

U. S. INTERFERES
OVER HUDSON BAY

American Traders Told Not to Recognize Canada's Jurisdiction.

WASHINGTON'S ADVICE

American Government Evidently Intends to Dispute Control of the Dominion.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 28.—It is reported here that the United States has instructed whalers and traders sailing under the American flag to Hudson Bay to disregard the authority of Canadian officials in Arctic waters, and to refuse to pay the license fee required by Canada for fishing in Hudson Bay. It is understood the United States disputes Canada's jurisdiction over some of the islands in the Arctic, and will not admit that Canada has the right to insist upon regarding Hudson Bay as Canadian water, and, therefore, a closed sea.

Though the American craft carried such instructions last year none of them ventured to dispute the authority of Canada. Capt. Crom, master of the A. T. Gifford, which sailed recently from New Bedford, and who was in Ottawa obtaining his license before leaving for Hudson Bay, admitted that American traders and whalers had been informed from Washington that they should not recognize Canada's jurisdiction. However, he said, he had no intention to dispute the authority of Canada for the purpose of obliging Washington, as co-operation was better than conflict in the north and benefits received from the presence of Canada's authority in the north was well worth the cost of the license. However, it is evident that the United States intends to dispute Canada's jurisdiction in Hudson Bay.

MANCHURIAN LINES

St. Petersburg and Tokio Have Convention to Control All the Railways.

[Associated Press Cable.]

St. Petersburg, June 29.—A Russo-Japanese convention, dealing principally with the railroad situation in Manchuria, will be signed at the end of the present week in St. Petersburg by M. S. Gorkov, minister of foreign affairs, and Dr. Motono, the Japanese ambassador. The contents of the documents will be communicated, before the signing of the convention, to Great Britain and France.

Negotiations between Russia and Japan were begun shortly after Secretary of State Knox's neutralization proposals. They were conducted in St. Petersburg between M. S. Gorkov and Dr. Motono, but were interrupted for a month during the foreign minister's absence abroad, being resumed shortly after his return, and concluded recently.

To Run the Railways.

The convention will consist, first, of a brief general statement with reference to the determination of the two governments to maintain the status quo in Manchuria, both territorial and administrative, and to co-ordinate the railroad interests there; second, a detailed technical agreement between the East Chinese railway corporation and the South Manchurian railway corporation, regulating the direction and division of the traffic between Vladivostok and Dairen, and establishing advantageous through rates on the railroads, Russia and Japan to adjust several pending questions.

The traffic agreement is designed to enable the railroads to exploit the territory more profitably, subordinating local developments to the general plan. Vladivostok will thereby gain a share in the export of the grain and bean crops to Japan. It is intended to operate lines which will later be constructed, as feeders to the existing trunk lines.

The effect of the general convention is to secure co-operation on all questions arising in Manchuria, particularly in connection with existing and projected railroads.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE RUDOLPH?

Young Chauffeur Falls Heir to Fortune of $1,500,000.

Des Moines, Ia., June 29.—Word has reached here that Rudolph J. Faas, driving a car in the Golden Tour, has fallen heir to a fortune of $1,500,000 through the death of his grandfather, Rudolph A. Faas, of Wuerzburg, Germany. The news found no more surprised person than Faas himself. "I certainly had a grandfather in Germany," he said, "and I also expected to get a little something from him, but I never dreamed of anything like this. My grandfather and my father were not always in line for some of his estate. My father is his only living child, two other children being dead. I received a letter from my grandfather about two months ago, and he told me he was sick, but I had no idea that he was near death. Right now I have just $20 in my pocket, but it is a joke to be worth a million and half and have only twenty, and I am giving without a cap."

Faas' grandfather was formerly chief forester to Emperor William and through his royal patronage made his fortune.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Brantford, June 29.—William Dobby, aged 22, a Grand Trunk telegraph operator, died in the hospital here early this morning from injuries which he received last night, when he stepped out of the way of one train in front of another. Dobby was getting a letter off the Buffalo passenger train at a siding two miles east of Paris, and stepped directly in front of a westbound freight. His skull was fractured and a leg broken. He was hurried at once to the hospital here, but never rallied. His home is at Limehouse, near Guelph.

LONDON'S MILK IS GOOD
SAYS DR. HUTCHINSON

Objects to the Statement Circulated That It Is of Poor Quality.

Dr. Hutchinson, medical health officer, does not take kindly to the statement that London's milk supply is about the worst in the province. He has been shot. "I have a larger percentage of butter fat than the average supply, in fact there is hardly a city in Canada where the supply is so good."

"Some of the herds are kept as well as anywhere. It may be that the milk is not served to customers as well as it might be, but on the whole it is as good as the majority of supplies in Ontario."

THE SUIT AGAINST PEARY

Commander Makes General Denial to Charges of Francke.

Berlin, June 28.—The charges concerning the disposition of Arctic trophies left by him at Etah, which Dr. Frederic A. Cook made against Commander Robert E. Peary during the height of the controversy over their claims of discovery of the North Pole were heard in a German court today, when the suit instituted against Peary by Rudolph Francke was opened. Francke was associated with Cook in polar exploration, and demands $10,000 in satisfaction of prizes of which he alleges, Peary required him to surrender in consideration of bringing him back to America.

The defence sets up a general denial and further questions the jurisdiction of the court on the ground that the defendant is an American citizen, having no domicile today. After hearing the opening arguments, the court adjourned to consider the point of jurisdiction.

SPIRITS FAIL TO CURE

Woman, at Age of 80, Refuses Medicine and Dies.

New York, June 28.—Although bedridden for three months, Mrs. Marion Viola Seale, 80, refused to take medicine and today she died. She was a spiritualist, as is her daughter, Byrdie Halt, with whom the aged woman lived.

According to her daughter the aged woman became a spiritualist about 20 years ago, and although ill many times refused to take medicine. She told her friends that she did not believe in medicine and that she would get well.

When about three months ago she was compelled to remain in her bed, she told her friends that she proposed that the aged woman be taken to a hospital, but Mrs. Seale refused to go. All through her sickness she told of holding seances with the spirits of Henry Ward Beecher and physicians which said she should not take medicine.

A HUGE PICNIC

Toronto Members Likely To Be Here in Force On July 16.

MR. DARCH SENDS WORD

Publicity Agent Carruthers Says Many Excursions Should Come Here This Summer.

The Independent Order of Foresters of Toronto will probably hold a monster picnic in London on July 16.

Publicity Agent Carruthers received word from High Treasurer F. J. Darch this morning stating that the Toronto Foresters looked with favor upon London for their annual outing, and that they would come here on July 16.

A round trip rate of $2.35, good for three days, has been obtained on the railways, and it was expected that a very large number of Toronto people would spend the day in London.

A Good One.

"We have been endeavoring to bring excursionists to London, and it seems as if we have landed a good one," said Mr. Carruthers. "It is expected that several hundred visitors will come to London on that date, and we should do our best to make their visit a memorable one. If the citizens would assist in this enterprise, there is no reason why it should not be a great success. Others will follow, and London should easily become the mecca of thousands of excursionists this summer. I have received a number of inquiries from other places, and if we are successful in obtaining a reasonable rate, we should have a large number of visitors to the city this summer and in the future."

Summer Resort Basis.

"As for placing London on the summer resort basis I have not heard what the passenger association is now doing. They considered the question some time ago, but no decision was arrived at, but they will take the question up later. I expect that we will get a favorable result, as London is now given from London to Windsor and Detroit. They are making a thorough investigation of the subject, and we should receive an answer shortly."

LITTLE KNOWN YET ABOUT WHEAT CROP

But No Specific Instances of Damage by Rain, Drought, Heat Or Bug.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 29.—Among local grain men there is a disposition to discredit any attempt to alarm people over the probable outcome of the northwestern wheat crop. W. D. Matthews voices the opinion of a majority of grain merchants in Toronto today when he said: "I do not believe that anybody at the present time can tell anything about the crop. We all know that rain and cool weather, while it kept wheat back a little, increased the strength and endurance of grain in most sections. So far as our knowledge goes we are yet unable to locate any specific instances of damage either by rain, drought, heat or bugs."

CANUCK IN A RAGE.

Montreal, June 29.—R. E. Stack, the son of a Michigan millionaire, who is charged with kidnapping his son from wife divorced woman, was in court today when the inquiry on discovery was continued. Angered at some of the questions of the northwestern wheat crop, W. D. Matthews voices the opinion of a majority of grain merchants in Toronto today when he said: "I do not believe that anybody at the present time can tell anything about the crop. We all know that rain and cool weather, while it kept wheat back a little, increased the strength and endurance of grain in most sections. So far as our knowledge goes we are yet unable to locate any specific instances of damage either by rain, drought, heat or bugs."

HANDLED SNAKE; WAS POISONED

Six-Year-Old Son of Mr. H. A. Turner, of Princess Avenue, in Serious Condition.

THE REPTILE WAS DEAD

Poisoning May Have Resulted From Fact That Reptile Was Partially Decayed—Peculiar Case.

The six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Turner, of Princess avenue, near Maitland, was seriously poisoned this morning in a very peculiar manner.

The little fellow was playing about when he came across a dead snake and, after handling it, rubbed his hands about his face.

Immediately his face became very much inflamed and swelled considerably.

Dr. Niven was called and attended the lad.

At the present time it is not known how serious the case will be, but there is great danger if the poison is absorbed into the blood.

Dr. Niven stated that he believed snake and that it has been dead for some little time, and was partially decayed. He stated that he could not tell yet how serious the poisoning would be, but thought that the child would pull through all right, although it is in a serious condition.

The majority of them were prize-winning stock. The authorities have been notified, and it is expected that they will round the gang up shortly.

SYRIAN FRUIT DEALER WAS FINED FOR ASSAULT

Struck a Local Ice Man and Paid $10 and Costs for His Fun.

At the police court this morning Nad Sadeh, a Syrian fruit dealer, who keeps a store on Dundas street, below Talbot, was fined $10 for assaulting a local ice man by striking him in the eye on Saturday last.

Sadeh admitted the assault, but alleged that the ice man kicked him. The dispute arose over some ice which had been left at Sadeh's store, and which he claimed he did not see, and therefore should not pay for.

"You had no business to hit the man in the eye as you did," said the court. "Your countrymen and others in this city are, I am glad to say, law abiding citizens, and I hope you will profit by your experience here to follow their example."

The evidence of W. Cooper and the ice man was taken for the prosecution and of Sadeh, Louis Olmstead and Percy Sullivan for the defence.

A bartender at the Richmond House, who was charged by Inspector Galpin with breaking the law by selling liquor to a minor, pleaded guilty, and was fined $10 and $15 costs.

Percy Tanner, for allowing his dog to be at large without a muzzle, paid two dollars.

A drunk from Strathroy, who came in to the races, was allowed to go as a first-timer.

"You should stay in Strathroy if you have a weakness for drink," said the court. "You've got any liquor there as it is a local option town."

ASQUITH'S OATH BILL GETS FIRST READING

Opposition Leader Supports the Government in Cutting Out Offensive Clause.

London, June 28.—Premier Asquith's bill amending the accession oath was given its first reading today on a vote of 383 to 42.

Mr. Asquith reviewed the history of the oath, which is so offensive to the Roman Catholics of the empire. Roman Catholics, the Premier declared, enjoyed all civil and political rights, although they were barred from one or two offices.

Mr. Asquith said he hoped the relics of the past would soon be removed. He continued:

"The Roman Catholic subjects of the crown number 12,000,000. Nobody doubts their loyalty, and the declaration cannot fail to be offensive to the sovereign himself. The late King found it a repugnant duty to sign the beginning of his reign by a repulsive formula directed against many of his subjects."

Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, joined Mr. Asquith in this wish. He said that the late Government, of which he was prime minister when King Edward ascended the throne, was anxious to alter the declaration, but found it impossible to do so. Mr. Balfour said he approved the change in order to remove the source of offence which the King's loyal subjects take to the form of the old oath.

During the debate preceding the vote, William Redmond, the Irish Nationalist member, who had been agitating the question of a change in the accession oath, said he did not believe it would be reasonable for Roman Catholics to object to the new declaration.

Three Irish Conservatives, Captain James Craig, member for the eastern division of County Down; Charles C. Craig, representing the southern division of Antrim, and Wm. Moore, the member for the north division of Antrim, opposed the bill, and did the bill is hoped that out of further conferences which are to be held some compromise will follow. The representatives of the men had a couple of hours' conference with Vice-President Fitzhugh, of the Grand Trunk, and subsequently held a conference with Vice-President McNicoll, of the Canadian Pacific, who returned to the city today and took charge of the negotiations on behalf of the company. At the conference with Vice-President Fitzhugh, the men's representatives demanded the adoption of the standard rate of the territory east of Chicago, but the representative of the company absolutely declined to agree to this, pointing out that the conditions of the road were quite different to those governing the other railways in question. The men soon as conditions should become equal it was stated the company would consider the matter of standardization of wages, but not until then. No definite counter offer was made by the company, but tentative offers were submitted to the men's representatives, which may pave the way for a compromise. Vice-President Fitzhugh, after the conference, made the following statement: "We met the representatives of the trainmen and conductors today for the first time since the wage trouble began some six months ago and discussed the matter thoroughly with them. The men presented their demands and views and the views of the company were presented. While we could not accept the proposal made by the men, and while they would not accede to the views we expressed, the discussion was carried on in a friendly manner, and I have every hope that an amicable adjustment will be eventually arrived at. The matter being still under discussion I can say nothing further save that we have not arrived at an impasse yet."

MUTUAL CONCESSION MAY PREVENT STRIKE

More Optimistic Feeling Follows Conference of Trainmen With Companies.

Montreal, June 28.—Conferences were held today between representatives both of the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railways, and representatives of the Trainmen's and Conductors' Unions, and while nothing definite has resulted, a more conciliatory spirit seems to prevail as the result of the conferences, and it is hoped that out of further conferences which are to be held some compromise will follow. The representatives of the men had a couple of hours' conference with Vice-President Fitzhugh, of the Grand Trunk, and subsequently held a conference with Vice-President McNicoll, of the Canadian Pacific, who returned to the city today and took charge of the negotiations on behalf of the company. LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29.

THE GRAFT EXPOSURES.

The revelations of graft in the Government printing bureau have given no pleasure to the virtuous leader of the Opposition. A cabinet minister in the act of chasing grafters out of the public service, is not in harmony with the picture of Government turpitude drawn by Mr. Borden to split the eyes of the groundlings. Recognizing this, Mr. Borden directs attention to the refusal of the Government to accept this resolution moved by Mr. Doherty last year:

"That in order to lift the cloud of suspicion that rests upon the administration of the various departments to satisfy the demand of the country for honest and businesslike methods, and to purge the public service of inefficiency, reckless waste and corrupt practices, it is advisable and necessary in the public interest that a thorough and untrammelled investigation be made by a competent business commission into the working of all the great spending departments of government."

The resolution in this form was an insult to the whole civil service, and a condemnation of the Government. No administration could accept a want of confidence motion; and no sincere Opposition would couple a want of confidence motion with a demand for such an investigation. The Opposition was concerned only with the partisan aspect of the matter.

The Government has done its duty fearlessly, and the Opposition is angry because it has been deprived of a cry.

HIGH PRICES AND THEIR CAUSES.

The majority report of the special committee of the United States Senate, appointed to inquire into the causes of high prices, is so voluminous that none of the great daily newspapers have found space for it in full. Accompanying the report are figures compiled by the bureau of labor. Taking 257 commodities and comparing their wholesale prices in 1900 with the wholesale price in 1909, the average advance of the period appears to have been 14.5 per cent. This is greatly below the estimate of newspaper writers, who have generally agreed on 40 to 50 per cent as the average advance. It is explained that part of the discrepancy may be due to a greater proportionate increase in retail than in wholesale prices, because of increasing expenses.

The difference in the rate of increase is startling, when the 257 commodities are separated into classes. Farm products went up during the last ten years 29.8 per cent, against an increase of 12 per cent for cloths and clothing. 6.7 per cent for fuel, 5.3 per cent for house furnishing goods, and 3.6 per cent for metals and implements.

Senator Lodge and the other Republican members of the committee have all along denied that the high cost of living was to be ascribed in any measure to the workings of the high protective tariff system. Among the fifteen causes to which the report attributes higher prices, neither the tariff nor the trusts are included.

The Democratic members of the committee have not yet prepared their report, but it is known that it will declare that the rising index number is mainly the outcome of the tariff.

MRS. ARDE-MARSHALL'S MISSION.
The mission of Mrs. Arde-Marshall, of London, England, who is now in this country, is a two-fold one. She is the representative of the League of Empire, and her object is, first, to bring school children of the mother country and of Canada into closer contact, and, second, to secure improved conditions of immigration for the comparatively well-to-do class of young Englishmen.

A system of school correspondence has recently been inaugurated, and already letters have been exchanged between English and Canadian pupils. In Alberta the department of education has started eighty schools in correspondence with schools in England. Mrs. Arde-Marshall has also visited the schools of Winnipeg, Brandon, and other cities, and has enlisted the interest of teachers and pupils. Mrs. Arde-Marshall says that for some time the more thoughtful people both in Great Britain and Canada have felt that some step must be taken, looking to the betterment of conditions of immigration for a superior class. Principal Black, of Manitoba College, was first to suggest a definite plan, which has for its object the establishment of a college where the young immigrant may learn the rudiments of farming, and incidentally become acquainted with the conditions of this country. At a meeting of citizens of Winnipeg, called by Lieutenant-Governor McMillan, a permanent committee was formed to promulgate the plan. The Premier of Saskatchewan and the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta both heartily approve of the scheme. Mrs. Arde-Marshall will lay it before the League of Empire on her return to England, and she is confident that sufficient capital can be secured.

THE ACCESSION OATH.

Premier Asquith has introduced the bill to amend the Royal Declaration, commonly called the Accession Oath. The Declaration, as amended, will merely pledge the sovereign's loyalty to the Established Church, and to the enactments which secure the Protestant succession. No reference is made to any other church or creed.

The fact that the bill passed its first reading by a vote of 333 to 42, assures its adoption. Its approval by the Unionist and the Nationalist leaders also takes it out of the region of party strife. The opposition came from a few Orange Conservatives and misnamed Liberals. Among the latter is the son of Lord Rosebery, of whom better things had been expected.

Mr. Asquith's assertion that the declaration was repugnant to the late King was no doubt made with authority, and must have impressed the House. The Protestant succession, he showed, was secured by three distinct statutory safeguards. These are the Bill of Rights, the Act of Settlement, and the Test Act. Under the latter, Roman Catholics are still barred from the lord lieutenantcy of Ireland and the lord chancellorship. These tests are relics of the past, and the Premier said he hoped they would soon disappear.

There should be no denominational tests for any office in the empire, not even the crown. So long as there is an Established Church, however, it is logical that the sovereign, as its nominal head, should be required to belong to it. The case for disestablishment, from an imperial standpoint, rests upon the fact that the majority of British subjects are not adherents of the Establishment.

A CALLOUS PRIME MINISTER.
The Manitoba Opposition has two strings to its bow. Number one is a definite and progressive programme. Number two is a specific charge against the honor of the prime minister.

The Opposition is not attacking Mr. Roblin with insinuation. It is prepared to produce documentary evidence. Its leader, Mr. Norris, and one of his supporters, offered to resign their seats in the Legislature if they could not prove their charge before a commission of superior court judges. The Manitoba Free Press thus puts the case:

If the investigation that was demanded had been held, what would have been the result?

One of two things must have resulted. Either the charges of grafting against Premier Roblin would have been proved, which would have meant that he would be driven from public life; or, the charges would have been disproved, which would have meant the utter discrediting of the Liberal members of the Legislature, and a triumphant walk-over for Premier Roblin in the approaching general election.

Mr. Roblin is a politician quite astute enough to realize when he has his political opponents at a disadvantage. His refusal to allow the charges against him to be investigated must be taken as proving his consciousness that the charges are true, and that the verdict, after an investigation, would be one of "Guilty" against him.

Mr. Roblin and his supporters are in the position of affirming that the personal character of a public man should not be a consideration.

Is the London Electric going to give the city a Thirty Years' War?

In this Niagara power business, citizens are looking to Mr. Dark for more light.

According to an Opposition theory, Gouldthrie, the Ottawa grafter, has drowned himself to shield the Government.

Westerners are greatly worried over the crop prospects. In good old Ontario the crop never gets on the farmer's nerves.

President Diaz of Mexico jalled his opponent before the election. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has a better plan. He lets his opponent talk.

The Hamilton Times says: "London will know a great deal more about the cost of electricity a few years hence than it does now." But there are some persons who profess to know all about it now.

AT THE DOOR.

[Atlanta News.]
One day the front door bell at our house rang loudly. Aunt Sabriny, cooed, who has lived with us for more than four decades, and knows all our visitors, hurried off to the door. We heard her in conversation a moment, and then she came back, vouchsafing no explanation. "Who was it, Aunt Sabriny?" I inquired. "Aw, jest some fool pusson lookin' fer the wrong number," she said.

BUT NOT QUITE AS LOUD.

[Toronto News.]
From the deck of a Brazilian warship ten twelve-inch and eleven eleven-inch guns were fired at one time. The noise sounded like a speech by Hon. Wm. Paterson.

HERE AGAIN.

[Niagara Falls Journal.]
The summer girl is with us again, bless her soul, and gosh ding her parasol.

COULDN'T RISK IT.

[Harper's Bazaar.]
Husband—Did you hunt up the new cook's references?
Wife—No, John, I didn't. I was afraid they might prove prejudicial.

EASY WAY.

[Cleveland Leader.]
Wife—Mother says she refuses to pay us a visit unless we let her pay her board.
Hubby—Till her we couldn't think of such a thing.

MATRIMONIAL FELICITY.

[Woman's Home Companion.]
Mrs. Quackness—Am yo' daughter happily married, Sister Sage?
Mrs. Sage—She sho' is! Bless goodness, she's done got a husband dat's skeered to death of her!

AS THOUSANDS DIE.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
He died unknown; no lofty stone
Looms where he sleeps the years away;
Somewhere leaves may be lightly blown
Above his pulseless clay today;
No splendid tablet bears his name;
No laurel wreath was his to claim,
No bards to him sweet tributes pay.

He died unknown, as thousands die,
No pilgrim ever stops to gaze
Where he is left alone to lie
Through all the future's fairest days;
For him there is no sorrowing
Because he never did a thing
To win regard or merit praise.

ABSURD.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"The trouble with you," said the doctor, "is that you haven't enough faith in the medicine I'm giving you."
"How could you expect me to have faith in such stuff?" the patient complained. "I tastes almost as good as candy."

THE FIERY TEMPER.

[A Prose Poem by Walt Mason.]
My temper's an unruly demon, a thing of blood and fire; I'm nearly always busy schemin' on how to check my ire. Some times a Berserk rage comes o'er me, as of some Viking taint; old men and cripples flee before me, and women scream and faint. Around my home I rage and thunder, and drive the kids to tears, and tear the furniture asunder, and break the chandeliers. I prance around in warlike fashion, and a passion dimes agree that when I fly into a passion it's time to climb a tree. My temper is a thing uncertain in both its rise and fall; sometimes it stands a lot of hurtin', and never bucks at all. Not long ago a husky stranger reached out and punched my nose, and in that hour of stress and danger my temper never rose. My temper rose a half-hour later, when I had journeyed home. I belovved like a raging crater of Etna, down near Rome. I stormed as though I had the rabies, and smashed things with a pole; I took it out on my wife and babies, which soothed my martial soul.

TAXING THE LANGUAGE.

[Boston Transcript.]
Daughter—Mamma, can't I have a little money for shopping this morning?
Mrs. Malaprop—No, dear; there's the taxes to pay, and I expect the taxidermist around any moment.

CONTRADICTION.

[Judge.]
Country Farmer—I always set my hens in the spring.
City Farmer—Indeed! Why, my poultry book says emphatically to set 'em in a dry place.

HOW HAYS GOT HIS START.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
Charles Melville Hays was in the passenger department of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway at St. Louis when he was much over 17. One day Mr. Talmage, vice-president and general manager of the Gould roads, entered the room. It was a little before the lunch hour, and half the clerks were putting on their coats. Others were looking at their watches and leaving for the wash-room. In the general commotion of breaking up there were a few who were still busy, and among them was young Hays. Talmage approached him and asked the time of day. The young man did not hear, and Talmage put a hand on his desk, repeating the question. Hays looked up, surprised to see the chief at his elbow.

"I beg your pardon, were you speaking to me?" he asked.
"Merely asked the time—that was all," said Talmage.

Hays glanced about the room until his eye rested on the office clock, and said: "It's eleven fifty."

"Thank you," said the general manager, stroking out.

It was directly after that conversation that Talmage picked Hays out as his private secretary and confidential clerk. He did not look at the clock to see whether it was time to break away. He knew he had his work to do, and he did it, and today he is at the head of one of America's greatest railway systems.

And it is safe betting that some of those who, on the occasion in question, showed their eagerness to "break away," are now asking themselves, if they are alive, why C. M. Hays has got ahead so rapidly.

Attention to duty is the secret.

THE OBLIGING PROPRIETOR.

[Lippincott's.]
"Won't you please give me an order?" pleaded the persistent drummer.
"Certainly," replied the crusty proprietor. "Get out!"

AWFUL FATE IN PROSPECT.

[Exchange.]
Hobbs—Alas! I fear that boy of mine is going to be a newspaper humorist.
Do you think so, Wilby?
Hobbs—A school essay he wrote began: "The natives of Iceland are a cold and distant people."

MERELY AS A PRECAUTION.

[Brooklyn Life.]
On one occasion a Milwaukee German was speaking of the high price of cabbage. "I tell you," said he, "these cabbages is awful in price this year. Me and wife puts up six, seven, eight barrels of sauerkraut every year—but we can't dish 'em. Dem cabbages dey cost too much year." "You put up some sauerkraut, Hans, didn't you?" asked a friend.
"Oh, yes—two or three barrels, maybe—just to haf in de house in case of sickness."

YOUNG CRIMINAL CLEVERLY OUTWITTED

His Attempt to Sell a Horse and Buggy for $30 Speedily Got Him Into Trouble.

Ingersoll, June 28.—John Riley, an Englishman, 17 years of age, who has been in Canada but three weeks, was cleverly balked in a daring attempt to steal a horse and buggy belonging to Mr. E. Law, a liveryman of this town, by Chief Chilton. Young Riley went to Law's livery stable yesterday morning and engaged an outfit saying he wanted to go to a place one mile north of Beachville.

About 3:30 p.m. Chief Chilton received a message from Piper's Corners that a young man was attempting to sell a horse and buggy for $30 which transaction looked suspicious.

Chief Chilton ascertained where the outfit had been secured and immediately notified other towns. It was soon learned that young Riley had passed through Woodstock. At Hickson he disposed of the rig and harness for $14 and a watch, leaving the horse with the man to whom he sold them until his return. Riley purchased a ticket for Niagara Falls and started for that destination. Woodstock authorities had been notified, however, of his movements by the chief who had followed him to Hickson and, on his alighting from the train at Woodstock, the lad was taken into custody. The prisoner was afterwards brought to Ingersoll. He was remanded for sentence.

TURNER CLAIMS EQUAL RIGHTS

Says No Limitation of United States Jurisdiction of Fisheries.

The Hague, June 28.—Ex-Senator George Turner, of counsel for the United States in the Newfoundland fisheries case, continued his argument today before the arbitration tribunal. He contended that the right given to inhabitants of the United States under the treaty of 1818, "to take, dry and cure fish," on the coasts in common with the subjects of his Britannic majesty, was a negation of exclusiveness as regards regulations.

"For," he said, "the United States would never have accepted such a right if it were to be subject to capricious regulations by Great Britain alone, such, for instance, as imposing a close season for ten years."

Great Britain had reserved no exclusive right in the treaty to make

Glencoe Merchant Drowned in Pond

Glencoe, June 28.—While swimming in the pond half a mile east of the village today, Edward Coakley, shoe merchant, aged 60, of this place, was seized with cramps and was drowned.

The chief and his secretary were driving along a street, when Radowsky sprang from a secluded spot and threw a bomb directly under the carriage. The vehicle was blown to pieces and the two men were so badly injured that they died soon afterward.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

8557—A Natty Little Suit.
Nothing is smarter for the little boy than the pretty little tunic suits, simply finished by machine stitching or narrow braid. Such a model is here illustrated in white serge. A shaped trimming band outlines the neck and front edges, and a deep pleat is arranged the full length of the front and back, extending over the shoulders in a very becoming manner. The little knickerbockers are shaped to fit the usual outline inside seams, the fullness at the knee being adjusted by an elastic, inserted in the hem. The top is finished by an inside waist band. The mode is equally suited to the firmly woven wash fabrics, such as linen and pique, as well as the flannels and woolsens. For a child of 6 years 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch material will be required. Sizes 2, 4, 6 years.

A pattern for this illustration will be mailed to any address upon receipt of 10 cents in stamps or silver.

PRACTICAL BATHING SUITS.
Conspicuous and freakish bathing costumes are always in bad taste, and extreme styles are as absurd as they are impractical. Suitability in the way of pose is unquestionably the chief requisite of a bathing costume, at the same time it must be neat, and should be pretty and becoming. The majority of bathing suits are dark blue in color, and a fine quality of mohair is a favorite material. Black silk makes some handsome suits, but less durable than the mohair.

Some very pretty suits in black and white, blue and white, and brown and white checks are shown this year. The black and white check waterproof taffetas make uncommonly pretty bathing suits. Any bright color may be used sparingly on the collar or the shield of such a suit to relieve the sombre tone, but many women prefer to trim their suits merely with bands of plain black silk and buttons covered with black silk.

A costume in one of the plain, dark mohairs may be brightened by various gay touches of color in the way of pipings or outcaching. A collar of white, red or pale blue will brighten up a suit of black or navy blue; or the collar may be of white, with embroidery or braiding in color and a colored scarf. Many of the new suits follow the prevailing collarless fashion, and are cut round, square or V shaped. When a collarless neck is unbecoming, the wise woman has her bathing suit finished with a soft turn-down collar on a moderately high band. This must be loose enough for comfort, but a little scarf may be knotted under it, and it will be found more becoming to many women than the low-cut neck of any shape.

In making a suit material and trimming must be carefully and thoroughly shrunk and pressed. Neglect of this detail is disastrous.

Reduce the Meat Bill But Get the Best.
CLARK'S MEATS are equal in quality to the best butcher's meats, as nothing but the very best meat is used by CLARK. They cost one-third to one-half less. Some New Dishes for Hot Days

The entertainer who gives frequent parties should vary the too familiar chicken with others made of ham, clams, salmon (fresh or canned), of lobster, crab, and shad roe, from time to time.

Green peas simmered with a sprig of fresh green mint in the water, for flavor, make a pretty as well as appetizing accompaniment.

Or serve the dainty with a thick cream sauce, to which peas are added. If there is one feature more than another of her little refreshment spread on which the modern entertainer expends her ingenuity, it is the question of frozen delicacies.

The block or rectangular mold of vanilla, chocolate or "Neapolitan," which was considered good form ten years ago, is now a thing of the remote past.

Combinations, delicate, delicious, for which each season brings fresh inspiration, are the suggestion of the moment.

Cafe nard, itself so delicious, is now rendered more so by the addition of crystallized mint leaves. Served in glasses, as usual, with the leaves (each broken in two or three pieces) sprinkled over the top.

When vanilla cream is served it is likely to have chopped marshmallows and crystallized fruits, minced fine, frozen in it. Each portion will be topped off with whipped cream and perhaps decorated with candied cherries. The marshmallows should be slightly softened in the oven heat first.

Among the delicious combinations of cold bonnes-bouches is Oriental cup. For it fill the lower part of grape-fruit glasses with a salpicon of diced fruits dressed with sugar and rum or sherry, according to taste. Above these, at one side of the cup (to half fill the remaining space), put a spoonful of vanilla ice cream, and at the other one of raspberry water ice. Top off the whole with a tablespoon of whipped cream, decorate with crystallized fruit, minced fine, or with candied cherries.

In preparing rhubarb do not peel it; simply cut in small squares and wash clean. This gives it that rich, red color, which cannot be secured if it is peeled.

Her Letter and His

The following two letters came to me on the same day. Obviously, same state of mind. I wonder if the publication of these two letters will not solve their little problems—to them so important? I'll try it, anyway, and when they read each other's letter, I'm sure they will hesitate no longer.

HERS.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young girl of 19 and have never entertained young men. Recently a young man expressed his desire to call on me, and I do not know how to appear and wanted to ask your advice.

What should I say when he enters? Shall I serve refreshments? When he leaves, shall I ask him to come again, and mention another night, or should he do so?

At a dance, how many dances should one's escort keep for himself, when there are twenty dances and four extra? How should I thank a young man for the flowers he sent me? Should I thank him when he comes and mention it before he leaves?

I. M.

HIS.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young man 20 years old and am very fond of a girl who is one year my junior. I would like to call on her, but she has never given me any encouragement. However, I believe she would not object should I ask her permission to call her by her first name, or should she declare her intention to be so called.

Is it proper to talk for a short time outside the girl's house after returning from a dance? Or should she ask me in? Should I feel hurt if the girl fails to acknowledge the flowers which I sent her, although her mother remarked my thoughtfulness?

Hoping that I may see this answered in the near future. J. U. W.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

A Mother's Question.

A young couple are engaged, but will not be married for at least two years. Would you announce the engagement now or wait until more definite plans are made? How should news be made known?

TROUBLED MOTHER.

Personally, I do not believe in long engagements unless necessity demands. I should not make public the engagement until a definite time for the ceremony could be decided upon. Notes sent friends and relatives with notices in the society columns are the usual methods of making the news known.

As to Invitations.

There are three brothers in a family. I want to invite all to my party. Will I send each an invitation or will one do for all?

YOUNG HOSTESS.

In the case of three brothers, you are permitted to write, "The Messrs. Roy, James and John Smith" on the envelope, but it is better form to send each one a separate invitation.

A Surprise Party.

I wish to give a surprise party for my brother and sister, aged 12 and 14. Tell me, please, how to invite the guests and give me a hint as to games (lively) and refreshments.

GYPSY.

I think you could get up a surprise party better by giving your invitations verbally and explaining just how you want the "surprise" carried out. Why not have a series of races, for one amusement, such as carrying a silver number of peanuts on a knife, lemons on a fork and potatoes on a spoon. This is a very amusing.

Young people of that age enjoy eating, and I'd give something different from the usual refreshments. Try salmon trout in ramakins, pecan nut sandwiches, olives, celery, ice cream in cream puff shells, bonbons, fruit and nuts.

For Wedding Breakfast.

What is served for a wedding breakfast that will be nice but not elaborate?

MARIE.

Strawberries are now in their prime and should be served the first course. Peel a banana, then cut in two lengthwise and slice a bit from the bottoms to allow of their standing up on natural grape leaves. Arrange five large hulled berries on each half; sprinkle over lemon juice and pulverized sugar and serve for the first course. Then have broiled lamb chops with green, buttered peas, sliced tomatoes, rolled buttered bread, cakes and vanilla ice cream served in halved muskmelons, coffee. Or instead of the chops you might have either lobster chops or creamed lobster in pastry cups. The vegetable could be either small potatoes served in chive cream sauce with the chops or French fried with the creamed lobster.

Shower for Bride-Elect.

Please suggest a novel way to give a "miscellaneous" or "handkerchief" shower for a bride-to-be. I expect to entertain twenty.

SPURNS LOVE WITH SHOT

Chicago, June 27.—Rosy Perrino, 15 years old, rejected the persistent advances of Antonio Rossi, with a revolver here today and Rossi is believed to be dying at the County Hospital of a bullet wound in the head.

"He has pursued me for a year," sobbed the girl, when taken to the police station. Every morning he followed me to my work, last winter he broke into our house, knocking down my mother, and renewed his demand that I marry him. I had him arrested then and put under bond to cease his annoyances, but nevertheless he had been following me to and from my work daily.

Rossi, it is said, followed Miss Perrino to the leather factory where she is employed today. As he entered the building the girl drew a revolver and fired twice.

THE MESSAGE

CHAPTER XIV.

Evelyn, ferried across the harbor by a boat crew from the war, boarded the Estremadura in almost regal state. The vessel's cabin accommodation was poor, but the captain gave of his best. Not every day does a small West African trader receive a passenger under the escort of a peer of the realm and a captain in the Royal Navy. It was an interesting moment when Rosema Laine, accompanied by "Figuero," came alongside. The Portuguese man, off at once, but the lady, when it was too late to retreat, affected a blank indifference to Evelyn's presence that showed how conscious she was of it. She seldom appeared on deck, ate each meal in her own stateroom, and spoke no word, even to Lord Fairholme. On arriving at Lagos she hurried from the ship, and Evelyn breathed a sigh of relief as she watched her enemy go ashore. She did not carry her dislike of Mrs. Laine to the point of imagining her to be in active co-operation with the plotters against British supremacy in that quarter of the world. It was far more the notion of her own cabin, and some part of her revenues from factories on the coast might be combining business with the desire to obtain news of Warden's first hand. But any girl fondly hoped they might never meet again, and she trusted to the strength of her own position, and to the letter from Captain Mortimer to the Governor, to place her beyond the reach of misrepresentation.

But her troubles, instead of diminishing, became even more pronounced when she learned that the Government House, both she and Lord Fairholme were entirely ignorant of local conditions. Neither of them knew that Lagos, though the chief West African port and practically the only safe harbor on the Guinea Coast, was the capital of an administration quite separate from that of North and South Nigeria. To reach Old Calabar, the headquarters of Warden's service, they would have to make a long journey down the coast and penetrate some forty miles into the Niger delta. Captain Mortimer, in all probability, thought she was aware of this vital distinction, and Evelyn almost felt that she had undertaken a useless task.

Her misfired distress at an unpleasant discovery won her the sympathy of the deputy Governor of Lagos, his chief having crossed some island to the mainland only the day before. But sympathy could not altogether cloak a keenness that was glowing in the extreme. He was fully acquainted with the position of affairs in the sister protectorate, he said. He appreciated Captain Mortimer's motives, and he was acquainted with the Government of Nigeria with certain curious circumstances which were not connected with the tribal unquietness in the Pennine borderlands, but the fact remained that all was quiet now in that region.

Over to Captain Warden's unfortunate disappearance," he went on, "another commissioner visited Oba. He told me that the people were cultivating their lands with greater assiduity than usual, and that there was no sign of any African community. Indeed, Captain Warden is now about to return to headquarters. A few of the Hausa constabulary, who were moved to more convenient centers in case a strong collection was required for the suppression of the Pennine, are going back to their original contingents. The incident is criminal."

The official tone was blandly disconcerting. Evelyn was aware that the man who had looked on her some-what in the light of a runaway school-girl, who had no reason whatever to follow her pretty head about the business of a protectorate and thereby incur the displeasure of the authorities, was now, in a panic, she said, endeavoring to get her out of the way. "You seem to imply that the Home authorities acted in a panic," she said, endeavoring to get her out of the way. "Warden and the men he had seen in London were laboring under a delusion. The Governor in consulting Captain Warden's furlough—that is all, border disturbances. The people in that region hinted that the Oba men were approaching what they term a Long Ju-hi, which is also a trading caravan. It is a part of our neighbors that have rise to our suspicions. To be forewarned is to be forearmed, and his Excellency the Governor regarded Captain Warden as the man who could best deal with the situation. Any causes of discontent within the last two months have been unfavorable symptoms have vanished, and Lagos is now as quiet as Old Calabar."

"I am glad of it," she said earnestly. "It is far from my wish to figure as a mere personal matter. It is recent to me as a personal matter? If Captain Warden has succeeded in crossing the Sahara, and there were any reasonably exact to hear of him."

The deputy Governor stroked his chin. He was a kind-hearted man, and circumstances had proved him for that question.

"It is hard to say," he answered. "Assuming he has reached Timbuktu in safety, Niger, through what is known as the Sahel, the first town in the British Empire of influence in that direction. Thence to the north, the river is not navigable. If he reaches Lagos, having been ordered here in the first instance, he might strike overland from the railway at Baidoa, but it is his own headquarters, by remaining here you should obtain the latest information of his arrival at a town called London, situated at the junction of the Niger and the Benue."

He paused. His brief review conveyed no hint to his hearer of the tremendous task of enlightening her. "That is quite certain," he asked. "But Captain Warden went ashore at Rabat?" The astonishment in Evelyn's face was almost sufficient to answer the question.

"Unless every one in some Government department in London has gone mad, it is not possible," she cried. "Did not an officer from Nigeria go to meet him at Cape Coast Castle, and is it not evident that he went to Hassan's Tower?"

"He has not," he answered.

Reno, June 28.—With the big clash only six days off, Johnson and Jeffries took it comparatively easy today. Jeffries had planned to do a lot of hard boxing this morning, and in the expectation of seeing the workout, a host of enthusiasts cut short their sleep and lined up at the camp of the white man.

Jeff was up all right and ready, but when he saw the crowd he absolutely declined to put on a glove. Jeffries is a man of moods. He does any old thing he takes into his head, and doesn't care what anyone thinks.

I wonder that under the circumstances, since he so much dislikes to do his work in front of a crowd, that his handlers picked a camp for him so near the scene of the battle.

It surprised and disappointed me to see Jeff pass up his work today, for he is getting so close to the finish, and that I cannot understand how he would be willing to let up. He did do a little road work, but it was not as hard as the preparation we give college football players.

Needs Hard Boats.

The white man is undoubtedly in good shape, but I truthfully think he has not boxed enough. Jumping the rope, shadow boxing, punching the bag, and the use of chest weights are all right, but they do not compare for actual benefit with hard boxing bouts where the punching is real, and where a man has a chance to test his actual condition under fire. I have told Jeffries this, and so have many of his other friends, but one might as well try to move a mountain as change the fellow's opinions.

Jeffries needs a master. So does Johnson. Jeffries has shown an amazing ability to recuperate after six years' retirement and Johnson deserves credit for being willing to box at any old time and against the strongest and roughest fellows who can be found, but neither of them have worked hard as they should.

Long ago when I used to work men on the road I went along to make sure that they did it right. These men, Jeffries and Johnson, in their road work take along their trainers, some of them men well advanced in years, and yet so easy is the pace that the veterans are able to keep up with the fighters and finish strong. This running ought to be more strenuous.

Eight Miles Without Tiring. They have today that Jeffries did eight miles, and his companions were in the best of shape. Why, four miles would put most of these trainers out of commission.

If I were to give these big huskies such a workout as I have given many a football player there would be a howl all over the land.

Any of these good lads in the universities do more training in a week than Jeffries and Johnson in a month. No one ever saw Johnson and Jeffries work till they were gasping for breath, trying to get their wits together, hardly able to understand what the cuss of a coach was telling them and being so weak they could hardly stand.

Trainers Think Different. I told Jeffries and his trainers that a little more violence in the work would be a good thing and they told me that was right. But there is one fact to be remembered. We train a football player for sheer grit and ability to withstand a terrific and maintaining ordeal, one in which he does not get one minute's rest in every four as the fighters do. And we make the football player, watch the pounding and smashing he gets, and see him bleeding, cut and tired, but still jumping in for more.

I think a little more of that kind of spirit in the training of fighters would bring a much greater assurance of victory.

Neither Has Mark to Show. In his preparation, the football player takes some awful clouts. Jeffries and Johnson haven't a mark to show for the boxing they have done. Jeffries has some clever men around him, but not one with enough hitting ability to hurt him.

Johnson has two good men in Kaufman and Cotton, but in his bouts with these the champion is always taking the easy way. He will not be able to do with Jeffries. He just stands easy and lets them hit him, depending on those wonderful arms of his to keep them off, a thing he will not dare do with Jeffries. It will take more than his guarding arms to save him from the body smashes of the white man.

Moreover, in this boxing, neither man is under a strain. In the bout they will be, and this in itself, is the most tiring of all things on the wind.

Each Trains Himself. Each man is training himself. Yet both have lacked has been a strong man to rout them out of bed when he willed and curse and force them into the kind of work planned out by the master mind, the expert.

Such a trainer when Jeffries wanted to lay off would compel him to go through the hardest day's training he ever did, just as a matter of discipline. It would drive Jeffries till he could hardly stand, hardly eat, and have him punched in the ring till he was sick of it. Every day it would be a real battle.

There are those who say that Jeffries and Johnson could not stand this, but thousands of boys do it every fall and come out of it great athletes.

Neither Knows How. I don't think that either Jeffries or Johnson have trained in a right manner, for the simple reason that neither of them knew how, and neither had a man who would tell them and force obedience.

But in this respect they are equal. And as far as condition goes, I cannot see a shade of difference. Jeffries, despite his greater years, is in flawless shape. The only question that arises is what effect the fast going and hard punching will have on their endurance. Jeffries looks all right on the outside, but no one can tell what he is like inside until he has gone through half a dozen rounds of the fight.

In their boxing both men are guarding against one punch. Johnson let Kaufman act on Jeffries and strives to catch him in the body with a left smash. Johnson and his boxers try to land on him with a right uppercut.

Johnson Maligned. These two blows, a left to the body and right uppercut, are the best punches of Jeffries and Johnson respectively.

By the way, I think Johnson has been somewhat maligned in the stories that depict him as a bad man. He seems a harmless, good-natured sort of a negro in camp. He drinks nothing and seems to ask no better pleasure than music, which he revels in, and some lively conversation. I have never seen him under conditions to try his temper, when, for instance, he was up against newspapermen who have panned him, but barring a protest that they were not treating him right, he keeps his temper admirable.

The camp is filling up with celebrities. Battling Nelson is in today, and I had a talk with him. He looks fine and is trying to get in shape for another go with Wolgast.

Everybody is satisfied that the high altitude will hurt either man a bit. Everybody looks for a great fight, and Jeffries is a favorite at 10 to 7.

GRAND OPERA
WON 2:12 PACEBlenheim Horse Beats Ian Bars
in Notable Duel.

Del Peters' good teaming was the feature of the first day's racing of the London Racing Association at Queen's Park yesterday afternoon. The Blenheim driver drove the winners in both races, and showed good judgment all the way through. There were about 600 people present.

The fast pace developed into a duel between those fast little chaps, Ian Bars and Grand Opera. The former was generally thought capable of winning the race, but the winner turned up in the Blenheim horse, who had a great turn of speed yesterday. Ian Bars had the pole in the first heat, and all that Peters could do was improve his position with Grand Opera. It was a great finish, however.

The second heat went to Grand Opera in a half-line finish. After that the outcome was never in doubt. There was no walk away, but Grand Opera had both the speed and staying qualities, and he won with something to spare.

Del Peters gave a fine exhibition of teaming in the last heat when he collared Mollie S. in the stretch, and beat her home with a fine burst of speed.

Tom Dillard had the foot of his party in the second race. Red Bars was tipped as the good thing, but the Dillard horse had it over him like a tent. He went steady and true, and came away when needed. Minnie W. looked fast, and should win some races.

The running race was a walkaway for Miss Felix. Miss K. O. B. kicked all the others practically out of commission before the race. Babbie was badly cut down during this exercise, and had to be drawn.

Judge Frank G. Smith, of Buffalo, did the starting, and it was done well. The horses were sent away on a line, and there was little delay at the post.

Providence, R. I., June 28.—The Bisons fell before the steady pitching of Jimmy Lavender in the second clash of the series today, but went down kicking to the last in the 2-to-2 battle. Rip Vovinkle was on the firing line for the invaders, and pitched a brand of ball that was fully the equal of that delivered by the local slant man. Both were unfortunate in having errors crop out at the critical points, but Providence's slip was more costly than Providence's, as it figured a whole lot in turning the winning corner over the pan. TIGERS LOSE AT PENNANT RAISING Luck Breaks for the White Sox at Bennett Park.

Lake Allows Cleveland Six Bingles in First Inning.

Detroit, June 28.—For the third time in as many years the American League championship pennant was hoisted at Bennett Park yesterday, and, as it is generally the case for the home team, the Tigers followed the custom and were defeated by the White Sox 3 to 5.

The Tigers did their best to break the back of the Sox, but it was only after baseball luck that favored them the start, turned its favor on the White Sox, and after big Ed Walsh, the third twirler used by the White Sox, hurled his spitter to the box, and here all the chances that the Tigers had of winning were suddenly cut off. Providence, R. I., June 28.—The Bisons fell before the steady pitching of Jimmy Lavender in the second clash of the series today, but went down kicking to the last in the 2-to-2 battle. Rip Vovinkle was on the firing line for the invaders, and pitched a brand of ball that was fully the equal of that delivered by the local slant man. Both were unfortunate in having errors crop out at the critical points, but Providence's slip was more costly than Providence's, as it figured a whole lot in turning the winning corner over the pan. TEX RICKARD NOT WORRYING OVER THE JOB OF REFEREE

Says That He Understands the Game Perfectly and Does Not Expect to Have Any Trouble With the Big Fellows on July Fourth.

[Associated Press.]

Reno, June 28.—Promoter "Tex" Rickard is greatly concerned over the momentous role he is to play on the afternoon of July 4, and he asserts with convincing earnestness that he has no misgivings regarding his ability to referee the big fight.

"Why, I have not given the subject a single thought," he told a group of newspapermen. "The job will be a snap. With seasoned fighters like Jeffries and Johnson to deal with, it will be the easiest thing in the world to take care of the referee's end. I have been assured by both men that they are entirely satisfied to have me in the ring, and will do everything they can to smooth my way."

Someone asked him if he ever had presided over a big ring event before. He knows the Game.

"Nothing very big," the promoter answered, "but don't think for a minute that I'm not wise to every angle of prize-fighting. I've followed it practically all my life, and if there is anybody that knows any more about the ins and outs of the game I'd like to have him named. People come to me and say 'I'm foolish to take on this job, because I've not had much practice. Well, they don't know what they are talking about. If a man knows fighting as well as I know it, there is no reason why he can't jump in and take charge of a big fight, even if he has not had much actual training."

Preparations for the fight are nearing completion, and by the end of the week probably nothing essential will remain to be done. Remarkable progress made on the construction of the arena has silenced the doleful predictions of pessimistic fans, who were fearful that the huge structure would not be finished in time. Great care is being exercised by the contractors against the danger of fire, and three night watchmen were appointed at the beginning of the work principally for the purpose of guarding against any tramps, whose carelessness with lighted matches might prove disastrous.

This fear of a conflagration has weighed heavily on Rickard, and last night he made a trip to the site, and discharged the three watchmen, whom he found asleep.

The Gloves. The gloves to be worn by the fighters are expected to arrive on the evening train from San Francisco. Two pairs have been made and placed to the order of each contestant, careful measurements of the hands and wrists of the men having been taken.

There was much rejoicing at Jack Johnson's camp as a result of the champion's splendid workout in the afternoon. The presence of Governor Dickerson is believed to have been a source of considerable inspiration to the big negro, and his spirited performance was enjoyed by the large crowd that gathered about the boxing platform.

McIntosh says Johnson is favorite in Australia at 10 to 8. He added: "Bill Lang comes to America for a crack at Stanley Ketchell or Sam Langford. I will bet $5,000 on Lang's chances, and if we cannot arrange the fight here, I will pull it off in Australia or England."

Lang believes Johnson will win with terrific stomach punches.

MORE KNIGHT MOTOR PATRONS

Big Demand Among Royalty for Knight Motor Cars.

The numerous friends in the city of Mr. Charles Y. Knight, inventor of the "Silent Knight" automobile engine, will be interested in the report received from Europe regarding the sale of Knight engine cars to the nobility.

It is probable that no recent invention has succeeded in gathering such a distinguished list of patrons. Mr. Knight's motor has been purchased by practically every crowned head in Europe, and in some cases these purchasers have run into several for members of the royal household.

Among recent purchasers are the following: His Majesty the King of England. Her Majesty the Queen of England. His Majesty the King of Spain. His Majesty the King of Belgium. His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught.

Her Imperial Highness, the Dowager Empress of Russia. Her Royal Highness the Crown Princess of Sweden. His Royal Highness the Crown Prince of Serbia.

His Royal Highness Prince Francis of Teck. Her Royal Highness Princess Henry of Battenberg. Earl Roberts.

The European automobile factories, which handle the Knight motor, have been, like the Russell, which controls the invention in this country, working night and day to fill orders. Their entire output has been sold out for months in advance, and royal patrons, like others, have had to wait their turn.

The success of the Knight invention is considered by automobile authorities particularly remarkable, owing to its radical nature. It will be remembered that when first introduced its principles were widely derided as hopelessly impracticable, although the faults in poppet-valve motors, which it claimed to overcome, were a matter of common knowledge.

The motor's introduction to the Canadian market by the Russell club has been marked by the same degree of success as in the European field. The "sliding sleeves" have evidently come to stay.

PURSE WAS PRESENTED TO REV. MR. CLARKE

Pleasing Feature of Garden Party of St. Luke's Church Broughdale.

The garden party in the interests of St. Luke's Church, Broughdale, last evening, was in all respects an unqualified success. The present weather contributed much in bringing together a large gathering from city and country, and the spacious grounds of Mr. Milton Sutherland, well laid out and lighted with Chinese lanterns, afforded an ideal spot for such an occasion.

The members of the Ladies' Aid were unwearied in their efforts to afford pleasure to their guests, and all were served with abundance of the good things of the season.

The music was furnished by a first-class orchestra under the management of Mr. George W. Winterbottom and a company of nine instruments, and was much admired, as also were some fine selections by Master Grant Miligan on his violin and a sweet song by his little brother.

In the course of the evening a presentation was made to the Rev. A. L. G. Clark, assistant rector of St. James', South London. The Ven. Archdeacon Richardson in a short address spoke of Mr. Clark's good work for more than three years in the united parish of St. John's, Emmanuel and St. Luke's churches. He expressed his regret, which all felt in parting from him and wished him a bright future.

A token of esteem was then handed Mr. Clark in the form of a well-filled purse by the church warden and Mrs. R. Oke and Mrs. Bowman, on behalf of the congregation.

Mr. Clark replied expressing his warm regard for St. Luke's, and best wishes for its continued prosperity.

A good financial result attended the garden party.

MISS SERVIS SURPRISED

Students of Arts Department of Western University Spent Pleasant Afternoon.

The students of the arts department of the Western University prepared a unique surprise for Miss Myrtle Lewis, who is about to leave for her home in Alexander, Manitoba. The merry group gathered at one of the numerous picnicking quarters on the park grounds at Springbank. Dr. and Mrs. James very kindly consented to take the oversight of the afternoon proceedings, and owing to their patience and good generalship everyone enjoyed the outing. When the late-comers arrived all sat down to a daintily prepared lunch: Strawberries, radishes, sandwiches, lemonade and other things "too numerous to mention," took their departure at a rate that would make the mother of the guest of the occasion rise up and exercise her parental authority.

A game of baseball was played between the Speedwells and the Slowcoaches, and in a two-inning game the former succeeded in maintaining the reputation of their name. One of the main features of the game was the artistic pitching of Evans and Hawkins, while Stewart and Ballantyne stood behind the bat in a fashion that would make the American fans look like thirty cents. Some excellent fielding was also witnessed by those on the grandstand. Miss Carrothers surprised everyone in her speedy runs for the outfield balls. Miss Lewis showed great signs of developing into a star batter. Miss Myrtle Reynolds made some excellent attempts to catch wild throws to first, while her sister won flying colors as a centre fielder. After a short visit to the pavilion the merry party closed the events of the day by strolling vent to a few uproarious college yells.

VENTRICINI MUST DIE

Counsel Has Given Up All Hope of Saving Him From Gallows.

Toronto, June 28.—T. G. Robinette, K.C., has not given up all hope of saving Basquale Ventricini from the gallows, although the date set for the execution is only two days away. He has sent out twelve copies of a petition to the Dominion Government, asking that the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. These petitions are being circulated among the Italians in the city and the neighborhood.

"The department of justice at Ottawa has been so stampeded and influenced by the recent agitation and unjustified attacks on Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, minister of justice," said Mr.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why?

To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys do. They filter the blood. Then these impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly?

It is the impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes backaches, headaches, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. They poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble, and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice DeLeon, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for the pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good at all. I sent to the drugist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

BOY SCOUTS PASSED ST. JOHN'S EXAMINATIONS

Gold Tie Pin Presented to Mr. W. B. Clark by the Scouts.

The officers of the Boy Scouts were examined in the first aid work of St. John's Ambulance Society in the Armories last night by Mr. F. C. Loveday, and all passed with a high standing in the following order: Gordon Nott, Simpson Parkinson, Ben Ware, J. Harwood, Nellis N. Mann and Harold Nixon. The class was instructed by Mr. W. B. Clark and at the close of the examination showed their appreciation of his work in their behalf by presenting him with a very handsome gold tie pin suitably engraved. The presentation was made by Ben Ware, and an address was read by Simpson Parkinson. Mr. Clark replied graciously.

Quite a number of Boy Scouts were present, and watched with great interest the work done during the examination. The candidates were called upon to attend all sorts of fractures and accidents, and give first aid, as would be done by a physician before the patient was removed to the hospital. Fractured thighs, wounds in the head, broken kneecaps, fractured arms, cases of poisoning, and of suffocation, were all handled, and the officers performed their work with a skill and dispatch that reflected the greatest credit both upon themselves and their instructor.

Are Now Instructors. Those who were successful last night will in turn become instructors for the other Boy Scouts. The corps is in charge of Lieut. G. N. Weekes, who was present at the examination last night, and was greatly pleased with the results. He will take the scouts to Port Stanley shortly, where they will go into camp for eight days. Another camp for training purposes will be held at Hyde Park in August, and all boys between the ages of 10 and 18 are invited to attend.

Yesterday afternoon the Scouts had a drill on the Cove rifle ranges, and practiced signalling and first-aid work. The officers who qualified in first-aid work last night are the first members of any of the Boy Scouts in Canada to do so.

MEXICO AGAIN SELECTS DIAZ

An Eighth Term For the Aged President of Republic.

New York, June 28.—A dispatch to the Herald from El Paso, Texas, says: "Porfirio Diaz, the 80-year-old statesman, who has been president of Mexico continuously for twenty-six years, was re-elected to that office today. Senator Ramon Corral undoubtedly was chosen to succeed himself as vice-president. The result means that the policies of President Diaz will continue another six years, at least as long as the veteran ruler lives."

Returns of the voting necessarily are meagre. Mexican processes are slow, and anything like comprehensive figures from the various states on the balloting will not be available for days, but enough is known to make it certain that President Diaz was victorious by a very large margin. Rain in the border states, where there was the greatest danger of trouble, weakened the ardor of the opposition. The fight in Sonora against the administration is reported very quiet compared with what the radical papers had promised it would be. Further discouragement to anti-revolutionists was found in the fact that their nominee for president, Senor Francisco Madero, spent election day in the Monterey prison, and that many of the active leaders of the opposition propaganda also were in custody and under guard of federal troops.

CHRISTIANS SHOULD BE CHEERFUL PEOPLE

So Said President of W. C. T. U. at Meeting Yesterday.

The local Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its regular session in the lecture hall of the public library Tuesday. The president, Mrs. H. Ashplant, occupied the chair, and led the devotions. She urged that Christians ought to be cheerful people, as they, above all others, had reason to rejoice.

The minutes read, it was decided to drop the last meeting in July and first in August, and it is hoped this will induce every member to attend that of Aug. 23, which is important, as matters regarding their work at the Western Fair will be discussed.

The quarterly reports from the various superintendents of departments were very interesting, showing much good work accomplished. Mrs. Wallace had visited the women prisoners in the jail, distributed papers, and talked with the inmates; it is seed sown, but the harvest is not apparent, though it is comforting to know that one reclaimed is the winning of an inestimable treasure.

Mrs. R. J. Webster reported for sailors and lumbermen's missions. To Mrs. Capt. McLeod, Owen Sound, she had been given the pleasure of sending six comfort bags. These were each furnished with useful articles, and distributed among them were 90 leaflets, 40 papers and magazines and 6 marked Testaments. The bags, with their contents, are greatly appreciated by the sailors, and the added self-respect arising from the knowledge that they are thus cared for has produced a marked improvement in their conduct.

The press superintendent had sent 28 reports of meetings to the city papers, and the superintendent of work among Africans had distributed 141 papers. Mrs. Webster, of the Flower Mission, had paid five visits to the hospital and six to outside sick people, distributed 30 bouquets, 156 papers and 8 text cards. Mrs. Plewes, literature superintendent, had distributed 812 papers. People often ask, "What is the W. C. T. U. doing anyway?" This is a small portion of what they have accomplished the past three months, all tending for the improvement of the citizens and nation.

MRS. MORSE GETS $85,000

Will Spend Entire Amount in Effort To Aid Husband.

New York, June 28.—The sale of the Morse properties which has been in progress in Mrs. Charles W. Morse's residence, was completed this afternoon when Augustus W. Clarke knocked down a lot of nondescript modern books at 12½ cents a volume. The total realized by the sale is approximately $85,000, which Mrs. Morse intends to use in her endeavor to commute her husband's prison sentence. A pearl ring with rubies, for which Mrs. Morse paid $5,000 recently in Paris, was sold for $2,600 on Saturday, after having been previously sold for $2,800. The first buyer found that he was unable to present the required 50 per cent deposit.

One jeweller said that the ring was as valuable now as when Mrs. Morse bought it, and that the small price was due entirely to the fact that there was no one there with enough ready cash to pay the necessary deposit for a bid higher than that which bought it.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got 'The New Mermor Treatment.' My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

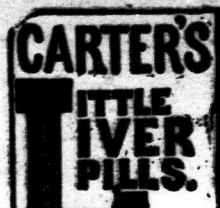

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Can Eat
Anything
Now.

Mrs. Herman Dickenson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became well and I can now eat anything without hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

Who Should Join the Williams Piano Club?

The Williams Club Plan in Nutshell

1. The value of the Williams Club Piano is $350.
2. The price to Williams Club Members is $257.50.
3. The terms are $5.00 cash when you join, then $1.25 per week for 202 weeks.
4. Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for five years. There are no "ifs" or "ands" in the guarantee—just a straight-out guarantee as strong as we know how to make it in writing. (See below).
5. If, after 30 days' trial, the piano is not satisfactory we will give you your money back.
6. If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the Club Member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the piano. If it does not then prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any other instrument of equal or greater value that we sell (and we sell over five different representative makes).
7. If a Club Member dies during the life of his contract we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument.
8. A beautiful stool to match the piano is included without extra cost.
9. The piano will be tuned twice without charge.

You should, if you are going to buy a piano. But to particularize, everyone who is thrifty and makes it a point in his life that the money he spends shall buy his full money's worth. He is a person who should join the club.

Young married folks should join the club. A young couple about to be married cannot possibly invest a small sum of money each week for their home that will bring more pleasure and entertainment than in securing one of these magnificent pianos through the Williams Piano Club.

There are hundreds of young ladies who are ambitious to learn the piano, but who through force of circumstances will have to buy and pay for their own instruments. They should, by all means, send in quickly an application for membership in the Williams Piano Club.

Music teachers who are just starting their professional careers should join.

(The writer of this advertisement knows a music teacher in Hamilton who has had one of these very pianos in her studio for over seven years, and it is a good piano today—notwithstanding it has been in almost constant use.)

Sunday schools, lodges, societies and clubs that have small stated incomes could not possibly make a better, safer or easier musical investment.

In short, anyone who has the faintest idea of buying a piano—it matters not of what grade or at what price—should join the club.

If you are thinking of paying around 200 dollars for a piano, it will not take you 5 minutes to see the wisdom of paying the 57 dollars and 50 cents more it takes to get one of these pianos through the Williams club.

If you are thinking of paying 350 dollars for an instrument—look at all the 350 dollar pianos you can find—then look at these. Simply satisfy yourself.

If you are thinking of buying a 450 or 500 dollar piano—join the club—and try the club piano for a year.

The chances are 100 to 1 that you will find it everything you want in a piano. If you do, you have saved 200 to 250 dollars. If you don't, you haven't lost anything; on the contrary, you have gained. You have had a full year's use of the piano for nothing, as we agree to exchange it, and give you credit for all the payments you have made.

This exchange privilege is made in writing over Williams Piano Co., Limited, signature.

Privilege of Exchange of Williams Club Piano

Privilege is given the purchaser to exchange WILLIAMS CLUB PIANO (No.), within ONE YEAR from date. The exchange, if made, shall be made for any new piano sold by us of equal or greater value at the time exchange is made, all payments made on the piano herein mentioned being placed to the credit of the price of instrument for which it is exchanged.

THE MARRIAGE BELL

EDY—ROWLAND.
The home of Mr. Malcolm H. Rowland, Queen's avenue, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, when his eldest daughter, Florence, was united in marriage to Mr. Cyrus Leslie Edy, of this city. The bride was attired in white silk with lace overdraping, and wore a bridal veil with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Rowland, dressed in white messaline silk, and carrying pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. W. G. Patterson. Owing to recent bereavement in the bride's family, the guests were limited to the immediate relatives and a few personal friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Ross, of St. Andrew's. Mr. and Mrs. Edy left on a short trip west, amidst a shower of confetti and the best wishes of a host of friends.

HOLMES—GILLIES.
A fashionable wedding took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gillies, 664 King street, when their second daughter, Miss Alma, was united in marriage to Dr. Royden E. Holmes, of Acton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Shields, pastor of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, in the presence of about 60 guests.
The wedding took place in the parlor beneath a large bell of orange blossoms. The bride was given away by her father, and during the ceremony Miss Florence Gillies played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride's gown was of cream marquisette over duchess satin. She was attended only by her cousin, Miss Edith Gillies, of Alisa Craig, a flower girl. She carried a bouquet of cream roses and lily of the valley.
The two soloists were Mrs. Calder-Leonard, of Detroit, and Mr. Calvin Hodgins, of this city.
The bride's room was prettily decorated with marguerites and palms, while the table decorations were roses and ferns, pearl pin.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, with pendant, and a pearl ring; to Miss Florence Gillies, a pearl pin, and to the flower girl, a pearl pin. To the bride's parents he gave a piano and bench.
At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn.
The gifts to the young couple were numerous, including checks from the groom's father and the bride's grandfather.

Dr. and Mrs. Holmes left for a wedding trip to Toronto and points east. The bride's travelling gown was of stone blue serge, with hat to match. They reside in Acton.
The following guests were present: Miss Carolyn Holmes, Boston; Miss Muriel Holmes, Princeton, N. J.; Miss Edna Holmes, Seaford; Miss Francis Simcock, Sarnia; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Pear, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. William Seale, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. S. Gilles, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. and Miss Florence Gillies, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. S. R. and Miss Mildred Gillies, Alisa Craig; Miss Paxman, of Parkhill; Dr. P. R. Menzies, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. F. Rosser, Toronto; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Shields, Toronto; Rev. Dr. Hooper, Bronte.

LITCHFIELD—HYMAN.

McClary Employees Had a Most

on Tuesday.

SOME EXCELLENT SPORTS

Special Car Was Charters on the Traction Line—Names of Winners of the Different Events.

The head office staff of the McClary Manufacturing Co. held their annual picnic at Port Stanley yesterday. A Southwestern Traction car, chartered by Col. Gartschore, carried the happy throng, numbering forty to the grounds, where a sumptuous banquet was prepared by the ladies. The lunch eclipsed all previous records for quantity and quality. It was even suggested by the driver-man that they were going to stay for a week.
At the conclusion of the supper, the following programme of sports was carried out, which was then followed by a game of ball.

The presentation of prizes was made by Col. Gartschore and caused much amusement among the spectators, the winners being presented with dolls',
sels, carts rattles, etc.
The crowd returned on their own car at 9:50 quite satisfied that they had done their utmost.

CALLS THEM VULTURES

Tart Comment of Judge on the Fraser
Will Case.

Toronto, June 28.—"They are simply a lot of vultures after this old man's money," declared Chief Justice Meredith today in enlarging an application of relatives of Mr. Michael Fraser, of Midland, who is 84 years of age to have him declared a lunatic.

This application is only a step in an action launched by the relatives to have the old man's marriage with Hannah M. Robertson daughter of the Rev. Wm. Robertson, of Dundas, Ontario, declared void on the ground that

Fraser was mentally incapable of appreciating the nature of the marriage performed on Jan. 13 last, by the father of the bride.

His lordship did not make it clear whether he referred to the plaintiffs or the defendants, or both.

Counsel for the defendants, were not prepared to go on, Mr. King, K. C., stating that he wished to have an opportunity to prove that the evidence given by Dr. Edward Ryan and Dr. A.
J. Johnson, to the effect that Mr.
Fraser was insane, was very unfair.

He also wished to have Mr. Fraser examined by other medical men.

His lordship agreed, and enlarged the application until July 14. Mr.
Fraser is said to be worth in the neighborhood of $80,000.
