The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

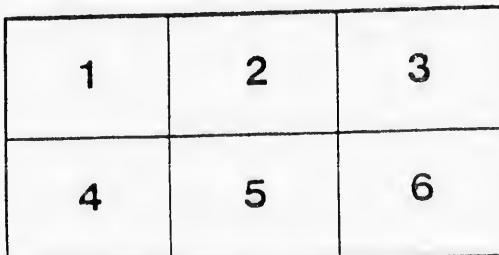

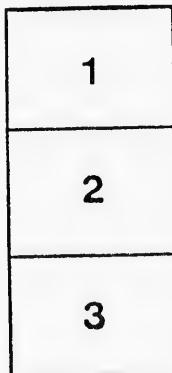

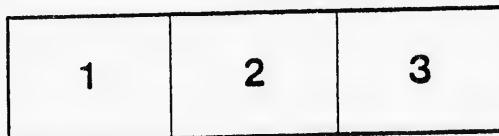

National Gallery of Canada,
Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▽ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Musée des Beaux-Arts du Canada,
Bibliothèque

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

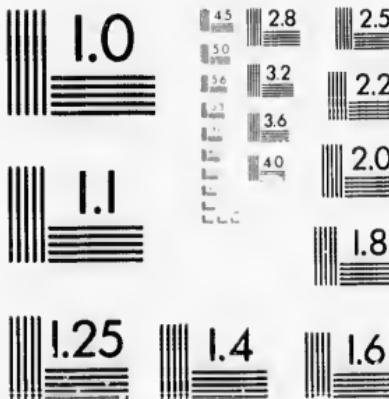

Les exemplaires originaux dont le couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

AMONG THE
Plaster Models in the Owens Art School

ARE THE FOLLOWING:

1. The Fighting Hero or Gladiator. A Reduction from the Marble in the Louvre.
This most spirited of all statues (6½ feet from head to foot) ancient or modern, was found on the coast near Antium—very near the spot where, a century earlier, the Apollo Belvedere was found. The stem supporting it is inscribed in Greek letters, "Agasias, son of Prothous, Lycian, Figher, made it," and therefore it is a specimen of Greek sculpture of the Fourth Epoch, that ended with the Roman conquest. Critics differ as to the character it is supposed to represent, but the world agrees in the perfection of its bold, energetic style, the nervous tension of the whole body, the combined readiness for attack and defence, and the firm and defiant brow.
2. Antinous. (A Reduction from the Marble in the Capitol at Rome).
Antinous was a handsome youth, beloved by the Emperor Hadrian, to whom he was so much attached that he drowned himself in the Nile to save his imperial master from the death foretold to him. He was saved by the assistance of the god, and therefore Hadrian immortalized his favorite by raising temples and statues to his memory. He is generally represented with a pensive declination of his head, as though in sad foreboding of his early doom. This statue is considered a perfect embodiment of young, graceful manhood.
- 3, 4 and 5. Laocoön. (Busts of Father and Sons). Marble in the Vatican
This magnificent Marble group, now in the Vatican, Rome, belongs to the fourth Epoch of Greek Sculpture. It was executed by three Sculptors—Agescandrus, Athenodorus, and Polyclitus. It was found in the year 1503, and the Pope ordered a public festival in honor of its discovery. According to Pliny, it once stood in the palace of Theseus, who was a priest of Apollo, and the god being offended, sent two serpents that killed him and his two sons at the altar, while offering sacrifice to Neptune. The composition and the execution are masterly, and worthy of admiration, as depicting the one moment of utmost suffering and horror petrified with fearful truth.
6. Venus de Medici. A Reduction from the Marble in the Tribunal of the Uffizi, Florence.
The original was found in the 15th century and carried to Venice during the reign of Cosimo di Medici, hence its name. It was executed by Cleomenes, of Athens, at a period when Greek Art was rapidly declining. Though it has been characterized as the statue that enchanteth the world, there is no famous work of sculpture that has been more the subject of diverse criticism.
7. Bust of Caracalla. (Marble in the Louvre).
Emperor of Rome, and, after a wicked reign of six years, was assassinated A. D. 217. His ill-favored features declare his character. He carried his head on one side in imitation of Alexander the Great.
8. St. Cecilia. A Bas Relief, by Donatello.
Born 1386-1466.
Marble, in the South Kensington Museum.
In this excellent profile head the master of masters in the treatment of relief respects his supremacy. Of all Donatello's works this is thought to be the best known and the most popular, the refined, pure outline of the features, the graceful bend of the head, the classic elegance of coiffure, the modest loveliness of the face, are excellencies which command general admiration, while the subtle gradation of planes from the lowest to the higher portion of the relief, and the delicate manipulation of the whole surface, delights the technical connoisseur.
9. Head of St. George. (A Bas Relief).
The marble statue of St. George, by Donatello (born 1386-1466), clad in armour, with cross-embazoned shield, stands in an external niche of San Michale, Florence, and is considered a masterpiece of knightly grace and dignity.
10. Bust. A Young Girl of the 15th Century, Marble in——. by Donatello.

11. Bust of Homer. (Marble in the Louvre).

Found in Rome, built in a garden wall, near Santa Maria Maggiore. The head is encircled with a fillet. This most beautiful of the heads of Homer was broken by the marauders and cast among rubbish as worthless, where it was found and purchased by an antiquarian. The wrinkling of the skin about the eyes indicates blindness. All busts of Homer are ideal.

12. Bust of Antinous. (Marble in the Louvre).

13 and 14. Bas Reliefs.

From the superb column of Trajan, one of the finest and best preserved monuments of ancient Rome.

15. Bust. A Young Soldier, by Antonio del Pollaiolo.
Marble in Museum, Florence.

16. Bust. Bennivienne. (Monk). Marble in the Louvre.

17. Bust. The Unknown Woman, by Donatello. Marble in the Louvre.

18. Bust. A Young Girl of 16th Century, by Donatello. Marble in ——

19. Bust. Muse. (Marble in British Museum).

20. Bust. Young Girl, by Raphael. (Marble in ——)

21. Mask. Ariadna.

22. Mask. Fighting Gladiator.

23. Bust. Henry IV., of France.

24. Bust. St. John.

25. Bust. Minerva. (Antique).

26. Bust. Brutus.

27. Bust. A Young Child, by Donatello. (Marble ——)

28. Bust. A Young Priest, by Antonio Solloway. Marble in Museum, Florence.

29. Mask. Faun of the Capitol. Marble in Capitoline Museum.

The original was found at Civita Lavinia, in 1701, and is supposed to have been copied from the bronze by Praxiteles. Fauns were faunistic deities with pointed ears and a small tail, supposed to inhabit the woods, and embody the soft, dreamy influences of nature's sounds. The character of a sensual life is well represented in the smiling repose of this face. This beautiful work gave Hawthorne the idea of his story of "The Marble Faun."

30. Mask of St. Gerome.

31. Bust. Julien de Medicis, by Michael Angelo. (Marble ——)

32. Mask. Michael Angelo's Slave.

Divine Del Institution.
