BELGIAN KING AND QUEEN ENTER GHENT WHILE CHEERING CROWDS SHOWER THEM WITH FLOWERS

Official Entrance of Belgium's Rulers to Famous City Is Marked With Outbursts of Joy From Thousands of Enthusiast ic People.

Whent, Nov. 13.-King Albert, Queen Estzabeth and Prince Leopold of Belglum made their official entrance into Ghent today. Huge crowds, delirious with enthusiasm, lined the streets. The coyal party moved through cheering through samid showers of roses and through them. thropgs amid showers of roses and shryaanthemums. Every baloony, window and roof was covered with people, tome of whom clung perilously near to channeys and cornices. The royal party extered through the Bruges gate at 11 p'clock. The king wore the uniform of a Belgian general without decorations. Trince Leopold, in the uniform of a palvate soldier of a second-line regiment, rode a white prancing Arabian. Both the king and the prince had steel helmets on their heads. The king rode tall bay horse. The queen looked slenter and girlish as she sat on her huge brown horse with elegant ease. She fore a simple champagne-colored tabit. The troops which entered the city braned the first division of the Belgian Lamy. In peace times the men were markered at Ghent.

Faception for Veterans.
They were given a great reception by the offizens, their battered helmets and attared uniforms bearing evidence of the recent fighting. The flag borne by the troops was inscribed with the name of "Clarckem," the place where this division smashed the German lines on September 28 and entered Houtholst Forest. The royal party halted in the centre of place D'Armes and reviewed the whole first division, these soldiers being veterans of the whole four years' war. As the regiment filed pest, with their limits playing, the king and prince chuted, and the queen bowed and the time of the courter of the whole four years' war. Reception for Veterani

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Not for years have such happy anniversary services been held in the First Presbyterian Church as those of yesterday, owing to the fact that associated with them was thanksgiving for peace restored to the earth. Reference to the course of the war and success which has finally rested with the arms of the Allies figured prominently in both the morning and evening sermons of the anniversary preacher, Rev. J. H. Turnbull, M.A., of Toronto.

"The meek shall inherit the earth" was the text associated with the title "The Conqueror" for the foremoon sermon.

Denvisor his illustrations from history.

Drawing his illustrations from history, fr. Turnbull emphasized the lesson that Mr. Turnbull emphasized the lesson that Germany is not the first great nation which has known a great fall through attempting to dominate by might. The Jews, Assyrians, Romans had in turn become mighty in the earth, only to be conquered when they sought to dominate by might rather than to be guided

At the anniversary services held in the Calborne Street Methodist Church last evening by Rev. Dr. R. G. Peever, the church was beautifully decorated with the flags of all nations. Mr. Peever said that in the past four months the greatest change ever known to civilization had taken place. In the four months, plans had been made to evacuate the southern towns of England, as the war condition had got so serious, but it was the hand of God that had made the change and brought victory, and from now on there is to be a new world and conditions will never again be the same as they have been in the past, and it will be the welfare of the people that will be looked to after this. The Iron Barriers.

The theme announced for the evening sermon, "The Iron Gates" was interpreted as the barriers in the way of success which block the progress of individuals as well as nations. The mighty armies of the Hun proved a formledable barrier in the pathway of the Allies in achieving their objective—the world. At times the obstacle was so overpowering that no light penetrated. But the apparently unconquerable has been conquered, and after long, persistent and patient battering, the iron gate has suddenly crumbled.

The obvious lesson was that gates of iron cannot prevail against the individual, community or nation that has

LONDON IS BEST PLACE ON MAP TO LIVE IN. SAYS HARRY BENNETT

Makes Pointed Remarks On Sabbath Activities.

In a letter from the front, Harry Bennett, who writes that he is still Irish instead of Scotch as the papers reported him, says that he is glad to see that London is still progressing. "It still looks the best place on the map to me. This is an easy place to die in, but the Forest City is an easy place to live in." Speaking of the controversy over Sunday band concerts he says in part, "I only wish the L. D. A. had enough influence to keep 'Hindy' from strafing us on Sundays. Last Sunday we had to go to church service in companies of us on Sundays. Last Sunday we had to go to church service in companies of not more than three. I have not seen a church building for over three months now that was not in a wrecked condition. We worship in the open air or any convenient place, and I think the prayers ascend as quickly."

many of our Canadian lads fought and laid down their lives that we might have liberty, surpassed the battle of Waterloo," said Rev. W. M. Rochester of Toronto, speaking in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening, and commenting on the gallantry of the Canadians. "Never in the history of the world have we been given the opportunity to thank God for so great a victory been won. We can tell the lads who return home what we owe them, but to those who have gone before us, we many of our Canadian lads fought and who return home what we owe them, but to those who have gone before us, we are only able to pay a silent tribute which cannot be expressed. Now is the time for reconstruction and readjustment. The only way we can repay the Lord for his goodness in this hour is by consecrating ourselves to him. Thousands have given their lives and the least we can do is to consecrate ours, and we must meet the demands of reconstrucwe can do is to consecrate ours, and we must meet the demands of reconstruction as the rock meets the wave."

At the morning service, Mr. Rochester spoke on the necessity of keeping Sunday hallowed, and said that if the Lord's Day Alliance act were suspended for any length of time, the Sabbath Day would be a thing of the past. "Now that the war is over, there should be no necessity of working on Sunday. Munitions will no longer be required in the quantity they were during the war. Milk factories, which have also been working on Sunday in order to keep the allied forces supplied, should discontinue Sunday manufacture also," declared Mr. Rochester.

In no English elections of recent times has this country been so directly affected as it will be by the result of the polling in the British Isles. The next British Government, whatever its political nature, will have the task of leading the empire at the peace table. In many respects it will be the dominating delegate and so closely have all sections of the empire become associated through the war that any policy the home government supports will, if secured, react vitally on the affairs of the overseas dominions. Much of our economic future will be guided and controlled by the international conditions evolved from the coming peace conference. The "freedom of the seas" issue, the immediate problems of raw material and marine tonnage must all be met and solved so that in the reconstruction we will start on the same terms with competitors. Sane, unselfish, broad-gauge statesmanship will be required for the task. Many Canadians, without any thought of interference in the domestic affairs of the motherland, believe the interests of Canada will be best served at the peace meeting by a return to power of Lloyd George. His keen judgment, tact, tenacity, courage and his amazing genius for getting to the essential thing in the most direct and effective way seem to make the British premier the logical leader for the difficult task of readjust-

And if Union Government in England has proved a success under the terrific test of the world convulsion, why should it be dropped?
Britain's coalition ministry was born out of the necessity for harmonious co-operation and avoidance of friction at a critical hour. That the coming of peace should end its usefulness is poor reasoning. The many great problems, domestic and otherwise, that have to be tackled will be the more rapidly and justly disposed of if there is none of the hampering distraction of party feud and warfare. Of course there are union governments and "union" governments. Lloyd George ments and "union" governments. Lloyd George wersion it is professing to.

"WE WON THE WAR!"

OASTFUL and loud-mouthed people in every nation will say that "We won the war." The Advertiser heard a young Greek proclaiming this to the world the other day, but he was quickly rebuked by an older and wiser compatriot. One has not heard many Canadians making the boast, and least of all is it heard from the men who have been up against the grim struggle itself. But Canadians have been heard saying that they have known Americans to shout "We won the war" and there is an element across the line, certainly in the minority, which thinks that | tables or fish; it's all the same to Mr. Hoover." the force of Uncle Sam in itself decided the issue.

But while this may be true of certain Americans it is not true of the great, self-respecting majority who are simply thankful to God, to France, to Britain, to Canada and to their own brave men that the marvellous team play brought the ghastly combat to a close. Sir,-Let us, as Americans, in this hour of triumph, seek to give all honor due to our noble allies, Great Britain, France and Italy. Let us never forget their unprecedented sacrifices. Shall we then continue to countenance the many utterances in public and in private life which boast that the "Yanks Won the War" or "America Saved the Whether or not we of ourselves could have defeated Germany is a question we need not either ask or answer, for which let us thank God and our allies. 3. Notwithstanding Jacob's great blessings, and God's promise, he was still mortally afraid to meet Esau; how do you account for it? Golden Text—A soft answer turneth away wrath.—Prov. xv., 1. PRAYER PREPARES US FOR PAIN. After many years Jacob is returning to his old home. He has become a man of substance, and is blessed with man of substance, and is bessed with a large family. As he comes to Mahanaim with his wives and children, with his flocks and herds and many servants, he learns that Esau and his men of war are a little ahead of him and coming to meet him. Jacob was thrown into consternation for fear of thrown into consternation for fear of the vengeance of Esau; so after he had sent his family and herds across the ford Jabbok, he tarried on where he was, and prayed all night long, having wrestled with an angel and prevailed. His prayer was for victory over himself, and that the heart of Esau might be forgiving and tender toward him. God answered his prayer and prepared him for the painful meeting.

Applies to Sallors.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have an American friend who is in the navy with the coast guards in American waters, I would like to send him a box, but don't know if boxes are allowed to be sent. Would you please let me know if possible, as I would like very much to know. I will send a recipe for pumpkin marmalade for "Irish Girl." It is one I cut out of your page last winter, and it is good. I will also send recipe for red cabbage for "Mother of Four Girls and Two Boys." Hope this will be a little help.

Pumpkin Marmalade.—Cut 8 pounds of yellow pumpkin into small pleces and mix with 9 pounds sugar. Let stand 12 hours. Then peel 6 oranges and 6 lemons, boil rind of 2 oranges and 2 lemons for two hours, changing water two or three times, then cut off as much of white as possible to prevent bitterness. Chop remainder of rind and odd to rest of fruit, and holl two or add to rest of fruit, and boil two or three hours; put in jars and keep in three hours; put in jars and keep in dark place.

Red Cabbage.—Have vinegar, sugar and spices on stove hot, then chop cabbage and put in the vinegar, scald slightly, put it in crock and turn a plate over it and it will keep all winter. I use whole pickling spice and tie them in a thin rag or cheesecloth.

Ans.—Yes, parcels may be sent to sailors in the American coast guards. A parcel of seven pounds or less may be mailed, the cost being 16 cents a pound. This information is given out by the London postoffice.

Thank you for the nice-sounding recipes. recipes.

First Quarter.

Beaches won the toss and kicked off with a slight breeze behind them from the west. Lockhart took the kick off and returned to McCurry, who ran back 40 yards. A foozled kick lost possession for Beaches at the Fyers' quarter. Following a series of line plays McCurry took a punt and again tore through for a good gain. Beaches lost possession for offside at their 30-yard line, but regained possession for the same reason. The first down, Pearson returned McCurry's punt to the dead line for a point. Flyers 1, Beaches 0.

Lockhart kicked over the line and McCurry just managed to get out. narter time score: Flyers 1, Beaches 0.

Second Quarter.

A blocked kick gave possession on Beaches' line, but they lost the ball for interference. An exchange of kicks moved the ball to the Fyers' quarter. Rennie broke them for 25 yards. An onside kick by Pearson was saved by Bee, who returned over Lockhart's head, Lockhart barely recovering on his own ten-yard line. Interference gave Beaches the ball, and after two attempts to break through Attrell booted to the dead line tying the score.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Dicky "Came Back" to Madge Too Spent For Logical Speech.

I hurried to my husband's room in tremulous, fearful wonder as to what his unexpected summons could mean. I found him with eyes closed, lying in his bed, wrapped in his heavy bathrobe and with the blankets piled high over him, and realized that he must have had one of those nervous chills to which he had been subject when overfatigued ever since his accident.

He hadn't heard my footsteps, purposely noiseless as I entered, and had time to look longingly and pityingly at the tense lines graven round his still boylsh mouth, at the pallor and thinness of the face go dear to me, before he opened his eyes.

In them, as he looked up at me, I saw no trace of the contempt which had so stung me every time his eyes had met mine in the last few days. Instead, I read rellef, remorse, love and longing. With a little inarticulate cry of joy I ran to him, dropped on my knees beside his bed and gathered his head into my arms. What had occasioned the change I didn't stop to inquire. It was enough for me that "Richard was himself again."

But the first sound of his voice told me that while his soul held no more than wind the silpping of my arms from around him. But when she had settled him in an easy position I still leaned against the bed, too spent to rise.

My mother-in-law noiselessly wheeled a light wicker couch, a favorite article of Dicky's close beside me, and, moving quickly, quietly, efficiently, soon had made upon it a warm, comfortable bed of blankets. Without again s_eaking to me he went out of the door, returning a moment later with Katie.

"Help her up, Katie," she whispered, and then, in obedience to my mother-in-law's signal, went out of the room.

"Help her up, Katie," she whispered, and then, in obedience to my mother-in-law's signal, went out for me that "Richard was himself again."

But the first sound of his voice told me that while his soul held no more rancor against me, yet he was far from being himself either physically or mentally. There was a flatness, a tonelessness about it that told of utter prostration of mind and body.

"I Know Everything."

"Mother—told—me—sweetheart," he whispered slowly, and a sudden surge of loving admiration rushed over me at the sturdy honesty of my mother-in-law's soul which would no longer, even at my request, allow me to suffer to save her from Dicky's censure. "But I couldn't—have—stood—it—much—longer—without you—dear. I—I—am so tired and—my—eyes—hurt—so."

around, all made out of salt. Great obelisks and tall pyramids containing vast chambers were lighted by chandeliers, so the very walls sparkled like millions of diamonds. Everywhere glistened great walls of grey salt.

"There are subterranean lakes on which we can take a sail," suggested Gocomeback.

Betty shook her head. She wanted to see them, but this didn't appeal to her as a very good boating place.

The miners were very kind and courteous to Gocomeback and Betty, and gave them cake to nibble on while they told Betty the legend attached to the finding of the great salt mines in Poland.

TUESDAY—WORDS OF WISE MEN ao We should choose our friends thoughtfully, wisely, prayerfully, but when we have pledged our lives we should be faithful whatever the cost may be.

Sperm whales are the richest prize of the ocean, yielding spermaceti from the savities in their heads, ivory from their lower jaws and rich yellow oil from their Every heart carries its weight of sor-row, but not for that may the life drop its work. If we refuse to be of use to others until we are free from troubles of our own, we shall spend our years in waiting and complaining.

The great secret of life is to know how in our own way to be receptive to the spirt, how to read the message of its inner whisperings.

What Everywoman Knows

Every year, dress fabrics are becoming sheerer and sheerer—the colors more dainty. The ordeal of trusting the delicate garments to "soap and water", however, is done away with by the use of Lux.

You may feel quite free to buy the daintiest blouse or underwear your purse can afford—without a bit of worry about the washing of them. You keep them fresh and new the Lux way-simply dipping them up and down in the creamy, copious Lux suds with never a bit of rubbing to injure them.

Lux won't hurt anything that pure water itself may touch. LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO.

MADE IN CANADA

Buy Tires by the Mile—

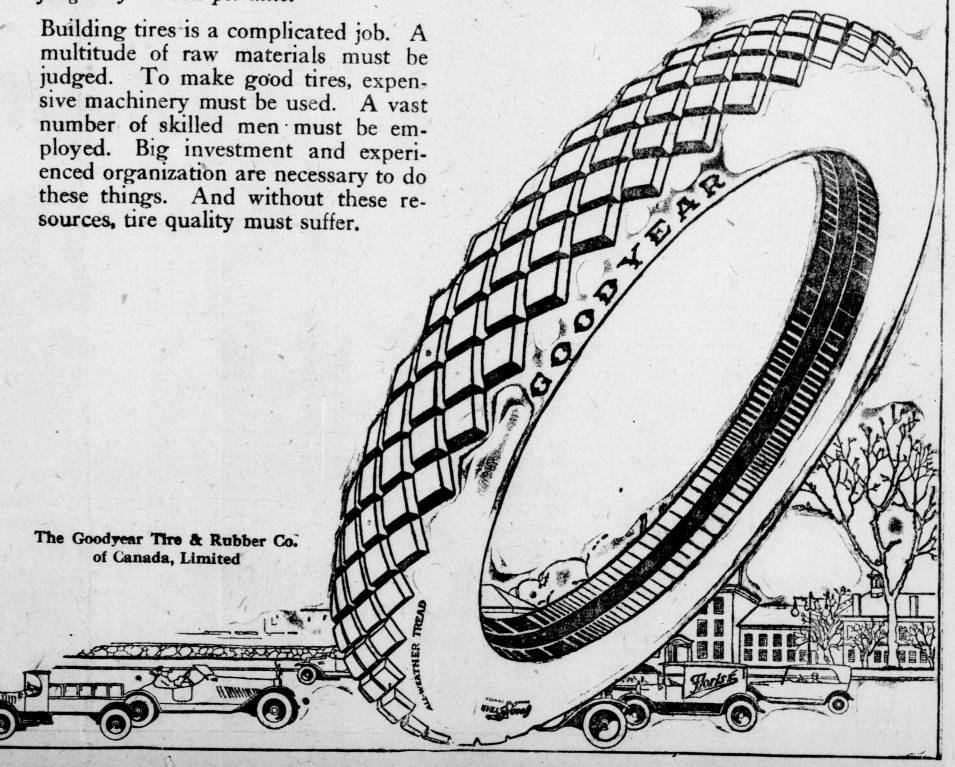

Any man will admit that 9 eggs at 45 cents are higher-priced than 12 eggs at 55 cents.

Yet, because the first cost is lower, many dealers offer tires that render only 70% or 80% of the service that good tires render.

That's not economy. It comes pretty close to criminal negligence in wasting labor and material. Tires should be judged by the cost-per-mile.

That Goodyear does consistently produce good tires is proved by Goodyear sales. Motorists buy more Goodyear Tires than other other brand in the world.

We could easily make less costly and therefore lower-priced tires with smooth or rough treads. But you would miss the lower cost-per-mile and satisfaction which those motorists now enjoy who have made Goodyear the best-selling tire in the world.

City Should Have 100,000 Populace, Says Controller.

"London inside of ten years will have a population of 100,000, if the nave a population of 100,000, if the opportunity that is looming ahead of us is seized," said Controller C. H. Merryfield this morning, referring to the conditions in the city. "One of the first steps that should be taken in this direction is the establishment of the commission form of government as prepared by form of government as proposed by Controller J. M. Moore. This would centralize all the activities of the city and would tend toward economy. There is altogether too much government in the city now with all the various committees and commissions and the commission government would do away with this evil." Mayor C. R. Somerville is of the opinion that the question should be fully discussed before it is put before the people.

Ald C. G. Moorhead thinks that the people should be allowed to choose the mayor instead of leaving this to the 24 commissioners, who will be elected under the proposed scheme. The question will be discussed at the meeting of the city council teniabt. council tonight.

Mary Pickford, the foremost motion picture actress in the world, appearing at the Majestic Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, in her latest production "Johanna Enlists." Mary Pickford is admittedly the foremost motion picture actress in the world. She has attained that distinction by her talents, her winsome personality, her delightful artistry, her perseverance and ungrudging ef-forts to give to her admirers the best that genius has to offer. That she has reached the apogee of her fame is not conceded, for she is young and the plenreached the apogee of her lame is not conceded, for she is young aim the business in the concedence of her powers is not yet achieved. The story of "Johanna Enlists" is based upon "The Mobilizing of Johanna," written by Rupert Hughes, one of the most celebrated of contemporaneous American authors. Mr. Hughes wrote, "We Can't Have Everything," which was scenarioized for Arteraft, and which scored an immense success all over the country. There is a fascination about Mr. Hughes' stories, and their beauties thus far have not been lost in their transla-

"My Nerves Were So Bad at Times that I Could Not Keep Back the Tears"

HEN the nerves collapse there is such a feeling of utter helplessness that strong men, as well as women, cannot do otherwise than weep.

The average physician is sadly at a loss when consulted by a nervous patient, and we have, from such an eminent authority as Dr. Richard Cabot, the statement that half the ordinary practitioners' work is with derangements of the nerves.

Think of the headaches, backaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains, the sleeplessness, indigestion and tired, depressed feelings that give the doctors their business, and you will realize the truth of this statement of Dr. Cabot.

The conditions under which people have lived during the last few years has meant enormous strain on the nervous system. The fear, the worry, the anxiety have wasted nerve force at such an enormous rate that persons of nervous temperament have been unable to stand the strain—the result is nervous collapse.

Recovery must necessarily be slow, and the average doctor, accustomed as he is to treating symptoms only, finds difficulty in bringing about restoration, and often fails to realize the helpless and discouraged condition of his patient.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the vital substances with which Nature rebuilds the starved and wasted nerve cells it stands out to-day as the greatest of nerve restoratives.

A careful reading of this letter will give you an idea of just what you may expect from the use of this treatment, because it describes an average case:

Mrs. S. Sharp, Midland, Ont., writes :-"About eleven years ago I had a serious nervous breakdown, and was so bad at times that I could not keep back the tears. I also had a queer feeling in the back of my head; some times it seemed to be going backwards. I could not do any sewing, and finally could no do work at all. I tried other remedies and doctors' medicine, but they only gave me temporary relief. Last fall I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and had not taken very many until I found I was getting better. I kept on taking them, and am at present greatly improved. I am now able to do my work, and they have strengthened me splendidly. I can highly re-commend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for nervous trouble of any kind."

The next step is to make the test of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in your own case. If you are careful to see the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy you will be sure that you are getting the genuine. 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

VOCATIONAL TALKS TO BE GIVEN BOYS A Baked AT "Y." THIS WINTER Apple

Committee Busy Arranging Is one of the nicest things you Season's Program.

To issue a pamphlet which will be of value to workers among boys by giving them information concerning the methods of working with their indi vidual groups, was one of the plan decided upon by the vocational guidance committee of the London advisory committee at the meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. recently, A committee was appointed to select speakers to prepare and give, if possible, vocational talks before high school students, technical and give, if possible, vocational talks before high school students, technical school students, eighth grade pupils, and working boys who do not attend school. The subjects which were chosen as of special interest, and which are to be taken by the various speakers are: "Choosing a Life's Work," "The Professional Field," "The Commercial Field" and "The Industrious Field." Wants Survey.

This committe has decided to approach the board of trade and ask it to take up the matter of vocational guidance, and if possible to hold a vocato take up the matter of vocational guidance, and if possible to hold a vocational survey. This survey will be concerned with the following matters: Professional, commercial and industrial opportunities in the city, age of entry, necessary preparations, minimum and necessary preparations, minimum and maximum salaries, and possibilities of

It was also urged that a vocational guidance bureau be established at the "Y." Information regarding recent surveys, suggestions, statistics, pamphlets, magazines and books could be then secured by those interested to help them in choosing a vocation. The committee which was increased, now consists of the following members: E. A. Miller, Ed. Reid, Rev. H. T. Fergusson, Rev. J. R. Laverle, Fred Landon, Richard Saunders and G. Sherwood Fox.

February is to be celebrated as "father and son" month. During the month a special effort to further the work of sex education will be made. June was set as the month in which the athletic meet is to be held. Guldance Bureau

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE

HONORS RETURNED

ST. MARYS, Nov. 17.—Coincident with the signing of the armistice, a reception was held in St. James' Hall. St. Marys, to honor two returned St. Marys nurses, Miss Ida Carr, who went overseas in the spring of 1915, and Mrs. Rose Miller, who went later.

Fourteen members of the McConnell Club, one of the financial supporters of the league, formed an arch with flags, under which the nurses passed up the main aisle of the hall, and on reaching the platform, little Miss Violet Black, who has three brothers in khaki, presented each nurse with a bouquet of chrysanthemums; while the audience waved flags and cheered enthusiastically.

waved flags and cheered enthusiastically.

Mrs. John Carr, mother of Miss Carr, and also honorary president of the league, was fittingly remembered with flowers presented by the president, Mrs. Butcher, who made very appropriate reference to the part mothers have taken in this world war.

Captain (Rev.) Masters then read a passage of scripture and led in a short prayer. Mrs. Miller reviewed her work which was chiefly among the French soldiers in a very interesting manner, telling of the heroism and bravery of the boys. A duet by Misses Butcher and Rae was much appreciated.

Miss Carr then spoke of her work, giving the domestic side of nursing—the gratefulness of the boys and their dependence on the nurses who are a real source of life and joy to them.

DISTINCTIVE RIBBON FOR EARLY VETERANS OF WAR

Announcement will be made within Announcement will be made within a short time regarding a distinctive ribbon to be worn by all soldiers who served in France during 1914 and 1915. Other years of service will be indicated by another kind of ribbon, it is expected.

Many London soldiers will win the honor of having been among the early volunteers, including those who served with the 1st Battalion, the 6th (later 12th) Battery, and the 18th Battalion.
