LONDON, SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 1910

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT has been made that the consecration of Rev. Dr. M. F. Fallon, as Bishop of London, will take place on the feast of St. Mark, Monday, April 25th, in St. Peter's Cathedral.

THE RESURRECTION

To-morrow is the great day which the Lord made for Himself and for all the world. Let us be glad and rejoice. No sorrow can darken his joy or trouble thwart its song of triumph. What a change! He who but a few hours ago had hung upon the tree of shame, and had then lain in the grave wrapped in the shroud of death, now stands forth robed in immortal glory.

The Sanhedrin which had in cold blood plotted the life of the innocent Messiah would not have spared any trouble or expense to belie the fact. Useless, for the fact was undeniable. It is impossible to admit the veracity of the witnesses who maintained their statements amidst tortures and persecutions.

A GREAT NEED

There is an economy in charity to which not nearly enough attention is paid. Frequently the kind-hearted and benevolent give their alms without any more consideration than that it was the right thing to do, and that by it the hungry were fed and the naked clothed.

GAMBLING

How far acts of parliament will make a people moral is a practical question. The latest lot to which moralists are laying siege is race-track gambling. Guns are pointed at it from pulpit, platform and the editor's chair.

Canada. The field is vast—every Province of this broad Dominion. The plains are white unto harvest, though the workmen are few. Now, then, let it not be said that we Catholics are less zealous and less charitable than our neighbors.

FRENCH SCANDALS

France is undoubtedly a spectacle to men and angels. Scarcely is the property of the religious communities sold or liquidated than grave scandals show where the money goes. The prospect held out to the people was that the sales of these lands and buildings would be divided amongst the citizens.

IRELAND'S DAY

Throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, the Irish people on the 17th of March gave evidence of the great veneration in which they hold the Saint who brought Christianity to the Emerald Isle.

or personally. If therefore two people stake an agreed amount between each other upon a race there can be doubt about the morality of the act. The contract of giving or receiving is quite sufficient without any material equivalent.

A GRAND WORK

A new life appears to be infused into the work of the Catholic Church in the Province of Ontario. Accessions to the Catholic population can be noted on every hand, churches, educational institutions, and works of beneficence, have in a short space of time been multiplied.

ELGIN IS WELL-KNOWN

Elgin is well-known to every visitor to the North. Its foundation dates back to 1224, but its destruction by fire and pillage in 1270 and 1390 necessitated its rebuilding on a scale of increased grandeur in 1844.

be one of the most flourishing of its kind in America. Having the kindly encouragement of the hierarchy of the Province, its priests and its laity, there can be no other outcome, and it will be a great satisfaction to the Catholic people of this important portion of Canada to know that their boys may have the advantage of a splendidly equipped seminary without going to foreign parts.

A PROSPEROUS DIOCESE

We lately had occasion to visit the city of Peterboro, and were agreeably surprised to find there a condition of affairs in regard to church matters which brings satisfaction to every Catholic. In the city itself, the grand old cathedral erected many years ago still holds a prominent place in the city's architecture.

THE PRIORY of Pluscardyn enjoys the unique distinction of being, so far as we are aware, the one foundation of ancient Catholic times once more in Catholic hands. The late Marquess of Bute, to whom Scotland owes so much, purchased Pluscardyn from the Duke of Fife, and spent large sums on its restoration.

THIS LATTER predicament of obtaining money under false pretences, is not, unfortunately, monopolized by the Presbyterians. The reckless and malicious mendacity of the Methodists in Italy and the Baptists in South America is one of the signs of the times.

AN AMUSING incident is related in connection with the great parade of Holy Name Societies which took place in Jersey City some weeks ago. Several men from a small town in the interior of the State went into the city to witness the demonstration.

Montreal scenes such as have in recent years disgraced the Eternal City, a gang of anarchistic hoodlums, led by a "Reverend" apostate who doubtless for monetary reasons dubs himself a Methodist, made a raid upon the Church and attempted to break up the services.

THE INCIDENT itself is scarcely worth commenting upon any more than other ebullitions of rowdism which occur from day to day in the centres of population. It may however help the Canadian and American public to understand the attitude of the Holy Father toward the Methodist propaganda in Rome and the unenviable position in which ex-Vice-President Fairbanks found himself by reason of his identification with it.

THAT WE are not over-stating the case must be evident to anyone who will recall past incidents of the kind. Some one makes a statement that seems to reflect upon a member of a religious order in Europe—the item is pounced upon by the ubiquitous Foreign Correspondent, is cabled to this country under the auspices of the Associated Press, magnified into an arraignment of a whole institution and then dressed up for publication in the daily press with a heading that would indicate a wholesale degeneracy of conventional morals.

NEARER home we have perhaps a more striking example in the glib talk that is served out to Baptist missionary societies about South America, "The Neglected Continent." Stepped to the eyes in vice and ignorance is Latin America, according to these emissaries, and the lower the state of the missionary treasury the more deplorable the condition of the unhappy native. Nothing is so conducive to a full treasury as a good story about priestly arrogance, well dressed out in a fashionable head-dress. How, otherwise, would the missionary live?

THE TERM "Presbyterian" has been generally regarded as synonymous with that of Scotsman. It has been supposed by many that John Knox made the Catholic faith a thing of the past in Scotland, that in fact, as a result of his valorous if somewhat truncheon campaign against the old order, it was buried beyond all hope of resurrection.

THAT doughy champion and his delectable crew certainly succeeded for the time being in making a desert of as fair a country as the sun shone on. Catholics and abbots, and universities, every mark, in fact, of that higher civilization which produced saints and scholars, heroes and patriots whose names are the cherished possession of the whole world, were ruthlessly destroyed and every idea of beauty even sought to be expunged from the minds of the people. Thus far the work of man, and it must be owned, as the "Reformers" saw it, it was well done. For three hundred years Scotland became a byword to the nations and a prey to one of the most ill-favored forms of heresy. Well might the prayer of the Prophet Ezechiel have been re-echoed over the hills of Alban: "Dost thou think these dry bones shall live? O Lord God, Thou knowest."

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN

HOW TO BE POPULAR
"Getting what you want from kings or statesmen," De Blowitz said, "is all a matter of dining with the right people."

There have been great at the bar whose charming manner, like the presence in court of some of the world's famous beauties, would so sway the jury and the judge as to endanger and sometimes actually divert justice.

A gracious, genial presence, a charming personality, a refined, fascinating manner are welcome where mere beauty is denied and where mere wealth is turned away. They will make a better impression than the best education or the highest attainments. An attractive personality, even without great social nature and his cordial manners that he could not resist the influence of his charm, and for many years entertained a warm affection for him.

What is it that often enables one person to walk right into a position and achieve without difficulty that which another, with perhaps greater ability, struggles in vain to accomplish? Everywhere a magnetic personality wins its way.

Young men are constantly being surprised by offers of excellent positions which come to them because of qualities and characteristics which, perhaps they have never thought much about—a fine manner, courtesy, cheerfulness, and kindly, obliging, helpful dispositions.

I recall a young man whose erabbed disposition nullified a large percentage of his tremendous energy and his great brain-power. His hot temper and his sarcastic tongue are constantly neutralizing his friendships. He is a tremendous worker, and yet he is constantly tripping himself up by his repellent manner and his disagreeable disposition, and being held back in spite of his great ability and splendid energy, which, but for this handicap, would give him rapid advancement.

There are so many men of this kind who have plenty of ability, but who are deficient in qualities that attract, interest and please, that it is common to hear employers say that they have decided not to give such and such an applicant a position because of his bad manners, or because he lacked a good presence.

There is no substitute for personal charm for a really successful man, and in spite of the fact that most people believe one must be born with it or forever lack it, the quality can be acquired by anyone who has the desire, the trouble and pains to acquire it as would be necessary to accomplish anything else worth while.

Everyone would like to have a gracious manner, to be popular, to be loved by everybody. It is a legitimate ambition to be well thought of and admired by our fellow men. Yet the majority of us are not willing to make any great sacrifice to acquire this art of arts; in fact, we are all the time doing things which repel others and which inevitably tend to make us unpopular.

We have to take infinite pains to succeed in our vocations or any accomplishment worth while, and should we expect to gain the art of arts, the charm of personality, the power to please, to attract, to interest, without making great efforts?

Selfishness in all its forms is alive and everywhere despised. No one likes a person who has his eye on himself, who is constantly thinking how he can advance his own interests, and promote his own comfort.

The secret of popularity is to make everybody you feel that you are especially interested in him. If you really feel kindly toward others, if you sincerely wish to please, you will have no difficulty in doing so. But if you are cold, indifferent, repelling, silent, selfish; if you are all wrapped up in yourself and think only of what advance your own interests or increase your comfort, you never can become popular.

The great trouble with most unpopular people is that they do not take pains to make themselves popular, to culti-
