Step: Taken to Stamp Out Cattle Disease in Grey County.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

Toronto, April 2 .- The session to-day was brief, as usual on Monday. Little business was done and there were no discussions of importance. In the evening Mr. Balfour's special committee on natural gas held its first meeting and took some interesting evidence.

Mr. Balfour introduced a bill to amend the Street Railway Act and Mr. Tait a bill to amend the Ontario Election Act.

The House then went into committee and passed Mr. Tooley's bill confirming the agreement between the London Street Railway Company and London West.

Mr. Rorke asked: "Has the Government been apprised of a disease among cattle in the southeastern portion of the county of Grey, pronounced by some veterinaries as ergotism? If so, is it the intention of the Government to inquire into the cause and effect of the disease and supply to farmers every available information as to the best preventive methods and remedial treatment ?"

Hon. Mr. Dryden said in reply: "The Department of A.griculture has been notified of a new disease among cattle in the county of Grey. Upon receiving the information the department immediately communicated with Dr. Andrew Smith, one of the Dominion inspectors for contagious diseases. Under his authority the district has been visited and the affected animals examined, the conclusion being that the disease is not contagious, but arises from local causes and is mainly due to the special character of the food, which is said to contain more or less ergot. Dr. Smith reports that as soon as the food is changed the animals speedily recover. Dr. Ryerson moved for an order of the House for a return giving the numbers and religions of the temporary employes of the Department of Public Works during the year 1892-93.

Mr. Field's bill to amend the act relating to the registration of births, marriages and deaths passed its second reading and went to the legal committee. It provides for the keeping in Toronto of duplicates of all registrations.

Mr. Harty's bill to amend the act to regulate traveling on public highways and bridges was advanced to its second reading. master at Burlington amount to $400. It provides that the fines collected for Nelles' deficit as town clerk will exceed furious driving over bridges shall be paid over to company, which is at the expense of the repair of the bridge.

Mr. Waters moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act by abolishing the poll tax. He said in many counties it was not attempted to be enforced at all, and it would be better abolished. The bill was sent to the municipal committee.

On the motion for adjournment Mr. Meredith asked if it was true that the commission on fees had been issued as was announced in the press, and if the sessions were being held with closed doors.

Sir Oliver said the commission had issued, but no evidence had been yet taken. As soon as the commission had considered the scope of their investigations they would have no idea of keeping anything from the public. The House adjourned at 4:30 o'clock.

by Mr. Morgan (Dem.), Alabama. Mr. Voorhees subsequently began the discussion of the new tariff bill. His speech occupied the attention of the Senate for two hours. Speaking of the income tax. Mr. Voorhees said: "On all the wants and necessaries of life the man of wealth with a heavy income pays less rates of tariff tax under existing laws than the laboring man or the laboring woman, whose wearing apparel is of coarser material and whose household living is suphos of all kinds, and all incomes arising them, are exempt from all Govern-

COXEY'S ARMY GROWING.

Ranks of the Commonwealers Swelled by Recruits-A Call ornia Crowd. BEAVER FALLS, April 3 .- Camp fires were twinkling in every direction on College Hil, even before dawn. The army of the Commonweal rose early from its quarters in the theater and went cut to camp, getting ready for the longest march yet made-to Sewickley. The men prepared a heaty Peakfast. Bustle and discipline were evident among the crowd, the former owing to the increase in the size of the army, and the latter due to Unknown Smith's ron rule. Too many men are being fed, Coxey thinks, compared with the number who march. He and the Unknown held a conference in headquarters' tent at 9 o'clock. and a secret service was decided on. A corps of amateur detectives will be organized before Sewickley is reached, so that the unknown leader will practically have all the men under his thumb before the Commonweal reaches Allegheny. The total number of recruits is 139, and the army marched out 243 strong. This is the largest number since the inception of the movement, and this is the longest march. SAN FRANCISCO, April 3 .- Four bundred anemployed men assembled in front of the City Hall last evening, and organized an industrial army. They say they will start for Washington.

NOVEL ACT OF CHARITY.

Convicts Contribute $435 for the Poor of Baltimore City. One of the most novel acts of charity, and one which may well serve as a example for more prosperous and more fortunate persons, was that which resulted in the contribution of $435 for the poor of this city, which was handed over to Marshal Frey last night by Warden John F. Weyler. ate of duty. His bonds, his accumulated of the Maryland Penitentiary. The money was donated by the inmates of the institu-

In explanation of the act, Mr. Weyler said that one day this week two or three of the prisoners approached him and stated that they had noticed through the papers that much distress prevailed among the poor of Baltimore, and they asked his permission and assistance for the purpose of raising a fund among the prisoners for the needy outside. The warden said that he commended the spirit and the interest the men took in the matter, and readily gave his consent. The result was the collection of $435.

The sums contributed ranged from 25 cents to $5. There was one donation of $10 and a few of 10 cents each. One of the men gave $25, but the warden did not think it proper that he should contribute so large an amount, and reduced it to $5. The donations of some others, which were larger than the warden thought the men should give in proportion to the sums to their credit, wore also reduced.

The act appears the more commendable in that the money of the men is earned by overwork, after they have completed their allotted tasks. Some earn in this way from $3 to $5 and $10 a month, while a small percentage of skilled workers earn by labor during overtime as much as $25 or $30 a month. The money is not given to the prisoners, but is held by the warden to their credit. There are 601 convicts in the penitentiary, exclusive of 44 women who did not contribute. - [Baltimore American.

According to a recent issue of the London and China Telegraph, the cotton interest in Japan is going a read in a most remarkable way. In 1888 the production of cotton yarns in Japan was less than 1,000 .-000 pounds. In 1892 it had risen to more than 64,000,000 pounds. This result is due, of course, to the cheapness of labor in Japan, which renders the cost of production even less than in India.

A ROYAL INVITATION. The King and Queen of Italy have invited the Queen to pay them a visit next week at the royal palace at San Roassore,

The artistic skill of the various members of the Belgian royal family was conspicuous at the annual fancy fair given last week in the saloons of the Brussels palace, which once belonged to the Princess of rooms were crowded by the elite of Brussels society. But on the second day a terrible sensation was caused by the discovery that three fashionably-dressed Italian women who had been made much of and generally mistaken for distinguished strangers had annexed a large number of purses, and were in reality members of the "swell mob." They were captured with a dozen purses in their possession.

DIPLOMATS MARRYING FOREIGNERS. The announcement of the engagement of M. Patenotre, the French ambassador at Washington, to an American woman, was made in Paris at the very moment when the affaires etrangeres was being discussed. whether French diplomatists should be permitted in the future to marry foreigners. The rule of the German foreign offices is, I believe, that if a member of the diplomatic body takes to wife an alien without special permission of the Emperor, which is rarely granted, the ipso facto ceases to belong to the career, and the proposition for a similar regulation in France arose out of a recent Copenhagen scandal, which had brought about the dismissal of a diplomatist, once well known in London. The respective wives of the two persons involved an ex-minister and a military attache, both being foreigners. It is stated that when in conversation a suggestion borrow the German rule was made to M. Cassimir Perir he observed that there were other countries which needed it worse than France; as when in March he lunched at Lord Dufferin's with the Prince of Wales he had met all the wives of the members of the British Embassy present in Paris who were invited to meet her Royal Highness according to the usual practice, and not one of them was an English woman, one being a German and the others Americans. It would perhaps be a strong measure absolutely to prohibit our diplomatists from being married by foreigners, but it is extremely anomalous and sometimes awkward that the wives of even our minor representatives abroad should not be daughters of England. It would consequently give unusual satisfaction to the great majority of our diplomatic body if intimation were made from headquarters that the highest promotion would be reserved ceteris paribus to those members of the career who married English women or who had preferred celebacy to the amorous blandishments of l'etranger. REFUSED AN EARLDOM.

Lord Leigh, who has just refused an earldom, has lived almost entirely on his estate in Warwickshire, where he is regarded as a model landlord and an excellent farmer. In 1858 Lord and Lady Leigh entertained the Queen and Prince Albert at Stoneleigh Abbey. He is understood to have refused a high office in the household when Mr. Gladstone came into power in 1892

MARRIED TO THE WRONG MAN. John Martin Said to Have Substituted His Cousin for Himself - The

Wile's Strange Discovery. PATERSON, N. J., April 3. - John Martin, a well-to-do contractor of this city, met Annie Van Dorn, of Passaic, in 1892, and in less than a month they were engaged. Martin betrayed the young woman's confidence, but he promised to right the wrong he had done. When they talked over the wedding, Martin said he would have his ccusin, John Duncan, of Brooklyn, act as best man. The next night he visited the home of the Rev. George M. Dorwart, rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, and arranged for the wedding to take place on the following night. This was on Sept. 4, 1892, and the next day brought Duncan from Brooklyn. The cousins resemble each other in height and feature. When they got together there is reason to believe Martin told Duncan of his love episode, and said it was his desire to get rid of the woman, but how should he do it? Duncan said he would marry her himself. It was agreed that Duncan should be the groom and that they should drug the bride-at least, that is an apparently wellfounded presumption.

That night they set out from this city for Passaic in a coach, and got Miss Van Dorn. On the way back Martin stopped the carriage at a hotel and brought out drinks for all. When they reached the parsonage Miss Van Dorn complained of feeling ill. She says she felt "as it her senses had left her." She cannot recollect and done at the minister's home. She knows she was married, and that is all. Martin returned home with her after the ceremony, and they lived together for several months. One day he had a quarrel with her, and told her he was not her husband and had never married her. He added that the marriage certificate, which she had not looked at since it was given to her by the officiating clergyman, would disclose who her husband was. She hastily searched for the certificate, and, to her astonishment, found she was married to a man named John Powers. and that Martin was only a witness. Martin told her that during the ceremony. Orange, for three entire afternoons. The Duncan, his cousin, had taken his place at her side, and given his name to the rector as John Powers-"it was done so quick no one knew the difference." Martin then deserted her. A few days ago Miss Van Dorn retained counsel, and on Saturday had Martin arrested and arraigned before justice Senior on a charge of conspiracy. He was released under $1,000 bail. The Rev. Mr. Dorwart remembers the wedding and says he noticed nothing unusual in the action of the participants. He was not aware that the two men had changed places.

A Pickpocket Shot.

CHICAGO, April 3 .- Mary Keating, considered one of the most dangerous pickpockets in Chicago, was shot by John Roche shortly after 12 o'clock on Sunday morning in Osborn's saloon, Thirty-seventh and State streets. She is dying at the county hospital. Roche escaped.

Mary Keating has for fifteen years defied courts and police. Repeatedly arrested and held to the criminal court, she has always by some technicality or compromise with her victims kept her freedom. She was a chambermaid at the Tremont House when she fell in with bad company. She was then 18 years old, but as an adept pickpocket she gave the police as much trouble as an old criminal. "If Mary Keating has stolen a nickel's worth of property during her career she has stolen $150,000 worth," said a detective. "Nothing was too good, too worthless, or too big for her to steal, and she always managed to get what she wanted so cleverly that the best men on the force could not convict her."

Mrs. Editor-Dearie, isn't it queer about your lounge; you have had it three years and it is just as elastic as ever. Mr. Editor -Nothing queer about that; it is stuffed with spring poetry. Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of illing a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing nd curing all afections of the throat and ungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis

Mrs. Snaggs-You think my new hat it too low in the crown, don't you, dear? Mr. Snaggs-Oh, it averages up all right. Too low in the crown and too high in price. Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs. rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action. "Say, Tom, what are the symptoms of spring tever?" Tom-Why it gives a fellow a chill to even think of having to do any work.

How to Cure All Skin Diseases. Simply apply "SWAINE'S OINTMENT." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Needed Improvements to the Market and Fire Hall Voted.

Electric Light Specifications Referred to a Special Meeting.

Relief Wood Must Be All Maple Instead of Beech-The Contract Relet at Higher Prices.

The City Council met last night and spent the greater part of its time in pulling to pieces the work done by the committee of which Ald. Parnell is chairman. Two hours were thus consumed in proposing amendments to the report of No. 3. Amendments to the electric light specifications came in so thick and fast that the whole matter was left over, to be dealt with at a special meeting. Ald. Judd occupied the chair in the absence of Mayor Essery in Toronto. The latter is accompanied by Ald. Scarrow and Ald. J. W. Jones, and the London and Springbank Electrical Railrood Bill is the object of their solicitation. The members present were: Ald. Taylor, Ald. John Heaman, Ald. Pritchard, Ald. O'Meara, Ald, Coo. Ald. Carrothers, Ald. Thos. Jones, Ald. Wm. Heaman, Ald. Jas. Fitzgerald, Ald. Garratt, Ald. Nutkins, Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, Ald. Dreaney, Ald. Shaw, Ald. Parnell, Ald. Judd, City Clerk Kingston and Mr. H. Merritt, sergeant-at-arms.

COMMITTEE REPORTS. Clause 1 of No. 3 committee's report read as follows: "Your committee recommends that it be empowered to call for tenders for the construction of water closets on the market, also for converting the hide inspector's office into closets." Ald. Parnell moved the adoption of the

Ald. Garratt moved that the plans submitted last year for a new closet to be erected on the market be adopted by the council, cost not to exceed $500. Ald,

Wm. Heaman seconded. Ald. Coo moved that the clause be struck out entirely. They had done without the closet for 40 years; they wanted to keep down taxes this year and it was a poor way to commence. If they wanted to they could erect such a convenience in the city hall areade. Ald. Dreany seconded.

Ald. Parnell stated that he would withdraw the motion to adopt the clause in favor of Ald. Garratt's amendment.

Ald. O'Meara wanted the hide inspector's office turned into a convenience. It would not cost much.

Ald. Pritchard characterized it a disgrace to the city that the market should be in such a condition. The men ought to be ashamed of themselves to oppose the Ald. Garratt's motion to erect a new building was carried. Clause 2 referred back the communication of W. J. Martin for space on the market to exhibit windmills and pumps.

Ald. Garratt moved and Ald. Pritchard seconded a motion to file the communication. The motion carried. Clause 3 submitted amended specifications for relief wood and recommended that Mr. Walls' tender to supply beech wood at $4 per cord be accepted. Mr. George McNeil's communication was then read. He claimed that the specifications called for the supply for two different sections of the city, and Mr. Walls getting one, he should get the other. Ald. Parnell explained that the council could let the contract for the supply of both sections to one man if it saw fit. Mr. McNeil's tender asked $4 40 and $4 38 for all beech wood in the different sections. Ald. Taylor wanted all the tenders read. About half a dozen were read in detail by Mr. Parnell, Ald. Garratt moved, seconded by Ald.

Coo, that Mr. Walls get section No. 1 and Mr. McNeil section No. 2. Ald. O'Meara demurred. The committee awarded the contract to the lowest tenderer and ground no axes. Ald. Parnell moved in amendment the adoption of the clause.

Ald. Garratt explained that the reason he made his motion was because no one contractor could do justice to the contract. Ald. Pritchard and Ald. Taylor moved in amendment to the amendment, that Mr. Mc-Neil's tender for the northern section and Mr. Baldwin's tender for the southern section, for half maple and half beech wood, be accepted, they being the lowest.

The last amendment was put and lost, and then Ald Thos. Jones moved that the lowest tender for all maple wood in each section be accepted. Ald. James Fitzger-This amendment carried, and Mr. James Campbell will supply the poor north of Dundas street at $4 90 a cord, and Maurice Baldwin the southern section at $4 75. Ald. Parnell explained before the question was put that it would mean an unnecessary expenditure of about $250.

Clause 4 again recommended the erection of a shed at the rear of the fire hall, and recommended no action in the matter of a bell and hose tower in connection.

Ald. Parnell moved the adoption of the onded by Ald. Dreaney, that the clause be again referred back with instructions to the council to have the power to terminate bring in plans and specifications for the prection of a bell tower.

Ald. Coo moved in amendment to the imendment that the clause be struck out. Aid. Carrothers seconded. Both spoke against unnecessary expenditure,

Ald. Nutkins believed in wise economy, and that was why he voted for the election of a market closet and the shed. Ald. Parnell's motion to adopt the clause and erect the shed carried, Ald. Garratt surprising his confreres by voting yea. Clause 5 submitted the report of Inspector Bell on his inspection and test of bread. Ald. Parnell moved the adoption of the clause. Ald. Thos. Jones moved, and Ald. Carrothers seconded, a motion asking that the away with the necessity of the present clause be laid over until the mover introduced his amendment to the bread bylaw.

The amendment was lost. Clause 6 recommended the payment of $73 balance to Contractor M. Donohue for cleaning the market. The clause was adopted after Ald. Coo. Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald and Ald. Pritchard had oken against it, and Ald. O'Meara took | matter back to committee.

Ross to furnish firemen's caps at $1 25 each.

Clause 13 recommended the acceptance of Geo. Hill's tender of $1 40 for removing the dirt from the market after being gathered by the sweeper. Ald. Pritchard moved that the clause be struck out, and that the clerk be made to do the work. Lost. The latter part of the clause recommended that Geo. Hill's tender of $11 for removing the snow from the market in winter months be accepted. Ald. Pritchard wanted this struck out, and moved accordingly in amendment. Mr. Wilson could do the work. The amendment carried.

The report was adopted as amended. NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE.

Ald. Thos. Jones read No. 2 committee's Clause 1 recommended the granting of Victoria Park on Sunday afternoon to the Salvation Army. Ald. Pritchard moved in amendment to strike out the clause. The council would regret it, he said, if it let the park for any such exhibition. The clause was adopted. The balance of the report, as printed in last Friday's ADVERTISER, was adopted without discussion.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE, Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald read the report of No. 1 committee. Accounts amounting to $1,174 10 passed.

Clause 2 recommended the filing of the correspondence of A. Talbot & Co., re city advertising.
Ald, James Fitzgerald moved that the firm be given certain advertising. The amendment was lost and Ald. Thos. Jones wanted to know why the city solicitor's opinion had not been asked as to the legality of giving Mr. Talbot the advertising asked for.

Chairman Judd-I was instructed by the committee not to ask for it. But Ald. Thos. Jones wanted the opinion and moved accordingly. Carried.

Ald. O'Meara moved to increase the grant of $300 to the Protestant Orphans' Home, as recommended in clause 6, to $500, the amount originally asked for.

Ald. Carrothers explained that $300 was the usual grant for the last several years with the exception of last year, when the home had an unusual expenditure to meet. Then the Ontario Government is appointing an officer to look after vagrant and orphan children, and by law the city was bound to pay $1 a week for each child placed in either of the homes. Considering that, $300 was plenty.

Ald. Parnell seconded the amendment, but it was lost and the clause adopted. Clause 9 recommended no action in the matter of publishing the assessment rolls. Ald. Parnell wanted to know on what ground. Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald explained that it was on the ground of expense of printing and was no benefit.

Ald. Pritchard thought it was a piece of impudence that Ald. Parnell or anybody else should want to publish to the wide world anybody else's business or assess-The clause was adopted and so was the

Other Eusiness. The city clerk and the mayor will be a petition to the Legislature asking for an increase of two aldermen on the board of police commissioners. Ald. Parnell brought in his specification of work required to be done in supplying the city with electric lighting on the public streets.

There was a split on the very first clause. As read the work was to be done to the satisfaction of the city engineer and o. 3 committee. Aid. Garratt moved in amendment that the words "No. 3 committee" be superseded by the words "the City Council." Ald. Parnell wanted to know why the work was to be taken out of the hands of the committee who had to deal with the lighting. He would make it subject to the approval of the City Council, but would not take it altogether out of the hands of the committee.

The amendment carried. Ald. O'Meara voted nay, saying as he did so that he would be very shallow if he didn't. It was just an attempt to tear the whole report to

Then in clause 3 a similar motion was introduced and voted down, leaving one clause conflicting with the other.

To do away with any irregularity Ald. Parnell consented to add "subject to the approval of the City Council."

The specifications called for the lights to be suspended in the center of the street at a height not exceeding 40 feet and by a strong wire cable. The poles should be 50 feet above ground and six feet in the ground, painted, and the wiring to be governed by the rules of the Board of Fire Underwriters and to the satisfaction of the council. The wiring should be No. 6, B and S guage, lake copper, and lamps, material and machinery should be new and modern, contractors to give price per light each night from sunset to dawn and supply 2,000 candle power lights for 317 nights in the year, the lights to be run on any and all the remaining 48 nights should it be deemed necessary or requisite. Ald. Garratt seconded. Ald. Thos. Jones wanted the poles to be 50 feet high in the districts where the long poles of the Canadian General Electric Company already exists and 40 feet in other districts. Ald. O'Meara objected to the line of argument. It was just simply trying to do company having to remove their poles.

Ald. Taylor did not think that any such charge should be made against any alder-

Ald. Parnell and Ald. O'Mears argued that that was the very best possible means the council could take to deprive the city of the benefit arising from competition. If the matter was delayed outside firms would

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

DAN M'CARTHY TO-MORROW NIGHT. The attraction at the Grand to-morrow night will be "True Irish Hearts." It is a rollicking, picturesque comedy which depicts life in Ireland, full of character and color, bright lines, repartee, songs and dances. The chief figure in the singing, dancing and love-making-all Irish heroes being addicted to the latter-is one Lanty Lanagan, a good-natured, reckless, bighearted, always on hand at the right time sort of a boy. His songs go right to the heart, and the nimbleness of his feet and grace of his manner places him in the first rank of dancers. The play is interpreted by a company of unusual strength, and the scenery is new and superb from the studio of Harley Merry. "True Irish Hearts" should be given a rousing reception.

"GLORIANA." The sparkling comedy "Gloriana" drew night. The company was a brilliant one though Mr. Parson's interpretation of the leading character was marred by a very severe cold. His voice was hardly audible. So brisk is the action, however, that "Gloriana" would be a success as a pantomime. It was hugely enjoyed. Emily Bancker, a handsome and accomplished actress, was perfect in the leading role, and her assistants, particularly Mr. Barnum. were the best seen in comedy here this season. The play was preceded by a charming curtain-raiser, "Sweet Will," H. A. Jones, author of "The Silver King.

MR. MEREDITH'S ANOMALIES. The position of Mr. W. R. Meredith. the M. P. P. of London, and at the same time the resident and well-salaried solici-Toronto, becomes every day more and more anomalous. There are many rival interests between the two cities, as there naturally are between the two leading cities of any country-for instance in England, Liverpool and Manchester are always in full rivalry-yet the same gentleman is expected to represent the interests of both at one and the same time-of the one city as its elected representative in all law-making, and of the other as its paid representative in all lawadministration.

Toronto just now lays claim, on some far-fetched technical grounds, to a most valuable asset of the Province-the splendid plot of land lying in the heart of that city on which the old Upper Canada College stood. The sale of that plot ought to represent some hundreds of thousands of dollars to the general Provincial treasury, if properly disposed of, and in this London has a large proportional pecuniary interest. If Toronto can establish a technical claim then Ontario, and London with it, loses, every penny of that interest. Where will the "Representative for London" probably be when the well-paid legal representative for Toronto is pleading his client's case in the courts?

Then it is now in the interests of Toronto to put a municipal tax on all Provincial institutions in that city-as the expensive new Parliament buildings, the University, the Central Prison, the asylums, and many other such public institutions, the very location of which in that city, or in any other city, goes a great way to enhance the value of all other property and to add to nearly every local branch of business. If Toronto, through the Provincial Legislature, can succeed in so changing the laws as to collect municipal taxes of all the Province on these institutions, then the taxpayers of London, in common with other Provincial taxpayers, will pay a round contribution to Toronto the city solicitor of Toronto is hard at work advancing such a law in the interests of his client, what position will the "Representative" of the London taxpayers be occupying in the same Legislature?

Then, the P. P. A's. of London-or the bell-wethers of the association, at leastare urging "the faithful" in the ranks to come forward and elect Mr. Meredith as the representative and exponent of their platform, which stands for the exclusion of Roman Catholic office-holders-the same Mr. Meredith who is the legal representative of the Roman Catholic citizens of Toconto on equal terms with the other citisens! When the paid solicitor of some tens of thousands of Toronto Roman Catho. lic citizens and taxpayers of Toronto is looking after their "rights and privileges," who would a P. P. A. representative of years, but the civic reformers kept the London "pair off" with?

Were the citizens of London in search of a representative whose position would be one of constant contradiction and of fateful would not stand a change for a month. anomaly, Mr. Meredith would fill the bill It is really wonderful how much to perfection.

A TIMELY DISSECTION.

The Toronto Monetary Times discusses the changed tariff from a strictly commercial standpoint. It criticises some of Mr. Foster's views with considerable severity. Take this illustration:

the tariff is that the conditions of trade have changed within the last fourteen years, when what is called the National Policy was first put into operation. This alleged change is not made very clear, and without fuller explanation it is not possible to understand the nature of the foundation on which the new tariff is to be built. But we are told that, in the first years of protection the greatest measure of it was needed. That, however, has not been the rule followed in Canadian tariff legislation since 1878. The highest duties were not enacted at the start. On the contrary, the foundation stone of the National Policy was 'rearrangement without increase of duties.' Higher duties, and with them avowed protection, came later. Now, we are told, the 'circumstances of industry, and the condition of business and of trade,' permit and justify reductions. What these 'circumstances' and 'conditions' are we are not told. The admission that protection does not imply a fixed and unalterable amount of duty is equivalent to saying that the quantity is variant, and, in part at least, evanescent. Between this and Mr. McCarthy's contention that protection having now served its purpose, in some cases, and having had a fair trial in all, ought to cease, there is a distance which is not likely to be traversed for some time. Mr. Foster has at last come to admit, and it is to his credit that he has done so, that protective duties imply sacrifices on the part of the general public. The fact is so clear that no candid person can call it in question. It is for those who insist on the sacrifice to show that the result is worth all it costs. Mr. Foster is able to point to an enormous development of manufactures since 1878. But he does not scientifically prove that the gain overbalances the sacrifice. He assumes that the great decrease in the importation of agricultural products from the United States is a proof of the benefit of the reagain assumption is not proof. Of the heightened duty on books-more particularly on books for Sunday schools-our commercial contemporary says: "Six cents per pound on some books is a high percentage. Taxes on knowledge are a relic of barbarism, and the sooner they are swept away the better."

The stupid resort of "protectionists" to lumping goods admitted free and those bearing duty, and "averaging" the lot as an illustration of how little the people are taxed is thus assailed:

"It is useless to tell us that the average duties to-day are only 174 per cent., when it is admitted some duties run up to 40, 50. -A society woman has had her lost 60, 70, 90, 100 per cent. Mr. Foster says charms of face restored in Paris by the the present tariff puts on increased cost of skin-grafting process. This is another only 3.12 per cent, on the total consumption of the country. This admission shows more candor than the defenders of the tariff generally exhibit. It takes note of the fact that the price of domestic as well as imported goods is raised by the import plaint at Ottawa against the increased duties. The argument that internal comduty of 4 cents a gallon. They will be con- petition takes the place of external contains siderably "worked up" in case they are some truth; but there are exceptions competition disappears; and that there are no such cases in Canada no one cognizant of the facts will undertake to maintain."

As illustrating the fact that Mr. Foster is in the habit of proving too much when he begins to make excuses, the Monetary facts, Mr. Foster does not always take note of the conclusions to which they for orders. point. He is very positive that cottons are as cheap to-day in Canada, quality for quality, 'as anywhere else in the world.' He has ascertained the fact, made the comparison, detected the clay in the foreign article, and is able to youch for the purity the Canadian. He is thoroughly satisfied that, quality for quality, Canada is not actually selling cottons as cheap as they are being sold by or in any other country. If so, he has come perilously near to proving Mr. McCarthy's contention, so far as thing of the past. When he accepted the argument of quality and price and agreed to make it his own, he did not think of the precipice to which it led.'

Disappointment is expressed that iron has not been placed on the free list:

"Obviously the best way of encouraging manufactures is to free the materials on which they work. The most important omission in the free list is pig iron. The retention of the duty is for the purpose of protection. When we look back nearly a century on the American protection of iron we wonder when this policy is to cease."

We will essay an answer. While the rich iron, cotton, sugar and rubber goods men continue to subscribe large sums to the Conservative election funds, and a change of Government is delayed, just so long will the policy be kept in force. Independent public opinion should force a change of Government if for no other reason than to break up the iniquitous alliance, so that every Canadian may be left to enjoy the fruits of his labors with the minimum amount of taxation. The criticism of our independent commercial contemporary will hasten the change that now seems in-

A WEEKLY CLEAN-UP NEEDED. The results of a test made in England show that the steam producing power of town and city refuse is one-third that of every year for municipal purposes. When ordinary coal. With specially built destructors all cities could realize from their refuse a large amount of power for electric lighting or other purposes. Whether the refuse is burned or turned to account as a fertilizer, there can be no question that the co-operative civic system of collecting and removing the garbage is the only proper, the only economical method. London has not yet adopted it, but that is the loss and disadvantage of citizens. Years ago progressive Hamiltonians started an agitation to have city refuse removed weekly. It was found that the work would cost several thousands of dollars a year. The penny wise, pound foolish, civic barnacles at once raised the cry of extravagance and waste of public money. The cry did duty for several benefits of the proposed system before the public, and it was adopted. No one now thinks of repealing it. The householders

CHILDREN'S DAY.

The Midwinter Fair Visited by 90.917 People.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The children of California had another glorious day at the Midwinter Fair Saturday, and as special guests of the San Francisco Chroncle fairly took possession of the grounds and all the exhibits and concessions therein. No child was denied admission whether he had a ticket or not. They came from San Francisco and neighboring cities with their parents or other adult guardians until the total admission for the day reached a total of 90,907, about equally divided between young and old, breaking the fair record and making altogether the largest number of persons ever assembled in one place west of the Rocky Mountains.

Louisville, Ky., April 2 .- Dr. Rayl Cannon, of this city, received a letter yester-day from Lieut. E. P. They contend that the increase from 4 to 8 cents a gallon will not only militate gainst them, inasmuch as they are makers of malt vinegar and thus come under inland revenue regulations, but against the pickle makers whose wares have been exempted from a portion of protection they enjoyed under the old tariff.

A Big Conspiracy.

New York, April 2 .- A Herald's special from Shanghai says: "A widespread conspiracy to blow up the King of Korea's court and Ministers, during a religious festival, was discovered recently at Seoul through one of the plotters confiding in a foreign resident. Elaborate preparations had been made, including stealing all the gunpowder from the military stations. Several high officials and members of the royal family are implicated. Had the plot succeeded all foreigners residing in Seoul would undoubtedly have shared the fate of the Japanese in the similar attempt against the present king in 1888.

Fisheries Inspector Brickwood Gets Letters from All Over the Dominion Asking for Particulars About Dodd's Kidney Pills Curing Him of Chronic Rheumatism.

KINGSTON, April 2.—Inquiry develops the fact that the story of J.H. Brickwood's wonderful cure of his rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills has brought him cotton goes, that the need of protection is a notoriety. Mr. Brickwood daily receives letters from all quarters of Canada asking further particulars of his cure. He invariably answers that after all other remedies failed, Dodd's Kidney Pills restored him to health. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy in pill form ever offered the public. Its wonderful success in curing all forms of Kidney disease, has led to the introduction of numerous cheap and worthless imitations. Purchasers, for their own safety, should insist on getting Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes; price 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2 50. To be had of all dealers.

Still Another Day's Debate on the Budget,

The Canadian Farmer's Condition Not What It Should Be.

Mr. McInerney, the Member for Kent, N. B., Caught Tripping.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) OTTAWA, April 2.-The budget debate was resumed by Mr. Davin, of Assiniboia, N. W. T. He argued that if, as Sir Richard Cartwright asserted, there was a maximum disturbance in the tariff with a minimum of relief, great inroads must have been made in the interests of the manufacturers. He declared that Sir Richard Cartwright, in his amendment, was fishing for the support of the manufacturers. Mr. Davin spent a long time in reading what he termed "Laurier's protective theories," supported in a newspaper of which the Liberal leader was editor in C. S. Hyman, M.P., and George C. 1872, when Mr. Laurier rose and said: "The honorable gentleman will excuse me, but my paper was dead in 1872." Mr. Davin left his rhetorical performance and came to deal with the new tariff. There had been reductions on everything which entered into the construction of the settler's house. The duty had been reduced or taken off 50 or 60 articles which were connected with the home and 50 or 60 articles which benefited the mechanic. When these were put apart and the duties left on agricultural implements and barbed wire they kicked the beam. Mr. McDonald, of Huron, followed. He devoted some attention to Mr. Clark Wallace's statement that the value of farm buildings in Ontario had increased in the last ten years, and pointed out that as the number of farmers had increased in these ten years by 40,000 it would be strange if this additional number had done nothing to add to the value of farm property. Mr. McDonald's speech was-as is usual with this industrious member-largely statistical, and would therefore require a long report to do it justice. He proceeded to prove from figures that the condition of the farmer was not what it should be. He was still speaking at 6 o'clock.

After recess, Mr. McInerney (Kent. N. B.) continued the debate. He spoke well, but not wisely. The reciprocity treaty of 1856 with the United States, he stated, had been an unmixed evil.

Mr. Davies asked him why he supported a Government which tried to obtain a renewal of that treaty.

Mr. McInerney replied that what the Government tried to obtain was something very different. This was greeted by Opposition cries of dissent. Mr. McInerney declared that the Wilson Bill would not benefit Canada notwithstanding the lowering of duties under it of Canadian farm products. He did not deny the exodus from Canada, but claimed that it would have been greater but for the National Policy. He was very hard on the Liberals and the Liberal policy.

Mr. Forbes interrupting asked: "When did you cease to be a Liberal?" to which Mr. McInerney replied: "I never was a Liberal. I never belonged to the Liberal party. I always ran as an Independent and was driven from the Liberals by their foolish policy."

This naive confession of what he had in the same breath denied created great of the season leaving this harbor. laughter.

Messrs. Carrol and Semple, of the Opposition, continued the debate, and Mr. Sproule moved an adjournment, and will continue it to-morrow.

The confiscation at the Toronto Postoffice and consequent destruction at Ottawa of the copies of the Congressional Record, sent into Canada under the frank of a member of Congress some time ago, set free on farms adjacent to the city. was made the subject of a question in the House to-day by Mr. Gilmor.

The Postmaster-General replied that the locuments were not legislative papers and had been sent to the dead letter office. Mr. Laurier asked what were they, and ome one replied-"A copy of a speech in in the House of Representatives."

Mr. Foster called out-"A bad speech" -and Mr. Laurier replied: "Yes, from your point of view." It was the copy of the Congressional Record which contained Henry George's work on "Free Trade vs. Protection," which contained sucha strong arraignment of the policy of protection.

The bill giving the Minister of Marine power to appoint a deputy harbor master was given the third reading.

In reply to Mr. Brodeur the Postmaster-General said that Mr. King, the postoffice inspector for the Montreal division, was superannuated last year and that the question of his successor was under consideration.

Mr. Brodeur asked if it was the intention of the Government to submit to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in England, the questions already submitted to the Supreme Court in Canada in relation to the Manitobaschools. Mr. Thompson replied that the answer involved two points as to which the Government were not informed. First, as to which party had the right to appeal, and second, as to which party desired to appeal. This the Government did not know. He also told the same gentleman that it was not the intention of the Government to increase the salaries of the judges this session. The Postmaster-General stated that it was not the intention to reduce letter postage from 3 to 2 cents, nor to reduce the fee for registration.

Dr. Landerkin informed the Government that he had received letters from a reeve in his county stating that a fatal and mys. terious disease had broken out among cattle in three different townships. Sir John Thompson said he would have the matter inquired into at once.

Mr. Foster stated, in reply to Mr. Kenny, that the item in the new tariff imposing a duty of 10 per cent on tea not imported direct without transhipment was not intended to apply to cases of mere transshipment. Mr. Kenny feared that the interpretation of the item would have the effect of imposing the duty on tea imported via England, which was last year over tractor-the great sure-pop corn cure-acts £7,000,000. The design of the item is, in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, evidently to apply solely to tea imported acts speedily and with certainty; sure and

He will also ask: Whether in view of the fact that the Minister of Finance has declared that he expects a deficit in the revenue for the current and succeeding fiscal year the Government intend to ask Parliament during this session for a vote of $750,000 for a fast Atlantic service.

Sir Richard Cartwright will also inquire the names of the several papers included in the order in council, classified as class "A," class "B" and class "C."

Sir Richard Cartwright intends to ask if the Government intends to order any proceedings to be taken to recover the sum lost by the failure of the Exchange Bank from the party who guaranteed the original deposits.

and Commerce. Clarke Wallace, as Controller of Customs, claims the right to the patronage of his department, while Mr. Bowell is determined to have some say in the matter. The statute which created the Controller of Customs conveyed to him the same duties and powers hitherto enjoyed by the Minister of Customs, such duties and powers, however, being subject to the supervision or control of the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Any recommendations to council from the Controller of Customs must go through the Minister of Trade and Commerce, who takes care of them in council. Hence the deadlock.

READY TO WEAR.

These days it is needless to worry over the making and fitting of House Costumes, Wrappers, etc., especially when the material alone costs as much as a ready-made garment.

The day is not far distant when sewing machines, for the most part, will be found in museums, factories and large tailoring and dressmaking establishments; at least those who spend their time in forecasting the future say so, and we wouldn't be a bit surprised.

The wonder to us is how such beautiful Print Wrappers, duck, drillette, pique and tweed costumes, such as are now before us, can be put together so tastefully for so little money. It must be because the demand is so great that the manufacturers are able to make large quantities.

We ordered a large quantity with the firm belief that they would find their way out of our hands in quick order. We have not been in error, those on exhibition in our big show window having already brought them to public attention.

The Print Wrappers are of fine goods, handsome Persian patterns, fancy ruffles, large puft sleeves. Prices-$1 25, $1 50,

A FEW years ago, during the discussion of the clauses of a bill before the House of Commons, a member moved to omit all the words in a clause after the word "which," and this was carried without anyone having moved an addition. The result was that one clause of the bill ended with the word "which," and the discovery of its meaning naturally passed the wit of man.

AUSTRALIA is greatly perturbed over the emigration movement to Paraguay. The Government of Paraguay has given nearly 500,000 acres of good land for settlement to Australian colonists, or others of suitable standing in means and character who join them, and there is an expectation that 10. 000 persons may settle on the lands. All who go from old to new Australia are teetotalers and have a considerable amount saved, and the loss of a few thousand men of that stamp is a serious matter. South Australia has, therefore, passed a village settlement act, under which those who want to cultivate land are very favorably dealt with. Then comes the question whether the Australian land is as good as that in Paraguay, and it is not. But there are disadvantages there as well.

THE POLICE MILL.

A Charge of Forgery May Be Laid Against Lawrence Haylock.

Accused of Circumventing a Board Bill -Wife Beating-A Long Lost Watch.

At the Police Court this morning P. C. Johnston told of a visit he paid to the home of Ira Halliday the night before. He found Mrs. Halliday with her head cut and the husband drunk. The latter had hit her on the head with a chair, she said.
"I didn't intend to," pleaded Halliday

"You didn't, eh?" said the P. M. "Perhaps you didn't intend to get drunk. Tendollars or twenty days! If you had been charged with wife-beating I would have sent you to the Central sure."

Mr. McIntosh, engineer at the General Hospital, was in the habit of lending his $20 watch to George Adams, his assistant. In February, 1893, Adams helped himself to it and never returned it. The police have been looking for Adams and the watch ever since but only captured the man

Mr. McIntosh related how the watch had been taken from his vest pocket in the engine room on Feb. 16, and how Adams disappeared at the same time. Adams had evidently been drinking. Mrs. Mary Parfrey, laundress at the hospital, said she had lent Adams a plain gold ring and $5 in cash about the same time. She had never seen the cash, the ring, or the man since. Mr. Love-Where did you get the ring? Mrs. Parfrey-I bought it. Mr. Love-Didn't Adams buy it for you?

Witness-No. Mr. Love-What did you lend it to him

Witness-It was only in fun. Mr. McKillop objected to this line of examination. They were only trying the watch case. Detective Rider said the prisoner told him he had been lent the watch and had pawned it at Mrs. Levy's. Young Mr. Levy here produced his book showing a watch and ring had been pawned on Feb. 17 by a man fuses to discuss Brazilian affairs while of the building. Mrs. Burns held the door who resembled Adams. He remembered aboard the Mindello. DaGama expresses and the burglar ran to the window, looked Adams got $450 for them, and both were gratitude for Admiral Benham's friendly afterwards redeemed by a railway brake-

James Adams testified to the generally good character of his brother, who, he said, was drunk on Feb. 17. The magistrate with beri-beri, or yellow fever, and are found the prisoner guilty and will sentence huddled together exposed to the weather. unblemished reputation may be put in meanwhile.

AN ALLEGED FORGERY. Lawrence Haylock was charged with obtaining $10 80 under false pretenses by beating his board bill at James Burnett's restaurant. The prosecution presented a slip of paper to which ex-Ald. John Boyd's name was signed. The document stated that Mr. Boyd would be responsible is a pure forgery-he never saw the paper. This more serious crime may be charged against the prisoner and the case was postponed for a day to make preparation. Mr. J. D. O'Neill will defend Haylock.

The Republicans made large gains in Monday's municipal elections in Ohio. Congressman W. L. Wilson, author of the Wilson Bill, is rapidly gaining in weight and strength. In a desperate fight between Indians and white settlers in the Cheyenne country hists, died Jan. 17 last, and his funeral, west of El Reno, O. T., a few days ago two white men and five Indians were killed. Nicaragua has sent a confidential note to all the other Central American Governments inviting them to join her in a protest against British interference in the Musquito territory. Sunday night 200 armed men took Pol-land English out of the jail at Baskerville, N. C., and lynched him. English was a white man, and had murdered his 18-year-fore the railway committee of the Legislature this morning. Messrs, Hellmuth and Break, of London, were present in the interests of the bill, and Mayor Essery and Ald. Story Window-He Will Die. CHICAGO, April 3 .- While making a desperate attempt to escape capture at the hands of a plucky woman, a burglar detected pillaging a room at No. 346 State street yesterday morning was forced to jump from a third stay window and will die. The man had intended to rob the rooms in the flat occupied by Mrs. William Burns. Mrs. Minnie Rhinehardt, who acts as housekeeper for Mrs. Burns, entered one of the rear rooms of the flat about 9 o'clock to put it in order. As she opened the door she saw a man on his knees before a trunk, which he was trying to break open. She concluded at once that he was a burglar and she screamed for help. Mrs. Burns, who was near by, heard the cry and ran to the room. The man, who had jumped to his feet as he heard the door open, seemed very much frightened. At the door of the room stood Mrs. Rhinehardt screaming. Mrs. Burns then rushed by her and placed herself between the burglar and the stairway, the only means of escape. Then she called lustily for her husband, who was in another part out, and then, climbing out on the window sill. leaped.

He had evidently just begun his work in the place. The police were unable to identify the burglar. His injuries will be fatal.

EVIDENCE AGAINST DUNNE. Committed for Trial on the Charge of Attempted Criminal Assault. James Dunne, the young man accused of attempting on March 21 to criminally assault 16-year-old Margaret Peasketh in Biddulph township, was arraigned at the ships remain beyond the expiration of the court house this morning betore Squire J. B. Smyth. The prisoner acted in a very indifferent manner. The girl, Margaret, was also present with her father and mother. Mr. Magee represented the crown.

Margaret Peasketh, the girl concerned, said that on the day in question she had gone to the stable to feed the pigs. After she had done so, she was about to return to the house when Danne caught hold of her, tripped her and threw her down. She resisted his violence and a few minutes later the children came to the door. Dunne jumped into a manger saying, "Here comes the old man." The witness then went to the house and informed her mother of what had happened. Mrs. Peasketh, the mother of Margaret, had spoken to the prisoner the day after about his conduct. Dunne told her that if anything further were said about the matter he would cut his throat from ear to ear, and drew a knife from his pocket. He then confessed to having attempted assault upon the girl. John Peasketh, the father of the girl, also gave evidence, and Dunne was committed till Friday for trial.

The position was, indeed, one of great difficulty, nor can I now think of any way out of it better or other than that which I adopted. Against the wall near the head of the stairs I had noticed, as I came up, a stout wooden stool, I stole out and tetched this, and setting it against the opposite wall, endeavored in this way to get suffi-cent purchase for my feet. The lock still held; but as I threw my whole weight on the door, the panel against which I leaned gave way and broke inwards with a loud, crashing sound, which echoed in the empty house, and might almost have been heard in

It reached the ears, at any rate, of the men sitting below, and I heard them troop noiselessly out in the hall, now talking loudly, and now listening. A minute of preatbless suspense followed-it seemed a long minute; and then, to my relief, they tramped back again, and I was free to return to my task. Another thrust, directed little lower, would, I hoped, do the business; but to make this the more certain I knelt down and secured the stool firmly against the wall. As I rose after settling it, something else, without sound or warning, rose also, taking me completely by surprise -a man's head above the top stair, which, as it happened, faced me. His eyes met mine and I knew I was discovered. He turned and bundled downstairs again with a scared face, going so quickly that I could not have caught him if I would, or had the wit to try. Of silence there was no longer need. In a few seconds the alarm would be raised. I had small time for thought. Laying myself bodily against the door, I heaved and pressed with all my strength; but whether I was careless in my haste, or the cause was other, the lock did not give. Instead the stool slipped, and I fell with a crash on the floor at the very moment the alarm reached the men below.

I remember that the crash of my unlucky fall seemed to release all the prisoned moises of the house. A faint scream within the room was but a prelude, lost the next moment in the roar of dismay, the clatter of weapons, the volley of oaths and cries and curses which, rolling up from below, echoed hollowly about me, tas the startled knaves rushed to their weapons, and charged across the flags and up the staircase. I had space for one desperate effort. Picking myself up, I seized the stool by two of its legs and dashed it twice against the door, driving in the panel I had before splintered. But that was all. The lock held, and I had no time for a third blow. The men were already half way up the stairs. In a breath almost they would be upon me. I flung down the useless stool and snatched up my sword, which lay unsheathed beside me. So far the matter had gone against us, but it was time for a change of weapons now, and t' a end was not yet. I sprang to the head of the stairs and stood there, my arm by my side and my point resting on the floor, in such an attitude of preparedness as I could compass at the moment.

For I had not been in the house all this time, as may well be supposed, without deciding what I would do in case of surprise, and exactly where I could best stand on the defensive. The flat bottom of the lamp which hung outside the passage threw a deep shadow on the spot immediately below it, while the light fell brightly on the steps beyond. Standing in the shadow I could reach the edge of the stairs with my point, and swing the blade freely, without fear of the balustrade; and here I posted myself with a certain grim satisfaction as resnoy, with his three comrades behind him, came bounding up the last flight.

They were four to one, but I laughed to see how, not abruptly, but shamefacedly and by degrees, they came to a stand half-way up the flight, and looked at me. measuring the steps and the advantage which the light shining in their eyes gave Fresnoy's ugly face was rendered uglier by a great strip of plaster which marked the place where the hilt of my sword had struck him in our last encounter at Chize; and this and the hatred he bore to me gave a peculiar malevolence to his The deaf man, Matthew, whose savage stolidity had more than once excited my anger on our journey, came next to him, the two strangers whom I had seen in the hall bringing up the rear. Of the four, these last seemed the most anxious to come to blows, and had Fresnoy not barred the way with his hand we should have crossed swords without parley. "Halt, will you!" he cried, with an oath, thrusting one of them back. And then to me he said, "So, so, my friend! It is you,

I looked at him in silence, with a scorn which knew no bounds, and did not so much as honor him by raising my sword, though I watched him heedfully. "What are you doing here?" he continued, with an attempt at bluster.

Still I would not answer him, or move, but stood looking down at him. After a moment of this, he grew restive, his temper being churlish and impatient at the best. Besides I think he retained just as much of gentleman's feelings as enabled him to nderstand my contempt and smart under it. He moved a step forward, his brow dark with passion. "You beggarly son of a scarecrow!" he broke out on a sudden, adding a string of foul imprecautions, "will you speak, or are you going to be spitted where you stand? you going to be spitted where you stand ? If we once begin, my bantam, we shall not stop until we have done your business! If you have anything to say, say it, and—"

But I omit the rest of his speech, which was foul beyond the ordinary.

Still I did not move or speak, but looked at him unwavering, though it pained me to think the women heard. He made a last attempt. "Come old friend," he said, swallowing his anger again, or pretending to do so, and speaking with a vile bonhomie to do so, and speaking with a vile bonhomie which I knew to be treacherous, "if we come to blows we will give you no quarter. But one chance you shall have, for the sake of old days when we followed Conde. Go! Take the chance, and go. We will let you pass, and that broken door shall be the worst of it. "That is more," he added with a curse, "than I would do for any other man in your place. M. de Marsac." man in your place, M. de Marsac.'

ais words were heard there; and these younds being followed immediately by a hoise as of riving wood, mingled with the quick breathing of someone hard at work, I judged that the women were striving with the door-enlarging the opening it might be. I dared not look round, however, to see what progress they made, nor did I answer Fresnoy, save by the same silent contempt, but sood watching the men before me with the eye of a fencer about to engage. And I know nothing more keen, more vigilant, more steadfast than that.

It was well I did, for without signal or warning the group wavered a moment, as though retreating, and the next instant pre-cipitated itself upon me. Fortunately only days. two could engage me at once, and Fresnoy, lead, pressed me briskly, Matthew seconding him in appearance, while really watching for an opportunity of running in and stabbing me at close quarters, a maneuver I was not slow to detect. That first bout lasted half a minute only. A fierce exultant joy ran through me as the steel rang and grated, and I found that I had not mistaken the strength of wrist or position. The men were mine. They hampered one another on the stairs, and fought in fetters, being unable to advance or retreat, to lunge with freedom, or give back without fear. I apprehended greater danger from Matthew than from my actual opponent, and presently, watching my op-portunity, disarmed the latter by a strong parade, and sweeping Matthew's sword aside by the same movement, slashed him across the forehead; then, drawing back a step, gave my first opponent the point. He fell in a heap on the floor, as good as dead, and Matthew, dropping his sword, staggered backwards and downwards into Fresnoy's

"Bonne Foi! France et Bonne Foi!" It seemed to me that I had not spoken, that I had plied steel in grimmest silence; and yet the cry still rang and echoed in the roof as I lowered my point, and stood looking grimly down at them. Fresnoy's face was disfigured with rage and chargrin. They were now but two to one, for Matthew, though the wound was slight, was disabled by the blood which ran down into his eyes and blinded him. "France et Bonne Foi!" "Bonne Foi and good sword!" cried a voice behind me. And looking swiftly around, I saw mademoiselle's face thrust through the hole in the door. Her eyes sparkled with a fierce light her, lips were red beyond the ordinary, and her hair leasened and the waintstilled. loosened and thrown into disorder by her exertions, feil in thick masses about her white cheeks, and gave her the aspect of a war-witch, such as they tell of in my country of Brittany. "Good sword!" she cried again and clapped her hands.

At Death's Door .- Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING

[Copyright 1894 by Charles Austin Bates.] It is no doubt true that keeping your name continuously before people will pay you if you do it long enough and nobody else does any better advertising than that.

I do not believe in generalities. "All kinds of staple and fancy groceries," "A full line of drygoods and notions"-such things were said 50 years ago, and some men persist in the folly even now.

All that a general ad. ever does is to 'keep your name and business before people." Now, isn't your name and business kept before people just the same, or a little better, when you advertise some special thing or things? It surely is, and besides that, you have the benefit of a direct de-mand for the thing advertised. That is, of course, provided that the thing is a good thing and at a low enough prize to make it strongly desirable. It does no good to advertise something that people don't want. The way to stir up trade is to take some item that there is naturally a demand for and put a deeply-cut price on it. That will bring people to the store and they'll buy other things-at least you won't lose anything, for many of them would not have come without the extra inducement. The idea of drawing people with special offerings is perfectly legitimate, even when the only object is to get them into the store, for in that way they get acquainted with the store and the stock, and if they are all right, will come again.

There are plenty of times when special bargains are offered, the object being merely to sell the goods quickly and no thought being taken of the value of the sale from the point of advertising advantage. It is well to explain why the prices are made lower than usual. Give a good, honest reason for it. The honester you can be in your ads. the better people will ike it. Not only be honest, but let the ads. show and prove that you are. People like to know the why of everything nowa-

The advertisement of the future will be one that will leave out any idea of being funny or "catchy." It will tell store news plainly, clearly, honestly! When it talks about goods it will tell something about them. If they are good the ad. will not only say so, but will say why. If they are

PALATABLE DIET!

Lactated Food Fills the Bill.

Mothers ond nurses lose sight of the fact that "palatableness" has much to do with a baby's every-day food. It is well known that breast milk, cow's milk and the majority of prepared foods are often unpalatable to babes, and when continued and forced upon them do great injury.

All babes love and relish Lactated Food; they thrive upon it, and grow robust and strong. It should be remembered that Lactated Food possesses the most nourishing and strengthening elements that can enter a food for infants' use. Perfect digestive vigor is the great result when Lactated Food is used. Cross, whining, peevish and sickly babies are speedily made happy and well when mothers give them a regular diet of this life-sustaining food.

CHARGED WITH MUR LER.

Said to Have Struck a Sleeping Babe With an Aze. St. Thomas Journal. April 2.]

All the latest Spring Novelties. A fine dis-play of SPRING CAPES. Inspection in-rited. Mr. Washington Doxtater (Indian), Middlesex county constable, was in the city on Saturday and informed County Attorney Donahue of the particulars of a charge of murdering his own child brought against the constable's own cousin, a young Indian named Doxtater. It appers that Doxtater had been living with another Indian's squaw for some years, and that they had a little child two or three years of age. They lived in a hut near Rodney. One night last week the Indian and the squaw quarreled and it is charged that Doxtater threatened to kill her. They were in bed at the time and the Indian got that interests the PUBLIC is not up and went out to get an axe to carry out so much the adjustment of the his purpose. The squaw, while the Indian was out, got out of the bunk and went into another one. Doxtater returned with an axe, and aimed a blow with it at the FARIFF as how to light the morning FIRE in the quickest bunk, where he supposed the woman was sleeping, and it being dark he could not see. The axe descending struck the sleeping child on the side. Solve the Problem The squaw, so the story goes, picked up the child and fled to some Indian friends of hers in the neighborhood of Belmont. There the child died last Thursday, and was interred in Oneidatown, in the county of Middlesex.

County Attorney Magee was seen in regard to the matter, but the alleged murder having been committed in Elgin county wrote to County Crown Attorney Donahue and sent the officer over to see him. Mr. Donahue instructed Dr. Guston, coroner, to hold an inquest. The doctor has ordered the body to be exhumed, and instructed Dr. VanBuskirk to make a post-mortem examination. The inquest will be held tomorrow at noon at Southwold Station.

We presume that every man who is now 21 years of age desires to vote at the ensuing general elections for the Province. All whose names are on the voters' lists now, or are placed within the next few days, will be so entitled. The only qualifi-

1. That the applicant has lived in the Province for twelve months past.

2. That he is living in London now. 3. That he is a British subject.

4. That he is 21 years of age at this date.

Many young men have come of age since the lists were made up. Many persons have moved into the city since 1st July last. All these can have their names put on the list. They are not there now, and must be put on in the way provided by aw. Those qualified as above stated should see the Liberal secretary at the rooms. Oddfellow's Block, any afternoon or evening, and make the necessary arrangements.

Who Stole the Bun? Hamilton has a mean man who is said to have given his children a copper to go to bed without their supper and then become possessed of the copper after the children were asleep; St. Thomas is alleged to have a man so mean that he stops his clock every night to save wear and tear on the wheels, but with a fair field and no favors London has at last produced a person who will take a gold medal and diploma with either on the score of meanness. When the Chinamen visited the grave of their countryman in Mount Pleasant on Sunday, among other things they planted there was a dozen of buns. They had not gone over half an hour before there were only eleven buns. London's champion mean man is the one who stole the missing bun. In common parlance "He takes the bun."

A Laugh on the Girls. A good joke was played on the girls of Marion recently by the young men of that town. The boys had been rather remiss in their attentions to the young ladies, and had been "stagging" it to the theater, parties, etc., until the girls got tired of being left out in the cold, and decided to show their independence. Consequently fifteen of the girls hired a box at the theater and made a very charming theater party. The play was, "Wanted—A Husband," and the girls sat serene through it all, never dreaming that the wicked boys had taken one of the largest, flaring post-"Wanted-A Husband," and fastened it around the box so that all the audience might read .- [Indianapolis Sentinel.
