CHAPTER I.

Dallas Glynn's thoughts have indeed gone far afield from the Hotel Morval, which, in spite of Lady Nora's contempt, is a very fairly conducted establishment, with a very fair cuisine, and if the people, as Lady Nora says, scornfully, do not occupy the highest rank in society, they are every bit as good in their morals and as sincere in their friendship as if they had the right to be reckoned the creme itself. "Do you know why I have come here, Dallas?" Lady Nora asks, curiously. "To follow up your decision that something must be done, I suppose," Dallas answers, with a yawn and a sigh as he lights another cigarette. "Give me your clever design, madame, and I will cast my practical eye over it, and tell you if it is feasible." "Of course it is feasible!" Lady Nora rejoins, sharply, getting irritated. "As you must marry a girl with money."

"Yes, I know it and I always have known it," he agrees, quietly, with a stifled sigh. "And the only girl I ever cared for, hasn't a crooked sixpence."

"Who was that, Dallas?" Lady Nora asks, coolly. "Your old playmate, Joyce Murray? Yes; poor Joyce is a very nice girl and a very pretty girl," she admits, shrugging her shoulders; "but, as you say, she hasn't a farthing. You might as well buy a broom and learn to sweep a crossing the day you thought of marrying her."

"And, after the trouble of learning, I don't suppose Joyce Murray would care to marry a crossing-sweeper," adds Dallas.

"Of course she wouldn't!" Lady Nora says, with a little laugh. "Joyce will marry well, I have no doubt. Her sisters all married well, and so will she. Of course she knows that is due to herself and to her position. Joyce is a little aristocrat to her fingertips."

"Poor little Joyce!" ejaculates Dallas, with a slight break in his voice. "She used to be very fond of me when I was at Sandhurst and she was in the schoolroom. I believe she would share the crossing-sweeping with me if I were fool or knave enough to ask her."

"Perhaps so," responds Lady Nora, dryly. "But you are a gentleman, and man of sense and honor enough not to ruin a girl socially and plunge her into beggary simply because she cared for you."

Dallas is silent, scarcely heeding his mother's self-satisfied worldly chatter; but he feels a dull distaste for her society, and for his own at the same time, and sinks into a gloomy reverie. "I wish that it was all settled and done with, and that I had a wife—if there is such a thing to be got as a sensible, kind-hearted girl who would not expect too much from me," he muses. "I'd believe faultlessly to her—I would, on my honor; and, if we got on comfortably together, I should grow quite fond of her in time. Nor as fond as I am of Joyce—that is a different sort of thing, of course. Poor, dear little girl! I was hard hit last autumn in Scotland!"

And then his mother compels his attention anew with another question.

"Did you notice her, Dallas. She is such a dear, queer old thing! She—they all sit far down the table on the left-hand side, and she wears a big lilac-and-white knitted shawl."

"Oh, that old woman that looked the image of a respectable cook-shop-keeper?" asks Dallas, carelessly.

"She is Miss Dormer, and she is rich, and they are all rich, my dear boy," Lady Nora replies, briefly and earnestly. "They have just had sixty thousand pounds bequeathed to them by a brother or uncle—I am not sure which—and the niece will be sole heiress to something like eighty or ninety thousand pounds."

"You are precise, mother," remarks Dallas, with something like a sneer. "Others would say a hundred thousand, and think nothing of it. And—is this good lady in the lilac and white shawl the niece?"

"Good gracious—no!" Lady Nora exclaims, startled and excited and very much in earnest. "How absurd of you, Dallas! And I should hardly expect you to ridicule my anxieties on your behalf!" she adds, crossly.

"My dear mother," Dallas says, unruffled, "I did not know what glamour 'eighty or ninety thousand pounds' had cast over your usually keen perceptions. And, if 'the good lady' doesn't that phrase describe her exactly?—is the rich Miss Dormer, who is the richer Miss Dormer?"

"Miss Dormer's niece. You didn't notice her, I dare say," Lady Nora responds, with a little uncertainty in her tones—quite a young girl. She sat beside her aunt.

"No; I saw nobody near the good lady in the shawl but a little girl with her hair in a pigtail," Dallas says, yawning unmistakably. "I christened her 'Miss Morisema Kenwigs' on the spot."

Lady Nora receives her son's mild jest with chilling silence.

"Yes," she resumes, in a thoughtful tone, turning the rings on her dimpled fingers, and gazing not at Dallas, but past him, at the Pisce, how, "a harmony in black and silver" in the shadows and the moonlight; "the niece will inherit all—both her aunt's and her uncle's legacies, as well as her own. Miss Yolande Dormer will be very rich one day."

"Miss what?" Dallas asks, with impatience. "Yolande? Doth she spell it with a 'Y' or an 'I'? What a name for an ordinary nineteenth-century young woman! It is equally suggestive of Arthurian legends and a comic opera!"

"Oh, I think it such a sweet name!" Lady Nora says, gushingly, and then stops, as if uncertain what to say next. "It was her father's choice, Miss Dormer told me."

"Well, madre mia, go on," Dallas urges, as she pauses. "I can spare you five minutes for a description of the charms of the richer Miss Dormer. Miss Yolande or Yolande! Heavens, what a name to call a woman by if the house was on fire! I say, mother, couldn't you find a daughter-in-law with a prettier appellation than that?"

"A daughter-in-law! How absurd of you!" rejoins Lady Nora, coldly. "I haven't seen the girl more than once or twice—"

"And know as much about her as if you had seen her one or two hundred times," her son interposes, more coldly. "Madre mia, why will you trouble yourself and me with polite fictions? I won't marry a girl, however rich, who is deformed or disfigured, who has a blot on her name or a taint in her blood. Provide one who is different, and I'll hang the sacrificial garlands around my own neck, and trot up to the altar at St. Peter's, Eaton Square, or Saint Anybody's, and submit to my fate without so much as a heat of disapprobation. I can't say more than that, can I?"

"No, indeed," replies Lady Nora, laughing. "You are always the best of boys, Dallas; though indeed I should never have expected anything from you on this score but what was sensible and unselfish, dearest"—with a little gush of gratitude at which Dallas winces. "But you may be sure," Lady Nora continues, in a tone of cordial assurance, "that whatever girl I advise you to marry will at least do you no discredit. I shall be most careful on every point, you may rest quite satisfied, Dallas."

"Thanks," says the young fellow, slowly, drawing his mustache through his fingers. "There is a smothered sigh, and then he starts up and takes his hat. "I am going out," he announces, rather abruptly; "it is stifling indoors, and it is getting quite late for this most virtuous town—nine o'clock! The French shopkeepers and goody-goody Britishers all go to bed at ten o'clock, I believe. I shall look in at the Etablissement, and see if I can find Ormond. If his party are staying at the Hotel des Bains, Lady Jeanie and he are sure to be there."

"Sure to be anywhere where Sir Harry is not," Lady Nora observes, severely, arranging some tendrils-like curls of her exquisite-made golden-brown wig over her temples. "And yet that woman does talk so of others! It is audacious of her, for George Ormond is not a boy, and people will talk when one goes about perpetually with a good-looking brother-in-law of thirty-five, and one's husband is a wretched martyr, always shut up with his valet, nursing sciatica, or lumbago, or some other awful thing; they say all his joints will be ossified by and by, and that he will have to be carried about like a stone image."

Stick to the Bench, Judge!

A chicken-stealing case was before the court. The negro culprit pleaded guilty and was duly sentenced. But the circumstances of the case had provoked the curiosity of the judge, so that he questioned the man as to how he had managed to take the chickens and carry them off from right under the window of the owner's house, and that with a savage dog loose in the yard. But the thief was not anxious to explain. He said: "Hit wouldn't be of no use, Judge, to try to 'plains' dis ting to you. Ef you was to try if you morn' likely would git yer hide full o' shot an' git no chickens aither. Ef you want to engage in any rascality, Judge, you better stick to de bench, whar you am familiar."—Tit-Bits.

long green stems are embroidered over a straight frock of black satin.

A short velvet jacket with a little turn-down collar is worn over a simple frock of white crepe de chine.

There are two excellent costumes for traveling, albeit the frock and top-coat, or the tailored suit.

A charming frock of beige crepe de chine uses pleats for its two-tiered apron, bodice, and insets in the sleeves.

Well-tailored overblouses of white dimity or crepe de chine are popular with smartly dressed sportswomen.

The bustle effect is achieved by tying the back of the frock into a huge bow over the gathered founces beneath.

The bandana is a popular accessory to the beach costume. One of pongee has a Russian design in red and blue.

Lace gowns in black, beige and ivory seem especially appropriate for roof-garden and restaurant wear in the evening.

A smart beach frock of black satin has the new jabot front and is worn with a cascade of striped rubber in bright colors.

The square-shaped beaded bag made of dull white or slightly opalescent beads is a smart accessory to the white costume.

A sports hat of black felt with a latticework crown has its brim lined with shiny green leather to match the wearer's purse.

The very mannish "Piccadilly" style of golf coat is generally sleeveless and quite smart with its gingham checks in two-tone effects.

A travelling costume of gray jersey is bound in a lighter shade and has its short detachable cape lined with gray crepe de chine.

The engagement ring need no longer be a diamond solitaire. It may be several diamonds set in platinum with sapphires or emeralds.

Fashion Plates

The Home Dressmaker should have a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A PRETTY SUMMER FROCK.

4410 White voile embroidered green and finished with bindings of green organdy. Is here portrayed. This model is nice for the new summer silk; also for crepe, tissue gingham and linen.

The Pattern is cut in 7 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 4 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. The width at the foot is 3 1/2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A SMART SUIT STYLE.

4393-4418. This style owes its originality to the smart Eaton packet and the equally attractive wrap skirt. The vest may be omitted. Sports crepe was used in this instance. Linen, pongee, ratine or twill would also be attractive.

The Jacket Pattern 4393, is cut in 4 Sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. The Skirt 4418 in 7 Sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years for Misses, and 31, 33, 35 and 37 inches waist measure for Ladies. To make this suit for an 18 year size will require 1 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. To make vest and sleeve facings of contrasting material require 1/2 yard. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 2 yards.

Two separate patterns mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

60,000 Metal Workers of Berlin on Strike.

Likely trouble for Secretary of Cape Breton Mines—Krassin Head of Russian Soviet Delegation in London Removed.

60,000 METAL WORKERS STRIKE IN BERLIN.
BERLIN, July 6. More than sixty thousand Berlin metal workers struck at noon to-day, following a ballot last night by which the union rejected for the second time the agreement reached between representatives of the Government and the employees.

GETTING "THER" MCLACHLAN.
SYDNEY, July 6. Police officials were investigating to-day the authenticity of a circular letter purporting to have been addressed to various island locals of the United Mine Workers of America by District Secretary J. B. McLachlan, and counselling them to throw down their tools in the face of alleged brutal assaults of innocent women and children by the Provincial Police. If officers of the Crown decide they can prove McLachlan's responsibility for the letter, and further that the matter contained in it lays the author open to being charged with an indictable offense, swift action may be anticipated. Quiet prevails in the affected area.

ROYA-SCOTIA GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING.
HALIFAX, July 6. Premier Armstrong could not make any definite statement this evening on what action the Government proposes to take regarding the letters signed by McLachlan and circulated among the Cape Breton miners calling upon them to down tools in defiance of the Armstrong Government and in protest against the presence in Cape Breton of Provincial Police, but said he would be able to talk after the Government session which had been in progress since this morning and was in session at a late hour to-night.

KRASSIN REMOVED.
LONDON, July 6. It is officially announced that Leonid Krassin has been removed from the position as head of the Russian Soviet delegation in London, says a Reuter despatch from Moscow to-day.

INTERPRETING THE LEMIEUX ACT.
OTTAWA, July 6. "That is a new interpretation of the Industrial Disputes Act," said Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, this morning, when his attention was drawn to a statement made by J. B. McLachlan, Secretary United Mine Workers, District 26, to the effect that the Lemieux Act, applied only to disputes arising out of wage scales and hours and conditions of labor.

McLachlan claimed there was no violation of the Act and that the Minister was wrong in saying there was. "I am not going to enter into an argument with McLachlan," said the Minister, "his interpretation of the Act is a new one and not likely to find support in the courts."

THE AIR ARMAMENT RACE.
LONDON, July 6. Premier Stanley Baldwin, replying to a question in the Commons yesterday, said that the United States had indicated no willingness to call a conference on limitation of air forces.

LUSITANIA SALVAGE.
LONDON, July 6. The salvage steamer Sampo Paratus left Dover yesterday with clearance papers for the North Atlantic, presumably to attempt to salvage gold from the sunken Lusitania.

FIVE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK.
CHICAGO, July 6. Five men "riding rails" on a freight train out of here last night were killed, and eight others were injured, when the train was wrecked at Kirkland. All were hobos. The crew escaped injury.

FATALITIES FROM THUNDER-STORM.
PITTSBURGH, July 6. Five persons were killed during a thunderstorm which broke over the city to-day. A man and woman were killed by coming in contact with live wires struck down by lightning, another was struck by lightning while standing in his porch, and two women were killed when their car skidded as they speeded to shelter from the storm.

NEGRO BRUISER CHALLENGES.
GREAT FALLS, Montana, July 6. Harry Willis, negro heavyweight, will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent, Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion said to-day. Kearns said he would leave for New York to close negotiations for the match with Willis, to be decided presumably on Labor Day.

FRENCH ADMIRAL DIES.
PARIS, July 6. Vice Admiral Ferdinand Jean Jacques De Bon Long, Chief of the French Naval General Staff, died at his home here to-day, after a lengthy illness. He was head of the French Naval Advisory Board at the Washington Armament Conference.

BYNG ASKS HOLIDAY FOR CHILDREN.
ST. ANDREW'S, N.B., July 6. When His Excellency, Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor General of Canada, responded to the address of welcome given him here to-day by Mayor G. W. Quinn, he made a holiday in honor of his visit. The school children assembled and joined in singing, "Oh Canada."

Don't Doubt Your Wife.
LEAH BAIRD SOLVES VITAL PROBLEM IN DOMESTIC DRAMA OF POWER.

If a husband has not faith in his wife; if he is unreasonable, foolishly jealous; if he believes the tongue of gossip in preference to his wife; if he judges by appearance rather than the truth, does marriage pay for a woman?

A woman has answered these questions in "Don't Doubt Your Wife," the powerful Associated Exhibitors dramatic feature showing Monday at the Star Movie. Leah Baird, herself a woman of keen perceptions, broad vision and great intelligence, wrote "Don't Doubt Your Wife." She is also the star. In fact, it is the first of a series of six Leah Baird productions for Associated Exhibitors. Every nearly-wed, newly-wed, never-wed and forever-wed will be interested in "Don't Doubt Your Wife," for it is a story of every day people and treats a problem far too prevalent in our modern social life and that is, divorce!

What the cast, in support of Miss Baird, lacks in numbers it makes up in prominence and talent. Edward Pell and Emory Johnson share honors, for though this is a story of the eternal triangle, it contains neither hero nor villain. Katherine Lewis and Mathilde Brundage have small but important parts. The direction is by Jas. W. Horna, who is said to have staged one of the most remarkable night storms ever filmed.

League Football.
GAME ENDS IN DRAW.

The Faldians and Star were the contesting teams last evening. With a stiff breeze in their favor the Star opened the offensive with a well directed shot on the goal just grazing the bar. The Faldians then captured the leather, worked west, and through a pretty bit of combination, almost beat the Star goalie. Play was fast and furious for the next ten minutes. Honors were with the Faldians who were combining nicely. The back division of the Star were called upon repeatedly to clear. Ewing Withers and Goldstone worked hard with the result that just before half time Goldstone scored but was judged offside by Referee Quick.

SECOND HALF.
Upon resuming play the spectators thought that the Faldians would have a walkover, but not so. The Star boys bravely faced the leather and gave a splendid exhibition of defence work. The wind by now was rising and it was difficult to play the ball low. The Faldians lost several chances to score through bunched in the mouth of their opponent's goal. It seemed to the spectators that each player on the Blues team coveted the honor of scoring. Withers lost two splendid opportunities right in the mouth of the goal. The Star back division played a sporty game and deserve much credit for keeping the ball in play. During this period the Star made several runs into the Faldian territory but without result. The game ended in a draw, neither side scoring.

Regatta Meeting.
HIS EXCELLENCY DONATES SILVER CUP.

The Regatta Committee met at 8.30 last night. President A. Hiscock in the chair. Following the adoption of the minutes the Secretary, Mr. G. Ellis reported that the President, Vice-President Higgins and himself had called on His Excellency the Governor during the week and were most graciously received. His Excellency evinced a great interest in the Regatta and donated a silver cup as a prize desiring that it be awarded the crew making the quickest time. His Excellency will be on the course from the early part of the day and Lady Allardice has graciously given her consent to make the presentation of prizes. After some discussion as to the desirability of making a small charge to tent holders to defray cleaning up expenses it was decided that no charge be made but that tent holders must guarantee to clean up their lots after the Regatta.

Mr. P. F. Collins wrote regretting his unavoidable resignation from the Regatta Committee. The Secretary was instructed to communicate to Mr. Collins the Committee's regret at losing a member who had always been an indefatigable worker in connection with our annual Regatta.

Mr. A. Morris of the C.L.B. Band, wrote asking permission to hold concerts at the Lakeside on Tuesday evenings of each week, preceding the Regatta. On motion of Mr. C. Hunt, seconded by Mr. E. Brophy the Band was granted the permission asked.

Hon. Secretary Ellis reported that in connection with the Junior Football Race he had written the League suggesting that only players now registered be eligible to row. No reply had been received.

On behalf of one of the crews participating in the Championship Race, Mr. E. Brophy asked that the place of this race on the programme be changed. It was accordingly ordered that the Truckmen's Race be changed from 9th to 8th, and the 8th, Army and Navy, to 9th place.

On motion of Mr. A. G. Williams, seconded by Mr. J. J. Lacey rule 19 was amended to read that not more than two prizes be given for any race.

The President announced that collectors will start work the beginning of next week and he hoped they would meet with a hearty response. There being no further business the meeting adjourned at 10.15 p.m. until next Friday evening.

New Use for Mouse Traps.

The mouse trap has a new government use. Finding English sparrows, which have been committing serious depredations on the immature corn and mungo beans growing in the experiment station at Honolulu, Hawaii, too wary to eat poisoned grain, the mouse trap was called into service. In the corn plants, the traps are wired to partly open ears. For bait a soft kernel is used. When the bird attempts to eat the innocent-looking bait, the trigger is released and the puffer caught by the head or neck. Death is instantaneous. For the mungo beans, the traps are also baited with soft corn and laid on the ground near the plants.

WEEK-END NOTES.

CHAPTER XXVII.
(L. C. MORRIS.)

THE NAVAL SHIPS.

From the days of its discovery, or more correctly speaking from the days of its colonization by John Guy and Sir Walter Raleigh, Newfoundland has been visited and patrolled by the ships of the British Navy. In the early days these ships were not large as at present, and as the reader is aware, they were all sailing ships; and they ranged in tonnage from the sloop of fifty tons to the frigate of two hundred tons. The mission of these ships was the same as it is today, namely, the protection of British rights, and the enforcement of law and order. At that time, as at present, Newfoundland was famed for its cod fisheries, and was well known among the different European nations. Hence it was that annually a fleet of fishing vessels arrived on the banks from Portugal and France, and several ships from Spain, and a great many from the west of England, and from the Channel Islands. With such a mixture of nationalities there could not but be occasional disputes and infractions, and bitter quarrels. To settle these differences properly, a court of appeal was necessary, and so it came that that authority was vested in one man, who represented the fishing fleet, and he retained his authority by virtue of being the first to arrive in St. John's on the opening of the fishing season. There was no other commission necessary to exercise this authority, beyond the fact that the claimant was the first in port. The captain of such a ship by virtue of its early arrival became the commodore of the fleet for that season, and was known as the Fishing Admiral of the station; and to him all appeals were made, and his decisions were final.

Some of those Fishing Admirals were very daring and courageous men, and some of them were rather tyrannical, and none too much given to British fair play. Of course they had very difficult tasks to assume, and a very rough and impetuous class of men to deal with. There was not much time for calm consideration, nor was there much room for leniency; and though the record of some of those fishing admirals bears the impress of harshness, it is well to remember the conditions of the times in which they lived, and the many aggravated situations in which they found themselves. On one hand they had to do their best to appease the angry fishermen, and on the other hand they were responsible to their superiors when they returned home in the fall. Judge Prowse, in his history deals at considerable length with the days, and the customs, and characteristics of the fishing admirals, and conveys a very good idea of the duties of their office. The fishing admirals in time gave away to what was known as Surrogates, who in their turn administered the law, and manifested a good deal of severity. The difference between the Surrogates and the fishing admirals was more a matter of residence or perancy, than of any difference in their official standing. The admirals' court-room was chiefly the deck of his fishing smack, the Surrogates had their quarters in port, and at different ports, and they were therefore enabled to exercise more dignity in the administration of justice. Judge Prowse also deals with the Surrogates, and his history displays much research and compilation in that direction. The Surrogates in time were supplanted by the regular magistrats, and justices of the peace, and finally of the establishment of courts of justice, until we have to-day our dignified Supreme Court.

Amongst all these developments of the country's colonization, there was ever the protecting hand of the mother country, and even when France fought for the ascendancy, and for a while claimed supremacy, the British ships were ever alert, and brought protection to the people until all other power was defeated, and the entire country became a British dependence. Since that day, it has been the annual custom for British naval ships to cruise our waters for the purpose of protection. At the time that steam was adopted by the shipping of the merchant marine, it was also applied to the naval ships, with the result that within one generation the entire naval fleet changed from sail to steam.

At the House.

The House met at the appointed hour, when Mr. Higgins brought to the attention of the Government the numerous questions on the previous order papers which are unanswered. The Prime Minister replied that answers would be forthcoming at the next sitting. The Railway Bill by the majority vote of the Government, was read a third time and ordered to be sent to the Legislative Council. The adoption of the address in reply was also passed after which the adjournment until Monday at 3 p.m. was moved.

ded yesterday in the hope that Hon. Mr. Warren, Minister of Justice, would have something to say representing the charge against Hon. Dr. Campbell, which was definitely stated in the Assembly by Mr. Walsh, member for the District of Placentia. The Attorney General did not announce his intention to take any action.

Fish Plentiful at Cape Broyle.

Messrs. P. F. Moore and Cashin, who were along the Southern Shore, returned to town last night. They report that fish is very plentiful and that trawls are doing very well. One boat at Cape Broyle had 10 quintals for three men and was in at 2 o'clock. In other places many boats are making two trips daily and one man has 40 qts. Trawls are not doing very much at present but all indications point to a large catch this season. The members visited Ferryland to look over repairs to the break water there, and also some improvements to bridges.

Evening Telegram

(Founded in 1879 by W. J. Herder.) The Evening Telegram, Ltd., Proprietors.

Our New Editor. C. E. A. JEFFERY.

Mr. Jeffery's record as a teacher at Bishop Feild College, coupled with the fact that he has contributed articles to the Canadian Press, fits him for the important position he is about to assume on our staff.

The oldest son of Rev. C. and Mrs. Jeffery he was educated at Bishop Feild College and from 1901 to 1913 was on the staff of the College. From 1914 to 1919 he was overseas with the 1st Canadian Expeditionary Force.

At the request of the Civil Re-establishment Committee he returned to Newfoundland to assist in the organization of the training of the returned soldiers, and was Principal of the Soldiers' Re-establishment School, 1919-20. In 1920 he rejoined the staff of Bishop Feild College.

Mr. Jeffery has at all times taken a prominent part in athletics—principally football, rowing, hockey and cricket—and is President of the Old Feildian Club, Vice-President of the Hockey League and an officer in the C.L.E.C.

He is a real fellow, a man whose word is his bond and one who at all times "plays the game."

We bespeak for Mr. Jeffery a very successful career in his new vocation and feel that in him we have an Editor who will help us to at all times fight for the rights of the people without fear or favour.

The Auditor General's Report.

The belated Auditor General's Report for the year ending June 30th, 1922, was tabled yesterday at the House. There is no information given for the transactions of the past year, which was the principal time of reckless squandering. The public, no doubt, will have to wait another nine months for this and by keeping the details back for so long a time, the Government no doubt believes that public condemnation and criticism will have been disarmed in reading ancient history. The report submitted is bad enough and reveals a terrible condition of affairs and shows that Responsible Government has been reduced to a travesty. The overdraft on the Public Service for ten months is $208,394, all by Minute of Council. It is pathetic to read of the squandering of the people's taxes by the Council of the Government. Never in the history of the country was such reckless extravagance carried on by a few men at the Council Board in defiance of the ethics of Responsible Government. One would naturally be inclined to ask why have a Legislature with 36 men at all if money can be spent in such vast sums in this way? What must the record of the past year be when the Government was preparing to go to the country to seek re-election? No wonder the taxes are piled up so heavily on the people and so many young men despairing of making a living in their native land have cleared out of the country leaving those who cannot get away to pay the increased taxation.

Methodist Orphanage Garden Party.

WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY NEXT.

The Garden Party in aid of the Methodist Orphanage, takes place Wednesday afternoon next, at the Methodist College Ayre Athletic Field, Pennywell Road. The Committee in charge of the arrangements are now busily engaged placing the beautiful grounds in readiness for the occasion. An elaborate sports programme, which takes place in conjunction with the affair will be held under the supervision of the Methodist Guards Comrades Association Sports Committee. The events consist of 100 yards dash, 1/4 mile, 1/2 mile, 1 mile walk, Junior Football relay race, 1 mile, and Mercantile Football five, while the centre of attraction will be the Tennis Tournament for Ladies and Gentlemen partners. Another event which should prove very interesting is the Tennis Tournament which will be held on the beautiful courts only recently constructed; and the Association, which has 160 members in its Tennis Club, has some excellent players. The tournament should draw a large crowd, as a hard fought series of doubles and singles is predicted. The Ladies' Committee of the Methodist Orphanage and Ayre Athletic will look after the catering. High teas will be served at 6 o'clock, and it is an assured fact that a most delicious fare will be served. The usual side shows in evidence at affairs of this kind will be a source of much amusement and a new attraction will be the fish pond. In view of the worthiness of the object, it is a fore-gone conclusion that the "little orphans" will not be forgotten on July 11th.

Fishery Outlook.

We regret to notice that the general tenor of the news received from the outports so far does not indicate anything like a good fishery. There are, what are usually, three prime fishing weeks gone and with the exception of five or six localities very little fish has been put under salt. Of course the three best weeks for trap fishing are yet to come, and it is to be hoped that all over the coast the lost time will be compensated for and record work accomplished. The latest report from the Straits of Bell Isle particularly Blanc Sablon and Bonne Esperance are quite encouraging and indicate that there will likely be a good average voyage there. In Placentia Bay good work has been done, but the number of fishermen engaged at the occupation is not much more than half of last year's record. In St. Mary's Bay the fishery was poor up to July 3rd, but since then there is an improvement which may increase to an average fishery. North of St. John's the fishery is poor to date but the fish generally strikes in a week or two later there than south of Cape St. Francis, and it is not too late yet to secure a good trap voyage. On the Southern Shore this week from Petty Hr. to Renew's there has been fair work done and some planters have 70 quintals under salt. There are good prospects at Bay de Verde and Grate's Cove for trawling this week also, and the fishermen expect to realize a fair voyage. The general outlook therefore may be summed up as encouraging and with the empty markets that will likely exist in Southern Europe in September, the price should be considerably better than what it has been the past six months. Good prime Shore fish ought to fetch $8 to $6.50 and Labrador $4.50, especially if even if fish is plentiful the limited number of men engaged at the industry this year is bound to mean a short catch which will be a factor in enhancing the price. With the exception of a little work done at Battle Harbor and vicinity there has been nothing worth while accomplished on the Labrador. The fishing under the most favorable conditions does not open there for any considerable trap work till the middle or twentieth of July.

Heavy Lightning Storm.

Change Islands, July 6.—Last night the heaviest lightning storm known for eighty years did considerable damage to the Church of England Building here. Doors were unfastened and glass in the windows smashed.

Canada's Wheat Prospects.

Information about the Canadian wheat crop is always interesting to Newfoundland, as it is from that country we get nearly all our annual supply of some 400,000 barrels of flour. A good wheat crop in Canada generally means cheap flour in Newfoundland. This week's advices from Manitoba show that the prospects for a bumper crop are the brightest for eight years. Reports from Saskatchewan and Alberta are also to the effect that conditions are the best since 1915 and in the latter province there is an increase of ten per cent. in the wheat area. The grain is growing splendidly and there has been ample moisture the past month and very little damage has been caused by pests in the prairie provinces. In some districts there is sufficient moisture to carry the crops through to maturity. The last weekly crop report issued by the Canadian National Railway says, "that the present crop promises to equal in total surplus the record crop of 1915." The United States wheat crop also promises to result in a good yield while the European and Russia and Central Europe will have wheat to export for the first time since the war. All the indications forecast cheaper flour next fall. This does not mean that we shall see pre war prices here of $6.50 to $6 per barrel, but if the price declines to $7 per barrel we should have no grounds for complaint and would be justified in saying that we are again getting cheap flour. Of course, many things may yet happen before the harvest is ripe that would upset these calculations. There are the "Hessian Fly" the "Black Rust" and a few other pests that often attack the wheat when in process of ripening and in a few days destroy millions of dollars worth of grain. None of the reports so far speak of any signs of these pests and in four or five weeks more the grain will be safe from any attack. The bright outlook for the wheat crop in Canada and the States has affected the British market and created a downward tendency in wheat values and English importers have less inclination to trade ahead in wheat deals. The prospect of getting flour for three dollars less than last fall means a great deal to the people of Newfoundland.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CANADIAN SCULLER ELIMINATED. THAMES, July 7. Hilton Belyea, of St. John, N.B., was eliminated from the competition for the diamond sculls to-day by D. H. L. Collier, British scullman.

ACCESS GRANTED DIVORCE.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., July 6. Ethel Barrymore, the famous actress was to-day granted a divorce from Russell G. Galt, son of the late Samuel P. Colt of Bristol on the grounds of his neglect to provide for her. Under the decision she is granted the custody of their three children. The actress said, on one occasion her husband struck her three times and she claimed that she has always supported herself and children.

CHINESE BANDITS ACTIVE.

HONG KONG, July 7. Bandits to-day held up a train on Canton Dawkowon Railway, fifteen miles from Canton, killing the Chinese Military Officer and one soldier and carrying off about ninety upper class Chinese, who are being held for ransom. Booty valued at fifty thousand dollars was also taken.

NEAR EAST SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

LAUSANNE, July 7. An optimistic feeling prevails here that an agreement soon will be reached with the Turkish delegation on unsettled problems of Near East Conference as all parties are showing a desire to conclude their labors in peace. Complete accord was reached yesterday between Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation and Premier Vazizelos, head of Greek delegation on matters affecting their two Governments. Eight members of the Turkish delegation will leave for Ankara.

CAMPAIGN FOR STUDY OF FISH LIFE.

MONTREAL, July 7. Claiming that although the curriculum of the public schools of the Dominion provides for a study of bird and animal life, practically no attention is given to fish life and the farming industry, despite the fact that the fisheries of Canada constitute one of its greatest resources. The National Executive of the Canadian Fisheries Association has inaugurated a campaign to have the study of fish life given a place in Canadian education system commensurate with its importance.

BRITISH AIR MINISTERS WISH.

LONDON, July 6. Referring to Great Britain's new air progress, Sir Samuel Hoare, Air Minister, said yesterday in speaking at a luncheon given by the National Citizens Union that he did not expect an attack from anyone, "least of all from any of our old Allies, but being a great Empire we must ensure our national security. Whoever be our friends we cannot leave our shores open to hostile attacks or live on the suzerainty of any power, just as we have the one power standard for the navy so must we have a standard for the Air Force." Sir Samuel expressed a wish to see aviation a great British national industry and he wanted to strengthen the hands of the Government so as to bring about an international restriction of air forces.

DOMINION AUTHORITIES DETERMINED.

MONTREAL, July 7. Indications of the determination of the Dominion authorities to deal with the challenge of the Cape Breton coal miners, that the Government must call off its troops or face general strike, was furnished here when troop trains carrying several hundred men of the permanent corps and active militia passed through the city enroute for the seat of disturbance.

OFFICERS OF U. M. W. ARRESTED.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 7. Dan Livingston, President and J. B. McLachlan, Secy. of the United Mines Workers of America District twenty-six were arrested to-day at the strike headquarters, Glace Bay. Last night, following the receipt of the telegram from Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, Attorney General of Nova Scotia on a charge of the violation of Section one hundred and thirty-six of the criminal code, a telegram was sent to J. M. McCormick, Sydney Chief of Police, it was as follows:—"Warrants have been issued by E. Archibald, Magistrate for city of Halifax charging James B. McLachlan and Daniel Livingston with unlawfully publishing false tales, whereby injury or mischief was likely to be occasioned to a public interest they had named the Government and Provincial police of Nova Scotia contrary to section one hundred and thirty-six of the code, please arrest immediately if possible and wire Chief Inspector Kennedy will arrive in the morning with the warrants. Such co-operation of Provincial police if necessary. Section one hundred and thirty-six of the criminal code of Canada says everyone is guilty of indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who willfully and knowingly publish any false news or tale whereby any injury or mischief is or is likely to be occasioned to any public interest. The charge is believed to have been based on statements contained in a letter addressed to various locals over the name of J. B. McLachlan. The arrests were effected by Chief McCormick and one deputy who found the Union leaders in a crowded hall and took them into custody before the eyes of many assembled strikers. There was no objection as the men were taken first to their homes and later to a restaurant where after a hearty meal, they were lodged in Sydney jail to await the arrival of a Halifax officer. McLachlan's son-in-law later arrived at Sydney from Glace Bay to apply for bail for the prisoners; but this was refused on the grounds that the authorities in Halifax would have the sole right to decide that point.

Adoration Service at Bar Haven.

BAR HAVEN, July 7. Special to Evening Telegram. The grand ceremony of the forty miles from Canton, killing the Chinese Military Officer and one soldier and carrying off about ninety upper class Chinese, who are being held for ransom. Booty valued at fifty thousand dollars was also taken.

Magistrates Court.

A loose and disorderly person, without a home, was remanded to the penitentiary for eight days.

A resident of the West End, summoned for a breach of the Intoxicating Liquors Act, was unable to appear in court owing to illness. The case was postponed on recommendation of his counsel, Mr. C. E. Hunt, until Tuesday next.

Fifteen laborers belonging to the city were arraigned before court on a charge of trespassing upon the railway of the Reid Mfg. Co. It appears the men had received passes from the Dept. of Public Works, and proceeded to Bishop's Falls to engage at construction work under R. C. Goodyear. The men not satisfied with the conditions with which they worked under, quit their jobs, and being penniless and half starving boarded the train at Bishop Falls for St. John's. Mr. C. E. Hunt, B.L. appeared on behalf of the accused and entered a plea of not guilty. The prosecution was unable to proceed with the case until further evidence was forthcoming from a material witness at Bishop Falls, and the matter was held over until such time as the Crown is ready to proceed. In the meantime the defendants were allowed to go until called upon.

A case for assault was settled out of court.

DIED.

Passed peacefully away at noon to-day, George Freeman Gillingham, (Blacksmith), aged 49 years, leaving to mourn, a wife, three daughters, two sons and mother, 4 sisters and one brother. Funeral will take place on Monday, July 9, at 3 p.m. from his late residence, 11 Golf Avenue. Friends and acquaintance please accept this the only intimation.

Aggie, thou art gone before us.

And thy face we'll see no more; 'Till again we'll meet up yonder On that bright and happy shore.

Slumber on, sweet little Aggie, Though our hearts are torn with grief, Back to earth we will not call thee For we know we'll meet again.

Meet again, oh, words of comfort, Yes we'll meet on Heaven's bright shore.

Meet again, our darling Aggie, Who is not dead, but gone before. Drowned at sea, with the sinking of the schooner Herbert Warren, Thomas Poyser, son of the late James and Jane Poyser, aged 36 years, leaving 1 sister and 1 brother to mourn their sad loss. Grant him eternal rest O Lord and let perpetual light shine upon him and may his soul rest in peace. Amen.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of my dear mother, Jane Haynes, who died July 7th, 1921. Dearest mother, thou hast left us And thy loss we deeply feel; But it's God that hath bereft us He can all our sorrows heal.

Two years have passed our hearts still sore As time flies by we miss you more; The call was short, the blow severe To part with you we loved so dear. God called you home, it was His will But in our hearts you'll live still.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of Pts. Heman Vail, who departed this life on July 6th, 1921. We trust he has gone through the beautiful gates. Away to the city of gold; Where no more sorrow, sin or pain He is safe in the heavenly fold. No pen can write, no tongue can tell Our sad and bitter loss; But God alone has helped us well To bear our bitter cross.

Oh, how sorely we have missed him None but aching hearts can tell. Earth has lost him, Heaven found him Jesus death all things well. —Inserted by his Step-mother.

Reminiscence.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—I am sure that the public in general enjoy reading in your sporting columns the account of the old regattas. You will pardon me if I tell you that the Amateur crew that you allude to, that rowed the Daisy in 1895, was not stroked by Ned Cooper, but was stroked by myself. In those years we had a six and a four oared race, and as our friend Arthur Williams was not able to row, the boat side in the four oared race, it was he who stroked the four oared crew that did so well.

If you will give me space in your valuable paper I will point out what we were up against. First of all we had the Daisy on the harbour all the summer to suit the crew from Freshwater Bay, as they found the walk to the Lake tiresome after their day's work. She was left there until the latter part of the week before Regatta week. When brought to the pond she had to be scraped and scrubbed to get the gurry off her, and in doing so the putty had come out of the nail plates, which left her bottom full of small holes. Our last pull in her was on the Saturday morning before the Regatta, as she had to lay up to dry out before being painted and varnished, this she did not get, as the Committee of the Club told us that they had not the funds to do so. So here we were with a boat heavy as lead from being in the water all the summer, not painted or varnished, to row against a brand new boat, light as a cork, and she with swivel rowlocks, and the old Daisy with thole-pins. We got off last in the six oared race, as the Daisy was very cranky and useless all pulled together she would roll unmercifully. We caught the Myrtle just below the T. A. Boat House, which was stroked by our friend Jas. Crotty. We caught up to the Iris when we got to Woodley's, but lost her again on account of one of our men catching a crab. It would like to say here that from the first I objected to this young man rowing, but as he had some friends in the West End Club, they prevailed on me to let him stay in the boat, as they said he would improve.

We caught the Iris again and passed her, but the Glance was away ahead by herself. When we cut for our buoy the Glance had turned our oars on the way home. When our coxswain called out for the stroke to back in turning the buoy, this young man that caught the crab going down the pond and was rowing number five ear, instead of pulling and giving the bow side the stroke in turning, backed water instead, so when we eventually turned the Iris had the lead on us. The Iris was stroked by Barnes. After a tussle with the Iris we got ahead of her, but the Glance was far ahead of us. When the gun went off announcing the arrival of the Glance at the winning post, our number five oar young man caught another crab and nearly turned us over, and as he was unable to get his oar out of the water, as he had it jammed in the thole-pin, I had to turn around and hit the butt of his oar to get it out. Meanwhile the Iris, who was behind us, had to go out of her course so as not to run us down, but fortunately we got under way again before she got ahead of us and got in second.

In Passing.

According to the public accounts of 1921-22 some glaring expenditures have come to light.

In the estimates provided for that year and that of 1922-23 the Speaker's salary is voted at $750.00, but in the accounts submitted for the year mentioned the Speaker was paid $2,750.00.

Mr. Hibbs, the Committee Chairman, also shared in the giving out of his salary as Chairman of Committee is voted in the Estimates at $400.00, yet in the Public Accounts we find him down for $1,680.00.

A Mr. J. Brown, whose name is not recorded in the estimates is granted a bonus of $300.00 for what service no one seems to know.

The legal men shared handsomely in the Government's generosity. Mr. H. A. Winter, the present Speaker, is awarded $1,935.00; Gibbs and Barron, $1,567.86; John Barron of the same firm, $814.56; Mr. E. Leo Carter, $922.00; Warren and Winter, $1,030.00; Mr. F. J. Morris, $337.50; Mr. F. J. Morris, $450.00; Hon. Mr. Warren, $5,000.00; Sir R. A. Squires, $5,000.00.

The Model Farm is quite an expensive utility to the taxpayers in view of the admission that with the supply of potatoes it cost $52,000.00.

In the same year $170,766.00 was spent on able bodied relief.

Mr. P. T. McGrath who always ranks with the leaders is charged with $6,950.00. The Census will more than treble the amount voted and to all appearances this will continue up to the time the next Census is taken. In the accounts of 1921-22 some $89,691.52 was paid out.

Printing school reports, the Daily Star is credited with $528.00. The Advocate notched $1,500.00.

Dr. Mosdell is a well paid admirer of Sir Richard Squires. His name figures on many papers of the lengthy document but no specific services are mentioned.

Mr. F. J. Doyle is down for $1,000, $1,500 and $250.00; whilst he was also paid $1,114.92 as examiner of Masters and Maters.

As time passes we hope to review the accounts and give further details of the squandering which seems to be a general desire with the Government of the day.

It is hardly reasonable to expect the Government to agree with the Opposition or anyone else as they seem to find it difficult to agree amongst themselves. At a recent meeting of the Executive, a heated discussion took place when one of the heads of a department told the Prime Minister to mind his own business and for a time it looked as though a fist encounter would be staged in the Executive room.

"Don't you talk to me like that," and a similar remark from the Premier called upon the other "Honourables" present to rise from their seats and help conditions back to normal.

The meetings of our Cabinet from time to time remind us of those of the Municipal Council years ago, when stormy petrels were raising Cain.

The Editors of the Mail who are with their political assistants trying to make a case in defence of the Government and the Prime Minister, are in a desperate plight to connect alibis by saved from an untimely end. Some laborers digging gravel for the paths of a new kitchen garden in the Deer Park of Maldalen College, Oxford, came across the relics, that is to say, lying in untouched terrace-gravel, about four to six feet below the surface of the soil. A casual onlooker ventured to doubt whether the first tusk found was ivory. In reply the digger said: "I will show you that it is ivory," and he immediately proceeded to prove his point by driving his pick into the tusk, breaking it up to make more gravel. Fortunately, attention was drawn to the site before the whole of the other tusk shared the same fate, four molar teeth being found close by. The part of the tusk that was rescued now constitutes a memorial to one of the earliest recorded inhabitants of the college site and is on exhibition in the college library.

Watchful at Holton.

WIRELESS INSPECTOR REPORTS. The Marconi Company is in receipt of a wireless message from Inspector Brown who is at Domino, stating that Superintendent Collins is at Holton waiting an opportunity to cross to Stag Bay. Superintendent Collins is also left here the latter part of June on S.S. Watchful to proceed to Stag Bay. Since then no report of the ship has been received. The news from Inspector Brown shows that the ship has reached Holton, and is evidently waiting for the ice to move off. Holton is about 30 miles from Stag Bay.

Sachem's Outward Passengers.

The following have booked passage for Liverpool by S.S. Sachem:—Mrs. J. E. Fox, daughter and infant, Miss M. Smith, Mrs. and Miss Holmes, Rev. Bros. Ahearn, Walsh, and Southwick, J. R. Ross, A. K. Lumsden, Mrs. S. A. Smith, Misses Smith (2), Master Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Finney, John Finney, Mrs. J. C. and Harold Andrews, G. Hall, W. Clarke, Miss V. L. Paris, Miss E. Clarke, Miss E. Buswell, Mr. and Mrs. D. Baird, T. Hallett, Capt. G. Whitty, T. H. Dean, Rev. E. A. L. Donnellson, W. J. Ranks, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wood and infant. The ships sails for Liverpool at daylight.

Elephants Once Roamed Britain.

Through what appears to have been a mere chance, part of a tusk and some teeth of one of the largest species of British elephants were recently saved from an untimely end. Some laborers digging gravel for the paths of a new kitchen garden in the Deer Park of Maldalen College, Oxford, came across the relics, that is to say, lying in untouched terrace-gravel, about four to six feet below the surface of the soil. A casual onlooker ventured to doubt whether the first tusk found was ivory. In reply the digger said: "I will show you that it is ivory," and he immediately proceeded to prove his point by driving his pick into the tusk, breaking it up to make more gravel. Fortunately, attention was drawn to the site before the whole of the other tusk shared the same fate, four molar teeth being found close by. The part of the tusk that was rescued now constitutes a memorial to one of the earliest recorded inhabitants of the college site and is on exhibition in the college library.

New Maternity Hospital.

AN APPEAL FOR DONATIONS.

Commandant Hurd S. A. recently arrived here to finish his campaign to raise funds for the completing and furnishing of the New Maternity Hospital. When Com. Hurd left here last December, after a very successful campaign in which he succeeded in raising upwards of $15,000.00 for the Hospital, there was still needed to complete and furnish the building a further sum of about $15,000.00. This the Commandant hopes to get together during the next few weeks so that the Institution can be opened early in September. We append a list of the rooms to be furnished and the cost of each so that intending donors can see just what amount will be required for each room.

10 Private Rooms @ $200.	$2000.00

Devoted Worker Receives Address.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Sir.—Will you please find space to print the accompanying address? It is the record of a splendid bit of community service carried out in an unostentatious way.

There was a rather sorrowful sort of gathering, to tell the truth, when the members of the Sewing Class of Southern Cove, parish of Heart's Content, met to say farewell to Miss Elizabeth Jones, who for three years has devoted herself wholeheartedly to the cause of the children.

Mrs. George, the President of the Class, asked the Rector to state the purpose of their meeting together. In a very happily worded speech Canon Smart spoke of Miss Jones' work, life and influence among the children, concluding by reading the address. The address was the work of Mr. W. C. Palmer and was a real work of art, black and white pen work. At the top of the beautiful scroll work was etched the lighted lamp shining on the opened Book of Knowledge. The address was accompanied by some pieces of gold. The children's parting gift to Miss Jones was a Bible bound in morocco, the women's gift being a silver-plated butter dish. Miss Jones very suitably replied, thanking those present not only for their gifts and good wishes but for their willing help all along. She urged them for the children's sake to "carry on."

The Rector concluded the proceedings with well known and frequently offered collects for the Children, Absent Friends and Travellers setting forth on a journey.—Com.

THE ADDRESS.

To Miss Elizabeth Jones,
Church of England Teacher.

Dear Miss Jones.—We are all truly sorry that the time has come for you to say good-bye to Southern Cove, Heart's Content. The Board of Education, the parents and the children wish that it were possible to keep you in our midst.

You have given a most willing and devoted service to the school—Sunday and week-day alike. The fact that the people of the community have voluntarily raised over a hundred dollars a year towards your stipend shows their high appreciation of your services.

The children will greatly miss you. School hours have been a pleasure to them, they have loved school-time because they have loved their teacher, even as their teacher has loved them.

You have consistently taught your pupils to be God-fearing and patriotic. You have both by example and word encouraged them to pray and to give to our own Orphanage, our own Missionary and our own College. Your influence has always been for good. The years that lie in front will witness to this no less than the present time.

We wish you God-speed. We hope that your life, wherever it is spent, will be as fruitful in loving service for Christ and the children as it has been during your residence at Southern Cove.

Please accept the pieces of gold with all good wishes for your welfare.

Signed on behalf of children and parents,

Odd Weapons of Duelists

CONTROVERSY THAT HAD FATAL ENDING SETTLED WITH BILLIARD BALL.

Billiard players will be interested to know that 80 years ago a duel with a billiard ball took place in which a man was killed. The quarrel was between two men named Lentant and Mellant in the commune of Maisonfort (Seine-et-Oise), France. One September day they quarreled over a game of billiards. Challenges were exchanged, the red billiard ball was selected as the weapon, and lots were drawn to see who should throw it first.

Mellant was favored, and threw with such speed and aim that Lentant, struck on the temple, fell dead. The duel of the pill is credited to Cagliostro. He had called a physician a quack. Possibly the physician thought this was too like the pot calling the kettle black. Anyway, he challenged. Cagliostro proposed that two pills, one poisonous, the other harmless, be put in a box and shaken up. Each was to draw a pill and swallow it. "A medical controversy should be settled in a medical fashion," the magician explained. It is not on record that the duel was carried out.

TRINITY

One of our midsummer visitors was Brother Ignatius Fowler from Baltimore, U.S.A., who spent a week in Trinity during which time he revisited the scenes of his early boyhood and renewed friendships of long ago. Those of us who remember him as a boy, were glad to see him again, and to welcome him to Trinity. Ignatius Fowler was born at Trinity, East in 1850, and is a son of Captain Patrick Fowler, who was in charge of the S.S. Lion when she was lost in 1855. A few years after that, Ignatius came to Trinity and lived there about nine years. His early school days were associated with the High School in Carbonara, and later with St. Bonaventure College, St. John's. After a year or so, he settled down in Boston, Mass., where he spent fifteen years in the employ of the New England Telegraph and Telephone Company. Then he decided to devote the rest of his life to teaching. After special preparation for the work at Mt. St. Joseph's College, Baltimore, he was ordained to the Religious Life, admitted to the Order of Xavierian Brothers in 1915, and to-day he is on the staff of teachers at St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore, U.S.A. The Order of Xavierian Brothers had its foundation in Belgium in 1825, was established in Louisville, Kentucky, in 1848, and has Educational Institutions through the eastern parts of the United States, with one House in England and two in Bruges. Three hundred Brothers are engaged to-day in Educational work in U.S. Brother Fowler (who was accompanied by his sister, Miss Annie) enjoyed the native air and returns to duty in August.

During an interview with Brother Ignatius, we discussed the original name of his forefathers, and as to whether it was Fowler, Fowlow, or Foley, Brother Ignatius has adopted the name Fowler, and his action is endorsed by that of his forefathers a hundred years ago, as will be seen by the following extracts from the old Church of England Registers of Trinity.

1768. Baptized two children of Patrick and Rachel Fowler, named John and Elizabeth.
1769. Buried Rachel Fowler, wife of Patrick.
1771. Buried Patrick Fowler, husband of Rachel.
To date the name was Fowler. Then it changed to Fowlow, as follows:—

SOLD BY ALL LEADING GROCERS.

1761. Married Thomas Fowlow and Elizabeth Dewey.
1763. Married Thomas Fowlow and Hannah Bailey.
Then it changed from Fowlow to Fowlow, and the families are known as such to-day.

1817. Married Joseph Fowlow and Mary Coe.

(There is, however, a watch belonging to this Joseph Fowlow in possession of his grandchildren, and on it is engraved the name Joseph Foley.)

1820. Baptized Mary Ann, child of John and Amy Fowlow.

1823. Mary Fowlow married William Peckham.

1825. Rachel Fowlow married Robt. Ricketts.

1821. Pattenca Fowlow (widow) married Thomas Gawler.

1822. Elizabeth Fowlow married Samuel Miller.

1824. Elizabeth Fowlow married John Handall.

1828. Thomas Fowlow married Catherine Woodman.

1827. Amy Fowlow married William Randall.

1842. Elizabeth Fowlow married Robert Jones.

1843. Mary Fowlow married Peter MacDonald.

1845. George Fowlow married Marie Fifeid.

1849. Thomas Fowlow married Mary A. Etheridge.

1851. George Fowlow married Elizabeth Crocker.

1852. William Fowlow married Amelia Fifeid.

1853. Providence Fowlow married Fred Fifeid.

1857. Thomas Fowlow married Susan Miller.

1860. Richard Fowlow married Mary Jenkins.

Thus within the one hundred years of the family history we find Fowler, Fowlow, Foley, and Fowlow; and the evidence points to Fowler as the original name. The Patrick and Rachel Fowler (whose children were baptized in 1768) were married before the entries were kept in the Church Registers (1753). Hence their marriage is not recorded, though it is recognized in connection with the baptism of their children in 1768. Several names in the old Registers have changed in the spelling during a hundred years. In every case, however, it has been done phonetically by the person who made the entries, and not with any intention to change the name. Thus Fowlow and Fowlow are the same name with a different spelling. How or why it changed from Fowler to Fowlow I know not, nor can I account for the name Foley as it appears on the old watch.

ECHOES OF THE GOVERNOR'S VISIT.

I was pleased to receive a letter from one of the Petty Officers of the "Wistaria," on behalf of himself and the others whom we had the pleasure to entertain on the evening of the Governor's visit, assuring me of their appreciation of our kindness and asking me "to thank all those good people for the delightful evening we were privileged to spend with you in your Trinity. We shall remember it for many a day to come."

Others who were here at the same time wrote in the same kind and grateful strain, and assured me: "There is something about Trinity; possibly an indescribable something that intrigates and fascinates; and we left, feeling that we wished to return. We shall try to do so some day."

Again, I say, I am pleased, though not surprised at these recognitions of our kind attentions to visitors. I am pleased, because it all goes to endorse the opinions that I have always had of Trinity and Trinitarians, and which I have so often expressed in my week-end notes. I am not surprised, however, a this, because noblesse oblige, in other words: Noble birth imposes the obligation of noble conduct. No one realizes more fully than I do, that Trinity has changed in several respects; but in addition to our unchanged natural beauties, it is evident that there is still left much of that "indescribable something that intrigates and fascinates," bequeathed to us by our forefathers and mothers in more abundance, and which, on the occasion like the Governor's visit, comes to the surface and asserts itself.

That "a good name is better than riches" is as true to-day as it was in the days of Solomon, and it is always up to us, as individuals to see that selfishness is never permitted to cause us as citizens either to leave undone what we ought to do, or to do what we ought not to do; and thus unintentionally or otherwise bring dishonor upon the good name that has come down to us with the red blood of past years. Selfishness is the meanest sin that man or woman may be guilty of. It ever works for ill in a community, and like the Australian boomerang, it comes back and hits the person who uses it, harder than it does the object at which it is aimed.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Although lime to-day is nearly as expensive as paint, there has been more of it used this summer than in the past, and the town looks correspondingly clean.

Mr. Eriksen is having his fan properly repaired and painted. He is also preparing to erect a well proportioned flagstaff, and with the flag of Empire, the Union Jack, flying from it, on a fine day, the whole will be most picturesque.

The Mortuary Chapel of the Church of England has received some necessary repairs. The roof has been newly shingled and recapped, constituting a decided improvement. Mr. William W. White is in charge of this department of Church work.

Messrs. Robertson, Maddock, MacDonald and Kerr, representing Henry Blaisy, the Nfld. Clothing Factory, Bradstreet, and Davis and Lawrence registered at the Garland last week.

Mr. A. R. Smith of Halifax, visited Trinity in his official capacity as Inspector of the Royal Bank, registered at Garland Hotel, did his work, and passed on.

Rev. A. Hiscock, who was ordained to the Diaconate at the last Ordination, has been sent by the Bishop to work in the Parish of Trinity till the end of the year. He will work under the supervision of Rev. E. P. Lav, who will be responsible for the priest's work in the upper parts of the parish during that time. Mr. Hiscock is just from England where he spent five years in preparation for his work. He received his B.A. degree from Sheffield University; and a thorough theological training at the "Leeds Clergy School," one of the finest theological training centres in England. He is a Newfoundland and served with credit to his country and himself in the Great War.

Miss Mollie White of Bishop Spencer College, St. John's, is home for the summer holidays. Glad to see you Mollie.

Married in St. Paul's Church, Trinity: John Johnson of Trouty, and Mary Pitcher, of Old Bonaventure.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Flag—There are three British Ensigns; the Red, the White, the Blue. Each is a sea flag, and is not intended for use on the land, though either may be flown there, as the Admiralty has no jurisdiction on the land. The flag of Newfoundland is the Union Jack, as it is of Canada, etc., and is the proper flag for a British subject to fly on the land.

A. H.—Your Great Grandfather's Christian name was Charles. He came to Trinity from the Parish of Speisbury, near Bradford, in the County of Dorset, England. He was married in Trinity in 1812.

C. B.—There is no such place in Cape Breton as "South Sydney." There is Sydney and North Sydney.

Old Times—The last time the French took Trinity, say 150 years ago, there was a large vessel in Garland's Dock Yard, ready to be launched and they sawed her in two. Their object was to destroy shipping.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about this Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. F. J. B. R. R. 2, Woodridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Just Folks.
By EDGAR A. GUEST.

BABY FEET.
Tell me, what is half so sweet
As a tiny baby's feet?
Pink and dainty as can be,
Like a coral from the sea?
Talk of jewels strung in rows,
Gaze upon those little toes
Fairer than a diamond.
With the mother kissing them!

It is morning and she lies
Uttering her happy cries
While her little hands reach out
For the feet that fly about.
Then I go to her and blow
Laughter out of every toe.
Hold her high and let her place
Tiny footprints on my face.

Little feet, that do not know
Where the winding roadways go,
Little feet, that never tire,
Feel the stones or trudge the mire.
Still too pink and spill too small
To do anything but crawl,
Thinking all their wanderings fair,
Filled with wonders everywhere.

Little feet, so rich with charm,
May you never come to harm.
As I bend and proudly blow
Laughter out of every toe,
I shall pray, that God above
Shall protect you with his love
And shall guide those little feet
Safely down life's broader street.

Obituary.
ALEXANDER GIBBONS.

It is with feelings of deep regret that we announce the death of Alexander (Sandy), as he was familiarly called, darling and eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gibbons. A bright and promising boy of fifteen years, he left his home "Tuesday" 26th ult., happy and cheerful, full of life and health. Not having returned at the usual hour his parents became anxious and later a search party set out to look for him, and not getting any trace the suspicions were that he had fallen over the cliff in the act of hunting for birds. This alas proved too true, as poor Sandy, the cherished child of fond and loving parents was then cold in death. To add to the intensity of the grief-stricken parents the body has not been recovered, but every hope is held out that it will be. The sad affair has cast a gloom over the entire settlement. Besides his grief-stricken parents he left to mourn three sisters, five brothers and a large circle of friends and relatives, to all of which the writer extends sincere sympathy in this, their sad hour of bereavement. ### Our Dumb Animals.

Report of Chief Agent S.P.A., Week Ending July 6th.
Attended to the landing of two carloads of cattle at the Railway Station; all were in good condition and were taken to pasture shortly after arrival by Mr. Halliday. Also attended two sales of cattle at Campbell & McKay's. Quite a number of people spent the sheep having their legs shorn while lying on the floor. Mr. McKay at my suggestion had the floor covered with straw for the sheep to lie on. Under present circumstances shoring horses can be done. Received report of horses being on dry pasture without getting water; am attending to this.
Had a horse owner summoned for beating his horse on the head with a whip handle. He was fined $5 or 10 days, and he also received a severe reprimand from the Judge for his cruelty. Was asked by a lady to humanely destroy a very valuable Air-Breath; it was in the habit of starting after motor cycles. The lady hadly paid her membership fee to S. P. A. A humanely destroyed a horse suffering from footrot. The Smith ordered destroyed. The animal was owned by Mr. McGuire and was very old.
Attended to the landing of 199 head cattle, 9 horses, 8 boxes of pigs and 11 sheep from the Sable I. All landed and properly looked after and taken to pasture. Ordered three horses off the street for a rest. Attended to several minor complaints. Would specially request horse owners who have their horses on dry pasture to see that they have them watered on Sunday or I will have to take action.

Harvey & Co. agents and Furness Withy Co. agents and other steamer agents have been notified not to allow any bulls to be loaded on board their steamers unless with proper bull rings, or action will have to be taken to stop the present abominable practice of the use of lengths of twisted wire.
During the week I have arranged with three West End butchers to use the Society's humane killer in their slaughter houses instead of the ancient and antiquated method of the pole-axe. These butchers have bought a killer for their exclusive use which shows a humane interest in their business and will result in better blood animals and better beef. Phone all complaints to Phone No. 653.
JONAS BARTER,
Chief Agent.

Or maybe, a furry little mother Tortured and murdered, as she sought food For her precious, hungry little brood?
The starving young, as they waited in vain The mother who never would come again.
That mother slain by a greedy human to deck a heartless or thoughtless woman.
Oh, the torture, the terror, the gaining thirst, The struggle and strain in that trap accurst!
The agony watches the long night through, Oh! woman with the furs, is it nothing to you?
Remains of Leonard Calvert
BELIEVED FOUND ON OLD ESTATE
Remains believed to be those of Leonard Calvert, first Proprietary Governor of Maryland and the son of G. Calvert, first Lord Baltimore, have been found by members of the Southern Maryland Society in St. Mary's County. The remains were found on the Bromo estate, on the edge of what was once St. Mary's City, directly opposite St. Mary's Seminary and on the St. Mary's River. This is part of the old Leonard Calvert estate and the coffin exhumed was taken from the ground at a spot not far distant from the ground where the Calvert residence once stood. Men installing pipe connections in the Bromo home made the discovery.

The coffin, which had evidently been prepared for a person of some distinction, was in a state of decomposition and contained a skull and human bones. Immediately after disinterment it was agreed that the bones were those of a Caucasian, this belief being prompted by the fact that the Indians never buried their dead in coffins and the further knowledge that the bodies of Indians were generally surrounded with trinkets of their tribe. Brass straps were bound around the coffin.
Although there is no definite knowledge to that effect, it has been generally accepted that the body of Leonard Calvert was buried on his own estate. It is known that the Calvert family maintained a private plot and that some men of prominence were buried on the grounds.

THE FUTURE.
A few more years and we shall see the heavens dark with planes; as numerous as they'll doubtless be as now are Henry's planes; they'll soar in groups of fifty-three, along the airy lanes. I find it hard to pick my way along the village street; at every step a deadly dray or chugging boat I meet; and speed hounds, seeking men to slay, pursue me and repeat. For evermore the autos sweep along the thoroughfare, and as upon my way I creep, I feel the need of prayer, and "Now I lay me down to sleep," I murmur, in despair. And when at last I reach my home I'm full of pain and fire, and I am moist with sweat and foam, and splashed with tar and mire, too scared to write an uplifted poem, too fagged to paw my lyre. What will it be a few years hence, when airships whiz around, and in the upper air are dense as swarms on the ground? I won't dare leave my garden fence to seek the village pound. How can I rubber overhead, and watch the pavement too, keep tabs on airships painted red, and divers painted blue? Some cheap balloon will knock me dead while buses round me chock. This world is getting far too swift, I cannot make the pace; with dignity I'd like to drift, but I must skip and chase, or some blamed Henry-car will lift my backbone through my face.
