CHAPTER XIX.

"How cruel of you, Miss Macdonald," said Lord Austrey, "to wish to deprive us of the pleasure of looking at the work of your fair hands! I am sure both Earncliffe and I will be delighted to criticise the drawing, and point out its defects."

"How very gallant! I presume you are about as good a critic as I am an artist. But, indeed, I would rather not show you this. Emily was reading an American novel the other day, and attempted to sketch a scene it described, and I assisted her, and I am afraid Lord Earncliffe, who has been over there, will laugh at our poor efforts."

"How can you suspect me of anything so shocking, Miss Norma? Ah! you ought to see those American scenes and draw from life. I am certain, if you are a lover of nature, and have not quite outlived all your old enthusiasms, you would be delighted with them. If you only could see Fontelle!"

"Fontelle!" exclaimed Lord George. "There a Fontelle there, too?"

"Yes, my uncle's residence, and the very moral, as my old nurse used to say, of Fontelle Park—minus the park. Well, my dear Mrs. Tremain, did you find the drawing?"

"Yes, my lord; here it is."

She handed him the drawing, and he uttered an ejaculation of amazement as he looked at it. For it was the "Mermaid" and the scenery around it to the very life! There was the river, the shore, the long, straggling deserted road, the solitary inn, the hills and woods in the distance. And there, too, out in the river, was the low, dark schooner of Captain Nick Tempest, as he had seen the first evening he had ridden that way.

"Why, what is the meaning of this?" he exclaimed, looking up; "that is the Mermaid Inn for a ducat!—that is the Hudson River, and that schooner is the Fly-by-Night, as sure as my name's Earncliffe. Why, Miss Norma are you a magician?"

She laughed as she met his eyes, but her fair cheeks were crimson.

"Not exactly! But you are laughing at me, Lord Earncliffe! Do you mean to say that poor sketch is like anything you have ever seen?"

"To the very life! I have looked on that very scene dozens of times."

"Something, perhaps, slightly resembling it?"

"No; that, as it is, to an iota, without a shadow of difference. Some one must have described this to you, Norma?"

"Oh!" said Mrs. Tremain, anxious her own daughter should share the credit. "Emily commenced it from a description she read from a book—probably the scene was laid in that part of America where you were, Norma assisted her to finish it, only."

"It is an odd circumstance, anyway. I wonder what Mr. Rowlie would say, if he knew two English ladies had been sketching his inn?" And Disbrowe laughed at the idea.

"Who is Mr. Rowlie?" asked Lord Austrey.

"Oh! a particular friend of mine—keeps that inn you see there—a glorious old fellow he is, with the nicest little wife! Shall I tell you all that picture wants, Miss Macdonald, to make it complete?"

"Oh, yes! by all means! What is it?"

"Well—a rider before the door, horsewhipping an elderly individual with the most villainous face you can possibly draw; while a boy as handsome as an angel, and dressed like a king, brandishes a stick to keep the horse. You will have a striking scene from life, then."

"Striking!" exclaimed Lord George. "Faith! I should say so—a pretty subject, that, for Miss Macdonald's pencil!"

After a few more remarks on the subject of the sketch, both gentlemen arose to go. Lord Austrey and Mrs. Tremain were conversing together in one part of the room, while Disbrowe was taking his departure with Norma. She turned to him with an agitated face, as he arose to go; and without looking up, said, hurriedly, and with a heightened color:

"Lord Earncliffe, I have something very important to say to you in private, and as soon as may be. When can I see you again?"

Her evident agitation, her downcast face, and hurried voice amazed him.

"At any time you please. I am always at your service, Norma."

"Then this evening—are you engaged?"

"No. I have no engagement that I cannot break."

"Then Mrs. Tremain and Emily will be out, and I will be alone. Will you call this evening?"

"I shall be only too happy."

"It is a strange request, I know," she said, coloring in painful embarrassment; "but you will understand me this evening. It is absolutely necessary this interview should take place, and immediately. I see Lord Austrey is going; so good-morning, my lord."

He bent over the hand she extended, completely puzzled by her strange manner; and when Lord Austrey had made his adieu, both went out together. The latter gentleman's cab stood at the door, and they sprang in, and drove off.

"By Jove! she's a beauty!" enthusiastically exclaimed Lord George, as they dashed along. "I am half in love with her already."

"Which—the aunt or the niece?"

"Oh, pooh! I hope my religious education has not been so far neglected that I did not learn the Commandment: 'Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife.' Don't you think the belle Norma has improved since you saw her last?"

"Ye-es," said Lord Earncliffe, slowly. "She has altered, but whether it is an improvement or not, I am not ready to say at this present moment."

"Well, for one thing, she is not such a gushing young female as she was."

"No; she has, unhappily, come to the other extreme. Her manner seemed cold, constrained, unnatural, I thought."

"Oh, that was caused by meeting her betrothed 'fore folks.' If you had been alone, it would have been a different story."

"Well, I am soon likely to know. I am to see her this evening."

"Who! You're not going there again—are you?"

"Yes. Have you any objection?"

"Yes, I have; most decided objections—most decided objections! Have you forgotten she is to be Lady Austrey, and that you have given up all right, claim, and title to the lady?"

"Well, no; but, to tell the truth, the engagement was of her own making. She told me she would be alone, and asked me to come."

Lord Austrey fell back, and indulged in a long, wailing whistle of intense surprise.

"There's Miss Slyboots for you! Oh, you shy ones are never to be trusted! What, in Heaven's name, can she want with you this evening?"

"That is something I did not ask her. To give me my coupe de gorge, I should judge by her look when giving the invitation. She said it was of the utmost importance, and was to be heard by me alone."

"Well, I am astonished! I say, Earncliffe, you won't make love to her—will you? Honor bright, you know."

Disbrowe laughingly promised. And they were soon driving through the park, too busy answering bows and salutations to talk further of Norma.

Better Home-Made Candies

MAKE your candy at home with Carnation Milk—bon bons, creams, pralines, taffy, fudge. Make them from the recipes given in the Carnation Recipe Book. Their richness and smoothness will surpass all your previous efforts.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

There are over 100 tested recipes in the Carnation Recipe Book. Write for a copy.

PARLOR BON BONS: Put equal parts of Carnation Milk and white of egg into a bowl; then stir in XXXX confectioner's sugar until mixture is stiff enough to shape. This fondant may be used as follows:—

Flavor the fondant with cinnamon; color red and make it into squares, patties or any other desired shapes.

Flavor the fondant with pistachio; color green and make into squares or patties.

Flavor the fondant with peppermint; make into patties and dip in melted chocolate; place on a greased paper and let harden.

What's the Wealth of London?

ALL ABOUT NEXT YEAR'S GIGANTIC STOCKTAKING.

Active preparations are being made in London for next year's quinquennial valuation, an enormous task in which property valuers, estate agents, rating experts, and the Town Clerks of the various boroughs play the leading part.

Known as the quinquennial valuation because it takes place every five years, the purpose of the undertaking is to ascertain the rateable value of all property in the Metropolis, from great hotels like the Ritz and the Carlton to tenements in Bethnal Green and little shops in the Mile End Road.

The authority for reassessing London's value from the point of view of the rate collector is not a modern Act of Parliament, but the "Statute of Elizabeth" passed in 1601, which rendered "every inhabitant, parson, vicar, and other" liable to pay rates. The Statute was amended to meet present-day conditions in 1869, the first five-yearly valuation taking place in 1870.

How Rates Are Levied.

Since then the rateable value of the Metropolis has increased by nearly £200,000,000, it being estimated by competent judges that the forthcoming valuation will show that London is worth, from this standpoint, at least £58,000,000, a figure which does not, of course, include the outlying districts, such as Richmond or Ilford.

Already many owners of property have received their valuation forms, on which must be recorded a description of the premises in question, rent, whether let on lease or under an agreement, the duration of either, and similar facts. The forms are reviewed by the valuation committees of the different local authorities, and later a valuation list, showing revisions, is posted up at the Town Hall, where it remains for two weeks to allow of objections being handed in.

All objections are heard by the assessment committee, and if the plaintiff still fails to obtain the reduction he seeks he may, on giving formal notice and by depositing £50 as security for the costs of the appeal, bring his case for consideration at the next quarter session.

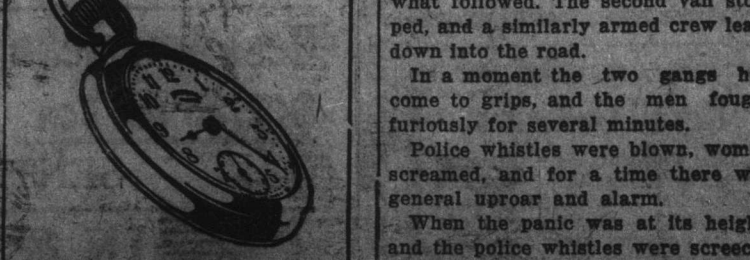

Rates are imposed on other forms of property besides houses, shops, and so on. Railway companies have to pay rates on their stations and lines. In London the revenue from this source alone is over £2,350,000. Advertisement boardings, gas, water and electricity mains, and even sewers, are rated, as well as racetracks, theatres, and cinemas, the latter being assessed according to the seating accommodation.

On the other hand, there are certain kinds of property that are considered exempt for this purpose, as, for instance, churches and chapels, art galleries, public libraries, and museums. Ships do not pay rates.

French and Belgian Troops Withdraw from the Ruhr.—Victims of Explosion on U. S. Warship Number 12

RUHR EVACUATED.
 PARIS, Oct. 22. News of the Franco-Belgian evacuation of the Ruhr is being strictly limited to the barest announcements of facts. A semi-official despatch from Mayence this morning says that the French troops yesterday evacuated Mannheim, Karlsruhe and Rheinau while the Belgians left Emerich and Wesel. Today the French evacuated the zones of Dortmund and Limburg, the departure of the troops being effected without incident. Following these evacuations the French 4th Division is re-entering France, being replaced at Coblenz by the 38th Division which has been withdrawn from the Ruhr.

ONTARIO VOTES TO-DAY.
 TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 22. For the sixth time in thirty years, citizens of Ontario will signify their approval or disapproval of Prohibition Legislation. The retention of the Ontario Temperance Act of 1916, or the substitution therefor of the comparatively open sale of intoxicants under the Provincial elections in the Plebiscite. If a majority vote for government control, Premier G. Howard Ferguson is pledged to bring in a bill abolishing the measure of Prohibition which has obtained in the Province since 1916, and substitute therefor a system of Government sale of liquor in sealed packages without medical certificate. Within the last few years all the four western provinces of Canada have abandoned Prohibition for Government control. Its success or failure in these provinces has been the chief arguments in campaigning in Ontario during the last few weeks. Full page advertisements have appeared almost daily in the newspapers setting forth arguments and statistics from both sides of the controversy. The campaign, which has been keen, often bitter, and ending with a final flourish of arguments, chiefly through printed advertisements and last exhortations to electors.

THEIR LAST DAY.
 Unless stay of execution is granted by the Courts, the five Montreal henchmen will be executed on Friday morning. Tom Geo. F. Graham, Acting Minister, announced to-day that an order in Council had been passed providing that the law take its course.

FOUR MORE DEAD.
 NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 22. Four more names last night and to-day were added to the list of dead from the explosion aboard the cruiser Trenton in Hampton Road, Monday, bringing the total to twelve. Of the six surviving members of the turret crew on duty at the time of the disaster four are still believed to be in a critical condition.

STORMY MEETINGS.
 LONDON, Oct. 22. Sir Alfred Mond, Liberal Minister of Health in the Lloyd George Coalition Government, was forced to abandon his meeting in Hackney last night because of rowdiness. The speaker kept growing worse as the former minister tried to make himself heard, until finally he was scarcely able to utter a single complete sentence and gave up trying. Still more vigorous acts by disturbers were adopted at a meeting in Reading where a man struck the Conservative candidate, J. Williams, with a stick as Williams entered the hall. The assailant was

WILL CHALLENGE AGAIN.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 22. Sir Thomas Lipton, Irish sportsman, who has fallen in four attempts to win the America Cup in yachting, will make another effort in 1926, he said to-day, upon his arrival in this country. I have definitely decided to challenge again, he said, but could not do it this year because an International Conference of Yachtmen now being held in London has not yet decided upon the specifications for universal regulations to be observed in future races. The new Lipton boat will be named Shamrock V.

PREMIUMS INDICATE PUBLIC OPINION.

LONDON, Oct. 22. An indication of the trend of public opinion with regard to the probable result of the election on October 29, may be seen in the insurance premiums quoted here to-day. They are as follows:—against the return of the Labour Government, five per cent; against the return of Conservatives, 65 per cent; against the Conservatives securing a clear majority of 320 seats in the House of Commons, forty per cent.

POLITICAL DISTURBANCES.

GLASGOW, Oct. 22. There were wild scenes at Sir Robert S. Horne's election meeting here to-night. The former Chancellor of the Exchequer was obliged to abandon his speech owing to stormy interruptions. Many of the disturbers were ejected from the Hall.

Lord Meston on India.

Lord Meston, who was the representative of India in the Imperial War Cabinet, and at the Conference in 1917, speaking at the Liberal Summer School, said that India demanded united Imperial responsibility, but in the absence of that the Liberal Party adhered to the Montagu policy. Large sections of enlightened Hindus, and practically all Mohammedans, were in favour of British rule. On no account should we be deflected from "sticking to" our work in India. We should pursue our work on democratic lines. That implied adherence to the Montagu scheme, the main principles of which should not be varied before the statutory inquiry of 1923. In regard to the public services, the recommendations of Lord Lee's Commission should be supported.

Very Itchy, Caused Eruptions, Could Not Sleep, Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema on my face. It broke out in a rash on my chin and was very itchy. Scratching caused eruptions and in a few weeks it spread all over my face. I could not sleep, and whenever I washed my face I would almost have to scream. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and ordered a free sample. I purchased more, and after using two boxes of Soap and one box of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Kathleen Rothenbush, Box 40, Duff, Sask.

AT THE CIRCUS.
 I took her to the circus, and she watched an acrobat. Hanging by his toes above us, and she cried: "Can you do that?" "Can you do that?" she shouted when the trained seal caught a ball. "Can you do that?" she questioned at each marvel, great or small; And when the spangled lady, among the coating lions sat, I had to say I couldn't when she cried: "Can you do that?" "Can you do that?" she still climbs upon my knee. But I'm not the wonder-worker: that I used to be. I'm a shattered, dusty idol, since the circus travelled through. For my baby has discovered there is much I cannot do.

How Stars Are Made Seen in "Hollywood"

 How motion picture stars are made is definitely shown for the first time in pictures when Paramount's "Hollywood," a James Cruze production, comes to the Nickel Theatre next Monday. "Hollywood," by Frank Condon, tells of ambitious ones who go to the most famous city in the world—and what they see there. Among their experiences is the signing of a contract with Cecil B. De Mille in the famous room which such stars as Swanson, Thomas Meighan, William S. Hart, Agnes Ayres, Jack Holt, Walter Heils, Leatrice Joy, Jacqueline Logan, Nita Naldi, Betty Compson—to name only a few of the famous Hollywood player-folk seen on Hollywood Boulevard, at the various studios, in the famous luncheon places and at the famous Hollywood Hotel, are pictured in this story. "Hollywood" is hailed as the first real picture of Hollywood and the greatest screen novelty in many seasons.

The Labour Party and the Russian Treaty

Mr. Arthur Ponsonby, M.P., Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has written a preface to the Labour Party's pamphlet in defence of the Russian Treaty.

After stating that the Labour Government's first step to the solution of the problem of Russia was the recognition of the Soviet Government, Mr. Ponsonby says the present Treaty are the second step, and the third step will come when the amounts due to the various claimants are settled to the satisfaction of the Government and a proposal for a loan guaranteed by the Government is submitted to Parliament.

"The greater part of the opposition to the Treaty, however, comes from the ingrained prejudice against the Bolsheviks which is fostered by White Russia influence and propaganda. As this is based on a fear and hatred of the Communist system which the Soviet Government is attempting to inaugurate, no argument is likely to be of any avail against it."

"But it should be made clear that if the Treaty is rejected, no British claimant will receive a penny; the opportunity presented by a commercial and economic revival between the two countries for helping our unemployment will be missed; the extremist element in Russia will be strengthened and, worst of all, a disappointed and offended Russia, once more treated as a pariah and an outcast, will become a standing menace to European peace."

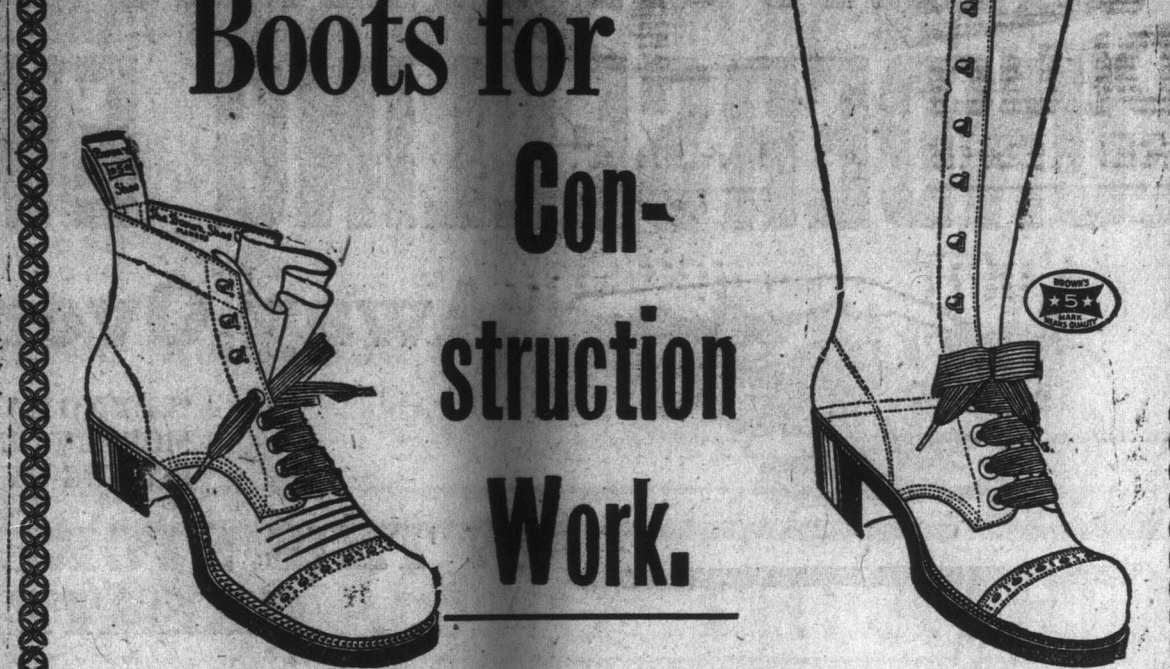

"Any amendment to the Treaty which alters the principle on which they are based is equivalent to rejection."

Our Ignorance of Religion

"A few days ago, in a message addressed to his diocesan clergy, the Bishop of Liverpool declared that our national ignorance in religious matters is profound and appalling. He pointed out that not only is religious teaching neglected in the home, but that it is fragmentary and ineffective in most elementary and secondary schools, and hardly exists at all in the universities. "While acutely conscious of the prevailing ignorance of religion, the Bishop believes that there is a desire in all classes for a firmer grip of the truth, and expresses his desire that the clergy, as the leaders of the nation's spiritual life, should endeavour by diligent instruction to meet this widely felt need. "At the conclusion of the war," says the Times, "much was heard of the confusion in the minds of the vast majority of those on active service about even the simplest facts recorded in the Gospels. While theologians were discussing abstract terms of philosophy or the interpretation of this or that historic phrase, and the clergy seemed to be engrossed in matters of tradition or ceremonialism, it was apparent that large number of Churchpeople did not know even the most elementary facts of the Faith. Though books, newspapers, and journals of almost every kind are more widely read than ever, theological literature has but a comparatively limited sale. It is true that many small works on religious subjects are provided, and it may be supposed that they have a sale which justifies their publication; but too often they are more concerned to promote party or sectarian views than to provide sound instruction. "What is required is a more explicit and proportionate exposition of the great virtues of Christianity in terms level to the needs and thought

A Sin to Kiss Your Wife!

WHY THE JAPANESE THINK KISSING IS OUTRAGEOUS.

If you wished to outrage the feelings of the average man and woman in Japan you could do so most easily by kissing in public. This "unclean and immodest habit," as the Japanese term kissing, is thoroughly repugnant to the Japanese nation, so much so that the wonderful statue, "The Kiss," by Rodin, the great French sculptor, sent to Japan for exhibition by courtesy of the French Government, has been placed in a public park with a huge bamboo screen around it, so that the sensibilities of the public may not be shocked.

When Lovers Meet.

The statue has been completely shut off from sight upon the authority of the Prefect of Police in Tokio, who issued the following statement:—"Kissing is a custom entirely foreign to Japan, and it is undesirable that it should be introduced into our country. It is uncleanly, immodest, indecorous, ungraceful, and likely to cause the spread of disease."

Officials throughout Japan are unanimous in this opinion, and, incredible as it may seem, all kissing is eliminated from films, no matter whether or not the story has a love theme. By ingenious manipulation of the film the heads of the lovers are kept apart so that they look most incongruous. In some cases it has been found impossible to exhibit great film successes owing to the difficulty of eliminating all the kissing.

The ordinary method of salutation in Japan is by nodding the head slowly and gravely. In greeting a person of distinction or an honored guest the Japanese kneel and hit their heads on the floor!

Between Japanese of opposite sexes the greatest approach to familiarity ever seen is a light patting on the back. This is occasionally indulged in between husbands and wives who are extremely fond of one another, and sometimes between lovers. Nothing resembling an embrace is ever seen. If you kiss your sweetheart or your wife you are risking social ostracism. An eminent Japanese has declared he would consider it an insult and a sin to kiss his wife.

The Japanese hold that it is wrong, not they, who are wrong in the matter of kissing. It is not natural, they maintain, but arose in the past among some degraded group of Europeans seeking a new form of pleasure. It is true, they add, that it has become an almost instinctive custom among Europeans and Americans, but nevertheless it is not instinctive in the whole human race. It is unknown to Japanese who have not lived among foreigners. Most African tribes, the people of Polynesia and Madagascar, and natives of Patagonia and Greenland are similarly ignorant.

The principal arguments used by the Japanese against the introduction of the kiss into their country are that it is an unedifying spectacle, and that it is unwholesome and dangerous from the point of view of public health. They hold that there is no other part of the body so heavily charged with germs and infectious matter as the average human mouth. There is also no part of the body so apt to receive fresh infection, since by excessive and abnormal eating we destroy the secretions which normally protect us against infections. Some Japanese doctors say that a large number of the diseases from which Europeans suffer are spread by kissing.

It may be pointed out, in refutation of at least one of the above-mentioned arguments against kissing, that it is not a bad habit acquired in comparatively modern times. The Bible frequently refers to the kiss as a pledge of affection between members of families and friends, and one Greek poet tells us creation began with a kiss.

Whether the Japanese are right or wrong, however, one thing seems certain—Japan is no place for a honeymoon couple!

Changing Eton

LANGUAGES AND SCIENCE INSTEAD OF CLASSICS.

"Eton is now taking itself much more seriously than when I was a boy here nearly 50 years ago." This is the opinion of Mr. L. S. R. Byrne, for 35 years assistant-master at Eton, who has retired.

"In my days as a boy at Eton," he told a Daily Mail reporter, "very little serious work was done in any branch except classics. Mathematics and modern languages hardly existed; now, only about 15 per cent. of the boys at the top of the school are taking classics. The rest concentrate on natural science, modern languages, history, and mathematics."

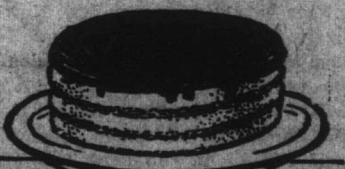

"The irresponsible aristocrats who formerly lived aimless lives as country squires now adopt farming and the professions as careers."

"Another remarkable change is that instead of practically all the masters being clergymen now only 7 out of 70 enter the Church. My own tutor would have been horrified to be seen smoking before his boys, but now masters are expected to lead ordinary lives. They have more control, because authority is no longer obliged to vest itself in humbug."

Deadly Soil

At a recent inquest it was stated that most of the lockjaw cases treated at the London Hospital come from Essex, where the soil is apparently suited to the germ. Actually, all soils are the breeding ground of disease germs.

In the New Forest there is a species of mould, used in archaic cultivation, that is well known among gardeners as being dangerous. It contains microbes which, on obtaining access to the blood, set up a peculiarly virulent form of septic poisoning, from which recovery is unlikely. Similarly, what is known as "zassa pest," a fine vegetable loam found in certain Midland districts, carries germs equally potent. Many nurserymen will handle it only with gloves.

EXCITEMENT OF A LINEMAN'S LIFE.

Climbing a telephone pole does not look either exciting or dangerous, but occasionally things happen to the telephone man which unpleasantly relieve any monotony there may be in his life.

Some telephone poles are as tall as sixty feet, a huge drop should an accident occur. A lineman was once climbing such a pole by the foot rests, and, being an old hand, was shifting a hand and a foot together for greater speed. As he reached for the last step, the rest under his foot broke, leaving him hanging on by one hand. He completed his job, though a little shaky. Nowadays, he moves either a hand or a foot—never both at once. He often thinks of what would have happened if the rest had broken while his hand instead of his foot was on it.

Fell Among Thorns.

Linemen often use climbing irons consisting of stout spikes strapped to the leg. A wireman had once reached the top of a forty-foot pole, when the strap broke. His hands lost their grip, but the other spike remained in long enough for him to turn him upside down before he began to fall. He broke no bones, but he was received by a thick thorn-hedge. For the next two hours he was pulling out thorns, staving forcibly the while his views on broken straps.

An experienced lineman once ascended to a hospital window to repair an insulator fixed close to it. Those below saw him reach the window and immediately fall backwards, though only to a flat roof ten feet below. Hastily they ascended to find him in a dead faint, though only bruised by his fall. On coming round, he explained that, glancing through the window as he got to the sill, he had found an operation in progress.

Working inside the hall of an asylum, a wireman had reached the inner sill of a roof window by means of a long ladder. The sill was only a foot wide, but as his nerves were good he stood on it to get at the wires.

Blown through a window. As he worked, he heard a faint scraping noise, and found that a powerful lunatic had moved the ladder just out of reach. So on the foot-wide sill the telephone man stayed for half an hour, not quite sure whether he wanted the ladder moved back or not, lest the lunatic might be tempted to ascend. At the end of that time a tea bell rang and his tormenter departed. The victim was rescued shortly afterwards by an attendant.

Telephone cables are often run in conduits underground. Sewer gas sometimes finds its way to them, and men affected by it have to be brought round by artificial respiration.

This is not the only case of accident that may occur at ground level. A wireman working on a street box once made a short circuit on some power wires with his spanner. The explosion that followed blew him through the window of a chemist's shop.

Tree That Gets Angry!

An explorer in the forests of North India has found a tree that gives an electric shock to anyone who touches it. The intensity of the shock varies with the time of day, the current being at its strongest at 2 p.m.

Few people in this country realize the extraordinary properties with which Nature has endowed some trees. In Nubia, for example, there is a tree, the scar, that plays tunes, a startling effect due to the boring of numerous insects at the base of the young shoots. The wind, playing through the tiny apertures, produces a series of flute-like notes.

A Canadian prairie tree, is an infallible guide to travellers, the edges of its leaves always pointing north and south.

THE FRIENDLY ACT.

WALT MATON

Free from thoughts of grief or danger I was driving yesterday, when I overtook a stranger who looked weary and forlorn. And his glance was so beseeching, so pathetic was his grin, that I set ed, catapulted through a fence. 'Twas a scene of stress and danger when the Lizzie overturned, and the poor, wayfaring stranger had his whiskers badly burned. "I am truly very sorry," I explained in grief and woe. "that my blamed besotted lorry threw a fit and acted so." But the man resumed his journey with no effort to condole, and he hired a cheap attorney who has sued me for my roll. Henceforth I'll obey the sages who advise us to beware, as we drive our creaking stages, of the stranger and his snare.

George Eliot Letters Destroyed

LONDON, Oct. 1 (A.P.)—Hundreds of interesting letters from George Eliot to her niece, Miss Emily Susannah Clarke, of Thanet, have been destroyed as requested in the will of Miss Clarke, who died recently. A relative who burned the letters said that if given to the world they might have formed a remarkable contribution to literature, in addition to furnishing an intimate autobiography of the authoress.

The Choice.

Bonavista Bay on Monday will have an opportunity to decide whether they are in favour of the policy so strongly endorsed by the whole country last spring...

The predecessors of the present Government undermined the pillars of our industrial fabric, and were themselves buried in the ruins. MONROE and his colleagues undertook to build on the wreckage...

In vain is the wrath aroused in their opponents by this success. They smash their teeth in envy, but have to content themselves by broadcasting false reports in the absence of any evidence of wrong doing on the part of the Government.

Monroe and Winsor, they say, are only out for what they can make, and the latter has been attacked because he is in receipt of his official salary...

Monroe has shown no craving for fame in public life. His success as a business man makes the charges that he is out for what he can make, purile, and contemptible...

Bonavista Voters Refuse to be Bluffed.

Monroe and Winsor More Popular Than Ever.

The following messages from Govertown and Princeton admirably express the feelings of the voters in Bonavista and show their sound judgment:—

Special to Evening Telegram. GLOVERTOWN, Oct. 22. Hon. W. S. Monroe, Capt. Winsor and Mr. Little held a meeting in the Orange Hall, Oct. 21st and received the best kind of reception and attention, and we feel sure of their return to office to finish their four-year duties, and we have every confidence in them as this is the first time in history that Bonavista Bay has been privileged with a Prime Minister to represent them, and why turn them down?

Special to Evening Telegram. PRINCETON, Oct. 22. Advocate's report of reception candidates at Charleston, South-east Bay and Princeton is incorrect. Monroe and Winsor were advised no need to hold meeting as their time was limited. Fully two-thirds of voters supporting Monroe party.

Joliffe Quinton, William Quinton, John Hollohan, Chas. Moss, Levi Prince, Silas Prince, Robert Russell, John Gould, John Prince, Eleazer Quinton, John Fry, Richard Fry, John Fry, William Quinton, Samuel Russell, Samson Russell, Henry Quinton, John Quinton, John Moss, William Moss, James Ryan, John Fry, C. H. Fry, Edgar Fry, Chas. S. Fry and others.

There was a time when Coaker had the chance to gain the confidence of the people of the District, but he chose to throw it away. There was a time when he might have tried to improve their lot, but he let it pass. To-day it is the people's turn, and they are determined to disregard vain promises and to treat with scorn those who let them down.

To-day it is their chance to do the throwing out, and they will repeat what they did last spring and put even more energy into their action.

BONAVISTA wants MONROE and WINSOR as their CHAMPIONS, and will send them back with sweeping majorities on Monday next.

Magistrates Court

HEAVY SENTENCES IMPOSED THIS MORNING. A labourer named Layman was called to the bar this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly and second, assaulting Const. Pritchard while in the execution of his duties. The prisoner pleaded guilty. The facts of the case, as submitted by Constable Pritchard, were that the accused was found in a drunken condition near the Longshoremen's Hall about 1.30 p.m. yesterday, with his coat off and using vulgar language. The officer was about to place him under arrest, when a man named Fowler, who was standing by, also under the influence of liquor, stated that he would take him home. The officer very obligingly gave Fowler an opportunity of doing so, and before they had gone very far, Layman started to show fight with Fowler. Constable Pritchard then followed them up and immediately placed Layman under arrest. He kicked out, and while the officer was in the act of handcuffing him, the handcuffs dropped to the ground and were seized by Fowler, who threw them some thirty feet into Skinner's Monument grounds. Constable Pritchard then called upon citizens to help him. There was a big crowd around at the time, and the only one who answered to his request was Mr. Skinner, who located the handcuffs. Meanwhile Layman showed fight and butted the officer four or five times in the face. Fowler interfered and also roughly handled the officer. During the melee another man stepped in and took Layman away. Constable Best then arrived on the scene and, with the assistance of Constable Pritchard, both men were arrested and taken to the lockup. Mr. Skinner stated in his evidence that the crowd gathered around used threatening words towards the officers, shouting not to rough-handle the men. Witness could not see any reason for this. Witness stated he located the handcuffs but they were taken from his hands by Fowler, whom he recognized in Court. The accused had no defence to offer and was sentenced to two months' imprisonment without the option of a fine.

Wm. Fowler, who figured in the above case was charged with (1) being drunk; (2) obstructing Constable Pritchard in the discharge of his duties. The accused stated that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. Constable Pritchard was again called to the stand and related the occurrence after Fowler stepped in. The officer stated that the accused caught him by the arm, and was responsible for Layman's getting away. The policeman also recognized him as the man who deliberately picked up the handcuffs and threw them away. Mr. Skinner followed and corroborated what Constable Pritchard had stated. The prisoner had nothing to say for his conduct. Judge Morris in summing up advised that he was determined to put down rowdy-ism in the city, and not allow any man to interfere with the police while in the performance of their duties. The life and limb of the public must be protected. He addressed the prisoner very strongly and imposed a sentence of four months' imprisonment with hard labour. He hoped that this would be a lesson for him in future.

A man named Bishop charged with being drunk and disorderly in the Longshoremen's Hall was allowed to go. The carrier did not wish to press the charge against him. Two drunks were discharged.

New Fall Hours

At their meeting yesterday, the Importers' Association decided to close the stores at 6 p.m. during the week of the Trade Exhibition which opens November 3rd. Water Street stores will not re-open for night work until 8th December, which is the usual opening date for the Christmas trade. Among other matters, the Association considered a petition presented by Messrs. A. K. Lumden and A. H. Salter, acting as a deputation representing certain Water Street firms. The petition suggested the necessity for some regulations which would bring about uniformity in connection with closing hours. The Executive of the Association proposes to take this matter up at an early date, so the Telegram was informed to-day.

Mount Cashel Band Concerts

"ANNIVERSARY NIGHT." As will be seen by the advertisements in to-day's paper the weekly Band Concert takes place in "The Gaiety" (formerly the C.C.C. Hall) to-morrow (Friday), at 8.45 p.m. This will be a special night as it is Mount Cashel Anniversary Night, twenty-six years ago to-morrow the splendid institution was founded, and to-day they are carrying on the good work of looking after, schooling, feeding and clothing over 180 boys and preparing them for life's battles. Truly a wonderful work. The management of these weekly concerts are preparing a wonderful night for to-morrow. There will be elimination numbers for which special prizes will be awarded. (By the way what friends of the institution will give prizes for these events?) Don't all ring up at once please. And there will be other items of interest, and those who miss to-morrow's event will regret it. Admission will be the same—50c. but worth $1.00. Ask any of the 350 who attended the last concert what they thought of it.—oct23.11

Supreme Court.

The following trial jury was sworn: Jas. Ryan, Henry Wyatt, Jas. Armstrong, Alex. Foster, Joseph Stick, David Redmond, Ed. Harvey, Geo. Rows, Herbert Chute, John Maddigan, Archibald LeMessurier, Albert Adams. The prisoner is charged with the larceny of the following sums of money, the property of his Majesty's Government: June 1st, 1923, $2,100.00; June 1st, 1923, $1,115.00; June 8th, 1923, $1,507.50; June 17th, 1923, $2,314.50; June 19th, 1923, $100.50.

Mr. H. A. Winter addressed the jury, pointing out that the accused had been a Magistrate at Placentia and had obtained the money by Post Office orders, of which there were 126 of one hundred dollars each. The extra sixty-four dollars was cost of issuing. He told the jury that it was within their province should they not find him guilty of larceny to find that he obtained it by the representations made to the Postmaster, which would amount to false pretences.

Mr. Ernest Collins, sworn and examined by Mr. Winter, gave his age as 38. He has been Postmaster since January, 1923. He knew the accused practically all his life. He issued money orders to Mr. O'Reilly but he did not pay for them. At present there are 126 orders of $100 each outstanding against Mr. O'Reilly. Money orders were put in and recognized by witness. They were payable to the Bank of Montreal, St. John's. The numbers ran in blocks, viz.: 3423 to 3449 on June 1st, 1923; 3449 to 3475 on June 8th, 1923; 3475 to 3498 on June 14th, 1923; 3498 to 3500 on June 17th, 1923; 3500 to 3528 on June 17th, 1923; 3528 to 3530 on June 17th, 1923; 3530 to 3550 on June 17th, 1923; 3550 to 3559 on June 17th, 1923; 3559 to 3567 on June 17th, 1923; 3567 to 3571 on June 17th, 1923. The total amount of 422,000, in addition to which was the commission. In 1921 witness issued about $1,000 in orders to Mr. O'Reilly. Accused asked him to issue the orders and the amount due for them would be paid for by bonds that he had at the bank. He did not have the money but promised to make the necessary payment on demand. Witness gave him this money. The strict rule, witness said, he departed from, but he thought from what he had been told it would be quite all right. Eventually, approximately a week afterwards he was paid for the (thousand dollars worth) orders. These were paid for indirectly by a second issue of orders. He explained that money of a new set would pay for the old set. Mr. O'Reilly would pay by cheque on the Bank of Montreal. Witness never saw the bonds, but was told they and some other securities were worth $12,000. The bonds were Government 4 per cent. for 6 p.c. In the latter days of the transaction (June, 1923) accused told him he was trying to sell the bonds to pay the outstanding amount. No further post office orders were issued to him as the department wanted this amount paid up. Accused came to St. John's to sell the bonds and returning to Placentia told witness he could not realize more than $75 on the hundred. Witness then asked him to give him something on the outstanding amount, and the accused gave him a note to the Bank of Montreal dated July 21st. "Please pay Thomas Bonia $12,844.00 and charge to my account.—W. F. O'Reilly." Witness did not present the note at the bank but put it in the post office account and he had not seen it since. The net debt gradually grew from $1,000 to the $12,500. The accused when approached was always told that the bonds and securities were at the bank. The witness said he had implicit confidence in the accused. He did not know anything about his financial position except that accused conducted a dry goods and general store at Placentia.

After a short recess Mr. Howley began his cross-examination. Witness said that during the period of two years the transactions with O'Reilly were monthly. Asked if he had knowledge of other securities besides those in the Bank of Montreal, witness said that in May he was given a savings bank book which he understood showed $8,000 of the "forget of the accused. The post office orders, he said, were issued between the 1st and 6th of June, and would not be dealt with by his department before the end of the month; but the request for settlement came before that time. The order on the bank payable July 21st was given the witness on June 28th. The accused did not tell him at the time that he had no funds to meet the order on the date of issue. Witness did not know if Mr. O'Reilly gave a mortgage, or in any way satisfied the Government's claim. Sometimes in July the accused showed him the list of securities he had in the bank, (list exhibited and recognized). Witness knew the accused was interested in a business at Argentea. He knew the premises and said as he was aware accused was interested in the business when he gave the order on the bank. Witness could not say if the removal of the accused from his position as Magistrate had any effect on the business at Argentea or Placentia.

Re-examined by Mr. Winter witness said he was given the savings bank book in 1922 as security. He believed the figures showed that there was $8,000 there. It was a Royal Bank book. Witness did not make any enquiry if the amount was in the bank. The book was subsequently given back to the accused.

George T. Lloyd, sworn, examined by Mr. Emerson said he is chief clerk in the Money Order Department of the Post Office. (Document shown witness). It was recognized as the order on the Bank of Montreal. Witness said he took it to the bank for payment. The last time he presented it was on the date in July when the amount was due. He presented it to Mr. Gardner who said there were no funds.

Cross-examined, witness said he had no knowledge of what transpired between O'Reilly and the Post Office Department after he presented the order at the bank.

Jas. Carmichael, examined by Mr. Emerson, said he was Assistant Accountant at the Bank of Montreal. Witness said he had examined the account of Mr. O'Reilly for the months of June and July, 1923. A document was shown the witness and recognized as a hypothecation of certain Government bonds for $3,000 and $1,250, and $1,750 Episcopal Corporation bonds by Mr. O'Reilly for advances. A second document exhibited was a hypothecation of a deposit slip of $1,135. It was dated July 19. Witness said the advances made against the hypothecation varied from time to time. A certain copy of the account account from Jan. 1923 to Oct. 10th, 1923 was shown witness. He stated that on the 9th of June O'Reilly's account was $12,800.00 in credit. From the 9th to the end of the month there were withdrawals. On the eleventh the account was overdrawn. On July 21st, the date the order was payable, the credit balance was $82.30.

Mr. Howley objected to the document as a whole being put in as evidence. He argued to submit the position up to the date when the order on the bank became due. Subscriptions, $300 per year for Newfoundland and Canada Foreign Subscription, except Canada, 90 cents.

Hidden Perils in Winter Furs
DYE THAT CAUSE DISEASE.

The number of cases of disease contracted from furs has been growing to such an extent that the Ministry of Health has been inquiring into the matter. The result of these investigations should prove a warning to women about to purchase certain furs, or fur-collared coats, for the Ministry has come to the conclusion that nearly all the cases were attributable to a cheap variety of rabbit skins, dyed to resemble "coney," known as "beaver coney."

The disease is an inflammation of the skin. The dye from the fur collar starts the trouble, which begins with a distressing rash and swelling of the skin around the neck, this extending, in many cases, over the face, accompanied by puffiness of the subcutaneous tissues which may be so great that the eyes are completely closed up for some days. Sufferers complain of the scalding pain of the rash, which is most intense in those women whose skins are naturally greasy.

Even Furriers Are Affected. The trouble is traceable not so much to the furs themselves as to the chemicals used in the dyeing process. Mercury and arsenic are sometimes used for this purpose, and the chemicals are not always properly removed after the dyeing has been carried out. In other instances the infection is due to some disease, or some other specific infection—but here, again, it never can be shown in distinction there would be no danger. Furriers themselves often suffer from afflictions of the hands transmitted from infected skins.

A positive diagnosis of fur-poisoning can be made when, in a woman who has been free from any kind of skin disease and enjoying good health, a sudden outbreak of scalding rash makes its appearance on the wrists or hands after wearing a fur coat for a day or two. Fortunately, in the majority of such cases, immediate disuse of the offending garment and the application of suitable emollients will cure the trouble; but in very susceptible skins the seeds of chronic trouble may be sown.

Most of these dangerous skins come from Germany and America and are run to dyeing for the sake of cheapness. It is only necessary to consider the prices of some of the "furs" to realize that it would be economically impossible either for them to be genuine skins or to have been properly treated in the dyeing process.

All kinds of tricks are employed by unscrupulous furriers, and sometimes even experts are baffled by the manner in which the skins are dyed and treated.

Rabbit and cat skins are bought by unsuspecting women. The rabbit is usually sold under the pretence, if intelligible, terms of "seal coney," "musquash coney," "chinchilla coney," and has a ready sale.

The modern furrier can take the better-class hare and rabbit pelts and convert them into really beautiful imitations of seal, ermine, fox, and lynx. When buying a fur the purchaser should inspect the skin of the pelt, as if there are any weak spots these are apparent on the wrong side.

No fur needs more care in choosing than the ever popular fox. A long, loose-haired fur should be avoided; a close, short, full-haired pelt should be chosen. A good fox skin of this type will last for years. Grey smoked, and brown-black fox skins are all dyed; white is a natural color, and so are red and cross fox—a cross between silver and natural.

If the purchaser has reason to be suspicious she should refuse to purchase unless the trader gives her a written assurance that the skin is what it is represented to be. To buy in a haphazard fashion is to court skin poisoning.

Winter Promises
Hardships FOR VETERANS OF ENGLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 4 (A.P.)—Closing of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley shortly will result in additional serious unemployment among former service men, according to officials of the British Legion, who are making extra efforts to provide work for the men now employed in the exhibition grounds and buildings.

Pointing out that for the last three months unemployment figures have been heavier than for the corresponding period of last year, one official of the legion said that there was every indication that the coming winter would produce more distress among former service men than any since the armistice, due to the completion or abandonment of the many municipal relief schemes undertaken since the war.

Individual cases of hardship and poverty reaching his notice, he added, were increasing alarmingly in number.

The Directorate influence is seen in some of the high collars and flowing cravats of the ensemble costumes.

Fish That Help Fishermen
ODD WAYS OF REAPING THE OCEAN'S HARVEST.

We know that the Chinese train comorants to catch fish for them while in this country others have been used for a similar purpose. But to use one fish for the purpose of capturing another is the strangest of ideas, and is practised only in North Queensland.

The tribe of blacks who fish in this extraordinary fashion live near Amity Point. When they see a shoal of mullet close to the shore the men run down to the sea and begin striking the water with paddles or pieces of wood. This is to call the porpoise to help them, and, incredible as it may seem, the porpoises understand, and charging the shoal of mullet on the outer side, drive them shorewards.

The mullet, flying before their big snouts, rush into shallow water, and are scooped out by the waiting natives with hand nets.

Captured by Cunning. The Negroes of Jamaica have an almost equally odd method of getting fish. They go out on a calm moonlight night and row about until they notice a spot where the water is ruffled. This means that a shoal of red snapper are on the surface.

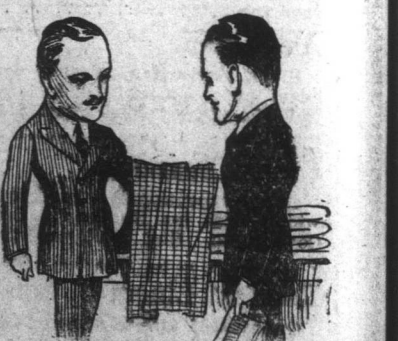

Rowing to the spot one of the men begins beating on the side of the boat with a wooden club. The fish are terrified and jump high into the air, and some at least are sure to fall into the boat. From a dozen to twenty may be caught out of one shoal, and since they are big fish, weighing from two to five pounds apiece, the take is well worth having.

The writer has seen mullet taken in similar fashion off the Florida coast. The boat, however, went out on a dark night and was provided with a strong flare in the bows. Then the surface of the water was beaten with oar blades and the mullet jumped in to receive them.

WHY DO WE HATE TO WORK?

Why do children hate work so bitterly? Why is it that the little girl who is absolutely tireless when it's a question of hide-a-n-d-e-s-e-k feels absolutely exhausted when she faces a small pile of dishes? Why is it that the small boy who could play tennis for two or three hours on the hottest day in the year begins to feel an ache in his back after 15 minutes with the lawn mower?

Yet She Isn't A Bit Lazy. One of the sweetest little girls I know was asked to do daily duty at the dish pan last summer during the maid's recovery from an operation. To make the latter's duties lighter, and after a day or two she began to complain bitterly of this curtailment of what had hitherto been perfect freedom. Yet if you viewed her in her daily activities you would never think her a lazy child. Why should she object to spending a few minutes every day at such a simple task?

For the same reason I suppose that grown-up children will spend hours working over their hobbies while they would bitterly resent having to spend those same hours and an equivalent in mental energy adding up figures or getting their correspondence attended to.

The Have-To-Ness Of Work. I suppose it's partly the monotony and partly the have-to-ness of work that puts play in one category and work in another.

It seems to be human nature to hate to do what you have to do. We are always speaking about a man as being mullish when he resents being driven. I should think that mules might well reverse the compliment and call each other human when they show that characteristic.

Most of us are sure that if we could only do just what we want to do all the time (and that means play in one form or another, hunting or reading or dancing or travelling or indulging in some form of sport) we should be perfectly happy.

But Work Gives It That Savour. We know what a fine savor there is to play earned by hard work, looked forward to, limited in quantity, and we think that if we could fill all our days with play, they would all have the same savor.

Of course they wouldn't. No more than the cream puff which makes such a delightful dessert would make a satisfying meal if one had nothing but cream puffs for dinner.

"The gods sell us all good things for hard work," said an old Greek philosopher. And I am sure that he did not rank the savor of play earned by hard work as least among these.

Jackie Coogan, the infant prodigy of the film world, was discovered by Charlie Chaplin on the platform of a Pennsylvania railway station.

Chaplin was walking up and down waiting for a train when he was struck by the piquant face of the child. As he looked at him admiringly, the small boy suddenly gravely winked at him. His intense gravity and self-possession decided Charlie Chaplin that Jackie must be secured for the films at once.

Jackie Coogan's first appearance was in Chaplin's six-part film, "The Kid."

Synod at Quebec Denounces Efforts to Raise Church Funds—Home Life Scored—Spirit of Religious Independence Deplored in Resolution.

Quebec, October 12. (Star Special)—Resolutions adopted at the Anglican Synod of this Province held in this city in June last were given out yesterday in churches of the Church of England in this diocese and covers a number of subjects which forms a lengthy document which reads in part as follows:

"The Synod urges the clergy to impress upon their congregations and to emphasize in every way possible the duty of being ready to make sacrifices for the sake of religion in order that the love of God may become a living power in the lives of all.

"Convinced that what the world needs is a living witness and visible demonstration of the love and power of God, the Synod places the personal life and example of the clergy as an outstanding religious need, and therefore calls the attention of the members of the clergy to the solemn vow of Ordination binding them to fashion their lives according to the doctrines of Christ and to make themselves wholesome examples to the flock of Christ, and urges upon every parish priest the insistent necessity of systematically devoting a definite portion of each day to meditation and sacred study, with a view to the upholding and development of his own personal spiritual life.

"One of the most insidious dangers by which the world is being threatened to-day is the decline of religion and religious influence in the home. While thanking God for the homes where children are brought up in the fear and love of God, this Synod recognizes that to an alarming degree children are being brought up in homes which are blighted by want of religion and selfishness on the part of the father who thinks he has done enough when he has provided for the material necessities of the family and who refuses to allow his religion to interfere with his secular pleasure; and selfishness on the part of the mother who chafes at her God-given task of bringing up children, and neglected their spiritual life.

Urges More Interest. "Viewing therefore with grave apprehension the present decline of religious teaching in the home, the Synod of this diocese urges all parents to display more interest in and devote more attention to the religious training and character-building of their children and in their home life to be wholesome examples to those committed to their care, with a view to counteracting the present prevalent decline in public worship, neglect of private prayer, irregularity in Bible study, indifference to the Sacraments, apathy towards religious truth and right thinking and consequent lowering of the standard of our present day living.

"The lack of obedience to the divinely established authority of the Church as the body of Christ, is an outstanding danger of the times in which we live, and therefore the Synod strongly appeals to all church people for a greater exercise of obedience and loyal submission to all lawfully and established ecclesiastical authority in matters pertaining to the order and discipline of the Church, and deplores the spirit of religious independence and license of thought and action at present so rampant in many quarters.

"The Synod deplores the present laxity in regard to the Sunday observance, which is regarded as one of the gravest hindrances to the progress of true religion in the life of the people.

"In order to counteract this deplorable and widespread laxity, the Synod recommends that the following principles, governing the observance of Sunday, be loyally and conscientiously observed by all the members of the diocese:—

(1)—The laying of greater emphasis upon the positive duty of the worship of Almighty God upon Sunday.

(2)—The refraining from all unnecessary forms of amusement or action which may tend to profane and desecrate the Lord's Day.

(3)—The refraining from all unnecessary forms of labor on Sunday which cannot strictly be called work of necessity and which therefore constitute a breach of the law governing Sunday observance, calls upon those in authority and upon all who are charged with the maintenance of law and order to insist upon the observance of the provisions of the Lord's Day Act in regard to Sunday labor, on the part of all employers of labor and industrial corporations of this Province.

Frown On Dancing. "Owing to the fact that dancing, at the present time, is frequently accompanied by grave improprieties of a distinctly immoral tendency, and also owing to the fact that at the present time the habit of gambling is becoming more and more associated with card-playing the Synod is of the opinion that it is not expedient that the clergy should provide for organized dancing or card-playing, as part of their regular church activities of parish programme.

"Inasmuch as the duty of making free-will offerings for the maintenance of the worship of the Church and other similar objects is a divinely ordained duty, which can be fulfilled in only one way, and in view of the fact that many questionable means of raising money for Church purposes are being resorted to, with the result that the work of the Church is being seriously hindered, the Synod is of the opinion that it is distinctly beneath the dignity and propriety of the Church to resort to raffles, wheels of fortune and dancing or card-playing for the raising of Church funds, and that such practices be definitely repudiated by this Synod, as means of meeting any parochial or missionary obligations whatsoever."

One may have a high collar, a bateau or a V-shaped neckline on one's daytime frock.

Margie Adams in "Thumbs Down"

LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESS GREAT STAGE PLAY.

A capacity audience was in evidence at the Casino last night, when the Young-Adams Company appeared in "Thumbs Down." In selecting this as the second offering, Mr. Young has shown good judgment. The play is so admirably written that it is a credit to the company, from the standpoint of the organization, that they were able to score so solidly in the first performance. Margie Adams added fresh interest by her beautiful acting and the display of wonderful powers. To the smaller crowd it must be an eye-filling witness the magnificent costumes worn by this popular lady.

The part of Larry, the artist, was played out to the last letter by H. Young, whose handsome appearance and histrionic talent make him a character that will be remembered. The role of District Attorney Alfred Stretton like a picture. This is indeed an excellent play, especially in the second act, with Mr. Durand, who impersonated Secret McGraw, the funniest part that was ever put on the stage. The scene nearly rose the roof with laughter. As a villain, Eddie Stant plays a remarkable role. Now we come to the great comedy character, Billy Camp, which was very cleverly portrayed by Joe Leonard. Edgar H. Young as Judge Fowler gave an excellent interpretation of a difficult role. Also did Ann McNeill as Mrs. Sherman. The setting and electrical effects were all that could possibly be desired, while the Jazz Orchestra provided plenty of good lively music. The Vaudeville was in itself a feature, especially the Durands. They were compelled to respond to repeated applause and even then the audience would not part with them. To-night the same bill will be repeated. Tomorrow night the play will be "The Ankle," and on Saturday afternoon the children will see "Margie and Jiggs."

Character Reading

LIST TO OBSERVER OF READ-GEAR.

LONDON, Sept. 20. (A.P.)—The latest explorations into the realm of psychology show that a man's character is revealed by the way he puts on his hat, or so at least Dr. C. W. Kemmis, chief education officer, has been telling the London Country Council.

"If I wear my hat well over my forehead it gives me a solemn thoughtful appearance," Dr. Kemmis said. "When I push it back beyond the usual position, the whole world knows me as a happy-go-lucky man. On the right side I am nothing but a rowdy, but the minute I let it slide over to the left I lose my social status completely, for I become a mental deficient."

London haters confirm the truth of what Dr. Kemmis says, and declare they knew all this long ago. "I always examine my customer's hat as they come into this shop," said one hatter. "Before they have given their order I have formed my conclusions with regard to the kind of hat they need."

"A man with a fashionably shaped bowler tilted forward over his right eye will want an expensive but fashionable hat. The man who wears his hat straight will in all probability demand a serviceable hat, and will possibly be particular over the price."

"Men who wear their hats tilted to the left are the rarest type. They usually want something out of the common. But there is a chance that one may misjudge this last type, they may merely be left-handed."

The Bad Old Days

Some of the most interesting reminiscences I have ever heard are those of Mr. John Turner, who has just retired from the secretaryship of the Shop Assistants' Union.

"When I began my career," said Mr. Turner, "I was only thirteen. I lived in the shop and my wages were one shilling a week. Early closing and half-holidays were unknown then and some shops opened even on Sundays. We often worked ninety hours a week. I was in a grocer's shop and some of my jobs were not easy ones. There were no sugar cubes in those days and we had to cut up the sugar ourselves with old hand machines. "Nothing was ready wrapped up as it is to-day, and there were three things one had to know how to do before one was allowed to serve behind the counter. One of them was to wrap up a pound of rice neatly—and rice is the hardest thing to wrap! Another was to 'turn a cup'—that is, to twist the cone in which sugar was placed for wrapping. The third was to weigh accurately with the old hand scales, which had to be held in the hand above the counter."

Mr. Turner is one of the representatives of "black-coated" workers on the general council of the Trades Union Congress.

A Pithy Reply to Mr. Hickman

To Mr. A. E. Hickman, St. John's, Nfld.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge your letter of Oct. 9th, judging from same you think it very important, we should have another election this fall. Well, your principal reason as far as I can see, is, to try to embarrass and humbug the Government as much as you can. You say, you are putting two candidates in the field, but omitted their names. Were you afraid of being asked to explain your connections with Coaker? When not so long ago you were bitterly opposed to each other.

Do you think that the fishermen of Bonavista Bay have forgotten your advice regarding fish regulations. Let me tell you that the majority of the people in Bonavista Bay were behind these regulations as they believed them to be a benefit. Now Coaker says plainly, that Hickman was instrumental in bringing about their collapse. In the face of this you must certainly have a cheek to ask the people of this district to support your party. Let me tell you sir, that your little bluff won't work. Your letter to the voters of Bonavista District, will not have the effect you intend, but quite the reverse, as they will plainly show you on Oct. 27th. Not long ago there was a rumour going around (there was a certain man had cleaned up a nice grab on a coal contract with the last government) were you that man? or was this rumour correct? When you write me again, please say what your policy would have been if you and your party had been successful at the polls last June?

Lastly sir! let me add, the people of Bonavista Bay, do not consider you worth a passing thought, as they know right well you neither have the ability or pluck to run a government successfully.

In future when you write letters and enclose them in a sealed envelope, place a three cent stamp on them, and do not deprive the revenue of an extra two cents as you did in the case of this letter.

E. QUINTON, Charleston, B.E., Oct. 20th.

AT THE STAR MOVIE.

Why "The White Rose" is the Biggest Picture To-day.

Something that is occurring with no other picture—everywhere at every showing, the audience is swayed and shaken in the turmoil of heart emotion—you can HEAR the tears and sobs!

Imagine such a picture in the world; you forget the picture and the screen; you even forget the players. You live the story!

Big? Of course it is big! As big as a woman's love, and her fall; the great enduring love that will not weaken and will not doubt!

It leaves you with a warm glow around your heart; uplifting, bringing you sweet ecstasies, a smile upon your face, with tender memories, better hopes, and a richer outlook!

The biggest picture on the screen because it has the biggest heart! D. W. Griffith's newest masterpiece, "The White Rose."

Preliminary Enquiry Into Stabbing Affray

PRISONER ADMITTED TO BAIL.

The preliminary enquiry into the charge preferred against Robert Sears, in connection with the stabbing affray, which occurred near the Prince's Rink, about three weeks ago, was begun before Judge Morris yesterday afternoon, when the evidence of Constable S. Churchill was taken.

Mr. W. J. Browne, B.L., Counsel for prisoner, made application for bail. A certificate was produced from Dr. Keegan stating that Cyril Power was about to be discharged from Hospital, completely cured. Bail was then granted in the sum of $5,000, the accused himself $2,000, and Wm. Sherran and Thos. Whelan securities for $2,000 each.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

FIVE MEN TO GO TO THE GALLOWS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22. Unprecedented in the criminal history of Montreal, the execution of five men condemned to death on July 23 last for the murder of Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the collection car of the Bank of Hochelaga, will be carried out in Bordeaux Jail here on Friday morning. The quintet are Louis Morel, ex-Montreal detective; Arcangelo Vincenzo, alias Tony Frank, at one time the master mind of Montreal's underworld; Giuseppe Serafini, Frank Gabibo, and Mike Valentino. The robbery and murder of Cleroux took place last April. A sixth bandit, Leo Davis was condemned to die also but the production of new evidence following the trial caused his execution to be postponed until November 8th, the result of the Davis trial is now pending.

POPE'S BODY REMOVED FROM PROVISIONAL TOMB.

ROME, Oct. 22. The body of Pope Leo XIII was removed at eight o'clock to-night from its provisional resting place in St. Peter's to the tomb provided for it in the Basilica of St. John Lateran. The translation was conducted in complete privacy but with all due ceremonial.

THOUSANDS OF MUKDEN TROOPS KILLED BY HIDDEN MINES.

LONDON, Oct. 22. An attack by 15,000 Chinese Government troops upon the Mukden forces is reported by the Mukden correspondent of the Daily Mail under date of Wednesday. After an all night battle fiercely contested the Mukden troops turned the left flank of the enemy troops and pressed the right flank upon prepared mine fields. The mines exploded Monday morning killing thousands.

MINERS HAVE MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22. An explosion in the mine of the Heart Coal Corporation near here early to-day entombed nine men four of whom escaped through an abandoned shaft and five reported that they were all here, indicating they escaped injury according to officials of the company. The explosion occurred in shaft No. 9, 226 feet under ground shortly after the day force of 250 men had left the workings. The cage was jammed in the shaft and the tangle blown over. Crowds began to gather and for several hours it was believed that the nine men known to be in the pit had perished. Four of them who had been working in No. 11 shaft ninety feet below No. 9 shaft escaped through an abandoned shaft and injured shortly before 9 o'clock to-night. Those gathered around the party wrecked tangle heard a noise from below of shouting. It was Harvey Nesbitt a negro miner who told those on the surface in reply to questions that they were all there. None were injured.

PRINCE AGAIN CROSSES THE BORDER.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales at midnight terminated his brief stay in Montreal, and at 1:45 this morning he embarked on a train which he had embarked crossed the international border a quarter mile south of St. Armand and he again entered the United States according to schedule, by the train provided by the Canadian National Railway his Royal Highness will reach Lowell Mass at 10 this a.m.

TRENTON'S DEAD NUMBER 14.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 23. With the deaths yesterday of six of the injured at the hospital here, the total number of dead from the powder explosion aboard the scout cruiser Trenton Monday was brought to fourteen, and at least one more of the six remaining wounded is not expected to recover. Four of the disaster victims met death when the explosion occurred and ten have died since they were brought to hospital.

DOMINIONS WILL DISAPPROVE OF AMENDMENTS.

LONDON, Oct. 23. Hon. E. M. Macdonald, Minister of Defence for Canada who was dominant representative along with Senator Dandurand at the League of Nations Assembly in Geneva sailed from Southampton yesterday aboard the Homeric for New York. Mr. Macdonald said disarmament and arbitration protocol as finally amended at the instance of Japan would not commend itself to Canada and other self-governing dominions of the empire.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Oct. 22nd.—Up very betimes, and to the office of the Telegram sheet, but to my great discontent, the weather too wet for the staff to be photographed. This makes me mad being that I did rise long before my accustomed hour and did take the greatest pains with my appearance. Anon to the Sessions House, where the action for contempt of Court that is brought against the News and Telegram sheets. Much legal argument, and at the end of it the Court reserves judgement. I learn this day how the Importers meet to decide the hours for the remainder of the fall. Mr. McKay tells me how they will close the shops at 6 of the clock each evening during the week of his trade exhibition, which pleases him mightily. By despatches out of Canada, short shift to be given the 5 highwaymen that were lately condemned to die by hanging, and all to be executed Friday morning. Despatches from England tell of much rowdyism at political meetings, such as was never known there for many years.

Govt. Officials Return

FROM TOUR OF INSPECTION
Mr. H. J. Russell, Manager of the Government Railway, accompanied by Mr. W. F. Joyce, chief engineer, returned by the Humber Special yesterday, after an inspection of the railroad of the Carboniferous Branch and the Western Division. The officials first toured the shore line branch, which they found in good working order. Later they directed their attention to the western end and found conditions exactly similar, despite the heavy freight traffic which prevails around the Humber area. During the season upwards of 300,000 tons of freight was carried over the road from Port aux Basques for the Armstrong Whitworth Co., mainly for construction purposes. The traffic in this connection is now lessening somewhat, as construction work is practically completed, and the company expects to have the work finished by the end of November. There is considerable freight offering in the way of provisions, etc., and with business pretty brisk on the western end the railway officials are hopeful that the service will be maintained satisfactorily during the winter. Every preparation for the operating of the railroad during the winter months has been made, and the necessary coal supplies will be found available at the various basins by the end of the month. Owing to the passenger and freight traffic becoming rather congested on the Cook's Harbor service, the Government have decided to place the steamer Home on the route to assist the Prospero. Before the Home proceeds north she will make one trip on the Straits route, replacing the Sagona.

Schooner Reported Adrift at Sea

While the Rosalind was passing Petty Hr. at 8 o'clock this morning a radio message was picked up from the steamer Christian Michelsen stating that a schooner needed assistance 63 miles true east St. John's. The vessel was drifting southward and the weather moderate. The Christian Michelsen offered to take the crew off, but understood they wanted a tow only. The steamer continued on her way 11:30 last night. Owing to the schooner being such a distance away, and not being in any great danger Captain James decided to proceed to port.

BROAD STREET GOSSIP.

Railroads and Politics.
N.Y.—Presidential campaign exercise a restrictive influence on all speculative activities, but particularly in railroads. Nobody knows what railroad activity may be in the candidates. Even such a non-partisan body as the Commerce Commission is not eager to act on such questions as consolidation with political conditions unsettled and themselves likely to draw undeserved criticism. Railroad directors have in several cases been reluctant to launch large constructive projects while any chance remained of a political upset and have been particularly unwilling to raise or inaugurate dividends, even where necessary to make stock financing possible. With election out of the way, particularly if it disposes emphatically of a political career built chiefly on railroad-baiting, railroads will feel free to do a number of things. One thing is fairly certain: Future railroad financing will incline from road financing to bond financing. Present position bonds toward stock. Present position bonds toward stock. Present position bonds toward stock. Present position bonds toward stock.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Editor Sportographs.
Dear Sir.—In reference to the Halifax Marathon Sweep, the committee in charge announced that Wright, who was second last year, would be substituted for Linagar, we have also learned since from Jack Bell that Wright is not competing.

Upon receipt of this information the Committee wired The Halifax Herald as the adjoining message will show, asking them to give the name of the next man to Wright last year and if competing again, they named McLellan as the man, they also gave us four other names among whom was Corkum who finished fourth.

The Committee have now decided that instead of having Wright substitute for Linagar, they have selected McLellan, consequently any tickets marked Linagar will be represented by McLellan.

The Committee are endeavoring to protect those who have purchased tickets, and we hope they will endorse the position we have taken.

Yours faithfully,

JOHN M. TOBIN.

HALIFAX MARATHON TAKES PLACE SATURDAY.
Ron O'Toole A Strong Contender For The Championship.

The Halifax Herald and The Evening Mail Annual 10-Mile Road Race, for the championship of the Maritime Provinces, takes place on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2 p.m. The race, which is Canada's classic event of the east, will start from the Y.M.C.A., on Barrington Street, at the hour mentioned, rain or shine, and in the getway will find the best footed runners in the Province, including MacAulay, four times champion, and Newfoundland's best, Ron O'Toole, all seeking for the much coveted honor. Due to the fact that MacAulay has won the event for the past three years, he is again lauded as the supreme favorite, but Halifax papers state that he will have lots of competition this year in McLellan, Laperriere, Corkum, Spragg, Carey and Ron O'Toole, of Newfoundland. With this in view the race promises to be a real thriller. MacAulay, though getting older, is still a good runner, but still the chances of the younger fellows look very bright. O'Toole, on the other hand, is presumed to be MacAulay's most dangerous rival, and should he keep his head in the early stages and not allow any jockeying, we feel sure that he will be with the leaders over the entire route, and make a supreme effort towards the finish for the laurels. Latest word received from Halifax states that O'Toole is running to form; and barring accidents his chances look very bright. Alfred Rogers is not running this year.

Latest.

Passengers arriving by the Rosalind this morning, speaking to Mr. John Bell, in Halifax, state that O'Toole is in excellent shape and will be ready for action on Saturday. On Monday O'Toole covered the hardest part of the course, including the dead-end Arm Hill, a distance of 5 miles, and was clocked under 27 minutes. This is very encouraging news indeed, and gives Newfoundland's best a great hope for the championship. Late Halifax papers now state that O'Toole is a very likely winner.

WILLIAMS—CHRISTIAN.

Last night at the residence of the bride's parents, 88 Pleasant Street, Miss Jean Alexandra Christian, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aroh H. Christian of this city, was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Charles McDonald Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Williams, Hayward Avenue, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. T. E. Fairbairn, pastor of George Street Church, in the presence of a very large number of friends of both the contracting parties. At 7.30 the bride entered the drawing-room, which had been tastefully decorated with holly and autumn leaves, leaning on her father's arm, and attended by her cousin Miss Madge Mews as bridesmaid and little Misses Betty Christian and Peggy Parsons as flower girls.

The bridegroom was supported by his cousin Mr. Ralph Johnston who performed the duties of best man with professional dignity. The wedding march was played by the brother of the bride, Prof. H. G. Christian, L.R.A.M. The bride was beautifully attired in a baronet white satin dress, wearing a bridal veil carried with Orange Blossoms and carried a sheet of Chrysanthemums and Carnations. The bridesmaid wore white silk crepe de chene and carried a bouquet of white Carnations. The two little flower girls were dressed in blue and pink and each carried a basket of Blue Violets. The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of the West End. The groom, is also very well known in the city, both having a very large circle of friends. This was evidenced by the number and variety of valuable and costly presents of silverware, cheques, pieces of gold and articles of household utility received. Following the ceremony supper was served and solo and community singing was indulged in and greatly enjoyed by the large number present. At 11.30 the happy couple after an old-fashioned send-off with the time honored rice shower, confetti, old boots and best wishes for their future welfare and happiness, motored to Donovon's. To-day they connect with the express for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return they will reside at William Street. The Telegram expresses congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

"The Fair Cheat"

A FINE BILL AT THE MAJESTIC TO-DAY.

A tale extraordinary will be unfolded on the screen of the Majestic Theatre with the presentation of Burton King's latest cinema production, "The Fair Cheat," to-night.

The theme of the story is such that it is almost the last foot of the picture that the final cheat is explained and the cheater finds herself cheated in the most shameful manner.

It is a boy and girl story with the youth striving to make his way in the world and also, have his way with the girl whom he wants to marry. Her dad, a millionaire, agrees to the marriage providing a certain test of the boy's feelings is made. The test involves shipwrecks, crooked private secretaries, a Broadway chorus and life in a two-by-four upper apartment.

The principally featured character is Dorothy Mackall, who is at the height of her screen career. In her support is Edward Bressa and Wilfred Lytell. The latter is a brother of Bert Lytell. The remainder of the cast consists of Marie White as Gloria Starks, William Robyns as Rutledge Stone, Harold Pasley as Critchenden, Scott Buckley, Bradley Barker as Floman Zeigler, Jack Newton as Sam Miller and Tom Blake as "Bunk" Willis.

Coming two big productions "The Ne'er Do Well," and later the greatest film ever screened "Human Wreckage," which set the whole world talking. Be on the lookout for further particulars.

An Appreciation of a Man Who Played the Game

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—It was with regret that I read in your issue of the twenty-first inst. of the demise of Mr. J. D. Houghton, at the early age of sixty-six. My recollections of the late Mr. Houghton are very pleasant, having met him on many occasions on the cricket field when I was captain of the old Methodist Institute club and he of an opposing team. When I say he was a cricketer in every sense of the word it is really superfluous to add that he was a gentleman who always "played the game." My interest in him is peculiar as I have now in my possession a valued souvenir of our friendly strife. When Mr. Houghton arrived in this country he brought with him a cricket bat which, upon leaving he presented to the late Harrison Ridley Hayward, a boyhood and lifelong friend of my own. On one occasion at Pleasantville Mr. Hayward was playing with my team and was using this bat with such good success that he "sprung" the handle. After the match he threw the bat away and was leaving it on the field as of no further use when I remonstrated with him for throwing away such a serviceable blade when George Lawrence could put in a new handle which would make it just as good a bat as it ever was. "Alright, Steve," he said, "if you can get it repaired you may keep it as a present from me." I did so, and used the bat for many years after, although others now consider me too old for regular cricket matches yet I had the extreme pleasure of "hitting up a few" with this bat in practice games as late as the summer of nineteen twenty three. I feel certain that in tendering to the members of the bereaved family my very sincere sympathy I have the permission of each old-time cricketer of this city to couple their names with mine in this expression.

As for him, the last ball has been "delivered" the last ball "knocked off" the last over "called" may he hear the Great Umpire say "Well run!" "Well played!"
Yours truly,
S. J. TUCKER.

COMPLIMENTARY BOOKS IN TOWN

"HIGHEST ON HARTLEY'S" seems to be the slogan nowadays, for all over the City local dealers are handling with excellent results these world-famous JAMS, JELLIES and MARMALADES OF HARTLEY'S MAKE.
Fresh stocks are always in transit from London and on the arrival of the next Purves boat big shipments will be landed here. When this shipment reaches our market Hartley's may be obtained from all our reliable houses. Firms such as Messrs. Geo. Neal, Ltd., Harvey & Co., Ltd., F. McNamara, A. H. Hickman Co., Ltd., J. D. Ryan, will be pleased to fill your orders for these splendid products. Family Grocers who are leading in St. John's the time honored rice shower, confetti, old boots and best wishes for their future welfare and happiness, motored to Donovon's. To-day they connect with the express for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return they will reside at William Street. The Telegram expresses congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

BEWARE OF SUBSTITUTES! INSIST ON HARTLEY'S GENUINE PRESERVES! Your Grocer either has them in stock or in transit.

Special mention is made of Hartley's Table Jellies, as the demand is something remarkable. Of course the quality is beyond all imagination—THAT IS WHY.

Some thousands of Complimentary Books from the World's largest Preserve Works have just arrived and within a few days they will have been distributed. Should the Hartley messenger make any error in delivery kindly 'phone 1883.

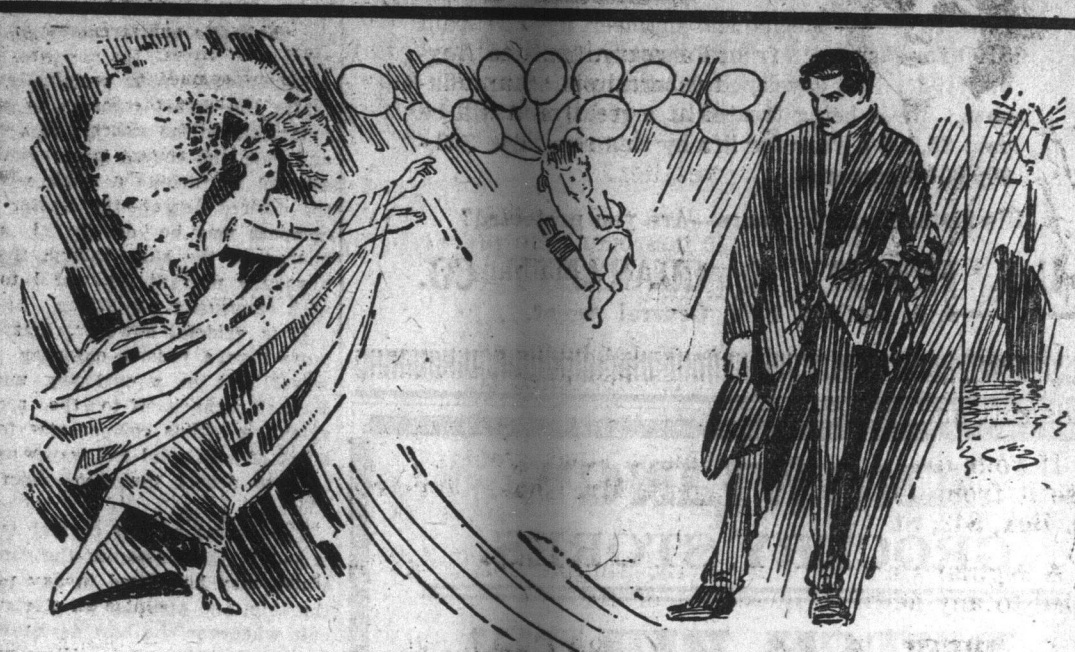

Mr. Leo A. Duffy is surely getting after the business and the Hartley people are certainly giving us a line to feel proud of.

You owe it to yourself to have the best. It costs no more, so remember to order that supply of HARTLEY'S JAMS, JELLIES and MARMALADE in the morning.

Hartley's Record says, "On the busiest day in July, 200 full railway waggons passed over our sidings in or out, and the busiest week's traffic was a thousand full waggons. This was in addition to our motor traffic, and also in addition to receiving 100 tons of sugar daily from our Refineries by road."—Oct. 23, 1924.

An Automatic Pilot

The Berengaria, on which the Prince of Wales travelled to America, is one of the largest boats fitted with the automatic quartermaster or gyro-pilot.

Briefly, the system practically eliminates the errors common to human judgment in the steering of a vessel, and once the course is set—which is effected by turning a small wheel to the desired degree—the master-gyro-compass may be considered as in charge of the ship, though there is always a man at the wheel to deal with emergency conditions.

It is seldom, however, that he is more than a passive onlooker of a wheel that in a curiously uncanny manner turns itself to the required extent, and thus compensates for the effect of both wind and waves as they tend to deflect the ship from her course.

The secret of the control is contained in the master of the compass, which may be placed in any part of the ship, and operates an electric circuit whenever the bow deviates from the appointed route. The rudder, obedient to the compass, corrects the deviation and, having done so, returns to normal.

The master compass, apart from steering the vessel, operates "repeater compasses" on the bridge or elsewhere, and at the same time makes a permanent record on a moving chart of each deviation of the ship, whether under automatic or human control.

Germany and the League

"The German Government has decided to endeavour to assure the speedy entry of Germany into the League of Nations." The Cabinet sat in Council, presided over by the President of the Republic, and the decision was unanimous.

"The reasons assigned by the Berlin Government in their communique for the step they have resolved upon do not demand immediate comment," says the Times. "The assertion that Germany cannot enter the League except as a Great Power and with equal privilege and right, will hardly be contested. Her position as a Great Power is undeniable, and if she is to be admitted to the League at all, it must be with the same privileges and rights as other members of like rank in the community of nations. The term 'Great Power' is doubtless used to convey a claim not only to a seat upon the Council, but to a permanent seat such as is at present held by Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan.

"The claim is not essentially improper, although it may prove to be injudicious at the moment. It seems, indeed, to have already provoked strong opposition in France, even among the newspapers which give a general support to the Herriot Government. Far more determined would be the resistance which any attempt by Germany to enter the League under exceptional conditions must arouse not only in France, but in the country and, doubtless, among the other members of the League."

Pearls From Herrings

A number of experts have lately visited the fishing ports of the East Coast and Sedland, with the object of studying the possibilities of marking a new kind of imitation pearl from the scales of the herring.

The scales, which are chosen for their brilliance and purity, are converted by a secret process into a substance known as chitin. Artificial pearls, of which many kinds are now made, are treated with this substance, and are said to resemble the real pearl much more closely in consequence.

When treated with this preparation manufactured pearls, it is claimed, are given not only the precise lustre found in the real pearl, but the same velvety appearance. It is more than likely that soon it will be impossible even for experts to distinguish between the genuine pearl and the imitation, with microscopic examination.

WAMPOLES EXTRACT CO. LIVER.

Now that the damp, cold fall weather is commencing, it is absolutely necessary to keep yourself warm, dry and healthy to avoid catching cold. If you are not feeling very fit try a bottle of Wampoles Extract Cod Liver Oil, this will put you in the pink of condition. This preparation has had a wonderful sale, though never advertised, one Drug firm alone sold over 4,000 bottles in Newfoundland last year, this speaks for itself and shows that Wampoles must do the work as the sales are always increasing. Weigh yourself, try a bottle, see the result and you will be convinced. Price $1.20 per bottle.

For Women Only

It is supposed by many people that the only British decoration or medal awarded exclusively to women is the Order of the Royal Red Cross, given for valor in attending to the wounded under fire, or for special merit in similar circumstances. There are, however, four others.

Of these the best known is the Cross of the Order of St. John, instituted by Queen Victoria, forty years ago. Its ribbon is of black watered silk, and it is awarded to nurses or those actively interested in nursing. The Imperial Service Order was originated by King Edward as a reward for women showing conspicuous bravery in any sphere of life. Its holders are few in number, and the decoration is highly valued.

Even more exclusive are the Royal Order of Victoria and Albert and the

The World's Population

Fifty years ago France, with 38 million people, was the most populous country in Europe. Germany came next with 37 millions, and Britain third with 30 millions, whilst the United States had a population two millions less than France.

A great change has taken place since, and from being first France is now last in point of population. Her present population is only a million in excess of what it was fifty years ago, whilst Germany's 37 millions have become 64, the United Kingdom's 30 millions have become 49, and the United States' 36 have actually become 110 millions.

Since 1800 America has multiplied its population by 22, and since 1850, that is to say, in 74 years, she has multiplied her population by 64.

The population of the whole world is estimated to amount to some 1,800 millions, of whom 500 millions dwell in Europe, 900 millions in Asia—chiefly in China, India, and Japan—150 millions in Africa, 300 millions in North and South America, and only some seven millions in Australasia, a term which is meant to include the Pacific Isles.

The Eight Hours Conquer

A remarkable victory for Eight Hours has been won in the works of the United States Steel Corporation.

"A little more than a year ago," says the New Republic, "the twelve-hour day in the steel industry was officially 'abolished' chiefly as the result of increasing pressure of public opinion, which terminated in a letter of protest against the conditions in the mills written by the President of the United States. What has happened during the past year? Judge Gary, as we know, has recanted the prophecies of disaster; he could hardly do otherwise in view of the financial showing of the U. S. Steel Corporation. Social and other conditions existing after eight months of the experiment are now interestingly recorded in a special survey made by the Cabot Fund of Boston. The fund's investigators report a unanimous belief on the part of managers and men alike that the change was for the better, and that the twelve-hour day is gone for ever.

"Judge Gary used to make much of the theory that foreign-born men preferred the twelve-hour day because it gave them a chance for larger earnings; but little complaint has been made about reduced hours from these or any other individuals.

"The investigators report that in the mill towns the pressure of life has obviously been lessened. Men may be seen on the streets not in their working clothes—a phenomenon formerly very rare. As a rule, men reduced from twelve to eight hours have had their pay cut from a twelve-hour to a ten-hour basis, the company and the worker sharing the loss. The hysterical predictions by representatives of the steel industry that they would be unable to secure the additional labour necessary have proved as false as their threats that the cost of steel would be enormously increased. Partly because the men work harder during the shorter day, the average increase in employees has been only about 10 per cent. The actual increase in cost of steel is said to be about three dollars a ton.

"A comparison of present fact and past prediction can only leave one with lessened respect for either the honesty or the intelligence of the guiding minds in the steel industry. For years reformers had harped upon the inhuman cruelty of the twelve-hour day. For years the high-salaried big officials had replied blandly that the reformers didn't know what they were talking about, and that what was asked was economically impossible. Now it turns out that the high-salaried officials were talking through their hats. Either they were grossly ignorant of the elementary facts about their own business affairs, or they deliberately deceived the public for private ends.

"The situation suggests two interesting questions: Just what do these gentlemen do to earn their salaries? And is it fair supposition that the spokesmen for big business in other lines are equally uninformed or equivocal? How about the statements that the South needs child labour, that New England manufacturers would die without a high tariff, that government operation of railroads in peace times would cost the country more than private operation does now? Shall we find eventually that the experts who make these statements are as ignominiously wrong as the steel men?"

Unfinished London

According to a recent announcement, the County Hall, Westminster, will not be fully completed for another half a century. This is not the only example of a famous building being unfinished after many years' labour.

When the present Home Office was built fifty years ago it was intended to embellish it with four towers. These have never been erected, although provisions were made for them by the architect.

St. Paul's Cathedral has never been finished according to the plans of Sir Christopher Wren, while the Law Courts have many niches that have never been filled, as well as numerous blank shields on which heraldic devices were to have been carved. Again, on the Thames Embankment there are several pedestals awaiting monuments or statuary, while Somerset House has various omissions in the form of unfilled niches and other decorative details. The Houses of Parliament, too, have never been completed in strict conformity with the architect's designs.

Fashions and Fads.

A beautifully tailored coat of English tweed is exceedingly smart for sports wear.

Black ribbons are hand painted in bright colors, and used as bandeaux for bobbed hair.

We see a few of the delightful Chinese sleeves, slightly widened below the elbow.

Light crepes, Georgettes, and chiffons in sombre effects are popular for dance frocks.

Sheer black lace is used on a frock of pleated purple chiffon worn over a black silk.

Labradorite

Always we have prided ourselves on the quality of our Labradorite and refused to place on sale stones that did not do credit to the peculiar beauty that is its chief charm. We have now received the first samples of our new stock and they fulfil in every way our ideas of what Labradorite should really be like when made into jewellery.

Specially selected and extra well polished stone made into an assortment of Pendants—Beard, Oval and Square shape are the chief items in our new selection.
