This Lodge Fought a Claim

AND GOT LET IN FOR OVER $500—THE I. O. O. F. DISTRICT MEETING.

Blenheim, June 10. — The annual meeting of District No. 2, I. O. O. F., was held in Rondeau lodge room this afternoon, D. D. G. M. Bro. Geo. Baird in the chair, Geo. J. Gibb secretary.

Representatives present were:

Chatham No. 29, Chatham—O. B. Hulin, Wm. Fyfe, R. Wing, Hy. Smith.

Rondeau No. 40, Blenheim—P. Burse, R. L. Gosnell, A. H. Stephenson.

Western City No. 93, Chatham — Amasa Kelly, John Whalen.

Sydenham Valley No. 20, Wallaceburg—John Howard, Geo. McFarlane.

Dresden No. 124, Dresden — J. H. Cousins, W. S. Woolver, R. Eastlake, W. H. Pollock.

Merlin No. 226, Merlin—A. A. Johnson, John H. Pallah.

The D. D. G. M. reported that the duties of his office during the past year had been light; no matters had been referred to him for decision; the only business occupying his attention being the installation of the officers of the various lodges, which had been pleasant to himself.

Representatives of Western City lodge submitted a resolution of said lodge, stating that they believe in the interest of Oddfellowship that the representation to Grand Lodge be so reduced that our capita tax should not exceed 25 cents per annum, and that the district consider the same and refer the matter to the Grand Lodge.—Not entertained.

Representatives from Wallaceburg submitted a statement showing the amount of costs $389.73, sustained by their lodge in defending the suit brought against them by the executors of the Gillard estate, and as the matter involved was something new and affected all the lodges in the district, and having been advised by the Grand Warden that the lodge was not liable, the suit was defended by the lodge, but resulted in their defeat. The district was asked to memoralize Grand Lodge to assume the costs.

Past D. D. G. M. Bro. Gibson, was on motion accorded the privileges of the floor, which were duly acknowledged by him.

Bros. Howard, of Wallaceburg, and Gosnell, of Blenheim, were appointed to draft a resolution memorializing the Grand Lodge to assume the costs of Gillard vs. Sydenham Valley Lodge. The committee submitted the following, which was adopted:

Whereas Sydenham Valley Lodge has been forced to pay the sum of $389.73 for costs in the action Gillard vs. Sydenham Valley Lodge, the facts in connection therewith being as follows: Bro. T. B. Gillard being in his lifetime a member of said lodge died in May, 1895. Subsequently his widow claimed from said lodge the sum of $50 funeral benefit and $150 widows' benefit. This claim was refused by the lodge and the then D. D. G. M. of District No. 2 who decided against paying the sum. Bro. Gillard's widow still insisted on her claim being paid, when it was further referred to the then Grand Master, Bro. W. H. Hoyle, who also decided against the claim. The matter was allowed to stand for some little time when the claim was renewed. The lodge then referred the claim to Bro. Wm. Potter of Chatham, the then D. D. G. M. of District No. 2, who also decided against payment of the claim. The matter was further referred to the then Grand Master Bro. Woodyatt, who placed the same in the hands of a special committee appointed to consider the case of Dale vs. Western Lodge. In the meantime action was brought in the County Court of the County of Kent against the lodge to recover the amount claimed, the case being tried before Judge Bell, of Chatham, in June, 1896. It was decided against the lodge with costs. The District meeting of District No. 2 was held shortly after the above decision was given and they recommended an appeal to the Divisional Court, which appeal was subsequently taken by Sydenham Valley Lodge. At the last session of the Grand Lodge at Sarnia the special committee reported that they considered it a proper one for appeal and that Mr. Shepley be appointed counsel to assist Mr. Lewis, the counsel for the lodge, in the prosecution of the appeal, which recommendation the Grand Lodge acted upon. On the appeal coming up for argument it was dismissed, the case being given against the lodge.

As a result Sydenham Valley Lodge was forced to pay as follows: Claim for funeral benefits, $150; interest on the same, $3.70; plaintiff's costs in county court, $115.59; defendant's costs in county court, $101.77; plaintiff's costs in appeal, $61.04; defendant's costs in appeal, $88.23; expenses of officers of lodge, $13.10; making a total of $393.43.

And whereas the said case and appeal were defended and taken by the said lodge upon the decision and advice of the officers of the grand lodge to whom the same had been referred:

And whereas the issues tried in said action were of importance to every lodge and member within the jurisdiction of this grand lodge:

And whereas, if the said officers had not decided in favor of the lodge and against the payment of said claim, Sydenham Valley Lodge would not have defended said action nor prosecuted said appeal:

Therefore, be it resolved by the district meeting of District No. 2, that the Grand Lodge of Ontario be and are hereby petitioned to re-imburse Sydenham Valley Lodge, the amount of costs, viz.: $389.73, which they have incurred in defending said action and in taking said appeal and in following the decisions of the Grand Lodge and its officers.

Nominations for Grand Officers were called for. Bro. R. Eastlake, of Dresden, was nominated for appointment by Grand Master as his Deputy for this district for the ensuing year.

Bro. W. A. Johnson, of Dresden, was elected secretary.

Dresden was appointed the next place of the annual meeting.

NOT GUILTY

That's What the Bandits say.

BUT THE EVIDENCE AT THE SESSIONS IS SO FAR STRONGLY AGAINST THEM.

The court house was literally packed this morning when Charles W. Moore and Charles Brown, the two alleged desperadoes, were marshalled into the dock to stand trial on a series of serious charges preferred against them.

Both prisoners have grown heavy beards since their incarceration, and were, as has been their custom, neatly and carefully attired. They appeared bright and hopeful and a prompt "not guilty!" was the response from each man to all the indictments.

The prisoners are charged with robbing the grocery store of John McConnell, of shooting with intent at Detectives Alfred F. Campeau and Charles Mahoney, and of carrying weapons dangerous to the public peace.

The following jurymen were sworn in to try the case, the crown challenging one man—John Kennedy, Donald Henderson, George Sterling, John Toll, Andrew J. Tolmie, Archie Montieth, John McPherson, Archie Wemp, Edward Wing, Stephen Lane, James R. Gosnell and John W. McKenzie.

Crown Attorney Wm. Douglas spoke for over an hour in outlining the case to the jury, dealing most scathingly with the prisoners and their actions. During his strong address they sat with immovable faces with eyes steadily upon the faces of the jurymen. Only once did Moore lean over and whisper a word to his confederate.

STORY OF THE HOLD-UP.

Mr. Douglas' address outlined the crown's case and graphically told the story of the robbery. This was the first time, he said, in the criminal annals of Kent county that such an indictment had been read to a prisoner, and it was one of the most daring crimes ever committed. Continuing, the learned counsel told again the story of the hold-up as previously published in The Planet. He stated that the crown would produce evidence of absolute identification, and would also trace the men from Auburn state prison, where they were companions, and had been living together in Detroit.

The warden and physician of the Auburn prison and Detective Lally, of Detroit, will arrive in the Maple City to-day to give evidence.

Messrs. Fraser and Bell are defending the prisoners.

THE EVIDENCE.

John McConnell first took the stand and again told the story of the hold-up and the robbery at his store. He repeated his identification of the $10 and $1 bills, the overcoats and caps.

Mr. Fraser put the witness through a severe cross-examination but didn't shake his testimoney a particle.

Mrs. McConnell, wife of the previous witness, gave corroborative evidence and stood the cross examination without any variation.

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favor. ## GROSS INJUSTICE.

Some of the Best Men on the Constabulary Force Dismissed.

The trouble in the county constabulary is not going to be adjusted by the discharge of a few constables who are really suffering because they have been doing the work of the county. A gross injustice has been done and Mr. Judge Bell and the sessions, whoever the sesions are, may as well understand the iniquity they have perpetrated is not going to meet with public approval. What has been done may suit Major Coogan, but it doesn't suit the views of the people, and both Major Coogan and the judge are simply public employees paid to do what the people specifically require them to do.

Present indications point to a thorough investigation into the workings of the constabulary. Detective Campeau, who has at different times worked with both men, speaks in the highest terms of Constables Illingsworth, Waffle and Constable McGregor, and the latter particularly is very generally looked upon as being the most efficient and trustworthy man on the force in Chatham. These three scalps now dangle at the belt of the high constable who is said by several to have utterly ignored any of his men who were seen in conversation with either Constable McRener or a Planet representative.

That the staff was very badly in need of reorganization is certain; but it would seem that, with the very best of intentions, a mistake had been made in the manner of its reconstruction. Those who should know whereof they speak declare it to be an unwise policy to either take up or drop a man in the constabulary at the request of residents in the neighborhood where he lives and works. An indolent man will be useless, harmless, inoffensive and a general favorite; the officer who does his duty and does it fearlessly and well will make enemies, and for this reason the policy adopted is, or appears to be, unsound both in theory and in practice.

That lack of harmony did very seriously impair the efficiency of the force may be illustrated by a little incident occurring very recently. A thief was wanted. Constable Illingsworth saw him sneaping in Gardiner's livery barn. Not being certain that a warrant was out for his arrest Illingsworth took counsel with McGregor. The latter phoned Blenheim, but the man he wanted, a Mr. Laing, lived about two miles out and was sent for to answer the 'phone. Instead of doing this he drove in to Chatham; but so much time had elapsed that by the time he reached here the thief was gone. When he came in he informed the constables that for twelve months a warrant for the man's arrest has been in the hands of the high constable and that a reward of $30 was offered for his apprehension. One of the constables in question maintains that the man has frequently been in Chatham a week at a time on several occasions and would have been taken long ago had the force known that he was wanted.

The sessions, and as we say, who are the sessions, should meet again. They should attempt to act in the interests of the county instead of meeting the views of individuals. McGregor and Dennis particularly should be reinstated. If Judge Bell and the high constable do not like them, why, let Judge Bell and the high constable resign. This county can get along without either of them. It has been a notorious fact that the high constable and his subordinates have not been able to work harmoniously. They assert that he is unreasonable and unnecessarily "touchy." The consequence is he has borrowed trouble, and fallen out with them, according to their stories on the most unreasonable pretences. It has been dinned into the ears of The Planet for months, but until now this paper has said nothing about it, that if one constable even spoke to another constable whom the high constable did not like, the latter had no further use for either offender. To be the head of a constabulary force a man must be above all personal feeling. He must be utterly oblivious to what the public and the press think or say, as long as they don't transgress proper limits, and he must, above all, ignore personalities in dealing with his subordinates. His business is to see that they do their duty when called upon. That is all.

If Major Coogan can fill the bill, all well and good. If he cannot his services should be dispensed with. If the men who have been struck off were struck off at the high constables instance the sessions—whoever the sessions are—showed a lamentable ignorance of current gossip, or they would have cleaned out the whole outfit from from the high constable down.

But for selling goods at the prices ticketed at his door to day.

This is apparently a farcical Ad." But see our prices and be convinced, J. R. REID & CO.

MR. WHITNEY SHOULD MAKE IT CLEAR.

While Mr. Whitney is on this tour he should make it clear that Dominion and Ontario politics have no connection. Grit papers have been circulating the slander that Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. John Costigan and other outsiders were coming to this province to help Mr. Whitney and were influencing his course. Mr. Robert Birmingham was interviewed while in Windsor, and his published interview, which may or may not have been correct, so stated. But it may as well be understood, and Mr. Whitney should make it clear, that this province will tolerate no interference from Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Laurier or any other outsider. If they move into the province and get upon the voters' list, we will be pleased to have them take all the part they want to in our campaigns, but until they do we do not want any interference from them.

WONDERS OF ELECTRICITY.

Electrical invention continues to progress with wonderful strides. Nicola Tesla, the electrician, tells in an interview that he has succeeded in his life dream of perfecting a telegraphic system by which he can transmit messages through the earth a distance of twenty miles without wires, and that he can produce practical instruments by which he can similarly transmit messages to the uttermost parts of the globe.

A trial was made at Hartford, Conn., a few days ago of the new three rail system of electric road, which does away with the trolley. The run of ten miles between New Britain and Hartford, was made in thirteen and a half minutes, and with less jar than is ordinarily experienced in a steam passenger train. Stretches of the route were covered much faster than a mile a minute. It is believed the new development will enable the railways to displace steam power by electricity without the necessity of abandoning their valuable road-beds.

Blenheim is taking a sensible precaution regarding its permanent improvements. It has decided to require its granolithic contractors to guarantee their work for five years.

The railway pass system, by which it is sought to influence members of parliament, is being overdone. The other day Mr. Rogers, M. P., received a pass over a road which has not yet been commenced.

Short as the time has been since the duty on corn was removed, W. W. Ogilvie, of Montreal, has already imported 75,000 bushels of the American product from Chicago. How do the farmers of Kent like that?

In London in 1894 Mr. Hardy said, "Give London a chance; give Hobbs a chance; give the Government a chance." Last year he was in Owen Sound pleading for Laurier in the same terms:—"Give Laurier a chance; give Paterson a chance; above all give Owen Sound a chance." Give your town a chance to get something more than "cold justice." This is Hardy's method of bribing a constituency. It is all the more contemptible, this sort of corruption, because wholesale bribers of constituencies by means of public works does not come within reach of the law.

Messrs. Atkinson & Kispin have some valuable building lots on Wellington street for sale at very low figures. Intending purchasers should see them at once. They also have a large quantity of money to loan, at very low rate of interest. tf

HORRORS OF RUSSIA.

People Buried Alive in the Name of Religion.

A Correspondent of The London Daily News Sends His Paper a Gruesome Account of the Doings of Fanatics Near Odessa — They Worship in Caves and Cellars Which Are Filthy Beyond Description—A Poor Woman and Her Little Ones Buried by the Husband and Father, Who Mourned Because He Could Not Die With Them.

London, June 8.—A special correspondent of The Daily News, who went to Tiraspol, Russia, about 70 miles northwest of Odessa, to inquire into the cause of the self-immolation of a number of persons belonging to the religious sect known as the Raskolniki, says he learns that Feodore Kovaloff, on whose premises the bodies of fifteen victims were found, including those of Kovaloff's wife and two children, will probably not be indicted for the part he took in bringing about the deaths of these victims. After a formal inquiry is made into his mental condition he will in all likelihood be confined in a monastery.

The magistrates who are examining into the matter are convinced that Kovaloff is wholly sincere in all that he does, and that he is absolutely unconscious of having committed a crime in having buried six persons alive and walled up nine others in the cellar of his house.

The prisoner belongs to an ultra-fanatical branch of the Raskolniki, called the Beguni. So rigorously exclusive are the members of this branch that they will not eat nor drink from the same utensils used by relatives who have married ordinary members of the Raskolniki. They will not worship in churches or buildings used by others, but only in caves and cellars, which are usually filthy beyond description. Their services are conducted in closely guarded secrecy.

One of the chief personalities of a drama enacted at Ternofka, near Tiraspol, was a woman called Vitalia, who was a prophet, priest and preacher. She was the daughter of respectable, well-to-do parents, and was fairly well educated. She entered an orthodox convent in her youth, but later joined the Raskolniki. Some time ago she suddenly vanished, and was not heard of until her body was exhumed at Ternofka.

At the time of her self-immolation she was 40 years old. She was of an ascetic temperament, with commanding figure, and was possessed of persuasive eloquence. She had great power among the peasantry, who formed her chief audiences. An instance of her influence may be cited. In February, on the occasion of the taking of the census, Vitalia declared that the purpose of the enumeration was to prepare an initial roll call of those who would shortly be summoned to the judgment seat of God. Her hearers unquestioningly accepted her statement, and when the enumerators came around to take the census their efforts to obtain the required information were in vain.

An instance of the influence of Vitalia was the wailing up of Kovaloff's wife and children. During the taking of the census Kovaloff arrived home one evening and found his young wife strangely depressed.

His inquiries as to what was troubling her elicited the information that she was afraid that the enumerators would enter the names of their two children upon the accursed record, with the result that they would ultimately be forced to join the orthodox church and thereby be irrevocably doomed to eternal perdition. The woman declared that she was therefore resolved to sacrifice the children with herself.

Kovaloff, who had hitherto been the least fanatical of the Beguni, was horrified by his wife's avowal. Failing to dissuade her he went to seek the counsel and enlist the help of Vitalia.

The prophetess hastened to the mother, and instead of trying to prevent her self-sacrifice, commended her for her holy and laudable resolve.

She finally convinced Kovaloff that by self-martrydom he and his family could alone hope for salvation. It was in obedience to her behests that Kovaloff performed the dreadful tragedy, himself meanwhile grieving continuously that he was not allowed to die with his wife and children.

The Czar has been profoundly impressed by the story, and is receiving minute reports of the progress of the inquiry.

Packed in Like Sardines.

London, June 9.—The special correspondent of The Daily News at Tiraspol describes, in a second letter to-day, the scene at the place of entombment. He says the spaces were so cramped that the victims were obliged to pack themselves in like sardines, heads and feet alternately. One scooped a cavity in the clayey wall with his fingers to give room to lay his head and shoulders.

The interments all took place in the night time. The victims donned their best clothes, then their funeral shrouds and prostrated themselves resignedly and silently, always in the presence of some passive co-fanatic. There was not a single involuntary moan or movement while Kovaloff with his spade slowly covered them.

A report has just arrived at Tiraspol, says the correspondent, of suspected self-immolations practised for years past at the village of Pletzkee, about 16 versts distant, and the police have been ordered to make an investigaion.

To Investigate Thessaly.

Constantinople, June 8.—The British, Russian and italian Ambassadors are sending representatives to Thessaly with instructions to report on the situation there.

The third meeting between the Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs, Tewfik Pasha, and the Ambassadors of the powers, to arrange a permanent basis for peace between Turkey and Greece, took place to-day.

LORD LORNE ON CANADA.

Our Great Resources the Subject of a Paper in The Daily Graphic.

London, June 8.—The Marquis of Lorne, son-in-law of Queen Victoria, and former Governor-General of Canada, is the author of a lengthy and eulogistic review of the progress and present position of Canada, published in The Daily Graphic to-day. Dealing with the vast mining resources of the Dominion, he says: "The half-veiled proposal to repudiate debts owing to the British investors, heard from the platforms of some of Bryan's supporters in the election contest, should make us cherish more than ever the field of investment in our own colonies."

The Marquis of Lorne advocates the establishment of training ships on Canadian coasts to drill the marines and the militia recruited in Canada, and urges a spirit of compromise in England's fiscal dealings with the colonies, "as a means of insuring our trade in time of war."

Toronto Highlanders Won from Britain's Best Regulars in the Military Tournament at Islington.

London, June 8.—At the Royal Military Tournament at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, in the bayonet team fighting to-day, between the regulars and the colonials, the prize was carried off by the 48th Canadian Highlanders.

Toronto, June 8.

The above news reached the city at about 5 o'clock last night by a cablegram from Major Henderson to the Highlanders here, which read as follows: "We won against combined picked team composed of Coldstreams, Grenadiers and Scots Guards." The cablegram was bulletined in The World window and caused much rejoicing among the local volunteers, particularly of course the 48th, the members of which were the recipients of many hearty congratulations from their comrades in sister corps.

A VERY SAD DROWNING.

Albert Kendrick, Aged 14, Swept Over Burk's Falls on a Plank.

Burk's Falls, Ont., June 8.—A very sad drowning accident occurred here about 10.30 this morning. Albert Kendrick, 14-year-old son of Mr. John Kendrick of this place, while crossing the dam at the falls, stepped on a plank, which, on account of the rapidly rising water, was swept over the falls, carrying the boy with it. The body was seen floating in the eddy below for a few seconds, but has not yet been recovered. Sincere sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. The father, who is dying of cancer, is almost frantic.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 8.—Toronto and Scranton met again this afternoon at the Island and played one of the greatest games on record. For ten innings the score board showed a succession of blanks on each side, but Gillon was caught for three hits in the eleventh and scored them all. Then the Scrantons got on to Dineen for a single and a triple and scored 1 before the side was out. It was a pitchers' duel, no errors being recorded. Score:

LONDON BEAT THE LEAFS.

London, June 8.—The Londons took the Maple Leafs into camp in fine style this afternoon. Lee, a local ball tosser, took Ward's place at short and played his position in good form. London made three in the first on singles by Snyder and Gunter, a sacrifice by Sippi and errors by the Leafs. The fielding of the latter was ragged at times and was responsible for several of the Londons' runs. In the sixth two men of the Leafs were out on the first two balls pitched, but three singles followed and, with an overthrow to third, four runs were scored. Score:

Rye—Trade quiet and prices unchanged. Car lots quoted at 32c to 33c east.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There was not such a large market yesterday as there has been for some few weeks past, there being only 55 car loads, made up as follows: 1070 cattle, 400 sheep and lambs, 50 calves, 20 milk cows and 1300 hogs.

There was no improvement in prices for cattle, and in fact they were lower, if anything, and cattle that would have brought $4.40 three weeks ago were selling for $3.90 per cwt. They would have to be extra choice that would bring $4.50, and we did not hear of any being sold for that money, although we think a few extra good cattle would have brought it.

The cattle drovers are complaining very much, as they are all losing money.

The bulk of the shippers went at $4.25 to $4.40.

There were quite a number of butchers' cattle, and choice brought $3.50 to $3.75, and a few picked cattle $4.

Bulls, heavy export, sold at $3 to $3.50. There were not many stockers on the market, but there was a fair demand for such cattle, as well as for heavy feeders. Prices about the same.

Sheep in good demand, at former quotations.

Calves in good demand, and prices a little firmer, at $3.50 to $5.50.

In the hog market the supply is not equal to the demand, and prices have advanced; corn hogs brought $5.20 per cwt.

The following are the shipments per C.P.R. yesterday: J. C. Cochran, 3 cars; J. H. Shields, 2 cars; R. Ironsides, 2 cars; A. Montgomery, 1 car; S. Halligan, 2 cars; R. Cook, 1 car, all export cattle. Mr. Woller, 1 car of horses to London, England. Per G.T.R., for export: Brown & Snell, 5 cars; Thompson & Co., 6 cars; J. Eakin, 4 cars; J. Gould, 3 cars; H. Jack, 1 car.

Messrs. Reid and Heiderson shipped 3 cars butchers' cattle to Kingston and Brockville, and J. Boucher one car to Chapleau.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to a well-known citizen on one of the leading streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to them.

Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganized, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work porperly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

A box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at a cost of 25 cents will regulate the system, purify the blood and make a new person of every sickly man, woman or child.

Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. One pill a dose, one cent a dose.

Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine is and colds. Largest bottle on the market; only 25 cents.

THE JAY.

The jay is a jovial bird—heigh-ho!
He chatters all day
In a frolicsome way
With the murmuring breezes that blow—heigh-ho!

Hear him noisily call
From the redwood tree tall
To his mate in the opposite tree—heigh-ho!
Saying, "How do you do!"
As his topknot of blue
Is raised as polite as can be—heigh-ho!

Oh, impudent jay,
With your plumage so gay,
And your manners so jaunty and free—heigh-ho!
How little you guessed
When you robbed the wren's nest
That any stray fellow would see—heigh-ho!

A MODERN DEBORAH.

At the eastern extremity of the long, straggling street of Nagy-Nemethy are the crumbling ruins of a deserted house.

More than 40 years ago, when the Hungarian people awoke and began to rattle their chains, there lived in this house a young Jewish couple, Adolf Sonnenfeld and his wife Eglantine. Although scarcely 15 years of age when her husband first took her from her parents' watchful care, she was no half opened bud, but a glorious woman, a blooming rose of Sharon. Sonnenfeld, like many a young German townsman, was a slender, fair haired young fellow. His wife Egla was a lovely Jewess of the purest type. Suppressed fervor lurked behind the cold gaze of her dark, scornful eyes, and the mobile mouth could soften sweetly to the warming kiss or harden with deliberation for command. Her husband was merely a practical man of business, of a sly and cunning disposition, called good humored by his friends because he was too cautious to risk doing an injury.

In spite of the differences in their characters Egla seemed to love her husband even more than her fatherland, and that speaks volumes, for she was an ardent Hungarian. She had borne her husband two children, and through her teaching they were growing up with a fervent love of home and fatherland.

The storms of February swept over Paris and the feverish March days in Vienna were followed by the Hungarian rising, while her character was developing from day to day in strength and energy. But when in October the revolution brought the Hungarian army before Vienna, her zeal for the national cause at length took a tangible form.

One morning at breakfast, having scanned the newspaper, she commenced: "Adolf, every one is taking up arms for the fatherland—old men, boys, and even women. Why do you hold back?"

"Are you mad?" cried Sonnenfeld, half irritated, half frightened. "What is Hungarian liberty to me? I am a Jew. Even if I wanted to go to the war they would only laugh at me. I don't know how to hold a gun."

"You can learn"—

"I shan't think of it!" cried Sonnenfeld, cutting her short. "We have soldiers enough. I am no hero!"

The truth came home to Egla that her husband was no hero very shortly. Hussars came into the village, and then all who had hitherto held back came forward and joined the colors. Sonnenfeld alone was not to be seen. He seemed to have disappeared, and only came in sight again after the last horseman had quitted Nagy-Nemethy. Egla found out afterward that he had been hidden in the cellar and supplied with food and drink by the cook. Her first impulse was to take away her children and leave the husband whom she despised for his cowardice. Sonnenfeld fell on his knees and begged her to stay. He raised his hands to heaven and implored her with tears in his eyes not to leave him, and when at last the children interceded she remained.

From that day she treated him with silent disdain. That proved more galling than open hostility or reproaches. Hitherto he had taken no interest whatever in the struggles of the fatherland, but now he began to interest himself more and more. But his sympathies were all with the anti-Magyar party. He hated the agitators who had robbed him of his wife's love and the patriots whose heroic courage branded him as a coward. He could barely hide his joy when Windischgratz, with the imperial troops, crossed the frontier and pushed on to Budapest, but Egla grew ever paler, ever quieter. When the Hungarian capital fell and the national troops fell back on Debriezin, Sonnenfeld felt sure that all was over. He went about radiant and joyful, as if he had won the victory or inherited a million.

It was not long before the First Imperialist light cavalry showed themselves in Nagy-Nemethy. A whole brigade followed and pitched camp in the neighborhood. Some of the soldiers were billeted in the village, and the general himself took up his quarters in Sonnenfeld's house. The husband surpassed himself in hospitality, loyalty and attention to the wants of his guest. Egla, who held herself aloof, timid but inimical, one day saw the general kick her husband out of the door. She felt as if her heart were crushed; then the blood rushed to her face, but she endured in silence.

A few days later hussars appeared in the neighborhood, and the imperialist outposts exchanged shots with them. During the night the brigade became alarmed; for the Hungarians approached on all sides and threatened to overwhelm them. Every one was afoot, the inhabitants stood in the street doors whispering, while cannon and heavily armed cavalry rattled by. Egla, who had dressed herself rapidly, found that her husband had left the house. She glided out after him, only to find him by the garden hedge deep in conversation with the general. Sonnenfeld bowed obsequiously as he spoke, and the general laughed amiably. That laugh seemed to Egla even more insulting than the kick he had given her husband a few days back. She only caught detached words and isolated phrases of the conversation. But she gathered that while her husband was assuring him of his devotion the general was complaining that he could gain no information, even from the poorest peasant. At sunrise an adjutant arrived bearing a sealed letter for the general, on reading which he gave the order for the imperialist troops to withdraw to the south.

The changeful scenes of the Hungarian winter campaign followed in quick rotation, each day bringing contradictory reports. Egla was consumed with anxiety and excitement, and she passed sleepless nights of watching, only to sink, wearied and exhausted, on her couch as daylight approached, and when the bright sunlight streamed in upon her she would awake with a start as if aroused by some horrid dream.

Business was at a standstill, Sonnenfeld alone showing a restless activity. He contracted for provisions of all kinds for the supply of the imperialist troops, and after visits from suspicious looking characters would absent himself from home for days together. Egla watched him with anxious heart and increasing uneasiness.

One beautiful, sunshiny winter's day hussars with loaded carbines rode into the village. The villagers received them with loud hurrahs and cries of welcome, and the joy was increased when a Honved battalion followed them on foot. The Hungarians halted, picketed their outposts, sent out patrols to all points of the compass, and, their duty over, began to think of the commissariat. The inhabitants of Nagy-Nemethy brought out the best they had to compensate the brave fellows, if ever so little, for the hardships of their campaign. Egla did not like to follow the example of the others without first obtaining her husband's consent. She went in search of him, but was unable to find him either at home or anywhere in the village. Evil forebodings took possession of her mind.

Night closed in. Every one slept in Nagy-Nemethy—every one but Egla. She sat on her bed waiting and listening. She felt that she must listen and wait for—something; something so terrible it hardly took form in her mind, yet it was something that had been hanging over her for a long time. She sat and waited—one hour—two hours—till she grew drowsy from sheer exhaustion. Suddenly she was startled. Was it the sound of shots? What was that confused noise? The trumpets brayed, words of command were heard, and the firing increased. She ran to the window, and as she threw it open a bullet whistled past and impinged upon the wall behind her. She drew back quickly and extinguished the light. There was fighting in the streets of Nagy-Nemethy.

The imperialists had advanced upon the Honved battalion under cover of the night, and the Hungarians had been overpowered. A few of them managed to escape with the colors, but the rest were taken prisoners or died the patriot's death.

Egla sat in her room like one in a trance. Her thoughts stood still. The time passed away, but she was heedless of it till suddenly she started at the sound of voices in the next room. Her husband had returned, and with him— How well she knew those clear, commanding tones as she listened to the words of praise and the promise of a great reward—to her husband.

The imperialists did not remain long, and her husband went away in their train. Egla obtained a conveyance, and, wrapping her children up warmly, drove away with them to her father's house. Having placed them in safety, she returned home on the third day and awaited her husband's return.

On the fourth evening after her return she heard her husband enter the house softly, like a thief, and like a thief he started when his wife, candle in hand, stepped out of her room before him. Placing the light upon the table she seated herself, and coldly and sternly, like a judge, she commenced her examination.

"Where were you?"

"I have done a good bit of business."

"I know it."

"I have delivered a contract for bread and bacon to"—

"You have delivered up your brethren? You spy!" shrieked the Jewess, flaming with indignation.

"What do you mean?" Sonnenfeld was pale as a ghost.

"I overheard your conversation with the general."

"Anything further?" And the husband tried to laugh.

The beautiful Jewess stood up and gazed steadily into his face. "This further—you are a traitor and deserve to die, but I have loved you and would not have the name that I have borne and the name of my children dishonored before the world. You shall not therefore swing from the gallows, as you deserve, for I will let you kill yourself here upon the spot."

"I believe you have lost your reason," cried her husband.

For answer she glided quietly into her room and fetched a loaded pistol. "You must die," cried Egla, "and if you have sun so low that you do not understand how great is the enormity of the crime you have committed, or if your cowardice be so great you dare not kill yourself, then will I be your executioner in the name of the fatherland."

She placed the muzzle of the pistol against his breast, when the wretch fell upon his knees begging and entreating her to spare his life.

The tragic figure stood superbly above him, gazed at him for a moment with unutterable contempt and then uncocked the pistol.

"No, truly, you are not worth powder and shot."

She turned from him and went into her own room, when he feverishly sprang to the door and fastened it behind her.

Egla listened, and when she felt certain her husband had gone to bed she wrapped herself in a fur cloak and stepped out through the long window into the night.

As day broke the tread of horses sounded in front of Sonnenfeld's house, and a few blows from the butt end of a musket soon broke open the door. Hussars, with his wife at their head, burst into the room where he was sleeping.

"There is the spy," cried she coldly. "He is my husband, but I would see him hanged."

Sonnenfeld, whining gainly, pleaded for pardon as the hussars bound his hands behind him and dragged him forth. His wife looked on in silence. When the rope was placed round his neck and the end slung over the lime tree, she swung herself into the saddle of a horse that the hussars had prepared for her and galloped away, followed in a few minutes by the soldiers.

At the taking of Waitzen a beautiful woman rode in front of the Honved battalion. It was the Jewess of Nagy-Nemethy. Once again was she seen in the forefront of the fight when the Poles of Mazuchelli's regiment stormed the green hill of Komorn at the point of the bayonet, and there she fell riddled with bullets, but wrapped in the standard of her country and staining its colors with her blood.—Translated From the German For San Francisco Argonaut.

A SUMMER SPECIFIC.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures cholera, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, summer complaint, canker of the mouth and all bowel complaints of children or adults. It is a soothing, effectual and never failing medicine, which gives immediate relief and speedily effects a cure.

Cupid, the Beggar.

How Love goes a begging for a little kindly treatment. How many women turn their backs on the little fellow! They give freely of their time and attention to fashion or social pleasures, but seem to regard happy wifehood and motherhood as a mere secondary consideration. They take no end of trouble over the fit of a gown or the success of a dinner party, but think they have no time to bestow upon the health and physical soundness which are absolutely necessary to happy wifehood and motherhood.

Any weakness or disease of the delicate special organs of her sex totally unfits a woman to be a wife or mother. It is a woman's primary duty to be strong and healthy in a womanly way. Careful living and judicious treatment will certainly and completely eradicate these delicate complaints.

A complete and practical treatise on this subject with careful professional advice and suggestions for self-treatment are contained in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. This 1000-page illustrated book will be sent paper-bound absolutely free for cost of mailing and customs only: 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce, as above.

Dr. Pierce has given a life-time to the study of women's diseases, and has had as wide a practical experience in this particular field as any living physician. His "Favorite Prescription" is a perfect and scientific remedy for diseases of the feminine organs.

It is the only medicine devised for this particular purpose by an educated and skilled physician. It is a positive and permanent cure as attested by more than ninety thousand grateful women.

One on Bishop Potter.

Bishop Potter said at a press banquet given in New York: "One day I was eating my dinner when the servant entered the room and informed me that a young man from a local newspaper had called to see me. She said she had informed him that I could not see him, as I was at dinner, but he had pushed her aside with the remark that he would wait inside.

"Thereupon I arose and went out into the hall with my napkin in my hand. I walked past the young man to the door, opened it and with a wave of my hand signified that he might retire. The next day the young man published a highly colored report in his paper, in which he stated that it was possible that Bishop Potter might be a Christian, but he certainly was not a gentleman."

250,000 CURED

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by evil habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases. W. C. Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak; pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; memory poor; varicocele and weak parts irritable; shaking spells; specks before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy, and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Method Treatment of Drs Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and sexually. It is a wonderful treatment."
Blood Disease—with the worst symptoms: Ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, blotches, eruptions, hair fallen out, bone pains, eyes red, stomach troubles, sore throat, etc., positively cured forever. You dare not marry until cured. Cures guaranteed or no pay.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

DIED

DOLSEN—On June 10th, Elizabeth Chalmers, relict of the late Oscar Dolsen; aged 77 years, 10 months and 14 days.

Funeral will take place from her late residence, Lorne avenue, on Saturday, 12th inst., at 2.30 p. m., to Maple Leaf Cemetery. Friends will please accept this intimation.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mrs. Maines, Park St. East, is seriously ill.

Mr. James Gill, of Cedar Springs, purchased an E. & D. bicycle to-day.

Don't forget the grand Jubilee concert. See particulars in another column.

Artistic funeral designs made up on short notice at Victoria avenue Greenhouses. 'Phone 181. tf

Philip Voln.or, of Chatham, has made a shipment of his washing machines to R. Kenneth, of London, England.

Y. M. C. A. Bicycle Club will have a run to-night. All wheelmen are invited to join them for a spin in the country.

W. H. Keets, of Windsor, who has been visiting in this city, has returned home to resume his duties on the G. T. R.

Mr. Watt, of Thamesville, shipped a double-deck car of hogs via C. P. R. yesterday to the Canadian Packing House Co., London.

The C. M. B. A. have invited the Catholic Order of Foresters to turn out with them to attend solemn vespers on Sunday, the 20th inst.

Miss Agnes Louks, who will appear in the S. A. barracks to-night, sang very acceptably at the prayer meeting of the Park St. Methodist church last evening.

The C. P. R. lawns have been handsomely decked with flowers. There are two beds of geraniums and two of azaleas. The station verandah is rich with hanging baskets, and Baggagemaster Bartleytt is in his glory.

The C. P. R. are making arrangements with the Waterworks to have city water sprinkled from the fountain on their lawn. Faucets for drinking purposes will also be put in the general and the ladies' waiting rooms.

G. Bennett, of Charing Cross, of the firm of G. Bennett & Pardo, importers of Chester swine and poultry, left for the east to-day to purchase stock. He will probably take a trip through Indiana for the same purpose on his return.

Manager J. E. Thomas, of the Bank of Commerce, received the following dispatch from Dr. Cornell in New York this morning: "Arrived O. K. Looked the boat over (the Campania, worth three-quarters of a million). Think I will buy her. Will draw on you for the price."

The annual encampment of the Ontario Seventh-Day Adventists' Association will be held opposite the Wagon Works on June 15, and the regular services will be held at 10 a. m. and at 3 and 8 p. m. A number of prominent speakers connected with the association will deliver addresses.

Jubilee Excursion to Detroit per steamer "City of Chatham," on Tuesday, June 22nd, 1897. Steamer leaves Chatham at 7.30 a. m., and returning leaves Detroit at 4.30 p. m. Detroit city time or 5 o'clock Chatham time, thus giving one hour longer than usual in Detroit. Fare: Round trip 69 cents, one way 50 cents. tf

That a man should call at J. R. Reed's to be measured for a spring suit is not strange. But that the man should be ninety-two years of age, hale and hearty, and as straight as an arrow; that he should grow reminiscent of the time when Chatham was a growth of virgin forest and should trace the history of the place from that time down to the present was interesting, to say the least. Such a man is Wm. Brundage in whose memory the events of four score years ago are clear and distinct.

GRAND JUBILEE CONCERT.

In the First Presbyterian church on the evening of June 22nd a choice program of music and readings will be given, and Dr. Samson, of Windsor, will deliver the jubilee address. Mr. M. Houston, P. M., will preside. Tickets, fifteen cents; two for twenty-five cents.

A HIGH AIM.

That's our motto—"a high aim." Nothing shoddy, nothing full of hidden flaws, nothing that we can't stand by ever comes into our store or goes out of it. Our reputation, our "high aim," stands behind everything we sell, and the people know it. Hence our success. We ask particular attention to-day to light underwear: Imported Natural Wools, $2 per suit; Bonbon's Balbriggan, $1 a suit; American Balbriggan, 50c.; other brands equally low, for 50c. a suit, at the 2 T's. Sizes, 32 to 48.

Rev. Arthur Murphy, who went from here to Ingersoll, will occupy the pulpit of Holy Trinity church on Sunday next. At the evening service Miss Blanche Baxter will sing a solo, "Angels ever bright and fair."

Denis Dumouchelle, Thomas Charon, Fred Maison, Joseph Lalonde, Louis Charon and Gilbert Ouellette, of Belle River, are attending County Court in connection with the Brown shooting case.

W. A. Campbell, jr., has joined the Kingsville Cavalry and will leave tomorrow for Kingsville. The company will report in London on Monday next.

G. A. Smith, of London, collector for the Bell organ and piano company, is in the city on business.

The report of freight forwarded from Chatham via C. P. R. for the month of May shows an increase over '96, amounting to 1,079 tons, and representing an increase of earnings of $4,779.45. The week ending June 7th shows an increase of upward of $900 over the corresponding week of last year.

Mr. Godard, of the firm of Garrioch & Godard, Ottawa, is in the city. Mr. Godard states that his firm does not represent any one manufacturer of electrical appliances, but that their tender for electric lighting was for the very best material procurable, and improved lamps. Their tender, also, covered 100 lights, whereas the others' figures were on a basis of 65.

To-morrow the city lacrosse club will open the season with a match with the Thamesville team. The game commences at 3.30, sharp, on Tecumseh Park, and promises to be a great contest. The Maple City representatives are as follows:—Goal, C. Newman; Point, F. McCauley (captain); Cover Pt., F. Knight; 3rd Def., W. Draper; 2nd Def., G. Claxton; 1st Def., W. Pleasance; Centre, A. Jahnke; 1st Home, A. W. Kelly; 2nd Home, W. Wilson; 3rd, Home, H. Douglas; Outside Home, W. Coupland; Inside Home, F. Koglerkhatz.

MORE

Curative power is contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and it is worth more to the consumer. More skill is required in its preparation and it combines more remedial qualities than any other medicine. Consequently it has a record of more cures and its sales are more than those of any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to buy because it is an honest medicine and thousands of testimonials prove that it does actually and permanently cure disease.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

West Kent Conservative Convention Now in Session.

The Candidate and Other Prominent Conservatives to Address the Public Meeting to-night

The day of the West Kent Conservative convention opened fine and all day long the streets presented a scene of constantly growing activity. Until noon it was rather like a busy Saturday than a political gathering. Few flags floated and no decorations were put out anywhere; but from all parts of the riding came the delegates to the convention, and loyal Conservatives from every side flocked in to hear the speakers who are to appear in the Grand Opera House this evening. Very many drove; hundreds of others coming in by train, and by the time the convention was called to order there was a full representation of delegates.

The delegates arrived quietly and were allowed to look after themselves until the time arrived to proceed to the business for which they met. There was an entire lack of the too common button-holing, every representative being left alone with his convictions of what was best in the interests of the party. There appeared some diversity of opinion as to who would be the fittest man to represent West Kent in the Ontario Legislature; but upon one point all were unanimous.

The wishes of the majority would be respected, and of the several excellent men named the choice of the convention would have the most hearty support without regard to any personal predilections which might have wished the choice to be other than it was.

The 1.05 Grand Trunk train from the east brought in J. P. Whitney, leader of the Conservative opposition in the provincial house, and a number of other prominent Conservatives.

James Clancy, M. P., and W. P. Killackey are in the city and will be present at the gathering this evening in the Grand Opera House, when a number of Ontario's most eloquent speakers will address the assemblage. The gallery will be reserved for ladies and their escorts.

The Convention decided upon Dr. W. R. Hall, Chatham, to lead the Conservatives of West Kent on to victory in the coming Provincial elections.

The vote stood:

CATCH PENNY DEVICES

The Pat. Aggraff Bridge for pianos made in 1867, by Seebold, Manly & Co., Montreal, was discarded by them and condemned by modern manufacturers. The evil of this style of construction can be seen in one of these pianos in a Montreal warerooom. Claimants of novelty in this invention could get many valuable pointers in this antediluvian relic.

The Morris Pianos have none of these catch penny devices, but are constructed on modern and approved principals. No man living ever saw a pressure bar in a piano wear out, and there are men living who have seen the other system wear out, and other men can see it by visiting the Montreal warerooms.

Beware of catch penny devices.

THE MARKETS.

(Via L. J. Atwater's Private Wire.)

Chicago, June 10.—Wheat ruled strong during the early part of the day, and prices advanced one cent per bu. over last night on buying by local bulls, who expect government report, which will be issued this afternoon, will be bullish. Thoman's forecast of condition of winter wheat at 77 and spring 95, pointing to a total crop of 483 million bushels, was considered bullish and helped the advance. However, on the bulge, there was more or less realizing, which caused reaction of 1-2c. per bu. where the market is resting steady.

Foreign news was discouraging. Liverpool reported their market 1 1-4 d lower. Continental markets were also lower. Weather in this country and in Europe favorable for growing crops. Receipts at the N. W. light. Clearances from the Atlantic seaboard 465,000 bus. wheat and flour. Cash demand slack. Advance in the market shut off export demand. Cincinnati Current reported winter wheat crop maintaining its average, but spring wheat needing warmer weather. Trade has been fairly large all day, but mostly all of a local character. Our stocks are so small and the market so narrow that shorts scare easily and the market responds quickly to any good buying.

Corn ruled firm on buying by local bulls on price current report. On the advance there was good selling by elevator people against country purchases which caused slight reaction. Weather throughout corn belt favorable, and country offerings fairly free. Cash demand slack especially for direct export.

Oats—There was only light trade today and market ruled firm with corn. Cash demand light.

Provisions opened strong on light run of hogs and active speculative demand. Ribs strong, shorts were anxious buyers. Pork ruled easier owing to crowd playing short side. We think ribs solid and pork low enough.

CONCERT AT HOLY TRINITY.

Given by the Young People's Society—A Pronounced Success.

A very enjoyable concert was given at Holy Trinity church last evening, the occasion being the close of the Young People's Society for the heated term. They will resume their regular meetings in September. The entertainment, under the auspices of the Senior Y. P. Society, was due to the efforts of Misses Blanche Baxter and Flora Glass, who, with their associates deserve much credit.

Thomas Scullard presided, and the following program was faultlessly presented:

Opening Chorus—"The Maple Leaf."
Guitar Duet—Misses L. Courtney and A. McLean.
Recitation—Miss Edith Weir.
Vocal Solo—Miss Blanche Baxter.
Piano Duet—Misses A. McLean and Nellie Richards.
Vocal Solo—Miss Gertrude Garrett.
Mandolin Solo — Miss Josephine Eberts.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Spencer Stone.
Piano Duet—Misses Maggie Houston and Hattie Northwood.
Vocal Solo—E. J. McIntyre.
Recitation—Miss Flora Glass.
Piano Solo—Miss I. Cornettet.
Chorus—"Red, White and Blue."

Despite the well-grounded fear of appearing partial in making special reference to any one participant in such a program as the foregoing, where each succeeding number added a new delight, it is but just that some slight tribute be paid Miss Edith Weir upon her talents as an elocutionist. From the flood of tragic passion to the milder humors of a tender pathos, Miss Weir's perfectly controlled and modulated voice, and appropriate gesture, carry her with an easy grace.

THE CROPS IN ONTARIO

All Sections of the Province Heard From.

For the Most Part the Prospects Are for Good Hay, Wheat and Oats Crops—High and Sandy Lands Are Showing Great Promise for a Rich Harvest—Low Lands Have Suffered from the Overplus of Wetness—The Promise Is for an Abundant Crop of Fruit in Most Lines.

The following are culled from a host of crop reports furnished yesterday by Press Superintendent Lasson, of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company:

Ottawa.—The continued wet and cool weather is becoming a very serious matter in this section. The hay crop, an important one here, is almost a total failure on both sides of the Ottawa, as much from cold weather as from excessive rain. The grain crop, until recently, looked much better and indeed promised to be exceptionally heavy if warm weather followed, but even they are now doubtful.

Port Stanley.—Fall wheat and meadows looking very good. Spring crops of all kinds backward and not doing well. Apples look well in bloom; small fruits very poor show so far, but too early to tell much about them. The wet, cold weather is telling on them.

London.—Fall wheat and hay will yield a very large crop in this section. All spring crops are backward and, although coming through the ground well, everything depends upon the weather for the next two or three weeks. Corn is in very poor condition and much of it will have to be replanted. Apples promise to be a good average crop. Plums are likely to be heavy crop. Strawberries are plentiful.

Berlin.—An abundant crop of hay is anticipated. Fall wheat looks well where the soil is not too heavy, and a good yield is expected. Farmers are complaining of too much rain, and not sufficient warm weather.

Caledonia.—Fall wheat will average about 18 bushels per acre, and spring grains will be an average crop. Hay and straw good.

Port Colborne.—Wheat excellent, oats good, corn late; meadows are very good; all kinds of fruit above the average.

Bowmanville.—Crop reports are good. Peas, of which there is a large acreage sown in Darlington, are in a critical state, owing to wet weather. Wheat looks well, oats ditto; barley also. Hay will be an abundant yield, grass is plentiful. There will be an unusual quantity of apples, pears and cherries, and all small fruits are abundant.

Oakville.—Hay heavy, fall wheat, good acreage and good crops; spring wheat fair acreage, good crop; oats, good acreage and look well; peas, heavy acreage and good prospects. Apples, prospects are for an abundant crop; small fruits, raspberries, strawberries and blackberries, heavy yield. If we have warm weather the crops will be the best ever known in this district.

Simcoe.—The outlook for crops was never better than it is this spring through all this section of the country.

Bronte.—In this neighborhood the grain and hay crop is looking splendid, with the exception of corn, which, owing to cold and wet weather, has not done well. Prospects of fruit are good.

Brussels.—Fall wheat looks well and will be, from present appearances, a good crop. Oats will be poor. Hay is generally good and will be a good average. Apples average crop.

Hurk's Falls.—The hay crop in this vicinity is about up to the average, but the grain and root crops are suffering from rain and cold, and will not be up to the average, unless a change for warm dry weather sets in.

Stouffville.—The fall wheat crop is very good. Spring crops look fair, but are backward.

Aurora.—Fall wheat looks well, and will probably be about 95 per cent. of a full crop. Spring wheat will be a full crop by all appearances. Peas have suffered a little from the wet, but will be about 85 per cent. Oats and grass will both be a good crop. Apples, the winter varieties are very full of blossoms. Summer varieties, prospects not so good. Altogether the prospect for the fruit crop at present is good.

Smith's Falls.—Crops in this neighborhood are generally looking well, though the late frosts have injured the meadows and also plum and apple blossoms. Strawberries were badly winter-killed. Other small fruits look well.

Peterboro'.—Prospects are generally very favorable. The grain planted on the low lands is looking pretty bad, but the high lands are doing splendidly. The fall wheat crop will not amount to anything, as it was pretty well thinned out owing to the open winter and the severe frost.

Trenton.—In this section no fall wheat. Spring wheat, very little sown on account of too much rain. Farmers unable to work low ground. Peas are looking well. Hay promises a good crop.

Listowel.—Crops generally in this section are looking very well. Fall wheat and grass will be a good average, though some what damaged by too much rain. Fruit prospects were above the average, but considerably damaged by the late frosts.

Georgetown.—All the crops in this vicinity look well. Fall wheat is exceptionally good, and a large yield is looked for. The outlook for coarse grains is also good. The fruit crop, and especially apples, will be large.

Welland.—Hay will be very heavy. Wheat good. Oats, corn, peas and root crops are not looking well on account of the wet and cold. Prospects for fruit of all kinds good.

Walkerville.—Farmers here report the hay crop good. Fall wheat good, though only small quantity sown. Corn and oats, owing to cold, wet weather, in very bad shape.

Kingston.—The hay crop promises to be a great deal better than for the last five or three years. Fall wheat, little or none sown here; would consider, the crop only fair. Rye looks well; acreage very small. Peas, large acreage; the crop promises to do well. Oats are also looking well. So is spring wheat. Corn not at all favorable.

Wallaceburg.—Fall wheat and hay are looking well, and promise an average yield. Spring crops are very backward. Small fruits in abundance. Apples promise half a crop.

Dorchester.—Hay abundant crop. Fall wheat good. Spring grain of all kinds looking well. Root crops generally late. Good prospects for fruit of all kinds.

Cornwall.—On high lands, both old and new, meadows look well. The flow of milk is large and the returns from the cheese factories very satisfactory. Fruit trees blossomed well, but in a great many orchards the cold weather blighted the blossoms and the average crop is likely to be smaller than usual. Small fruits promise well in town gardens. Tent caterpillars and a green worm of another kind are very plentiful and are doing great damage, the latter in many cases totally denuding forest trees of their foliage.

Parry Sound.—Crops are in a backward condition; those on high land are reported as in very fair shape, but low land has suffered severely from the unusual amount of rain. Hay crop should be a good one. Oats are in good condition on high land. These are the principal products in this vicinity.

Pembroke.—Farmers are hopeful of a good season and good crops. Gardens are looking well. The plum crop will not be up to the average of former years; apple trees promise better; the wild fruit crop about the same.

Owen Sound.—Crops in this district are very backward. Hay promises a good yield. All fruits are late, but look well.

Galt.—Prospect for an abundant harvest is very gratifying. Rye, wheat and hay never looked better than they do this season, but the root crops are very backward, especially potatoes and corn. The continued wet weather is causing all crops in low-lying districts to rot. Fruit will be very plentiful.

Port Hope.—Wheat, spring good, fall fair. Barley good, oats good, rye good, peas good average, hay average.

Amherstburg.—Fall wheat very good. Corn very backward. Good crop of oats and abundant crop of hay; peaches a failure on account of last frost; apples, pears, plums and cherries a fair crop.

St. Catharines.—Wheat looks splendid. Oats also look well and will yield heavily. Corn is very backward. Barley good average, hay very heavy; berries, all kinds, big crop; cherries about half crop; plums good average; peaches large crop, looks heaviest in three years; pears about two-thirds crop; grapes backward. Early apples promise fair; late apples, greenings and spies good, Baldwins will be light.

Sault Ste. Marie.—Crops generally about three weks later than usual owing to extremely wet and cold spring; otherwise prospects fairly good.

Lindsay.—Fall wheat, red and also clover, will be almost a total failure, owing to the heavy spring frosts and light snowfall of last winter. Spring grain promises to be far below the average. On the low lands in some places the land is under water. On the high lands the spring crops promise fully up to the average.

Markham.—Crops in this district are doing exceptionally well and looking better than in years. With the exception of corn everything is well advanced. Hay is good; spring grain, early sown, good, except in low land poorly drained. Fall wheat looks better than has been known in this section for ten years. The acreage in fall wheat and corn is larger than any year.

Brantford.—Crops look fine and doing well. Hay, oats and wheat, from present appearances, will be large yield; straw, long; prospects for small fruits good; Cherries and pears so far promise good crop. Plums promise fair crop. Of late apples there will be a large crop.

Niagara.—Wheat and rye have obtained luxuriant growth and promise to harvest well. The acreage of wheat is very small, and will make an extra good yield. Rye is very far advanced, and has been sown largely in place of wheat. This crop will also give a large yield. Hay was never better in this vicinity. This promises to be an exceptional year for fruit of all kinds, except apples. Peaches never were better, though the trees were touched slightly with curled leaf. Plums and pears promise a large crop. Berries are slow ripening. Greenings and Spy apples are a fair crop, but no Baldwins. Altogether, the fruit crop bids fair to be a record one on the Niagara frontier.

Newmarket.—The outlook for a bountiful harvest around this section is most encouraging. The fall wheat is away above the average; spring wheat, barley and oats are coming on finely. Grass is very fine and thick. Timothy and clover will be above the average. Small fruits yield abundantly. The larger fruits, with the exception of apples, which were so plentiful last year, will be a very good crop.

Midland.—Crops of all kinds, especially hay and oats on the high lands, are looking well, surpassing those of past years. On the lowlands, however, crops are very much damaged, owing to excessive rain falls.

Uxbridge.—The prospects for fruit are good, with probably the one exception of plums, but the new Government is expected to make up to the citizens here what nature may fail to do in that line this year.

Backward Down by the Sea.

Halifax, N.S., June 9.—Reports from all the Province show the season to be the most backward for many years, and the crop prospects in general are anything but encouraging. The Annapolis Valley apple belt is likely to turn out well. The hay crop promises well in all sections.

The weather on Prince Edward Island has not been so backward, but the potato crop will not be as large as in former years. New Brunswick reports are to the effect that crops will be late.

Guelph.—The prospects for heavy crops in this section are very bright. Hay and fall wheat are looking exceedingly well and promise to be much heavier crops than last year. The fruit crop will be very large.

Milton.—Fall wheat is looking well, better than the average. The spring crops are in a thrifty condition, but growth is retarded by cold weather. Hay, new meadows excellent, old meadows fair.

Ingersoll.—The condition of crops in this neighborhood is of a most promising nature. Fall wheat has come through the winter well, and the prospects are a little better than the average. Oats and barley also promise well. The fruit crop should be good.

Orillia.—The prospects for good grain and hay crops in this vicinity are excellent, but the root crop is likely to be a failure, the recent heavy rains and cold weather having a tendency to rot it in the ground.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, June 10.

London defeated Toronto yesterday afternoon on the baseball grounds by 9 to 6.

The grounds were sloppy and in poor condition, owing to the morning rain. The attendance was about 200. The poor fielding and wild throwing of the Torontos lost them the game. The wet condition of the grounds made it hard to handle the ball, and the exhibition was a poor one. In the second innings Cann got his hand hurt, having to retire for Bakey taking his place, at right field. Hickey, Toronto's shortstop, made a record scoring six runs for himself. A drizzling rain fell during the whole game. Score:

THE UNITED WORKMEN.

Supreme Lodge Meeting—Ontario Grand Lodge Talks of Seceding.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 9.—The twenty-fifth stated meeting of the Supreme Lodge Ancient Order of United Workmen of the United States and Canada opened in Milwaukee Wednesday. It is understood that there is an unusually large amount of legislative work on hand, including final action upon a move made by the Grand Lodge of the order in Ontario to secede from the Supreme body, and doing away with all name and reference to the Supreme Lodge, conduct a Grand Lodge of its own in the Dominion, and an independent order in the States. This, it is claimed by the Supreme officers, would be tantamount to open rebellion, and strong efforts are being made to avoid such results. Action upon the matter was postponed by the grand body in Canada until the matter could be fully heard before the Supreme body in its Milwaukee session at this time.

TOWN TALK.

Shortness of breath,
A Prominent Symptom of Heart and Nerve trouble,
Does your heart palpitate and flutter?
Have you General Debility?
Then you have Heart and Nerve Trouble.
Can it be cured?
Yes.
Here is How to Do It.

Mrs. Mary Bordeau, King street, Chatham, Ont., says: "For some months I have been afflicted with nervousness and general debility. Going upstairs would produce great shortness of breath and a tired, exhausted feeling.

I had palpitation and fluttering of the heart, and for months have not been well or strong. Until I took Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at the Central Drug Store, I almost despaired of a cure. I have only taken one full box, and now feel splendid.

My nerves are strong, all the heart troubles are completely removed, the shortness of breath has vanished, and the constant tired out, all gone feeling is a thing of the past. It is needless to say that I esteem this remedy the best in the world for heart and nerve troubles.'

MR. FRASER'S FUNERAL.

His Sons Acted as Pallbearers—A Career to be Proud of.

Charles Fraser, late collector of customs at Wallaceburg, who died there on Sunday morning last, was buried on Tuesday. He was a man that every person who knew liked and respected. In the customs service as collector for over 36 years he never had an enemy nor was any person ever known to speak of him other than as a kindly and efficient offfcer.

Land surveying was the profession which he originally learned and practised several years before being appointed to the customs.

For about 36 years he acted as secretary and treasurer of the school board and although the duties of the office became somewhat onerous as the town increased in size, he would never accept a cent of remuneration for his services. He was a prominent member of the Methodist church and a member of Pynx Lodge A. F. A. M. He was buried with Mas nic honors by the home lodge, Mr. McKelroy, the W. M., conducting the ceremony. Members of the fraternity from all the surrounding towns and villages joined in the procession.

His six sons Dr. A.S. Fraser, of Sarnia; Dr. A. C. Fraser, of Manitowoc; Rev. Charles Fraser, of Chicago; W. A. Fraser and Thomas Fraser, of Detroit, and John S. Fraser, of Chatham, were the pall bearers.

In memory of his services as a school trustee the public schools were given a holiday and 300 of the children led the way from the family residence to the cemetery.

He left quite a large family, the youngest grown up and married.

Amongst the many who were present to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased were prominent men from Dresden, Sarnia and Chatham.

BUSINESS COLLEGE BEATEN.

The C. M. C.'s Baseball Club Too Much For Them.

The baseball nine of the business college received a drubbing at the hands of the yeomen of the Chatham Manufacturing Co. on the Tecumseh Park diamond yesterday afternoon. At first it looked as though the stud. ents would be slaughtered, Pitcher Balkwell being pounded out of the box for 12 runs, but McGinnis was substituted and when Hicklin let down a little the college lads put together a tidy score, although unable to handle the lead of their opponents. The game was lively throughout, despite the cricket score, the playing of Rutland and McInnes being the best features.

The College team travels to Dover Centre this afternoon, where they will cross bats with the township players.

Yesterday's score:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| C. M. C.—12 6 4 1 0 0 1 1 0— | 25 | 19 | 5 |
| C. B. C.— 1 0 1 1 2 1 5 6 0— | 17 | 7 | 13 |

Batteries—Hicklin and Cartier; McInnes and Balkwell. Umpire B. Miller.

WALLACEBURG.

June 10.—A directors's meeting of the C. D. & W. agricultural society will be held on Wednesday next, June 16th, at the office of Davidson & Stewart.

The public school children were given a half holiday yesterday afternoon in respect to Mr. Fraser, who was for many years secretary of the school board.

A. T. McDonald, of Sarnia, and W. R. Peck, of Chatham, were in town on Wednesday.

Quite a number of our leading Conservatives will attend the mass meeting in Chatham this evening.

A program of sports and games is being arranged by the teachers and scholars of the public and separate schools to be held in the grounds on the afternoon of June 18th.

In referring to the funeral of the late Charles Fraser we erroneously stated that four sons survived. There are six who were all present and acted as pallbearers in bearing the remains of their father to the grave.

Four carloads of manufactued flax were shipped from the flax works here on Wednesday.

A child of Alex. Templeton's died yesterday afternoon and was buried in the cemetery last evening.

George Lydiatt left last night on a business trip in the interests of the glass company.

THE VERASCOPE AND THE FIGHT.

When the Verascope pictures of the Carson battle were given in New York city on May 26, none enjoyed them more than Robert Fitzsimmons, who sat in an upper box and kept his eyes glued on the photographic representation of his fight with Corbett. He applauded the shadow figures of himself that moved about the canvas, urged himself to be cool, warned himself to avoid impending upper-cuts, and at the close, when his dymanic left hand crashed against Corbett's solar plexus region, the Cornishman rewarded himself with the exclamation:

"Well done, Bob."

A small boy wearing a new pair of red-top boots and occupying a front seat at the circus could not have exhibited more genuine pleasure than did Fitzsimmons, as round after round of the famous contest was depicted on the canvas. As soon as the spectators became aware of the presence of Corbett's conquerer there was great excitement, and the repetition took on the character of a real battle. There were cheers for Fitzsimmons, and an occasional shout for Corbett, but the sympathy of the crowd was clearly with the victor.

The fac-simile by counterparts of the Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight will be exhibited at the Grand Opera House Saturday night.

A BUGLER'S STORY OF HIS PART IN THE FAMOUS CHARGE.

The Man Who Claims the Honor of Blowing the Call For the Charge Living In Denver—Another Added to the Many Accounts of That Awful Blunder.

Though Alexander Sutherland, who is living in retirement in Denver, is 87 years old, his memory is still keen, and he delights in relating again and again the part he took in the famous charge of the Light brigade. There may be other survivors of that desperate race down the valley between hills bristling with guns, but Alexander Sutherland insists upon being credited with the honor of blowing the bugle that started the Light brigade upon its ill fated mission.

"The 600 men who were selected for this charge," said he, "were divided into three platoons, two companies to each platoon. Each company had its own bugler, making six in all. As I was with Lord Cardigan in the first platoon, I was the first bugler to receive his orders. I sounded the charge of that eventful day, and, following my bugle, the others repeated the call. We had been idle spectators of the general engagement that day and were waiting for orders from Lord Raglan. The order came after a time. It was to Lord Lucan to order up about 600 light cavalry and hold them in readiness to take the guns which the Turks had lost on Causeway heights. Lord Lucan awaited support from the infantry before advancing. A second order came from Lord Raglan, brought by Captain Nolan, directing the cavalry to charge to prevent the Turks carrying away their guns. Lord Lucan asked what guns to attack, and Captain Nolan replied:

"'There, my lord, is your enemy, and there are your guns,' pointing with his hand to the left and toward the end of North valley, and not toward the Causeway heights.

"Lord Lucan then rode over to Lord Cardigan to give orders for the charge. I was near by on foot, holding my horse's bridle rein, and heard the conversation between Lord Lucan and Lord Cardigan. They did not seem to interpret the order of Lord Raglan in the same way. Lord Cardigan explained to Lord Lucan that there were guns in the valley ahead as well as on both sides of us, and he thought that there must be some mistake, but Lord Lucan replied that that was the order of Lord Raglan, and there was no choice but to obey.

"Lord Cardigan assented. I was about eight or ten feet distant from him, and, turning, he gave me the first order. I blew 'attention' and then 'mount.' The first, second and third platoons were formed, and then, facing his men, Lord Cardigan briefly addressed them, telling them of the dangers of the charge and the probability of death to all. The men cheered him vigorously. Turning to me he said, 'Trumpeter, sound the forward!' and we set off at a fast walk. A little later, turning his head, Lord Cardigan shouted, 'Trumpeter, sound the trot!' and I blew the call.

"We swept directly down the valley with the Causeway heights on the right and the Fedioukine hills on the left, and for a distance of 1¼ miles we had guns on three sides of us. While we were still on the trot Captain Nolan was seen riding at furious speed across our front and bearing his course to the right. He was waving his sword and shouting to our command. His words we could not hear distinctly, but we afterward knew that he was trying to correct the blunder. Lord Cardigan shouted out, 'In God's name, what is that man doing there?' Some one in the middle platoon shouted back, 'Your lordship, I think he wants you to charge toward the Causeway heights.' 'It is too late to change now,' said Lord Cardigan, 'for we are too near the enemy.' Then turning in the saddle he shouted to me, 'Trumpeter, sound the charge!' I blew the blast and was swept like a whirlwind down the valley.

"It was the first shell, I think, that was fired that exploded some distance in front of Lord Cardigan, and a piece of that shell struck Captain Nolan, tearing a great hole in his left side. His horse, at once missing the guiding hand, turned to form with our advancing platoons. Captain Nolan still held his sword aloft, and he uttered a shriek that made us shudder. Then he wavered in his seat and fell to the ground near our charging column.

"It was no time to think. I followed close to Lord Cardigan, who rode ahead, turning often to urge his men forward. When we finally reached the enemy, so that we could return some of the blows, the men were lost to any sense of fear. The smoke became so thick that I lost sight of Lord Cardigan, but I could hear his voice shouting encouragment to his men. Running against a Russian artilleryman I struck him with my saber, but the stroke was short, and he came at me with a rammer. My horse was plunging ahead, and before we could fight out our duel I was carried beyond the battery and among the Cossacks. A cavalryman made a lunge at me, but I parried the thrust. The smoke was so thick that objects were indistinct.

"I was trying to find Lord Cardigan, so as to be near to receive his orders. For a time this was impossible. Finally I heard his voice shouting to his men to fall back, and at the same time I saw the white hind leg of the horse he rode. I lifted the bugle to my lips and tried to sound the retreat, but my horse was plunging madly about and I could scarcely play the notes. I was slightly wounded in each leg and was weak from loss of blood, and my horse was suffering more than I. The blast from my bugle indicated to the Russians my position, and as I again attempted to sound the call a shot tore away the bell of my instrument. At the same time I received a lance thrust on my head. Dazed by the blow, I fell forward, clasped my horse about the neck, and scarcely realized what was passing. My horse followed the troopers moving away in small squads through the dense smoke, and somewhere near where Captain Nolan's body lay the animal fell dead. I hobbled back to our place of starting. At the roll call, out of 673 men only 195 were left alive, and many were wounded so badly that they died afterward."—Denver Cor. New York Sun.

Uncooked Rice For the Complexion.

The wholesale eating of uncooked rice, which is supposed to insure a good complexion, appears to be the last idea among fashionable women. These unfortunate individuals, however, would do well to bear in mind the fact that the result of eating raw rice is an anæmic condition, and that the ghastly whiteness of a person suffering from anæmia is far from being fascinating or desirable to gaze upon.—London Figaro.

EGGS OF COMMERCE.

The Big Business Done In the International Trading In Them.

There is a standard joke in the variety theaters, so often told that it has come to have a familiar sound to the ears of patrons, concerning a remark made by a city man who heard that eggs had gone down to a cent apiece. "I don't see how the hens can do it for the price." Notwithstanding the reduction in the price of eggs, and the almost unlimited supply of them in all countries that have developed their agricultural resources, it is a fact that the trade in eggs, their exportation from one country to another, has become a large item of international commerce, as some recent figures show. The case of Denmark is in point. Denmark's trade in eggs with foreign countries, chiefly with England and Scotland, has grown enormously. Twenty years ago the annual Danish export of eggs was 600,000; now it is reckoned at 110,000,000. In the same period the importation of eggs into England has increased tenfold, but only a part of the whole number comes from Denmark, the two other egg exporting countries from which England draws its supplies being Holland and France. France exports to other countries 600,000,000 eggs in a year and Italy exports 800,000,000 eggs in a year, chiefly to Austria and Germany.

The dairymen of the United States depend chiefly on the enormous home market, and they have rivals in the export of American eggs in the Canadians, Canada ranking next to France and Italy and ahead of Denmark and Holland as an egg exporting country. Canada exports to other countries 300,000,000 eggs in a year. For the fiscal year of 1895 the treasury figures give as the total exports of American eggs to foreign countries 151,000 dozen, which is equivalent to 1,812,000 eggs. In the fiscal year 1896, however, the total exportations of American eggs increased to 328,000 dozen, or 3,936,000 eggs, a little more than twice as much.

It is a somewhat curious fact, that the weight of eggs is materially larger in northern than in southern climates, Canadian eggs, for instance, are heavier than those shipped from the United States, and eggs in the northern states of this country are heavier than those from the south.—New York Sun.

CHINATOWN'S PHYSICIANS.

Burned Paper and Ginseng Root, Which Bring Him Fancy Prices.

One of the queerest shops in Chinatown is that of a Chinese doctor, who wears large diamond rings and prescribes sharks' fins, birds' nests, and snakes' tongues for his patients. For prescriptions for indigestion it is his custom to charge his patient $1.

When that sum has been paid, he writes Chinese characters on a long strip of paper. This he burns, uttering incantations. The ashes he permits to fall into a glass of water which is given to the patient to drink. This cure is said to work every time, but a New York physician who has examined it says it consists of nothing more or less than the administration of charcoal, long known to practitioners as a cure for dyspepsia.

A much more expensive prescription which this New York Chinese doctor puts up for his patients is ginseng. There are some species of this peculiar plant for which the Chinatown doctor charges as much a $100 per pound.

Ginseng is supposed to infuse new life into him who takes it. To the devout Chinamen ginseng represents the fountain of youth, and for a small part of its precious wood he will often spend his last cent.

There are only three countries in the whole world where ginseng is found—China, Korea and the United States. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of ginseng are annually exported from this country to China, where it is in great demand by the native doctors, although European and American chemists who have examined it have failed to find that it possesses any curative or medicinal properties.

In China the best ginseng comes from Manchuria and sells for $100 per pound. This is called the imperial brand. The second grade is collected in Korea, while the ginseng used by the poorer classes comes from the United States.

The Chinatown doctor sells ginseng to his patients at $20 to $100 per pound. He insists on wrapping it up in red paper bearing Chinese characters. An American doctor who tasted some of it the other day said it had the flavor of orris root and that its virtues, for which the Chinese pay so highly, are purely imaginary.—New York Journal.

An Hour In Delphi.

I had an hour all to myself in Delphi, and thought over my day. The drive from Itea, the port of Delphi, is beautiful. The road is perfect. It is a French road. It passes through olive groves, the like of which for vigorous life I have never seen, or, seeing, have never marked, and then begins the ascent along the zigzags which furrow the face of the mountain. It recalled to my mind the road from Giardini to Taormina, the road from Palermo to Monreale. A very modern dogcart, driven by a very modern French archæologist, with a very modern French girl at his side, came bowling down the road at a reckless pace. The awe of Delphi was not yet upon us.

Then we reached a large village, Chryso by name, which is, being interpreted, Goldsborough—a corruption, it is suggested, of the ancient name Crissa; not an unnatural corruption, if one remembers the popular slanders against Delphi. Chryso seemed larger even than it was. Clambering far uphill, it waylays the traveler three times, and as we traversed it three times, the children of the village threw wild flowers into our carriages. When we went down, I must add, the withholding of a copper tribute roused the wrath of the youthful neighbors of Delphi, and other missiles than wild flowers were hurled into the carriage that I occupied.—B. L. Gildersleeve in Atlantic.

Beds With Drawers.

At some of the furniture houses are to be found brass bedsteads with drawers beneath, which, in these days of apartment life and voluminous wearing apparel, is a distinct advantage. There is a drawer at each end of the bedstead, extending across the width. They are entirely inclosed, and thus the contents are protected from all dust. While not wide enough for dress skirts, they are ample to hold a much trimmed bodice, and it is for these that they are specially designed.

Parted In the Middle.

Mr. Rattlebone's mouth is disfigured by the absence of one of his front teeth. His little son surprised him the other day by asking:

"Father, dear, what makes you part your teeth in the middle?"—Golden Days.

Restraint In Furnishing.

Restraint, says an artist, is what the modern furnisher wants to say to himself or herself a hundred times a day. There are so many artistic and good effects, one is tempted to choose quickly and lavishly. Get things slowly, even to supply a need, and only supply the need, be it decorative or utilitarian. A bedroom or a living room may be full of artistic harmony and pleasing effect and yet not have a superfluous article of furniture. Objects of art as such demand a cabinet or a room, or a suit of rooms, according to one's collection. They should not be forced into unnatural places simply because they are objects of art.

A Quick Method of Cleaning Knives.

After the knives have been washed and wiped moisten a little ordinary knife powder with water. Then take a clean cork, dip it in the mixture and rub each blade quickly up and down on both sides several times. Every stain will disappear, and the blades will be brighter than if rubbed on the board in the usual way. They will want another rinse in water and a final polish with a cloth. If the knives do not seem quite sharp enough by this plan, a weekly rub on the steel will do all that is required.—New York World.

Orange Blossoms.

Much uncertainty exists as to why the orange blossom has been so much worn by brides, but the general opinion seems to be that it was adopted as an emblem of fruitfulness. According to some authorities, the practice has been derived from the Saracens, among whom the orange blossom was regarded as a symbol of a prosperous marriage, a circumstance which is partly to be accounted for by the fact that in the east the orange tree bears ripe fruit and blossoms at the same time.

The Water Carafe.

When water is served at the table from a carafe, it may be frozen in the bottle with little trouble. The carafe should be filled about a third full of water and packed in ice and salt, wrapped around with wet newspapers and then with dry ones, and the water will freeze in possibly two hours. The carafe is filled with water just before it is taken to the table.

Impress upon the cook that she should strive not only to make her dishes easy of digestion and capable of furnishing whatever nutrition may be required, but also to give them the power of pleasing the palate, and not alone the palate, but the eye as well.

Wooden molding boards are no longer used in the up to date kitchen. Marble or plate glass, with a rolling pin of the same hard substance, has taken the place of wood. The new boards require less care to keep them clean and in proper condition.

It is said that a loaf of stale bread may be made to taste like newly baked bread if it is dipped in cold water for a minute or two and then put into a pan and rebaked for three-quarters of an hour.

Let all young housekeepers bear in mind that rule, order and system in all things are indispensable in the management of a well regulated household.

A little cream rubbed into black kid gloves will prevent the dye from coming off. It also gives them a nice gloss.

A WOMAN'S SOLILOQUY IN 1950.

I know my husband really tries
A pleasant home to make,
But he can't seem to make such pies
As father used to bake.

He keeps the parlors very neat,
Cares for the baby too.
But, oh, he doesn't roast the meat
As papa used to do!

He has good taste in cutting out
And sewing children's clothes.
That means economy, no doubt,
But father's cooking goes!

I really must insist that Jake
Shall seek a cooking school
And learn to make such pies and cake
As father does, by rule.

And then how proud and glad I'll be,
When ma brings father here,
To hear her say, "It's plain to see
Jacob can cook, my dear."
—J. L. Heaton in "The Quilting Bee."

TRUE CHARITY.

That Which Is Recognized and Practiced by All In India and Japan.

India, which has no poor law system, is the home of the ideal—religious, metaphysical and domestic—to an extent which makes those ridiculous who speak of her creeds as ignorant, or her inhabitants as "heathen." You never see any but the most wretched women begging for alms there. Why? The explanation proves how elevated, even if mistaken, the average moral sense is of the people. Every woman not deformed, or an outcast, or insane—at least in the higher castes—has been betrothed at an early age to a boy, whose household thenceforward adopts her entirely. If the little husband dies before or during marriage the disaster is regarded universally as the penalty for sins committed by the female in a previous life. The widow must submit, and will submit, not marrying again, but hoping, by patience, to rejoin her lord after death, and his family will until her demise loyally support her for his sake. Practically these views obtain all over the land, and as every female child becomes betrothed all women are definitely provided for.

If the rash ardor of certain crude reformers could have its will and alter this so as to promote the remarriage of Hindoo widows all those who became wives for a second time would find neither of the two allied families willing to sustain a wife belonging in the next world to two husbands, or to none at all. Besides this, the sentiment of the bhao-bund, or blood relationship, is all powerful in the land, and never repudiated. As also in Japan, where there are no poor laws and no paupers, the ties of kinship are everywhere acknowledged, discharged and repaid, and the household cakes will be distributed to all who put forth the claim of poverty, hunger and relationship. Add to all this that charity is not so much a virtue in India as a habit, a religious necessity, an indispensable passport to further prosperous existences, and it will be seen why India in a most tender and effective manner fulfills the law which Christians only, or principally, talk about.—Sir Edward Arnold in North American Review.

Bismarck's Boswell.

Bismarck's Boswell, Herr Moritz Busch, studied theology, but in 1848 went into politics as a violent democrat, came to the United States about the same time as Carl Schurz and for a short time filled the pulpit of a German church. He returned to Europe in 1853, to travel in Palestine on behalf of the Austrian Lloyds, edited the Greuzbote till 1866, and after acting in various capacities in Schleswig-Holstein and Hanover was employed by Bismarck as press reporter. Among his duties as such were the writing and forwarding of articles which the chancellor wished in the interest of his policy to see published in the leading papers. He remained in Bismarck's service without any distinct functions till 1873.

After the war a number of sketches from his journal were published in the Gartenlaube, but they were suddenly broken off by the editor of that periodical, whereupon Count Bismarck wrote to the editor expressing his father's satisfaction. Busch is the most copious and minute of the prince's biographers, with a genuine Boswellian veneration for his subject, which is by no means the least qualification for such a function.

Two Trolleys.

There are two kinds of trolleys—those that are built to carry passengers and those that are built to sell bonds of and to sell machinery to. They may look alike at first, but in time the difference becomes very apparent, and there are obvious dangers in multiplying the latter variety. It takes somebody's money to set any trolley line going. The people are full of the idea that real estate doubles the minute a trolley line touches it, and there is in the air more or less of the spirit that led, thirty years or so ago, to ruinous investments in steam roads all over the state. The farmer who takes his savings bank deposit to help build a trolley that is to pass his door may mortgage his home next to keep the road running, and eventually may see the service stopped and the house sold. People don't run trolleys at a loss forever. Somebody must foot the bills.

It is asserted in some well informed quarters that one must search long to find a single cross country trolley that pays. Be that as it may, it is obvious that a good many are projected that cannot pay, and it is equally true that eventually the line that doesn't pay will come to grief.—Hartford Courant.

Timepieces.

The earliest contrivance for keeping time was the hourglass, which, of uncertain antiquity, was still employed at the beginning of the present century, and, indeed, is now in use on some reading desks in the English churches. On the pulpit of the queen's chapel at Windsor there is a twenty minute glass, which time the orator for the Sunday is advised not to exceed. The clepsydra, or water clock of the Romans, was invented by Scipio Nasica 158 B. C., and toothed wheels were introduced into these pieces of mechanism by Ctesibius about 140 B. C. The earliest complete clock of which there is certain record was made by a Saracen mechanic in the thirteenth century. The most celebrated clock in the world is that of the cathedral at Strasbourg, which tells not only the hour, but the day of the week, the month, the day of the month and the year. It contains a large number of automatons, figures of angels, saints and animals, which appear at regular intervals, and a crowd always assembles at the hour of noon to witness the procession of automatons at that time.

A healthy appetite, with perfect digestion and assimilation, may be secured by the use of Ayer's Pills. They cleanse and strengthen the whole alimentary canal and remove all obstructions to the natural functions of either sex, without any unpleasant effects.

"Why have you quit fighting for the single tax theory, Dumly?"

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave. How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

WILL DINE ELSEWHERE.

Hobo—"Have you some work, madam, that I could do in exchange for a meal?"

Lady of the house—"Plenty of it."

Hobo—"I'll bid you good day, madam."

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favor. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

"I wonder," said Mrs. Cumrox thoughtfully, "what that nice, old-fashioned lady means by putting 'P. P. C.' on her card." "That means she is going away," replied her daughter. "Oh, I see; and she wants us to know that she is going to travel in a Pullman palace car."—Washington Star.

CATARRH CURED FOR 25 CENTS.

Neglect cold in the head and you will surely have catarrh. Neglect nasal catarrh and you will as surely induce pulmonary diseases or Catarrh of the stomach with its disgusting attendants, foul breath, hawking, spitting, blowing, etc. Stop it by using Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. 25 cents a box cures. A perfect blower enclosed with each box.

A DECIDED HINT.

Mother—What in the world ever possessed you to give Mr. Bingo a shaving set?

Daughter—He never seems to realize how tender my face is.

"I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure at the Drug Store of Mr. Boyle here. I am thankful to say it has proved most effective. I have also tried your Kidney-Liver Pills and found them excellent." — Henry R. Nicholls, Rectory, London.

With the blood full of humors, the heated term is all the more oppressive. Give the system a thorough cleansing with Ayer's Sarsaparilla and a dose or two of Ayer's Pills, and you will enjoy Summer as never before in your life. Just try this for once, and you'll not repent it.

TWO BOTTLES CURE PIMPLES.

LORD RANDOLPH'S WAGER.

How the Statesman Made Quick Time Across Westminster Bridge.

The late Lord Randolph Churchill was scarcely less famous as a wit and joker than as a statesman. His colleagues in the house of commons were oftentimes the victims of his pranks, and many a good story in which "Randy" figures as the hero is still told in the lobbies. One night while Lord Randolph was conversing with several friends in the cafe attached to the house a question arose as to the time it would take a pedestrian to cross Westminster bridge. Different opinions were expressed, but no two of the disputants were able to agree. At length Lord Randolph, who had been a silent auditor of the discussion, offered to wager that he could cross from the Middlesex to the Surrey side of the bridge while "Big Ben," the great bell in the clock tower of the parliament buildings, was striking the four quarters and the hour of 12. The wager was accepted by one of the members of the company, and it was arranged that at the hour named witnesses should be stationed at each end of the bridge to watch the performance.

A few minutes before midnight a select party of well known members was seen to emerge from a little door near the speaker's quarters in the parliament buildings and stalk sedately across the bridge. At the farther end the party paused and was soon surrounded by a curious throng. Several other distinguished legislators soon afterward appeared and politely requested passersby to keep to the left. Just as "Big Ben" began to strike the first quarter the lithe figure of a man, wearing a top hat and evening clothes, was seen to leap out of a little group of men on the Middlesex side. Some waggish friend raised the cry of "Stop thief!" and in a jiffy half a score of wondering men and boys were fast on the heels of the doughty sprinter. A policeman, hearing the cry and observing the fleeing man, started in pursuit.

As Big Ben continued to clang the pace grew hotter and hotter. One by one the pursuers began to fall away, but the big policeman hung grimly to his task. When the center of the bridge was reached, the quarters had been rung and the great bell had already begun to strike the hour. A cheer arose from the watchers on the Surrey side, and Lord Randolph, who had until then been running up an incline, now had the descent in his favor. A few moments later the panting policeman came upon his man, surrounded by admiring friends.

"What's up?" stuttered the breathless and bewildered bobby.

"Two strokes to spare!" puffed the victorious Lord Randolph.

The officer started, blushed, apologized, wiped his brow and went away.—Exchange.

PARIS FLATS BEAT OURS.

The Frenchman Pays Less and Gets More For His Money.

In some respects at least flat life in Paris seems to hold advantages over that in New York and Harlem. The concierge, for instance, has not obtained yet the despotic power of the imperial Harlem janitor. He does not even attempt to dictate to the tenants when they shall or shall not eat, and they may dump their ashes and cook their meals at their own sweet will.

The concierge, like the janitor, lives in the building, and he is expected, besides keeping the building scrupulously clean, to attend to all the wants of his tenants. He or his wife must run all the errands, take up the cards of visitors and see that no guest is compelled to climb up to a flat when the owner is out. For his services the concierge receives a regular fee, amounting to about $250 a year.

The rental, too, of the Parisian flat is much less than that of New York, Harlem, or even Brooklyn. At Neuilly-sur-Seine, a bus ride of about three-quarters of an hour from the heart of Paris, one may get a three room flat, with kitchen and bath, for less than $10 a month.

The apartments in this suburb overlook a beautiful park, the rooms are honestly "light and airy," and the kitchen contains running water, a stove, meat safe and coal bin. All the rooms are furnished with parquet flooring, the ceiling is decorated prettily and French windows open out on to little balconies.

The marketmen in the neighborhood deal in products suitable to such miniature homes. It is possible to buy rabbit, duck, hare, chicken, turkey, goose and other game by the pound. Vegetables, cut ready for soup, can be bought, and the baker brings around crisp bread at 6:30 every morning.—New York Press.

The Eyes of the Eagle.

That the eagle has almost wonderful power of vision is shown from the fact that it flies in almost a straight line for any object which it desires to secure. Baby eagles also possess this farsightedness. Long before human eyes can discern them their gaze is fixed on distance, and their cries of welcome to their parents are shrill and continuous. The structure of their eyes makes them peculiarly strong. The brightest glare of sunlight does not affect them. Eagles do not fly as high in the air as some other birds, but their flight is very long and steady. A peculiarity about eagles is that they are constant to their mates, not changing every season, as most birds do. Sometimes the same pair of eagles will return to the same nest year after year. They seem to become acquainted with the locality, and if they are not disturbed are regular tenants.—New York Ledger.

A Guilty Conscience.

"I was quite at a loss," said Mr. Stormington Barnes, "to understand why, when I pointed my finger into space and said 'the counterfeit presentment of a man,' a man got up and left precipitately."

"I guess," exclaimed the treasurer, "that he must have been the man who did it."

"Did what?"

"Came in on a lead quarter."—Washington Star.

MOTHERS REJOICE

AS THEY SEE THEIR LITTLE ONES MADE STRONG AND WELL BY KOOTENAY WHICH CONTAINS THE NEW INGREDIENT.

A sick child always appeals to our love and sympathy. It commands the tenderest care and watchfulness of its mother, who would gladly sacrifice anything to have her darling well.

To mothers who have children suffering from any disease brought about by thin, watery or impure blood, Kidney Trouble following Scarlet Fever, Rheumatism, Eczema or any other skin rash, or any condition in which the child is puny, weak and delicate, and does not thrive well, one would strongly recommend the use of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, not because we say it's good for these conditions, but because Mothers gladly state under oath how it saved their darlings when everything else failed.

One of these mothers was Mrs. Geo. White, who lives at 139 Stinson St., Hamilton, Ont. She says that her daughter Louisa is nine years of age, has always been delicate, and has had Eczema since birth. Since giving her Kootenay Cure the Eczema has gone, and her general health is greatly improved.

Another, Mrs. Isabella Sullivan, of 65 Walnut Street South of the same city, has a little boy aged five, who was attacked with Rheumatism and pains in his back and Kidneys so bad that he could not stand or get out of bed without assistance. Despite the skilled medical attendance he grew very weak, and at times would faint. Kootenay has gladdened the heart of Mrs. Sullivan by restoring her boy, so that now she says he can play hard all day, and is as healthy a child as one could wish for.

Instances like these are well worth the serious consideration of those having sick or suffering children.

The detailed sworn statements of the above cases, together with hundreds of others, sent free, by addressing the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont.

Sir Charles Tupper Banquetted by the Party

The Veteran Was in Capital Form and Aroused His Hearers to the Highest Pitch of Enthusiasm by His Spirited Speech—The Record of the Grand Old Party Reviewed Briefly—Some Attention Paid to the Premier of To-Day and the Policy of His Government—Speeches by Sir John Carling, Mr Foster and Others.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—The banquet to Sir Charles Tupper, given to-night in the restaurant of the Senate, was far and away the most notable party gathering of the present Parliament. Hon. George W. Allan occupied the chair. To his right were seated the guest of the evening, Sir Charles Tupper, K.C.M.G., wearing proudly the order of his knighthood; Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. George E. Foster and Senator Dickey; to his left Sir John Carling, Senator Aikins, Senator Ferguson and Col. Tisdale, M.P. In the chairs were Messrs. Dupont and Davis, Hon. N. C. Wallace and Hon. T. Chase Casgrain. The company included the Conservative members and Senators to the number of 120.

Senator Allan, in introducing the toast of the evening, that of the guest, alluded to the auspiciousness of the banquet as an event of the Jubilee year.

Sir Charles Tupper replied at length. The Conservative chieftain never seemed in better form. The enthusiastic reception of the 120 or more Conservatives present lent impetus to his utterances, which aroused his hearers to the utmost pitch of enthusiasm.

Sir Charles, at the outset, alluded modestly to the abilities he had been able to place at the disposal of his party. Never, he said, had it occupied a more important position than to-day, with a majority in the country of 19,000 in its favor. The result of the bye-elections had been largely in favor of the Government, but that was the usual experience; and to-day the Liberals were using every expedient of terrorism and corruption to maintain that position. Yet it was satisfactory to note that not a single man of note or character in the country could be pointed to as having abandoned the principles of the party. The bye-elections in Simcoe and North Ontario made no change of sentiment in the country. In Quebec the result in Champlain, the only real test of the feeling of the people, had been equally pronounced, although the odds were those of the most gigantic corruption ever perpetrated. So, too, was it in Nova Scotia. The position of the party was that they had fallen with their face to the foe, and were now discharging the duties of Her Majesty's local Opposition. All that was necessary to a return to power was an adherence to the principle which they had never lost.

The record of Conservative rule was written in the progress of the country. Nobody could say the party was defeated on its fidelity to the principle of protection and preferential trade within the Empire.

Apropos of Mr. Laurier's political obliquity, Sir Charles told a story of a patient to whom he was introduced in Paris, who had acquired, under hypnotic influence, the singular faculty of forgetting all that had previously transpired, and showed how the Liberal leader had forgotten all his ante-election promises.

In so far as the tariff was concerned the Liberals had accorded to the Opposition the sincerest sort of flattery, namely, that of imitation. In regard to the so-called preferential tariff, Sir Charles showed how much more nearly the Conservative program would have attained to the ideal than that adopted by their successors. So, too, was it with regard to the fast Atlantic, the canal deepening and other policies. In fact, the only original party measure was the franchise bill, of which they had grown ashamed in the end and given it up.

Sir Charles concluded by expressing the hope that in so far as the policy of the Government might redound to the benefit of the country it might succeed. Mr. Laurier, like George IV., had begun to imagine he was to be credited with the national success, of imagining that he had actually constructed the trans-sontinental railway from ocean to ocean—[laughter and cheers]—but there was one policy of which Mr. Laurier could boast, and to which he was welcome, namely, the wholesale dismissals from office, without investigation, without charge of incompetency. So cruel and unjust was it that the people will denounce this introduction of the spoils system, against which Sir John Macdonald steadfastly set his face. Mr. Laurier appeared before the country with a policy of preferential trade, copied from his political opponents, the proposition having been established by the Conservatives that with a preferential rat in hr favor Canada could supply the Mother Country altogether with bread and meat. [Cheers.] Mr. Chamberlain had assented to that. But in springing their precious policy on the country the Liberals had really defeated the whole object in view. Witness their proposal to allow Germany and Belgium to participate in those preferential benefits to the detriment of the Canadian workman!

Sir Charles expressed his deep obligation to the party for the trust imposed in him—the party to whom was to be credited all the progress that Canada had achieved—yet no man, he added, would more cheerfully resign the trust than he, whenever the party should decide that such a change was desirable in the interests of the country and the Liberal Conservative party. [Prolonged cheers.]

Mr. Davin, in his own inimitable way, proposed the toast of the Senate of Canada, dealing eloquently with the constitutional success, which had been achieved by the upper chamber.

In response, Sir John Carling alluded to the splendid career of the party under the leadership of Sir John Macdonald, and trusted to its continuance under Sir Charles Tupper.

Senator Bernier spoke both in French and English, in enthusiastic commendation of the objects of the gathering.

Senator Sullivan excited the enthusiasm of the gathering by alluding to the constitutional services of the second chamber. He had a jocular "go" at the pious proclivities of the present leader of the Senate, and gave the M. P.'s a gentle dig by observing that the "lobby" ended at the Commons and had no place in the Senate whatever, the motto of that chamber being, "Justice to all." Speaking of the present leader, Senator Sullivan alluded to the popular affection with which the possibility of his accession to the leadership had been hailed throughout the whole of Canada.

Senator Lougheed proposed the toast of the House of Commons in a happy way.

Hon. Mr. Foster, replying, paid a pretty tribute to the success achieved by Sir Charles Tupper in his position as leader. Coming down to politics, he did not regret that the Liberal party had been allowed an opportunity to translate their professions into practice, and to show to the country the difference between Liberal profession and Liberal practice. In this case the Liberals had first gone back on their promises and now it remained to be seen how they would proceed to manage the affairs of the country. Yet in that they would undoubtedly fail, so it only remained for the Conservative party to be true to their principles and to achieve ultimate success. Then, after he had spoken of the binding influence of adversity, he alluded to the poor attempt of the Liberals to imitate the Imperial sentiment of the Conservative party. They had endeavored to add the blood of trade to the blood of sentiment, but in that they had set at naught the sentiment which made a treaty of the Empire equally binding upon the subject in London as upon the subject of the remotest part of the Kingdom.

Mr. Foster's plea for party unity and fidelity to the party's principle was most effective, eliciting continuous and enthusiastic cheers, and, in conclusion, he observed that in Sir Charles Tupper the party had a leader deep in its traditions and well qualified to be judged by the high standard of those who had gone before him.

Speeches in response were also delivered by Mr. Osler, who spoke of the unifying influence of opposition; Messrs. Monk, McNeill, Wallace, Sullivan, Beattie and others. It was 2 o'clock when the notable gathering dispersed.

It was a grand gathering in every respect, and the influence of it will surely be felt by the political thought of the country for many a day to come.

A LEASE DON'T COUNT

When It Runs Contrary to the Will of the Railway Committee—Important Statement by Hon. A. G. Blair.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—An important statement was made in the Railway Committee this morning by the Minister of Railways. It was on the bill to incorporate the Hull, St. Louis Dam and Victoria Springs Railway Company, which seeks power to build railway lines through the eastern and southern suburbs of Ottawa. The bill was opposed by the Ottawa corporation, the Parry Sound Railway and the Ottawa Electric Railway. The chief objection came from the Parry Sound Railway, which objected because the road was to run along the canal reserve, which is Government property and would interfere with their rights.

It was at this point that Mr. Blair made his statement. The Minister maintained that this was a matter for the Railway Committee of the Privy Council to decide, and he proposed putting a clause in the bill, if it passed, making provision in regard to that. For his own part he could not see any objections to granting a charter for a railway from Hull to Hog's Back. He did not, however, agree with the details of the bill.

Mr. Christie, Q. C., held that the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway had a lease over the canal reserve, and that the Railway Committee could not do anything except subject to that lease.

Mr. Blair emphatically protested against that idea, and maintained that in every instance the Railway Committee of the Privy Council was supreme. Even if a lease were granted by the Governor-in-Council, that would not prevent the Railway Committee of the Privy Council from exercising jurisdiction at any time.

Mr. Maclean said that this was an important matter and he was glad to hear the Minister of Railways speak as he did. In his opinion it was one of the most important statements ever made at the committee. It showed that the Minister did not propose to recognize such a thing as vested rights by railways in the public domain.

Sir Charles Tupper opposed the bill, and said that the committee should guard against any company applying for charters which might be for the purpose of levying blackmail. The measure was eventually withdrawn.

MAHER AND SHARKEY DRAW.

Seven Rounds Were Fought When the Police Interfered—Sharkey Drew First Blood.

Round 1—They sparred carefully for a minute, Sharkey holding his hands wide apart. Sharkey led for the stomach and missed. Sharkey tried a right swing, but was too short. He tried a swing again for the body, but fell short. Once more Sharkey, still aggressive, swung his right on neck and they clinched. Maher jabbed his left in the wind and swung his right on neck at end of round.

Round 2—After some sparring, Maher jabbed his left on neck and Sharkey crossed his right on neck. Sharkey put a left swing high up on Maher's arm. Maher sent in a very low jab, but Sharkey stopped it with his glove. Tom jabbed left in wind and swung again with left on chest. Sharkey led for the stomach, and put a low left on stomach and Maher crossed his right on the head.

Round 3—Sharkey led left, but fell short and Maher crossed him with the right on the chest. Sharkey led left, fell short and then touched Maher on the nose with right swing. Peter feinted frequently and tried to draw Sharkey out. Then he jabbed left on his head and they exchanged lefts on the face. Both men were careful, but Sharkey left himself very open whenever he stepped back.

Round 5—Peter fiddled a good deal and landed a left jab on the mouth and Sharkey jabbed his left on the stomach. Sharkey swung right on stomach and Maher crossed his left on the face. Just then Sharkey said: "Why don't you cut your moustache off?" and jabbed his left in the wind. Then he jabbed right and left on the face. During this round there were cries of "Fight, fight!" which showed that some of those present did not like such tame boxing.

Round 6—There was a long spell of fiddling and dancing around. Sharkey tried to get Maher into a neutral corner. Sharkey led left for stomach and fell short. Maher jabbed left on chest and Sharkey swung a right on the head. Peter led left for face, but fell short, and then Sharkey sent a straight right on the mouth, which put Maher down, and he fell half through the ropes, where he remained fully six seconds. His mouth was bleeding when he got up and the bell rang ten seconds later.

Round 7—First blood for Sharkey in the last round sent his stock up, and Maher's face wore a worried look when he came to the scratch in this round. Peter fell short on a left lead for the face, and Sharkey swung left and right on face and head. Sharkey swung right on ribs and jabbed his left in the stomach. Maher clinched and they broke away clean. Maher rushed and put a right and a left swing on the face and they clinched. After a breakaway Maher swung a left on the face and a right on the jaw, which sent Sharkey on his back on the ropes. When Sharkey rose the men clinched and were in that position when the gong sounded.

Maher was using his right hand, sending uppercuts on the ribs and body, and did not break when the gong sounded. When they did break one of Maher's seconds rushed over to take Maher to his corner, when Sharkey turned and punched him on the nose. There were cries of foul, while Maher and Sharkey were clinched at the call of time, but the police jumped into the ring and created an uproar by arresting the principals, seconds and the referee.

The bout was declared a draw. The men were all taken to the 104th-street Police station.

LUMBERMEN AROUSED.

A Strong Deputation at the Capital to Enter Protest

And Map Out a Line of Action by Which to Checkmate the Hostility Shown to Canada As Regards Manufactured Lumber and Pulp—Casey's Bill and the Senate—W. T. R. Preston on a Pipe-Laying Trip—Yukon Co.'s Bill Passes Third Reading—Pacific Cable Matters—Ottawa News in General.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—Canadian lumbermen and those financially interested in lumbering operations are evidently deeply stirred by the latest news from Washington regarding the lumber duties. Over thirty representative lumbermen, bank presidents and directors, directors of railways and transportation companies, held meetings here this afternoon to discuss the situation and decide upon a line of action to be taken in consequence of the rejection by the United States Senate of motions to strike out the duties on lumber and pulp wood imposed by the Dingley bill. The great injustice of allowing Canadian logs and pulp wood to be exported to the United States free of duty, to be there manufactured into lumber and pulp, which would then compete with Canadian products upon which an import duty must be paid, was pointed out, and it was unanimously resolved that the Government be asked to take power to make provision by Order-in-Council to impose an export duty on logs and pulp wood, equal at least to the United States import duty, should that be ultimately imposed. The deputation then waited upon the Government to-night and urged that the request of the meeting should be complied with. Strong reasons were given in support of the request, and as the tariff bill is still under consideration, action favorable to the deputation's request is immediately expected. They got a most encouraging answer from the Government.

The deputation included W. C. Edwards, M.P., E. W. Rathbun of Deseronto; A. R. Booth, H. R. Egan, Alex. Fraser, W. C. Hughson, W. T. Mason, G. S. Leithan, McLaren Brothers, Levi Crannell of the Bronson & Weston Co. of Ottawa; Thomas Mackie, M.P., Ald. Scott of Toronto, Mr. Whitney of the St. Anthony Lumber Co.; Senator Cox, J. L. Burton of Barrie, Senator Drummond, E. B. Osler, M.P., J. Mather and G. Burn, Bank of Ottawa.

On the third reading of the Act respecting interest, Sir Oliver Mowat moved to add a clause to the bill providing that it should not apply to mortgages on real estate.

Senator Ferguson wanted to know the reason of the amendment, and Sir Oliver explained that he had prepared the clause at the suggestion of Senator Ogilvie, to meet the views of the Loan Companies. The question as applied to mortgages was also dealt with in another Federal Act, so there was no use repeating the law. The amendment was adopted and the bill as amended stands for third reading to-morrow.

Sir Oliver Mowat announced that he proposed to drop the bill he had on the order paper respecting employment of children in factories. He had found that the Federal Parliament had no jurisdiction to pass such an act.

E. B. Ryckman, G. H. Orr and W. H. Irwin of Toronto, and Hal. B. Donly of Simcoe, representing the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, are here again to give the Casey Baggage bill a lift among the Senators. They spent much time in the east wing, and from present appearances have a hard fight before them. Report has it that the Senators are likely to throw the bill out. Senator Lougheed of Calgary has consented to take charge of the bill.

The object of Ald. W. T. R. Preston's visit to Ottawa last week is now known. Bro. Preston fears that when Mr. Whitney becomes Premier of Ontario next year, he (Bro. Preston) will have a short shrift. He wants to get in out of the wet in good time, hence he is laying pipe for a Federal position, and it is said has received the promise of the wardenship of Kingston Penitentiary. It was first offered to Major Walsh of Brockville, but on his declining it, Ald. Preston had the call.

The British Yukon Chartered Company's bill came up for a third reading in the Senate this afternoon. An amendment was added, on motion of Senator Lougheed, to the effect that the powers granted under the bill should be exercised only with the consent of the municipalities affected. The bill was read a third time.

Mr. Fisher gives notice to-night of a resolution regarding the arrangements with the steamship companies for cold storage accommodation, as outlined some time ago by Prof. Robertson before the Committee on Agriculture. The cost of refrigeration plant and insulation is estimated at $10,000 per steamship, one-half of which is to be paid by the Government in three equal annual instalments. The Government seeks power to enter into contracts with persons or companies for providing cold storage accommodation at Toronto, Quebec, St. John, Halifax and Charlottetown, the Government granting a dividend of 5 per cent. annually for three years on a sum not exceeding $40,000 on the cost of cold storage premises and refrigerating plant at Quebec, Halifax and St. John, $50,000 at Toronto and $20,000 at Charlottetown.

Mr. John Craig, horticulturist at the Experimental Farm, told the Agricultural Committee of the House to-day that three cases of existence of the San Jose scale had been found in Canada. Mr. Craig proposed that the Customs officers should be instructed to refuse the admission to Canada of all packages of fruit trees, unaccompanied by a certificate of the State entomologist whence the consignments came, declaring the orchard where the trees originated was free from scale. Mr. Craig stated to the committee that the Department of Agriculture has leased a few fields in Niagara district for the prosecution of experiments in fruit culture, which cannot satisfactorily be carried on at Ottawa.

A. R. Milne, Collector of Customs at Victoria, B.C., has sent forward to the exhibition in the Imperial Institute in London, England, in connection with the Diamond Jubilee, a sealing exhibit. The exhibit comprises spears, guns, gaffs and implements used in hunting seals, the boats and everything pertaining to them. The exhibition has already been opened, but as it will remain open until September next, British Columbia's exhibit will arrive in good time.

THE HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Members Plugged Through a Lot of Business Yesterday and Secured an Early Adjournment.

Ottawa, June 9.—(Special.)—The Minister of Trade and Commerce is to explain the fast Atlantic steamship question in the House to-morrow.

Mr. Davies told Mr. Cameron that the officers and men of the fishery cruisers were receiving the same rate of pay as in 1896.

Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to amend the Postoffice Act, the object of which, he said, was to arrange for security from employes of the department, either by means of guarantees from companies or the establishing of a fund. He wished to avoid, if possible, the procuring of security bonds from each officer. The bill also authorizes the creation of the railway mail service branch.

Mr. Ellis remarked that he would have liked to hear the Postmaster-General say that the bill provided for the insurance of registered letters.

Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to amend the Civil Service Act. It proposes to make a new class, to be known as stampers and sorters, in city postoffices. Another clause would permit the Government to make certain changes in the department staffs in regard to officers who had entered the service prior to 1882 without examination.

Sir Charles Tupper asked the Government to table any correspondence with the Government of the Leeward Islands in regard to the recommendation of a competent engineer to carry on the public works in that colony. E. J. Walsh of Ottawa had been recommended for the position by the Dominion Government, and was now suing the Government of the Leeward Islands for arrears of salary.

The House then went into committee on the tariff. The discussion on the item of barbed wire was resumed.

Mr. Paterson mentioned that it was proposed to make a new item, "woven wire fence," dutiable at 25 per cent. He said that the use of barbed wire was decreasing, and this new class of fencing coming into more general use.

Then the floodgates opened and the Government was severely criticized for depriving the farmer of the opportunity of securing this new class of wire by this high rate of duty. It was pointed out that if there was any reason for making barbed wire free to benefit the farmer, surely the same remark would apply to the new class of fencing.

Incidentally it was elicited that the protection of 25 per cent. was to be given to a wire fence factory at Walkerville, in a Liberal constituency.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Fielding admitted it was a fair question as to whether or not the proposed duty of 27 per cent. was too high. The Government would, therefore, consider whether or not it should be made lower.

Mr. Foster asked that the item, "skates, 35 per cent.," stand. There was keen competition as regards this industry, from cheap German labor, and he would ask the Government to consider whether a specific duty might not fairly be re-imposed.

Mr. Russell joined with Mr. Foster in asking that the item be held over.

Mr. Maclean read from the Parliamentary herd book to show that while Mr. Russell posed as "an ideal free trader," he was not averse to asking for more protection for an industry in his own town.

Good progress was then made and over 40 items passed before dinner hour arrived.

One change was made. Stereos and electros for newspaper columns are dutiable at 1-4 cent per square inch. Matrices, or copper sheets for the same, which the tariff fixed at 2 cents per square inch, were reduced to 1 1-2 cents.

At the evening session there were empty benches on the Opposition side, owing to the banquet then in progress to Sir Charles Tupper. Messrs. Taylor, Henderson and Gilmour being sole representatives of the Conservative party. Rapid progress is being made, Mr. Fielding allowing such items to stand as Mr. Taylor requested.

There was a good deal of pleasant banter when Mr. McMullen entered the House and took his seat on the front Opposition benches. He was promptly repudiated by Mr. Henderson as an Oppositionist.

Mr. McGregor remarked that Mr. McMullen was more at home on the Opposition benches than on the Government side. Presently some wag commenced to send copies of the Auditor-General's report to the member for North Wellington, and soon there was a stack in front of him which obstructed his view of the Government benches.

Meanwhile the Deputy Speaker was driving through the tariff at racehorse speed. One change was made regarding which there has been a good deal of criticism in the press. Articles by mail and express of not more than 50 cents in value, will, as a result of the change, not come in free.

Mr. Erb sought to have oil paintings made dutiable at 25 per cent., but both Mr. Fielding and Mr. Wood of Hamilton objected.

The Deputy Speaker rattled along, and the back benches on the Liberal side were having their fun. A halt was, however, called on the item in free list, "salt imported from the United Kingdom or any British possession, or imported for the use of the sea or Gulf fisheries."

Then the three Conservative members were edified to see stalwart after stalwart on the Liberal side rising and pleading for protection. It was John McMillan, who set the ball rolling. He pleaded that English salt was entering into unfair competition with the Ontario product, and urged that all salt be made dutiable and a rebate granted when imported for use in sea fisheries.

Mr. Taylor said he was glad to hear the protectionist sentiments of the honorable gentleman. If he would move that item be struck out he (Mr. Taylor) would be glad to second it.

Mr. McMullen rose in hot haste to disavow the statement that he was a protectionist.

Major Sutherland endorsed Mr. McMillan's observations regarding the salt industry.

Then Mr. Cameron took the floor and talked good protectionism. If Ontario had to pay duty on coal, he did not see why Ontario salt should not be protected. There was no combination now among the salt manufacturers. They had to contend with very serious opposition, as English table salt, admitted free, was being sold in the towns of Western Ontario. He was not asking for protection in the ordinary sense of the term. He wanted to keep alive and maintain one of the most important industries in the Dominion. [Derisive cheers from the Opposition tric.]

Messrs. McGregor and McDonald (Huron) followed in the same strain.

The latter, on rising, was greeted with the cry from the Liberal benches, "another protectionist." This he promptly proceeded to disavow, but in a minute or two was arguing in favor of protection and justice to the great industry of his county.

Dr. McLennan (Liberal, Inverness) expressed his surprise to hear this.

The item passed without change.

Mr. Davis of Saskatchewan urged a duty on tea, but no change was made.

By 10.30 p.m. over 300 items had been passed, and with the exception of about a dozen items, all the schedules had been disposed of.

Sir Richard Cartwright said in consideration of the extreme assiduity and attention to business on the part of hon. members, and the unparalleled progress made, although the hour was early, he thought the House might adjourn.

Mr. Henderson asked what business would be taken up to-morrow.

Sir Richard replied that in the morning the fast line contract would be considered and afterwards the estimates and the tariff.

The House then adjourned.

7070-Ladies' Waist with Bolero Fronts. 7071-Ladies' Skirt with Pointed Yoke Band.

(Hints by May Manton.)

FIGURED cambric made this neat and serviceable work dress, which consists of a waist and skirt. It is particularly adapted for morning wear, when the thrifty housewife is obliged to superintend, or perhaps assist, in the cares of her household. There is no reason why every woman cannot be neatly attired, even in the performance of these homely tasks, particularly when one stops to consider the trifling cost of such a garment. Wash fabrics can be purchased from five to twelve and one-half cents per yard. As it requires but ten yards for making this gown, the sum total, including braid and buttons, is a mere trifle.

The waist has gathered fulness on each side of the box-plaits, through which button-holes are worked to effect the closing in the centre-front. The back is gathered at the top and joined to a yoke lining with straight lower edge, the pointed yoke being placed over the others and firmly stitched down, thus ensuring a durable finish. The neat little bolero is simply included in the shoulder and under-arm seams, and has the free edges outlined with white linen braid. At the neck is a close standing band with an addition above. This collar can be substituted for the regulation white linen collar, if preferred. The sleeves are cut after the manner of this year's shirt waist, and are considerably modified from those of last season. They are gathered at the top and again at the wrists, where they are completed by cuffs. The fulness at the waist line is adjusted by gathers, which are sewed to a narrow belt.

The full skirt has a straight lower edge neatly decorated with braid. The top is collected in gathers and sewed to the lower edge of a waist band or girdle that is deepest at the centre-front, where it is prettily pointed. The closing is effected at the centre-back, where the placket opening is finished.

The mode is adapted to all serviceable materials, but at this season of the year cambric, percale, calico and gingham are the most preferable, as they can be laundered with ease.

To make this waist for a lady in the medium size will require four yards of thirty-six inch material. The skirt will require six yards of the same width goods. The waist pattern, No. 7070, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure. The skirt pattern, No. 7071, is cut in sizes for a 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inch waist measure.

TILBURY.

June 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Tierman pleasantly entertained a number of friends last night.

The sale of the farm and effects of the late Samuel R. Wilson in Tilbury East yesterday was largely attended, and, although the terms were cash, everything brought good prices.

Boring operations at the gas well have been suspended for the last couple of days, owing to the absence of Mr. Thompson in Toledo, where he was attending the funeral of his brother. Work was resumed again to-day, however.

A drunken man, who was making the air blue with profanity on the street yesterday, was run in by H. Gregory. He was released after spending a few hours in the cooler.

A large number of villagers will go to Jeannette's Creek to-morrow night to yell for the local football club in their game against the team of that place.

Mrs. Ballore, of Wisconsin, will arrive here next week on an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peltier.

Commencing next week the local barber shops will observe the early closing movement, and shops will be closed at 7 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Jack Hartford, of Leamington, was in town yesterday endeavoring to get the Tilbury baseball club to go to Leamington on Jubilee day and play a game with the Leamington club. No arrangement was arrived at.

BLENHEIM

June 10.—Fall wheat promises well. The meadows are heavy and will yield an heavy crop of hay. Oats are coming on well. Barley, small acreage. Corn, which is largely grown through this section, is very backward, owing to the wet and cold weather.

The bean crop, which is a very important one here, is not forward enough to estimate, as very few farmers have been able to plant. The heavy continued rains while helping the growth in some lines have delayed planting and seeding to a considerable extent.

Peaches a dead failure. Plums, pears and cherries good average. Apples promise well.

Small fruits will be an abundant crop, strawberries especially; although they are very late.
