GIANTS WIN WORLD BASEBALL TITLE

WAITE HOYT FAILS TO HALT McGRAWMEN IN FINAL DASH FOR FLAG

Giants Get to Him for Initial Run in First Inning — Artie Nehf, Choice of Nationals, Proves His Ability To Shatter Yankee Hopes of Victory.

THE SCORE BY INNINGS

				R.	H.	E.
YANKS	000	000	000	0	4	1

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 13.—Under the generalship of their veteran manager, John McGraw, the Giants today added a second world baseball title to their achievements of the past, McGraw pinning his faith to Artie Nehf. However, Nehf alone did not win the game. The fielding support given him and the ability of the National Leaguers to hit were both decisive factors. Success of the Giants in overcoming the two-game lead which the Yankees gained at the first of the series and their winning five out of the last six games proved that of the opposing teams, the Nationals had the edge on the Yanks as far as slugging goes.

Waite Hoyt, the youthful Yankee twirler, put forth a game effort to stall off defeat, and give his team a chance to go into the final game Friday on an even basis. "I will give the Giants all I have," he said when he stepped on to the mound," and all I ask is that the Yankees give me a few runs."

The weather was clear and the wind came out of the northeast with a cutting edge that caused the early arrivals to shiver and shake. Noontime found only a scattering of spectators in the stands, the crowds not coming until the game was about to start.

The batting order in the eighth game:

Giants.	Yankees.

LEADER OF IRISH IN ANGRY MOOD AS SESSION ENDS

Michael Collins Exclaims "We Are Not Coming Back," While Leaving.

CONFER AGAIN FRIDAY

Sinn Fein Seek Better Treatment for Prisoners Who Are Interned.

London, Oct. 13.—The members of the British cabinet and the Sinn Fein leaders conferring here today on an endeavor to settle the future of Ireland adjourned at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon after having been in session only an hour and a half.

Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein head of the Irish delegation, was asked by the correspondent, "When are you coming back?"

Michael Collins, Sinn Fein minister of finance and commander-in-chief of the Irish republican "army," interjected angrily, "We are not coming back."

Mr. Griffith then answered: "We are coming back at 11 o'clock tomorrow."

The conference was resumed in the cabinet room of the prime minister's official residence in Downing street at noon today, an hour later than the time originally set for the meeting.

An official statement given out by a secretary of Mr. Lloyd George said that the opening of the sitting had been postponed an hour to enable the members of the cabinet to have a preliminary conversation. It was gathered, however, that the proposed march of the unemployed in Downing street to interview Mr. Lloyd George had something to do with the delay, as the commissioner of police was with the cabinet members at the time originally arranged for the conference.

Recite Rosary in Street.

Sinn Fein sympathizers gave the Dail delegates a noisy welcome as they entered Downing street promptly on the stroke of 9, and proceeded to recite the rosary, kneeling in the street.

The first subject for discussion by the conferees today was breaches of the truce in Ireland, including instances of kidnapping by the Sinn Fein. Although the British Government since the truce has not arrested anyone in Ireland for political offences, there have been several cases of kidnapping by the Sinn Fein, those kidnapped including a legal official. It is expected here that the kidnapped men will be released, although the Sinn Fein claims most of them were offenders against the ordinary law.

On their part, the Sinn Feiners are endeavoring to secure better treatment for 3,500 of their number in internment. They do not demand the release of the internes, the Sinn Fein publicity department saying their claim is only for prisoner-of-war treatment of those interned, improved medical assistance for the sick, and for paroles in cases of illness in the men families. A. W. Cope, assistant under-secretary for Ireland, who came here from Dublin to advise the cabinet members, was consulted by them regarding this at the previous conference.

Inquiry Promised.

In reply to the Sinn Fein protest against publication of the proceedings of the conference beyond what is contained in the agreed communique, the Government has promised to institute an inquiry. It is not expected, however, that secrecy can be maintained when the House of Commons goes into session next week. An official bulletin says the Irish conference adjourned until 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Elaborate police precautions were taken by the authorities of London today to cope with a monster demonstration by unemployed persons, who planned an attempt to force their way into Downing street to interview Prime Minister Lloyd George. Those engaged in the demonstration planned to collect on the embankment and divide into two columns, one of which would try to reach Downing street through Trafalgar Square, while the other would approach by the way of Westminster and Whitehall. Thousands of police were stationed early this morning, within a radius of a mile from Downing street. The entrances to that thoroughfare were barred and under heavy guard, while mounted and foot police occupied the Mall approach to Buckingham Palace, various points of vantage in Trafalgar Square, the Embankment, Victoria street and the Houses of Parliament.

Police Did Not Interfere.

There was no attempt on the part of the police to interfere with Sinn Fein sympathizers, who, as usual, gathered in Whitehall awaiting the arrival of the Dail Eireann delegates on their way to the conference. They were today wearing the Sinn Fein colors as usual, and were carrying Sinn Fein flags and banners. Women were largely in the majority, and, owing to the delay in the approach of the Sinn Fein representatives they remained standing along the sidewalks and were the object of curious observance from those who had come to that part of the city in anticipation of a clash between the police and persons engaged in the demonstration of the unemployed. Gatherings along the street were broken up by the police. Scotland Yard was all activity this forenoon and was prepared for any eventuality.

SILESIA DECISION RUMOR BRINGS DECLINE OF MARK

London, Oct. 13.—German marks fell heavily in the stock exchange here this morning, dropping to 540 to the pound sterling. This was the lowest price on record. The fall in the value of the mark was attributed to the report relative to the decision of the council of the League of Nations regarding Silesia.

CONSIDERS EXPENDITURES OF NEARLY ONE MILLION

London's Finance Committee Approves University Grant — Discusses Two Other Money Bylaws as Well as Dam Proposition.

Requests for the submission to the ratepayers of bylaws involving the expenditure of $800,000, were made to the finance committee of the city council on Wednesday. They were:

Utilities Commission, $250,000.

Nurses' Home, Victoria Hospital, $300,000.

Another matter which came up for approval, and which would involve an expenditure of $150,000, was a proposal from the chamber of commerce for a new dam at Springbank. This would not go before the people, but would be included in the City of London bill before the Legislature, and would be paid for out of the usual appropriation in the taxes for the parks.

University Grant Recommended.

The committee decided to recommend to the council that the Western University grant be sent to the people. The other proposals stand over until the next meeting of the committee.

C. R. Somerville, Gordon Ingram and James Gray were present as representatives of the Western University. Mr. Somerville, as spokesman, reviewed first the fight which the university put up to get an additional grant from the government.

He touched briefly on the recommendations of the royal commission. This increased the maintenance grant of the university from $65,000 to $200,000 for this year, and $250,000 for the following three years. The increase of $50,000 for maintenance was to care for the new arts building, which it expected would be in operation by the end of the second year.

Grants Building Fund.

For building purposes the grant was $800,000, to care for arts, science and a library.

It was up to the people of London to arrange for a bridge over the river, the campus, dormitories and the gymnasium. To do this the board of governors was asking that the city of Lon-

Twins, 90, Still Boast of Ability To Cut Straight Furrows

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 13—Although James and Joel Cheatwood, twins, living in Leavenworth County, celebrated their ninetieth birthday anniversary yesterday, they still boast of being able to handle a plow and cutting as straight a furrow as any of the "young sprouts" who are in their "teens" instead of the last of the "ties."

The brothers, who believe they are the oldest twins in the United States, enjoyed a family reunion at the home of James Cheatwood.

URGES MANY CHANGES IN SUBJECTS TAUGHT

Interesting constructive criticism of the present public school course was voiced this morning at the opening meeting of the London Teachers' Association, now in two-day convention at the Normal School, the criticism being made by President Alex. MacQueen.

Basing his criticism on an experience of half a century, he urged that the teaching of arithmetic be materially lessened, that the courses in geography and spelling be modified, that more time be given to history and literature, and that an entirely new subject, conversational French, be introduced. His remarks were frequently greeted with applause.

Principal MacQueen, referring to the early days, cited the huge amount of unnecessary arithmetic that was at that time crammed into the pupils. Much of it, he said, was never of any use in after life.

"Unquestionably," he said, "we tried to cover too much ground. Much of it was useless and could well have been eliminated. There is still much that is useless.

Teach Simple Arithmetic.

"I believe that the teaching of easy fractions, simple decimals and percentage is going far enough for the average pupil. Paperhangers or bricklayers, for instance, can figure their work in a fraction of the time that is required by the methods we teach. Things of this kind can be left until they are required, I believe."

He believed that the course in geography should be modified, and told of the various methods that have been in vogue. The "Capes and Bays" method, he believed, produced good results. Personally he had learned thoroughly the location of most places encountered in ordinary reading, by this method.

Should Simplify Spelling.

Spelling, he characterized as a subject hated alike by teachers and pupils.

"We put in more time on it than anything else, and still never succeed," he stated. "If spelling could be simplified and taught phonetically, we would get better results. There are too many silent letters. It has been estimated that they take five per cent of the time used in writing."

Spelling, he stated, is not on the curriculum in the Italian public schools at all. Much of the time used in teaching arithmetic and spelling, he thought, could be used to advantage in the study of English, including composition, literature and grammar.

"We do fairly well now as far as composition is concerned," he said, "but how much more could be done if we had more time to correct many common mistakes and to eradicate vulgar expressions."

Teach More History.

"Our time for history is altogether too crowded," he said. "History is the great balance wheel of civilization, and we should give it the time it deserves."

Principal MacQueen said he believed that conversational French could be introduced into the school course with advantage. "French is one of the recognized languages in this country, and the teaching of it in the public schools would draw the Canadian people closer together."

Inspector Greer gave a short address in which he urged the importance of supplementary reading. He discussed

REMAINS OF J. H. FOWLER TO BE BURIED IN OTTAWA

Funeral in London Conducted by Rev. A. A. Bice.

The funeral of J. Harry Fowler, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital on Wednesday, was held from the undertaking parlors of Logan & Sons at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. A. A. Bice of All Saints' Church, and by members of Kilwinning Lodge, A., F. and A. M.

The pall-bearers were T. H. Baker, Edward Flock, Thomas Coleridge, Geo. Copeland, J. S. Barnard and N. P. Walsh. The honorary pall-bearers were Mayor E. S. Little, H. B. Muir, Arthur Ford, Philip Pocock, Edward J. Carty and Arthur Carty.

The body will be forwarded to Ottawa for burial on the 7 o'clock C. P. R. train Thursday night.

George F. Buskard, formerly a member of The London Advertiser editorial staff, and now private secretary to Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada, is making final arrangements for the funeral in Ottawa.

Mrs. J. H. Fowler and ex-Ald. and Mrs. J. H. Saunders will accompany the body to Ottawa, where interment will take place Friday.

EMPIRE FAIR TO BE HELD IN 1923

London, Oct. 13.—Canadian Press Cable.—The London Times, commenting on the speech of the Prince of Wales, delivered yesterday regarding the necessity of starting at once the preparations for the 1923 British Empire Exhibition, presumes no effort will be spared to make the fair a success, adding: "If it is to be of real and lasting service to the Empire it must be on a higher plane, and altogether more comprehensive and practical than any of the preceding efforts."

The Times says that despite the large volume of encouraging support there is in some quarters a feeling that the moment is inopportune for the enterprise, but argues that by 1923 the financial position of the manufacturers of the Empire will be much better than it is today.

The newspapers proceed to question whether the choice of Wembly Park as the sit for the exhibition is judicious, owing to its distance from London, and suggests that this matter be reconsidered.

London Conservatives Likely To Select a Candidate, Oct. 21

It is the present intention of the local National-Liberal-Conservatives to hold their nominating convention Oct. 21. At an executive meeting of the association to be held Friday evening, this date will undoubtedly be definitely set aside as the fitting moment to make the supreme selection.

"Who will be of sufficient strength to carry the Tory standard?" is seemingly no idle question among the stalwarts, and many interesting conferences have taken place within the past few days, resulting apparently in scant results.

"We have such a vast wealth of material to choose from," admitted E. R. Dennis Thursday, "that really we shall be able to place an excellent candidate in the field. I know that some of our followers are getting a trifle anxious because we have not selected our man, but we reason that we have plenty of time. A good six weeks' campaign will be sufficient is the general opinion of our forces."

Although the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada, will be touring the district about the time of the local "pow-wow," the London Tories believe that he will not include the Forest City on his itinerary. Other of the prominent members of the Meighen Administration are promised, however.

Both the Labor and Tory elements seem not a little nervous relative to the most oppressive silence that has been maintained in either camp. That each is waiting for the other to nominate, is the popular belief of both, which each deny, however, with vehemence.

GIRL FREED OF MURDER CHARGE IN KABER CASE

TRIAL'S END PATHETIC

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Nine men and three women, after having heard attorneys for the State of Ohio brand Marian McArdle as the murderer of her stepfather, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher, while the defence pleaded for her acquittal as a "little girl who was a tool in the hands of the mother she loved too well," returned a verdict of not guilty today, eight ballots being taken before the verdict was reached.

The closing hours of the trial were pathetic.

Pale and weary, biting her lips to keep back tears of anger, only a few hours before she left the dingy court room a free woman, the accused girl had heard Chief Assistant Prosecutor Cassidy demand that she be sent to join her mother in the state penitentiary for the rest of her days.

Then the scene had changed!

Francis W. Poulson, Marian's own attorney, championed her cause. No longer was she referred to as an accomplice in a coldblooded murder. It was Marian the "little girl," the innocent victim of circumstances."

And Marian, still clad in her brown jersey dress, still looking like a school girl with her bobbed, curly hair, responded to the shift in scenery. The tears she had fought to keep back welled up in her eyes and coursed down her cheeks.

Uses Kerchief as Shield.

She sat with her head bowed, her handkerchief shielding her features, almost exactly as her mother sat in the same court room only a few months ago, when she was convicted of murder.

Poulson appealed to the paternal instincts of the jury for a verdict of acquittal. He declared they could make no mistake by granting Marian all of the mercy within their power.

"She has suffered enough," he declared. "When you jurors leave, after reaching your verdict, you will go home to face your own children. Think of them while you are deliberating the fate of this little girl. Give the mercy

SERGEANT-INSTRUCTOR RETURNS FROM OTTAWA

Will Institute Training School For No. 1 District.

With but two weeks remaining before the annual classification tests, conducted by the department of militia, No. 1 Company, Canadian Corps of Signallers, is speeding up training.

Quartermaster Sergeant-Instructor J. Steele, the permanent force N. C. O., allotted to M. D. No. 1 for instructional purposes, has returned from a course in signalling at Ottawa, and at the regular weekly parade Wednesday night lectured the local unit on army signal forms and the new procedure in signalling.

Signal courses of six weeks' duration are being arranged for the various sections of the company at which Q.-M.-S. Steele will instruct. It is expected that a course for the St. Thomas section will be authorized by headquarters to commence next week. A course for the local sections is being planned for January.

Target of Attack

HON. ARTHUR HENDERSON.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 13.—Premier Lloyd George, in a scathing letter to Mr. Arthur Henderson today, severely criticized labor's attitude on the unemployment situation, and charged that labor has repudiated any idea of co-operation.

DENIES THAT WELLS OF CITY ARE IMPURE

E. V. Buchanan Refutes Statements Made by Ald. Watt.

"Ald. Watt's attitude in regard to the water situation is most unjustified and destructive," E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, commented Thursday. "He charges that 'we are putting down a lot of holes, and tapping every sink-hole and cesspool in the city to get drinking water.' Such is certainly far from being the actual state of affairs.

"Our wells are in the neighborhood of 80 feet below the surface. Twenty or more feet of this is solid clay. Can any person consider it possible for surface water to get through such a depth? I am perfectly safe in a statement that not once since the Ohio Well Drilling Company has commenced operations in London has there been evidence of typhoid or other germs and we have conducted a careful analysis every week.

"We were considering closely another angle when we engaged in well digging, the economic side of the question. It would cost at least $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 to pump water from the lake, and perhaps three-quarters of a million to supply the taxpayers with river water?

"Ald. Watt seemingly has quite misunderstood our attitude with respect to the proposed dam at Springbank. We have always supported the project."

CITY CLERK PLANS FOR MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS

City Clerk Baker has prepared a by-law, making the following plans for the municipal nominations, which take place on November 21

7:30 p.m., aldermen, with meetings in each ward.

W. C. Fitzgerald, returning officer for the federal contest, has secured permission from the city to use the city hall for nominations on November 22 from 12 to 2 p.m.

CHAMBERS WEAK WHEN TRACKERS END LONG HUNT

Will Be Carried Back On Litter to Lumber Camp Today.

SEAPLANE QUITS SEARCH

Capt. McEwen of Survey Party Reaches Safety of Port Arthur.

Fort William, Oct. 13.—Dr. Graham Chambers, the Toronto physician, missing in the Atikokan bush since the end of September, and for whom search has been made by land and air, has been found alive.

Indian trackers discovered him late last night, and he is at Deer Lake, too weak to move, and too much exhausted even to talk. Indians brought the message to Atikokan.

Today a litter will be taken to the scene and the patient carried back to the lumber camp by the trail, and motorboat. Medical supplies have been rushed up. Relatives at Toronto have been notified, and Mrs. Chambers is on the way to Atikokan.

The search by seaplane for the missing man was abandoned after making two thorough inspections of the territory at a height of a thousand feet without result.

It became apparent to Capt. Boyd, in charge of the plane, that unless fires had been lighted, there was no hope of finding the doctor, and it was decided to turn her nose southeast for Lake Shebandowa, sixty miles from here, leaving the quest to the various parties on foot.

Closely interwoven with the search for Dr. Chambers is the adventure of the Sioux lookout seaplane squadron which ended in slight damage to one of their number and delayed arrival of the two others at this city, while hundreds of officials were keeping the wires hot searching for them.

Commander Carter in charge of the seaplane survey party at Sioux Lookout, suffered an accident to his boat at Kaministiquia, 20 miles from Fort William, and the C. Y. C. C. plane is lying anchored in the Kam River. Capt. McEwen, who accompanied him from Sioux Lookout, is safe at Port Arthur.

CITY ENGINEER HESITATES ABOUT EXTENDING SEWERS

More Than $600,000 Already Expended on Work.

Should the city of London spend upwards of a million dollars a year on sewer extensions?

This question was brought up recently by Engineer Brazier, when he told members of No. 2 committee that he thought that the city expenditure should hardly exceed $600,000 or $700,000 a year on sewers.

Today there are clamors for two important sewerage systems which involve large expenditures and the question facing the aldermen is whether or not they should be built at the present time. One of these is the Pine Lawn extension, to cost $109,000. This work, it is believed, might be undertaken as a winter work to relieve unemployment.

The other extension is Wellington road, to cost $270,000. The reason for the hesitation is that work involving $670,000 has already been undertaken on sewers this year, and the aldermen have serious doubts about being able to finance others.

LABOR PARTIES COMPLETE UNION

Winnipeg, Oct. 13.—Affiliation of the Dominion Labor party with the Manitoba section of the Canadian Labor Party was effected last night. Recommendation was made that nomination of candidates be carried out at a mass meeting of the rank and file of the party.

Threatens Curtailed Service If Estimates of Utilities Fail

"I did not know that the city council intended considering our estimates Wednesday. One would naturally think that we would have received some intimation in order that the commission could be represented," said Philip Pocock, chairman of the public utilities commission, when questioned Thursday as to what action would probably be the outcome of the city council's refusal to authorize the commission's plea for $250,000 debentures for 1922.

"I know that I received no warning, and I believe that no other member of the commission did. All we can do now is to call a special meeting to discuss the question further. The commission has a regular meeting next Thursday, but undoubtedly we'll call a session before that time. Then we'll have to make a special effort to convince No. 1 committee of the city council that we really need the money, and are not on a spending rampage, as some of these aldermen are credited with declaring."

Still Worried.

"The city council has instructed its committee to ask your commission what it intends to do with the $100,000 that stands to its credit in Toronto," the chairman was informed.

"That sum seems to be still worrying them," replied Mr. Pocock, "but we'll explain it all to them again."

Questioned Thursday as to what might be the natural sequence in 1922, in event of the city council ultimately declining to authorize any future expenditures whatever, E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the commission, warned that in that event it would be impossible for his department to continue with any proposed extensions of the city's water and light facilities.

Water Supply Curtailed.

"It would probably mean," he pointed out, "that next summer you will have the water supply strictly limited, and possibly shut off in many cases. We would also be unable to provide so many new taxpayers with light as we have been accomplishing in the past."

"Then there is another point that apparently has been overlooked by the councillors. Considerable of our expense in the past has been the laying of pipe that we had no use for at the time. The city insisted, before any new pavement was laid, that we lay pipe, whether we had use for the same or not, in order that the pavement would not have to be molested later.

"Next year the city will no doubt continue with its paving program, but we shall not be able to lay our pipes as required, if we do not have the money."

FINDS GARDEN OF EDEN IN TAHITI ISLES, WHERE HIGH RENT IS UNKNOWN

Globe Trotter Discovers Perfect Content On Palm-Covered Island, Where Money Worries No One and Good-Fellowship With Cocktails Reigns Supreme.

[By a Nomad of the Pacific.]

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 11.—Imagine an island of swaying palms where true human brotherhood exists and strife is practically unknown; where a wonderful meal costs but the asking; where every man can build himself an abode and live without a thought of tomorrow.

That's Tahiti, the little French island lying 3,000 miles off in the South Seas.

A wet slush lay on the streets when I left America last spring, bent on several months of peace and quiet, far from the high rents, crime surveys and other unpleasant angles of twentieth century civilization.

A month later, swaying cocoanut palms rising against a deep blue sky and then toppling back as a fringe on the rippling bay, proclaimed the fact that our eleven-day journey across the Pacific was at an end.

Papeete Is Only City.

Papeete Harbor, they call the coral-rimmed bay in which we cast anchor, a tiny cluster of flimsy buildings, and a more ideal haven would be hard to imagine. The water was crystal clear, and thousands of fishes, vari-colored as the rainbow, could be seen sporting about far beneath.

Papette is also the name of the town where we landed. It consists of housing perhaps 200 whites, most of whom are in the service of the French Government as Papete, besides being the largest—and, in fact, the only—city in Tahiti, is also the capital of the Society Islands.

I made arrangements to stay at the "Annex," a six-room cottage owned by a Tahitian American, who had found peace and contentment amid the tropical appointments of Papeete. It was seemingly an unstable structure, this "Annex," but in that respect it harmonized perfectly with the rest of the town. The cocoanut palms gracefully arching themselves above the roof, aided materially in shutting out the fierce rays of the tropical sun, while brightly colored pieces of calico that served as doors swayed slowly back and forth, allowing every gentle breeze to circulate through the house.

Must Become Acclimated.

Despite my eagerness to get a glimpse of the interior of the island, I was forced to stay inside of the cottage for several days. Although the temperature rarely goes above 80, and seldom slides below 60 degrees, yet the intense humidity of the atmosphere makes it necessary for the newcomer to become acclimated. Various tales are told of indiscreet travelers who braved the tropic sun and became stark mad. One poor fellow on our boat was so affected by the beginnings of the tropical climate that he became a raving lunatic several days before we reached the Tahiti, and it was necessary to tie him hand and foot to keep him from jumping over the side of the boat.

The island itself is shaped like a frying pan, the handle of the pan being perhaps 25 miles long, while the greatest width is not more than 10 miles.

There are clusters of native huts on all sides of Papeete, hence it was a simple matter to begin my acquaintanceship with the Tahitiennes. I was assured by the genial owner of the "Annex" that there was no danger in moving about freely. Peace and goodwill seems to be the keynote of Tahitian life.

Have Splendid Physiques.

I'll never forget that first day among the natives. Polynesians is the racial name which science has attached to them. Such specimens of humanity. The men are straight, extremely well muscled, and lack the flat chest and flabby stomachs often typical of our present day civilization. The women are beautifully formed and have uniform and regular features. One might easily imagine that they were well tanned bathing girls of the movie variety.

"I aroanna," the Tahitian cry of welcome, greeted me as I came upon a cluster of native huts.

With a smile of good fellowship they inspected my person and then, without inquiring as to the state of my appetite, they brought forth trays laden with delicious fruits. I gave them several silver coins and they went into raptures. It was not because they had need of money. In Tahiti money means nothing. The natives never have it, never desire it, and have no use for it. The curious round pieces of silver delighted them simply because they were bright and beautiful.

Few Tourists Visit.

To the natives a white man is a demi-god who reaches heights in life to which they themselves cannot aspire. Perhaps when hundreds of tourists begin to make yearly visits to the islands the Tahitians may assume a different attitude. At the present time it is seldom that travelers and sightseers consider the little volcanic blotch of land worth their attention. Now and then a boat enters the harbor and remains there a day, while the passengers go ashore. Sometimes derelicts seized with that uncontrollable tropical languor, or political refugees seeking a haven, drift to the island and remain for a time, but the encroachment of civilization has been so limited that its tranquility and primitive character has not been destroyed.

One is told that the ravages of tuberculosis are beginning to make themselves felt, but the strong physiques and the splendid constitutions of the natives would seem to forbid such plagues making much headway.

One day, after being on the island for several weeks, I was agreeably surprised by receiving an invitation to attend a feast given by the one remaining princess of royal blood to commemorate the deeds of her ancestors. I was properly grateful, as my landlord assured me that such feasts were rare and such invitations rarer still.

Dines With Royalty.

The princess lived in a house built along European lines that was situated several miles from town along the surf. I found the place entirely surrounded by high walls.

A millionaire pearl merchant, several native cousins, a Frenchman or two and myself, composed the dinner party. There were eight of us, and we sat waiting on the spacious veranda amiably chatting while the meal was being prepared. I found that the princess knew a few English words, and that, coupled with my scant knowledge of French and Tahitian, enabled us to carry on a tolerable conversation.

I was much surprised to find the dining-room fitted up in much the usual European manner. I noticed with interest that the large table standing in the centre of the room was laden with dishes of the well-known Haviland make. There was also a startling array of wine goblets and champagne glasses. These unexpected convenienecs deprived the feast of some of its primitive atmosphere, but the added facility with which I was able to handle my food more than made up for the loss of local color.

Cocktail Rivals Whiskey.

A "tiara" cocktail was the appetizer. It is the most talked-of beverage of the South Seas and few travelers from that section of the world will ever forget it. While its strength rivals that of ripe old whiskey yet the effect is vastly more pleasing. It causes the uninitiated to feel drowsy rather than drunk and has no sickening after effects. I declined a warm invitation to partake of several additional "appetizers," as I felt convinced that any attempt on my part to eat with several of the decoctions under my belt would be futile as well as fatal.

The meal itself consisted of raw bonita fish steeped in the juice of lemon and lime; a shrimp salad garnished with the soft meat of fresh cocoanuts; roast duck imported from a neighboring isle, and a final course of luscious tropical fruits. During the entire meal the servants kept replenishing the wine goblets with a red vintage which had a pleasing taste and more pleasing effect. A sip of wine to a bite of food seemed to be the proper proportion. Incidentally, the natives never drink water, adhering strictly to the belief that it was created for the purpose of removing dirt, and was not meant to be used as a beverage.

Once the meal was over and the spontaneous joviality of the crowd was at its height, the pearl merchant suggested a hula-hula dance.

Dances the Hula-Hula.

Assent was immediate and enthusiastic. While two of the servants were shedding their "aahus," rectangular pieces of cloth covering the body from the waist down, and practically the only garments worn by the natives, and donning grass costumes, such as we Americans see on the vaudeville stage, an old patriarch brought forth an unmelodious accordion, upon which he proceeded to play a "hyminie," or native song. The natives are supposed to have heard travelers use the word hymn, and they like the sound so well that they applied it to all their songs, regardless of the fitness.

The dance consisted of a conglomeration of frenzied writhings, in which the body of the man and the woman moved in unison, although they never touched each other. As a conclusion they executed a number of hip movements. Perhaps it was madly sensuous, but to my American eyes it seemed little more than an exhibition of the elasticity of their wonderful bodies.

During the dance the entire crowd, including the servants, became wildly excited and began to clap their hands and mark time with their feet in much the same way as did the old-time minstrel troupe when the clog dancer performed.

Princess Taku, for that was her name, although she was seldom called anything more than just princess, proved a friend in more ways than one. Through her patronage, I was able to come into much closer contact with the natives, and to observe their curious customs to much better advantage.

Change Views Often.

The Tahitian marriage ceremony seemed particularly interesting to me. Previously to the coming of the white man, there had been no ceremony of ny kind. Men took unto themselves as many wives as they could secure. With the advent of missionaries and other whites, the natives began to evolve a marriage ritual, which is now carried out. However, the ceremony means little, although it does furnish an excuse for a feast and celebration. It is quite customary and no slur on a man's breeding for him to exchange his wife, either temporarily or permanently. Such a slight matter as divorce entails no hardship whatsoever.

The Tahitian idea is that man stands predominant. In fact, after marriage it is quite the custom for a husband to drag his wife outside the hut every morning and give her a lashing with a bamboo rod, simply that she may never forget his superiority.

No One Works.

When children are born, they are nurtured for a few years, then allowed to shift for themselves. But shifting for themselves there in that garden of Eden means nothing. The hardest job I ever saw any native doing, while on the island, was serving food at the princess' banquet and then there were fully five servants to every guest! The great mass of the natives simply sit around and gossip or drink until meal time, after which they repeat the process.

Every man is a friend of his neighbors and a native quarrel is a rare happening—in fact during my stay I did not hear of a single argument between Tahitiennes.

There are islands in the South Seas where a meal of human flesh is considered a delicacy, but in Tahiti there is no cannibalism and presumably there never was. They seem content to live and let live that all may enjoy the allotted span amid the blessing of a bountiful nature.

But there seems to be no great mystery connected with the great majority of the natives. They are a simple folk reveling in the fact that they have been allowed to live in this paradise.

As my boat left the harbor, a wild desire seized me—a desire to come back some day and live in Tahiti, where humanity seems more than just a series of contradictions and where true happiness unsponsored by any cult or doctrine seems to attain its greatest perfection.

M'CREARY TELLS COURT WHY BID WAS WITHDRAWN

PAYMENT MADE IN LOGS

Col. Gibson and G. H. Ferguson Resent Judge Latchford's Summing Up.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Some light was thrown at the Riddell-Latchford timber probe today on the transaction relating to the withdrawal of the James McCreary tender for timber with the consent of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, leaving the way open for the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company, whose tender was $50,000 lower than the McCreary tender.

The transaction related to the timber in the townships of Groves and St. Louis.

James McCreary, a lumberman of Sudbury, testified that he received $1,000 from Wilbert Cochrane of Sudbury to withdraw his tender.

McCreary said: "I met Cochrane at the Queen's Hotel after I had been up to the department, and he told me he had heard I was going to withdraw my tender. Jokingly, I said I might if he would pay me my expenses. He asked how much, and I said about $1,000. He said he would fix that up."

Continuing his evidence, Mr. McCreary said Cochrane had given him logs instead of cash. He also admitted that his "expenses" consisted merely of his train fare and hotel bill, a matter of about sixty dollars.

The balance of the $1,000 was profit.

It was further revealed that the Spanish River Company, whose tender was accepted instead of McCreary's, had given Cochrane the white pine in St. Louis Township.

Justice Latchford commented as follows:

"The Spanish River Company's tender, $50,000 lower was accepted, and within a few hours after McCreary applies to withdraw his tender he gets a reward of $1,000 for doing so, and the man who pays him that gets the pine on one of the townships from the Spanish River Company."

Col. Gibson Protests.

Colonel T. A. Gibson, for the Spanish River Company, and G. Howard Ferguson, who was Ontario minister of lands and forests during the period under inquiry, arose together to protest at his lordship's summing up.

"I know how tenders have been manipulated," came back Judge Latchford.

Mr. Ferguson: "Do you mean during your own regime as minister or during mine? You have been making political speeches and objecting to my doing so. The whole object has been to get something on me.

Judge Latchford: "I resent that statement."

Shirley Denison, K.C., counsel for the crown, then denied the statement made by Mr. Ferguson at yesterday's sitting that he had used timber probe material to make political briefs for the attorney-general. He also declared that some of his papers had been either stolen or tampered with, and Mr. Ferguson's remarks gave evidence of a knowledge of these papers.

"That is a gratuitous piece of insolence, and there is not a tittle of foundation for it," came back Mr. Ferguson.

M.C.R. COMPANY ASKS LOWER ASSESSMENTS

Desire Property Assessed On Basis of Private Holdings.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 12.—The finance committee of the council and representatives of the Michigan Central Railway conferred this afternoon over the renewal of the assessment of the company's property in the city and arranged for a revised appraisement.

The company is asking for a lower figure on the chief building erected on its premises because of its age and the wear and tear of its material. The officials will ask that the company's property be dealt with by Commissioner Freek on the same basis as the assessment of private holdings.

To Help the Needy.

That the real poor families of the city may be helped through the winter season, 500 St. Thomas residents will be asked to contribute $1 weekly to meet the possible outlay. And on being told of the commendable scheme the first to respond—all labor men—were Commissioner W. K. Sanderson, Ald. W. Stokes and J. L. Thompson. There are about 250 unemployed men just now in the city.

Last winter the city's monthly bill for charity was $1,200.

Returning Officer.

George C. Haynes, a returned soldier, St. Thomas, has been appointed returning officer for the west riding of Elgin, and Andrew J. Clark named as election clerk. Mr. H. C. Cameron, owing to business appointments, has been compelled to decline the office of returning officer.

The Canadian Club.

The officers of the Canadian Club are: Honorary president, E. R. Wood; president, J. A. Taylor; first vice-president, A. W. Baines; second vice-president, F. E. Bennett; secretary, C. C. Trull; treasurer, F. B. Holtby; literary correspondent, P. O. Dobson; executive committee, Ed. Dallyn, F. W. Wright, J. W. Atherton, John Lyle, J. McK. Urie, Monsignor West, W. G. Whiteside, E. J. Gray, Paul Cain, Orville Burgess, R. A. Penhale, Rev. Jas. Anthony, J. J. T. Stewart, H. W. Matthews.

The executive will meet on Tuesday to arrange a program for the season.

A Small Docket.

The docket of the division court had a few cases for hearing today, the more important being that of Ronald W. McDonald against D. H. McIntyre, grocer, who claimed $293 for the delivery of a quantity of potatoes at the premises of Mr. McIntyre in November last. Part of the stock, the plaintiff claimed, went bad and Mr. McDonald removed it to his storehouse. The plaintiff, Mr. McDonald, gave a check for the balance. The judge found for the defendant.

The case of W. J. Smith and Frank Defrayne against William Armstrong for an amount due on the construction of a foundation of a residence on Rosebery Place was not concluded.

Someone Forgets.

The disappearance of a big stock of liquor planted in the cellars of three Aylmer men last spring has brought about their prosecution before the county magistrate under a section of the O. T. A. The accused say someone stole the greater part of the whiskey.

Threatened With Prison Cell.

A prominent railwayman on the Pere Marquette was fined $5 and costs today for having his auto too far from the curb. The accused got so vociferous in criticising the action of Constable McKeown that the magistrate threatened to place him in the cell.

Died at Hopewell.

Rhea McCarthy, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarthy, 11 West avenue, died this morning at Hopewell Hospital from an acute attack of diphtheria. Her parents, a brother and sister survive. The interment took place this afternoon in the Catholic Cemetery.

BARN AND CONTENTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

BLENHEIM, Oct. 12.—Cornelius Huffman, lot 22, Centre Line, Harwich, about 7 miles north of town, lost his barn and contents last night by fire, the origin of which is said to have been an overturned lamp. Mr. Huffman, who was attending to some chores, set the lamp down and a horse that was loose stumbled over it. The fire started in some loose hay and soon the whole building was ablaze. Neighbors turned out to give assistance, but nothing could be done. Mr. Huffman carried a small insurance. His brother Peter, Communication road, had a similar loss only a few weeks ago, when his barn was struck by lightning and burnt, along with the contents.

Blenheim Fair was held on Monday, and though the weather, especially in the morning, was not very promising, a goodly number turned out. The exhibits were not as numerous as in former years, as the fair had been postponed from last Friday on account of rain, and as Monday morning did not offer much better prospect many declined to bring along their exhibits. What there were were very creditable to the owners.

In the halls the fruit, grain and vegetables were first class. Ridge U. F. O. Club vied with Mull U. F. O. Club for a general exhibit in grain, fruits and vegetables, and nosed ahead, it is said by a small margin, the long ears of corn helping them to land on top. Both exhibits were a credit to these two splendid farming communities. The chief exhibitors in live stock were Wm. Knights, Mull; Brien Bros., Ridgetown; Joseph Wilkie, South Harwich; Wm. Knight, Harwich. Cattle, hogs and sheep were not a large number, but of good quality.

James Russell, Charing Cross, took the silver cup offered by Hon. Manning Doherty for the best horse in the draught or agriculture classes.

Do You Look Forward To a Good Night's Rest?

Do you regularly anticipate a refreshing sleep? Or do you dread going to bed, only to stare, sleepless, at the walls? The difference between sleeping and staring is simply a matter of nerves.

When your nervous system is in a sound condition, you are certain to sleep well. But when your nerves are worn out and beyond your control, your rest is broken and your awakening leaves you languid and irritable.

Doctors know that much of the nerve disorders result from tea and coffee drinking. The drugs in these drinks over-stimulate, often causing the serious ills which result from disturbing the regular bodily functions. It is for your health's sake that many doctors now say you should quit tea and coffee. Drink Postum, the delicious meal-time beverage instead! In flavor it is rich and satisfying.

Postum is fundamentally a nerve strengthener because it lets you get sound, restful sleep. Postum is a skilfully-made cereal beverage, and the secret of its popularity is its protection to health and its delicious flavor.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

GOVT. PLANNING TO TAX MORE INCOMES

All Who Pay Travelling Expenses To Be Hit.

Many interesting rumors as to where the income tax regulations will hit next are circulating among travelers as a result of the memorandum recently issued regarding the tax on commercial men.

The opinion is general that the government plans to extend the field it has opened up by taxing the travelers. Next in line may come pastors who go out to fill country calls and collect traveling expenses for their trip. It is not unlikely that all who make occasional trips for which they receive expense money will be called upon to contribute a share to the government.

This sounds like a far-reaching policy, but the opportunity it offers for increasing revenue are obvious, and it is stated by those in close touch with matters that plans are already under consideration at Ottawa for taking advantage of the scheme.

Memorandum No. 87, which has been issued, is regarded as merely the thin edge of the wedge. It applies so far only to commercial travelers, and is as follows:

In making a return of their incomes, commercial travelers shall show all moneys received by them from their employers, including expenses. They will be allowed, as a deduction, expenses actually and necessarily incurred in connection with their business, less the sum of $1 for each day's travel, which sum is intended to represent amounts included in expenses, but not directly attributable to the earnings of the income.

A—Those who travel with grips only.

The following figures show the general average of expenses for each of the three classes, and where the figures returned in any individual case exceed the amounts specified, an explanation should be called for:

Class.	Week of five days.	Week of seven days.
A	$45 00	$ 65 00
B	60 00	80 00
C	80 00	100 00

This ruling will be applicable to 1920

A traveler making his return should show the number of weeks he was on the road, if necessary by dividing the weeks into weeks of five days and weeks of seven days.

Where an explanation is asked of a traveler with regard to a charge exceeding the average, and he is unable to give full details, inspectors should procure an affidavit vouching that the charges made were actually and necessarily incurred in the conduct of his business, together with all information available.

The employers' annual returns of salaries paid on Form T4 will be drawn up so as to show the classification of travelers according to the above classes, and to show the total moneys paid to travelers by employers.

Inspectors should note that the figures above are neither minimum nor maximum, and may expect that in some cases the amount of expenses will be below the figures given, and in some cases above.

This ruling will be applicable to 1920, and subsequent returns, and will also be applied to all unsettled cases for previous periods.

NEARLY ALL VETERANS PAY OBLIGATIONS DUE

Soldier Settlement Board Reports Large Percentage Payment On Lands and Stock.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—According to the report of the Soldier Settlement Board the number of soldiers' loans approved up to June 30, 1921, was 20,465, and the amount of money advanced totalled $83,885,210. Of this amount $46,000,000 was for the purchase of land, $26,000,000 for the purchase of stock and equipment, and the remainder for improvements and the removal of encumbrances.

Of 12,233 liable for payments to the board on June 30, 9,302 had met their obligation, 1,416 had made payments in advance, and 29 had paid off their debt to the board in full. The total area of free and purchased land held by soldier settlers is 4,854,799 acres, and up to June 30, these settlers had broken approximately 600,000 acres of new land. In 1920 the grain crops produced by them was valued at $10,000,000.

Canada's annual pension list in respect to the late war amounts to $30,802,406, payable to 50,287 disabled soldiers and 19,411 dependents.

The figures are for June 30 of this year, just issued by the department of soldiers civil re-establishment. They include allowances for 25,413 wives, 34,721 children, and 178 parents if disabled disability pensioners, and 16,132 children of independent pensioners. Up to June 30, 20,126 additional pensioners had accepted a final payment of their claim, an adjustment which cost the Government in all $8,127,052. The total amount paid out in pensions up to August 31 last was $101,414,216.

Since September 1, 1920, when the returned soldiers' insurance act came into operation, 5,636 veterans have taken out policies ranging from $500 to $5,000, the aggregate amount of the policies being $15,410,000, and the premium income $189,240. Up to September 30 last 71 claims had been paid, totalling $185,862.

CITY NEWS in BRIEF

EZRA L. SMITH, secretary of the Ruggles Motor Truck Company, of this city, is sailing on the S. S. Olympic on Oct. 15, for England and the continent.

CHIEF OF POLICE Robert Birrell has added another machine to his motorcycle squad. An adidtional permanent officer has not been appointed to take charge of it yet.

BANK CLEARING DECREASE.—The bank clearings for this week were: $2,942,353, and for the corresponding week last year were $3,772,101, a decrease of $829,748.

STEPHEN GRANT, assessment commissioner, has been notified that his nephew, Dr. W. R. Grant of Hamilton, had died quite suddenly from blood-poisoning. His demise was the direct result of an infection following an operation which he performed.

ALTHOUGH THIRTY NAMES were on the blotter Thursday morning, not a single offender faced Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett in police court. All persons except one whose names were on the book were charged with violating the motor vehicles act. The odd one was a drunk. All paid before court opened.

THE PROOF LINE ROAD has been closed to traffic while some repairs are being made on culverts. Secretary Ed. Bernard of the London Motor Club advises motorists who have business in that direction to proceed out Adelaide street to the 7th concession of London Township before turning west to the Proof Line road. It is expected that two weeks or more will elapse before the Proof Line is again open to traffic.

PRESIDENT HOWARD KELLY of the Grand Trunk passed through the city Thursday at noon en route to Chicago, where he will attend several meetings. President Kelly smilingly refused to be interviewed on any matter whatever, stating that he had but a few minutes in the city and much business to transact. Superintendent Charles Forrester accompanied Mr. Kelly from Toronto to London.

LIONS CLUB OFFERS TO GIVE SOLDIERS' AID HELP

Drugless Physician Addresses Members at Noon.

That the Soldiers' Aid Commission of London is going to receive warm and strong support from the Lions Club of the city was decided at the noonday luncheon in the Tecumseh Hotel Thursday. The decision was made on motion of Cubs Ken Charteris and Bill Moore, who nominated Cub C. M. R. Graham for the job of keeping an eye open for deserving soldiers' families.

"I will see that every one of you gets some work to do," stated Cub Graham in accepting the position. "There are a lot of widows and children who need help, and the Lions have a fine opportunity to be of use. The Lions will be out on the hunt for the general good of humanity.

Dr. R. C. Barclay addressed the members of the club on "the spine and its relation to health and disease." He stated that a good deal of misunderstanding existed regarding drugless physicians. The speaker declared that there were 200 schools dealing with the spine, and they had a total attendance of 20,000 students. There were at present 30,000 practitioners who numbered among their adherents some 35 to 40 million people.

Dr. Barclay stated that a man who had slipped or fallen would possibly not notice any effects of the fall until several months later, and that the body weakness would be due to a nerve or artery having its transmitting power affected.

He also told of the astounding cures that had been effected by physicians who were conversant with diseases of the spine.

Cub Roy Routledge, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, stated that he had enjoyed the address very much, although he might not agree with all the statements made.

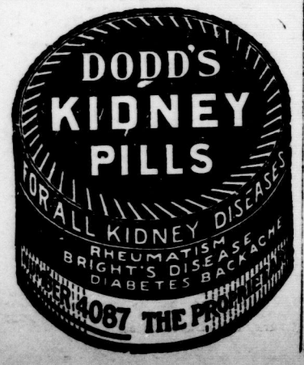

Obituaries

The death occurred on Thursday at Komoka of Alexander McDougal in his 78th year. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jane McDougal. The funeral will be held at Komoka on Saturday. Interment will be made at Campbell's Cemetery.

Wroxeter

WROXETER, Oct. 12.—Anniversary services were held in the Presbyterian Church Sunday and were largely attended despite the threatening weather. Services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Harkness and the Rev. Murdock McKenzie, D.D., who has labored for 32 years as a missionary in China. He clearly depicted China's present position and the serious undertaking which confronts the church if the tragedies of history are not to be repeated. Special music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of L. Ruttan of Bluevale. Rev. M. McKenzie also delivered an address on China in the church Monday evening.

The October meeting of the Wroxeter Women's Institute was held in Mrs. Pope's rooms, when the Gorrie Institute was entertained. At the conclusion of the business meeting a program was given which included a talk on "Church Events," by Mrs. John Hupfer, and a paper on "Success," by Mrs. J. Allan. This was followed by a social hour, after which a lunch was served.

GERMAN FACTORIES OPERATING AGAIN

Former Munition Shops Making Peace-Time Goods.

BERLIN, Oct. 13. — The principal former military and naval workshops of the German Government, which were closed in 1919 in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, have been reopened as "peace-time factories," and are producing goods more adapted to usages of peace than of war.

Two hundred thousand workmen, thrown out of employment by the closing of the shops, have been re-employed.

Among the larger factories converted from military to commercial pursuits were the artillery workshops, ammunition, gun, powder and fireworks laboratories at Amberg, Dachau, Cassel, Erfurt, Ingolstadt, Lippstadt, Munich, Siegburg, Spandau and Wolfgang, near Hanau, as well as the navy yards and naval torpedo shops at Friedrichsort, Kiel and Ruestringen.

These factories are operating virtually full time, producing foundry products, castings and wrought-iron stamped and drawn pieces, all sorts of machinery, railroad supplies, motors, motorcycles, hand and machine tools, pneumatic tools, electrical utensils, ship machinery, motor and sailing boats, agricultural implements, furniture, locomotives, railroad cars, automobiles and auto trucks.

The work of transforming the war factories to commercial usages, undertaken by the Government with the permission of the council of ambassadors, was assigned to a stock company, shares of which were taken by the Government, the board of control being composed of government officials and representative financiers and industrialists.

German demands are accounting for most of the output of these factories, but surplus products are finding a ready outside market, particularly in the Scandinavian countries, where the high price of money as against the German mark adds to the attractiveness of purchases of German wares. German-made automobiles are especially in demand by foreign dealers.

The manufacturers of farm machinery and railroad equipment are looking to Russia as a chief customer as soon as conditions in that country have been stabilized, and already hundreds of representatives of German exporting firms have gone into the soviet republic to study the situation and prepare for a commercial offensive, in which the British are expected to be the most alert competitors.

CITY BILL MAY BE PREPARED SHORTLY

Baker Receives Word From Toronto of Parliament's Opening.

Advice to City Clerk Baker from Toronto is to the effect that the Provincial Legislature will hold its winter session starting about the middle of January. To meet the requirements as to advertising, the city's bill, to go before the House, will have to be prepared in time for passing by the council at its first meeting in November. This means that the committees will have to make a start at their next meeting.

It begins to look as if there will be three main items of expenditure contained in the bill, although as yet these are only tentative. The Springbank dam proposal is practically certain to be one of the clauses. The utilities debenture issue and the Nurses' Home for Victoria Hospital may be the others.

The bill must be advertised for six weeks before the meeting of the Legislature.

BREACH BETWEEN LABOR PARTIES SAID TO BE MYTH

Local Labor Headquarters Laughs at Toronto Government Press.

The alleged breach between the Independents and the Canadian Labor Party in London, so vividly portrayed by the Toronto Government press on Thursday is more or less of a myth, according to the explanation offered at Labor headquarters Thursday.

"It is reported," comments Wm. N. Stewart, a member of the Labor political executive, "that the I. L. P. will lose its London branch to the Canadian Labor party. Well, we have already inaugurated a branch of the latter body in the city, known as the London Labor party. This is gradually absorbing all the older bodies, such as the I. L. P., the Labor Representation Committee, the trades unions, etc."

"No doubt the I. L. P. will continue to exist, although it will be as a unit of the new party. The latter came into being following the Dominion Trades Congress in Winnipeg recently."

LOCAL C. OF C. RESOLUTION INDORSED BY SIX CITIES

Chambers of commerce of six cities have indorsed the recent resolution passed by the London C. of C., calling upon the Provincial Government to pass legislation to provide greater protection to investors, by controlling the sale of public stock.

The Kitchener chamber is the latest organization to approve of the London resolution. Other cities that have promised co-operation are Guelph, Stratford, Chatham, Windsor and Sarnia.

De'aware

DELAWARE, Oct. 12.—The death of Miss Carrie Eichenbergher, a former resident of Delaware Township, took place in London last week. Deceased had been in ill-health for some time, but a week previous to her death was much improved. Miss Eichenbergher was 56 years of age, and a life-long resident of Delaware, her home being on the second concession. The funeral was held from the residence of her brother, Mr. Jacob Eichenbergher last Thursday. Services were held in the Presbyterian Church of which Miss Eichenbergher was a member.

Anniversary services will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Oct. 23.

Medical Students "Jacks of All Trades" During Summer

An ingenious medical student attending Western University has compiled a list of the occupations followed by his fellow-students during the summer vacation this year, which extended from May until last week, and the duties of these "Meds" varied from internes in hospitals to police constable. As a rule each student "lined up" a job, which would yield the best returns during the vacation, prior to leaving school last May.

For the senior students, internships were waiting in Victoria and St. Joseph's Hospitals of this city, and in Windsor, Detroit and Brantford hospitals. Three medical students assisted Western Ontario physicians in their practices during the summer months. Three students matched their wits with black flies and mosquitoes in Northern Ontario, while engaged in the employ of the Ontario Government as fire rangers.

Works as Drug Clerk.

One embryo surgeon assisted in duties at the Medical School all summer, while another acted as assistant dispenser at the Westminster Psychopathic Hospital. One of his classmates was employed during the same period as chemist in a Detroit drug store. Four of the "Meds" were engaged by the public utilities commission as supervisors of city playgrounds and the sulphur baths here.

A third year man found a berth for the summer as cashier for the London and Port Stanley Railway, while a fellow-student followed the duties of constable at Port Stanley for the same railway. One of the students at the Medical School acted as night city editor on The London Advertiser during the vacation period, while a fourth year man was a member of the editorial staff.

Two students secured positions for the five months as pavement inspectors at St. Thomas and St. Catharines. The contracting business claimed two members of the student body, one being engaged as a sawyer in an Owen Sound mill, while the other worked on summer cottages at Bayfield. A few Meds indulged in farming, while others acted as book agents and peddled well-known aluminum ware throughout the country.

Two Train as Officers.

Two students participated in military training at Carling Heights as "dashing officers" this summer, and many flocked to Sarnia, where they obtained summer appointments on the various boat services of the Great Lakes. Others acted as enumerators throughout city and rural districts for the decennial Dominion census, and one Med devoted his activities to the position of grocer's assistant. Cement work was the summer hobby of a fourth year student.

Despite all the workers who attend Western University Medical School, there are a few who do not take kindly to toil, and these are listed in the student statistics as "gentlemen." However, these men rely upon the old support known as father for the payment of fees and donations of spending money during the academic year, and with such an opportunity within their grasp did not hesitate to make use of it.

Their fellow-students were not so fortunate, being required to hustle during the vacation period in order to acquire funds to make their medical education possible.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Oct. 13—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Resumption of trading in the stock market after the holiday showed no material alterations from recent irregular tendencies. Domestic issues of the several speculative varieties continued to feature the constructive side at fractional gains, but Mexican and European oils were heavy, Royal Dutch losing 1½. Firmness was shown by minor rails and meals, but food specialties, notably American Sugar and South Porto Rico Sugar showed further weakness.

G. W. V. A. WILL SEEK TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Problem To Be Taken Up At Annual Convention.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—The annual convention of the Great War Veterans' Association which will be held at Port Arthur, Ont., October 17 to 22, will endeavor to find means to reduce the unemployment situation among former Canadian soldiers and sailors.

The association is understood to regard unemployment as the most pressing national problem. It is expected that the convention will appoint a special committee composed of one member from each province to draw up resolutions on that subject.

The question of amalgamating all the soldiers' organizations in Canada will be brought before the convention. Representatives of other associations of ex-service men have been invited to attend to aid in discussing that problem.

The convention is expected to take steps to urge the Dominion Parliament to re-establish all ex-service men so far as possible in the economic position which they would have obtained but for their war service. It is likely also that the war veterans will ask Parliament to extend its housing loan to ex-service men.

Resolutions on limitation of armaments will be submitted. It is indicated that these will be along the lines of those approved by the British Empire Service League at its meeting in South Africa, and will call for adequate defence in the empire, but with the understanding that armaments should not be built up for offensive purposes.

FREE GIRL IN KABER MURDER CASE TRIAL

she deserves, and you will have done your duty.

"'So live that when thy summons comes to join that innumerable caravan which moves beyond the pale realms of shade,

"'Thou go not like a quarry slave at night, scourged to his dungeon,

"'But sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach they grave like one who wraps the draperies of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.'"

Marian Loses Smile.

Marian appeared in the courtroom shortly after 9 o'clock with a smile on her face. She took her seat at the trial table and listened attentively while Bertillon Expert Koestle and Detective Inspector Sterling, rebuttal witness for the state, told of their visit to the Kaber home the morning after the murder.

The smile left her face almost immediately after Cassidy began his argument. Her lips quivered when she wasn't biting them to keep back her tears. As Cassidy pointed his finger at her across the trial table and cried: "Shame, shame!" she slumped down in her chair and remained huddled forward until Poulson took the floor.

Her first tears were shed when Poulson referred to her "great love for her mother." And once the tears began to flow, Marian wept almost continually while her counsel made his plea to the jury.

"You Had Hand in It."

"The man who stabbed Dan Kaber to death is no more the murderer than Marian McArdle," Cassidy declared in his closing argument to the jury.

"The plans for the murder may have been formulated while she was away at college, but they became complete when she returned, and let me suggest to you that they found root in the fertile and educated brain of Marian.

"Dan Kaber lay in bed that Friday night unable to move—a helpless invalid. While he slept a signal was given. Two men crept up the stairway and into his room and, as Marian and a girl chum lay in bed talking, these two assassins took the life of the man who had given her all she could ask.

"Shame on you! Shame on you!" Cassidy cried, pointing his finger across the trial table at Marian. "You may stare at the jury with your bold eyes and your hardened look, but you know in your heart you had a hand in that murder plot.

"On Thursday night—the night before the killing—Mrs. Brickel was supposed to be on outpost to let the assassins know that all was well, that Dan Kaber was alone in his room, that the time was ripe for their foul work.

"Admit the dominant personality of Marian's mother if you choose, but you left and went to bed first. No one disputes that, but the one who is attempting to defeat the ends of justice," Cassidy declared, as he pointed his finger again at Marian.

"Shame on you men! It isn't fair to bring convicted criminals here to perjure themselves for fellow criminals."

$4,000,000 MAY BE SPENT ON WESTERN U.

City To Be Asked For $250,000—Bishop Fallon To Erect Seminary.

The $250,000 which Western University heads have asked the city council to submit to the people for approval at the coming municipal election, is the beginning of what, it is believed, will ultimately mean an expenditure of $4,000,000 on university buildings in the city.

The Provincial Government vote for five years' maintenance is $1,150,000, and for buildings $800,000, or a total of $1,950,000.

The city is asked to put up $250,000. The county of Middlesex has put up $100,000, and if the council grant goes through, the heads of the university will start immediately to raise $150,000 by private subscription, making in all $1,000,000 from the city and county.

Bishop M. F. Fallon will spend the fourth million. He is going to erect a new seminary to be affiliated with the university, and he has already a sum close to a million dollars in the bank, and is just waiting for costs to drop before launching on the enterprise.

The number of students that will be accommodated when the whole structure is complete, is of course problematical, but some of those interested place the total at 2,500.

ECONOMY AGAIN LOOMS AS ISSUE

An inkling that the economy question, frequently the football for municipal contests, is beginning to loom up as one of the main planks of some of the local candidates at the coming election, was given on Wednesday at the meeting of the city finance committee, by Ald. Wenige, who is an aspirant for the mayor's chair for 1922.

Ald. P. J. Watt was criticizing expenditures, and the easy manner in which the Legislature put through measures which involved large expenditures for cities.

"There is a lot of truth in what Ald. Watt says," said Ald. Wenige. "We have been spending money like drunken sailors, and it is time we called a halt somewhere."

It is generally believed that Ald. J. C. Wilson, also noted as a mayoralty possibility, will likewise stand on the economy platform.

And there are those at the city hall who believe that the thunder of economy cry may be silenced by Ald. Frank Harley adopting the same plank.

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED TO DISCUSS "GYM" PLANS

At a special meeting of the advisory vocational committee of the board of education Friday evening, the proposal to provide the London Technical and Art School with gymnasimu facilities will be further discussed.

When plans for this institution were prepared allowance was made for this purpose in event that the educational authorities should ever deem it expedient to install the same. At the last session of the board the committee was authorized to prepare estimates for the same.

"We are meeting first tonight," Trustee Thos. Rowe, chairman of the committee, explained Thursday, "and we'll consider just who would be the suitable person to prepare the estimates. Whether the school architect will have the time with his present work, is a question that will have to be determined. If he hasn't we shall have to name another person."

"This estimate will not be dealt with by this year's board. We have not the money for the purpose. Our proposed expenditure will act purely as a valuable guide for the trustees of 1922."

FIRE AT PRESTON CAUSES BIG LOSS

Kitchener, Oct. 13.—Salyard Brush Works, in the town of Preston, near here, was badly damaged by fire at an early hour this morning. The firm is one of the few concerns manufacturing hockey sticks. The stock and buildings are badly damaged. The loss, which is partially covered by insurance, is estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000.

Burgessville

BURGESSVILLE, Oct. 12.—Anniversary services will be held in the Methodist Church next Sunday. Rev. Bruce Hunter of Toronto will preach at both services.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moore was the scene of a happy gathering on Thursday, when guests to the number of twenty gathered there to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Moore's 25th wedding anniversary, and the first wedding anniversary of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vigar of Norwich. The house was beautifully decorated with asters, cosmos and geraniums. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Methodist Church presented Mr. and Mrs. Moore with a beautiful bouquet of purple and white verbenas and asparagus fern. Guests were present from New Durham, Norwich and Burford.

CONSIDERS SEVERAL CIVIC EXPENDITURES

don grant $25,000. said Mr. Somerville. The County of Middlesex had granted $100,000, and plans were to be made for the rest.

The speaker pointed out the benefits which the city's grant of $100,000 brought to the new medical school. He cited that the university today has about 750 students. The outlook was, that when there was better accommodation, this number would be increased to 2,000.

Col. W. M. Gartshore presented the case for the new nurses' home. Mr. Gartshore said that at the present time the hospital had 140 nurses, and required ten more to handle the work. It had been found necessary to use 50 hospital beds for the accommodation of these nurses.

Will Accommodate 500.

The hospital expected that it would soon have accommodation for 500 patients, and this would require 200 nurses. The old nurses' home would be used for additional hospital accommodation when the new home was erected. Superintendent Heard of Victoria Hospital accompanied Mr. Gartshore to the meeting.

President Harry Ranahan, Secretary F. Pierce and Ald. G. B. Drake were present, representing the grocers of the city. They came seeking certain information regarding the hucksters on the market, and the bylaws pertaining to the market. They said that with this information in their possession, they would prepare an interesting report on the proceedings of the market for the benefit of the committee.

It was stated that there is a bylaw which prevents a huckster buying on the market and reselling, but that there was no bylaw to prevent a man buying somewhere else and selling on the market. It was also pointed out that many dealers buy fruit from the wholesalers and come to the market to dispose of it.

Ask Grant for Institute.

Mrs. Edwards asked that the usual grant for the entertainment of the Western Ontario Woman's Institute be granted. The convention will be held here on Nov. 1, and will last three days. The cost will be $315. Gordon Philip of the Chamber of Commerce wrote, lending support to the request.

The grant will be used to pay for the hall and a dinner. Hon. Manning Doherty, provincial minister of agriculture, and Sir Arthur Currie, now head of McGill University are expected to be speakers. The chairman and treasurer were given power to deal with the matter.

G. A. Burdick asked why the lights were not put up, which had been promised for their subdivision in the east end of the city. He said that they had spent $250 erecting the poles, and were waiting now for the lights.

The reason given for non-erection of the lights was that one side of the road in question is in the county, and that the township had refused to help foot the bill. The committee, however, will recommend that the lights be put up.

Springbank Dam Discussed.

The utilities commission's estimate for expenditure brought several remarks from councillors. And there were some different opinions expressed about the Springbank dam, when the letter from the Chamber of Commerce was read. The question was asked whether the $100,000 profits made by the commission would be available to help foot the bill. The matter will be investigated.

Amongst others, P. J. Watt was a critic of the dam. He is anxious that one be erected, but wanted to know if it were to be a real dam or merely a fence to block the river and create a puddle hole.

It was pointed out that it was only necessary that this proposition be included in the city of London bill and the approval of the Legislature secured for the enterprise.

In reply to a question from Ald. Wenige it was admitted that no one knew whether the money seized from the street railway had yet been turned over to the city. Mr. Wenige also wanted to know if the street railway had signed a bond to pay the city $500 monthly. The mayor said a bond was not necessary. They had merely halted the operations of the sheriff. If the payments stopped further seizures would be made.

Lieutenant-Governor Coming.

Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt will be in the city on Nov. 4 to lay the cornerstone of the new Children's Hospital. The Chamber of Commerce expressed a willingness to help entertain him.

The Woman's Christian Association will be unable to get a remission of taxes for the Minhinnick property, which it purchased. The court of revision refused a remission and the committee decided it had no power. The amount involved is $800.

URGES MANY CHANGES IN SUBJECTS TAUGHT

this from the teacher's standpoint and a general discussion followed. Inspector Greer gave it as his opinion from actual experience that children of English birth whom he encountered in the schools had a much broader grasp of literature, and were more intelligent readers than Canadian children of the same age.

Must Teach Accuracy.

He urged teachers to exercise much care in training their pupils to be neat and accurate in their work.

One of the common complaints from men in business, he said, is that the schools turn out children who are careless about their writing and spelling.

During the discussion Miss Ingamell, a teacher, claimed that during the past three years this carelessness had increased rapidly.

Principal Wallis of Simcoe street school believed that the teachers could do a great deal in this way by being neat about their work, especially on the blackboard.

Inspector Greer urged the teachers to carefully supervise play in the school grounds.

"There is not the spirit in the games," he said, "that there should be."

Stratford

STRATFORD, Oct. 12.—Premier Meighen is announced to speak in Stratford at a public meeting on Friday, Oct. 21. The premier will come here from St. Marys, where he will speak in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kastner today celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Many members of the family and relatives were present and a delightful dinner was served.

On open-air skating rink will be built this year by the park board at Dufferin Park.

Perth teachers meet here Thursday and Friday for their annual convention. Among the speakers will be Miss E. M. Saunders, overseas exchange teacher, who will talk on "Old Country Education"; M. S. McPhail, district representative of agriculture, and J. Dearness.

The death occurred in Toronto on Tuesday of a former well-known resident in the person of Ichabod Baker, aged 83 years. He was a civil engineer and land surveyor in the early days before the railways came through.

Moraviantown

MORAVIANTOWN, Oct. 12.—Rev. Arthur Barnes of Calgary, superintendent of (Methodist) Indian Missions, visited this reserve last week.

Arrangements are being made for another plowing match in a short time in the field of Archie Peters.

The Moraviantown Fair comes off again next week, Oct. 19 and 20, and another big time is expected.

The school attendance is increasing under Mr. Joblin, the new teacher.

A number of delegates from here have been appointed to attend a temperance insurance convention to be held at Grand River this week.

The late rains are keeping back to a late day the finishing up of wheat sowing, and there is a lot not sown yet.

Corn husking is being rushed at present, and there is a good crop, but considerable damage has been done by the corn worm. We have not heard of any corn-borer working in these parts.

Johnston Huff, who formerly lived here, but latterly lived near Hamilton, has returned with his family. He complains of scarcity of work where he has been.

The child of Rebecca Stonefish died, and was buried last week. The funeral was conducted by Mr. Joblin.

BARE ENFEEBLED STATE

Absorption by Liberals May Be Only Loophole of Escape Left.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—As the majority of political wiseacres today incline to the view that, barring accidents, Mr. Mackenzie King is likely, without securing a clear majority, to command the largest battalion in the new House, his possible fate and performances in such a situation must be the most profitable of all fields of political speculation.

High political priests in the governmental camp at Ottawa have recently been proclaiming with studied bravado that whatever result the polls of Dec. 6 may reveal, the present administration will carry on, draw its salaries, meet Parliament and face its fate at the hands of the new House of Commons.

Such high courage is easy at the present juncture, but it will soon evaporate if Dec. 6th sees the Meighenite colors in the House reduced to 60 or 70 and a third of the cabinet defeated.

There would be well nigh a revolution if a Government which had been chastised in such unmistakable fashion by the electors were to continue drawing its salaries for a single week. Politicians who clung to office in face of such a rebuff would endanger their whole careers and the decision for immediate resignation would be speedily taken.

May Have 105 Followers.

If Mr. King headed the largest group, the outgoing premier would of necessity have to recommend him to Lord Byng as his successor, and he would be sent for. For speculation's sake we can envisage Mr. King secure in the allegiance of 105 faithful Liberal M. P.'s and happy at the receipt of such an invitation. He would have no hesitation in undertaking the task of forming a government, but he would realize that, possessing only minority strength in Parliament, there could be no guarantee of permanence for his administration.

Now there was a time when Mr. King might have found a welcome response to his overtures and secured the adhesion of enough prominent Progressives and their followers to provide him with a stable parliamentary majority. But recent developments have diminished the probability of any alliance under Mr. King. From his point of view the protectionist lucubrations of Sir L. Gouin, Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Taschereau at the party festival in Montreal last month, coupled with the open advocacy by Mr. Lemieux of the Shaughnessy plan in regard to our railways, have been most unfortunate. They have convinced large elements in the Progressive ranks that there are powerful elements in the Liberal camp who are hopelessly unsound, both upon the tariff and upon public ownership.

May Justify Stand.

Again there seems to be discernible in some of his recent speeches a disposition to convey the impression that he is not such a relentless anti-protectionist as he was a year ago. But all political leaders are more or less responsive to the atmosphere in which they are making their speeches and Mr. King can claim the right to be judged by the common denominator of his campaign speeches when they are finished.

However, the fact remains that the Progressives are now disposed to question his sincerity and honesty of purpose and complain that while he is admirable in his exposition of democratic theories, he fails to produce even rough plans for their practical application to our pressing problems. Nor can Mr. King expect to conciliate them by depicting himself as "a way of escape" from the unpleasant alternatives of a Tory or a Progressive government. Mr. Fielding, who has repeatedly stated that he could not cry "wolf" to the new movement is a wiser man and a shrewder politician.

But where objections to Mr. King on personal grounds might be forgotten, the course which the campaign is now taking presents an insuperable barrier to any union of forces in Parliament. The relations between the Liberals and Progressives have become strained in many ridings, there has been no real attempt at adjustment of seats between the two parties, and on Dec. 7 it will be found that the Government have carried a number of constituencies solely through three-cornered contests.

Mutual Recriminations.

There will be mutual recriminations between the two opposition parties and their members will come to Ottawa in far from friendly frame of mind. The Progressives, too, on their side are in many ridings stressing the indivisible iniquity of the two old parties and resolutely declining to give the Liberals credit for one more iota of saving grace than the Tories. Nothing is more certain than that a Liberal-Progressive combination to form a government under Mr. King will not be consummated after the election.

Under said circumstances, however much as Mr. King might dislike the fact, the inevitable tendency of his party would be to embark on Conservative courses and become the defenders of the status quo against the Progressives' assaults. In the Liberal ranks there are not a few people who would welcome this role and from the viewpoint of a temporary party domination it would yield handsome dividends. The Conservatives might be critical of tactics, peevish, and spiteful, but when a real issue loomed up between the Liberal Government and the Progressives the Conservatives would support the administration.

Would Disappear.

In their enfeebled state the financial and industrial forces which they represented would easily compel them to this course. With the Liberal party moving on Conservative lines, the function of the old Conservative party would disappear.

Ardent Tories, who are probing into the political future, should never forget the course of Australian politics. For many years the Conservative and Liberal parties waged deadly conflicts and fought strenuously for alternating periods of office. In the nineties there came upon the scene the Australian Labor party, which developed formidable strength soon after its creation. For some years after its advent the Conservatives and Liberals merrily continued their rivalries and feuds, but they gradually discovered that indulgence in them simply meant Labor governments and doses of unpleasantly radical legislation. Once this bitter fact was realized the political hatchet was buried with remarkable celerity. The Liberal and Conservative parties were fused into one organization and the name Conservative being unpopular in the advanced political milieu of Australia, is disappeared. The title Liberal was adopted for the fusion party and today one finds the most determined Australian reactionaries proudly announcing that they are strong Liberals.

Stranger things might happen than that the Conservative party of Canada, which be it remembered has for all practical purposes ceased to exist in certain areas, might experience the same terrible fate of extinction as befell their Australian brethren and it may be reckoned to Mr. Meighen's credit if he averts this doom.

But skilful Liberal leadership, which did not break its heart about abandonment of principles, could easily under the conditions outlined above, reduce the Tory party to the status of a complaisant satellite ally of Liberalism. Naturally pursuance of such tactics by the Liberal leaders would offend the more radical elements in the party and they would in time hive off to join the Progressives, but their departure would only make more imperative the necessity of conciliating the Tory remnant.

Another Possibility.

If on the other hand the Conservatives returned to face Mr. King with an able and compact group of eighty members, they would be in no mood to discard lightly their identity as a separate party, and under such leadership as Mr. Meighen would give, woulr probably embark at once upon militant hostilities. Representing the more conservative elements in the country they would accuse the government of schemes detrimental to stability and the cherished institutions of the country. The Liberal Government confronted with an attack on these lines, would be compelled to lean upon the Progressives for support and to gain it would have to produce not a few radical measures and live up to the letter of their 1919 tariff platform. These measures would frighten the reactionaries in the Liberal ranks and they would migrate to Mr. Meighen.

The Liberal party would thus be purged of the elements which were dragging it into paths of reaction and a gradual fusion between it and the Progressives would be possible of contemplation. The lesson to be drawn from these misty speculations about Mr. King and his followers is that the Liberal party has a greater chance of surviving as an engine of progressive democracy and avoiding the unpleasant fate which has overtaken the Liberal parties of Australia, Germany and some other countries, where they stand for stern reaction, if Mr. Meighen comes back with one-third of the House in his train and the Progressives are a meagre band of forty.

Hundred Seek Appointment As Middlesex Jail Governor.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—There are more than 100 applications to the provincial secretary for appointment as governor of London Jail, to succeed Governor Carter, who retires on October 17, and there are several applicants for the governorship of Woodstock Jail.

The Government has not considered the recommendation of Deputy Attorney-General Bayly that a central "strong prison" should be created.

"I believe," said Hon. Mr. Nixon, "that the strength of a jail depends to a great extent on the guards rather than the building itself."

ENGAGE SPECIAL TRAIN FOR ST. THOMAS SPORTS

The London Collegiate Institute field day committee on entertainment has arranged for a special L. & P. S. R. train for the St. Thomas Collegiate sports to be held Thursday, Oct. 13.

The train will leave the L. & P. S. R. depot at 1:20 and on the return trip will leave St. Thomas at 8:35 p.m. Many members of the local collegiate staff will take the trip to St. Thomas.

Churchill Urges Extension of Trade Within British Empire

LONDON, Oct. 12.—"Great Britain must trade with the whole world, but if foreign nations cannot, or do not choose to trade with us, on a sufficient scale, it is time to make a long march forward on the path of imperial development."

This assertion was made this afternoon by Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, in an address at the Mansion House, where a meeting was held in furtherance of the project of a British Empire Exhibition in 1923.

Mr. Churchill declared that the fact that Great Britain had to purchase four-fifths of her food and similar proportions of raw materials abroad showed the vital necessity of extending the empire's trade.

"If things go as they are now," declared Mr. Churchill, "it will become increasingly difficult for us to purchase what is needed from the United States or elsewhere."

Great Britain, Mr. Churchill continued, has never been bankrupt. "She will always find," he said, "a pathway open for the safety and glory of the British race. There is at this moment open to us, not only in the East, but in the West, and in all quarters of the globe, a splendid prospect in unlimited potentialities for a world-wide empire."

He said he was not advocating trade within the empire to the exclusion of trade outside, as that would be impossible. In conclusion he said he believed the trade depression has passed its worst point.

RED CROSS SOCIETY TO CONTINUE WORK

Splendid Reports Presented At Annual Meeting by Officers

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 12.—For the fifth consecutive year the local Red Cross Society organized, this afternoon, to continue its work of benevolence and spread its influence for good to every section of the city. The officers elected are: Honorary president, Mrs. (Mayor) Frank Brinkman; honorary vice-president, Mrs. M. H. Gilbert; president, Mrs. E. H. Colson; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. O. Boehmer, Mrs. Thomas Robertson, Mrs. J. O'Dell, Mrs. Dunsmore; recording secretary, Miss A. King; correspondent secretary, Miss M. Kerr; press secretary, Miss M. Briston; treasurer, Mrs. E. Price-Jones; membership committee, Mrs. E. A. Little; hospital committee, Mrs. H. Oliver; executive, Mesdames John Butler, George Carrie, W. F. Brownlee, Robert Heard, John Grimstead, L. W. Hambly, Miss Marion Price, and Mrs. Arthur Arnum.

The report of the president, Mrs. Colson, was filled with interesting information and thoughtful suggestions, and gave a detailed statement of the good work of the organization and its commendable activities during the year.

The hospital visitor, Mrs. H. Oliver, was referred to in deservedly high terms for her work among the returned soldiers at Byron Sanatorium, "taking cheer to the men who are still there." Some 250 inmates. Rain or shine Mrs. Oliver has never missed and seldom gone empty-handed. "Several times Mrs. Oliver has met the car and helped a mother who has been taking her boy on a stretcher to the train, and gone to Byron at night with a mother who had no friends in the country to assist at the bedside of her dying son."

The society has taken over since the first of October the Graduate Nurses Association, and the financing and managing of the three visiting nurses. The nurses are on duty from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The baby clinic section is in charge of Miss Anna M. Cameron, who not only excels, said the president, in her profession, but also has a splendid overseas record. The nurses also do the visiting work of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and during the past year made 3,172 calls.

President Colson thanked the officers and executive for the excellent work they have accomplished, as well as the doctor's who have given such splendid service at the clinics

THIRTY LASHES IN THREE INSTALLMENTS

WINDSOR, Oct. 12.—Convicted late this afternoon of a serious offence against a 10-year-old Amherstburg girl, James Grant, 23 years old, Great War Veteran, stood in the shadow of the gallows until the jury brought in a recommendation for mercy.

Warning Grant that the penalty for such a crime as he had been found guilty of was death, Justice Logie said he had taken into consideration the plea of the jury for mercy, and for that reason would not impose the maximum penalty.

"I hope however," said the court, addressing Grant, "that 10 years in Kingston Penitentiary with 30 lashes, to be administered in three whippings of 10 lashes each, under supervision of medical officer at the prison will be a warning to you and other young men that such crime in this country cannot be tolerated." Grant was arrested on the night of March 17.

ROMAN CATHOLICS HONOR FATHER GNAM

Present Pastor At Ingersoll With Purses and Addresses.

INGERSOLL, Oct. 12. — Appreciation of the services rendered by Rev. Father Gnam during his eleven years' pastorate of the Church of the Sacred Heart was manifested in a striking manner at a gathering in St. John's Hall last night, which was representative of the congregation. The gifts, which consisted of well-filled purses, were presented on behalf of the men and the women of the church, and accompanying them were addresses which in eloquent terms spoke of the influence wielded by Father Gnam and the zeal that had characterized his work. He will leave this week for Chatham.

MARY PICKFORD FILLS TRUNKS WITH FROCKS

"World's Movie Sweetheart" Chooses Expensive Trousseau In Paris Shops.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Six of the smartest and latest Parisian gowns were today selected by Mary Pickford as the first of the trousseau she will take back to the United States. "And that isn't half of it," the "world's sweetheart," said with a smile.

Mary expressed her views of current styles as the "peacock parade" of mannequins filed past. "Really smart Parisian women," volunteered Mary, "now dress the simplest."

"Her hair must be well dressed," replied the film star unhesitatingly, "she must be well shod and have neat-fitting stockings. The dressing of the hair is most important. I wash mine once a week. It takes me half a day. I often get up in the night to brush it. I like bobbed hair; it's easier to keep clean."

Mary's choice of gowns today were the most simple, and expensive creations of Lanvin. She ordered the skirts "medium," shorter than the regulation length.

STRIKERS RESENT CIVIC ATTITUDE TOWARD UNION

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—The Toronto job printers, who have been on strike since June, waited on the board of control today and registered a protest against city printing being done by strike-breakers.

They also protested against the proposal to cut the wage scale of unskilled laborers in the employ of the city from 60 cents an hour. The board promised to interview the city clerk regarding the charge that strike-breakers were getting civic work.

MRS. WALTER JASPER DIES.

WALKERTON, Oct. 12.—The death occurred here today of Mrs. Walter Jasper, well-known resident of Walkerton. Her death came as a great shock to her many friends as she had only been ill two days and her condition was not considered serious until late last night. Mrs. Jasper, who was about 60 years of age, was born in Carrick Township and lived for many years three miles south of Walkerton, moving here two years ago. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Robt. Long of Brant, Mrs. E. D. Bonnell of Owen Sound and Miss Hazel at home, and one son, Harold of Eye Brow, Sask.

KING DENIES MEIGHEN STATES ISSUE FAIRLY

Declares Protection of All Interests Aim of Liberal Party.

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., Oct. 12.—(By Canadian Press staff correspondent.)—"I deny absolutely that the issue is between protection and free trade, as Mr. Meighen claims," said Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, in an address here this evening. Continuing he said:

"We stand for a tariff, but one that will protect the interests of producers and consumers in Canada and not a few privileged interests."

The Liberal leader dealt with the demand of the premier that he (Mr. King), state where he stood on the Liberal platform.

"I'll give the answer I gave to the 1919 Liberal convention," Mr. King asserted. "I said then, as the leader of the party I expected to have the counsel of the outstanding men of the party, and to be guided by their counsel and advice, but that I considered this platform a chart to guide me aright, and with the collective guidance of the best possible minds in the Liberal party as a compass, would seek to guide this country aright. I did not intend to dictate alone.

"I was not bull-headed. I am not trying to escape any responsibility, but I am going to accept it like a wise man and not like a fool. The platform was laid down as a guiding chart. It stood primarily for two things; the tariff revision to reduce the cost of production, and to reduce the costs of necessaries of life.

"In the spirit of the law it must be accepted," Mr. King asserted, quoting "the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life." "The people are not the kind of fools Mr. Meighen appears to think they are," said Mr. King. "He talks of truth; I am willing to let the people judge as to who is telling the truth in this campaign."

The Government, Mr. King said, was going into this fight with powerful weapons. It controlled the election machinery and had drafted the election act. It controlled patronage on a vast scale and had behind it strong and wealthy interests against this party, said Mr. King. There were the Liberals and also the Farmers, Labor men, Great War Veterans and the women. But while the Government forces had unity on their side the others were not pulling together, though all were seeking practically the same objects. The women and soldiers supported the candidates who sought the same things as themselves. Labor men and farmers in some quarters were running their own group candidates.

WM. SUTTON, MILLER, MAY BE TORY CHOICE IN SIMCOE

May Result In Fushion, for Which Norfolk Tories Crave.

SIMCOE, Oct. 12.—Wm. Sutton, local flour mill owner, will likely be the choice of the Conservatives when a mass meeting is held here Monday. Although not officially given out, prominent Conservatives here admit there is considerable truth in the report.

One stated that Mr. Sutton had already stated he was willing to accept the nomination. A life-long Liberal, Mr. Sutton's candidacy will likely effect a fushion of both Liberals and Conservatives for which Norfolk Conservatives have been working.

With both Mr. Sutton and J. Alex. Wallace will be witnessed the novel spectacle of a life-long Liberal running on a Government ticket and a man who never voted anyway except Conservative upholding the farmers' interests.

KENT CHILDREN'S AID.

CHATHAM, Oct. 12. — The annual meeting of the Kent Children's Aid Society, which was held here this afternoon at 4 o'clock brought forth splendid reports on the year's work from the various officials, and showed that the local body had despite the upward trend of expenses, administered their affairs in a very economical manner. The report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand of $570.15.

The board of directors was re-elected as follows: Mrs. P. S. Coates, Mrs. W. A. Hadley, Mrs. W. D. Sheldon, Mrs. S. Stevenson, Mrs. W. T. Mead of Blenheim, Mrs. Ed. Taylor, Messrs. P. S. Coates, F. Biette, N. McGuigan, Charles Austin, S. M. Glenn, J. R. Gemmill and T. E. Cottier.

DEFICIT OF C. N. R. TURNED INTO SURPLUS

August Last Year Showed a Loss of Four Millions.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Canadian Press.—Commenting last night on the statement of D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways, that the lines would show a surplus for August, Hon. J. A. Stewart, minister of railways and canals, said: "The financial position of the Canadian National Railways, as announced by Mr. Hanna, bears out the view held by the Government that a decided improvement in revenue would be shown during the last four months of the year. It means that a deficit for August, 1920, amounting to four million dollars is transformed into a surplus of $47.231 for August, 1921.

The gross earnings for August, 1921, were $10,536,461, as compared with $10,065,917 for August, 1920, an increase of $470,543. The working expenses for August last were $10,489,230, as compared with $14,067,237 for August, 1920, indicating a reduction of about $4,000,000 in operating expenses.

Another fact that should be noted is that President Hanna's statement, while including the Grand Trunk Pacific, whoch is being operated by the Canadian National agreement, does not include the Grand Trunk, which, for the time being, is under separate control, and operated in co-ordination with the Government lines. I am informed that net revenue from railway operation of the Grand Trunk for the eight months ended August 31 last was $3,403,610, as compared with $1,629,636 for the like period last year, while the net revenue for August alone was $1,910,993.

"The fact that the Government lines are making a much better showing than during the like period last year should serve to dissipate some of the pessimism which surrounds the discussion of Canada's present railway situation."

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

BOWEL POISON MAKES YOU SICK

Your bowels may seem regular—move every day—yet your 30 feet of bowels may be lined with poisonous waste which is being sucked into your blood, keeping you half-sick, nervous, despondent and upset. Whether you have headache, colds, sour stomach, indigestion, or heart palpitation, it is usually from bowel poison.

Hurry! One or two Cascarets tonight will clean your bowels right. By morning all the constipation poison and sour bile will move out—thoroughly! Cascarets will not sicken you—they physic fully, but never gripe or inconvenience.

W. P. TELFORD, JR., IS CHOICE OF N. GREY

Well-Known Owen Sound Lawyer Given Unanimous Vote.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 12. — W. P. Telford, Jun., a prominent and popular lawyer of Owen Sound, and former partner of the late Hon. A. G. McKay, was unanimously chosen as Liberal candidate in North Grey by a comparatively large convention in Meaford this afternoon. There were only two names brought before the convention, W. P. Telford, Jun., and E. J. Creeper of Owen Sound. The latter withdrew in Mr. Telford's favor, making his nomination unanimous. Mr. Telford asked for time to consider the matter, and the convention was adjourned to meet in Owen Sound on Monday, Oct. 24.

A rousing address was given by Fred F. Pardee, M.P., West Lambton, on the political question of greatest moment at the present time.

He absolutely denied the repeated assertion by Government oratorical swashbucklers that the Liberals were a free trade party, and showed that a tariff for revenue was a necessity. He also attacked the Government on its railway policy and its lack of care in expenditures. Mr. Buchanan of Ravenna spoke briefly. He also felt that an effort should be made to bring the Opposition forces together to beat their common enemy, the so-called National Liberal and Conservative party. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Former Simcoe Teacher and Man of Many Parts Dies in Port Huron.

SIMCOE, Oct. 12.—G. B. McIntosh, former editor of the Barrie Advance, and 50 years ago a teacher in Simcoe, died yesterday in Port Huron, according to word received today by Mayor Dr. W. A. McIntosh. Mr. McIntosh, who was in his 84th year, had a varied career. He was successively American consul in Jamaica, Japanese propagandist in California, a writer on the New York Times, piano salesman and inventor. He was one of the finest script writers on the continent. His second wife was a daughter of Bishop Liggett of Honolulu. According to reports he died destitute.

MORPHY CHOICE OF NORTH PERTH TORIES

Only One Name Nominated At Milverton Meeting Wednesday

STRATFORD, Oct. 12.—H. B. Morphy, K.C., M.P., was the unanimous choice of the National Liberal and Conservative party of North Perth at their convention in Milverton today. Mr. Morphy's was the only name proposed.

New officers for the riding were elected as follows: President, Hugh Richmond of Atwood; W. Preston retired; vice-president, William Bell of Atwood; secretary, B. L. H. Bamford of Listowel; treasurer, T. E. Henry, Stratford; vice-presidents for municipalities, Stratford, H. W. Strudley; North Easthope, W. Wilhelms; Ellice, D. A. Dempsey; Mornington, W. M. Rutherford; Milverton, George Quenther; Elma, Andrew Sweaton; Wallace, George McKnight; Listowel, R. T. Kemp.

LIBERALS OF SOUTHEAST GREY SELECT A CANDIDATE

Will Assemble in Convention at Durham, Tuesday, Oct. 18.

DORNOCH, Oct. 12.—A Liberal convention will be held in Durham Town Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 18, for the purpose of placing a candidate in the field to contest the riding of Southeast Grey at the coming federal election. Many names are spoken of as likely to come before the convention, among whom are D. T. Wright, Dundalk; J. H. Adams, Hanover, and Robert Howey, reeve of Holland, along with several others.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[By Cynthia Grey.]

ARE YOU one of those persons who feel sorry for themselves? This trait is a sign that you have not grown mentally. You may be years old, and yet if you are a victim of this terrible affliction of "feeling sorry for yourself" you are still a child—mentally.

Being sorry for yourself is one way of showing that you are self-centred. It means that you are wasting all your sympathy on yourself, magnifying your own ailments and forgetting all the ills, unhappiness, and misfortunes that are happening to those around you.

If you want to be miserable and useless, turn your mind to yourself constantly and think of your own business troubles, of what people are doing, saying and thinking about you.

But if you want to be happy just forget yourself. Look around and you will find any amount of persons whom you can help to be happy, and you will not find time to think about yourself. The greatest pleasure in life can be obtained by giving pleasure to others.

WANTS WORDS.

Dear Miss Grey, — Would you please send the words of "Go and Leave Me"? MARGARET.

Can anyone supply the words of this song for Margaret?

IS HAVING HOLIDAYS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I always enjoy the Mail-Box letters, and in Tuesday's I noticed where Aunt Rose sent in some seeds. Please send me a package of the sallpiglossis, and also one of the phlox. I would also be pleased to receive the stocking-foot pattern. I am sending the words of "Jack o' Lantern for use in the Mail-Box. I am 12 years old, and am having a whole year of holidays, but I am going to school again next year. Inclosed please find mite.

EARLY RISER.

Am mailing you the seeds and patterns, as you requested, and forwarded Jack o' Lantern to an Old Witch. You write a very good hand for a 12-year-old, Early Riser. Thank you for sending a mite to our fund.

Wants a Correspondent.

Dear Miss Grey,—Noticed in the paper where someone was asking for the words of "Peggy O'Niel.". I typed them out for her, and an extra copy to have on hand. No, I am not a stenographer who can rattle off a letter on the typewriter in a second, but I picked it all out with one finger. My finger must have gotten ahead of me, for you see I left out a line, therefore the necessity of writing that line in as you see in the copies.

Well, Miss Grey, thanks to the Mail-Box I have two of the "bestest" girls to write to, and I would like another about 18 or 19 years old. I have never seen either of my unknown friends, but I know them almost as well as if I had seen them. So if any girl would like to correspond with me, send her address to me and I will write first.

Good-bye, dear Boxites, and best of luck. I will sign as before.

MARGY.

Thank you Margy for typing these words. They are done very well for an amateur.

THE ANGEL OF AUTUMN.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am back again with a short epistle of autumn. I hope it isn't too long to print in the Mail-Box.

The Angel of Autumn, radiant through her crystal veil of falling rain, as with caressing touches she deepens the crimson on orchard treasures, mellowed the heart of vineyard clusters, painted the leaves with hectic glory that reconciled to their approaching fall, smiled on the chestnuts that burst their burrs to greet her, whispered to the squirrels that the banquet was ready, kissed into starry bloom blue asters, crowding about her knees, and left the scarlet of her lips on the kingdom of berries, ordained to flush the forest aisles, where wolfish winds howled, when leaves had rustled down to die, and verdure was no more.

Dear Miss Grey, could I have River Bell's address, also the words of song that goes something like this: "Smile the while you kiss me sad adieu, while the clouds roll by I'll come to you"?

GERTRUDE.

Thanking you in advance.

P. S.—Find mite for S. C. H. F. May I come again?—G.

Am mailing you "Till We Meet Again" and River Bell's address. Certainly you may come again, Gertrude. Many thanks for sending a mite for our hospital fund.

DO YOU BOIL LIQUID?

Dear Miss Grey,—I am sending with this letter a parcel for Apple Face. The postage on it will be 15 cents. When Apple Face sends in the 15 cents for it will you kindly put stamps on the parcel and have it mailed to her. Someone was asking if any of the Boxites used a drum on their stove in winter. I do and would not be without it. It is in my bedroom. When the fire is put on down stairs in the morning I close my bedroom door and in a few minutes the room is warm and comfortable for dressing. It is a small drum with about six small pipes running through; stands erect like a stove pipe and takes up very little room.

Mother of Six did not say if the liquid for her pickle recipe should be boiled or not. I put my pickles in without boiling the liquid and soon a mold formed on top and pickles started to go bad, so I had to skim off top and boil and seal them. Wish she would say whether hers keep without boiling or not.

With all good wishes to Miss Grey and the Boxites.

ELDERBERRY.

Have forwarded the parcel to Apple Face. Thank you for the hint re cleaning oilcloth, also for the information about the drum.

NEW LADIES' STORE FOR LONDON

Hudson's Fashion Shoppe Will Open at 203 Dundas St., On Saturday, Oct. 15.

London women who have been in the habit of paying high prices for their coats, suits and dresses will welcome the opening of Hudson's Fashion Shoppe next Saturday at 203 Dundas street, where they will be able to obtain garments tailored in the very latest New York and Paris modes without the additional duty and custom charges to pay.

This new ladies' and misses' shop, owned by one of the largest makers of ladies' garments in Toronto, will be able to offer much greater values than London women have been able to obtain because all the stock will be sold direct from maker to wearer at prices entirely free from any middlemen's and intervening profits. All garments will be tailored in the makers' own shops and sold at prices at least 25 to 35 per cent lower than would be possible if the regular retailers' profit were added.

A very cordial invitation is extended to every woman to be present at the opening of Hudson's Fashion Shoppe next Saturday, where there will be exhibited a magnificent assortment of the newest fall modes in Coats, Suits and Dresses, in sizes and styles to fit everyone. Special introductory prices will prevail on many lines on the opening day, although no one need feel under any obligation to buy because they come to look. Patrons are specially requested to be on hand early—doors open at 8:30. —Advt. b

Puppy Stories

By Vincent G. Perry.

THE WOLF DOG.

Part 22.

The mother collie and the young wolf dog called through the bars of the cage. "Mother wolf, mother wolf."

The old mother wolf bounded forward—she wasn't so sick after all.

You may be sure she was quite delighted to see her foster son, the wolf dog. What a story she had to tell them—but somehow she had not minded being shut up, and she felt quite happy now that friends had come to call on her.

"There is plenty to eat here and so many people come to see me I feel quite delighted with myself, she told them—though I know it isn't natural for a wolf dog to be shut up like this."

"And you don't want us to free you?" the young wolf dog asked.

"No, I don't believe I do," the mother wolf declared. "I am so old, and it is nice to have my food brought here, and a nice warm place is always near at hand for me to sleep in."

"And you want your son to go away without you," the mother collie asked in wonder.

"He isn't really my son, though I am just as fond of him as if he were," the wolf dog told her. "He is a collie dog's puppy. I found him in a cave when he was just a little fellow"—and the old wolf told the story of finding the wolf dog.

"Then the wolf dog is my puppy," the old mother collie cried in delight. "That's why I have grown so fond of him."

You may be sure there was a happy reunion then.

The wolf dog and the old collie, his real mother, stayed for several days visiting the wolf though they had to stay on the outside of the cave, to be sure. They saw that she was really happy, and they didn't wonder at it, for the food she was given certainly was very nice and there was lots of it.

So, when the days had passed, the two dogs, for the wolf dog had decided he really belonged to the tribe of dogs after all, bade the old wolf good-by and started once more for the north.

"We will come again often to visit you," the wolf dog promised—"but we must go back and guard the home of our master—and perhaps some day I will join the wolf pack to lead them in another hunt before I die."

We'll leave the wolf dog and his mother, the collie, on the homeward journey north—perhaps they will meet with more adventures, and if they do, the story book elves will whisper it into the keys of the typewriter that weaves out these stories, and then we will hear about it in another series of stories.

The End.

BAD SYMPTOM.

Hostess—Well, Tommie, when you get home you can tell your mother for me that you are the best-behaved boy at table I ever met.

Tommie—Thank you, ma'am, but I'd rather not.

Hostess—Rather not! And why, pray?

MAKES HIS HENS LAY HIGH-PRICED WINTER EGGS

Finds New Easy Way To Make Poultry Show Big Profit.

Poultry experts agree that eggs are going to be scarce again this winter and prices possibly higher than ever before. So the Poultry Keeper who can get his hens laying heavily now is in for a golden harvest.

Henry Trafford, of Binghamton, N. Y., a recognized poultry expert, who for nearly eighteen years was editor of Poultry Success, says most failures to make hens lay and pay big profits are due to the laying life of the average hen being too short. Every hen is born or hatched with 1,000 or more egg germs in her system, but usually is sent to market after one year of laying and before she has laid 200 eggs. If kept and given proper care, this hen might make the very best layer of high priced winter eggs for at least three years to come.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen and to make old hens and pullets lay all through the cold winter months when eggs bring highest prices, double egg production and triple chicken profits. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN SYSTEM" of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. If you keep hens and want them to make money for you this winter, cut out this notice and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 470-C, Court Building, Binghamton, N. Y., and a free copy of "The 1,000 Egg Hen" will be sent you by return mail.

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair

35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff, Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthfully bright, lustrous and just twice as abundant.

Not a Fair Charge.

Is it necessary for a person, accepting public office, to drop out of public life for all time, as far as any political affiliation is concerned?

This question comes from an attack made by the Galt Reporter on W. G. Raymond of Brantford, who, after having been postmaster there for some years, resigns the office in order to contest the riding of Brantford for the Liberals. The Reporter says in part:

"The situation is interesting as showing that in Brantford office holders do not divest themselves, as is their duty, of partisan leanings. Mr. Raymond is a very able gentleman. But he hasn't lived up to the traditions of the service. All the time he has been a partisan in thought, if not in action. He appears such in action at what he doubtless considers the psychological moment. The mask is off. The Government that has paid him a handsome annual salary for the performance of clear-cut duties finds that during his term of office the Brantford postmaster has cherished a desire for a seat in Parliament, and cherishing that desire has read and cogitated for the one purpose of becoming at some future election the candidate of the party with which he had been allied before severing his relations with politics and politicians. It was thought that years ago Canadian office holders had too high a sense of duty to scheme while drawing public funds to advance their interests politically. Postmaster Raymond has shattered this view, held by all classes, because of its general acceptance by the permanent office-holding members of the civil service."

The point raised by the Galt Reporter might have some bearing on the case if the paper were able to go ahead and make some application of the principle which it claims is involved. That paper does not charge that Postmaster Raymond has been a partisan officer—that he played politics while in office—that he was negligent in any way. What then? Simply this—he sees an issue that interests him, one in which he feels certain that he can participate to the advantage of his riding—he quits clean in order to enter the political field.

According to the Reporter we are to believe that once a man enters the service of the Government he erases from his mind all things political, and draws into a sort of sentiment-proof hut, through whose one wee window he can squint at the party in power and make sure that his pay check is headed in the right direction.

Until the Galt Reporter can level some more worth-while charge at W. G. Raymond, it might be better employed than in spreading a campaign of whispering and innuendo.

Nothing New To Offer.

An advertisement appearing in one of the Eastern Ontario papers is headed "The Conservative Viewpoint—Our Candidate, Hugh Stewart—Our Platform, Protection."

And in these few words the whole case has been stated.

There is absolutely nothing of vision for the future.

There is no word of cheer for the taxpayer, who is already straining to make his income and his expenses meet. In too many cases there is a gap there right now, and it is growing larger.

There is nothing for the housewife, who knows what it costs to keep her family clothed and fed.

The soldier who was promised many and all things when he enlisted, and when he voted for Borden at the front under the most shameless promises of "long leave home," can find next to nothing at all in the Meighen manifesto.

There is no suggestion of relief from taxation.

The average family does not know the extent to which it is taxed. The city taxes are apparent, so is the income tax, but there are hundreds of other taxes which are collected indirectly, of which the consuming public never think.

It has been estimated by one of the best and most reliable financiers in Toronto that a man with an income of $2,000 a year, and owning his own home, is paying, including the city levy, almost $675 per year in the form of taxation. This figure was secured after the most careful investigation, covering a considerable period of time. It was made up largely of the indirect tax paid on nearly every article of consumption and wearing apparel.

For the relief of this state, the Tory party has nothing to offer.

The whole campaign is based on the cry of "Wolf! Wolf!"

It is being turned on phrases well calculated to scare people out of any idea of expecting a return of better times.

Getting Soaked.

Canadian Cattle.

It is claimed that Scottish farmers produce better beef cattle than Canadians, and that their stock brings $40 to $45 more per head on the English market than Canadian stock. Allowing that this is true, the outstanding reasons for it are not far to seek. The Scottish herds have better sires, and their feeding resources are also of the best.

But there is one way in which Canadian cattle can command a price in the English market more in harmony with that secured by the Scottish live stock men, and that is the landing of the Canadian cattle alive, and bringing them into condition before they are sold for butchering purposes. This can only be accomplished by the lifting of the present embargo.

Under present conditions, cattle from Canada must be slaughtered within ten days after landing at a British port, and, more than this, they are not allowed to be removed from the lairage at the landing stage. This forces the Canadian shipper to sell at a sacrifice.

The royal commission having reported in favor of the removal of the restrictions, both Canadian shippers and Scottish feeders are eagerly awaiting the repeal of the measure which authorizes them. From past experience live stock men have found that Canadian "stores" can be conditioned up to the home standard, and corresponding prices secured. It was as much a matter of surprise and regret for the Old Country farmer as for the Canadian when the trumped-up charge of disease in the Canadian herds was made the excuse for what was really a protective measure to placate the Irish dealers.

A Modern Argosy.

When Christopher Columbus set forth on his expedition for the discovery of a western passage to India he ran his nose into the American continent without being aware of the fact, and to the poor, benighted savages, whom he called Indians, he brought sundry presents of colored beads, hawkes' bells and other trumpery that his previous contact with primitive races had taught him would be very acceptable. But those days have long passed away, and you cannot fool the foreigner with such toys as these. Gramophones, motor cars and electric washers are more in their line at the present period, the world having learned a thing or two since Christopher astonished the natives of San Salvador.

An expedition, the nature of which Columbus could never have dreamed, will set forth from London, England, in the summer of 1923. The ship will be called British Industry, and will be laden with the best that Britain can produce. She will make an eighteen months' voyage round the world, calling on her way at all important trade centers, and her object will be neither to fool the natives nor to unduly astonish them, but to show them what modern British skill and industry can accomplish.

Every detail of the ship from the masthead to the keel will be of British workmanship, and her internal arrangements will be quite different to those of any ship that ever floated. Britain has at last woke up to the fact that if she does not get a little practical advertising done she will be sidetracked by other nations, and will cease to rule the waves or anything else in the way of trade.

At a meeting of Canadian manufacturers which was held in this city last spring the project of sending a trade ship from Canada on a similar trip around the globe was discussed. The idea is a good one, and the signs of a revival which are now visible on the commercial horizon ought to be an encouragement to go ahead.

Fire Prevention.

Once upon a time there was a dangerous precipice over which the people were tumbling all the time, some getting badly hurt and others getting killed outright. It then became a question whether it was better to put up a fence to keep people from falling over or to provide an ambulance down in the valley to take care of them after the mischief had been done, and it was very wisely decided that prevention was better than cure, and so the fence was erected. Of course, there was no necessity for the ambulance after that.

It is the same with fires. The great majority of the most destructive of these is preventable. In one were asked the principal cause of disastrous fires the answer could be given in one word—carlessness. This is why London is having a fire prevention week. The fire chief has issued an appeal to the citizens to render the outbreak of fires as rare as possible by taking the necessary precautions. These consist for the most part in keeping their cellars free from rubbish and combustible material of all sorts, and exercising care in the handling and disposal of hot ashes.

Nearly sixty-five million dollars worth of property was destroyed by fire during the last five years in Ontario alone, and many lives have been lost. Life-saving in the case of fire is not so much the furnishing of costly apparatus and the equipment of a large body of trained men; it is the safe-guarding of human life that is the big thing.

One of the most fertile sources of fires is the flinging down of lighted cigar or cigarette ends, or the dropping of lighted matches Very few men blow out a match before casting it away, and still fewer put their foot on it after it has been cast away. Housewives leave boxes of matches lying around for children to play with, and many a babe has met its death from fire in the absence of its mother.

It is to be hoped that the citizens will heartily support the efforts of those who are endeavoring to reduce the risk to human life and property to a minimum by inculcating and adopting commonsense methods in guarding against this perpetual menace.

LITTLE 'TISERS

San Francisco high school girls have voted to wear cotton stockings, middy blouses and wash dresses. Trouble is they don't stay in high school very long.

A man who was once chef for Bismarck is now working on the heating apparatus at the Capitol in Washington. Another case of jumping out of the frying-pan into the fire.

A cable from Rusina says that 13 per cent beer is sold there for one cent per glass. And now there's one grand holler among the thirsty to find out where under the sun this place is.

A New York barber shop has an orchestra playing from 4 to 6. That's a new one, as most of the bands are busy about that time of day playing in restaurants, now that the season for oyster stew is with us.

At a gun factory in Maryland they are now testing what is claimed to be the most powerful naval gun ever built. This, no doubt, can be led in and labeled Exhibit A at the disarmament conference.

They do tell that a Kansas man was out walking the veranda with the baby. He was all dressed up in his nightie, and was mistaken for an organizer of the Ku-Klux. Some enterprising maker of pyjamas should seize this incident to boost the sale of his goods.

One chain of hotels has 3,000 discarded hats that have been left by patrons. And no doubt Detroit and Buffalo hotels could produce an equal number of boots and shoes which have been left there by patriotic Canadians who can't for the life of them see the sense or reason for paying duty.

An Oklahoma court decides that a man has a perfect right to eat in his shirt-sleeves in a public dining hall. Two other points are still left to be cleared up, (1) eating pie with a knife, and (2) reaching over and spearing a piece of bread on a fork. When these two are settled we'll tell that the world is once more safe for democracy.

The ordinary house-fly can make a journey of from five to six miles every 24 hours, according to the experts. And many a bald-headed man can tell said experts they don't know what they're talking about. For he has experienced many a combat with a fly that plays leap-frog all day, and never goes ten inches from his bald spot.

In Holland auctioneers start at a high figure and keep on coming down until they find a buyer. In this country we do things from the opposite end. It may be possible to arrive at the basis for a sale in this way, but it is hardly ever on the value of the article. As a matter of fact, the word "value" is a hard term to define. One of the best definitions is still a standard at one of the leading Ontario schools: "Value—The price arrived at between the least urgent seller and the least urgent buyer."

NOAH'S POETRY

Corns and Bunions.

Some folks is always prowlin' round to look for kinks what's new, they seem to have the notion that the old, old things won't do. They never do seem satisfied with what their grand-dads wore, they turn their snouts toward the sky about the things of yore.

The good old bootjack's gone to rest, it ain't growed here today, this fine old household implement has simply passed away. It was a fine old relic, 'twas awful hard to beat, for yankin' them old leather boots from off our weary feet.

It was a grand old implement in days what's gone and fled, before the new fandangled things had turned the people's head—that pile of beech and maple, them logs that would not crack—they lubricated all the rusty joints—they sprouted muscles in the back.

The old tin basin, too, has fled, it had a splendid rep—it used to take its station outside the kitchen step. And husky men from out the barn we used to rest and pause, and in that old tin basin wash off our dirty claws.

There is one thing, though, I won't quit, a hundred years in age, its comforts they are plastered upon our history's page—I mean the good old slippers folks grew upon their feet, to rest their weary bones at night, to give to them a treat. Ah, how I love them poultice kind, them soft and sloppy kind. they bring unto my carcass a wondrous peace of mind.

Go, get your new, your fancy things to plant on top your socks, and gaze upon my ancient kind and get some awful shocks, but give to me those rough old things, those bucket-shaped old tribe, that let my corns and bunions have a rest at eventide. —NOAH.

Read Your Character

[By Digby Phillips.]
7—Receding Chins.

There is a popular impression that the square, protruding chin is the sign of strong character. And so it is—of a certain type of strong character.

There is also a popular impression that, as the reverse of this, a receding chin denotes weakness of character. This is an error.

In reality the receding chin, providing it is not so extreme as to be classed as a physical defect (in which case it is essential to draw no conclusions hastily), is a sign of an aggressive element in a person's nature. It is also an indication of quicker tendency to action.

"You're always taking a big chance if you think you can insult a man with this sort of chin with impunity. As a matter of fact, he's more likely to be quick in his resentment than the man with the so-called "strong chin." He's more likely to resort to his fists, too.

On the other hand, if a man or woman with a receding chin flared up and said some sharp things as the result of some clash, don't take them too seriously. They're far more likely to say them to your face than behind your back. Furthermore, the chances are that they'll forget the whole incident more quickly than you will, unless you have the same sort of chin yourself. Such people are not greatly given to brooding, oversensitiveness or "grudges."

In general, the receding chin is the mark of the energetic type, the type that loves to start things, to blaze new trails, to do pioneer work, but which is not, on the other hand, so patient or enduring.

TO THE EDITOR

RAILWAY WAGES.

Editor, Advertiser:

Sir,—For some time the public, through the daily papers and other sources, have been well informed as to how the high railroad rates are keeping up the cost of living, and also causing business stagnation, through the small business not being able to pay such high freight rates and exist.

The high freight rates are accounted for by the high wages paid the railroadman. Wherever a railroadman meets a businessman, farmer or other, he is openly accused of holding up the country by his demands for excessive wages.

Now, Mr. Public, as a man who has followed the rail for 20 years, I would like to give you a few facts, and ask you if the railroads and the railroadmen are getting a fair deal.

As everybody knows, the general expenses have risen nearly double since 1914, and as the increased cost has affected the family budget, the same has affected the railroads, making it necessary to increase rates. But have railroad rates been increased according to other increases?

This same applies to the railroad employees, whose expenses at home and away from home have soared with others. I believe if the public fully understood the life and pay of a railroadman he would not be knocked on every hand as one cause of the high cost of living and business depression.

You have read in the dailies about the exorbitant wages earned by this class of men, and I would ask how many you are acquainted with that earn more than will provide for a decent living standard.

I quote the following figures, from which you can judge for yourself as to wages:

A railroad passenger conductor, a promotion received after long and faithful service, receives $6.36 per day of eight hours, or 150 miles.

A freight conductor receives for day of eight hours or 100 miles, $5.80, or $6.32 for through or way freight and switching service respectively.

A passenger brakeman receives for day of eight hours or 150 miles, $4.36.

A freight brakeman receives for day of eight hours or 100 miles, $4.48, or $4.88 for through or way freight and switching service respectively.

I would ask you to consider how many days of eight hours will a railroad man have to work in order to receive the princely wage shown in the daily papers?

Another point to consider is the hours of service and expenses away from home.

A man in train service is called away from his home and may be back tomorrow, or may not be back for a week or more, which makes his expenses much higher than his fellow worker who is at home every night.

When the majority of people are enjoying an evening either out or at their home, a railroad man is out keeping the lines of transportation moving to satisfy the needs, desires and pleasures of the public.

He knows no nights, Sundays or holidays to spend with his family. Can you realize a holiday where all the transportation employees take 24 hours off to enjoy a day as others do?

A man before entering the service is required to pass a medical examination, an examination on train and interlocking rules as required by law, an examination on air brake, steam heat and light, as required by the company, and has to periodically pass an ear and eye test.

Do you think a railroadman is "holding up the country for his own selfish end" when he leaves his home at the midnight hour in a blinding blizzard to fight the storm and weather at the risk of life and limb for 10 to 40 hours without rest or sleep, that the public may enjoy the privilege of transportation for the above princely remuneration?

In few other classes of service do men come under the law more than railroadmen or are held more responsible for life and property.

Did you ever realize when traveling in your comfortable sleeper at night; how, if a railroadman, after being on duty for 10 to 20 hours, failed in his duty, what might happen?

If the railroadmen were to refuse to work nights (when most of the freight is moved) or refused to work more than eight or ten hours per day, how would our vast trains of commodities be transported?

How can the railroad and public expect to obtain responsible men for this service if the remuneration is not sufficient to attract the best men our country can supply?

Hoping you will give the railroads and employees the same consideration as given other industries and workmen, for without railroads the large industries of our country would fail. I remain

ONE OF THE HOLD-UPS.

They were in a railway train and were discussing Dickens.

"Well," said one, "John puts Bleak House first and Martin Chuzzlewit second."

"Excuse me, gentlemen," said a husky voice from the seat behind, "I don't know your pal, John, but you're bein' steered. There ain't no such horses runnin'."

Writing Letters to the Editor

TOO many people think it a good occupation for the crank, for the man who has an axe to grind, for the discontent who wants to start an agitation, and so on.

But no occupation at all for the honest, law-abiding citizen who minds his own business and takes it for granted that every person is and should be doing the same thing.

Big questions come up in the politics of the nation, the city, town, village, county and township.

You, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, are an interested shareholder in all these enterprises. You own property, or you rent it, and you pay your good money out.

Your family is living, and is going to live under conditions that grow out of these affairs.

No doubt there are times when you see where an improvement could be brought about, but you say, "What's the use—they wouldn't pay any attention to me."

And so you just let it slide. And so things just go on sliding in spots. Your good idea might have been the very thing that was needed.

There is one certain way to reach the people—through the columns of The Advertiser.

The Advertiser wants you to write letters on public affairs, on social, municipal, women's questions. This paper extends this invitation seriously and earnestly, with the assurance that your views will be presented to our readers, provided they deal with real questions.

Do not imagine that we are throwing down the bars so that personal grievances may be aired. That class of letter writer needs no special invitation. He is always with us.

The Advertiser prefers names signed to letters, but it knows quite well that there are times and conditions when it would be impossible for a writer to sign his name. Then all we ask is that the paper, for its protection, be supplied with the name and address of the writer.

The Advertiser makes this announcement because it feels that there must be many in this district who have often considered the question of writing a letter to the paper, but who, for one reason or another, have held back.

The columns of The Advertiser are open to the citizens of the district for the discussion of legitimate and timely topics. We assure you that your communication will receive every consideration.

BALANCE WHEELS.

The body is composed of many complex organisms finely co-ordinated by nerves and muscles. Each of these organisms has its own activities—heart, lungs, brain and the rest, but for normal living each must act properly in relation to the whole. Many of the seemingly small and insignificant details plan an amazingly important part in the management of the whole machine. They are like tiny balance wheels which regulate the co-ordinated working of an intricate machine. There are glands, such as the pancreas and the thyroid. If the pancreas gets upset, the body may lose the power to burn carbohydrates and thus be deprived of this important fuel food. If the thyroid becomes too active, the body may burn fuel faster than it can be supplied, and the resulting emaciation cannot be cured except by righting the action of the thyroid.

All the chemical elements of the body must not only be there, but in the very place and quantity where they are needed. The blood is kept in good condition of red and white corpuscles, the heart beats, nerves and muscles respond promptly to brain impulses largely through the presence of phosphorus, calcium, magnesium, sodium and potassium in the tissues and fluids where they belong. Water helps to regulate this distribution, to make possible the transportation of these chemicals by holding them in solution in the body fluids, and to facilitate the removal of waste through the kidneys. The right foods and plenty of water keep the body balance wheels in good order.

CIII.—A Terrifying Dream.

Mary had a mind that naturally acted quickly.

Although astounded at Bellairs's news, she soon pulled herself together. She wasn't going to let this curious individual notice her chagrin.

Five thousand dollars! Her husband—Dick Calardin—had really "let himself in" for such a sum! Dick had no business head. And Eve had played upon his ignorance. Considerably more so, then, had Carrington Bellairs.

Again did Mary read the "note." It was dated just over one month ago, and payment was now due. The rate of interest had been enormous. It was a scoundrel's proposition; but nothing was to be gained by telling Bellairs such a plain home truth.

He had Dick in his power—until that five thousand dollars was paid!

"I understand," said Mary softly, smothering down her indignation. "Miss Rochester—I ought to say now Mrs. Vandaveer—has gone off without paying back that money that your—your firm—lent her. Isn't that so?"

"It is," said Carrington Bellairs. He couldn't help admiring Mary's fortitude. He had happened to discover that Dick Calardin had no money, to speak of, and this bill meant ruination for the newly-wedded young couple.

"Of course, Dick didn't understand what he was signing. You knew that?"

The man shrugged his shoulders.

"That isn't my affair. Ask Eve—if you can find her, that's to say."

"Eve had no intention of paying you back this money that she borrowed. You also knew that, of course?" Mary's tones were still quiet, but there was a contempt behind them that Bellairs was quick to notice. No, he wasn't coming off with flying colors in this matter.

"I'm a plain businessman," he remarked gruffly. "People's possible 'intentions' don't weigh at all with me. I can't let sentiment enter into the affair."

"No, of course not." Mary said. She put the note into her pocket. "Don't worry about not getting your money, Mr. Bellairs. I'll see that you're paid—in full."

"That's a sweet girl, Carrington," remarked that lady, after Mary had departed. "In a way I'm sorry that you didn't marry her. She'd make any man a charming wife."

"You didn't think so once upon a time," her nephew answered gruffly. "You were none too pleasant to the girl when she was here."

He flung himself from the apartment, his heart heavy, for he had really cared for Mary, and he utterly despised himself for his present Shylock-like behavior, now that she'd slipped from his grasp.

As for Mary, that damsel returned immediately to Dick.

"He's sleeping peacefully," the landlady of the Barley Mow informed her. "Best not go up just now, my dear."

So Mary entered her own little room downstairs, sat down upon the bed, and gave herself up immediately to thought.

Five thousand dollars! It must be paid.

How—how was she to raise the money?

One thing sure and certain was that Dick musn't be worried over the affair.

His head bothered him too much, for he was making quite a slow, though sure, recovery.

Then Mary's face lit up.

"I have it," she said softly. "It's my own—the diamond!"

"Oh, she'd be glad to part with it! It had always seemed to the young girl as though the diamond had a sinister influence about it. Through its medium she had been nearly murdered—not once, but twice!

"I'll go to town tomorrow and sell the thing," she said. "And I won't say one single word to Dick about the matter."

She felt much better now—more hopeful. It was splendid to be able to stand between her husband and financial bothers.

Her bedroom was quite dark, and Mary felt tired out. She lay down on the bed and presently dozed off.

And then she dreamed a curious dream.

It was a sunny morning, and she was flying in an aeroplane. Up, up into the glorious blue! The motion was delightful, soothing, yet exhilarating.

Leaning over the side, she could see the Barley Mow and its surrounding fields and woodlands. How far off the landscape looked from this enchanting height!

Oh, to fly on like this forever!

Then suddenly there was a curious whirring overhead. Mary looked up hastily. There, in another aeroplane, was Julian Vandaveer and Eve, accompanied by the Cingalee.

Julian was the pilot. Eve the passenger, and Kismet—what was he? Mary could see his evil face quite distinctly. It looked sinister and mocking.

Then, temporarily, they disappeared. Her own machine flew onwards at terrific speed.

But Mary was alarmed. She knew the other aeroplane was following her.

On, on! It mustn't reach her!

There was the whirring sound again. She turned her head. Presto! The other aeroplane was immediately above her, and she could see the Cingalee hanging over the side of it with something large and heavy-looking in his hand.

Crash! Crash! Bang! The sound of the explosions rang in Mary's ears as Kismet dropped his bombs. She could feel her machine stagger, sway and half turn over!

Was this death? Had the machine been struck? The sound of the explosions had been terrible.

But, no! Her aeroplane was gradually righting itself. She was flying onwards once more—and safe!

That whirring sound again! And see, right overhead, the hostile plane! The sinister Oriental face—Eve smiling.—Vandaveer inscrutable—Mary could glimpse the three distinctly.

Crash! A long pause. Then crash! again. Another pause. Then, bang!

Again Mary's aeroplane staggered, spun around and began to nose-dive to the earth.

She screamed, and woke up trembling. It had been a dream!

PRACTICAL HATS FOR EARLY WINTER.

When it comes time to bundle ones neck in furs, hats that are close fitting and hats that have no back brim gain prestige. Most women look smarter in hats of this type when collars cover their chins, as collars have a comfy way of doing just now. Not that they are voluminous, they are just high and snug, and deep enough to dig ones chin down into and keep it from getting frost bitten—a cheery thought with

Velour and Fur Hats.

One of the most interesting sidelights on millinery appropriate for such occasions, and for day in and day out wear, is that felts have been followed by velours and that the winter will find us wearing hats of fur fabric, and of fur itself. Take, for instnce, a combination such as black velvet and ermine, tails being used as a sort of tassel effect on the brim. There are off the face models of fur and fur fabric, one of the most popular of the latter being the baby lamb and slynx. An all fur hat is inclined to be very heavy in effect, to say nothing of being hot, and in consequence, not very good for the head, but one that is merely fur faced or fur trimmed is quite another matter. The fashion of trimming the hat with a small animal scarf is new enough to bear re-mentioning, and the use of narrow bands of fur, and of fur pompons and fur pads which are appliqued on felt or other fabrics may be mentioned as good trimming. One might easily have a fur brim on the hat sketched at the lower end of the panel, although in the original it was made of velour with a velvet drape in contrasting color, serving as the crown. The fur shades are still popular with or without fur trimmings, and so are the more golden shades of caramel and Mohawk. While the majority of women are inclined to prefer hats which are worn in one color, there are any number of models at present being shown and worn which combine two shades, for instance, of fuchsia or of blue, and some hats which boldly combine grey and black velvet. When one shade is felt and the other velvet, the effect is very smart—the trimming, of course, repeating one or the other color.

The Lure of Glossy Surfaces.

When flurries of snow come, then perhaps ones thoughts may be less intrigued by the smartness of polished surfaces, for they are anything but wintry in spirit. Just now, cire ribbon is in brisk demand, and not alone for hats, for a chic woman was seen lunching a few days ago in a dress which was bordered in bows of narrow cire ribbon sewn at intervals around the edge of the skirt, and in a band from wrist to elbow of her loose sleeves. Ribbon sashes are more often cire than not, and it matters not whether the colors be black or red, for both are popular this fall. A bright red cire silk in twill effect made a smart juene fille hat, for bright red hats or dark ones trimmed with red feathers are accepted as one of the salient features of a season, which from a millinery standpoint at least, is rich in interest.

BEAUTIFUL FROCKS SEEN AT MONTREAL WEDDING

Montreal, Oct. 12.—A wedding of noteworthy interest took place at the Basilica, Major George P. Vanier, officer of the Legion of Honor, formerly of the 22nd Battalion, was the groom, and the bride was Miss Pauline Archer, daughter of Mr. Justice Archer and Mrs. Archer.

The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse satin, draped from her shoulders, the girdle caught with a large pearl ornament. The long court train was lined with pale pink georgette. Her tulle veil was arranged over her face and fell to the end of her train, and she carried a prayerbook of mother-of-pearl.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

ST. ANDREW'S LADIES' AID.

The St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid are holding a rummage sale on Friday and Saturday, in the east end town hall, which will be open for business after 1 o'clock on Friday and after 9 o'clock on Saturday. They have procured numerous good articles both of clothing and household articles, and expect the sale to be quite successful.

WORTLEY ROAD MOTHERS' CLUB.

The Wortley Road Mothers' Club held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening. It was decided to add $75 to the amount they have already collected for the Sick Children's Hospital, which is now $225. Final arrangements were made for the rummage sale which is to be held tomorrow. During the evening Mrs. Rose spoke, the subject of her address being "What We Owe Our Children and What They Owe To Us." A reading was given by Miss Reta Johnson, and a solo by Miss Nettie Jones.

EMPRESS AVE. MOTHERS' CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Mothers' Club of Empress avenue was held on Monday evening and took the form of a sale of home-made cooking and fancy articles, from which a large sum was realized. An interesting program was given, consisting of areading by Mrs. Tullow, a vocal duet by the Misses Jean Benner and Dorothy Bathurst. Mrs. Mason of Rectory street club also addressed the meeting. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

VICTORIA HOME.

The nurses and patients of the Victoria Home were given a delightful concert on Monday evening by Mr. Brown. The program consisted of solos by Mrs. Phillipo, Miss Kumz, Mrs. Fair, Miss Rapsay acting as accompanist. The little Misses Maude and Bess McGregor giving a duet. Miss Gladys Brown, delighted her audience by numerous selections on the bagpipes, which were greatly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Brown gave both the nurses and patients a treat of candy.

LORD ROBERTS MOTHERS' CLUB.

The first regular meeting of the Lord Roberts Mothers' Club was held on Tuesday evening in the kindergarten, the date of the meeting being changed from the fourth Thursday to the second Tuesday of the month. There was a large attendance and it was decided that the November meeting be the means of raising some money toward the club's donation to the Sick Children's Hospital. The speaker of the evening was Dr. E. F. Detwiler, the subject of his address being "The Safeguarding of the Health of the Children," and the club received much valuable information in regard to the care of the little ones.

DAUGHTERS OF SCOTLAND.

At the regular meeting of the Daughter of Scotland, held recently, the names of eight new members were proposed. It was decided that a euchre will be given on Nov. 8th, Mrs. Pullett being made convener. The society will repeat the work done last year, such as visiting the Byron Sanatorium and Westminster Hospital and other places appreciating work of this nature. The annual New Year's dance will be given again this year, with Mrs. Robt. Tagg as convener.

DRAMA LEAGUE.

The first meeting of the Drama League will be held on Oct. 17 in the Ryerson School. The chief feature will be the presentation of the one-act play, "Rosalind," by Sir J. M. Barrie. Plans are also being made to entertain Walter Hampton and Marie Lohr, who will be in the city some time in the near future.

CHELSEA GREEN L. A.

The women of the congregation of Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church enjoyed a very pleasant time on Monday afternoon, when they met at the church to welcome their new pastor's wife, Mrs. Peter Nicol. A short business meeting followed, at which plans for the winter activities were discussed, it being decided to hold a bazaar early in December. The president of this lively association is Mrs. M. J. Maitland and the secretary, Mrs. P. C. Aldridge.

Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. has reorganized, the following officers being elected: President, W. W. Wilkinson; first vice-president, Mrs. T. T. Aitkin; second vice-president, Mrs. Jessie Morown; secretary, Miss Louise McAuslan; assistant secretary, Mrs D. M. Henderson; treasurer, Mrs. M. Preston; assistant treasurer, Mrs. E M. Grove.

MANDAUMIN W. M. S.

The October meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Strangway. A carefully-prepared paper on "South Sea Pioneers" was given by Miss Helen MacDonald. Roll call was answered by the members repeating Scripture verses on "Fruit." It was decided to send fruit and vegetables to the Redemptive Home, Toronto. A prayer for strength to take up the work and spread the gospel was offered by the president, Mrs. Hoden.

The hostess served a dainty lunch, asd a social hour was spent.

WITH THE BRIDES

UNDERHILL—MACDONALD.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Ridout Street Methodist parsonage, when Anne Macdonald of Ottawa became the bride of Richard Underhill of East Oxford, the Rev. J. A. Agnew officiating.

DURST—LAYMON.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when Luta Leonice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Laymon, was married to Robert Durst, son of the late Adam and Mrs. Durst, the Rev. D. C. MacGregor officiating.

The church was prettily decorated with ferns and yellow 'mums, the guests' pews being tied with large bunches of tulle and marigolds.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Mr. Wheeler at the organ played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the church, playing Mendelssohn's Wedding March at the conclusion of the service, and also playing very softly during the service. At the signing of the register Mrs. Wilson Hodgins sang "All Joy Be Thine." Mrs. Hodgins was gowned in navy blue canton crepe, embroidered in beads and a large picture hat. Very charming was the bride in a smart suit of navy blue serge, embroidered with bugle beads, wearing a small French hat of brown feathers and a corsage of Sunset roses and orchids.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid and soloist were gold vanity cases, and golf cuff links to the organist, and also to the best man, who was Mr. Harold Thorn.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, the house being a veritable bower of autumn foliage, yellow 'mums and colored zinnias.

Mrs. Laymon, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of French blue satin and taffeta, embroidered in gold, large black hat and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Durst, mother of the groom, looked charming in a black satin gown and black hat.

There were lovely gifts from the many friends of the bride and groom. A profusion of flowers were arranged in the dining-room, where a buffet luncheon was served. The bride and groom left on a honeymoon to several American cities, and upon their return will reside in London. The bride traveled in her suit, donning the gift of the groom, a cape of seal, with fitch trimmings.

RUSSETS AND GOLDS VIE WITH BLACK AND NAVY

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Furns and summer dresses fought for supremacy as Columbia played Amherst at the inaugural of the football season at South Field, Columbia. Although russets and reds, gold, orange, brown and all the rich colors of autumn were conspicuous, the popular black and navy Canton crepes afforded a somber background.

Some bright colored duvetyn suits were to be seen one striking model savoring of French origin, but Spanish in effect, was in cerise duvetyn with seal trimming and embroidered with grey French knots. Another smart dress was of navy tricotine on very straight lines with metal ornaments down the length of the side front serving as fastenings and a high, tight collar faced with cerise and prolonged into a scarf finished with fringe and reaching almost to the hem of the dress.

The Iron Food for Vitality

True vigor and vitality depend on the iron in the blood

Real Raisin Pie

Raisin Pie

Men are quickly refreshed at night by a dessert like this

2 cups Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
2 cups water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 tablespoon sugar

Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with 1 cup cold water and bring slowly to a boil. Add sugar, salt and corn starch which has been mixed with 1 cup cold water. Boil 3 minutes; add lemon juice. Pour in pie tin which has been lined with crust, while hot cover; brush top with cold milk and bake in moderate oven until brown.

All measurements for this recipe are level.

WHEN made correctly—it is easy—Raisin Pie rules in its own right as the Pie Supreme — man's favorite food-dessert.

Do you use a recipe like this one—have you ever tasted raisin pie made exactly in this way?

If not, you're unfamiliar with real raisin pie — the flavory, energy-producing dessert that furnishes the blood with food-iron and helps to keep vitality up to par.

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Seeded (seeds removed); Seedless (grown without seeds); Clusters (on the stem). Also a fine, ever-ready dessert.

Raisins are cheaper by thirty per cent than formerly. See that you get plenty in your foods.

Essays by School Children Part of Fire Prevention Drive

As part of the province-wide drive against the fire menace, students of the third and fourth forms of the public schools in all cities, towns and villages have been invited by the "Fire Prevention League" to join in an essay-writing contest on the subject, "Prevention of Fire in Home and Factory."

In this city no less than 25 ormolu gold-plated enamel medals will be offered as prizes for the best essays of 500 words in length placed in the hands of the teachers before the end of this month.

The "Fire Prevention League" and the provincial fire marshal are anxious to impress upon the minds of the rising generation the importance of fire prevention, so that the future may be insured against needless losses. But while they seek to educate the children they also make a definite appeal to every class to help reduce the country's tremendous fire bill.

Through publicity they seek to reach factory, store and home. Considerable money has been spent in preparing and distributing attractive posters, proclamations and literature, while everywhere throughout the province, the cry of "Clean up. Prevent fires by removing the cause," has been heard.

If only the people of this province could realize the tremendous sums of money lost annually through preventable fires, the league and the officials of the fire fighting department believe the necessity for prevention campaigns would pass.

In the royal proclamation, setting aside the present week for the purpose of fire prevention, it was pointed out that exclusive of forest fires which are also largely preventable, the fire losses in Canada exceed $26,000,000 annually.

It is estimated that with a total loss of more than one million dollars a month the per capita loss in the Province of Ontario amounts to $5.00 for each man, woman and child. In contrast with this it is pointed out that in European countries, where buildings are much older, the per capita loss is only 33 cents.

With a reasonable amount of care on everyone's part, the authorities believe that at least 80 per cent of the present fire losses can be eliminated.

Harding Explains U.S. View of Disarmament of World

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Universal disarmament is impossible, and even its desirability now is questionable, President Harding said today. The president's view, which makes it clear the American delegation at the disarmament conference will seek only a limitation of armament, was stated in emphatic terms in a letter made public by the White House to stem the growing propaganda for complete abolition of armament.

The letter, made public simultaneously with the assembling of the American delegation to the disarmament conference here today, was addressed by Miss Ella L. Freed of Brooklyn, who had written the president urging him to work for complete disarmament. President Harding's reply to a letter Miss Freed wrote October 5 declared for "reasonable limitation." She replied that this letter "seemed to bring a message of hopelessness" to those seeking universal disarmament, and asked him to explain what he meant by "reasonable limitation."

"By reasonable limitation," the president replied, "I mean something practicable that there is a chance to accomplish, rather than an ideal that there would be no chance to realize. It is necessary to deal with actualities; to do the best possible. Universal disarmament would be beyond hope of realization; even its desirability at this time might well be questioned. Thousands of years of history recording the wars and controversies of mankind suggest that human nature would require revolutionary reorganization to make universal disarmament possible. A consideration of the present state of the world must, I think, enforce the conclusion that this is not a hopeful time to undertake that kind of revolution.

"On the other hand, a world with the horrors of recent experiences seared into its mind, and staggering under the load of debt and armaments, has generously justified our hope for a favorable attitude toward the practical effort, the sincere beginning, that we are attempting. The fine spirit in which nations have received the invitation to meet and consider these things is altogether encouraging. To undertake the impossible and fail might leave our last state worse than our first. The attitude of the nations warrants confidence that we will not fail, but rather that substantial results will be accomplished, calculated to lessen the armament burden, and to reduce the danger of armed conflict. I feel that in such an effort we are entitled to the support of all people who would be glad—as I can assure you I would—to see still more accomplished if possible."

EFFECTS COMPROMISE IN SILESIAN DISPUTE

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Division of the plebiscite district of Upper Silesia along a line representing a compromise between the two lines laid down by Count Sforza, former Italian minister of foreign affairs, has been decided upon by the council of the League of Nations, says a Geneva dispatch to the Central News.

It is said that the district of Gleiwitz, Hindenburg and part of the district of Beuthen would go to Germany under the council's solution of the Silesian question.

The districts of Koenigshuette, Katowitz and the remainder of Beuthen would be assigned to Poland. The line reported to have been drawn by the council would be far north of the boundary proposed by Great Britain and Italy at the time of the critical conference in Paris last summer. The eastern end of the line is not given in the Geneva dispatch.

STOP THE FIRE

Before It Becomes a Disaster!

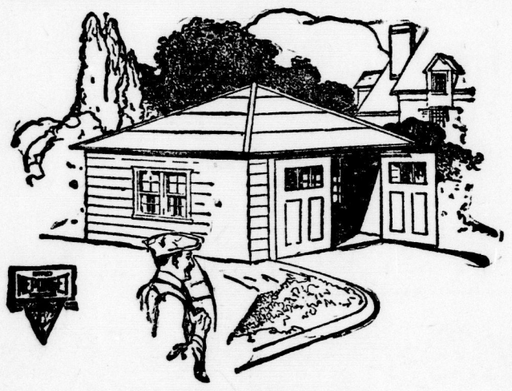

Don't Wait for the Fire Department

Ten minutes' handicap may turn an incipient blaze into an uncontrollable conflagration. Seventy-five per cent of all fires are extinguished by chemicals and more by hand chamical extinguishers than by any other means. With a "PYRENE" Extinguisher you can throw a gaseous, fire-killing stream fifty feet. It will seek out fires between walls and floors and places otherwise inaccessible. It has many times the extinguishing power of water and will instantly snuff out fires that water has no effect upon, such as burning oil, gasoline, kerosene, paints, etc. Every home, office and factory should be equipped with "PYRENE" Fire Extinguishers.

BALFOUR TO HEAD ARMS DELEGATION

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Arthur J. Balfour probably will head the British delegation to the Washington conference on limitations of armaments and Far Eastern affairs, it was understood in authoritative quarters tonight.

His tentative acceptance was said to have been the result of pressure brought to bear upon him to alter his previously expressed decision not to attend.

It has been definitely decided that Lord Lee of Fareham will sail for America Oct. 26 on the steamship Olympic.

The Kidneys

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highiy recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I was finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

POLICEMAN CHANGES HIS MURDER PLEA

Rademacher Now Denies Throwing Wife in River.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Unshaven, collarless and shrinking in appearance in spite of his six feet of body, Herman F. Rademacher, ponce officer, who this morning stood before Judge Thomas M. Cotter and in a low-pitched voice pleaded guilty to the charge of slaying his wife, Gertrude, last Thursday night by throwing her over the rail of the Belle Isle bridge into the river, late tonight changed his plea to one of not guilty, when arraigned before Judge William M. Heston in recorder's court and announced that he would employ counsel to acquit him of the charge on which he is held.

Just before he appeared in court he told Detectives Frederick Frahm and Edward Mitte, they say, that the slaying was the climax of a plan that had been in his mind for six months, and that time after time during that period he had taken his wife to Belle Isle with the intention of killing her, but each time had lost his nerve.

"She was always talking about suicide," he was quoted as saying. "We were fighting quite a good deal. I made up my mind to kill her last spring, and I took her over to the island several times with the intention of doing it, but always lost my nerve."

What his motive was still remains shrouded. He refused to tell the detectives why he desired to kill his wife, and members of the homicide squad admitted they knew no more now, in spite of his confession, as to the motives than they did the day he was arrested.

When Judge Cotter asked him if he had anything to say, he shook his head.

"Nothing, except Dr. Inches said he would see me this afternoon and arrange about my property," he declared.

The crowd that filled the rear of the courtroom remained standing as Rademacher was arraigned. He did not turn his head to look at his fellow-officers and court attaches, but kept his eye fixed on the judge. With his unshaven face and collarless shirt, he looked much like the other men in the line of prisoners that preceded him, and far from the dapper, erect police officer who had stood so many times on the other side of the rail.

Rademacher today told Detectives Mittee and Frahm that although he had been seeing Mrs. Elizabeth Well, 2230 Joseph Campus avenue, three afternoons and three evenings a week for many months, that his regard for her was purely of a platonic nature.

"She is a very fine woman, and I enjoyed the home life in her cottage," he said. "I used to wait for her three afternoons a week and escort her home, and when she worked nights I did the same thing."

BORDEN TO ATTEND DISARMAMENT PARLEY

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Sir Robert Borden will represent Canada at the disarmament conference in Washington, provided a place is accorded this country on the British delegation, it was stated here this morning.

Alexander Agrees To Leave Paris Pleasures For Throne

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The call of duty as monarch of a poverty-stricken people has overcome the siren song of Paris pleasure, and Prince Alexander of Serbia is going home to be king of Jugo-Slavia. The Jugo-Slav legation, in an official communique issued today, denies the report that its prince has decided to abdicate in favor of his brother, George, and remain in Paris.

Repeated reported accidents, attacks of appendicitis, nervous breakdowns and sudden relapses have been constant excuses for the presence of Alexander in the French capital since the death of old King Peter made him monarch-elect. And Alexander, according to reports, is said to be "madly in love" with a Paris beauty.

Prince Alexander had almost decided to remain in Paris, to ask his country to deposit money to his credit in Paris banks, and to renounce his claims to the throne. Prime Minister Pachitch pleaded with the pleasure loving prince apparently in vain. Alexander's last experience at Belgrade was on the receiving end of a brief shower of bombs and he professed little liking for a repetition of the experience. But apparently moral suasion has induced Alexander to change his mind.

HINT SOLUTION OF MAIL THEFT CASE

Detroit Police Arrest Two, But Withhold Clews.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Shrouding behind a cloak of secrecy their efforts to solve the Windsor mail wagon robbery of last Friday night, when considerable mail was taken, postoffice officials and police tonight intimated that a solution is in the offing.

They refused, however, to deny or to affirm a report that two men arrested by Detectives Marlette and O'Rourke, were in any way connected with the robbery.

The men, Paul Licari, 30, and Joseph Colombo, 27, were registered on the police blotter on charges of violating the United States code and robbery armed, respectively.

Late this afternoon, William MacAulay, driver of the Royal Canadian mail wagon, which the robbers held up at the point of pistols, visited police headquarters and viewed the men. Whether he identified them is not known, because of the reticence of authorities working on the case.

The finding of an old-fashioned trunk, such as those used by foreigners filled with mangled pieces of stolen mail, early Sunday, caused members of the Black Hand squad working on the case to announce their belief that the robbers were Italians.

Following this anouncement, the authorities began an exhaustive search through "Little Italy" and other Italian districts for the robbers. Several suspects have been questions, but the arrests of today are regarded as the most important.

LADY BECK IS NOW IMPROVING

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Lady Beck, who was operated on at the General Hospital yesterday afternoon for an abdominal ailment, was reported in a bulletin today to be in a "fairly satisfactory" condition.

That her condition for the present is serious, was intimated earlier in the day, but Sir Adam stated that her doctors were satisfied with the improvement shown since last night.

BANK ROBBERS SCARED THROW RIFLES AWAY

Five Manitoba Bandits With $60,000 Yield To Officers.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 12.—The Bank of Hochelaga at Elie, 30 miles west of here, was robbed of between $40,000 and $60,000 this afternoon by five heavily-armed bandits, who escaped towards Winnipeg in a motor car, but subsequently were captured and brought to Winnipeg this evening, after they "got scared and threw their rifles away," according to the police officers who effected their arrest. No shots were fired, it was stated.

The men gave the names of Henry Quackenbush, James Redding, Sydney Roberts, George J. Adams and Clarence W. Adams. The robbers held up the manager of the branch and his two clerks, both girls, and chloroformed them to permit of an easy escape. All three will recover.

The safe was rifled, and the bandits succeeded in getting out of town before the alarm was given. The provincial police were notified in a few minutes, and officers were sent out in all directions. Two miles and a half from Elie the bandits' car broke down, and by that time the villagers were in pursuit. The bandits took to their heels through the countryside, carrying two big satchels filled with bank-notes.

PROMINENT U. S. POLITICIAN DIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, former United States secretary of state, died at his home here tonight after a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Knox was on his way to the dining-room at 6:15 o'clock when he suffered the stroke. He died fifteen minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Senator and Mrs. Knox returned from England only yesterday, where they had spent a vacation during the recent recess of Congress, touring by automobile. The trip seemed to have benefitted the senator, and he had given no indications of failing health.

Mrs. Knox and the senator's secretary, F. W. Martin, were near the senator when he was stricken, and summoned aid, but it was futile.

FINAL SILESIAN PLAN EVOLVED BY LEAGUE

Solution Reached by Council Necessitates New Lines.

GENEVA, Oct. 12.—The council of the League of Nations has reached a final decision on the Upper Silesian question, and has thereby accomplished the greatest task yet set for its determination with greater despatch than many expected.

The solution reached by the council involves a new frontier line, together with certain measures providing for guarantees against the dislocation of existing economic conditions.

The members of the council are confident that this solution is the only possible one, and that it will at the same time roll away one of the dark clouds hovering over Europe, and firmly establish the prestige of the League of Nations.

Dispatch Plan.

The text of the decision will be published simultaneously at Paris, London, Rome and Geneva, as soon as notified to the Berlin and Warsaw Governments.

A courier left for Paris tonight conveying the document to M. Briand, the president of the Supreme Council.

A statement issued by the league tonight says that, confronted by the extreme difficulty of conciliating the ethical and economic elements of the question, the council first of all charged a committee, composed of Belgian, Brazilian, Chinese and Spanish delegates, with the study of the problem. The committee reached the conclusion that a frontier drawn either in accordance with the plebiscite or the economic conditions, without other stipulations, was bound to have unfortunate results.

New Frontier Without Guarantee.

The committee accordingly recommended a new frontier, together with a guarantee against the dislocation of existing economic conditions extending over a period long enough to permit the region to adapt itself as completely and effectively as possible to the new economic situation.

The committee also requested experts to study general measures, the application of which would assure continuity of the economic life of Upper Silesia and reduce to a minimum the difficulties during the period of change.

The economic stipulations formulated by the experts provide for the application over a fixed period, in some cases extending to fifteen years, of a series of arrangements respecting railroads and water and electrical supplies, as well as the suppression of custom dues on numerous articles, including wine and coal and the maintenance of the German mark as legal currency in the regions ceded to Poland.

The council recommends the adoptions of these plans, together with that of a guarantee relative to political minorities, believing the latter to be an essential complement to the establishment of a political frontier.

A Gentle Way to End Corns

The Modern Method—Scientific, Easy, Quick and Sure

THE old corn enders were harsh, crude and uncertain. They came into disrepute.

Then a world-famed laboratory created a new method, and millions have adopted it.

The new way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and soon the whole corn loosens and comes out.

To pare a corn and keep it now is folly. Stop it the moment it appears. Remove it in this gentle way.

Watch one corn go when Blue-jay is applied. You will let it deal with all corns after that.

LONDON'S FIRE CHIEF APPEALS TO CITIZENS

"To you men who smoke cigarettes I make a special appeal---Be careful where you throw the 'butts,' for more than half the fires today are traced to this source."---CHIEF AITKEN

Extracts From the Fire Bylaw.

48. (1) That the reels, engines and vehicles of the fire department of the City of London shall have the right of way on the streets and highways in the said city while proceeding to a fire, or answering a fire alarm call.

49. (1) No person shall, within the city, place, keep or deposit ashes in wooden receptacles, or within twenty-five feet of a house or building, unless the same are contained in some safe depository constructed of brick, stone, or other incombustible material.

(2) No person shall, within the city, keep in a cellar, basement or area under any sidewalk, any waste paper, straw, shavings, lumber or other combustible material for a longer period than twenty-four hours; provided, however, that this sub-section shall not apply to the stock-in-trade or merchandise of any person within the city.

51. Any person convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of this bylaw shall forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the convicting magistrate, a penalty not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars for each offance, exclusive of costs.

$64,874,935 Worth of Property Destroyed By Fire During the Last Five Years In Ontario Alone

The average fire loss in Ontario for the last three years has exceeded one million dollars per month, a per capita of $5 for every man, woman and child in the province.

EXTRACT FROM GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S PROCLAMATION

It is shown by authoritative statistics that the amount of the average annual loss of insurable property by fire in Canada exceeds twenty-six million dollars and that in addition to this recorded loss of our developed resources there is a tremendous unappraised loss from forest fires.

It is shown by reliable statistics that at least 80 per cent of the fires which occur originate either directly or indirectly through inexcusable ignorance and neglect and are therefore preventable, and that the exercise of reasonable prudence and proper carefulness on the part of responsible individuals would reduce losses by fire in Canada to the comparatively insignificant proportions of losses in other countries.

Economic and humanitarian considerations imperatively demand that human life and material resources in Canada be so far as possible conserved in order that the national prosperity may be maintained and that the general welfare of the people may be measurably increased.

It is desirable that the attention of the public be directed to the extent and underlying causes of the preventable loss of life and property by fire and to the best and most practicable means for its control and that a specific period of the year be set apart and properly designated for the dissemination of such information.

Now know ye that we, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council of Canada, have thought fit to appoint and do appoint the week commencing Sunday, the ninth day of October, and ending on Saturday, the fifteenth day of October, in this present year as "Fire Prevention Week."

Perhaps It May Be Your Place Next!

Better make an inspection of your home today—

FIREMEN PARADES PREVENTION WEEK

Citizens Are Asked To Reduce Fire Hazard.

FREE CITY OF DANGER

Civic Officials To Take Part in Campaign.

A thorough inspection of all homes, stores and other buildings and the removal of all rubbish is the request made to Londoners by Chief Aitken in connection with fire prevention week, which begins next Sunday. The chief is making special preparations to bring the attention of citizens to the prevention campaign and is requesting that his men be given every assistance to make London as free from fire danger as possible.

The chief intimated that the significance of prevention week would be brought to the citizens by means of parades of the city's fire-fighting apparatus. In addition to this the members of the department will make a thorough inspection of the business section of the city. Proprietors, hotels, hospitals and asylum will receive a thorough inspection and recommendations made to perfect safety in case of fire.

Fire Prevention Week has become a national institution and the dates were announced in a proclamation in a special edition of the Canada Gazette. The date from October 9 to October 15 was set by order-in-council.

A special appeal is made to the children in Canada to reduce the fire hazard in Canada. Fire drills for school children and factory employees are recommended with special instructions to teachers and the distribution of appropriate literature to the pupils. Boy Scout leaders are asked to lend their aid by giving instructions to their troops as to the best means of co-operating with fire departments in the extinguishing, as well as the prevention of fires.

It is pointed out that fire prevention is of national importance in the safeguarding of life and property. Special regulations are being issued for the prevention of forest fires to be studied by those in lumber camps and by hunters and settlers.

Essay Competition

Prizes for the best essays on "Prevention of Fire in Home and Factory," will be offered to pupils in Grades III and IV. Ask your teacher for particulars.

BASEBALL and LATE SPORTING NEWS

GIANTS SHOW WAY FOR FIRST TIME SINCE THE SERIES BEGAN

SNYDER'S TWO-BAGGER GAVE DOUGLAS SECOND WIN OVER CARL MAYS.

Snappiest and Tensest Game of Series Held Up by Second Duel Between "Shufflin' " Phil and Carl—Ward's Bobble Provided Opening For Giants.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Frank Snyder, the Giant's bulky catcher, shot one of Carl Mays' underhand twisters into left centre field for a two-base hit in the seventh inning at the Polo Ground this afternoon, and thereby sent home the tally that won the seventh game of the world's series for the New York National League champions.

The Giants, by winning this contest from the Yanks, 2 runs to 1, went for the first time into the lead in the world's championship race, making the count stand:

	Won.	Lost.
Nationals	4	3
Americans	3	4

The McGrawmen need but one more victory to give them the series and the big end of the money. If the Yanks win tomorrow and a ninth game is necessary, the Giants will be the home team, the Yankees batting first. This was decided in the clubhouse at the Polo Grounds late this afternoon, Commissioner Landis tossing a coin and President Stoneham of the Giants called the turn.

A Worthy Game.

Today's game, probably the best played, and certainly the snappiest and tensest in the series, was one worthy of the two pennant-winning clubs. It was witnessed by a holiday crowd of 36,503 persons, a crowd which was by all odds the most demonstrative of all the great throngs which have gathered for these games. It seemed almost as if the roar that greeted "Chick" Fewster, the Yankee lead-off man, again batter, the substituting for the disabled "Babe" Ruth, when he stepped to the plate in the first inning, was continued without pause until Phil Douglas of the Giants, tossed out Wally Schang to end the first out in the ninth inning. One side or the other of the partisanly-divided crowd either found occasion to cheer or took the occasion regardless.

Once more, and for the third time, it was a case of Douglas against Mays, and for the second time the verdict went to Douglas. "Shufflin" Phil pitched masterful ball, settling down after a somewhat uncertain time of it for the first two innings, in the second of which the Yankees scored their only tally, and either turning the American Leaguers back in order or skillfully foiling their valiant attempts to put another run across the plate. He was aided by wonderful support by his Giant team-mates, not a fielding misplay being made on the Nationals' side.

Mays Steadier of Two.

On the other hand, Carl Mays, while the loser, has to be given credit for an equally notable if less successful performance on the mound. The blond Missourian was steadier than Douglas, not issuing a pass, and allowing but six hits to eight for his opponent. But for a slip, most unfortunate for Mays, on the part of Ward in the seventh inning, the game might easily have gone into extra innings with the score tied, one to one. The Yankee second baseman's error proved the real "break" in the game, putting on base the runner who shortly afterward scored the winning tally. The usually reliable Ward, who has been notably busy around second base all through the series, this time let a grounder by Rawlings get away from him after two Giants had been retired in the seventh inning. Aaron recovered the ball and made a quick throw to Pipp, but was just too late.

The play on Rawlings, cleanly made, of course, would have retired the side. But Ward's bobble provided an opening of which the Giants were quick to take advantage. Frank Snyder stepped to the plate, glanced over at numbered confidently up to the plate and smote the first ball pitched to him into the right field for two bases. Rawlings winged his way around the bases as Miller and Fewster scrambled for the ball, but before it could be relayed in Rawlings was across the plate with what proved to be the winning counter. The Giant rooters knew no limit in their enthusiasm, and it was minutes before the noise and roars subsided, as Mays put on steam and fanned Douglas for the third out.

A Running Start.

The game was from the very start a nip-and-tuck affair. The second man up on each team, Peckinpaugh for the Yanks, and Bancroft for the Giants, hit for two bases in the first inning, but both were left marooned on the bases.

Then in the second the Yanks broke the ice and sent a run across. Pipp, the first man up, slashed a double to left. Ward then stepped in, and with a neat sacrifice advanced the lanky first-sacker to third. Mike McNally, next up, proved the right man in the right spot. With the infield drawn in he singled sharply to right and Pipp tallied.

Knotted Until the Seventh.

McNally, whose hit brought in the Yanks' only run, injured his right shoulder in sliding for second base when he was forced there in the second inning. When the Yanks took their place in the field in the third inning, Frank Baker, the veteran third-sacker, took up the duty of guarding the "hot corner" Baker, with little to do in the field, got into the limelight twice on the offensive. The Yankees had been able to do nothing effective with Douglas after the second, but threatened seriously with two men out in the seventh, Baker contributing a hit here which Schang followed by another safety. Both men were left, however, when Mays grounded out.

In the final innings, with the Yankees needing one run to tie, the first two men were easy outs. The last chance lay with Baker. Frank, as he stepped to the plate, glanced over at the right field stands, where, in former years home-run hits had badly damaged or ruined Giant chances for a world's championship, and he seemed to be gauging the distance. And then he hit the ball. It was a hard blow, but not of the home-run variety. It shot through Kelly at first for a single.

Hope, though faint, sprang anew in the Yanks' breasts. Al Devormer, fleet of foot, was put into action to run for Baker. It was up to Wally Schang, but the plucky backstop, though he tried hard, did not have the necessary hit in his system. He fouled off one, and then hit to Douglas, and the game was over.

Ruth's Physician Says Arm Improving.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—"Babe" Ruth's arm is improving steadily, his personal physician, Dr. George King, said tonight, but the chances of his playing ball again this season are as remote as they were two days ago. So, Ruth will continue to occupy his seat among the spectators at the world's series.

LEITCH GIRLS OUT OF BERTHELLYN CUP PLAY

Both English Golfers Eliminated in First Round.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 12.—Miss Cecil Leitch, British, French and Canadian women's golf champion, was defeated today in the first round of match play for the Berthellyn Cup at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, by Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., one up.

Miss Collett outdrove Miss Leitch at nearly every hole, and her iron shots were more accurate. Miss Edith Leitch, sister of Miss Cecil, also was eliminated in the first round, being defeated by Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York three up and one to play.

Mrs. Gavin's card of 81 was a new woman's record for the course.

JOCKEY FRANK PORETTO IS FATALLY INJURED

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.— Jockey Frank Poretto of New Orleans suffered fatal injuries during a race on the opening day of the fall meeting at Churchill Downs here today. Poretto's mount was caught in a jam with seven other horses and stumbled and fell with his rider. Poretto was taken unconscious to the track hospital, where he died. His skull was fractured.

Poretto was about 20 years old and was under contract to ride for Mose Goldblatt of Cincinnati.

JOCKEYS SUSPENDED.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—Two widely-known jockeys, L. Lyke and M. Garner, were suspended for the remainder of the season by the stewards at Churchill Downs today for rough riding. Lyke is under contract to E. R. Bradley, and Garner to former United States Senator Johnson N. Camden.

YANKEE FAILS TO LOWER RECORD

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Joie Ray of the Illinois Athletic Club of Chicago failed today in his attempt to lower the mile record, owing perhaps to the poor condition of the track. He did the distance in 4:35 3-5. A stiff wind was blowing down the track, which impeded the runner in the back stretch. Ray was paced by four Toronto runners. He received a great reception from the spectators for his splendid showing staged as a feature of the nineteenth annual field day of the University of Toronto.

LORD CHANCELLOR GIVES COUNCILLORS LIBERTY

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Viscount Birkenhead, lord chancellor, today ordered the release from Brixton Prison of the councillors of the Borough of Poplar, whose recent arrest grew out of a refusal to comply with custom tax provisions of the London County Council.

The councillors were released after they had signified a desire to get together to endeavor to solve Poplar's financial difficulties. They disclaimed any desire to treat the high court disrespectfully by their refusal to comply with its orders to raise the tax rates in accordance with the London County Council's ruling.

JUDGE ADMITS TROTZKY AS NAME IS HANDICAP

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 12.—The name Trotzky is a handicap no United States citizen should be compelled to labor under, County Judge Watson said today. He permitted Benjamin Trotzky to change his name to Benjamin Travers.

"I have been fighting against the name of Trotzky ever since that fool in Europe started things," the applicant —a butcher—told Judge Watson. "Customers come to my place of business, look at my window and then pass on because of the name. I have been referred to as a relative of that man and I'm sick and tired of it and want it changed."

UMP GETS SANDWICH, DUSTS PLATE

BY RING W. LARDNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Tomorrow may wind it up, but if it don't the question will arise as to where to play the ninth and deciding game. The Giant and Yankee owners are planning to play it on the Polo Grounds, but the rules say, or at least they used to say, that the odd contest must be played on a neutral field. In behalf of the chamber of commerce, I wish to point out some of the advantages of Great Neck. We can furnish you a vacant lot right across the street from the country home of Tad, the cartoonist. They's no diamond marked out on the lot, but they's a couple of goal posts, and the opposing teams has proved that they can kick the ball around if necessary.

Great Neck can be reached both by land and water. It has good drug stores and groceries, a detist, 5 or 6 doctors, a moving picture theatre with matinees Saturday and Sunday, good taxi service, an 18-hole golf course, and plenty of churches. They's a couple of restaurants, but we would be glad to have you come and lunch with us if you don't mind taking what I have nicknamed pot luck. But the main advantage of having this game at Great Neck is that it would do away with the mad scramble for tickets which is bound to come off if the owners persist in staging the battle at the Polo Grounds.

It Aint Fenced.

The lot I refer to aint fenced in, and they aint no seats, so all the difficulties that attend a ticket sale would be did away. If the owners wants to pick up a little loose change to pay r.r. fares and etc they could pass a hat and leave the fans give what they thought it was worth. They's plenty of money in Great Neck, and most of it is there permanently.

Phila Bids.

Other towns that has but in a bid for the game is Philadelphia, South Bend, Ind., and San Francisco. Philadelphia is said to be crazy to see two big league ball clubs in action. South Bend offers a ball park that is right next to a amusement park, where Bob Shawkey, Harry Harper and Fred Toney could enjoy themselves riding on roller coaster. But Miller Huggins is quoted as saying as favoring San Francisco, as the trip would give his pitchers four days' rest. He would prefer Melbourne, but the world's cricket series is being played there this month and November.

The big problem around New York is who will Huggins choose to pitch tomorrow's game. One of the experts asked him tonight, and he just looked at him. Personally I figure that he will stick a lot of names in a hat and draw them out, and if Hoyte's name is fifth one drawed out, that ends the drawing. Manager McGraw will probably start Art Nehf, which will leave him Fred Toney for the first inning Friday.

Hardly Know Them.

Today's game was a quite a contest to the game Tuesday. The pitchers was both so good that you would of thought they belonged to some other club. The Yanks earned their run in the second inning of Pipp's double, Ward's sacrifice and McNally's poke to right. The Giants tied it up in the fourth when Mays tried a slow ball on Irish Meusel with Ross Young on second base. The slow ball was keeping Yom Kippur and didn't work.

For the first time in the series it was a boot that decided the game. Ward, who otherwise has played sweet ball around second base, messed up Rawlings' grounder with two out in the seventh. Then Snyder give the ball a long ride to left center, where it was manhandled and Rawlings had plenty of time to score. It was a tough game for Mays to lose, but it would of been just as tough for Douglas. The both of them pitched better than they knew how. It looks likes all these two boys needs to make them great pitchers is no rest and rotten weather.

The weather was so bad that a big majority of the fans and experts wore overcoats. I didn't wear none, and I would just as lief you didn't ask me why not. I am poor but proud.

Well, friends, whether you are a Giant fan or a Yank fan, they's one thing this series learns you, or at least it has learned me one thing, namely, that a guy named Babe Ruth is some importance to his ball club. We been reading all summer long about the Yankee wrecking crew, which was supposed to mean the whole top side of the batting order. But when you take the Babe out of there, the crew looks kind of wreckless. If the Giants wins this series I wouldn't be surprised if the doctor that ordered the Babe to cease fooling would wake up some morning and find something under his pillow for the wife and kiddies. It was a great day for Mr. McGraw when Babe decided to devote all his time to literature.

Bill Klem was amongst those present at this battle, and visited the scribes' dining-room after the game. They give him a hot roast beef sandwich and he dusted off the plate.

Manufacturers Hockey League May Be Run in Two Sections

The meeting called by "Cap" Graham, convener of the hockey section of the newly-organized A. A. A., will mark the passing of the old Manufacturers' Hockey League in its old form and, according to latest rumors, a big change in the make-up of the circuit.

A number of the clubs which played last year in the old league, which drew forth a good many nicknames for itself during its career, it is said, will not be able to muster teams this year. As many of four may drop out. However, to take the places of these a number of new teams have been mentioned and their representatives will be at tonight's meeting. The league may be run in two sections.

Colorful Past.

The old Manufacturers' League or leagues, for there was a succession of them, had colorful careers, but always provided colorful hockey. The last two years, a little more hockey worked into the color scheme and the result was increased patronage and an increased value of the league as a developer of O. H. A. material.

Whatever the make-up of the new league, it has a good start as a result of the pioneer work already done the past ten years.

New President.

Cap. Graham will step aside this year as prexy, because of his occupancy of the second vice-presidency of the governing body, but will still continue to take a close interest in the organization. A number of men have been mentioned in connection with the vacancy, but most prominently amongst there is Patterson of the Bell Telephone Club, who has been vice-president for several years past.

PETROLEA JUNIOR TWELVE DEFEAT SARNIA KIDS 3--0

PETROLEA, Oct. 12.—The Petrolea Junior O. R. F. U. team this afternoon defeated the fast-going junior team from Sarnia in the second game of the series by a score of 3 to 0.

The Hard Oil kids, under the brainy generalship of their diminutive quarter-back, Len Wilson, proved themselves superior to their opponents in every department. The heavy Sarnia line was helpless against the combined onslaught of the Green and White front line, while on the back division Keck, McVicar, Collins and Dennis outplayed and outshone the Sarnia backs. Perry was the only Sarnia man to live up to press notices, and he is a star always.

The Hard Oils are still seven points down on Sarnia, but hope to overcome this lead in their next two games with the Tunnel Town squad.

Large Attendance.

That Petrolea is still a rugby town was proved by the large crowd of spectators that braved the elements to see the game. The crowd went home well satisfied that once more the Oil Town has a junior team that will take a lot of beating. The team, under the careful guidance of Lew Gleason, the veteran half-back, is rapidly improving, and each one is becoming more like a well-oiled machine.

The line-up:

Sarnia.		Petrolea.
Hillard	F. W.	Collins
Perry	Halves	McVicar
McPhedran	Halves	Keck
McQuire	Halves	Dennis
Manore	Quarter	Wilson
Marquis	Scrim	Steadman

ORIOLES AND COLONELS RENEW STRUGGLE TODAY

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12.—The struggle for the minor league baseball supremacy will be renewed here tomorrow afternoon between the Baltimore Orioles, three time champions of the International League, and the Louisville Colonels, 1921 pennant winners of the American Association.

Each side has won two of the four games played at Louisville. Clear and cool weather is indicated, and in view of the heavy advance sale of seats, a big attendance is expected.

Jack Ogden, who pitched the two winning games at Louisville for Baltimore, is Manager Dunn's selection for tomorrow's mound work, and it is thought that either the veteran left-hander, Nick Cullop, or Ben Tincup will go to the box for the Colonels.

GREY WORTHY ADDS ON ANOTHER VICTORY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 12.—Grey Worthy, owned by Sanford Small of Boston, added another victory to his already long and notably string at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track here this afternoon, when he defeated Periscope, Peter Coley and Sister Bertha in straight heats, capturing the Castleton for a $2,000 purse, the feature of the program.

The 2:13 pace the fourth race on the program, resulted in a four-heat struggle, in which Queen Abbe, after finishing second in the first two heats, came back and captured the third and fourth heats. The first heat went to Tony Mac, while Abbe Dale got the decision in the second.

The other events on the program, the Tennessee for 3-year-old pacers, and the 2:08 trot, went to Pelmar and Peter Daw, making it double on the meeting for the latter. Both won their races in straight heats.

The summaries:

LUCAN FAN AT ISSUE.

He infers that Mr. Stewart has attempted to give baseball, "the cleanest of sports," a black-eye. The letter is not signed, however, therefore it may not be published. In letters to this department, the names of the sender must be signed to the letter, not necessarily for publication, however.

Tech Field Day Slated Today

Mark Off New Track To Beat Weatherman's Vagaries.

Weather permitting, the annual field day of the Technical School will be held this morning and afternoon at Queen's Park. Late last night the track was in such a condition that it was almost impossible to hold it. However, officials have marked off a track space in the auto-parking section of the oval, and will hold the track events on this if the dirt track is not in better condition.

Parade in Afternoon.

The morning will be devoted to preliminary sports, and in the afternoon there will be a parade from the school on Dundas street, starting at 1:30 to Queen's Park, headed by the W. O. R. Brass Band.

A good list of prizes has been selected by the officials in charge of the field day. Major G. Ingram has donated the medal for the senior girls' competition. Junior girls will compete for the James Gray Medal; senior boys for the T. A. McMahen Medal; intermediate boys for the W. N. Manning Medal, and junior boys for the R. Lawson Medal.

FINALS FOR MEN'S DOUBLES HONORS NEXT SATURDAY

Inclement Weather Conditions Cause Postponement on Wednesday.

The finals for the men's doubles tennis championship of Western Ontario, in which J. G. Boucher and Capt. Fenton of this city were to have met Dr. Curry and L. D. Hara of St. Catharines on the Hon. C. S. Hyman's courts yesterday afternoon, were postponed because of the inclement weather conditions. However, if weather permits, the event will be played on the London Hunt and Country Club's courts next Saturday afternoon.

And if weather does not hamper with the mixed doubles and ladies' singles events, these will be completed this afternoon and the finals played next Saturday afternoon.

CITY CAGE LEAGUE ENTRIES CLOSE AT "Y" TONIGHT

Split Schedule Will Be Followed Again This Year.

Entries for the City Basketball League will close on Thursday. Dave Allen, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., stated last night. He also added that he had received a large number of entries so far and there was every possibility of the league enjoying a splendid season.

The scheduled this year will likely be a split one again, breaking off just before Christmas and resuming after the holidays.

"Y" RELAY TEAM TO BE CHOSEN OUT AT TRACK

Dave Allen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., announced last evening that the "Y" relay team that will compete against the Western University and Collegiate Institute teams will be selected after the workout today at noon on Queen's Park track. Five of the "Y's" best runners have qualified so far. The team will be made up from the following athletes: McMillan, A. Bennett, J. Lightfoot, Edward Horlor and Dutton.

THISTLE CLUB STAGING SERIES OF EUCHRE GAMES

Many of the members of the Thistle Club pride themselves on their prowess as euchre players, so between the bowling and curling seasons the executive has decided to give them a chance to show their ability. They are staging a series of weekly tournaments, running until Dec. 16. Prizes are given for the weekly contest, highest season's average and lone hand championships. Friday evenings are the times set for the contests.

WALLACEBURG RINK STILL HOLDS McGIBBON CUP

WALLACEBURG, Oct. 11.—The McGibbon trophy, which was won by W. H. Colwell's rink at Sarnia last week, will remain for the present in Wallaceburg. William Pressley's rink of Sarnia was defeated on the local greens by W. H. Colwell's rink by the score of 17 to 10 last night. The local rink got away to a good start, which they maintained throughout the game. The score was as follows:

Wallaceburg.		Sarnia.
Wm. Hockin		E. Lott
G. E. Norman		Chas. Hughes
J. B. Shaw		C. Land
W. H. Colwell	17	Wm. Pressley	10

St. Marys Meet Senior Champs Saturday.

ST. MARYS, Oct. 12.—The muddle in the senior and intermediate title play-off was cleared up tonight, when Riversides Senior Club accepted the St. Marys suggestion. The first game will take place in Toronto Saturday, twelve men a side being used in accordance with senior rules. The return game will be played in the Stone Town the following Thursday, and ten men a side will be used.

While the changing of the number of players will handicap the Stone Town more than it will the seniors, the locals are confident of a win on Riversides territory Saturday and the series, thus duplicating the feat of Orangeville last year, which won both titles.

Moving pictures of the game will be taken. A large St. Marys contingent will invade the Queen City Saturday.

L.C.I. in Old Test At St. Thomas

Believe They'll Upset Procedure of Past Today.

The Collegiate rugby team was given its final workout Wednesday afternoon before the game with the St. Thomas C. I. squad in the Railroad City this afternoon.

Both the girls' basketball and indoor baseball teams had a hard practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for their clash with the St. Thomas fair ones. The Basketball team is strengthened considerably this year and a good game is expected.

Picks Team.

Series Receipts

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A new world's series record for receipts was made today when the grand total to date reached $804,781. This is $82,367 more than the previous high mark made in the series between the Cincinnati Nationals and the Chicago Americans in 1919.

Should the Yankees win tomorrow's game and force the series into the ninth and final game, the total receipts undoubtedly will pass the million dollar mark. As the receipts stand tonight the total for the seven games is almost twelve times the aggregate collected in the 1905 series between the Giants and Philadelphia Athletics, the first series played under the rules of the National Commission.

Another capacity crowd witnessed today's game. The official attendance was given as 36,503, and the gate receipts $118,974. Of this sum the advisory board, which succeeded the National Commission, appropriates $17,846.10, while the balance goes to the club owners. The attendance and gate receipts fell a trifle short of Friday's record for the series, there being six paid admissions less and a difference of $33, the third game having attracted 36,509 spectators, who paid $119,007 to see the Giants score their initial victory over the Yankees.

"U" FIELD DAY DEPENDS ON WEATHER OF TODAY

Queen's Park Track Is Too Heavy to Hold Events.

If the Queen's Park race track does not dry up before this evening, the Western University field day, which is scheduled for Friday, will be postponed, according to information given out last night by Prof. Blake, director of athletics at the "U." A meeting of the field day committee was held Wednesday night, and this course was decided best.

YUTOI WINS RACE.

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 12.—The Cesarwitch stakes of $1,000 with extras, was won here today by Mrs. Burnley's Yutoi. Mrs. Fred Hardy's Charleville was second, and Lord Derby's Harrier, third. Seventeen horses ran.

BABE RUTH PICKED TO MANAGE YANKS

Miller Huggins Fired, Is Report; Bambino Slated Leader.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—For the second time in the history of a world's series the doom of the manager of one of the contending teams has been sealed.

Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, was officially told last week that his services would not be needed after the series was disposed of.

George Herman Ruth, who, as Bambino, king of swat, is more or less well known to the nation, is slated as a possible successor to Huggins.

The placing of Huggins on the managerial skidway is similar to the action taken in the case of Jake Stahl, former manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Stahl's death knell as leader of the Beantown outfit was sounded during the 1912 world's series with the Giants, but for a different reason than that appertaining to the release of Huggins.

It is the consensus of opinion that Huggins has failed flatly as a manager of the Yankees, even though the team came through to victory in the American League.

It was not the guidance of the Miller that carried the Yanks over the top, but only the sheer power exerted on its own initiative. Just what Huggins will do is uncertain. There is a possibility, however, that he will next season be seen in the National instead of the American League, with St. Louis as his stamping ground.

JUGO-SLAV RULER NOT TO RENOUNCE THRONE

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Jugo-Slav legation today reaffirmed the status of King Alexander as the ruler of Jugo-Slavia, in succession to the late King Peter, and made formal denial of reports that Alexander had abdicated or would renounce the throne. The official statement says the king "does not think of abdicating in favor of his brother George." Many conflicting reports as to the real cause of Alexander's long stay in Paris have been current. One of these is to the effect that he is devoted to a young French woman who would not be acceptable as queen of the Jugo-Slavs. Another version is that this acquaintance, although pursued earnestly up to a few days ago, has been abandoned, and that political considerations are causing Alexander to hesitate as to which course ought to be taken.

CLAIM LEADERS DECEIVED MOORS

MADRID, Oct. 12.—A dispatch to El Sol from Melilla reports that Moroccans who came to the Spanish camp to offer submission brought with them the breech-blocks of three cannon which formerly had been emplaced at Gourougou.

They said Abd-el-Krin, the leader of the tribesmen, had deceived them concerning the strength of Spain, and at the same time had asserted that there had been a revolution in Spain, and that Spain would be invaded.

The Moroccans told the correspondent that Abd-el-Krin, together with the Beni-Urraguel tribesmen and the Riffians, are utterly demoralized by recent defeats.

Wabash

WABASH, Oct. 12.—A rather light shipment of hogs took place this week from the Thamesville stockyards, the price paid being $8.75 per cwt., which is a decrease of 25c per cwt. on last week's price.

The late fruits such as pears and quinces have all been disposed of now at $2 a bushel each.

Apples are quite scarce, there being only two good orchards in the district. These are owned by Malcolm McDonald and Edgar Meredith. Mr. Meredith's orchard has been leased by Mr. Mahler, Dresden.

* * *

Leo Hooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hooper of Dresden, conducted services on Sunday last in the Wabash Methodist Church, during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hazelwood, who is holidaying in St. Marys. Mr. Hooper intends devoting his life to the ministry.

De'aware

DELAWARE, Oct. 12.—The death took place last week in St. Joseph's Hospital of Lewis Vail, an old and highly respected resident of Delaware. Mr. Vail was born on North street, Westminster township, over 81 years ago, where he lived until ten years of age, when his parents moved to what was then called the "Vail" farm, on the first concession of Delaware, now known as the "Ryckman" farm. From there he moved to a farm near Delaware village which today stands as a fitting remembrance, due to the beautifully arranged grounds, planned and planted by Mr. Vail. After living here for 35 years, he retired, moving to the village, and as at his previous home his great love for flowers was manifested, his gardens being a favorite haunt for his friends and a delightful scene for passersby. Last year deceased sold his home and previous to his death lived with his daughter, Mrs. Fred Owen.

Mr. Vail was a pioneer member of the Methodist Church, and though he had long since passed the allotted threescor and ten years, was very active until two weeks ago, when the fatal disease developed.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Friday at 2:15 o'clock. Services were held in the Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hopper, a former pastor, Rev. Mr. McVitty, and Rev. Mr. Rose of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Vail is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Fred Owen, two sisters, Mrs. Glennie of Delaware, and Miss Harriet Vail of Battle Creek, and two brothers, George of London, and John of Mount Brydges.

MATTHEW HASTIE DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

HARRISTON, Oct. 12.—Gloom was cast over this town this afternoon when the news of the death of one of Harriston's most prominent citizens in the person of Matthew Hastie, was announced. Deceased, who has been a resident here for upwards of 30 years, retired from active business some five years ago. He has not been enjoying good health for some time. He is survived by his widow, four sons and two daughters, Mrs. A. J. Harford and Miss Annie Hastie, and William, Graham, Alexander and John. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Thornda'e

THORNDALE, Oct. 12.—A large and appreciative audience assembled in the auditorium of the Methodist Church on Monday evening to hear a musical program of superior type given by Miss M. Myrtle Bilyea, Thorndale, pupil of Charles Percy, London Conservatory of Music, assisted by several well-known London artists. The following vocal numbers were rendered by Miss Bilyea: "Winds in the Trees," Thomas; "Angels Guard Thee," Godard; "Fairy Pipers," Brewer; "Chrysanthemum," Salter; "Fairy Lullaby," Beach; "Oh, Heart of Mine," H. Clough Leighter.

The numbers of W. Short, tenor and violinist, of London were well received. Miss U. Kennedy, soloist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, favored the audience with several piano solos.

Miss Topley-Thomas, director of dramatic art, oratory and elocution, London, rendered several readings, which splendidly portrayed typical characters of Ireland. Charles Percy of London acted as accompanist.

Centralia

CENTRALIA, Oct. 12. — Colder weather has increased the live poultry receipts, 8,000 pounds having been shipped from here last week to Toronto, where one firm takes an average of 1,500 pounds daily. Prices are 25 per cent lower than they were a year ago. There are no turkeys coming in, and very few will be marketed before December, when most of them will be dressed. Only one-fourth the number of turkeys are raised in this district now compared with 20 to 30 years ago, and the prices paid at that time were considerably lower. In a large portion of Western Ontario from 1887 to 1895 the farmers were paid seven cents to ten cents a pound for dressed turkeys, and in the years 1895 to 1902 the prices were 10 cents to 13 cents. The dealers paid a little more in the Smith Falls district, owing to the quality there being better. In November and December of 1895 a produce company, then doing business at Winnipeg and with branches at the coast, shipped sixteen cars of dressed poultry to the west. It consisted of 60 per cent of turkeys and the balance geese, ducks and chickens. Thirteen cars of the entire lot were loaded at this station, and one car each were from Smiths Falls, Perth and Irish Creek.

The hog market dropped another fifty cents this week, $8.50 per hundred being paid to the farmers for a-half carload shipped to one of the packing houses at Toronto. Some of the farmers say they can make just as much profit out of hogs now as they could when the market was higher, because feed is cheaper.

Tilbury

TILBURY, Oct. 12.—Inspector Mills of the continuation schools branch of the department of education, paid an official visit to the local school this week.

* * *

Interesting anniversary services drew large congregations to the Methodist Church on Sunday morning and evening. Both discourses were delivered by the pastor, Rev. Geo. Kersey, and were deeply impressive. The choir rendered excellent anthems and offertory numbers consisted of a fine solo by Mr. Dickson and a quartet by Messrs. Dickson and Wallace, Mrs. Reid and Mrs. W. Scriven. The weeknight event of the anniversary took the form of a pie-social and literary and musical program, both of which were thoroughly enjoyed.

The Chick Contracting Co. have completed the pavement on Canal street from the easterly limit of the town to Queen street, and this section will be opened for public travel in about two weeks. If the weather turns favorable the section of this street from Quebec street to the westerly limit of the town will be finished in about ten days.

Kintore

KINTORE, Oct. 12.—The anniversary services of the Brown's appointment of the Kintore Methodist Circuit was held on Sunday and Monday. On Sunday two capacity congregations filled the church to hear Rev. Edgar J. Roulston of Staffa. On Monday evening a fowl supper was served by the ladies of the church followed by an excellent program, among those taking part were: Capt. Pequegnat, H. Lightfoot of Stratford, and Mr. Gordon Butt, tenor. The elocutionist was Miss McCully of St. Marys. Rev. Eric Anderson gave an address. The proceeds of the evening exceeded $127.

The jubilee anniversary services of the Kintore Presbyterian Church were held on Sunday and Monday last. Rev. R. G. McKay of Dresden was the special speaker. On Monday evening a fowl supper and concert was given, consisting of the Adanac Quartet of Toronto and Miss G. Anthistle of London, reader.

Kerwood

KERWOOD, Oct. 12.—The district delegates for West Middlesex Women's Institute convention, London, are Mrs. McFee of Appin, Mrs. Ed. de Gex of Kerwood.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Patterson, who died on Thursday morning after a lingering illness, took place from the family residence, 6th Line, West, on Saturday at 2:30, and was very largely attended. After a short service at the house the remains were taken to St. James' Church, where service was held. Rev. Dehil and Rev. Irwin officiated, and interment was made in St. James' Cemetery. She is survived by her husband, five sons and one daughter, Foster, William and Isaac of Alvinston; Clarence, who resides on the 6th Line, and Thomas and Margaret, at home; her aged mother, Mrs. Foster, who is now in her 103rd year, two brothers, Thomas and Isaac, and one sister, Mrs. John Smith of Alvinston.

LOWER PRICES RULE THURSDAY'S MARKET

Farmers Bring Much Produce to Market When Rain Hinders Farm Work.

There was a fair attendance at the local market on Thursday. The heavy rains in the past week have kept the farmers from working in the fields, and as a result they have been bringing large quantities of produce to the market. Prices as a rule have dropped considerably.

Hay, which has been selling around $20 a ton during the past two weeks, dropped to $16 and $18 on Thursday. One load of rather poor quality sold for $13 a ton.

Wheat sold at $1 10@1 15 per bushel. Only those dealers who buy in small quantities offered $1 15.

Potatoes were quoted at $1 50 per bushel and $2@2 25 per bag. The demand was fair.

Tomatoes were lower, selling at 20c a basket. The demand was good.

A shipment of live hogs on Wednesday brought $8 75 per cwt.

GRAIN FUTURES

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Material declines took place in the wheat market today, largely as a consequence of price breaks in the northwest when the Chicago exchange was closed. A bearish construction that in some quarters was put upon remarks by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace tended also to depress values. Furthermore, a new low price record for German marks was generally regarded as a handicap on grain values. Wheat opened 1¼c to 2¼c lower, scored a moderate rally, and then sagged again.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat. Corn, after starting ¾c to 2c lower, underwent a slight additional sag. Initial prices for oats were ¼c to ⅝ down, and there were other losses later.

MONTREAL STOCKS

Montreal, Oct. 13.—The market was quiet during the early trading this morning, and the general tone was not strong. Brompton was down ¼ point at 20¾, while Breweries, which was a feature yesterday, weakened ⅞ to 53⅞.

Nothing featured this morning's session, and the close was uninteresting. Abitibi and Brazilian were both traded in slightly at 31½ and 24 respectively. Brompton lost another ½ and closed at 20¼. Laurentide closed at 71¼, ¾ below its yesterday's closing. Breweries did not vary from its opening figure.

BANK OF ENGLAND

London, Oct. 13.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Keora, for which there was a big demand yesterday, eased off this morning on the Standard Mining Exchange, and closed at 14½ with 4,000 shares. Holly, at 740, experienced a drop of ten points from yesterday's close, while McIntyre fell back one point to 193. There was no change in Teck Hughes and Dome Mines. Schumacher and V. N. T. were steady at 23 and 17½ respectively. Sales totalled 32,465. In the silvers, Larose gained ½ point, while Beaver and McKinley Darragh dropped a half.

London, Oct. 13.—Canadian Press Cable.—The Financial Times, commenting on the new Queensland loan, which was placed in the United States, points out that the terms are onerous, working out at seven and a quarter per cent as the charges reduce the issue price to 95. This compares with the percentage of a trifle over 6 per cent paid in the London market by Queensland's sister states. The Financial Times reminds Premier Theodore of Queensland that while he secured the accommodation from the United States in dollars the interest also is payable in dollars which have to be purchased in sterling.

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 12.—Between 75 and 80 persons attended the citizens' meeting in the council chamber this evening under the auspices of the South Oxford U. F. O. Mr. M. L. Haley, the prospective candidate, acted as chairman, and after stating that the U. F. O. executive had decided to allow proportional representation of delegates from Tillsonburg to attend the convention at Mount Elgin on Oct. 25, introduced the following speakers, who outlined the policy of the U. F. O.: A. T. Walker, M.P.P. for South Oxford, Mr. Lethbridge, M.P.P. for Middlesex; Mr. Staples of Toronto, and several others.

Forging Ahead
Alone practically among industries, deflation has worked to the benefit of Water Power Companies.

Their business is on a cash basis, there were no inventories to write down, no labour troubles or transportation problems, no price adjustments to make. The result has been that costs of operation have decreased, while earnings are showing a steady increase.
A study of Hydro-Electric companies convinces us that their securities represent one of the most desirable forms of investment.

HER OLD SKIRT DYED, MADE BABY A PRETTY COAT
Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hanging, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.

ACUTE ECZEMA ON BABY'S HEAD
Face, Neck, Arms. Terrible Sight. Itched And Burned. Cuticura Heals.
"Baby was two months old when I noticed little pimples on her head. They kept getting worse and spread till her head, face, neck and arms were one mass of eruptions, burning, itching, and bleeding. I was told it was acute eczema. I had to sew up her arms and legs in linen. She was a terrible sight. For one year I had no rest night or day.
"We got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In less than two weeks she began to mend and in a few months she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Boorman, 243 McDonnell St., Peterboro, Ont., April 19, 1919.
Stop the use of all doubtful soaps. Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes.
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c. Sold throughout the Dominion. Canadian Depot: Lymans, Limited, St. Paul St., Montreal.

Predestined to Succeed
NEARLY one million people live in Montreal and suburbs. More travellers and tourists pass through, and stay there, in one month, than stay in any other Canadian city in six months. It is also the coming Convention City of Canada.
Yet there are less fireproof hotel bedrooms in Montreal than in one hotel—The Biltmore—New York. Less than one thousand, in fact, whereas Cleveland has 5,000, Buffalo 2,000, although neither Buffalo nor Cleveland are ocean ports or railroad terminals.
For these reasons "The Mount Royal" Hotel is predestined to succeed. Traffic is already enormous—more is coming. It only remains to provide for it.
Consider, too, the Directorate. Do you think fifteen outstanding successful business men would associate themselves with an hotel enterprise doubtful of success? Certainly not!
Then, remember, that the Hotel will be operated by the United Hotels Company of America. This company has made a financial success of every hotel it has managed. It turned the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, from a losing proposition into a profitable enterprise for investors.
Consider these facts, therefore, in the light of making an investment in the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, at par and interest, carrying a 30% Common Stock Bonus.
For our part we have thoroughly investigated every phase of this investment and unreservedly recommend it.
Every man or woman who has idle money, or money earning 3% or 4%, should consider at once the advantages that will accrue from investing in these 8% Convertible Debentures.
In short, you may invest in the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, with the assurance that your money is safe—your 8% interest certain and your prospects good for a substantial profit from your Common Stock Bonus.
The price of the Debentures is par and interest, carrying a 30% Common Stock Bonus. Send your order now or write for full particulars. Address:

STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN TELLS ON TORY CHIEF

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—(By Canadian Press.)—Despite the fact that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's Ontario itinerary calls for 22 speeches within a fortnight, requests are pouring in upon Government headquarters for the prime minister's appearance at nearly every point of importance between Ottawa and Port Arthur. The itinerary, however, can neither be enlarged or altered.

Owing to the strenuous campaign which Mr. Meighen has carried on in the Maritime Provinces his voice is reported to be showing signs of strain, and Government headquarters state that any enlargement of his speaking engagements in Ontario would be unfair and dangerous. Mr. Meighen, it is said, has delivered twice as many speeches in the East as has Mr. King.

In his Ontario tour, Mr. Meighen will be accompanied in turns by Hon. J. A. Stewart, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Hon. R. B. Bennett and Hon. R. J. Manion. One of the French-Canadian ministers may also accompany him.

BRING BULGARIANS TO TRIAL FOR WAR CRIMES

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 12.—The trial of Bulgarians accused of war crimes opened today in a theatre here which had been specially fitted up for the occasion. The courtroom was crowded to capacity. The accused men include ten former cabinet ministers and three generals. They are charged with high treason in favor of Germany and misappropriation of public funds. The public prosecutor is demanding the death penalty for most of the defendants.

Statesmen and diplomats to the number of 190 have been subpoenaed as witnesses. The judges, who were elected by the people, are simple peasants. They sit on the bench dressed in their picturesque national costumes.

CONSIDERING ST MARYS CALL.

SIMCOE, Oct. 12. — At a congregational meeting in the Presbyterian Church last night a unanimous resolution was passed inviting the pastor, Rev. Duncan C. Foster, who has been extended a call to St. Marys to remain. Frank Reid, town treasurer, was appointed head of a delegation to interview Mr. Foster. The St. Marys call is now being considered by the general synod in Hamilton.

INSPECTS GALT ARMORY.

GALT, Oct. 12.—T. W. Fuller, assistant architect of the department of public works, Ottawa, was in the city and inspected the surroundings of the local armory with a view to paving in front of the building and the lanes alongside. The city is planning to pave the street in front of the building.

The Galt Humane Society is steadily growing and now has a membership of 109. It is doing good work in the city in protecting the dumb animals.

HUGH GUTHRIE TO CARRY TORY FLAG IN S. WELLINGTON

Admits In Address He Expects a Hard Fight.

GUELPH, Oct. 12.—A wide open invitation from Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia, and former Liberal representative for South Wellington, to the electors of the riding, brought several hundred men and women to the city hall this afternoon to hear him speak on the political situation in Canada. Nothing was said in the invitation regarding a nomination, but after hearing Mr. Guthrie's address, he was unanimously nominated as the standard-bearer of the National Liberal and Conservative party in South Wellington for the coming Dominion election. He will be opposed by Sam Carter of Guelph, the Liberal nominee, and James Singer of Nichol Township, who is in the field as the candidate of the U. F. O.-I. L. P. combination. In accepting the nomination Mr. Guthrie stated that he expected a hard fight, and he urged all his supporters to organize at once on a large scale, as he would, of necessity, be away from the riding a great deal during the campaign.

PRINCE EDWARD URGES AID FOR UNEMPLOYED

Asks $5,000,000 Guarantee to Start Empire Exhibition Work at Once.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Emigration and overseas settlement within the empire are said to be among the proposals being considered by the Government for the relief of unemployment. This probably would involve government grants to assist the emigrants, it was said in authoritative quarters here today.

Consultations with the dominions Governments would be necessary, however, before it could be known how the plan would work out, it was explained. Alteration and extension of an export credit scheme is regarded as almost certain to be included in the Government's final proposals.

The Prince of Wales, speaking at a meeting in the Mansion House this afternoon to further the project of a British empire exhibition there in 1923, urged that in order to provide employment for the needy, work on the exhibition be begun immediately. He asked for a guarantee of £1,000,000 from the banking, industrial and commercial interests of the country, who would be benefitted by the exhibition.

LONDON TEACHER DIES IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—Miss Ada Beverley, principal of the George School since 1918, and for 36 years a teacher in Detroit schools, died suddenly at her home, 94 Ferry avenue west, today.

Miss Beverley was born in London, Ont., in 1859. Her first position as a teacher was at the Tappan School.

Her family includes two brothers and two sisters. One brother is a supervisor of English in Detroit schools.

BRANTFORD BARN BURNED.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 12.—Fire tonight destroyed the barn of Wm. Brittain, West Brantford, causing several hundred dollars damage. Three horses were saved.

MAINE SCHOONER WRECKED IN FOG

SOUTHWEST HARBOR, Maine, Oct. 12.—The two-masted schooner, Seth Heyman of Machias, was wrecked today on Baker's Island in a fog, while bound light from Machias to Blue Hill. Capt. Matthews and his crew of two men reached shore safely.

ONTARIO FOR YEAR MAY SHOW $500,000 SURPLUS

TORONTO, Oct. 12—Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, expected to be able to report to the next session of the Ontario Legislature a surplus of half a million dollars for the current year ending this month, it is understood. A deficit of three-quarters of a million was reported for the fiscal year ending in October, 1920. A member of the Government, commenting on the improved position of provincial finances, said that a provincial election in the summer of 1922 was not improbable.

WINCARNIS

IRON | MANGANESE | SODIUM | POTASSIUM | PHOSPHORUS | CALCIUM

Your Body Needs these Mineral Salts

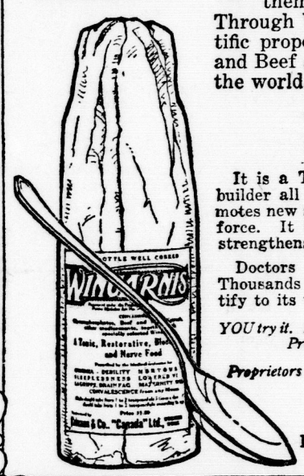

It needs Iron and Manganese for enriching the blood.

It needs Phosphorus for Brain and Nerves.

The Economy of Wincarnis

The ingredients in Wincarnis are highly concentrated. The prescribed dose is one to two tablespoonfuls (not wineglassfuls as in the former preparation.) The New Wincarnis therefore, will go further and be found more economical than other tonics, so-called, requiring a much larger dose.

BUT, alas, your system is using up these mineral salts more quickly than your food and rest is restoring them. You must supply the deficiency. How? Through WINCARNIS, which contains them all in scientific proportions—and which, with the extracts of Malt and Beef and Wine,—forms a tonic which has no equal in the world.

Wincarnis Will Give You New Health and Strength

It is a Tonic, Restorative and Blood-builder all in one. That is why it promotes new strength, new blood, new nerve force. It builds up — it tones up — it strengthens.

This New Wincarnis

A combination of Extract of Beef, Extract of Malt, Iron and Manganese, Glycerophosphates of Calcium Potassium and Sodium with a specially selected wine. A Tonic, Restorative, Blood-builder and Nerve-food. Prescribed by the Medical profession for Anaemia, Debility, Sleeplessness, Brain Fag, Nervousness, Lowered Vitality, La Grippe, Maternity-weakness and Convalescence from any illness.

NEW $33,000 CLUB HOUSE TO BE BUILD ON PELEE ISLAND

Building for Caretakers and Oarsmen Is Nearly Completed.

PELEE ISLAND, Oct. 12.—Plans are being made for a new club house valued at $33,000, to be built at the east end. This building is to be on the water front where there is an excellent beach.

The house for caretakers and oarsmen is already under construction, and will be finished by the end of this week. The building in itself is a large affair, consisting of two large porches, ten bedrooms, upstairs, a kitchen, pantry, bathroom and dining hall. It is situated in a very picturesque spot about 200 yards from the lake.

Plans are also being made to put up several summer cottages.

The guests of the Pelee and Breezy Point club houses had a rough, stormy week for fishing.

GERARD AND MALOUIN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

WINDSOR, Oct. 12.—William Gerard, held by the police as one of the alleged burglars shot by Constable J. E. Bower early Sunday morning, was arraigned before Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court today on a charge of attempting to break and enter a drug store with intent to steal. He pleaded not guilty and elected police court trial.

Alex. Moulin, who was detained by police, was a material witness for the inquest into the death of Alex. Depres, whom the constable shot and killed, was also brought before the magistrate with conspiring with Depres and Gerard to reb the drug store. He also pleaded not guilty, and was remanded one week for trial. Gerard will be tried on the same day.

Application for bail in both cases was made by W. P. Harvie, counsel for the accused, but on the advice of Acting Crown Attorney Whitesde, the magistrate refused to allow the men their freedom.

WOMEN WHO OVERWORK

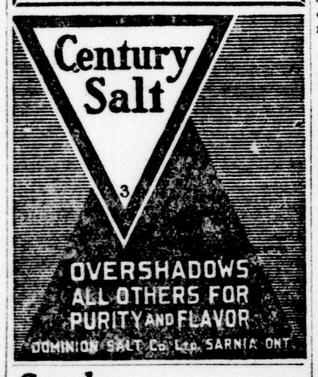

"Man may work from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." In order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well dressed and tidy, women continually overdo and suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they need help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine with specific value which overcomes many of the worst forms of female complaints, as the letters constantly being published in this paper will prove.

ANGLICAN SYNOD PLEDGES AID TO UNITY OF CHURCH

Lower House With But One Dissenting Vote Accepts Lambeth Appeal.

MAKES UNION POSSIBLE

Church For First Time Officially Signifies Willingness To Meet Other Denominations.

HAMILTON, Oct. 12.—With a solitary dissenting vote, the lower house of the Anglican General Synod late this afternoon concurred with the bishops in their acceptance of the Lambeth appeal on unity, and agreed to appoint a joint committee to confer with other churches on church union.

The vote came only after a debate extending over portions of three days, and was remarkable for its near approach to unanimity. By this action the Church of England in Canada for the first time officially signified its willingness to consult with other denominations as to the possibility of coming to some agreement that they may make union possible.

The practical disappearance of all opposition to the sanctioning of a step which marks the epoch-making change in the traditional attitude of the Anglican Church was not the least notable feature of a debate and a decision that will be regarded as momentous in the ecclesiastical history of Canada.

Judge Ermatinger Speaks.

When the question of church union was taken up before the morning adjournment, Judge Ermatinger of St. Thomas did not think further discussion was necessary on the floor of the lower house. In fact, he felt that further talk would only prove a stumbling-block.

In the absence of Dr. Cody of Toronto, who was to have spoken, Rev. Dr. Seager, one of the provosts of Trinity, gave an address.

"The time has come when the lower house must make a decision on the question as embodied in the Lambeth appeal sent from the upper house," he said. "We must say 'yes' or 'no.'"

He stated that the lower house should concur absolutely with the upper house in the acceptance of the appeal.

Rev. Archdeacon Armitage of Halifax believed that no matter what the lower house thought of the appeal, as a whole, there was no doubt but that the principles involved were true to the faith of the church. He paid high tribute to other Protestant denominations with which union was contemplated.

Rev. Mr. Armitage wished there were some Anglican clergyman who possessed the faith and courage of the old pioneer Methodist ministers.

Lower House Concurs.

The two resolutions which received the concurrence of the lower house read as follows:

"1.—The upper house of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada welcomes and adopts 'this appeal to all Christian people' contained in resolution No. 9 of Lambeth conference.

"2.—The upper house accepts the resolution No. 10 of the Lambeth conference as follows:

"The conference recommends to the authorities of the Church of England that they should, in such ways and at such times as they think best, formally invite the authorities of other churches within their areas to confer with them concerning the possibility of taking definite steps to co-operate in a common endeavor, on the lines set forth in the above appeal to restore the unity of the Church of Christ.'

"The Upper House recommends that all formal invitations to the authorities of other churches within the Dominion of Canada, and all conferences that may result therefrom be in charge of a special joint committee to be appointed for this purpose at this session of the General Synod."

Feeling Grows Tense.

As the afternoon debate drew to a close feeling in the House grew tense. Cries of "Question" greeted members of the laity who rose to speak and it was only on the prolocutor pointing out that practically all the speakers had been drawn from the clergy that the debate was prolonged.

On the conclusion of an eloquent address by Hon. Richard Harcourt of Welland, cries of "Vote" became insistent. With the house in deep silence, the prolocutor led in the Lord's Prayer. The putting of the question was greeted with a roar of "ayes," followed by a few almost inaudible "noes."

With the call for a standing vote, the House rose to its feet and joined in the Doxology. The psychological effect of the moment was too much for one or two dissenters in the rear of the house, who rose as the words of the Doxology rolled out in ever-increasing strength.

On the prolocutor calling for the negative vote, Dean E. R. Bartlett, of New Westminster, B.C., rose to his feet and faced the Synod, a lone last ditcher.

HARDING PRESIDENT OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 12.—The chamber of commerce perfected its organization today and elected Frank Harding of Harding Company, its president. The other officers which constitute the committee are:

Rev. J. W. J. Andrew, rector of Trinity Church; C. S. Butler, wholesale and commission merchant; L. H. Dingham, president of the St. Thomas Times-Journal; C. V. Gibson, head of the Canadian business of Armand and president of the Kiwanis Club; C. Stanley Gilbert, Canada Iron Foundries; J. H. Gould, merchant; R. W. Kidner, Monarch Knitting Company; Frank A. Lemon, druggist; Charles Montgomery, master mechanic of the Pere Marquette; W. H. Moody, St. Thomas Packing Company; A. E. Po ford, contractor; Charles E. Raven, merchant; James T. Stewart, St. Thomas Metal Signs; W. F. Thomas, Canada Wood Products Company, and E. A. Horton and George Geddes, president and vice-president respectively of the present board of trade, ex officio. Mr. Gould was chosen secretary of the committee.

The further details of the campaign were explained by means of a chart, Robert A. Crosby showing the various steps which have been taken last week to secure a substantial membership, and that this end of the campaign is only a beginning of the service to be rendered in St. Thomas.

BOY SMOTHERS IN CAVE-IN.

TIMMINS, Ont., Oct. 12.—While working on a sub-contract of the town waterworks, Adrien Savage, aged 17, was caught yesterday in a cave-in and smothered to death.

FARMERS ARE WELL PLEASED WITH RAIN

Have Revived Pasture Crops Throughout the Province.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—The following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture:

Recent rains are welcomed in crop reports from all sections of the province. They will enable fall plowing, which had in some sections been held up, to be completed, and will give new life to the fall pastures and new growth to fall wheat. In some sections, such as the Niagara Peninsula, the rains of the latter part of the week have been welcome, because they broke a drought which has been continuous for several months. Eastern Ontario counties likewise report heaviest rains since the spring.

On the whole farm work is well advanced for the season, and it is noted that farmers have now time to give attention to the improvement of their premises. From such widely separated counties as Huron in the west and Lenox and Addington in the east, come reports of increased attention to the matter of drainage. Farmers are securing a supply of tile, and are also devoting attention to repairing fences and work of this character.

Live Stock Good.

Live stock is reported in very good condition, but markets are still quiet. "Any amount of fair stock (cattle) can be picked up at 4 to 5 cents per pound, and although prices are low, few are stocking for winter feeding," is the report from Brant, which also expresses conditions in many other sections. In some cases farmers are buying for wintering and speculation, but they have difficulty in determining what price they can offer to get out even in the spring.

A good deal of fowl has been shipped through local egg circles in Eastern Ontario, and sold on a graded basis, with good satisfaction to the members.

Fall wheat acreages are reported to be somewhat in excess of last year, but the Hessian fly has put in an appearance in Western Ontario, and one or two fields of wheat have had to be plowed up.

Cheese Is Cheaper.

In the dairy districts the milk flow is being well maintained, but there has been a drop in the price of cheese. Recent prices have been only 14½ to 14¾ cents per pound, a drop of approximately 2 cents in a week.

Turnips and mangels are now being gathered, and there are many reports to the effect that turnips are badly infested with aphids, but mangels will be a fair crop.

The potato crop is now finding its way to the market, and a wide range of prices is reported. In Dufferin and Simcoe Counties prices of $1 to $1.10 per bag are noted, while in Lennox and Frontenac in Eastern Ontario they are being marketed at $2 to $2.50 per bag.

From New Ontario come reports of increased interest in silage on the part of farmers. In Manitoulin a number of new silos are being built, as the corn crop has been exceptionally good, and farmers with silos have plenty of feed for their stock. In Temiskaming considerably more silage than usual has been stored, and it is predicted that next year will show much activity in the erection of silos and the production of silage crops. In Kenora two new silos have gone up this year, and have been filled during the past week with sunflowers. This crop is cut in the field with an ordinary corn binder, and put in the silo the same as corn. Even in a dry year such as the past season the average yield of sunflowers will be about 25 tons to the acre.

CATTLE, HOGS, CROPS AND BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

DUART, Oct. 12.—Fire destroyed the large barn owned by A. G. Gillies at Muirkirk on Saturday night. The barn, along with the season's crop and several head of cattle and hogs, was a complete loss. A threshing machine, owned by D. Lalond, was also destroyed in the blaze. The origin of the fire is unknown and will probably remain a mystery as Mr. Gillies was in the building a short time before and left everything, apparently, quite safe. A neighbor, who discovered the fire, assisted Mr. Gillies in saving the horses from the stalls below. Both men were rather severely scorched about the head and shoulders in their humane, but difficult task.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY DAY.

CAMLACHIE, Oct. 12. — Last Sunday morning the Knox Church Sunday School held their rally day services. Despite the inclement weather a large number of the church members joined the scholars in their service. Addresses were made by Wm. Allan A. E. Salisbury and Rev. Gazley respectively. The choir rendered appropriate selections, and Misses Gladys Lunan and Aggie Paton a duet, in a pleasing manner.

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair
(Toilet Talks.)
A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. Mix fresh as wanted.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA
Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.
Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or grey. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.
While wispy, grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION ON SMITH WILL CASE

Assize Court Adjourns Hearing of Picking Charge,.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 12.—The action brought to annul the last will of the late Charles Smith of Southwold because of its alleged faulty execution was completed this afternoon and Justice Masten will give his decision tomorrow morning.

King vs. Conway and Clark.

James Conway, Toronto, and Frank Clark were put on their trial today for the theft of a sum of money from the person of Mr. Mark, a school teacher in Vienna, at the L. & P. S. station on Dominion Day. After the examination of Mr. Marks, who identified the accused as the men who picked his pocket, the accountant of the M. C. R. at Windsor testified as to the genuiness of half a return ticket from St. Thomas to Detroit, which had been issued to some person on the date of the committing of the offence, the court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

DUART CHURCH CELEBRATES ITS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

DUART, Oct. 12.—The golden jubilee of the Presbyterian Church was celebrated on Sunday and Monday in the church. The building was unable to seat the large attendance, many being turned away, though the aisles and porch were seated to capacity. Rev. Major A. Graham of London preached at both services on Sunday. Rev. J. D. Bannatyne, a former pastor, and Rev. L. E. Gosling also assisted.

An old-fashioned tea meeting was held on Monday night in the basement, followed by a program in the auditorium, which was filled to capacity. Revs. Graham, Argo, Bannatyne, Weir, Leitch and Gosling, assisted by the Harmonic male quartet, and an elocutionist, all from London, furnished the program.

Only four people were present who were in attendance at the opening of the church 50 years ago: Norman C. Ford, Toronto; James Scott, Highgate; Angus Gillanders, Ridgetown, and Mrs. James Buchanan, Clearville. An offering of $400 was requested at the meetings, but a much larger amount was received.

* * *

Mrs. Angus Walker is in St. Joseph's Hospital, London, where she was operated on Sunday for appendicitis. The operation was successful, and the patient at last report was doing well.

* * *

Another of the old boys is visiting Duart, Norman C. Ford, Toronto, who left the vicinity many years ago. Mr. Ford returned to attend the golden jubilee of the Presbyterian Church.

Indigestion or Sour, Gassy Stomach
"Pape's Diapepsin" gives Relief in Five Minutes
"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large, sixty-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

SECOND I. O. O. F. DEGREE TEAM PICKS OFFICERS

Many London Oddfellows Attend Annual Staff Election.

The London second degree staff, I. O. O. F., held its annual business meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening. Captain H. Clements briefly reported last season's work, which was perhaps the most successful in the history of Oddfellowship in London.

Honorary president, W. G. R. Bartram, grand warden of Ontario: president, W. A. McRobert, D.D.G.M.; vice-president, J. Coutts, P.G.; secretary, H. S. Crowe; treasurer, E. Fishleigh; captain, H. Clements.

Property committee: N. Patterson, W. Garfatt, G. Dando.

A large representation of members of various city lodges was present. The second degree team will visit several outside points shortly.

FUNERAL OF C. S. BEATTIE.

A large number of relatives and friends, including several from London, were present at the funeral of the late Charles Stewart Beattie from the family residence, North Dorchester, near Derwent, on Friday last to the Union Cemetery, Dorchester. Rev. H. B. Parnaby, Ph. B. of Belmont, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted an impressive service expressive of the affection and esteem in which deceased was held. Mr. Beattie, who was in his 63rd year, was a progressive farmer, and at one time served as a township councillor. The pall-bearers were six nephews, Lorne, Earl, Arthur, Ralph and Andrew Beattie, and Geo. Ed. Thompson; and the flower bearers his nieces. He is survived by his widow, a son, Ernest, and Miss Maud, at home, Mrs. Stewart of Thamesford, and Mrs. Holland of London.
