave me to-night, you were to pass out of my life forever.'

At last I have managed to wound him, and I am glad.

Strive as he will, he cannot prevent me from seeing how sorely I have hurt his how deeply my words have struck home.

And then, suddenly, there comes floating up to us, from the room below ours, the sweet vibrating strains of a violin, played by no mean petormer, with which there presently mingles the sound of a rich contralto voice.

Distinctly, thanks to the open window 'I would not kiss you if I knew that I

Distinctly, thanks to the open window beside us, the words of the song reach our ears, as they ring out with wild passionate ears, as they ring out with wild passionate intensity—

And I melled at his bitter pain;
But to-day I would give my heart,s best hepe To hear his v. ice again.
I would barter my lite and its promise For one word that I three wavay, For one glance, one smile, I would give my all, Would he love me once more to-day.

With a soul-stirring pathetic wail the music dies away; then Gordon speaks.

'Perhaps some day, when it is too late, you will be ready to give your "all' for the love which you have this night spuned and derided,' he says quietly. 'When I first looked upon your face, with its child-like innocent expression, I compared you in my own mind to one of Raphael's Madonnas; when I first met the glance of your eyes, I told myself that though you might be proud and self-willed, yet your heart was warm and generous, and now you, my wife, have spoken words which have cut me to the very soul, and have almost made me wish that the cerementy which united us this morning had never been.'

He pauses for a moment; then, with a cold 'Good-bye, Nilla,' he walks from the room, and I am left alone, with the words of the sweet old song still ringing in my ears.

Conclusion Next Week.

CONCLUSION NEXT WEEK. BILLIARD, OURS.

How They are Made—America Furnishes the Best in Every Respect. 'Most billiard cues,' said a New York manufacturer the other day, 'are made in two pieces, the cue proper and the handle. The cue is made generally of maple, and this: If you persist in your shameful conduct, it you dare to insult me as you propose doing, I will never forgive you,' and, so saying, I swept out of the room.

What shall I do?

It seems to me that I can never get over the bitter humiliation of this hour.

Having dressed for dinner, I go back to the sitting room, where I find Gordon intently examining a Bradshaw.

He glances up from it upon my entrance; but ere he can speak, dinner is announced, and, offering me his arm, he escorts me into the adjoining room.

To me, at any rate, the meal is a most trying one, and I feel sincerely thankful when it is over, and I am free to retire to the drawing room again.

Leaderwined that Gordon shell not the shape of the handle blocks. The handle block is turned to the shape of the handle block is turned to the shape of the handle in a lathe, and, when the butt has been fitted, it is finished and polished. 'The finest and best cues are fitted to the handle or butt by means of a double wedge. At the top of the cue is a ferrule of ivory, of horn, or bone, in which the leather tip is fitted. While the ivory ferrule is the most expensive, of course it is less durable than the horn or bone ferrules which are less liable to crack. The extra workmanship on cues is put in on the butts some of which are elaborately inlaid and

A REAL DUBL.

Fought on the Plains Where Hener is Not so Easily "Estinged" as in France,

If Count Boni and the French gentlemen of his class thirsting for each other's gore really wish to know how to fight for honor's sake, let them visit Medicine Hat, N. W. T., and hear the story of how Bulldog" Kelly and Mahone, the stockman, fought for theirs. It is only necessary to say of Kelly that once in his life he figured in a celebrated international law confroversy which the United States secretary of state. Thomas F. Bavard. ended. Mahone was nothing more nor less than a frontier cattleman. He met Kelly first at Calgary, where, in a dispute over cards, an enmity arose between them. Subse quently they clashed in the Medicine Hat ountry, and Mahone w.ongfally accused Kelly of stealing stock. Kelly would have killed bim then and there but for the interference of the Canadian Mounted Police. Subsequently one of these policemen suggested to him that he challenge Mahone to a duel, and that they have it out alone. Kelly evidently thought well of the suggestion, for a day or two later, meeting Mahone in that isolated and abused town, Medicine Hat, he quietly told rim that h would meet him the next morning as the oun rose on the Toriored Trail, and prove to him with a gan that he was not a thief. Mahone nodded his head in accepta ice of the defiance, and that was all there was to the challenge.

Kelly slept in a ranch house that night, but was up before dawn saddling his horse He carried for arms two six shooters and a short hilted bear knife. He rode away from the ranch in the heavy darkness before daybreak, headed for the Tortured trail. He was a six footer, sandy haired, heavy jawed, and called 'Bulldog' beca-se he had once pitted himself against an animal of that title and whipped him in a free fight. His courage was extreme from the brute point of view. To illustrate this, years after this event, when he was on trial for his life in a murder case in one of the Western States, he was instructed by his attorney to kill one of the witnesser against him in the court room if he attempted to give certain testimony. 'You listen to him,' said the attorney, 'and if he tries to testify as to certain things let him have it.' Kelly, as a prisoner, entered the court room with a krife up his sleeve, and he sat through all the proceedings with his eyes on the man he was to watch. The latter grew restless, and when he took the stand broke down completely and did not aid the prosecution at all. He divined without knowing it that if he testified as the prosecution believed he would then and there end him. And this all took place not in a frontier court, but in a court of the United States Government 'Well, Kelly rode down the trail as gay in spirit as a man of his nature could be. He did not whistle, for whistling men are rarely brutal. But he abused his horse, and that was the best of evidence that he telt well. He watched the dark hang closer and closer to the plain grasses, the stars grow less brilliant, until suddenly in the east it was as if a curtain was drawn up and the day came with the call of wild birds and a wind which rose from the west up and the day came with the call of wild birds and a wind which rose com the west to meet the sun. He glanced toward Medicine Hat, and from that point out of the black and grey of the hour, rode Mahone, aimed as his opponent was. They were a mile apart when they recognized were and long banshee howls. There each other. Kelly reined in his horse and is no combination of letters that would waited. Mahone came on. No surgeons nor se conds were in attendance. Medicine Hat was asleep. Mahone drew nearer, moving a little to the left, as if to circle about Kelly. The latter suddenly dropped under his horse's neck and fired. His bul' let just clipped the mane of Mahone's horse. Mahone gave a wild whoop and fired back, riding, as Kelly was, Indian fashion, and looking for an opening. Both horses were now in motion, and the shots came thick and fast. Kelly's animal went down first, screaming from a bullet through his lungs. His nider intrenched behind bim. Mahone made a charge and lost his own horse, besides getting a bullet through his left arm. He, too, intrenched. In a few moments one of his shots cut a red crease across the forehead of Kelly and filled his eyes with blood. He was so dark we could not find lout what wiped himself off and tied a handkerchief had hit the cab and clung so tightly to it.

over the mark. Each was afraid to start out from his horse, but in the course of half an hour ment which stated that the proprieter of a big wagon circus would pay a liberal reawkwardness Mahone gave him a savage I had run into, and on my next frip out I cut. They hacked and stabbed at each other until neither could move, and the saw the battered remains of a big balloon lying at the foot of the embankment where small population of Medicine Hat, getting it had been loosened from the cab.'

Coffee

(1 lb. and 2 lb. cans.)

Because of its ABSOLUTE PURITY Dyspepties drink it fearlessly. It tones and strengthens the stomach.

Packed by

CHASE & SANBORN.

MONTREAL AND BOSTON.

wind of what was going on, rode out and brought them in for medical attendance. Kelly, besides his bullet wounds, had fourteen knife cuts, and Mahone bad fifteen. They were put to bed in the same room and the same doctor attended both. For days they lay almost touching each other, and neither spoke. Medicine Hat had been unable to decide which had hed the better of the fight, and it seemed as if it would be resumed if both lived to recover. But one moraing Mehone raised bimself painfully i om his mattress, and he put out his hand to Kelly and seid:

'You ain't no thief. You're game.' And Kelly covered the hand with his owa and they shook. That settled their feud. They were under the doctor's care for three months, but when able to go out rode away from Medicine Hat together and the best of friends. That was a real fight, the only hind of a fight that a real man goes into if he is going to fight at all. It was a pity that Kelly did not hold his courage after for better uses. He became involved in one of the most brutal murders known to the Calgary region, escaped the hangman's noose by technicalities, and finally in Nebraska or Wyoming fell off a boxcar one night and was ground to pieces by the wheels of a transcontinental freight.

Mahone never fought again.

TRAINMEN LEARNING ENGLISH.

Many Brakemer, Liough Still Unable to

'Greech!' shouted the brakemen on the New Haven express train. 'Nex-sta-strayz-Stam-d !

'There it goes,' seid the commuter testily. 'I thought they'd got that sort of things stamped out. New why on earth could not that man say 'Green which; the next station for this train is Stamford?' It is just as easy as that Choctaw yawp he let

But they have made a great improve ment of late years on the railroads as re gards that form of nvisance. It isn't so very long since the guards on the elevated trains made it a point to let out unintelli-gible whoops instead of calling out the names of the streets. But they have got the practice broken up now with the ex-represent the noises they make. You might get at it by pying a case of musical type and then reproducing it at random on a calliope. And Brooklyn is a place where a clear calling out of the streets is more necessary then Manhattan for in Manhat tan there are the numbered streets to give you a clue as to where you are at.

'After two or three minutes had elapsed. during which time steam had been blowing off steadily with a heavy pressure, the rubber bag began to lift and finally tore itself away, although it took with it a large section of the cab roof. I was pretty nearly exhausted, but I managed to reverse the engine and call for brakes. With the assistance of the brakemen the train was brought speedily under control and stop-ped. We made an investigation, but it was so dark we could not find | out what

'In reading the newspaper advertise ments the next morning, I saw an advertise they threw their pistels from them and came toward each other, through the grass, with their knives out. Kelly now had two stolen from a little village in the vicinity of

In the midst of busy London is a bath perfectly preserved, which is supposed by some to have been constructed during the Roman occupation of the city. One may go into the Strand without finding a trace of Strand Lane, and possibly the shopkeepers of the neighborhood may not know it by name. A writer in the sketch says that she had to inquire hither and you before obtaining the desired information. It was an old dame, seated at a newspaper stall, who was able to give it.

'Can you direct me to Strand Lane?' asked the visitor.

'Why, this is Strand Lane,' said the old Londoner. She pointed down a narrow passage, which could be easily overlooked for it is entered under a doorway, and causes no break in a continuous line of buildings. There, out of the turmoil of the great thoroughfare, and in a tortuous line of old houses, one finds a finger on the wall indicating the way to the Roman

Strand Lane follows the line of a little brook which, in old days, carried off the water from the higher land above the Strand bridge or peer. On its left side you come upon a small, dingy house, which is the object of your search. Ring the rusty bell, and presently a man appears and escorts you through a vaulted passage into a vaulted chamber, sixteen feet long and nine feet wide. In the midst of the floor is the Roman bath.

'It's two thousand years old, this bath,' says the guide. 'The Earl of Essex dis covered it when he was making a bath for himself.

At the farther end of the bath is a ledge of white marble, undoubtedly the remain of a flight of steps, leading down to the water. The water is supplied by a spring, without the medium of pipes. It bubbles up through the ground, fills the bath, passes into the bath beyond,—that of Lord Essex .- and then flows into the Thames One visitor says of a visit to Strand Lane:

'It would be pure affectation that, as I stood gazing around the vaulted chamber, I was haunted by a vision of Roman nobles and warriors in togas and breastplates. It was, on the contrary, London, that the land of the Casars had any connection with modern life. Within a few

'If Oom Paul would definitely subside, the British lion could more conveniently lie down with the Chinese lamb.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Breutsood See Pac-Simile Wrapper Be

GURE SICK HEADACHE

We were so thoroughly interested in iscussing my voyage that neither of us discussing my voyage that neither of us noticed how late it was until Swanson came in at eleven to fix the fire for the night. The doctor watched the stalwart Swede with evident admiration as he shook down with evident admiration as he shook down the big base-burner without making noise or dust, filled up the hopper and went out.

'Good night, Swanson,' said the doctor, heartily, as the man paused in the door.
'Good night, sir, said Swanson, simply.
'That,' said the doctor, as he pulled his chair up nearer the stove, 'is the best man 1 ever saw. Where did you get him?'
'He got himsel',' said I.
'How? You never told me.'
'I've never told any one. It isn't a story

I've never told any one. It isn't a story

"I've never told any ene. It isn't a story to tell promiscucusly, and il Swanson were going with me now I wouldn't tell it to you, but since he chooses to stay here, why it may help you to appreciate him.

"It was eight years ago in January that he came to me. That was the coldest weather I ever saw in Nebraska, except the spell we are having now. For two weeks the thermometer hung steadily at nineteen below, and it seemed as if everything in the state had frozen solid.

"The major was in Chucago that winter.

The major was in Chicago that winter, and I was alone in the house, except for Jack, there, who was almost as much com-pany as if se had been human. He always slept curled up behind the stowe, and I brought my bed down into the back parlor so as to be as near the fire as 'It was about three o'clock one morning that Jack woke me. He was standing in the ball by the outside door, and saying 'Ou! out!' balf under his breath, but with explosive energy.

'What is it, Jack?' I called, as I jumped out of bed and picked up my revolver.

'Ou!! ou!!' he answered.

'I ran out into the hall, and there stood the dog, with his fore paws up against the door, peering out through the little crack where the curtain did not cover the bottom of the glass. By the red firelight I could be the the beautiful the little crack. where the curtain did not cover the notion of the glass. By the red firelight I could see that the hair on his back was all stand-ing up. Just as I reached him there was a heavy step on the porch. 'Who's there? I shouted. 'What do you want ?'

'There were more heavy steps on the porch, and some one walked from the window that opened into the dining room across to the front door. Jack gave tongue with all his power, and the man stopped.

Be still, Jack !' I commanded. 'Charge!'
But for once he refused to obey. He stood up and kept growling.

'The man outside moved up to the door and said, 'Does Major Dean live here !'
Hadose' said ! What do reserve!'

'He does,' said I. 'What do you want ?'

'He does,' said I. 'What do you want?'
'I want to pay on my land.'
'The reply was so abourd at that time on such a bitter morning that I aughed. The major, you know, had been the railroad land agent, and the farmers who had bought land from the company used to come to him to make payments on their contracts. But I had never heard of a man coming in the middle of a winter night. Besides ing in the middle of a winter night. Besides business had fallen off so much that the major had given it up, and the company had not thought it worth while to get

The man waited outside the door, so I said, 'Wait a minute and you may come in.' Hastily as I could I threw on my clothes. Then I lighted a couple of lamps put one on the centre table and one on the piano, and went to the door. My revolve: was in my right hand coat pocket, where I could get it in the fraction of a second.

held his hands out to the stove a moment, farmer. Get along!

and then rubbed them together.

"Once I had work for six weeks. That and toen rubbed them together.

'Ah,' he said, 'nt's bitter cold.'

Once he shifted position in his chair.

Jack sprang forward but I caught him and made him lie down. After that the man sat still only occasionally rubbing his hands and saying that it was bitter cold. He sat there so long that finally I broke the silence. 'Well,' I said, 'you wanted to pry on

Yes,' he answered.

Have you got your contract? I asked. 'You know the contract always showed what payments had been made, and what was due.

He tumbled in his pockets a minute or two, and then stammered; 'I must have come away without it. I was sure I put it in my pocket."

'What's the description of your land? I asked, taking another tack.

He hestated a minute, then he said; 'Section sixteen-no, section nineteen-thirteen-eight.'

'The whole section P' said I.

'No, of course not,' he said. 'It's a quarter.' Then after a moment, 'I don't believe that's right, after all. I have Now imagine a Nebraska farmer forget-ting the description of his land! When you forget your street number, or he for-gets his name, he may do it, but not before. I tried again.

'How much do you owe?' I asked.

'I don't remember exactly,' he said.
think it's a little over forty dollars.'

That would be about right for a payment on forty acres, but he had said he had one hundred and sixty acres—a quart-ment on forty acree, but he had said he had one hundred and sixty acres—a quarter section,

'There was one more tack, and I tried it. 'Who are you P' I asked.

'He looked straight at me and answered without the least besitation; 'Dave Maze.'

'Now Dave Maze had been one of my good friends, but he had been dead for more than two years. I looked at the man a minute or two, and then I told him how to find the amount of his payment from his contract, and how to send it to the general land commissioner at Omaha. He thanked me, and said he would do it. Then he rubbed his hands again and repeated that it was very cold. After that he sat by the fire and I stood by the piano, and neither spoke.

'I began to be very curious about this thiet. I did not understand why he had said he wanted to pay on land, and had waited to come into the house, when he might have run away. He was a very reckless thiet, else why did he try Major Dean's house, when all the county knew that the major's home had been broken up for over a year?

'So we sat stood and growled, the man.

'So we sat, stood and growled, the man, myself and Jack, until long after the little clock in my room had struck four. Then I said: 'What is your real name?' 'He Started a bit, but gave no other sign of surprise.

'Dave Maze,' he said, as before. "Oh, no,' said I, 'it's over two years now since I followed Dave Msze's coffin to the cemetery. I knew him well. Besides, he finished paying on his land six years ago.'

The man turned to the fire again and made no answer. He waited for another quarter of an hour, and then I tried again. What was your father's name?'
'The man looked at me a full minute before he spoke. An expression of absolute despair came over his face, and somehow I was very sorry for him. He dropped his hands by his side, and answer-dropped his names by his side, and answer-ed, 'Swanson.' he said, 'what do you expect to find here? We haven't kept house in a long time, and all the silver is in the bank. I thought every one knew that.' 'Just the suspicion of a smile flitted across his face.

'I did not expect to find a big dog
'For waiting here to eat me up,' he said. 'For you, or any other man, I did not care, but the dog—that is different.' "What made you come ?' I asked.

'Swanson mode no reply. He sat and stared at the fire, and his face grew hard with the old look of despair. I waited a long time. "I suppose,' I said at last, 'that I must give you over to the police, because you are a thief. They will put you in jail a while, and then maybe they will find out where you have robbed some one, and you they price. "He swung around, facing me, and stood up. 'I'm not a thief!' he exclaimed.

'The dog jumped as Swanson started. I bad barely time to catch him as he sprang by me. 'Down, Jack!' I shouted. 'Charge!' He sluck back under the piano and lay down again, but his eyes blazed and his down sgain, but his cycle believe dog does not believe you.'

'No,' said Swanson, 'the dog does not believe me, but the dog is wrong.'
'He sat down sgain and looked at the fire.

'Look here,' he exclaimed after a min-"Look here,' he exclaimed after a minute of the store."

'Look here,' he exclaimed after a minute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the stand behind me, and then I opened the door. The man, who had been waiting, strode by me without a word and went to the stove.

'I turned in astonishment and watched him. He had no overcoat, and his clothing. I can work. Will any one give work? Not to Swanson. Why? I am strong. I can work. Will any one give work? Not to Swanson. Why? I am strong. I can work. Will any one give work? Not to Swanson. Why? I seem in this county more than a year. I worked hard, but they said, 'You are no the shop had given the little lad his charge.

'Look here,' he exclaimed after a minute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night, but that was the ute, 'I never stole a thing in my life! I meant to here to night but they say on to he in thin the whole of the ute, 'I never stole a mid business, worth $20,000 to Mr. Watington, who was of no kin to him, but simply a

and toen rubbed them together.

'Ah,' he said, 'it's bitter cold.'

'All this time Jack stood at my side, resdy to spring at the man. He drew his lipp ack from his teeth, every breath was a growl, the skin over his forehead was drawn into hard wrinkles, and his back bisitled with displeasure. The men sat and warmed himself heedless of the dog.

'I took the revolver from my pocket and put it on the corner of the piano, mader the lomp; then I leaned against the piano, looked at the man and waited.

'Once he shitted position in his chair.

'Once he shitted position in his chair.

you steal more! I will keep your wages to pay for the whip. Then I knocked Sjolander down and came away.

I walked here and it was very cold, and there was nothing to eat, and I said, 'It I am a thief I will steal. Then at least I shall have something to eat. Maybe I shall get into prison, but that will be warm.' But I did not think of the dog, and I was afraid, so I said I would pay on my land. But there is no land, and there is nothing to pay. Also there is nothing to eat, and I am a thief. Give me to the police quick. Then I shall eat and be warm.'

'He sat down sgain and waited.

be warm.'

'He sat down again and waited.

''There is nothing to eat in the house now.' I said, 'but in the morning you shall have breakfast, and I will not give you to the police just yet. Perhaps you shall work for me.'

'So I put him to bed, and in the morning, atter I had fed him, we talked it all over. He told me how he had been trained for personal service and I said I would try him. Then I opened the house again, and Swanson stayed here and kept it for me. You know all the rest.

the rest.
'It was a long time before Jack would make friends with Swanson, but even Jack gave in at last. Now I am giving Swanson to you; but when I come back, we shall see." NOVEL BAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Hunter Has to Pay Damages After Being Killed By a Bull Thrown by a Train A suit in the Superior court in Raheign, N. C., against the Seaboard Air Line railway has developed one of the novel accidents known to the annals of jurisprudence.

A vestibuled passenger train from Atlanta was bowling along toward Raleigh on a down grade at the rate of fifty miles per hour at ten o'clock in the morning. Wm. Watlington was on his way to a wild turkey blind, which he had baited. and had his double-barreled breech-loading shotgun on his shoulder, two cartridges being in the chambers. On reaching the railroad track which was on an embankment about ten feet high at this place. Mr. Watlington heard the train in the distance and stopped on the side of the track about fifty feet away, He could not see over the emberkment to the other side of the

Alongside the embankment, on both sides of the track, are the usual ditches, which were filled with water. Mr. Watlington was standing between the embankment and one of these ditches on the north side of the track with his gun on his right shoulder. On the other side of the track were a number of cattle nipping grass. which Mr. Watlington could not see. A few seconds before the train passed, these cattle commenced to straggle across the track to the side on which Mr. Watlington was standing. The bovines all got sately across except one small Jersey bull, which was caught on the cow-catcher and hurled way with terrible velocity.

As mistortune and luck both would have it, the animal struck Mr. Watlington about amidships, knocked him down into the disch, and landed on top of him. The bull was stunned, and struggled, but could not get up, and the water was drowning both man and beast. The engineer was watching the cattle and had not seen Mr. Watlington. When the fireman told him what had happened he stopped the train, hurried back, and got there in time to pull Watlington and the bovine out of the ditch before they were both drowned.

Striking Mr. Watlington and knocking him into the water saved the life of the bull, and the water prevented the blow by the bull from killing Watlington. Further examination showed that when the bull struck Mr. Watlington, the shock knocked the gun some distance away, and when it struck the ground it was discharged and killed one of the cows and wounded another so badly that she had to be killed. The gun was not injured.

Of these facts Judge Brown held that the railroad company was not liable in damages to Mr. Watlington. Since the trial the owner of the two cows has sued Mr. Watlington and recovered $100 in full of damages for their killing.

Since all this happened Mr. Watlington has had a great piece of good luck. He has been working for H. N. Snow at High Point in the furniture business, and the latter who is getting old and tired of the the shop had given the little lad his change he engaged Tommie in conversation.

'Tommie,' said he, 'I understand there is a new member of your family?" 'Yes, sir,' replied the boy. 'I've got a little brother. 'Well, how do you like that, hey?' enquired the grocer. 'Don't like it at all,' said Tommie;

rather have a little cister.' 'Then why don't you change bim,

'Well, we would if we could, but I suppose we can't. You see we've used him four days now.'

'I have called, began Mr. Forchen Hunt 'to speak to you about your daughter. You must have noticed that there is something

No,' replied Mr. Goldrox, 'but I'm sure there will be pretty soon.' .Ah !

'It will be the Atlantic ocean. I'm going to send her abroad till she learns little sense.

One for the Oblusman.

The New York 'Sun's' Pekin correspondent says that once during a dry season in China the vicerory, Earl Li Hung Chang called on the American minister, Mr. Con ger, and spoke of the weather. 'Yes,' said Mr. Conger, 'it seems to be dry everywhere. It is dry in my country, too. I read in one of our papers the other day that in many places in the west the people were praying for rain.' 'What !' said the for rain?' 'Oh, yes,' said the minister, 'they often pray for rain.' 'And does their God send it when they pray for it ?' asked the earl. 'Yes, sometimes their prayers are answered and sometimes they are not.' 'All the same like Chinese joss, hey ?' said

Necessary Consequence.
Whyte—I understand that you are go going to move?

Browne-Yes. Whyte-What's that for ?

the earl, with a grin and a chuckle.

Browne-Well, my wife took a course lessons in a cooking school last winter, and we have got to move now to some place where we shall be nearer to the doctor.

The heiress' tears were so bitter that quinine wasn't an old deuce in a new deck n comparison. They gathered about her and sought the reason of her woe.

'The papers have announced my en gagement to the earl,' said she, 'and one called him Doughless instead of Douglass !

nay be muscular or rheumatic. The joints may be muscular or rheumatic. The joints are hard to get at, and it requires a powerful, penetrating remedy to reach the affected parts. Polson's Nerviline exactly meets the requirements, for it is both powerful and penetrating. The pain is expelled as if by msgic, for one drop of Nerviline equals in strength five drops of other remedies. You wont often call the doctor if Nerviline is in the house. Price 25 cents.

Head of the Household (in the year 1994)-Alfred, dear, your biscuits are very good this morning. Young Husband (coloring with pleas ure) —I am glad to hear you say so, love. Head of the household-Still, they are not quite as good as papa used to make.

Asta Fortune. 'Ah, yes,' replied the moralist, 'fortune s a fickle jade !'

'That's so,' replied the plodder, 'but the deuce of it is Miss Fortune isn't. She sticks to me with a fidelity worthy of a better cause."

Cause of Their Trouble, 'I hear the Bagtons are going to separate. What was the trouble ? 'Why, I understand that he remarked to her that if she lived to be a thousand she never would learn how to play golf.' Served Each Meal.

Stubb-That Frenchman says America has more bone and sinew than any country

Penn-Yes; on his last tour he put up at several of our Chicago houses.

Can't Last Forever. Hopley-What seems to trouble your Popley (wearily)—I suppose it trouble him to think that eventually he'll have to go to sleep at night.

In Eden. Eve—'Just think! I'll be two weeks old tomorrow!' Adam—'Well my dear, you don't look like it!'

Parasboro, Feb. 15, to the wife of John George, Maitland, March 15, to the wife of R McKenzie, a Camberland, March 14, to the wife of Thos Bowden New Glasgow, March 5, to the wife of Y Campbell Springh II, March II, to the wife of Chas Good vin. Berwick, March 8, to the wife of John Woodworth, Parrsboro, March 21, to the wife of Wm. McQuirk, Springhill, March 14, to the wife of John Brown, a usugher.

Campbelltos, March 14, to wife of D Laird, a daughter. Richibucte, March 20, to the wife of B Johnson, a Picton, March 7, to the wife of Wm. Bickers, a Pictou, March 7, to the wife of Rev A. Thompson, a Chatham, March 17, to the wife of James Vanstone a daughter.

Cumberland, March 18, to the wife of Jemes E Moore, a son.

New Glasgow, March 7, to the wife of Frank Mc-Gregor, a son. Gregor, a son.

New Germany, March 3, to the Wife of J. McLelland, a daughter. Nash's Creek, March 23, to the wife of Thomas Hayes, a daughter.

MARKIED. Wolfville, Mar 7, Captain Halibarton to Clara

Carleton Co, Mar 20, Hartley Sherwood to Ida Sweeney.

Trurc, Mar 14, by Rev A D Morton, David Lawson to Lily Murray. Maitland, Mar 14, by Rev Wm Forbes, Capt Jack Douglas to Alice Roy. Boston, Mar 12, by Rev A K MacLennan, David A Ross to Tena B Fraser.

Sallabury, Mar 20, by Rev Abram Perry, Harvey J Colpitts to Jennie Lewis. Yarmouth, Mar 7, by Rev Chas Legal, Theodore Ripley to Aveta Kenney.

Ripley to Aveta Kenney.

Colchester, Mar 20, by Rev W Dawson, Norman Langille to Hattie Melkie.

Salem, Mass, Mar 20, by Rev S E Seaman, William Kingston to Janet Stewart.

earl, 'do your people pray to their God Cumberland, Mar 20, by Rev D A Frame, Ainslie N - York, Feb 17, by Rev Fr Hickey. Michael Cooney to Minnie McGrath.

Bosoo, Mar 19, by Rev Scott L Hershey, William Johnson to Mary Macgregor. Springhill, Mar 13, by Rev Wm Brown, Charles W Harrington to Nellie Farrell. Picton, Mar 13, by Rev D Drummond, Colin C Mc-Leod to Henrietta Campbell. Helifax, Mar 21, by Rev Thos Fowler, Lewis Woolsver to Libbie Terhune.

Springhill, Mar 20, by Rev Wm Brown, William B Embree to Mrs Gussie Weldon. Woodstock, Mar 20, by Rev AW Teed, Albert L Mcbride to Ella L Hamilton Lower Bedeque, Mar 26, by Rev E P Calder, Howard Macialane to Helen Leard.

Pl) mouth, Mar 20, by Rev J W Freeman, Watson W Rogers to Florence M Smith.

Studholm, April 1, by Rev C W Hamilton, Chas E Wright to Annie Lenora Benson. Chathem, Mar 27, by Rev D Henderson, B Sc, Robert Smith to Alice M Irving.

Charlesville, Mar 20, by Elder William Haliday Eldridge Nickerson to Bertha Sholes Charlottetown. Mar 28, by Rev J W Goodwill, Donald Macdorald to Mrs Macarthur. Amberst Point, Mar 26, by Rev J A Huntley, George W Cole to Mrs Annie M White. oucester, Mass, Mar 20, by Rev Frank Wilkins, Capt Charles Malone to Edith M Prior.

Lewis Mountain, Mar 27, by Rev Abram Perry, Herrine Louasbury to L Saretta Steeves. Houlton, Maine, Mar 25, by Rev A W Teed, Her-bert Leslie Connors to Mannie Meud Good. bert Lesie Conners to Minnie Struct Good.

ort Hawkesbury, C.B. Mar 21, by Rev L. J. Slaughenwhite, Samuel Byers to Martha Porper.

DIED

Halifax, Bridget Meagher. Halifax, Mar 27, Mildred Dawe. Halifax, Mar. 30, Mrs. Thornton. Hausts, Mar. 16, Jam's McPhee. Haunts, Mar. 13, James McPher, Haunts, Mar. 13, Joseph Fielding. Picton, Mar. 10, Annie McLeod, 63, Lubenburg, Mar. 7, Mrs. Keddy, 93, Shubenacadie, Mar. 18, Annie Snide. Halifax, Mar. 27, Henry T. Cook, 55, Toronto, Mar. 24, Wylie E. King, 18. Lockport, Mar. 10, Mary E. Payzant. Acacia Val'ey, Mar. 6, Geo Smith, 31, Ambers. Mar. 80, North W. 18, 18 Amherst, Mar. 28, Macrine White, 37.
Miltown, Mar. 25, Mand Fletcher, 19.
Digby, Mar. 17, Ralph Farnswo..h, 2.
Halifax, Mar. 26, Malcolm McLeod, 70. Halifax, Mar. 27. George A. Roche, 58. Fugwash, Mar. 15, Kate McDonell, 74. Windsor, Mar. 16, Hugh Richardson, 89. Yarmouth, Mar. 22, Harriet Landers, 72 New Glasgow, Mar. 16, Alex Emith, 70. Guysboro, Mar. 21, Mattle Fraser, 8 mos. Dalhousie, Mar. 17, William Buckler, 82. Wolfville, Mar. 16, Blanche Weatherbe, 4. Yarmouth, Mar. 14, Richard Churchill, 84. Dartmouth, Mar. 30, Elizabeth Shorti, 70, Pictou, Feb. 24, Maggie Bell, Cameron, 6.
Boston, Mass., Mar. 21, Walter Martin, 44.
Denver, Ccl., Nov. last, John F Ward, 40.
Halifax, Mar. 24, Ethel Maud Dee, 2 mos.
Port Williams, Mar. 18, Hannah Chase, 52, Weymouth, Mar. 24 Charles J. Collins, 47.
Tusket, Mar. 27, Eleanor Jane Haifield, 87.
Moncton Mar. 30, James McNaughton, 83.
Springhill, Msr. 22. Geo. F. Robertson, 27.
East Boston, Mar. 23, Michael C., Ahern, 60. Picton, Feb. 24, Maggie Bell, Cameron. East Boston, Mar. 23, Michael C. Ahern, 60. Chatham, N. B., Mar. 26, Joseph Ward, 71, Lunenburg, Mar. 5, Mrs. G. H. Windrow, Halifax, Mar. 30, Margaret M. Dean, 6 mos. San Francisco, Feb. 12, Percha B. Tolford, 58, Pugwash, Mar. 15, Mrs. Angus McDowell, 70. Yarmouth, Mar. 27, William D. Peudrigh, 44. Colchester, Mar. 13, Mrs. Samuel Durning, 69. Digby, Mar. 20, Mrs. Richard Hutchinson, 92. Hillside. Mire, Mar. 15, Walter Dumerarq, 65 Somerville, Mass., Mar. 20, Clara Goodwin, 35, Brooklyn, N. Y., Mar. 23, Dr. C. W. Smith, 43, Carleton, N. B., Mar. 24, A.thur R. Taylor, 25, St. Margarets Bay, Mar. 25, Geo Dauphinee, 73. Fairville, St. John Co., Mar. 20, Marshal Reid, 54. Reserve Mines, C. B., Mar. 20, Mary B. McDonald, 18.

CANADIAN PACIFIC EASTER HOLIDAY EXCURSIONS.

TO THE PUBLIC

One way first class fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale between all stations Port Arthur and East, good going April 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, good to return until April 9th, 1991.

FOR SCHOOL VACATI

To teachers and pupils on surrender of Standard Railway Vacation Certoficates, tickets will be sold to all stations Moutreal and East at one way first class fare for the round trip going Macch 20th, to April 6th, good to return until a pril 16th, 1901, and of all Stations West of Montreal at one way first class fare to Montreal added to one way first class are and one third West of Montreal for the round trip, going March 29th to April 6th, good to return until April 16th, 1901.

Intercolonial Railway

A. J. BEATH. D. P. A., C. P. R. St. John, N. B.

On and after MONDAY Mar. 11th, 1961, trains will run daily (Sundays excepted) as follows:-

TRAINS WILL LEAVE ST. JOHN Express for Point du Chene, Campbellton and Halitax. 7.00 Express for Halitax and Picton 12.15 Express for Sussex 16.30 Express for Guebec and Montreal 17 00 Accommodation for Halifax and Sydney, 22.11

A sleeping car will be attached to the train caving St. John at 22.10 o'clock for Halifax. Vestibula, Dining and Sleeping cars on the quebec and Montreal express.

TRAIRS WILL ARRIVE AT ST. JOHN

Express from Sussex... Express from Quebec and Montreal... Express from Halitax, Pictou and Point du *Daily, except Monday. All trains are run by Eastern Standard time

D. POTTINGER, Gen. Manager; Moncton, N. B., March 5, 1901. CITY TICKET OFFICE, 7 King Street St. John, R. B.

has not manage fectly tr Bustin 1 The w left the Mrs. 88 She was Provinci she seem ority w that time miles fro

The

ly the s

Fke the ! people ar boarded ! knowa g have been at which up those names to conversat Miss Mcl hotel "ite and having took lodg visitor. E with some ments see prove the acquaintar While she acted in haved m going out in son might.

new arriv attended he when he le to hear of i wards. He pulsory to r do so. but death certif some medica burial unde So far as was not fant was b this of cours quarters and first in one q ed in another kind of living her and her s was the cause rate their pla son at the pr

If the num pet that the p there is a people. No said to be dis no one knows happily for gossip's time i It looks as if going to have to deal with.

inkling of wh went.

Th What a gre on their Mon companied by One of the "g included a we teur professo gentleman ess tions on his in renditions of s