Large versus Small Family.

BY RUTH CAMERON.
A belated letter on the much discussed subject of the large versus the small family has come to me. I am passing it on to you, not because it proves that large families are always the best, but because it shows what a wonderful worth-while thing a brave man and woman can make out of life, in spite of the handicap of financial stringency.
"I just can't keep still any longer about big families, for I think I have a right to say my say." Just this morning a young stranger asked to use our phone. After using it, he said, "How many children have you, anyway?" I said, "Nine." He said, "My how old are you, anyway, twenty-one?" "No, forty," I said. He said, "Gee, if you'd put on your glad rags, you could easily pass for twenty-one." I said, "I have more than once! I have very often been taken for one of my daughters. My husband and I were married when we were seventeen and fifteen. I know that life is what we make it. I could have been and possibly would have been a sour old drudge if it had not been for my little daughter waking me up. When I had four, my husband had taken the two collars in the shops. They are in odd queer shapes, made of a sort of gauze like mummy cloth, but thinner. They are heavily embroidered with metallic threads of silk and wool in rich shades of color.

The present hair ornaments are very gorgeous. A delightful effect is the band of gold tissue drawn tight about the hair. To it are fastened strings of gold beads looped up irregularly with small enamel ornaments in peacock colorings. A long peacock feather is fastened directly in the front.

Fashions and Fads.

Beautiful shoulder scarfs are made of brocaded velvet, bordered with fur.
The combination of white cloth and silk combined with dark fur is still good.
Rose-embroidered chiffon borders the bodice and tunic of some of the new gowns.
A charming combination is the Dresden silk frock with changeable taffeta jacket.
Braids, cording and buttons play an important part in finishing touches of street attire.
Loose and slightly draped effects distinguish both coat suits and separate cloaks and wraps.
The thin wool interlining is used in making up cloakings which are not warm enough in themselves.
Soft satins and broches are the favored linings for suit coats and more dressy separate wraps.
Tassels are sometimes fastened half way between wrist and the elbow on the sleeves of woolen suits.
One of the newest combinations to Dame Fashion's wardrobe is the net blouse with touches of plaid.
White collars and cuffs give the necessary touch of freshness to the young girl's school frock of serge.
There are many service coats made from double-faced rough cloakings that do not require any lining.
Every well-selected wardrobe requires a loose wrap suitable for wearing over afternoon and evening gowns.
Milliners are combining the following colors: Brown and purple, blue and green; amber, Bordeaux red and olive green.
The four-cornered sailor of black velvet, with puff balls of black ostrich fronds poised on three corners, is the very latest innovation.
The effect of two lace flounces falling softly and edged with lace and finished at the waist with a crushed girde of satin is graceful, stylish and economical.
The mixture of several materials, the tunic idea, the flounces of lace net or other fabrics, all make it possible for one to have pretty costumes at little cost.
There are many odd and beautiful

By the Way.

It is said that there is a considerably larger amount of money allocated to run the forthcoming election than for any previous contest, another strong evidence of how the public monies are wasted.
There is a universal outcry for authentic information concerning that notorious "affair." Will Premier Morris listen to the prayer of the people and give the desired information? We're afraid not.
The physician at a certain Government institution had better discontinue his political activities, as by so doing he will save himself inconvenience and discomfort when the incoming Government assumes control of public affairs.
The subjoined queries were much in evidence in the halls and club rooms Saturday night: How many halls in the city have been engaged by the Tory Party during the political campaign?

The Chorus Girl.

The chorus girl is a movable adjunct to the modern stage, who makes nine changes of toilet in the first act, without missing a hook and eye. Chorus girls make ideal wives, as they never keep a man waiting out in the touring car until he can feel the chilblains taking possession of his person. In order to be a successful chorus girl, one must have a figure which cannot be confused with the stand pipe. The rest can be acquired. Several of our leading chorus girls have abandoned the stage, at the request of men who wanted to get rid of their small change, minus a modest alimony, and none of these gentlemen have been satisfied with emeralds or pocket money since. The chief occupation of the chorus girl is shooting happy boys away from the stage entrance, which they infest in silk hats and palpitation of the heart. She is also kept busy being photographed for the Sunday papers in her stage complexion. It takes a chorus girl some time to adjust her complexion so that she won't look like the headlight on an interurban car, as she generally carries it around in her trunk. Some chorus girls use a complexion which would trip a fire alarm, while others affect the genteel pallor of a man who is awakened by a noise in the cellar. There is no more popular institution on the stage than the chorus girl whose beauty has not begun to sugar off, and she is the recipient of many compliments and floral offerings from elderly gentlemen, whose hair has gone where the woodhick twined. The life of a chorus girl is full of offers of marriage, and rehearsals, during which the stage manager indulges in a very low order of remarks relative to the decline of skirt dancing and the inviting qualities of a brimstone future. She isn't half so bad as she is painted, and without her the first seven rows of the orchestra circle would be as empty as a bathing beach in January.

Your Duty.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well. You did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc., etc." That "if" means too much to many forgetful people. Is it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it. Is it any more than his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Percie Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive.

The Evening Telegram.

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor --- W. F. LLOYD, Editor
ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., MONDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1913.

The Mineral Scandal!

The Scandalous Prospectus of 1911 Not Denied.

Both the Telegram and the Advocate have charged that the names of D. Morrison, M. P. Cashin, C. H. Emerson and F. J. Morris, were named as Counsel and Directors on a Mineral Prospectus exploiting Bay de Verde Iron Ore in a most shameful, fraudulent manner by representing that there were actually 200,000 tons of ore ready for shipment out of forty million tons (estimated) in the property. That prospectus was published in 1911 with the names of Morrison and his gang on it as Directors. That prospectus stated in 1911 that Morrison and his gang were having active participation in the affairs of that fraudulent scheme.

Morrison and his gang have not denied it. Sir Edward Morris has not denied it. The Daily News has not denied it. Even the Herald has not denied it. Therefore we take it that they do not intend to deny it. Therefore we infer these men had shares or agreements for shares in the shameful brazen scheme, as people cannot be Directors without holding shares, and therefore we ask if we are wrong in thinking that their silence meant that they stood to profit from the fruits of that brazen attempt to swindle.

Now the Daily News Editor, with brazen effrontery, stiffened by the moral teachings of his Sunday exhortations, publishes the first page of a prospectus of a genuine company which was floated in 1898 and which spent half a million dollars on the property in Bay de Verde. That money was spent on the recommendation of an eminent English Mining Engineer who had great hopes of the property, and who was in charge of the works. That engineer had a reputation for honesty and ability. He believed there was a large quantity of iron ore there. When he found only a few hundred tons of ore in the property, when he found that the deposit had suddenly cut out, the disappointment, the chagrin so worked on his mind that he took to drinking and died a broken hearted man.

The Daily News Editor now wants to say that because Sir Robert Bond was connected with that company—and of which he has himself spoken as an example of the uncertainty of mining in any country, therefore the News says he is as bad as Morrison and his gang. Note this in passing.

J. M. DEVINE,

THE RIGHT HOUSE,
announces arrival large shipment STANFIELD'S UN-SHRINKABLE UNDERWEAR. These goods need no recommendation from us, for their reputation is world wide. Prices from $1.00 up.

J.M. Devine

is no easy thing to do anything with Bay de Verde in England. It has got a name of a name."

Mr. Robinson questions whether its an offence or not to have one's name on a fraudulent prospectus got up to fleece the public. Does he question that the prospectus of 1911 contained fraudulent statements? The names of Morrison, Cashin, Emerson and F. J. Morris were on it. Will J. A. Robinson say it does not contain most fraudulent statements? Watch for his answer. Will he answer the points or will he evade them.

Breaks a Cold In A Few Hours

First dose of Pape's Cold Compound relieves all the gripe misery—Contains no quinine.
Don't stay stuffed-up!
Quit blowing and snuffing! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.
"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only 25 cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Don't accept a substitute.

Columbus Day.

Yesterday being Columbus Day, was fittingly celebrated all over the United States and Canada. In this city, the Knights of Columbus, of Terra Nova Council, attended Holy Communion in a body, the members living in the East End at the Cathedral, and those of the West End at St. Patrick's. They paraded to last Mass at the Cathedral, where they listened to an eloquent and masterly discourse from their Chaplain, Rt. Rev. Mons. Roche, V.G., who took his text from the Gospel of the Day: "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." After mass they returned in processional order to Columbus House on Duckworth Street.

BOWRING PARK.—Quite a number of persons visited Bowring Park yesterday. The day was fine and quite a number of cameras were busy taking in the beauties of the surroundings. The principal attraction for the visitors is the little house for the geese. It was made by a man from Topsail, one of the employees. It is octagonal and is composed of no less than 143 pieces.

Mott's Meeting
a Failure.

Special Evening Telegram.
LITTLE BAY, To-day.
H. Y. Mott held a meeting in the Orange Hall on Saturday night. About seventy were present, including a number of boys and "kiddie" survey men. He was interrupted often. When the meeting closed three cheers were called for him when about twenty responded. The meeting is considered to be the greatest failure ever held here. Clapp is the man here. Morrison and Mott's day is done; in St. Barbe it has never begun. Bond cannot lose.
ONE PRESENT.

Sweeping St.
George District.

Passengers who came in from the West Coast by late trains, report that the Liberal sentiment in Bay St. George is universal. There is a complete turn over throughout the entire district, the people being tired of Downey's huge bluffs and fakes, and that Arthur English, the Liberal candidate, will get nine-tenths of the votes polled on Oct. 30th. Incidentally reports come in that seeds which were sent by the Plenic Government last spring to Codroy, has been left to rot and was never distributed. What does the Plenic Premier know about that? He may know too much about it when English is returned by an overwhelming majority.

Two Serious Accidents at Grand Falls.

NATHANIEL BIRD SHOT.
Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings, has received word from Grand Falls to the effect that two men, Thomas Griffin and Nathaniel Bird, were out rabbit shooting on Friday last, and Griffin accidentally shot Bird in the breast. It is not likely he will recover. The Justice of the Peace, Mr. Nathaniel Pike, took a statement from the wounded man who corroborated his companion from any blame.

JOHN MOORES HURT.
Mr. Hutchings also was in receipt of a message from Grand Falls saying that John Moores, of Filley's Island, was seriously hurt at the mills at Grand Falls, on Friday night last.

Dear Sir.—There is a good anxiety about here as to who is going to represent the Southern ranks of the Bond Party, after election. Have no two picked to contest the District against in and Moore this time? Who put it into people's heads that the old Liberal District hangs on by its old time honored principles of moralism. I admit with some personal shame that we blundered years ago, but our eyes have been opened and we admit we have been deceived by the Morris and false promises, and that we should blunder some more. We avoid great errors before it is late. They are generally led by the prospect of what is going to get out of it, and their selfishness, due to their ignorance and narrow vision, they lose sight of larger issues, take little stock in men or things, their own narrow circle and their Private Interests and their friends.

Narrow-mindedness, ignorance, and those qualities of degeneracy blighted the finer feelings and blunted the sense of honesty, justice and patriotism that should be in the conduct of men of moulds. Self first, friends second, country last, is the order in our concerns are directed; how politicians, knowing our weakness, always of late years appeal to our lower instincts, away by promises that excite our selfishness, and keep us blind to the danger that in so doing they are making fools of us for their own advantage, our own disappointment and our country's ruin. The last election was proof of what I say, and last four years' work of the Morris Party a stern eye-opener to the fact that a majority of the people are badly rushed to the brink of ruin. I go so far as to say that at last elected many of our made fools of ourselves and if asked then or since what we expected, except in a few cases where fellows were promised jobs, we do not point to one object for our country's benefit we can hope to gain.

We seem to have been blinded not only to the fact that the Morris Party as personally was not worth candle, but that we were employing ourselves in the eyes, not of those whose esteem we have valued, but that we by our conduct were sacrificing our reputation.

Things Seldom Just "Happen."

There are sound reasons why you look for them. Homestead Tea is as distinctive in quality as it is in name. This didn't just "happen." The reason is that in Homestead Tea is a proportion of the richest strong teas of Northern India, teas grown in the district of Assam, where the tea bush is said to have had its origin. These teas when blended with the finer sorts of Ceylon teas give that rich strength and pleasing flavour possessed by Homestead.

Not Gone Back On Its Principles.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—There is a good deal of anxiety about here as to who are going to represent the Southern Shore in the ranks of the Bond Party at next election. Have no two pluck enough to contest the District against Cashin and Moore this time? What has put it into people's heads that this fine old Liberal District has gone back on its old time honored principles of Liberalism? I admit with some feeling of personal shame that we blundered four years ago, but our eyes have been opened and we admit we have in many ways been deceived by the Morris cry, and false promises, and that common silly craze all Newfoundlanders have for a change. It is good that men should blunder sometimes that they may learn their shortsightedness and avoid great errors before it is too late. They are generally led in politics by the prospect of what they are going to get out of it, and often in their selfishness, due to the narrow and narrow environments, they lose sight of larger issues, and take little stock in men or things beyond their own narrow circle and their private interests and those of their friends.

Narrow-mindedness, ignorance, greed, and those qualities of degeneracy have blinded the finer feelings and blinded nearly to that sense of honesty, justice and patriotism that shows itself in the conduct of men of better moulds. Self first, friends second and country last, is the order in which our concerns are directed; how is it that politicians, knowing our weakness, always, of late years especially, appeal to our lower instincts, carry us away by promises that excite our selfishness, and keep us blind to the evidence that in so doing they are only making tools of us for their own advancement, our own disappointment and our country's ruin. The last election was proof of what I say, and the last four years' work of the Morris Party a stern eye-opener to the fact that a majority of the people were badly duped and the country's finances rushed to the brink of ruin. I will go so far as to say that at last election many of us made fools of ourselves, and if asked then or since what we expected, except in a few cases where fellows were promised jobs, we could not point to one object for our own or our country's benefit we could hope to gain.

We seem to have been blinded not only to the fact that the game for us personally was not worth the candle, but that we were compromising ourselves in the eyes, not only of those whose esteem we should have valued, but that we by our conduct were sacrificing our reputation as good members of a parish and showing to the outside world that for the sake of proving our independence and as we thought, our superior judgment in state matters, while we certainly know little about our own that we were in reality, at least for the time being, a lot of brainless fanatics. We have thought it all over since, and we have had abundant proof how little Cashin and Moore, or indeed Morris or his Government, thought of us when once they had a free hand to enter upon a career of reckless extravagance and boodle. What a bonanza Morris and his crowd had for the last four years and a half. Bond's Manifesto should set every intelligent honest man thinking.

What a revelation of Wholesale Corruption.

Is every sense of patriotism and civic justice so dead, that realizing the condition of this country at the present moment, and the absolute certainty of bankruptcy, should Morris again get the reins of Government, these men will not be aroused by the exigencies of the situation, unite shoulder to shoulder and vote for the man who alone can save us from imminent ruin and disgrace. Morris will borrow with an utter disregard for the consequences—wreck Bond who comes to the rescue at his country's call will reform and save us.

Men of Bay Bulls: Men of the Southern Shore:

You do not seem to understand that the salvation of the dear old Ancient Colony, of which we should all be proud to be citizens, needs your united vote for Bond. The fishermen and laborers of the north have rallied around Bond; Placentia and Trepassay, Burin and Fortune Districts are united with the sturdy northerners in their support, and shall this fine old District of Ferryland, that should claim intelligence, independence, respect and love of country, unsullied by any other, will you hang back while recognizing the country has desperate need of your service? Will you remain in the ranks of those who if returned to power will be compelled by their own action to sign away that charter of liberty that made of us an independent British Colony, the oldest jewel in England's Crown? Remember if Morris gets back to power and borrows two or three millions more we will not be able to pay the interest on the public debt, without cutting down education grants, poor relief, old age pensions, grants for public works, the tax taken off tea, sugar, etc. at the moment as an election bait, and which according to Morris's manifesto should have been taken off four years ago, but was not when it was pointed out to the stupid Government that it would reduce the revenue over $400,000, and make it impossible to meet public needs; this tax will be put on again, and you and I will have to grin and bear it. But if I can see any distance in the mist of the future, I recognize that Morris will not impose these taxes, he will not lessen the grants for education, etc., but he will some fine day coolly assure us, when, like this year men are seeking work at home and abroad after a bad fishery.

That our finances are hopelessly involved, that our Credit Abroad has been lost, that our resources have been overtaxed, that there is no alternative but to go over to Canada, to become a part of the Great Dominion, our autonomy gone, our independence lost, and the voice that we may now raise in guiding the destinies of our dear Island Home drowned in the clamour that will tell us to take up and get on west. Men of Bay Bulls, I am a visionary. The handwriting does not yet appear upon the wall, but if you place Balthazar again upon the throne of Newfoundland, for the Premier is King—you will see, when by private and public political corruption. And what have Cashin and Moore done for us that claims our regard and our superior, tried and true friends with the respect due to their positions? Do Cashin and Moore remember what happened in the case of a doctor brought here and maintained in our regard by the Men Whose Lives Have Been Devoted to our Trust Welfare!

What attention was given to our petition to have him compensated when the office of Magistrate was taken from him, not remember so much for his sake as ours? It was treated with contempt and we and those who led in this matter at least, ignorantly walked over, it is small compensation on the eve of an election to restore the magistracy after the late incumbent of the office had been called to his trial, and we can only regard it as a sop to hoodwink us again. The men of Bay Bulls will remember, too, when voting day comes, the high compliment paid by M. P. C. to the intelligence and character of Bay Bulls, when he said there was not a Bay Bulls man in the place fit for the office. This has been rumoured and it is up for contradiction, whether true or not, the men of Bay Bulls have a character to redeem, they have suffered, not only the demands of resentment, and the cry of their impelled country appeals to them to turn out the Morris crowd and put a Government lead by Bond That Will Rescue us in Time From Ruin.

If you want to know how the affairs of the country now stand all you have to do is read Bond's Manifesto. If not too dull, must very easily see whether we are ruling; and if you are honest men, you will not be a party to such wrongs as have been perpetrated in the last four years by the men you sent to power. I am not much of a moralist, but I would be very much in mind he who may have been innocently drawn in to any combine that has been going on, and if you become accomplices in their guilt if you do not show your disapproval, and you are bound in justice to disassociate yourselves from them, would you not wish to become further sharers in their guilt. As it is with smaller associations so it is with the larger called the State.

It Has Been Shown that Morris and His Party Have Betrayed the Public Trust, and therefore every honest man is appealed to in conscience to record his vote for a better administration. That administration can be secured only under Bond, who will redress our grievances, re-establish our finances, and start the almost helpless country on the road to an independent, prosperous and glorious future. Men of Bay Bulls do not be caught by the glitter of the few paltry dollars scattered about now on the eve of election. These are not coming out of the pockets of the members but out of yours. It is only a desperate spurge on the part of the Government to secure the vote. This work might have been done long ago but it would have been lost sight of at the time it should prove effective—the 30th of October.

Don't Vote Like Hirelings, but as Free Men.

knowing that the money spent on all works comes either from two sources—either borrowed in the money market on the credit of your earnings, or wrung from you as heavy taxation. You are under obligation to no man for the money you are earning, but you are entirely within your right if you call a halt when recklessness in expenditure threatens you with financial ruin and constitutional catastrophe.

"When comes the day all hearts to weight

Look around you and see, and if you cannot see enquire, what are men of learning, of independent position, of unquestioned integrity, saying or doing just now. Not men who have commercial interests at stake; not men who are looking out for large contracts; not men who are seeking office for the sake of large pay and small work; those are not the men whose clamour should excite or whose example should guide us, or whose counsel direct us. I would say:

"Brothers see that you walk cautiously, not as the foolish, but as wise, redeeming the time, for the days are evil."

Show yourselves men of intelligence, men of pluck, men with the courage of your convictions. Show that you have minds that can grasp facts and judge shrewdly, show those who would be your masters that not they but you are masters. We want a Government of the people and for the people, not a Government of hoodlums and monopolists. "There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we may." If there be a Providence that guides the affairs of individuals, surely there is a power, if duty enlisted, will direct our counsels, help us to vote against might for right, place Bond and his followers in power, for it will be the only means left to us of rescuing this dear old land of ours from political dishonor and financial wreck. Five Minute Cure If Stomach Is Bad

When "Pape's Diapiesin" reaches stomach all Indigestion, Gas and Sourness Disappears.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs; you mustn't

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should 'eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

The details and thrilling points of the story are most vividly portrayed. The horse race, the forge scene and the escape from prison are most realistic. It comes in three full reels and is one of the longest ever given here. Everybody should make an effort to see it.

Can Any Man Conscientiously Vote for the Morris Party?

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbour."

If John C. Crosbie, member of Morris's Executive; Archibald W. Piccott, Morris's Minister of Marine and Fisheries; and Walter Crosbie, Morris's Mail Clerk—each and severally swore "to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help their God" and affirmed that Gibbons had no share in the timber limit they sold—Why did they pay him his claim in full?

Yet Morris takes no action. No defence is made by the Tory press. No defence can be made.

"A Man is Judged by the Company He Keeps."

Can you, before Heaven, vote for the Morris Party, when Morris not only condones the heinous offence of Crosbie and Piccott but insults the electorate by permitting them to seek re-election?

"Thou Shalt Not Steal."

If a man sells a barrel of potatoes for two dollars and then delivers a bag of mud with one layer of potatoes on top, what would you say? You would call him a thief and a robber without any hesitation!

What will you say then when Donald Morison, Morris's Minister of Justice; Michael P. Cashin, Morris's Minister of Finance; Charles H. Emerson and Frank Morris figure in their official capacities on the front page of a prospectus that endeavours to entice from an unsuspecting people nearly Two million dollars for shares in Bay de Verde Mine, which has been abandoned these twelve years?

Yet Morris takes no action. No defence is made either by the parties or the Tory Press. No defence can be made.

"A Man is Judged by the Company He Keeps."

Can you, before your Maker, vote for Morris and his Party, who make a bye-word of morality and give Newfoundland a record that matches Tammany?

"Fire Shall Consume the Tabernacles of Bribery."

Mr. Coaker, in his Manifesto to the Electors of Bonavista District, tells of some who came to him secretly and in return for his support of the Morris Party and his influence to get the law relating to the export of pulpwood changed, offered him the huge sum of Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Except for one splurge in the Daily News, which has preserved a significant silence ever since, this has not been denied, and Morris has taken no action in the matter.

And then you remember (and so does he!) Donald Morison's connection with the timber land scandal, which "staggered" Governor Williams, who judged the case on the assumption that the scale of morality is not as high in the Colonies as in England.

And you know Patrick T. McGrath, the absolutely wicked, unpitied, and friendless individual, who drags his talents in the gutter.

Morris's bosom friends and those whom he delights to honour are Morison, Piccott, Crosbie, Emerson, Cashin, Frank Morris, Woodford and McGrath. "A man is judged by the company he keeps."

In the face of this can anyone remain neutral? Can anyone who has any regard for righteousness remain a looker-on in the fight? Can anyone have any doubt that a vote for Morris carries complicity in all the wicked doings that are detailed above?

On your knees then before you go to the Polls, and obey only the ruling that a clear conscience gives. Above all, we must endeavour to have good morals in our public life. Read about the above transactions again and then ignore if you can the absolutely imperative call to you as a man! as a Christian! to do all in your power to stamp out the Morris Government and the iniquity they have allowed in the public service. Your obedience to this call will be a vote for

BOND AND CLEAN GOVERNMENT.

Harvest Festival

In connection with the Salvation Army's Annual Harvest Festival, a sale of vegetables, fine goods, candy, etc., will be held in the old school, 24 Springdale Street, on Thursday night, the 16th. Adjutant Hargrove of the Citadel Corps has already begun his canvass of the country districts and expects to make the sale this year a record one. The Adjutant last night in speaking of the kindness and generosity of the farmers in giving of their produce, said the fact that he had been a farmer himself might have something to do with the warm reception he had always received from them. The announcement at last night's meeting under farwell orders has occasioned deep regret, not only to the members of the Army but to the citizens generally, for during the two and a half years they have had command of the S. A. forces in the West End, they have won for themselves and the cause they have so faithfully represented the respect and good will of all creeds and classes. The farewell services are announced to take place next Sunday night, the 19th.

Will He Explain?

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—There appeared in your issue of the 10th, a letter signed "West End," referring to Duffy and the affidavit, asking Morris to explain. Why not do so, Sir Edward? You were always good at explaining your conduct, and your connections with this mystery, known as "Duffy's Affidavit."

135 LIVES LOST

Steamer Volturmo Afire in Mid-Ocean --- Steamers Called by Wireless Respond Promptly --- Many Passengers Saved.

Special to The Evening Telegram.

HALIFAX, Oct. 11. Wireless messages from the steamer Carmania report that the s.s. Volturmo, with several hundred passengers aboard, from Rotterdam for New York, was abandoned, afire, at sea. Ten steamers responded to the wireless calls for help and fought for hours during a raging gale to save the passengers and crew of the burning steamer which eventually was abandoned. Occupants of six lifeboats were thrown into the sea, when the boats were smashed against the steamer's side, and drowned. One report is that 225 of the passengers and crew of the Volturmo are missing. A wireless from the Carmania, said that the Volturmo caught fire in mid-Atlantic, and that the flames raged so furiously in the gale that abandonment of the steamer followed on Thursday morning. A few details coming through by wireless promise a graphic story of the fight made by the crews of ten trans-Atlantic steamers who responded to the Volturmo's call. The Volturmo sailed from Rotterdam October 2nd for New York by way of Halifax, where she was due to arrive next Monday. Wireless reports say 521 persons were saved making 200 unaccounted for. Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, received the distress call of the Volturmo, when 75 miles distant in lat. 34.23 West. The Carmania crowded on full steam and with extra stokers made over 20 knots an hour in the teeth of a gale. When the Carmania reached the vicinity of the Volturmo at noon, she found the forward end of the distressed vessel burning fiercely. The flaming ship was at the same time rolling heavily while her propellers were fouled with boats tackle used in lowering her six lifeboats. It was learned by the captain of the Carmania, that only two out of six lifeboats had succeeded in getting safely away from the Volturmo. The other four, crowded from stern to stern with passengers and members of the crew, had been smashed against the side of the vessel and their occupants thrown into the sea, and drowned. Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, manoeuvred his vessel very close to the Volturmo, and finally got the Carmania's bows within a hundred feet of the Volturmo's stern, but found it impossible however, to cast a line on board the Volturmo, or to get anybody on her. It was a terrific sight for the passengers and crew of the Carmania to see so close to them hundreds of passengers including women and children with horror-stricken eyes on the decks of the Volturmo, and yet unable to help them. Most of the passengers got into the Volturmo's lifeboats, but a number of them had gathered at the after end of the burning ship, whose crew at the same time continued in vain to fight the fire at her forward end. Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, in the meanwhile, kept his wireless apparatus at work communicating with all vessels within range of his instruments.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, the Grosser Kurfirst, and the Sedlitz came in sight and these two were joined later in the afternoon by the Kronland, Devonian, Rappahannock, Minneapolis, La Touraine and Asian. The gale moderated slightly toward night and each of the succoring ships as soon as it was possible for her to do so, put out boats from her davits and lowered them to the sea. The waves, however, were so high that although the small craft made some progress in the direction of the Volturmo, it was impossible for them to get alongside, and they returned to their ships, in most cases, doing this with the greatest difficulty owing to the overwhelming seas and darkness of night. At about nine o'clock in the evening, when darkness was at its blackest, flames burst through amidships of the Volturmo from her engine room and coal bunkers. As the fire lighted up the sky, this was followed by an explosion which sent into the air burning wreckage like a flight of rockets. The spectacle of the great vessel being consumed by fire with over 500 souls on board, and surrounded by a fleet of huge-lighted hulks, crowded with thousands of spectators, all anxious but unable to help, owing to mountainous seas, beggared description. All that could be done by the succoring vessels was to throw overboard from their vessels dozens of lighted life-buoys and stand by in the hope of picking up some of those who had been sent into the sea. At twenty minutes past nine at night, the wireless operator on the Volturmo had to turn over connection of his instruments to the reserve batteries, as the fire had reached the boilers and engine-room and had put the pumps and dynamos out of action. About midnight a ray of hope came, for it was seen that the flames were not making much headway aft of the engine room, or after bulkheads of the Volturmo. By daylight the Volturmo was still floating with her great human cargo huddled in masses on her poop; the sea had moderated considerably and a flotilla of boats had gathered around the stern of the burning ship.

HALIFAX, Oct. 11. The s.s. Carmania reports the s.s. Volturmo from Rotterdam to New York, abandoned, afire, at sea. Ten steamers responded to wireless calls. The occupants of four lifeboats were drowned and 200 passengers are reported missing. The Volturmo caught fire in mid-Atlantic. She sailed Oct. 2nd; 521 persons are saved. Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, received the distress call when 75 miles off, and rushed at 20 knots in the teeth of the gale. He got within 100 feet of the Volturmo's stern, but could not get a line out. It was a terrific sight. At 4 p.m. the Grosser, Kurfirst and Seydlitz came in sight, and later the Kronland, Devonian, Rappahannock, Minneapolis, La Touraine, and Asian. The gale moderating, each steamer lowered her boats but they were compelled to return. At 9 p.m. when darkness was blackest, the flames burst amidships, and a terrible explosion followed. Dozens of lighted life-buoys were thrown over. By daylight the Volturmo was still floating with her human cargo huddled in masses on the poop, and the flotilla of boats gathered to the rescue work.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 12. The Carmania, Capt. Barr, with 11 of the Volturmo's survivors, is due at Queenstown on Sunday night.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. The passenger list of the Volturmo received from Rotterdam is that practically all on board were immigrants, mostly bound for Canada.

HALIFAX, Oct. 12. It was expected that the Volturmo would have called here. She had 262 steerage passengers and 400 tons of cargo to land here, with 21 cabin passengers, 278 steerage and 910 tons cargo for New York. Chief officer Miller and Purser Brown, well known here, are among the saved, also the second, third and fifth engineers. The s.s. Rappahannock is due here the latter part of next week. She has 19 rescued passengers. The Car, bound for London, Russia, also has several passengers and crew.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 12. Capt. Barr's official report of the disaster is as follows: "On Saturday, October 10th, at 4 a.m., Saturday, Volturmo abandoned on account of fire. Friday, Oct. 10th, lat. 48.25 N. long. 34.23 W. All survivors taken off. Following is list of those saved and aboard the ten steamers assisting: Carmania, 1; La Touraine, 40; Minneapolis, 30; Rappahannock, 19; Czar, 102; Narragansett, 29; Devonian, 50; Kronland, 90; Grosser Kurfirst, 105; Seydlitz, 36; total 521." There is a discrepancy of 10 in the total, probably a wireless error. The crew consisted of 93 men.

HALIFAX, Oct. 12. The Uranian line, by which the Volturmo was chartered, wired its representatives here to send a steamer to search for the bodies of the victims. None suitable being available, it was suggested that as the tragedy occurred in mid-ocean, it would be better to send one from Liverpool or Southampton. A steamer will be despatched forthwith. The Rappahannock's captain wires that 15 women and 4 children, all scantily clad, are aboard. The weather is rough, and 112 are missing, with 70 or 80 perished.

LONDON, Oct. 12. Not since the Titanic sank has Europe been so thrilled by a wireless message as by the news of the Volturmo horror. So far as known 135 lives are lost. The 521 rescued are on steamers bound, some east, some west. The rescue steamers arrived in plenty of time to save, but were impotent owing to storm. All night their boats made desperate, but unavailing efforts to get alongside, and not till Friday daylight did they succeed. The Volturmo was well equipped with boats sufficient for 1,000 people, but boisterous seas, lack of boat drill or panic made them useless. They were mostly smashed or upset. Two boats, crowded with passengers, are reported to have got away, but search proved fruitless. The Carmania arrived first, followed by La Touraine. The Volturmo was hidden from all ten by the clouds of smoke. Officers and crew fought desperately, whilst the passengers huddled together as far from the flames as possible. The hopelessness of the situation was manifested at 9 p.m. when a great explosion tore away a part of the upper works, and the flames burst through the engine room. Then it became a question as to how long the Volturmo could keep above water.

RACIAL STUMBLERS

New Psalm of Life.

Tell me not in mournful numbers life is but an empty dream, for that man the earth encumbers who can't see life's a scream. I am tired of folks complaining of the life we're living here, beefing sourly when it's raining, beefing when the skies are clear. I am tired of human relics holding up this world to scorn. I am tired of hearing attacks wishing they were never born. For this world that we're infesting is entitled to the bun; through the skies you might go questioning and not find a better one. Certain rules hold out forever in this world we're living in; there's reward for wise endeavour, there is punishment for sin. Life has few and feeble terrors if you only mind the rules; there's the crown for righteous farers, there's the dump for knaves and fools. If you hear a fellow kicking, saying life is drear and sad, you may bet he's had a licking that he needed pretty bad. Life is hally, life is joyous, life is smooth and recherche, and there's nothing to annoy us if the rules we will obey.

The Greatest Invention for the Fishermen.

We can justly claim to have been the pioneers in introducing Motor Engines for fishing boats in Newfoundland, with the result that today, they are an absolute necessity to the fisherman.

Every fisherman knows the benefit it would be to have an engine in his boat, but he also knows, by the experience of others, that on account of the present high price of Gasolene, it takes nearly all the profit of an average voyage to pay for the Gasolene.

We have recognized this for some time, and have investigated all the best known Kerosene Engines on the market, but none of them came up to our requirements until the Mianus Motor Co. invented the "MIANUS KEROSENE ENGINE." 3 to 40 H. P.

We immediately accepted the Agency for the "Mianus" convinced by our past experience of Marine Engines that it possessed all the good qualities so long sought for in a Fisherman's Engine.

The cost of operating a Mianus Kerosene Engine is CONSIDERABLY LESS THAN HALF THE COST OF OPERATING A GASOLENE ENGINE OF EQUAL POWER, AND IS MORE EFFICIENT.

Kerosene can be obtained at every Harbour in Newfoundland and Labrador. Gasolene cannot.

The Mianus is a working man's engine and is so substantially constructed, that there is nothing to wear out for years.

It is powerful, reliable and simple to operate.

As proof of its great power, a 3 H. P. MIANUS turns a 15 inch 3 blade propeller at 550 R. P. M.; 5 H. P. turns an 18 inch 3 blade; 7 1/2 H. P. turns a 22 inch 3 blade; and 10 H. P., a 24 inch 3 blade, etc.

COMPARE THESE WITH OTHER ENGINES BEFORE BUYING.

Nearly all the Marine Engines are guaranteed for one year only. MIANUS IS GUARANTEED BY THE MAKERS FOR THE LIFE OF THE ENGINE.

It will benefit every fisherman to write us for further particulars about Mianus Kerosene Engines, because it is the Engine you will eventually buy. Write us to-day for CATALOGUES AND PRICES. JOHN BARRON & CO., Agents for "MIANUS KEROSENE ENGINES." sept30, eod, f

LONDON, To-day. King George and Queen Mary, who attended a command performance at a London music hall Saturday night, had a narrow escape from being mobbed by suffragettes. The women who had gathered in considerable numbers made a lively dash for the Royal carriage on its arrival at the theatre, shouting, "Women are being tortured in prison." They had almost reached the carriage when the police closed around. With dramatic shouts of "Votes for Women," they were hurled back. The suffragettes were treated roughly by the crowd, but managed to escape arrest.

That's what the People say

Sad Drowning
The schooner Bessie T. Capt. Jos. Turner, reached port yesterday afternoon, reporting having lost one of her crew of Cape Bonaville on the way from St. Brendan's, B. B.
The sad affair happened Saturday evening just before dark. The captain being at the wheel decided to reef the foresail before night, as it was very stormy, and sent Ernest Keele to assist in lowering the sail; as he was in the act of doing so the boom suddenly lifted and in swinging off poor Keele became entangled in the sheet and was drawn over the vessel's side into the sea. There was a big sea running, but the captain made every effort to heave the vessel to, which failed, as she threatened to swamp. Keele was seen in the water once, but it was impossible to launch a boat, as there was a tremendous sea running, and an effort to do so would only entail the loss of more lives. After talking about in the vicinity of the accident for some time, the captain perceiving the work of searching would be fruitless, bore up for Catalina and wired the sad news to the young man's father. The unfortunate young man was only twenty years of age, a fine seaman, and held in great regard by the captain and his fellow-seamen. He was a resident of Alexander Bay, but was engaged at the fishery in St. Brendan's the past season. To the stricken relatives of the deceased, the Telegram extends its deepest sympathy.

"Syrup of Figs" for Constipated Child
Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.
Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.
When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.
Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Serious Affair on Nascopie.
NEARLY ENDED IN MURDER.
More startling facts have been elicited concerning the sensation that occurred on the S. S. Nascopie recently and to which allusion was made in Saturday's Telegram.
"I'll have someone's life," yelled the Russian Finn as he rushed from the forecastle of the ship, flourishing two weapons with which he did bodily injury. Jeremiah Joy, a sailor, was slashed in the back with a razor, and James Brewin, a stoker, was struck a violent blow of a hammer in the head. From what we can learn there was no cause for the dastardly deeds committed. All the sailors and stokers were in the forward part of the ship spinning yarns. There was no grievance between anybody. The Russian Finn, who was a sailor on board, was in company with the rest of the seamen. Suddenly Brewin was saluted by the Russian in a very unfriendly way. The foreigner used a terrible expression and told Brewin that it was meant for him and the rest of his St. John's gang. Up to this the other seamen did not know of any disagreement. Brewin and the Russian, at the latter's request, took off their outside garments and a fierce encounter ensued. The foreigner is a big burly fellow of unusual physique. The exhibition was a manly one but it only lasted ten minutes as the St. John's man put it all over his opponent. The Russian managed to get clear and ran below to his bunk, seized a razor and a hammer. Again he hastened to the deck bent on doing something desperate, while the two weapons that he flourished, terrorized his shipmates. Jeremiah Joy, a sailor lad, who was making his first voyage, was slashed in the back with the razor. The avenging Russian was not satisfied with that, but later on in the night went into the quarters where Brewin was sleeping and struck him in the head with a hammer and knocked him insensible for several hours. But that Brewin was not asleep at the time and in defending himself took the force of the blow with his hand, there is but little doubt that he would have been killed outright. The left side of Brewin's head near the temple was bulged in and the wonder is that he escaped so well. After laying low a second victim the Russian became even more desperate, but before any more harm was done Captain Meikle, who was given the alarm, went forward armed, took the cowardly fellow into custody and placed him in "irons" until the ship returned to this port. The police authorities here have been acquainted of the matter, but have decided, we hear, to send the Russian back to his native country.
