

R-34 MADE RETURN FLIGHT WITHIN SEVENTY-FIVE HOURS

Giant British Dirigible Landed Safely at Pulham, England, on Sunday Morning, the Trans-Atlantic Voyage Being Practically Without Incident.

Pulham, Norfolk, England, July 13.—Great Britain's mammoth trans-Atlantic air pioneer, the dirigible R-34, arrived at the air station here at 6.56 o'clock, Greenwich mean time, today, completing her round trip from the British Isles to the United States and return. The R-34 poked her nose out of the clouds northeast of this village and, after circling the flying field three times, glided gently to the ground, and ten minutes later was housed in the dirigible shed. The voyage from Long Island was without particular incident, and was completed in approximately 75 hours. Shouts from those on the field greeted the first sight of the long, gray body low on the horizon. As the R-34 approached the field she dropped from a height of 5,000 feet to 2,000 feet. The men who were to aid the airship in landing were ordered to their positions and waited silently as the ship circled the field, dropping lower and lower.

BUNCOED AGAIN.
Here is a man who had paid out his good money in ADVANCE for a suit of clothes he never saw. If he had only been wise in the FIRST place, he would have bought that suit of clothes at home. Then he would have been assured of a good fit, the same quality of goods and at a lower price. Yes, the home merchant can beat the catalog man on prices every time. That has been proved time and again. But people are only very slowly beginning to know it. The catalog business is so huge, its arguments are so impudent and overbearing that many a man is persuaded AGAINST his own judgment. He is carried off his feet and literally STAMPEDED into doing things he would not dream of doing if left alone to think it out by himself. Neighbor, don't be stampeded by that picture. Tear it out and bring it in to your home dealer. Figure it out with your home merchant. Get together with HIM. HE WANTS to give you a square deal. Keep your money in your pocket till you are SURE.

SENTENCE OF DEATH ON ENVER PASHA

New Turkish Government to Promptly Punish Military Leaders.

Constantinople, July 13.—Three members of the Turkish military clique were sentenced to death on Saturday for war crimes, and two others were given 15 years' imprisonment by a court-martial appointed by the new Turkish Government.

Those receiving the death penalty were: Enver Pasha, former Minister of War; Talaat Bey, former Minister of the Interior, and Djemal Pasha, former Minister of Marine; Djavid Bey, former Minister of Finance, and Ala Cakizian, former Sheikh-ul-Islam, escaped with prison sentences.

The new Turkish Government, avowedly pro-ally, apparently has made good its promise of several weeks ago that it would spare the Peace Conference the trouble of punishing those who were responsible for international crimes. Kemal Bey, one of the Enver's associates, was recently tried and hung for complicity in these outrages. Several other former Government officials, army and navy officers, are still to be tried.

BRITISH WON WAR, MARSHAL HAIG SAYS

A despatch from London says: Field Marshal Haig, receiving the freedom of Newcastle, deprecated the tendency to minimize the British army's achievements in the war. "It is right to speak of our allies," he declared, "but it was the British army that won the war; it was Britain that bore the brunt of the fighting in the last two years. "I hope everyone will realize that fact and stick by the fellows who fought and suffered and their dependents."

OCEAN LINER STRIKES ICEBERG

Grampain Saved By Prompt Action of Her Captain.

A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., says:—Two men were killed and two injured when the Allan liner Grampain, Montreal for Liverpool, collided with an iceberg off Cape Race on Wednesday night.

The killed and injured were members of the crew, who were asleep in the bow of the ship when she struck. Virtually all the passengers were awake, but although there were more than 500 women and children aboard, there was little excitement and no panic.

That the Grampain did not suffer the fate of the Titanic, with considerable loss of life, is believed to have been due to the decision of the Captain to strike the iceberg bow on instead of taking a glancing blow on the side. The berg, which was very large, was encountered 45 miles off Cape Race, in the early evening. When it was sighted through the fog it was too late to clear it, although the ship was proceeding slowly.

The Captain said that he realized that a glancing blow which would tear through the ship's side would sink her. The course was changed and the Grampain struck the ice mountain squarely head on. The entire forepart of the ship was smashed in above the water line, the stem being driven back nearly 40 feet. The vessel was undamaged below the water line, however, as the portion of the berg which she struck proved to be an overhanging shelf.

The two men killed were stewards. Their bodies were caught in the mass of wreckage of the bow and had not been recovered when the Grampain came here. The steward and stoker who were injured by pieces of wood torn loose in the collision were not seriously hurt.

HOW BRITISH ARMY IS DISTRIBUTED

Rhine Forces Total 206,000—France and Flanders 214,000—Large Units in India and Egypt.

A despatch from London says: Reuter learns, in regard to British forces overseas, that the army on the Rhine numbers 206,000, and the army in France and Flanders 214,000, the latter mainly for salvage work and also to supply the line of communication for the Rhine army, of which it is to act as reserve in the event of further hostilities.

There are 11,000 British troops in Italy, including troops for clearing purposes, and also a battalion for the part of the international garrison of Fiume.

There are in India 44,000 British troops, besides Indian troops, including 22,000 in the Caucasus, with the object of keeping order pending the establishment of peace conditions.

The recent troubles in Egypt and the unsettled situation in Asia Minor necessitate the presence of 96,000 men, including 10,000 Anzacs in Egypt and Palestine.

PRINCE HENRY OF PRUSSIA PLEADS FOR EX-KAISER

A despatch from Berlin says: Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the former German Emperor, has now come to the aid of the deposed war lord, and adds his plea to that of the others for abandonment by the allies of their project to bring the former Kaiser to trial for his crimes against mankind.

Prince Henry, in a telegram to King George begging him to desist in the effort to extradite the former Monarch, pledges himself to assist the King in bringing to light "the truth regarding the war and its consequences."

INVITE EX-KAISER TO RETURN TO GERMANY

A despatch from Berlin says:—The central office of the "League of German men and women for the protection of the personal life and freedom of Wilhelm the Second" at Gorlitz has addressed an open letter to the ex-Kaiser inviting him to return to Germany.

THE ART OF TALKING.

The art of talking is rare, but if one has the least spark of talent it may be improved. Time, thought, and constant practice are necessary to learn music, painting or tennis without practice, and so it is with conversation. We cannot expect to talk well in society if we are dull, silent tacticians at home. We must read the best books to learn the fluent use of language; we must learn to think and to remember, to observe carefully; we must keep in touch with the events of the day, not merely within a narrow circle, but in the wide world. General knowledge is necessary. Books, newspapers and magazines are within the reach of everyone. An ideal conversationalist is a conscientious listener, the first to see merit, the last to censure faults.

The Brighter Side.

The statement was recently made in a London newspaper that men bearing the scars of battle were usually long-lived, and an arresting statement made the other day by Lieut.-Colonel T. E. Openshaw bears out this theory. According to this statement, a man who has lost a leg is more likely to attain old age than a man who has not, whereas if he has lost both eyes his chances of long life are still further increased.

The reason is simple to follow. The heart carries the blood to the extremities, and its work is reduced and term of activity increased by the absence of limbs. Our lame heroes will find it hard to believe the colonel's final assertion. He declared that it was absolutely and demonstrably true that a man who had lost both his legs could be a better swimmer than before his loss.
