

FRENCH COLONIAL TROOPS ARE FIGHTING IN GREAT OFFENSIVE

In an Impetuous Assault Captured Three Lines of German Trenches, 12 Machine Guns and More Than 500 Prisoners

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Paris, July 22.—French colonial troops played a conspicuous part in the latest offensive along the River Somme. Immediately before the action, Lieut.-Col. L., told his men they would have to measure arms with a powerful and well-armed enemy, but, he said, "I have seen you at work and know I can count on you. Good luck, forward."

Not long afterwards, his men, in an impetuous assault, captured three lines of German trenches, twelve machine guns and more than 500 prisoners. Another exploit took place near Estrees. An infantry column encountered a subterranean fort strongly defended by a machine gun section. Led by its chief, it attacked the work with such ferocity that the machine gunners were surrounded and put out of action without being able to give the slightest resistance.

Only one Frenchman was wounded during the assault. Not far from Belle-en-Banterre, near the Amiens-Peronne road, an officer of the colonial troops was wounded in the head by a ball from a machine gun. Almost blinded by blood, he turned toward his men and said simply: "Avenge me." With these words, his troops went at their adversaries with the bayonet, and the result of their work, says an eye witness, was horrible. Among the prisoners taken in the vicinity of the Somme were Wurtembergers, Saxons, Bavarians and Prussians. For the most part, they were very young, averaging 17 to 20 years. The captives included an entire company of a regiment which took an active part in the capture of Fort Vaux. One of the prisoners admitted his regiment had been brought hastily from Verdun on July 12 and put immediately in the first line to replace Bavarian landsturm troops.

"Considering myself the instrument of Heaven and without regard to the opinion of men, I go my way."—From speech by the Kaiser.

Activity Noticed on British Front in Northern France—French Repel Attacks in the Vosges—Artillery Again Active at Verdun

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22.—A spirited artillery duel along the British front in Northern France, during which the British front line and supporting trenches were bombarded with gas shells and projectiles containing eye irritants is recorded in to-day's war office report. Aside from these heavy bombardments at several points on the front in the past twelve hours, there have been no important developments. French Statement.
Paris, July 22.—A strong German attack northwest of St. Die in the Vosges, was repulsed last night by the French, the war office report of to-day says. On the Verdun front the Germans bombarded violently French positions in the sectors of Fleury and Fumin wood. In the region of Moulin-Sous-Toutvent, a strong German reconnaissance was dispersed.

MEDICALLY UNFIT SOLDIERS WILL BE EMPLOYED

Services to Be Maintained in Capacity of Police, Clerk, Guards, Etc.

Camp Borden, July 22.—Authority has just been given by the militia department for the utilizing in a military way of the services of practically all men who are rejected during battalion medical examinations. Up to now these men have been discharged, or have been sent to do duty as military police, clerks and guards.

Of course the new order only applies to soldiers with minor defects, such as flat feet, but the great mass of men usually rejected will come within it and be transferred to a junior battalion. The 205th Battalion of Hamilton is the one now mentioned for the rejected men to be transferred to. They will form a company in it at first. Later a separate home service battalion will be formed. The idea of saving to the country the services of discharged soldiers will, it is expected, be made use of in all military districts of Canada.

One result of the new method will be the putting of men doing military police duty on C.E.F. pay, also separation allowance.

The scheme will also mean that returned soldiers with slight disabilities will not be discharged. There are now 174 patients in camp, 58 of them in the isolation ward, most of these being measles, mumps and poison-ivy.

The hospital has one suspected meningitis case. Pte. McDowell of the 164th Halton and Dufferin battalion. He is 22 years old and married. Five nursing sisters will be added to the hospital soon.

Nearly eight thousand of the 15,000 troops having week-end leave went away from camp this morning and afternoon on trains specially arranged for by the C.E.F. and G.T.R. General A. W. Leitch, Colonel S. C. Newburn, A.A.G., and Lt.-Col. R. C. Wemyer, of the A.A.G. staff, directed the soldiers' departure.

The total number of men from camp without leave decreased again during the past 24 hours. The decrease is 91.

P. S. I. Opens Monday
The staff of the Provincial School of Infantry will all be at Camp Borden by Monday. Nine officers are on the staff. Lt.-Col. W. R. Lang, C. I., commandant of the school is already at the camp with offices in headquarters. Those attending the school will include 60 to 100 officers qualifying for higher rank, a number of probationers and over 100 N. C. O's.

The Y.M.C.A. buildings here form almost a town. No expense is being spared in making every provision for the soldiers. In addition to a large wooden building there are several enormous tents for auditorium, canteen, reading and writing room purposes; also two large portable houses for the women workers, and the other for women who visit the camp. Already the Y.M.C.A. has a staff of fifty, but in a few days it will number seventy-five. Open air moving picture shows and concerts are included in the Y.M.C.A. activities.

Weekly Military Field Day
The military field day of sporting events to be held weekly under direction of Capt. Tom Flanagan, will take place on Tuesdays instead of Saturdays.

The Divisional Bombing School will open at Camp Borden next Monday morning. The course will last two weeks and be attended by over 300 officers, N.C.O.'s, and men representing 35 active-service battalions.

Terrace Hill Residents and Water Supply

Many Letters of Protest Over Recent Statement of Water Officials.
The statement given in yesterday's Courier, supplied to this paper by an official of the Water Commissioners, that the supply of water to Terrace Hill was turned into a separate pipe, and thereby it was found that the district of the city was consuming practically the same amount of water as the entire remainder of the city, seems to have roused the ire of Terrace Hill residents.

Innumerable letters, some signed and some unsigned, have been addressed to the Courier. All of them protest the accuracy of the statement, claiming it is simply impossible that such a condition of affairs as the statement points out, could exist.

There are so many letters that the Courier cannot publish them without being guilty of printing some and leaving out others, for lack of space. Nevertheless the arguments advanced by the various letters can be summed up.

All the writers of the letters claim that on Thursday night the sewerage on the Hill was so low that it was impossible to water the lawns while last night there was no water at all. Complaints are also made that the water is frequently shut off without notice and that pressure usually is low until midnight. One writer claims that people living in "the city" have sprays going all day, and that sometimes air, not water, forces the meter around.

The item in last night's Courier was shown to-day, as it was printed, to officials of the Board of Water Commissioners, and the statement was made to this paper that as regards the facts, the item in question was "absolutely correct."

It appears as if quite a storm was being raised on this subject, as apparently by the Board of Water Commissioners and the residents of the Hill have quite different opinions regarding the consumption of water on Terrace Hill.

Allied Warships Watching Sub

About Ten Miles Out are Beating a Regular Patrol.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Norfolk, Va., July 22.—Allied warships off Cape Henry, awaiting departure by the German submarines, are patrolling the entrance of the Chesapeake Bay, and at daylight to-day quickened their speed and resumed their regular north and south patrol. It is estimated that the ships are to-day ten miles out, one of them, presumably a French ship, moved in to within five miles of Virginia Beach, coming closer to shore than she had at any previous time, to determine her identity.

Despite reports from Baltimore that Count Von Bernstorff plans to visit the German island next Wednesday, German sources here maintain it will be far out in the Atlantic by that time. Furthermore, they say the Bremen then will be in some American port.

TWO STEAMERS SUNK

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22, 10.20 a.m.—A dispatch to Lloyds from Algiers says that the French steamer Gettois, 1,200 tons and the British steamer Karma, 2,544 tons, have been sunk. The crews were landed at Algiers.

Belgians Being Informed Germans Will Withdraw

Amsterdam, via London, July 22.—Posters have been pasted on the walls of barracks in Ghent stating that negotiations have been opened between the United States and Germany for the evacuation of Belgium, according to the Echo Belge. According to the posters Germany is prepared to withdraw from Belgium on the payment of an indemnity of 40,000,000,000 marks.

The Echo Belge comments sarcastically on this proposal, terming the proposed indemnity "a mere tea bite."

Sir Douglas Haig Thinks War to be Won in West

A Man Who Leaves Nothing to Chance, Is French Senator's Description of British Commander.

Paris, July 22.—Senator Henly Berenger, who has returned from a visit to the British field headquarters, quotes General Sir Douglas Haig as saying: "We must impose a peace that is really valid, as we shall have paid for it."

The French senator was shown in detail the methods used by the British general staff in handling the enormous details of the western campaign. He describes Sir Douglas Haig as a commander who leaves nothing to chance, and says that the British commander believes that the war will be decided on the western battlefields.

"The technical skill of the British general staff," said the senator, "is on an equality with the heroism of the British troops."

NO TREATY IS SIGNED BETWEEN TEUTONIC POWERS

Hungarian Press Bureau Denies Report that Pact Was Made.

London, July 22.—The report that a secret treaty had been concluded between Austria-Hungary and Germany providing for the unification of armies and conduct of foreign affairs, is emphatically denied by the Hungarian press bureau, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company. The bureau characterizes the report as a pure invention.

KEEPER OF NATIONAL GALLERY

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22.—Charles Holmes, the landscape painter, has been appointed director of the National Gallery, to succeed Sir Charles Holroyd. Mr. Holmes has been keeper and secretary of the National Portrait Gallery since 1909.

TORONTO COMPANIES ARE INCORPORATED.

Ottawa, July 22.—A large Toronto incorporation appears in this week's list, the Canada Gasoline Corporation, Ltd., $5,000,000. Another Toronto firm is that of the Liggett Company, Ltd., $300,000, while among outside incorporations is the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., Ltd., $1,500,000, Deloro, Ont.

GERMANY WILL INDEMNIFY THE SWISS VICTIMS

She Is Said to Have Named Terms Regarding Sinking of Sussex.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Lucerne, via Paris, July 22.—The Lucerne newspapers say that Germany and Switzerland have reached an agreement regarding the indemnities to be paid the families of Swiss victims of the sinking of the Sussex. Each government has appointed an expert who will consider the cases separately and fix the amount to be paid.

The British steamer Sussex was torpedoed without warning in the English Channel on March 24, fifty lives being lost.

MURDERER OF MISSIONARIES BEING HUNTED

Energetic Action Being Taken to Avenge Death of Rev. Mr. Campbell and Wife.

Karuzawa, Japan, July 22.—The anxiety of foreigners over the excitement following the murder by a burglar, of the Rev. W. A. F. Campbell and his wife, Canadian missionaries, has been relieved by the energetic action of the police. Heavy reinforcements have been sent to the local authorities and the murderer is being systematically trailed in the mountains in which he is believed to be hiding.

The summer residents association, which is chiefly composed of missionaries, has passed resolutions, expressing confidence in the arrest and conviction of the murderer. The resolutions added that the tragedy might have happened in any other part of Japan or in any western land, and the expression of the profound desire of the association that the incident shall not be made the basis of racial criticism.

SPAIN GETTING SUBS BUILT IN U.S.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Madrid, July 22.—It is officially announced that the cruiser Extramadura will go shortly to the United States to take over a submarine which has been built for Spain and which is now undergoing trial in an American port. Three other submarines being built in the Cartagena navy yard, and a similar number have been bought in Italy.

United States Senate provides for the construction within three years of 157 war vessels of all classes and for four dreadnoughts and four battle cruisers to be built next year.

Gunner Martin Bell of Cobourg was killed, according to word received, while he was going on leave.

Major Morahit Issues Advice

Takes It Upon Himself to Tell Roumania to Stay Out of War
By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22.—(New York World cable.)—Rumors persist that Roumania will enter the war by mid-August, but there is no confirmation of such reports in official circles.

Major Morahit, the military critic of the Berliner Tageblatt, in German papers which have just reached London, warns Roumania not to tempt Providence in view of the present developments on the west front, together with the presence of Bulgarian troops in the rear and the formidable nature of the Austrian defenses.

If Italy's frontiers have proved extremely unfavorable for an offensive against the brave and unshakable Austrian troops," he says, "The frontiers of Roumania, should they become a theatre of war are calculated to send the Roumanians headlong to disaster, and neither the assistance of 100,000 Russians nor of General Sarraill will be able to save them from their doom."

SOLDIERS' CONDUCT WAS MOST EXEMPLARY

London, July 22.—The official Gazette, just issued, gives Lord French and Gen. Maxwell's report of the Dublin rising, which contains no fresh facts, but states that the behaviour of the troops and police, in the difficult conditions existing, was exemplary. A few allegations to the contrary, are being enquired into.

Instances are given of unarmed men having been shot by the rebels. The military casualties were: 17 officers and 89 men killed; 46 officers and 283 men wounded.

The rising is stated to have been due to the lack of proper precautions and to allowing armed Sinn Feiners to march in procession.

Death occurred in the Galt Hospital of George Calderick, of the firm of S. F. McKinnon and Co. of Toronto.

PTE. WAKELING ARRIVES HOME

Receives Formal Welcome After 18 Months of Trench Life.

Home on furlough after nearly 18 months spent in the trenches, Pte. Alfred Wakeling of the 4th battalion arrived in the city this morning via T. H. and B. at 10.42 city time, being accorded an enthusiastic reception as well as the battalion itself was in attendance, while Pte. Wakeling was met by prominent officials of the city and the soldiers' aid commission, and conveyed to Victoria park, where a formal welcome was tendered to him from the steps of the public library.

Pte. Wakeling has two brothers in the 215th battalion, one of them a former member of the 4th battalion, who returned to the city on furlough a short time ago and was since transferred to the 215th.

T. & L. COUNCIL FAVORS NEW TIME

Hamilton Labor Men Seem to Think Daylight Saving Satisfactory.
Hamilton, July 22.—The matter of daylight saving was brought up at the meeting to-night of the Trades and Labor Council by the street car representatives, who spoke against the measure. Every subsequent speaker supported daylight saving, and the matter dropped.

ANTI-UNIONISTS OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DEFINE THEIR POSITION

To the Editor of the Courier:
A large and representative meeting of the executive of the organization for continuing the Presbyterian church in Canada, was held in Knox church, Toronto, 6th July inst. Communications were received from all parts of the Dominion, all expressing a more resolute determination on the part of the people to continue the Presbyterian church in Canada, in unity and harmony, as heretofore, with all other Evangelical churches. After lengthened conference the following statement was agreed upon.

Inasmuch as the Presbyterian Church in Canada consists of its communicant membership, voluntarily banded together on the basis of certain standards of doctrine and church government, while the members of the General Assembly and of other church courts are but the servants of the church, chosen by the people to carry on the work of the church and on behalf of the church, in accordance with those standards, and for no other purpose whatsoever, and are pledged in their ordination vows to such a course, so long as they remain ministers or elders of the Presbyterian church.

Inasmuch as the General Assembly in resolving, by a majority to terminate the separate existence of the Presbyterian Church in Canada as a distinct body, and to merge it into a new organization, has exceeded its rights and powers, and its decision is therefore merely the expression of the individual opinion of the members of the Assembly who thus voted, and is of no binding authority upon any others.

Inasmuch as those members of Assembly who thus voted,—being less than one-seventh of the ministers of our church, and less than one-fiftieth part of the elders of our church, and representing the expressed desire and vote of only one-third of the communicant membership of our church,—have stated their purpose of seeking legislation to take away by force of law, the name and civil rights and property of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and transfer the same to a new church organization.

It is therefore recommended to all who do not approve of the unlawful action of the majority of the Assembly, that, in accordance with the protest made to the Assembly by those who voted against such unlawful action, said action of the Assembly be disregarded, that the Presbyterian Church in Canada be continued, and that all proper steps be taken to protect the interests and rights and property of the members of the Presbyterian Church.

Committees were appointed to make arrangements for a General Convocation in Toronto, early in September, of those who purpose continuing the Presbyterian church. As the action of the Assembly has made necessary the duty of defending our own church, involving considerable expenditure, those who wish our church to continue are asked to share the burden, and to send their contributions for the same, as soon as possible, to the treasurer, Mr. C. S. McDonald, 12 Queen St., East, Toronto.

Signed:
JOHN PENMAN, Chairman,
T. WARDLAW TAYLOR, Secy.

UGLY CANARY

There was a canary, the ugly bird thought, as he sat in his cage. "What a pity!" thought the ugly canary. "His disposition does not match his beauty. I am ugly and he is beautiful. There is something wrong with me. I must be cross to match. But he should rejoice in his beauty and sing."

And the ugly canary once more hopped himself upon his perch and sang. "Look!" cried the girl. "We must hang him in a cage. He is fighting with his own reflection in the window glass."

Now when the canary heard this he was very sad. He was gold and beautiful, and he was only ugly when he looked in the window glass. He was beautiful and glad—and he was ugly and sad.

BELGIUM'S HOUR OF DELIVERANCE COMING SOON

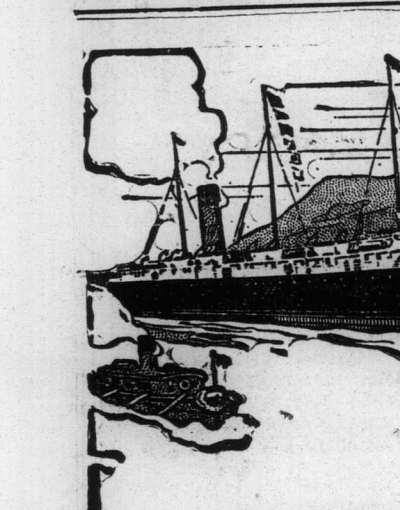

Britain Will Demand Full Reparation for Wrongs Inflicted on It.

London, July 22.—Premier Asquith, speaking on the occasion of the celebration of Belgian Independence day, said that the German Government has issued a new decree, giving an increased stringency to the law against Belgian workmen who refused to work for Germany. The object of this, he declared, was to enable the Germans to requisition Belgian labor for military needs. The premier said that in a proud spirit the Belgians refused to become accomplices to the spoliation and oppression to their native land. "Great Britain," he continued, "is making a note of this and the British intend to exact reparation from them."

Mr. Asquith begged, in the name of the nation and of the British people, to state that the example of Belgium had inspired and stimulated the allies. "When the hour of deliverance comes," he concluded, "and come it will before very long, it will be to us of Great Britain a proud memory that we had a share in restoring them to freedom and independence to which no nation in the history of the world has ever shown a more indisputable title."

The Latest Shades. Boston Transcript.—Why not call the new shade of red dye brought over from Germany by the Deutschland "Lusitania crimson," or "Arabian scarlet?" Most Favored Nation Treaties London Times.—But it is the proposal that the Allies shall refuse "most favored-nation" treatment to the enemy for a number of years to be fixed by the Allies that is likely to prove most disconcerting to Germany. Though this is one of the transitory articles, we fancy that, once the Allies have liberated themselves from the grip which this system has given her on their trade, they will be slow to place themselves under it again.

Vossische Zeitung.—Our firm opinion is that there is in this war no room for a compromise with England. England is the enemy who has raised up and is still keeping against us a world of enemies. We can expect from England's good will nothing for our national future. We must for the sake of a reconciliation with England abandon none of the war-aims which we have achieved by conquest and which we deem it necessary to retain in the interests of our country. The only important thing is to weaken England's power and to strengthen our own to an extent that would allow us to impose peace upon England, willy-nilly, and to make her recognize our right to existence, our right to the future, our right to access to the world and to the world's oceans.

FORMER CHIEF NOW A PRISONER

Russian Senator, Procurator, and Police Wait on Sukhomlinoff.

WIFE ASKS FOR CELL ALSO

Minister Accused of Aiding Enemy Will Probably Be Shot.

Petrograd, Russia.—A profound sensation has been caused by the arrest, on charges of crime punishable with death, of Gen. Sukhomlinoff, who only a few months ago was the Russian Minister for War. The seriousness with which his past conduct is regarded is demonstrated by his immediate solitary confinement in the grim fortress of Peter and Paul, where it is generally believed he will be shot as a traitor. The Russians are amazed and shocked by the scandal, and the press censor is carving blank spaces out of the pages of type where newspapers comment editorially on the affair, which is rather an error of judgment, for the point of view of people and press alike, is that the Sukhomlinoff arrest is a hopeful sign of the new, efficient spirit that is animating Russia in this, her hour of trial.

Chairman Acts, Though Ill It was on Tuesday night that Senator Kuzmin, chairman of the Council of the Empire Committee inquiring into Sukhomlinoff's activities—and inactivities—rose from a bed of sickness and presided in his temporary absence from the Council at a conference of all the officials who had been taking part in the inquiry. He told them, that after a careful study of their reports and other documents brought to his notice, he had come to the conclusion that the prompt arrest of the former War Minister was necessary. To this course all present assented.

The following morning Kuzmin was too ill himself to take charge of the drastic affair and deputed his duty to his aid, Senator Bogorotsky. Accordingly, Bogorotsky accompanied by Senior Procurator Novosyitch, Law Courts Procurator Smiten and a strong party of armed gendarmes and secret police, went to Gen. Sukhomlinoff's apartment. Posting gendarmes at the doors to stop all ingress and egress, the senator, procurators and secret police went into the house. When General Sukhomlinoff appeared, Bogorotsky told him he intended to search his apartment. The general asked his authority. This Bogorotsky produced for inspection. Search Apartment Two Hours For two hours the secret police ransacked the apartment for papers, bringing everything to the procurators, who stamped them numerically. This was done in the presence of the general.

Then after questioning Mme. Sukhomlinoff, the footman, housemaids, and cook, Senator Bogorotsky read out the Imperial ukase for notifying the council of the Empire's enquiry. The general rose, and remained standing during the reading, as a mark of respect to the Czar. The reading finished, the general was invited into his study by the senator and the procurators. The door was closed and members of the secret police stationed at it to prevent an interruption. Within the study a dramatic scene took place. Reading from his notes Senator Bogorotsky interrogated the former War Minister, making formal charges against him from several of the clauses of the Russian penal and military codes. Among the charges were No. 333, dealing with an official who has exceeded his authority and meddled in matters not involved in his sphere of activities; No. 233, dealing with culpable inaction in office, and No. 108, dealing with a Russian subject guilty of helping an enemy in his military activities against Russia. Under several circumstances the penalty for the last offence is death by shooting.

Wife Weeps and Protests Gen. Sukhomlinoff replied in detail to the charges. He was calm and collected. Outside the sturdy door, however, his wife wept bitterly, repeating between outbursts of sobbing that her husband was not to blame, but had fallen victim to his enemies. Mme. Sukhomlinoff, it is understood, is of humble origin, being the daughter of an Odessa musician.

The interrogation completed, the former War Minister was told to consider himself under arrest. In spite of his wife's piteous requests, permission was refused her to accompany him to the fortress of Peter and Paul. One of the secret police telephoned to the fortress and the fort commander sent over the river his closed automobile and an escort of mounted soldiers. When he reached the fortress the former War Minister was confined in the Alexievski casement.

Visit By Wife Allowed At 9 o'clock in the evening Madame Sukhomlinoff was allowed in the presence of the commander of the fort, and various vigilant police officials, to hand utensils to her husband and to chat with him for a quarter of an hour. The fortress of Peter and Paul is one of the most prominent public buildings in Petrograd, its 400 foot gilded spire being visible almost all over the city. In addition to its painful history as a collection of underground dungeons for the solitary confinement of political prisoners, it is the burial place of the Russian monarchs. In the church of the fort recently the captured Turkish standards from Erzerum were placed.

Cell in Island in Neva Sukhomlinoff's cell is in the oldest part of the prison, on a small island in the Neva, reached by a causeway. This section has always been devoted to the imprisonment of important persons. Princess Tarakolova, Princess Trubakova and the leading decabrist were among its inmates.

CELEBRATED ELEPHANT PALMS COMING. Two, at least, of the great herd of Elephants with the big Coop and Lent United Circus' which are billed for their pioneer appearance at Brantford next Tuesday are ranked among the most valuable and famous pachyderm performers ever known to the circus public. These animals are introduced in special exhibitions apart from the others of their kind by their original and only educator, Mr. Art Eldredge, who enjoys enviable international distinction as the manager of these huge beasts, and particularly for the remarkable nature of the education he seems to have been able to endow the subjects of this article with.

The very antithesis in size—one (Tim), a pygmy, the other, (Samson), a giant—with distinct dispositions from early environment and of different breeds. One an African jungle captive, the other born in the European tour and of the Asiatic continent. Yet, through constant, inseparable association, a bond so strong of friendship now exists between this unique pair, it is said, the emotion of temperament—or whatever these things are called in elephants—of either being disturbed, is immediately affected by the other.

Tim and Samson will be recognized in the free street parade, marching side by side at the head of the herd. At times, if the march is a long one, Samson loops his trunk around his tiny pal and furnishes transportation for both.

TELEPHONES AUTOMATIC AND BELL -Night- Editorial ..... 276 Business ..... 180 Saturday, July 22nd, 1916.

THE SITUATION The Huns have been making violent counter-attacks upon the positions gained in the Franco-British advance, but without result. The Allied troops still continue to successfully hold defense works on which the Germans spent months of preparation and will evidently not only continue to do so but also resume the offensive in their own deliberate time, for this is a systematic and not a flash in the pan advance.

Petrograd reports the still further advance of General Brusiloff along the Styra river and enemy losses for the week are said to total between 75,000 and 100,000. Gen. Sakharoff has crossed the Lipa river and the foe is reported to be fleeing before him, while in the Caucasus Grand Duke Nicholas continues to capture towns and prisoners.

Speaking generally, present events fully warrant the conclusion that the German effort has most decidedly passed its zenith.

THE COMMISSION REPORT. The Meredith-Duff report, with reference to the Kite charges is couched in the fair-minded and temperate language which might be expected from two such honored members of the bench.

In brief, it constitutes a complete exoneration of Sir Sam Hughes, Col. Carnegie and the members of the Shell Committee. Allison comes in for a scolding for taking commissions, and it is announced that no stock is taken in the "higher up" suspicions of Messrs. Russell and Lloyd Harris.

A STUPEFIED PARTY. When there was some talk a few months back of a Dominion general election, then about due in the natural course of events, the Grit wire-pullers and the Grit papers were horrified at the mere mention of any such thing.

A political contest and party discussion during the big war! Perish the thought. Since then these self-same Grits have not hesitated to bring on elections in Provinces where they have control, and their one and sole aim has been to endeavor to keep the political pot boiling in a contemptible effort to gain a small souled party advantage.

To this end, Canada's part in the war has been most ignobly dragged in the mire of petty accusation and dirty innuendo. Everyone who has given the subject any kind of decent thought, abundantly realizes, that the Borden Government met a sudden and unexampled demand, both with regard to the providing of men and money in a most prompt and efficient manner. Within two months of the outbreak of hostilities, the Militia Department had concentrated, armed and sent to Europe an expeditionary force of 33,000 men, via Valcartier camp—the most expeditiously formed and equipped camp of the size ever recorded—and, ever since, the same energy and efficiency has been maintained until the roll stands at the best part of half a million men. Achievements of this kind, which the nation has a right to feel proud, yet the whole burden of the bulk of the Liberal papers and peanut politicians, has been a set of carping criticisms, unworthy even of contempt. Not only unworthy, but also absolutely disloyal as witness the open efforts to create disruption and insubordination at Camp Borden.

On top of the whole business we have Sir Wilfrid Laurier summoning prominent Liberals from all over Canada to Ottawa for a party conference. This time of all others, which he and his lieutenants claim should be devoted to a single-eyed vision of Empire needs, is to frame a platform whereby he hopes Liberals can get back to the fleshpots once more.

If there was ever a party more thoroughly or arantly stultified in any land, then it would be decidedly interesting to know the occasion.

KITCHENER'S FORESIGHT.

That K. of K. was throughout his life a man of cool-headed judgment, was abundantly exemplified in any undertaking upon which he embarked. As fighting man, military governor of India, civil governor of the Sudan—in short in every direction in which his great abilities were engaged, he showed remarkable foresight and a very keen estimate of probabilities. Lord Esher, an intimate friend of the dead hero, during the course of some reminiscences in the National Review, relates an interesting incident which happened just before the first British expeditionary force crossed the Channel. The members expected to return within a few months, but after he had said good-bye to them and some French officers, Kitchener remarked that he looked for a long war of not less than three years duration, and added:—

"Those French officers are convinced that the German main attack will come through the 'Brouese', where the German armies are massed, and where they are well prepared. I do not agree with them and have told them so. It appears to me almost certain that the enemy's advance through Belgium will prove to be their main attack."

The course of events has since thoroughly demonstrated how aptly he had sized up matters in the respect named. Lord Esher recalls another illuminating occurrence. In 1911 European authorities in speculating on the probable course of a big war, agreed that the decisive battles would be fought at an early stage. Not so Kitchener. He took the ground that any such general struggle would be lengthy and "victory" would be achieved by the last million of men Great Britain could throw into the field."

NOTES AND COMMENTS To hold an election during war time would have been heinous to hold a Liberal pow wow at Ottawa, during the same period is a beautiful thing. Herein you get the quintessence of Gritism all the time and every time.

The men who started out to scalp Sir Sam Hughes in connection with the Kite enquiry have got tomahawked themselves.

The Toronto Globe doesn't like the findings of the Fuses Commission. Having concluded everybody guilty beforehand, the unbiased organ hates to see a finding, by two judges, on the fact.

The Farmers' Sun doesn't think much of the program adopted by the Grit advisory committee at Ottawa. These men would promise anything and everything if they could only satisfy that awful hankering to get back into office.

Farmers' Sun (Independent)—Canadians would be justly angry if, in fact, nickel from the Ontario mines were finding its way to the German armament factories. The Sun has no information from which to form an independent judgment, but it is not disposed to believe that the assurances of the Dominion and Provincial Governments are not reliable. It does not hold the public Ministers in such low esteem as to suspect that in such a matter they would make a false representation. That the British Government is content is also reassuring.

Results of Toronto Conservatory of Music Exams. Also Announced.

(From Our Own Correspondent) Paris, July 22.—Last evening the Ladies' Guild of St. James Church held a very successful garden party on the beautiful grounds of the Misses Tate, Upper Town. The night was ideal, and all the booths made a pleasing effect, being prettily decorated with bunting, flags and Chinese lanterns. The main feature of the evening seemed to be the fish pond, where old and young gathered to try their luck at fishing, and which created lots of amusement for the children. Another attraction was the telling tent, where an Egyptian princess crossed the palm of one hand with a piece of silver, and told the past, present and future. A capital musical program was given during the evening by the 215th Battalion band, of Brantford, which was much appreciated. Mr. Geo. Foster also favored with a solo. Mrs. Willetts' many friends will regret to hear that she had the misfortune to fall and break her right arm. This is the second accident that Mrs. Willetts has met with during the last few months.

Won Scholarships The following are the names of those who won the scholarships at the recent entrance examinations. First, by the number of ladies, Penman Scholarship, Edward Dutton; 2nd, Penman Scholarship, Isabel Dutton; 3rd, Penman Scholarship, Frank Ferguson, of the Separatist school.

On Wednesday afternoon a pleasant time was spent at Riverview Park by a number of ladies, when they met to say good-bye to their friend, Mrs. M. Cogan, of Smith Falls, who has been visiting friends in town for a few days. After a dainty lunch, she was served the guest of honor (Miss Cogan) a bride-elite, received a nice miscellaneous shower by her friends.

Results in Music The following pupils of Mrs. Adey's have been successful in passing their recent examinations at the Toronto Conservatory of Music: Grade 1 (Introductory), Muriel Heddie; Gladys Crichton (honors), Grade 2, (Elementary), Irma Heise (ladies); Minnie Sanders (honors); Kathleen Vayton, violin; Theresa Martin, violin (honors), Grade 3, (Primary) Helen Armstrong, May Huson.

Messrs. J. Smiley, W. Fawcay, and W. Rutherford have returned from attending the Masonic Grand Lodge convention, which was held at London. Miss Cogson has returned to her home at Smith Falls, after a pleasant visit spent with her friend Miss Peaterson.

Kingsley Purton, of Detroit, is holidaying with his friends in town. Mrs. Bradley and family, of Woodstock, are visiting with relatives in town. Miss Gounlock has returned to her home in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans have left on an extended trip to Edmonton and other points of interest.

ENEMY DESPERATE TO HALT ADVANCE Have Brought 340,000 Troops to the Somme Front.

Rotterdam, July 21.—London Daily Telegraph despatch.—The German general staff is putting every ounce of available strength into the defenses threatened on the western line. According to information here the number of reinforcements brought up within the last three weeks was 340,000—100,000 fresh reserves from German depots and the remaining 240,000 men just recovered from light wounds. All these 340,000 men were distributed along the Somme front.

Has Reserves It should not be assumed that the enemy's strength in men on the western front has reached its maximum.

The idea that Germany has not still considerable reserves is mistaken. The Germans are prepared to sacrifice territory in the east if it becomes necessary to withdraw troops for use in the west. In fact to hold the line in the west every other consideration is subsidiary, according to the view of the German general staff.

MOBILIZE CIVILIANS TO HARVEST CROPS German Order Must be Complied With on Pain of Fine and Imprisonment. The Hague, July 22.—The commander of the 26th German army corps has ordered the mobilization of all civilians to aid in harvesting the crops. They will be paid for their work at the local rate of hire. Exemptions from work will only be granted on a doctor's certificate. Persons refusing to comply with the mobilization order are punishable with a maximum sentence of a year's imprisonment and a fine of 1,500 marks.

There will be an attendance of 140 students at the coming session of the Royal Military College at Kingston.

USE CARE IN STARTING Most of us have gone along the street at some time or other, and heard a motor churn and churn under the power of an electric starter without any apparent results. This is one of the most frequent causes of storage battery trouble, according to a service representative of the Willard Storage Battery Co. He explained that very few motorists seemed to realize the immense amount of electrical power which is required to turn a motor, and what a considerable amount of driving at charging speed is necessary to restore same amount of current to the battery.

A little care in operating the self-starter will obviate this trouble. The driver should always make sure that the starting switch is thrown before attempting to operate the self-starter. Sometimes the gasoline tank is empty and under such conditions no amount of cranking would start the motor. The ignition button should always be pressed firmly and all wire connections should be tight. Occasionally the gasoline mixture is too weak and on most cars this can be adjusted from the dash. The coil and distributor should be kept perfectly dry in order for the current to reach the spark plugs.

Columbia University loses a bequest of $4,000,000 under a verdict by-law repealing the by-law introducing daylight saving in the city and by resolution a proclamation will be made by Mayor Stevenson asking the citizens to set all clocks back one hour to-night. The proceeding occupied less than five minutes. Controlier Rose moved the reading of the new by-law and the second and third readings were immediately taken. There was no discussion. A petition from the city barbers asking that the standard time be adopted was received before the meeting, but was not referred to. Immediately after the third reading of the by-law Controller Rose moved that Mayor Stevenson proclaim that the change be effected to-day, which was unanimously agreed to by the Council.

Considerable inconvenience is anticipated by some of the members of the Ministerial Alliance on account of the sudden change and the impossibility of their being able to inform the members of the congregations. Some of the churches which had adopted city time by resolution can only revert to standard time by a similar resolution and a general uncertainty as to the time of church services to-morrow.

215TH NOT YET OFF TO NIAGARA Nothing to That Effect Heard at Battalion Headquarters.

BIG CAMPAIGN NEXT WEEK. Efforts to be Made to Swell Numbers of the Battalion.

In a Toronto paper last evening a statement was issued that the 215th battalion would go to camp at Niagara this summer instead of to Camp Borden. The officers of the 215th this morning stated that no notification of such a change had reached them, but that in any case the battalion would remain in the city for some time yet.

Big Campaign Coming Monday will see the inauguration of a gigantic recruiting campaign to be launched by the 215th battalion for the purpose of adding to their numbers more rapidly than at present, when a daily average of about 2 or 3 men is obtained. No efforts will be spared in the work, and most gratifying results are looked for in the course of next week.

Band at Garden Party Success crowned the garden party held last evening by the 215th battalion at Tranquility for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a field kitchen. The brass band was in attendance, delighting all with its admirably rendered numbers, while the gathering was addressed by Mr. W. G. Raymond.

The classes for non-commissioned officers in the 215th opened yesterday with a very large attendance, comprising some fifteen candidates from each company of the battalion.

Weather permitting, an open air drum-head service will be conducted

BRITISH DRIVE GERMANS FROM ALL BUT THE EDGE OF FOREAUX

All Ground Gained in Great Attack of Thursday Held Against Desperate Efforts of the Germans to Regain it, While Hun Losses are Tremendous

London, July 22.—Despite the fact that the Germans are attempting to develop a strong counter-offensive against the new front won by the Franco-British troops in Picardy, Gen. Haig's forces have further increased their gains, carrying the greater part of the strongly fortified Fourreaux wood, north of the Bazentin-Longueval line. The Germans to-night are delivering desperate attacks against the ground won in the forest. Practically all the ground won yesterday by the British and French has been held.

A despatch to-night to The Times told all but the edges of the northern part of the Fourreaux wood. The latest encounters have been almost entirely of a local nature. General Haig writes to-night. His afternoon report has told of strong fighting around the Leipzig salient and the Bazentin-Longueval line. That the German losses in the last few days of fighting have been terrible is indicated by to-night's statement. Thirteen battalions of German men attacked on a 2,000-yard front in the Deville wood on Tuesday, it is stated, in the face of a terrible British machine gunfire.

"The enemy's losses were correspondingly great," says Gen. Haig. The Germans are now employing boys of from 17 to 20 years in their man operations, according to dispatches from Paris. A number of these youths are among the prisoners taken in the Somme fighting. They

"MISSING" MEN NOW PRISONERS

Five Brantfordites Officially Announced as Prisoners of War.

Five more Brantford men, members of C.M.R. regiments at the front, are reported officially prisoners of war this morning, the word having been received yesterday by their families here. The men are: Stanley L. Cruickshanks of Eglar, Pte. Albert V. Stuart, Sergt. Oscar N. Taylor, Sergt. Major Robt. Vair and Corp. H. J. Smith. All were previously reported missing, and the present information comes as a great relief to all their friends.

Pte. George Dottridge of London, a former Brantfordite, is at present in a hospital in Portsmouth, England, suffering from a bullet in the lung. Before going to London he was engaged in newspaper work in this city.

SECOND MEET OF HAMILTON JOCKEY CLUB

Number of Kentucky Horses Shipped to Be Ready Wednesday.

The second summer meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club, which opens next Wednesday, promises to surpass the first meeting in every way. A number of horses have been shipped up from Kentucky for the meeting and there will be plenty of new blood for the patrons to try and pick winners from. Four stake events will be decided during the meeting as follows:

Prince Edward Selling stakes, to be run on opening day, Wednesday, July 26.

Nursery Plate, for two-year-olds, to be run on Saturday, July 29.

Brantford Selling handicap, to be run on Monday, July 31.

Hamilton Cup, to be run on Wednesday, August 2.

In the Nursery stakes the youngsters will be asked to go six furlongs, a longer distance than the majority of the horses nominated have raced as yet. In the other events, some of the best horses now in training have been nominated and large and classy fields are assured for all events.

The races will be run on standard time, as usual starting at 2.30 each day, which is 3.30 Hamilton City time. The races will be run at the track at 10 a.m., awaiting the opening, many of them being jumpers, as the Hamilton Club will make a feature of the jumping races as has been the custom in the past.

NORMAL SCHOOL EXAM RESULTS

List of Names of Brant County Pupils Who Passed Lower School.

Toronto, July 22.—The candidates named below have passed the Lower School examination for entrance into the Normal Schools and Faculties of Education.

In addition to the above, they require to pass the Middle School examination before they can be admitted to the Normal Schools before the Upper School examination before they can be admitted to the Faculties of Education. Those who have already passed either of these examinations are re-nominated for the Normal School examination on September 1, and that application therefore must be made to the Deputy Minister of Education not later than August 25. For information concerning the Faculties of Education, applicants are referred to the Registrar of the University of Toronto or of Queen's University, Kingston.

BREEZY ITEMS FROM THE CAMP

Brants Are Getting Ready to Proceed Overseas in August.

The following interesting letter has been received from Clifford B. Todd, of the 125th telling of the work at the Camp Borden, Thursday.

The party who started that yarn in Brantford, that the 125th were in a riot recently, were prosecuted. There is not a better behaved battalion in the camp than the Brants. Sunday last was a quiet day here with the exception of numerous baseball and football games that were played. There was great disappointment in camp to-day noon. While the boys were eating their dinner, word came from headquarters "No passes for the week end." Needless to say the boys that were promised passes for the week-end, were sore, but they took their medicine without a whimper and made a race for the recreation tent to write home to their friends that they would not be surprised to the officers as to the big surprise to the officers as to the men. The boys were told that orders from headquarters were to finish their rifle practice on the ranges by Monday, and consequently no passes could be issued for the week-end, because we have been notified to be sent to go overseas any time after August the first. The officers told the men that after they all had finished shooting at the four days' pass, probably to commence on Tuesday. For some of them it may be their final pass and good-bye visit.

Busy around 125th Camp

Things are extraordinarily busy around the Brants' Camp as I am writing this letter. Four doctors are busy attending the boys their final examination before proceeding overseas. The different companies are lining their men up, and the lads the final test. Over at the quartermaster's store, the staff are on the jump getting out equipment. Just how soon the Brants will shake the dust and sand of Camp Borden and proceed to embark on the rolling, tossing briny deep and proceed across the pond is hard to say, but we have been notified to be ready to pack up our luggage on August the first. Just how soon after the 1st we will move, remains with the powers that be.

The boys, though disappointed on account of not getting home this week-end, are pleased that a large number of them will be home for four days next week, and are living in hopes of making the trip to merry old England on or shortly after August the 1st.

Yours truly,
CLIFFORD B. TODD.
P.S.—As I am writing this, the members of the brass band have been notified to report at once for final examination.—C.B.T.

Stockholm, July 22.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press) sensation has been created here all of Sweden by the publication of an alleged official report from a man agent in this country regarding a plan to bring Sweden into the "if not closer" alliance Germany as the northern link in an inviolable wall against Russia against the Asiatic danger. The wall, representing a new idea of Germany's plans, is reported being constructed by Turkey, Austria and Germany.

"A Slush Fund."

For the work of propaganda Sweden the alleged report as a preliminary appropriation of more than 100,000 marks and that Turkey and the other Germanly be asked to contribute proper shares. The anti-newspapers in Stockholm ceasing bitterly upon this suggestion of an international "slush fund" Sweden, but assert that many recommendations in the report were written last December been carried into effect. It is asserted that the report is much of the recent activity den against Russia and the force a situation which cause Sweden to declare war ally of the Central Powers.

Fear of Russian Offense

The report as printed in begins with a discussion of a "slush fund" of this summer. It stated it showed sufficient signs of reaction to reorganize its armies effective force, it would be a "slush fund" to carry forward a propaganda in Sweden, showing the people how greatly it would their advantage to interfere themselves with Germany. SWEDEN THE SCENE NOW OF HUN MACHINATIONS; PEOPLE ANGRY AT GERMAN PLOTS

Discovery Made of Report Addressed to "Your Excellency" Which Goes Into Minute Detail as to the Means by Which the Country Can be Allied With Germany

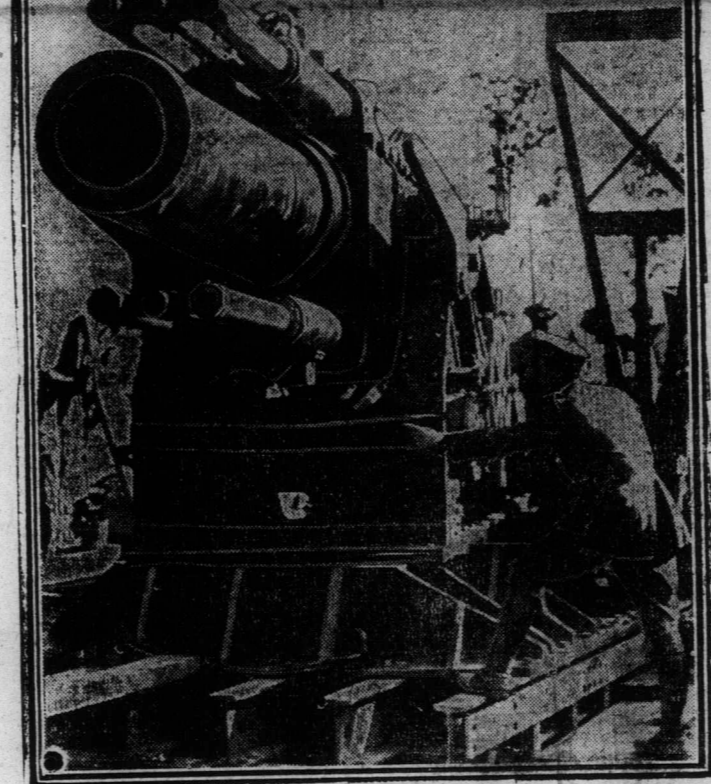

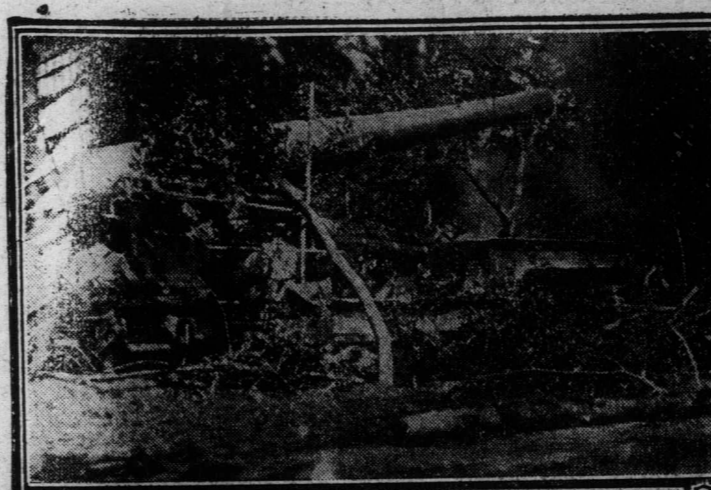

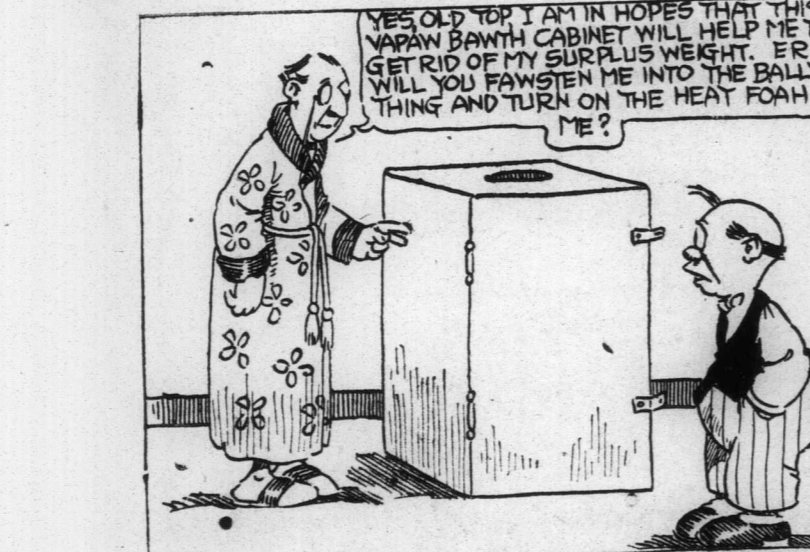

Stockholm, July 22.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—A sensation has been created through all of Sweden by the publication of an alleged official report from a German agent in this country regarding a plan to bring Sweden into a political, "if not closer," alliance with Germany as the northern link in "an invulnerable wall against Russia and against the Asiatic danger."

CANADA'S TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA IS IMPROVING

Imports Fell Off When War Started, but Exports Much Increased.

Canada's trade with Australia, far from suffering from the war, has been improved by it. Imports from Australia, it is true, have been more than halved during 1915, owing to lack of tonnage in Australia, but exports increased greatly, with the result that trade for the year was a record one.

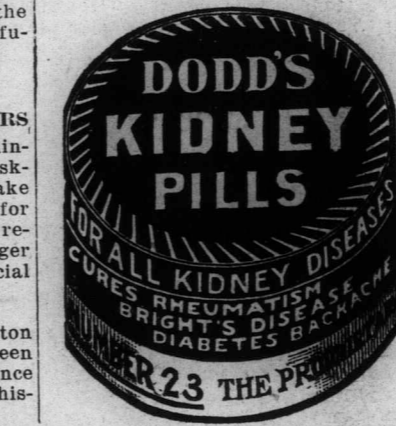

Among imports, the only substantial increase is in hides which in 1915 were worth $141,935 as compared to the $66,768 worth in 1914.

The exports for the year, however, more than counterbalance the falling off in imports.

The following are the figures for 1913, 1914 and 1915, of the items mentioned above:

HEROIC DEFENCE OF FORT VAUX; TERRIBLE ENEMY LOSSES

For Three Months Germans Struggled Desperately to Take This Position From the French—Grenades and Machine Guns Made German Losses High

A telegram from Mr. H. Warner Allen, the special representative of the British Press with the French armies, states: "I have received on the highest authority the following account of the defence of Fort Vaux, which may be regarded as trustworthy and authentic in all its details: The defence of Fort Vaux, June 1-7. For more than three months the Germans, after succeeding in obtaining a footing on the northern slopes of Vaux Hill, and announcing, without a word of foundation, that they had carried the fort, have struggled desperately to convert the falsehood of their communique into a truth.

The defence of Vaux. One of the most heroic incidents in the defence of Vaux is the story of the trenchmen known as R1, which was held by the 101st Line Regiment. R1 is a small fortification to the northwest of Fort Vaux, facing the ravine which runs up from Vaux Pond, about halfway between the fort and the village.

At one o'clock a German column endeavored to make its way along Vaux Pond to the slopes of Fumina Wood. They soon found all progress impossible, in face of two French machine-guns, all night long the bombardment went on. No supplies could be brought up, and thirst began to be the most terrible of foes.

At once a German column endeavored to make its way along Vaux Pond to the slopes of Fumina Wood. They soon found all progress impossible, in face of two French machine-guns, all night long the bombardment went on.

Round the fort all work was impossible. Trenches were demolished while they were being dug. On June 1 the enemy began a terrific attack. On June 2 the German advance had made it impossible to use the northwestern position.

Throughout the Battle of Verdun there has been one of the most terrible trials to which the soldiers have been subjected. Letters captured on German prisoners continually refer to it, and the French could not escape a hardship that was common to both parties.

PLANNING AN ADVANCE VERY COMPLICATED

Largest Industrial Enterprise Has Less Multiplicity of Detail.

BRAVERY OF BRETON TROOPS.

Summary of French Drive Shows 80 Square Miles Taken.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 21.—A notable tribute to the fighting ability of the elder Breton troops is given by the French official observers at the battle of the Somme.

"These Breton reserves," says the report, "fashed off the Germans with the spirit of young men. Many times in this war they have distinguished themselves, but it was difficult to imagine that they could transform themselves into impetuous troops and rush at the enemy with all the fire of youth. The extraordinary reserves of their temperament had not been fully realized before.

Reservists Good as Regulars. "The general-in-chief already has declared that these men had proved there is no difference between the regulars and the reservists. This is shown by the fact that these veterans marched like the recruits of the youngest class. At 9 o'clock they started forward singing the 'Marseillaise,' and at 9.30 they dashed to the attack with their sections aligned as though on dress parade."

Planning a Drive. The official report lays stress on the complexity of the preparations for a military operation on a grand scale, exceeding in its multiplicity of detail that of the largest industrial enterprise. Besides the plan of attack, and the choice of the battle ground, an estimate of the number of effectives is necessary. There are also a hundred contributory details to be studied, such as the enemy's system of defense, the placing of artillery in co-ordinating relation, the building of roads, bridges and ferries where none existed before, and the accumulation of material, munitions and stores. The observer says that the preparations of this character for the present operation along the Somme took four months.

Artillery Checked Every Hour. After the enemy's had been cleared of observation balloons and aircraft, French aeroplanes made a complete photographic survey of the whole front every day, so that each evening a map was drawn showing the state of the enemy's trenches and the progress made in their destruction. The result of the artillery fire was checked up carefully every hour, and it was a principle not to start an infantry attack except on favorable ground. Every variety of gun had its special work to do. Some sweep away the barbed wire, others destroy trenches and kill others deal with the assemblages of enemy troops.

Made Six Miles Advance. Summing up results of fifteen days of fighting on the Somme front, the observer says: "The French troops were able to advance on a front of ten miles and a half to a maximum of six miles, taking from the Germans 80 square kilometers of highly organized and fortified field works, resembling fortresses. We have already gathered from the field 85 guns, many of large calibre, a hundred machine guns, 26 mortars and quantities of material, which it is not yet possible to estimate. We have taken 235 officers and 12,000 men, and this is only the start of the battle."

New York, July 22.—Noel Marshall, chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, reached here yesterday aboard the Steamship Baltic from Liverpool. Mr. Marshall recently completed an inspection of Red Cross units working with the allies on the western front. He said the extensive preparations to care for wounded made previous to the beginning of the recent offensive, had so far proven ample to meet all requirements.

(Continued from Page 11.) vincing the people where their true interests are to be sought. A Pamphlet Against British "By systematic effort we could weaken the Social Democrats headed by Branting, and who are so decidedly pro-English. I wish to propose a pamphlet in which the democracy of the western powers shall be laid bare in all its nakedness and where the real policy of England and its actions against smaller nations shall be placed in juxtaposition to the theory of English democracy. This pamphlet should deal with internal conditions in Russia and Poland and should show the delation of our Social Democrats to the Fatherland. Through reviews in the press this pamphlet could be given great publicity throughout the country.

Sweedish Name to German Work

"The Swedish-Russian question must, of course, play an important part in the propaganda. A Russian news bureau now are given only small space in the newspapers. I have the proper men in mind for the collection and handling of the material. A beginning has been made there. The spreading of this propaganda by John Lonnegren, a Swedish writer, in a work called 'Russia and the European War,' based upon the work of Dr. Paul Rohrbach. In this publication the principle has been followed of giving it the character of a Swedish author, putting the name of a Swedish printing house above the suspicion of being in the pay of Germany.

Why Sweden Sympathizes with Allies

"The only thing lacking to put through a big plan in Sweden is initiative and systematic work. One of the main things is a treatment of the questions between Sweden and England. We must convince Sweden that her position is going to be rendered more and more difficult by England. If a little money is spent a whole lot can be done along this line by means of propaganda. We must adopt the policy of arranging lectures upon ostensibly cultural subjects in order to present the righteous cause and object of the Central Powers in the proper light. The main causes of Entente sympathy in Sweden, I find, are as follows: 1.—The publication in Germany of antipathy to territory plans. 2.—The supposed overdevelopment of German militarism. 3.—The violation of Belgium neutrality. 4.—The U-boat war (Lusitania). 5.—The assertion of Entente friends that Germany alone was preparing to bring about a general peace. The publication here of articles asserting the danger of German imperialism which would reduce Sweden to a vassal state of the Empire."

Propaganda Through Lectures

"In our propaganda special attention must be given to these points. The various subjects should be dealt with in quieting and reassuring articles and pamphlets. The objects of our military system are not understood in Sweden. We should compare the violation of Creek neutrality by the Entente with the violation of Belgium neutrality. We must compare the U-boat war with the English sea policy. All that favors us must be properly presented.

Trade Obstacles

The report deals with Sweden's growing export trade, the establishment of direct lines of steamers to America and to England, and the great increase of business with Russia as one of the greatest obstacles in the way of inducing the people into a union with Germany, especially as they have discovered they are not trading independently of Hamburg. The report refers to the good prop-

They must be told not to go too far, but shall gently hint that Sweden's standing apart from Germany is a matter of regret and that it cannot help but engender a slight feeling of coolness on the part of the friendly German people."

Money Wanted for Work

Judging from the mood of Sweden the past ten months it easily is concluded that she does not wish to break with either England or Germany. I am told that Sweden might more easily be carried along if Germany were in real danger and asked the brotherhood of the people in this country. But to arouse the people under existing circumstances systematic work is necessary. The political money speculators in Sweden, especially what is necessary to make a proper beginning. The propaganda should not be confined solely to German interests, but should take advantage of the friendly feeling here toward Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, Turkey and deal with their relationship to Sweden. Therefore I suggest that the governments of these countries should be asked to share the expenses.

The Objects of the New Scheme

Briefly summarized the propaganda should be along these lines: 1. The establishment of a new political group, which, after a proper feeling up of public opinion, shall throw its influence toward a marked pro-German policy. 2. The publication of a pamphlet attacking the Swedish Social Democrats, cost 10,000 marks. 3. The establishment of a Rus-

331 CHURCHES DESTROYED BY HUNS IN FRANCE

Most of These Could Have Been Left Utterly Unmolested

The French Minister of the Interior has had embassies at work for some months acquiring information as to what the Germans have destroyed in the application of the gospel of "Frightfulness." The full account is not yet published, but it has been established that the Germans since the day they struck a blow at the beautiful Cathedral of Leige, have destroyed beyond repair no less than 331 French churches, the majority of which might well have remained unmolested. No military reasons required their attack, just sheer lust of destruction, and in harmony with the Bismarckian theory of war-killing and wounding till the enemy is too dead to weep.

Other particulars acquired by the investigators show that 753 French Communes, 46,263 houses, and 900 public buildings have been ruined. Of these buildings 68 were classed as historic monuments, 230 factories, that employed 57,000 persons, were also destroyed.

France's sacrifices are beyond anything that she conceived possible, but instead of crushing her spirit, as the Minister of the Interior remarks in his report, "Germany has given us a monument of her barbarism that will be engraved for all time upon the imagination of every French mother and father of our land, and can only be erased when the judgment of the nations demands from her an act of reparation unselected by us."

AGED FARMER DEAD

Chatham, July 21.—John Stenton, one of the oldest farmers of Howard Township, died at the hospital yesterday at the age of 89. He was born in Lincolnshire, England, but had lived for many years in this country. The remains will be taken to Ridgetown for interment.

When Summer Stops the Swing. Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum. If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre." Winning trade follows the same natural laws. Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point. If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum. The moral of which is: Don't stop the business swing of Summer. Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

INDIA'S INDIGO REPLACES HULL. Industry for British East Possessions Revived By War. Calcutta, India.—The withdrawal of German synthetic indigo from competition in the market of the world has had an immediate beneficial effect upon the natural indigo industry in India. The of the latter had gone so far many people were skeptical as possibilities of reviving it. It is not more than a dozen factories at work throughout Behar which broke out, as contrasted the picture of 20 years ago when indigo held its own with jute as the most important export of the country. Enormous prices were, of course, realized for the product these factories, but the question would it be worth anybody's while to start the cultivation and production of indigo de novo? Few believed that the war would be long as two years, and in view of the policy which had enabled Badische Anilin Fabrik to crush natural indigo industry, it required good deal of courage to take a step of what appeared to be a forlorn opening presented by the appearance of synthetic indigo in the market. In spite of these drawbacks areas were soon put under the indigo, the United Provinces and Bihar. In this connection a difficulty presented itself in the shape of a scarcity of good seed. This was largely the outcome of old, happy-go-lucky method of selecting seed, which involved cutting aside of large areas for which became very foul with weeds. However, at Pusa the great mental farm, and research laboratory of the government of India—until lately was under the guidance of Bernard Cornwell, merely himself a prominent planter—a new method of seed was elaborated, which the certain production of well-germinated seed from a small area, which was wanted, and the result has been that the areas laid out under indigo are not so extensive as they otherwise have been.

INDIA'S INDIGO REPLACES HUNS'

Industry for British Eastern Possessions Revived By War.

Calcutta, India.—The enforced withdrawal of German synthetic indigo from competition in the markets of the world has had an immediately beneficial effect upon the natural indigo industry in India. The decay of the latter had gone so far that many people were skeptical as to the possibilities of reviving it. Probably not more than a dozen factories were at work throughout Behar when the war broke out, as contrasted with the picture of 20 years ago when indigo held its own with jute as one of the most important exports from Calcutta. Enormous prices were, of course, realized for the products of these factories, but the question was whether it would be worth anybody's while to start the cultivation and production of indigo de novo? Few people believed that the war would last so long as two years, and in view of the ruthless policy which had enabled the Badische Anilin Fabrik to crush the natural indigo industry, it required a good deal of courage to take advantage of what appeared to be the temporary opening presented by the disappearance of synthetic indigo from the market.

In spite of these drawbacks larger areas were soon put under indigo in Behar, the United Provinces and Madras. In this connection a further difficulty presented itself in the shape of a scarcity of good seed. This was largely the outcome of the old, happy-go-lucky method of collecting seed, which involved the setting aside of large areas for seed, which became very foul with weeds. However, at Pusa, the great experimental farm, and research laboratory of the government of India—which until lately was under the superintendence of Bernard Convery, formerly himself a prominent indigo planter—a new method of raising seed was elaborated, which enables the certain production of well-grown seed from a small area which can easily be kept clean. This discovery has proved of great benefit to indigo planters, but still the quantity of seed procurable fell short of what was wanted, and the result has been that the areas laid out under indigo are not so extensive as they would otherwise have been.

COST OF NAVY MUCH PER YEAR

But Protects the Empire and Dominates the Fleet of The Teutons.

London, July 21.—Prior to the war the British navy cost about £50,000,000, ($240,000,000) annually; to-day it costs well over £200,000,000 ($960,000,000) a year. In the navy and subsidiary services there are 235,000 men. This number does not include the munition workers. If one counts these and the workers who supply fuel and war material for the navy one gets a total of about 2,000,000 men. The battle of the Jutland bank materially increased Britain's naval superiority over Germany. The exact extent of this increase is difficult, if not impossible, to estimate. The British know that the Germans lost a total tonnage of nearly 120,000, whereas the British losses were just over 112,000 tons. The 120,000 tons of German vessels actually seen to sink. No doubt is entertained by the British admiralty that the Kaiser's fleet has suffered a much heavier reduction than can be stated definitely here.

"Has the naval war taught any new lessons of a remarkable character?" I asked an especially well-informed admiralty official. His reply was: "Guns Most Effective Weapons. 'You can't teach an old dog new tricks' is a true saying as regards people whose training and traditions have been in connection with the sea. The outstanding feature of the late battle is proof that the most effective weapon is, as it always has been, the gun. A new, young, rising naval power which aspires to a place in the sun has yet to learn the lesson which we learned by expending blood and treasure for many generations—namely, that command of the sea can be obtained only by the nation prepared to fight to overcome the sea forces of the enemy. That Germany is aptly named the 'hasty breaker off of the Jutland anchor and still more in the speedy rush of her fleet back to its harbors. 'Bethmann-Hollweg' quite rightly said in his speech in the Reichstag, 'Look at the map.' We will look at the map and in doing so remember the proportion of sea to land in the world, and then pass to the German emperor's saying that the future of Germany lies upon the ocean, a habit which in no part is true seaman's character. At this point I asked the official if the fifteen inch guns is still the best gun. 'Well,' said he, 'it's like Scotch whiskey. Some guns are better than others, but all are good.'"

Mr. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, stated in the House of Commons several months ago that over 1,000,000 tons have been added to the British navy since the outbreak of the war. There has been a very considerable addition since that by statement was made. If the British fleet how Germany had increased her fleet during the war, they could tell how much stronger they are relatively now than they were two years ago. They do not know the German increase. What they do know is that Britain's ship-building, ship-arming and ship-manning capacity has been in full action throughout the war and is the greatest in the world.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THOSE OF US who attended a rural school thirty or more years ago will, in driving through the older parts of the Province, notice the great improvement made in the school buildings and surroundings, compared with those of our boyhood days. The writer calls to mind the schoolhouse of a prosperous community of the "box" type situated near the front door with a long double range of pipes badly jointed and subject to smoking until the fire was well established. The fire was usually lighted on a winter's morning by the first arrival. The floor was of rough boards unplanned and unjointed, many of the boards not being nailed to the joist which was made of logs resting upon the floor as it promptly disappeared through one of the numerous large cracks between the boards. The noon-hour was the occasion for a diligent search under the eaily-raised flooring. The floors were usually given a scrub in the summer holidays. Their cleanliness during the balance of the year depended upon the industry of the larger school-girls. Dry sweeping was the rule, with a rather fine dust upon everything in the room. The windows were usually closed, and the grounds were small, filled with stumps and rocks and without much facility for play.

How much better are present-day conditions! The school buildings are mostly of stone, wood, or brick, are well lighted, well heated, and equipped with modern seats and desks, slate or plaster blackboards, and have clean, smooth hardwood floors. The number of children in each school, because of a greater number of schools, are fewer and with better surroundings, is usually ample. Trees and flowers have been planted; in many places experimental beds of flowers and shrubs are found. The one condition which has not improved as rapidly as it should is the toilet convenience.

The Medical Officer of Health for the township should make it his duty to visit the schools at frequent intervals to examine the toilets, see that the well, the usual source of water-supply, is properly protected, that the heating and ventilation are satisfactory, and as far as possible, to notice signs of illness in the children, to see that the hearing, the sight, or other defects in the child do not prevent the proper development of any child or interfere with the advance of the more capable. With the insight of experience the good teacher should learn to note the presence of vermin, itch, the early signs of measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, mumps, etc., in the pupils, and, if the condition of any child is suspicious, the Medical Officer of Health should be notified and the child excluded from school until the question is settled.

A properly qualified nurse should be assigned to a group of schools to follow up cases recognized by the teacher or Medical Officer of Health, the letter of whom, for rural schools at least, must in the course of time become the school medical inspector. The Medical Officer for the township should be the only officer common to the township who can rationally carry on the work of medical inspection of schools. With a nurse or two he can give the most efficient service to his township.

THE SCHOOL NURSE. Now that he has made a permanent office and with a devoted attention to it, without the fear that any action he may take or the fact that he may tread on some one's toes may mean his dismissal. No other state or province has a better organization for public health work than Ontario, and no other single state or province has made greater strides in public health work during the last decade. The improvement in the municipal health officer is most apparent in the meetings of the Ontario Health Officers' Association. The latest meeting held in Toronto at the Hotel Windsor in point of attendance, class of papers presented, and interest shown the best conference held in the last five years.

Admiral Sir David Beatty comes in for the bulk of the praise given by the North Sea fight. Those who have followed Beatty's career expected that he would give a good account of himself. This is the third time in the present war that he has hammered the Germans. Away back in August, 1914, he attacked and sank four German warships off Heligoland; in the January chase he chased the raider squadron home and sank the Blucher. His strategy, courage, skill and seamanship are praised by Jellicoe in his latest report. Beatty is but little over forty years of age; but has seen a lot of hard fighting in his time. In Egypt he won the praise of Kitchener by getting gunboats over almost impossible cataracts and by bombarding Dongola. At Tien Tsin, in China, he was twice wounded while leading his bluejackets in the capture of two guns. Sir David was made an admiral at 38, being the youngest British commander and the younger vice-admiral in the records of the British Navy, the great Nelson himself being a year older than Beatty when he became vice-admiral. He was knighted about two years ago. He is a handsome, dashing Irishman, with all that race's traditional fondness for a fight. Beatty is married to a daughter of the late Marshall Field of Chicago. She has given her private yacht to the British Admiralty to be used as a hospital ship, and has been most active in Red Cross work.

MENTIONED IN DISPATCHES

Descendant of Joan of Arc
A descendant of Joan d'Arc has just died in Paris from wounds received at the front. The party in question, Col. Georges Renaudeau d'Arc, was a veteran of the war of 1870, and when the present war commenced, insisted on getting into action, although he was far past the military age. A short time ago he was wounded and has now succumbed to his injuries. He was the direct descendant from the eldest brother of the famous Maid of Orleans.

Now A Peer.
Sir Edward Grey has accepted peerage, but no additional honors a grateful King and country can confer upon him will add to his already enviable reputation. Next to Premier Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, has borne the heaviest burden of the war, and perhaps more than any other Englishman has aroused the hate of the Germans. This is only natural as it was he who opposed their efforts to ride roughshod over Belgium and France. Grey is one of the world's greatest diplomats and has held the position of Foreign Secretary for eleven years. He is but little over fifty years of age, but has been in parliament for thirty years. He comes of an old English family and is essentially democratic, although his reserve and silence convey the impression that he is an aristocrat of the first order.

Well Known Business Man.
Mr. W. K. George, who is one of the Government's appointees on the Canadian Northern Board, is one of Canada's best known business men. He is president of the Standard Silver Company, of the Canadian Corporation, of the London and Lake Erie Transportation Company, vice-president of the Sterling Bank, director of the Title and Trust Company, of the Assurance and Abitibi Power and Paper Company. Mr. George is also an ex-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and of the Canadian National Exhibition, and a Governor of the University of Toronto. He was born in Kingston in 1861, a son of the late Rev. James George, principal of Queen's University of Toronto. He is regarded as one of the most efficient business men in the country.

Lesson IV.—Third Quarter, For July 23, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xviii, 1-22. Memory Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text, Acts xviii, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

I do not know that we can tell how long Paul remained at Athens, but he gave a faithful testimony, and some believed (chapter xvii, 34). The messenger of the Lord is apt to be discouraged if he finds opposition to his message and seemingly few, if any, believing, or if after a faithful testimony there is neither "thank you" nor word of appreciation. It is true that we must never speak to please people nor covet their approval, but most of us are so awfully human that a word of gratitude from one who has been helped by the message is very cheering (I Thess. ii, 4; II Tim. ii, 15). The devil will be sure to tell you that you have accomplished nothing and that messengers have been known to lose their courage. I am thankful that some one said to me many years ago, as I wondered if any good was being done: "Do you recollect that when the devil sowed his tares he went his way, for he was sure that they would grow? And you do not seem to think that the Word of God is as good seed as the devil's tares." That helped me greatly, and since then I have gone my way after a service, saying: "Thank God; that will work; it will surely accomplish His pleasure" (Isa. lv, 11; Jer. i, 12, R. V.). Leaving Athens, Paul went to Corinth, a wicked, worldly, commercial center, notorious for its immorality, and the first thing we read of him is, not that he preached, but that he found employment with some who were of the same craft with himself—that of tent making—and he abode with them (verses 1-3). He would rather work at his trade and thus earn his living than be a burden to any one. He afterward wrote to this people, asking them to forgive him if he had wronged them by not being a burden to them (II Cor. xii, 13-16). It does sound a little like sarcasm. The Lord Jesus Himself was known as the carpenter (Mark vi, 3) and no doubt helped to make a living for the family till He began His public ministry.

When the Sabbath days came round Paul was ready to testify to the Jews in the synagogue that Jesus was the Christ, their Messiah (verses 4, 5 and margin). Silas and Timothy, whom he had left at Berea and for whom he had sent from Athens that they might come to him, reached him here at Corinth (xvii, 14, 15). The phrase "pressed in spirit" (verse 5) is translated in the R. V. "counted the Jews as the Word." We say Paul was preaching fervently. We think of Jeremiah, who, when he was derided and reproached, was tempted to stop speaking the Word of the Lord, but it was such a burning fire within him that he had to speak (Jer. xx, 9, 10). We think also of Elijah, who said that he was so constrained by the spirit within him that he was like a bottle of wine ready to burst and he had to speak that he might be refreshed (Job. xxxii, 18-20).

When the Jews opposed Paul and blasphemed he turned from them to the gentiles and found an open door in a house close by the synagogue, owned by a man named Justus, who worshipped God (verses 6, 7). When God wants His message proclaimed He will provide a place. I held a class in one town where all the churches were closed against me for the truth's sake, but a hotel proprietor invited us to meet in his parlors, and so we continued. Paul said concerning one place, "A great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries" (I Cor. xvi, 9). Notwithstanding the opposition at Corinth there was much encouragement, for the chief ruler of the synagogue and all his house believed (verse 9, 10). The day that the Lord appeared to him on the way to Damascus He said, "I have appeared unto thee, and I will appear unto thee" (chapter xxvi, 16), and this was one of those other appearances to him. We have His completed word and can hear Him speak to us at any time if only we have ears to hear, for He is the same Lord who revealed Himself to Samuel by His word (I Sam. iii, 21), and He loves to do it still. Be-cause of this strengthening, he continued the word of God among them (verse 11). In due time he sailed thence, taking Priscilla and Aquila, and, leaving them at Ephesus, he went on to Caesarea and Jerusalem and Antioch and thus completed his second missionary journey (verses 18-22). We would like to know where he left Timothy and what became of him, but we will meet Timothy again, and we can wait to know a lot of things. It seemed to Paul that he must be in Jerusalem in the near future, but note his "if God will" and see Jas. iv, 15.

YOU can talk all you want to about the mermaids of old—there never were any half so lovely as those who sun on the shores today. There's another big difference, too—instead of spending most of their time IN the water, these modern mermaids spend most of theirs OUT on the beach. It's a question not only of when she will 'come in,' but will she AT ALL? The sea sends its waves to splash an invitation. A sea of men look theirs—every heart whispers as loudly as it dares, 'Aw, come on in, the water's fine.' Still she hesitates and laughs. Then she's the most tantalizing. But when the RIGHT man swims up? Ah, THAT is different!

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE STORY-TELLERS STILL ENTERTAIN THE PASSERS-BY.

W H O of us does not like a "story"? Since that troubled evening when the first hunter returned from the chase and told of the fearful adventures through which he had passed a victor, until this day every one of us likes to live two lives, his own life and that which he relives with all others through word of mouth or printed page.

So it seemed a bit strange, although I had seen public story-tellers in oriental countries many times, to come upon a descendant of the honorable and ancient race in the quaint little town of Catania, Sicily. Nevertheless, there he stood among the most modern of chairs packed close about the one in which he sat, telling stories to those who cared to rest and listen. At the end of each story the story-teller "passed the hat," and those who cared to give according to the measure of their entertainment. Rather a cautious way to earn a living, I thought. But the rest of the morning disproved the theory, so far as Catania goes, anyway. This one was not the only story-teller—there were many in that little town.

Apple Cakes.
Fare, core, and quarter about two pounds of apples; then stow gently with one pound of butter, the finely chopped rind of a lemon, with the juice, and half a grated nutmeg. These should be beaten thoroughly together and dropped in small rounds upon a sheet of well oiled paper. Place in a cool oven and bake until firm—about a quarter of an hour. The cakes, when baked, should be kept in an airtight tin box.

Blackberries and Apples.
Put one pound of blackberries into a saucepan with one pound of apples, the juice and rind of one lemon, and half a pound of loaf sugar. Stew the fruit till soft and mash thoroughly. Serve with custard.

A New Pudding.
In a large basin mix half a pound of grated cheese, one teaspoonful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, salt, pepper and a grate of nutmeg, one cupful of boiling milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter, the yolks of two eggs, and the whites well beaten. Stir gently, pour into a buttered pudding dish, and bake for 15 minutes. Serve very hot.

How to Light Your House "Differently"

By Isabel Brands

WE are all fairly agreed that the pleasant light is not the direct glare of gas, oil lamp or electric bulb over our eyes, but what is called the "indirect" or "semi-indirect" lighting system. The "indirect lighting" is the system whereby the electric bulbs are kept in an inverted opaque bowl, and as the direct rays of the bulbs are thus thrown upward there is no glare on the eyes, but the light is gently suffused about the room from above.

The most common types of glass bowls used for this purpose are the white composition glass familiar to us all. But there are some novel ideas in these bowls which are especially adapted to the home and which may find more favor with the homemaker than even those of the beautiful white ones, because the latter are identified in many people's minds with commercial lighting. Of course, the commercial bowls are standardized in pattern, and those for home use are usually more ornate and beautiful. Now, however, we see that we can have many other styles of "bowls" in this way. One of the prettiest effects seen in one home was simply a brown wicker basket of the sort's basket shape, lined with yellow silk. This was suspended from the ceiling by thick cords, and gave a gay, outdoor air to the city living room. These brown wicker baskets are not expensive, and one clever housekeeper bought a basket of the required size in natural color, and stained and lined it herself. For the country cottage where there is electricity this is most appropriate and lovely.

Another unique effect was seen in a very beautiful home where Japanese furnishings and coloring prevailed. Instead of the conventional china bowl for the electric bulbs, a gay parasol of long handle was used. The parasol was suspended from the ceiling by which looked like a wide ribbon, and in which the electric wiring was cunningly concealed. Two or three tiny parasols were placed horizontally near the wall over the wall sockets and the whole effect was exceedingly novel and pretty. Very often some unusually lovely ideas are developed by getting away from the usual lamp and lamp shade and using something entirely different. This in one home a very unique lamp was made by the housewife herself. This inventive lady wanted a large china lamp of certain shape and could not find anything like it, and the more difficult her search became the more determined was she to obtain what she wanted. Finally, however, she had to give up. But it was only when a new idea occurred to her. She saw a large vase with an eight-inch opening, that was the exact shape she wanted. So she promptly bought it, filled it with plaster of paris, and had the little base of the vase painted in the color she liked. Then she found some blue cretonne to match her blue vase, and made a lamp shade herself to match it, and she is exceedingly proud of the "home-made lamp," as she calls it.

Some of the smaller stender vases can be adapted for candle light for the night table or the guest room table. Very often if it is easy to match the pattern of the Dresden or other china vases in cretonne or paper, a shade to match—and your result will be equal to many of the best store's imported creations!

THE question of an engaged couple accepting or extending invitations to others is a big one, and one which not only concerns yourselves, my dear girl, but the persons who invite you and from whom you accept attention.

It seems hardly fair for a girl of 18 to be engaged and excluded from all good times, especially as there is little prospect of a marriage in the near future. What, does your mother think about it? If your friends understand your engagement, and that your fiance does not object, then there would seem to be no reason for refusing the invitations which come to you—if they come from the "right people."

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

By ADELE GARRISON

Why Madge Wisely Resolved Not to Try to Regulate Dicky's "Public" Conduct.

I HEARD a weedy chuckle from the front of the stalled automobile in which I sat, Mr. Birdall, the Marvin real estate agent, who was trying to find out the trouble with the machine, had been a witness with me of Dicky's impetuous embrace of the pretty little woman framed in the doorway of the big house. "Your husband seems to be a mile free from his hugs," he said. "Lucky Mrs. Durkee has a son as old as your husband, so you can't be jealous." I did not answer that, but his words seemed like insufferable familiarity, but I realized that he meant no offence, and hearing that the woman whom Dicky had embraced so rapturously was his really Mrs. Durkee, the mother of Alfred Durkee, of whom I had heard Dicky speak, she looked so like a girl, that I had realized at first who she was. As Dicky set her down he caught her and rushed her down the path, older than she had looked at a distance, the lines of maturity and experience were in her face, but it pained me to see a woman possessing a son as old as any woman possessing a girl, and Dicky could look so girlish and youthful. "Tumble out, Madge!" he opened the door and helped me to descend then turned to his little woman, who was smiling at me. "Mrs. Durkee, this is my wife, Madge. She is the sweetest woman on earth." Mrs. Durkee put out two dainty little hands, like a child's in smallness, and grasped mine. "I am so glad to meet you," she said cordially. "You probably are used enough to this boy by this time not to mind his extravagance. But I am mortified in I am standing out here in the sun, and you have hunted us out so soon, Dicky!" Dicky had the grace to look a bit foolish. Mrs. Durkee evidently imagined we had come to Marvin exactly to see her. I knew that he would have liked her. I knew that she would have liked me to explain the situation to her, but I was just malicious myself for being angry. I scored myself for being annoyed at Dicky's exuberant greeting, but I could not conceal Mrs. Durkee's fact that I did not like her. "You Haven't Changed." "Yet it was no prejudice against Dicky's old friend that caused my little woman's clear eyes to be very easy made me feel like her exceedingly. But for me to like her exceedingly, my friend, I am awfully sorry." "I am awfully sorry," she said. "I have an idea you were out here, and you have returned to my husband, and my mother's health has been poor this winter, and I've stuck pretty close to the studio and the house. We're out here pretty soon." Mrs. Durkee's face when Dicky spoke of sticking close to the studio flashed a queer little look at me, so almost as soon as it came. In it I read amusement, disapproval, and a certain degree of indignation. I wondered miserably whether by any chance she knew anything of Dicky's studio life. "I don't know," she said. "I don't know anything of Dicky's studio life. But there is nothing so eager in my interest in you going to move out here." "Oh, are you going to move out here?" she asked. "That will be delightful." "I was afraid I was going to be dreadfully lonely, for there is no one here but me and the neighbors. I think the less you have to do with the better you will get along with them." She smiled so ingeniously as she ut-

What a "Shock" Really Is: How to Treat a "Faint"

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

MANY writers and speakers use the word "shock" to mean a rush of blood into the interior of the anatomy to indicate a hemorrhage, fainting, fright, emotional outbreaks, sudden suffocation, surprise or a mechanical injury. There are also instances of shock which involve none of the above, but have to do with the poisonous effects of injuries, operations, burns, overexertion, fatigue and drugs.

The sort of shock which turns hair gray—there is now little doubt of this despite theoretical denials—causes pallor, tremors, sweats and pop-eyes. Shock that is associated with feelings of fear and worry is in various ways traceable to the adrenal, thyroid and such glands. Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland holds that the messages sent to the rest of the anatomy, when such emotions are let loose, can and should be blocked by means of some drug such as novocaine injected into the nerves, which lead away from the point out. Dr. Crile points out that an unconscious person or one under an anesthetic, receives enough sensations to shock him unless in addition to the gas, the ether or the chloroform, the sensory nerves near the points out of operation are blocked with some local hydrochloride, or a one-to-four-hundred weak solution of novocaine.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: Is it not proper for a gentleman to precede a lady in getting off a street car or a taxicab? X. Y. Z. Yes, it is proper for a gentleman to precede a lady out of a train, a street car or a taxicab, assist her down the steps. If the crowded car makes it easier for you to go to the end of the car first, then step aside when you've reached the door and let him pass you. DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am 22 years of age, and am very fond of a man eight years my senior. We seldom meet, and if we do, by chance, he always makes an appointment to call, but still he never gives me any encouragement. Do you think it is wrong to have him call? ANNIE LAURIE: I think if the young man calls upon you and you have a pleasant time it is all you can expect until he grows to care for you. "Don't you think that wanting a 'good time' is enough without having to be seriously in love until you are sure that the man in the case is in love, too?" Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of interest to young women readers of this paper, and will reply to them in these columns. Letters should be addressed to her, care this office.

Answers to Health Questions

SWEET SIXTEEN. Q—Kindly suggest something for a sour stomach. A—What will remove dark circles from under the eyes? A—What will promote the growth of the hair? A—Take up dancing and physical culture. Drink three quarts of distilled water daily. A little tablet makes the water more effervescent. Carry charcoal tablets with you and take four or five any time you feel sick. Sleep 10 hours in a well ventilated room. Be outdoors in the fresh air and sunlight as much as possible, and keep the towels active. I make no apology when I tell you that greasy and dirt are widespread causes of dark circles under the eyes. What seems often a skin invasion is really a little soap, water or spiritus of chloroform. If the dark circles are really in the skin, a few good, long nights' sleep and a purgative will rid you of them.

Petticoat Slip of Pale Pink Satin Flounced with Lace.

THESE days to wear under the unlined dance frocks of tulle or chiffon. This dainty design is of palest pink, washable satin. The bodice is cut with a square décolletage trimmed with lace and threaded with ribbon. The upper portion of the skirt fits the figure snugly and flares wide below the hips. Two full flounces of lace trim the petticoat and these, in turn, are fringed with French flowers fashioned of muslin and pink gauze.
