It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has made a proposition to the Dominion Government that if they are given the Intercolonial Railway with a subsidy equal to its present deficit, they will endeavor to put on an Atlantic steamship service to secure a portion of the World's Fair traffic. To do this, the company's Pacific steamships will, it is rumored, be temporarily devoted to the Atlantic service. Archer Baker, the Canadian LEPSIC, Nov. 4.—Dr. Blum recently had a long interview with Prince Bismarck at Varzin, an account of which was published in the Neueste Nachrichten, of this city. Prince Bismarck spoke at length of the new military bill and Germany's relations with France and Russia. He denied that he planned to attack France in 1875, contend-Emperor William to forbid the general staff, and especially Count Von Moltke, who were anxious to provoke war, to interfere with foreign politics. The ex-chancellor dissented entirely from the Government's support of the military bill. He said he thought the German army quite strong enough to face even war on two frontiers. He believes that neither France nor Russia desires war, and that no war is likely to break out, at least for years to come. The new road is evidently not intended for a transcontinental road. It is constructed mainly and primarily to be a colonization railway. Its great object, as we understand it, is to open up the Northern part of the province, and to develop the resources of a rich region that has hitherto been almost inaccessible. It is impossible to predict the effect of the opening up of the Cariboo district, alone, by a railway to this coast. Those acquainted with the mineral resources of that great district believe that when it is possible to convey machinery and supplies to it cheaply, a new and a golden era will be opened up for British Columbia. The Canada Western will also bring within the reach of the enterprising men of the coast the hidden riches of the great Peace River region. The possibilities of that region are said to be immense, as are also those of the Northern country which can easily be made available when the Canada Western is once constructed. No one knows as yet precisely what are the agricultural and pastoral capabilities of the North. They may be, and very likely are, much greater than the most experienced pioneer dreams of. A FAVORABLE OPINION.

The British Columbian Commonwealth. which is devoted to the furtherance of the agricultural interests of the province, is impressed with the importance of the Sumas reclamation scheme. This is what it says about that project :

We learn that this great scheme to render immediately available for agriculture no fewer than 30,000 acres of splendid land now fewer than 30,000 acres of splendid land now flooded, and at the same time improve greatly a large surrounding area of the Sumas district is likely to be opposed somewhat keenly in regard to the suggested guarantee of the debentures by the Provincial Government. The work is so important to the Lower Fraser district of the Mainland and its two large towns in particular, that it should be undertaken and carried into effect without delay, yet this it probably cannot be by unaided private effort, the estimated cost of $275,000 being so large. It certainly seems a case in which the Government

The Case Settled.

The Williams vs. Spencer case came up before Mr. Justice Drake yesterday, Mr. Eberts appearing for plaintiff, and Mr. Spencer acting on his own behalf. By consent a judgment was rendered for the sale of the property in 30 days by a receiver; the buyers to be limited to those interested in the case.

The Time Extended. According to the B. C. Gazette, the time for the completion of assessment rolls has been extended from November I to Decem-ber 10, 1892, on or before which dates all rolls must be prepared. The duties of the courts of Revision and Appeal must be completed, and the rolls finally revised, by De-

A Trustee's Troubles. The case against James Owens, one of the trustees for the Tolmie School district, for using abusive larguage to a workingman employed upon the building, was withdrawn in the Provincial Court yesterday, and the charge of trespass, also preferred against. Mr. Owens, will come up at 10 clock this morning, when the trustee's right to go on the school grounds will be decided.

B. C. Benevolent Society. A committee meeting of the B. C. Benevo-lent society was held yesterday afternoon in the secretary's office, Trounce avenue, when routine business was got through. Sheep Stealing.

Mr. Wessel, manager for Mr. Warburton Pyke, came down from Saturna Island yesterday with a Jap named Joe in custody. Joe was handed over to the provincial police, the charge against him being sheep stealing. Mr. A. Rollerton, one of the settlers on the island, had been from home for some days, and on his return was surprised to find the carcases of sheep stowed away in his cabin. The sheep were identified as belonging to Mr. Pyke's flock, and investigation showed that they had been stolen. From enquiries instituted Mr. Wessel felt justified in arresting Joe, but Joe

Mr. Kolling said in the course of his remarks that there is no doubt a prejudice in Australia against giving a large subsidy to an American line of steamers to carry the mails. The Canadian Pacific company, to start the line, would have to put on 18-knot boats leaving from the terminus of the task as Edmonds objected that this payment was bad as against him, because no pay list had been produced by the contractors and material men, under the provision of the statute for their protection against such payments.

Tiernan. The former is the well-known case in which a verdict for $5,000 damages was recovered by Foley against Webster & Edmonds, sawmill owners of Vancouver, for injuries sustained by Foley while working in their mill, owing, as alleged, to defects due to their negligence.

In this case judgment was reserved. It was, however, intimated by the court, following the contention of the appellants, that the Divisional Court of two judges, for hearing appeals in interlocutory matters, or the full court of British Columbia with complete appellate jurisniction, were both merely the sfull court of British Columbia with complete appellate jurisniction, were both merely the Supreme Court of British Columbia sitting in banc, two judges for one purpose and three or more for the other, and were not courts of appeal distinct from the Supreme Court of British Columbia, and that the full court had on any appeal from a verdict inherent power as the court in which the action is pending to grant a new trial as an alternative to the relief formally asked for on the appeal.

In Edmonds v. Tiernan, plaintiff supplied lumber to the contractor, Tiernan, by him to be put into a house he had contracted to erect for the owner, Walter, and Edmonds had taken Tiernan's note for the amount due by him for the lumber, at 30 days, and had discounted it at a bank. The note was, however, dishonored at maturity, whereupon Edmonds, there being still time to enforce it, fell back on his lien against the property of the owner. The Supreme court held that if it had been clear it would have been fatal to Edmonds' right to recover, but, in been clear it would have been fatal to Edmonds, right to recover, but, in face of the doubt, they put their judgment on the broad ground—and this is an entirely new doctrine, now enunciated for the first time—that a sub-contractor or material man having a lien against the owner, not by contract, but solely under the Mechanics' Lien Act, who takes a promissory note for his claim thereby waives his lien for ever, and does not, like any other lien holder, merely suspend his lien during the currency of the note, so that it can revive if the note is not paid, and time or circumstances (otherwise) still permit of its being enforced. This is a most important holding.

In this case it was objected that there was no appeal from the Divisional Court of British Columbia to the Supreme Court of Canada, but it was held that the order of the Divisional Court was the order of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which is the highest court of final resort in this tion. In 1890 and 1891 the boys played with several Wisconsin teams and were widely known as "Pink and Blue," the pony battery. It was a common occurrence for from fifteen to twenty-four men to strike out on "Pink's" pitching, and many opposing teams were retired without a hit. In June, 1891, "Blue" died with pneumonia, and this broke up a battery which promised to be-

Frederick Street Fire.

Chief of Fire Department Deasy yesterday made a thorough investigation of the premises, No. 23 Frederick street, where the fire of the night before occurred. Evidence was secured which leaves but little doubt of the incendiary origin of the blaze. The fire evidently started in the bath room, and well it way up the wall and threat the the others, but owing to the air tightness of the closet the fire had been smothered and had just eaten its way through the closet when it was found. A search decided to leave the choice of club contests through the three bedrooms showed that to take place first to Corbett and Fitz-the pillows and mattresses had all been saturated with oil, the blankets having first "Mitchell and Hall are willing to fight in saturated with oil, the blankets having first been removed. Here and there were bunches of newspapers, all soaked with oil, and some half dozen lamps, in different parts of the house, were all full. The whole place in fact, with the exception of the parlor, had evidently been liberally dosed. Under the circumstances the department did very well to save the place. The authorities have no doubt about the origin of the fire and propose to make it warm for some one.

Not a Wreck.

"Mitchell and Hall are willing to fight in either club, but both contests must take place in the same club as they select. When Corbett and Fitzsimmons name this club, they will post £1,000 and £500, the former femount to bind the Mitchell and Corbett fight, and the latter amount to bind the Fitz-immons and Hall match, with the Police Gozette. The same amounts will be deposited with Richard K. Fox by Mitchell and Hall. The articles of agreement can then be forwarded for Mitchell and Hall's signature. Both Mitchell and Hall mean tusiness."

A New Windmill and a Plumbers' Picnic-A Few Facts About Windmills

And a Rule for Calculating the Horsepower Advantages of City and Country.

[Copyright, 1892, by Edgar W. Nye.] ARDEN, N. C., October, 1892.

October is the choicest month in the year in these parts. Geraniums and ham be potted for winter. The farmer now looks over his cows and selects the milk cows from the others because they are more apt to produce milk. Corn should be housed and plowing done. Here we have a light, calcareous soil, which is soothing to the bare feet of the peasant, and sometimes produces a large green worm called the tobacco worm. He is not so plentiful in this state as formerly, having gone farther south, where he can get his tobacco cheaper. Here, too, he found a good deal of competition. The tobacco worm has no other occupation on earth than to use tobacco. Here he found that others had already entered the field before him and undertaken to subsist entirely upon tobacco and rest. Therefore the tobacco worm is less plentiful now in North Carolina than formerly. Tobacco is also 25 per cent. less in quantity here this fall than for-merly, but of good quality. The bright-est and most fragrant tobacco for smoking is grown in this state. It smells as sweet as clover and is not injurious to health. Snuff is not grown here, and so some times when there is a blockade or washout on the railroad snuff cannot be readily landed at our doors, and there is a great deal of suffering. Nobody nose how much there is. Snuff is not administered up the nose here, however, among those who use it, but is kept in a neat little bonbonniere, or gourd, and a small wooden stick made of birch, chewed into a brush at one end, is ever and anon dipped into the snuff and then chewed thoroughly or rubbed back and forth over the gooms.

Only the hoi polloi use snuff here—the hoi polloi lady, I mean. If you see her coming down a vista of brilliant autumn coloring, a somber figure in the gaudy perspective, you will notice that she dexterously jerks something out of her mouth and conceals it in her apron, trying as you pass to look all wrapped up in the ontemplation of nature.

She has just removed her snuff stick, or, as I may say, half in jest, the handle of the dipper is removed. Here one finds among the peasantry children hardly done with their milk teeth using snuff in this way. So we have the Little Dipper and the Big Dipper.

The snuff stick or brush is left dangling in the corner of the mouth as little young children in the absence of the mother hold a corner of cloth that has been wrapped around a bit of sugar, "and the same with intent to deceive."

Arden is not a large place, but it is a good site for one. There are two general stores and a blacksmith shop. Lately there is a shooting scrape on Saturdays. Since I have been digging my well I have put a good deal of money in circula-tion. This has made flush times in western North Carolina, and some lawless-ness. Human life at one time was so lightly valued while this stream of gold was flowing in that I had to shut down work on my well till times should tighten up a little Lately I have been putting in a windmill at the estate. This, too, has let a flood of wealth into the channels of trade.

Eight men were sent out here by train to put the mill up. They did not know how to put up a windmill, and so a preparatory school had to be opened here to give instructions. I paid the tuition. Special trains carried my plumbers to and from Asheville. It was a pleasing the plant of the country some and the country some and the country some and to to the city for a visit and enjoy it much more than if he lived there. If he live in the country he may have a dozen meighbors whose friendship he values more than that of a whole city full, for they are naturally more near and more than that of a whole city full, for they are naturally more near and more than the country some and.

The scheme was spoken of around here as "Nye's Fresh Air Fund." Every little while I could hear some one say, "There goes the plumbers' picnic."

I live fourteen miles from Asheville, and ran out of terrapin one day. This caused much adverse comment among the plumbers, and before could be smothered by kind words some nightingales' tongues, with au jus on them, were scorched a little by our chef, and I could seed to the plumbers are not alike, and so while I may enjoy chasing the curculio out of my orchard of an afternoon and a good book under the shade of a mountainous mahogany or a few plumbers on the black tongues, with au jus on them, were scorched a little by our chef, and I could be smoothered by content and the plumbers are not alike, and so while I may enjoy chasing the curculio out of my orchard of an afternoon and a good book under the shade of a mountainous mahogany or a few plumbers on the black tongues, with au jus on them, were scorched a little by our chef, and I could seed to the swift of the swift of

Mr. Jordan is himself a practical man in the manufacture of the seement, and knows a good thing when he sees it. With his somewhat crude appliances he has been able to produce a cement weighing 136 lbs. to the bushel—that weighing 136 lbs. to the bushel—that with diamonds flashing constantly. Not alone is the cement produced superior to the imported article, but it can be manufactured and sold from $2 to $2 50 per barrel cheaper. Mr. Jorda is prepared to practically demonstrate all he claims for this home made cement, and if he can produce such good results with the improvised plant now in use, it is not diffi-cult to estimate what can be achieved with the perfect machinery now used in the manufacture of this important article of trade. The experiments have proved eminently satisfactory, and it now only remains to have the cement used and tested, and with a verdict in its favor a great industry will be opened up, with Victoria as its head

October 29th, Henry Clews & Co. say: In Wall Street, the tone of business is healthy, but lacks special elements of speculation. Many factors are favorable to a higher range of prices, but counter factors have appeared which are holding speculative tendencies in check for the time being. There is, however, a very healthy demand for rail-road mortrages and prime dividend shares road mortgages and prime dividend shares. The hardening tendency of the money markets, here and in Europe, naturally holds speculative transactions in check, the more so as the drift has run farther than has been so as the drift has run farther than has been generally expected. We have been assured by Chicago banking authorities that that money centre has so far gained control of interior finances that the great grain States would no longer be dependent on New York funds for moving the crops. Not only has the Bank of England advanced its rate of discount from 2 to 3 per cent, but the London open market has shown a still hardening tendency in the rate for money. At the other foreign centres, a like tendency is apparent. The notable, not to say ominous, feature at all points is the disposition of the great banks to keep their gold and get more. This inclination may be attributed in part to the continuous purchases of Austro-Hungary, and to pretty nearly tickled to death at the state in which he found Kaslo.

AN AMERICAN OPINION.

Judge Dewees, of Washington, Gives a Guarded Expression of Opinion.

Closed Season as Well as a Closed Sea Necessary for Seal Life.

For several weeks past Judge F. P. Dewees, of Washington, has made Victoria his headquarters while representing here and in Sitka the Government of the United States, or rather the attorney-general, in the prosecution of the sealers' supply steamer Coquitlam.

Before leaving here the Judge was interviewed by a correspondent of the Washingon Post, who asked:

"What was the real reason of the seizure ?"

"The Coquitlam was seized for violation of the customs laws, and proceedings were instituted for the condemnation of the vessel and her cargo, which included 6,192 sealskins. Whether or not the United States will succeed in justifying their position is a question for the court to decide position is a question for the court to decide upon the evidence. As a lawyer representing the Government, I naturally am hopeful for my side; there are a number of questions of law and of fact to be determined whose final decision rests solely with he court.

"There are many facts in dispute. The United States claim that cargo and seal-skins were transferred within 12 miles of the Alaskan coast, in fact a portion of such transfer was made within three miles of shore at Tonki Bay.

"On the other hand the defendants insist and endeavor to prove that all transfers were made outside the twelve mile limit. upon what constitutes a transfer of cargo; also upon the finding of the court upon conflicting testimony, and on a number of questions of law, some of which I believe to be entirely new, and in regard to which no legal precedents are found. I do not wish however, to enter into their discussion, nor to express any opinion upon them. Their determination is with the court; I have no doubt it will be honestly and impartially rendered. The time of the trial is uncertain and depends upon the agreement of

"That I don't know, and with that I have nothing to do. I simply represent the Government in the present action, without regard to any policy it might determine."

"What is your opinion on the Behring Sea question?"
"I can't say that I have any settled opinions, but I can say that if I had, I hhould not express them. They would not ill arrive at such a conclusion as will proote the welfare of the seal fisheries."
"Do you think a closed sea would be im-

MERCIER ACQUITTED.

The Jury Decide He Is Not Guilty in Manner

QUEBEC. Nov. 4 (Special).-Judge Wur: ele, in summing up in the Mercier-Pacaud case to-day, said there was no doubt that a Crown Minister was not amenable to the courts of his country for actions performed officially. It was the duty of the House to decide, but in the case of a Minister accused decide, but in the case of a Minister accused of defrauding the Treasury by ways and means outside of his ministry it was different. It remained for the jury to decide such a question. Mr. Fitzpatrick addressed the jury with the view to get the case dismissed by them before they were called upon to render a verdict. After being out some time the jury returned a verdict of "Not onlity"

"Not guilty,"
Messrs. Mercier and Pacaud immediately after their acquittal were surrounded by friends who were anxious to congratula them. Several hundred spectators awaited Mercier and Pacaud at the court house door, and on their exit they were cheered to the echo. Mr. Mercier was then escorted through the several streets, being carried on the shoulders of some of his sympathizers. Upon reaching the residence of Mr. Lemieux, one of his counsel, the ex-Premier addressed a large crowd, and was followed by several other well-known orators. A torchlight procession is being prepared for to-morrow evening, and Mr Mercier will leave for Montreal on Sunday

SCHWATKA'S LIFE.

Drink but Sanguine of Success to Come.

PORTLAND, Nov. 3 .- Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, whose death here was reported resterday, had for some time been suffering rom a complication of troubles, and had shown symptons of apoplexy on numerous occasions. His life had been marked by such a degree of conviviality that his stomach had of recent years given him much trouble. He used laudanum for rehef, and Tuesday evening bought two ounces at a drug ssore. He then visited a o'clock until picked up on the street.

Dr. Nicklin, an intimate friend of the deceased, said: "His prospects were very en-ceased, said: "His prospects were very encouraging, and he expected soon to perfect arrangements for going to Mexico, where he had a gigantic scheme with some Mexican land company. He was also very enthusiastic about his plans for having the Government and company of Mount land.

nent make a national park of Mount Hood

He seemed to feel highly encouraged, and believed all of his plans would materialize."

Dr. Wheeler held a post-mortem examination yesterday. The brain was taken out intact and weighed fifty-four and one half ounces. The tissues were in a healthy condition, with slight traces of alcoholic congestion and slight adhesions to the mem braneous lining of the skull. There was nothing to indicate apoplexy, and the only assignable cause of his death is that he took an overdose of laudanum. Inquiry has failed to reveal any evidence that Schwatka had been drinking. His most intimate friends assert that he had not taken a drop of liquor since undergoing the "gold cure" treatment at Olympia several months ago. He came from the East last May, leaving his wife and 6-year-old daughter at Rock Island, Ill., with his wife's parents. He then went to Coos Bay, and on his way met with an accident which caused some trouble. After his return he went to the Sound and made a short trip to Alaska. After his return he went to and later made a tour of the Northwest. He returned to Portland on September 25. Frederick Schwatka was born at Galena learned the printing trade at Salem, Or., leaving there in 1867. His first service in the army was against the Indians in Arizona. Then he studied law and was admitted to practice in Nebraska. Turning Subsequently he returned to his regiment, the Third cavalry. On hearing the story of Capt. Thomas F. Barry, who, while on a region several years before, he, in 1878 oh command of a party sent to the Arctic lin. The expedition sailed from New York on June 19, 1878, and returned September 22, 1880. Many skeletons of Sir John Franklin's party were found and properly buried, and the mystery that had sur ed the fate of the expedition was, to a large extent, dispelled.

Schwatka found the grave of Lieut. John addition to many interesting relics, a paper which was a copy of the Crozier record that was found in 1859 by Lieut. William R. Hobson, of Sir Leopold McClintock's expedition, and which contained two records, the latter, under date of April 25, 1848, stating the death of Sir John Franklin, on June 7, 1847. This expedition was also marked by the longest sledge journey on record—3,251 statute miles, during which a branch of Back's river was discovered which Lieut. Schwatka named for President Hayes. Afterward he explored the course of the Yukon river in Alaska. Schwatka rejoined his regiment in July, 1884. In August of that year he resigned the com-mission of first lieutenant, Third cavalry, to which he had been appointed in March, 1879. He commanded the New York Times' Alaskan exploring expedition of 1886. Lieut. Schwatka received the Roquette Arctic medal from the Geographical Society of Paris, and a medal from the Imcal societies of Bremen, Geneva and and newspapers. Drink was his ruin.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 4 .- At the Iams trial on Thursday nothing of importance was developed except the statement of Dr. Ullum that when Iams was cut down he told him that he had feigned sickness so that the regiment would have the impression that he was severely punished. Yesterday morning Charles Hanfield, a hospital nurse of the Tenth regiment, testified that he saw Iams strung up. Iams did not appear very straight and the cord was not taut. Iams asked for a chew of tobacco and swal-lowed it. Five minutes later he drank the doctors as to his condition, and that he had a purpose in view. On the following Monday lams told witness that his thumbs were all right. Edward Dougherty, of the Tenth regiment, testified that I ams told him on Sunday, just after being drummed out of camp, that he was all right and would get even with Streator. Brig. Gen. GROVER CLEVELAND.

The returns of Tuesday's election are not yet all in, but enough is known of the day's work to make it certain that Mr. Cleveland has been elected. Whether his majority is has been elected. Whether his majority is large or small will soon be known. The result is one that must be pleasing to all lovers of good government everywhere. Mr. Cleveland while he was in office proved himself to be not only a good administrator and a broad-minded statesman, but an honest man, who was bound to do what he be lieved to be right, let the consequences be what they might to himself personally. For the upper part of the bag procure two vards of dark vellow ribbon, No. 9, and ten yards of the same color a few shades lighter. Then cut these in twelve strips of equal length and join altogether. After they are all joined a hem 21/2 inches deep is turned and finished with two rows of stitching one inch apart. The other edge is finished with a very narrow hem and fastened to the basket with invisible stitches. Ribbons run through the casing finish the bag.

Another pretty bag is made of two pieces of chamois, each 5 by 6 inches, which are painted around the edges with clover blossoms and leaves. The designs on the two pieces should be similar, but not exactly the same. A piece of india or china silk, matching the green of the clover leaf, four inches wide and one yard long, is gathered and connects the two pieces of chamois along the sides and across the bottom as a puff. A straight piece of silk six inches deep and the width of the bag is sewed to the bag. A hem two inches deep is turned with two rows of stitch-

AUTUMN LEAVES.

Where to Find the Prettiest Ones and

If you intend to gother and preserv any autumn leaves this fall, don't wait until too late in the season. It is a mistaken idea that the frost brings out the beautiful tints you admire so much. A frost turns the leaves brown and causes them to fall. A pretty leaf is one that has ripened on the tree, untouched by any frost.
You will find that the maples—partic plarly the soft maples-have the most brilliant colors, and retain those colors best during the process of preservation. The sumacs are really beautiful and keep their colors well, but some of them are too poisonous to handle, and unless you know which those are you had better be on the safe side and let them all alone. The most beautiful leaves will be found near a river, or in what is sometimes called a "gully" with a brook running through it. If you can find a small maple under an oak you will probably have the most beautifully blotched and shaded leaves you have ever seen, and in them a shade of intense, rich crimson found nowhere else. The same kind of tree under a pine will give you some lovely shades of yellow and brown. Don't waste your time on oak leaves; they fade in drying. Choose a warm, pleasant day for your work. Place your leaves in flat baskets-the

If you must have other "woodsy treasures take another basket for them You must expect to climb steep places. and over rocks and fences, but when you reach home with your basket filled and, oh, so hungry, you will feel well repaid for all your work. And now to make these "things of beauty" as nearly "a joy forever" as you can. Don't iron them with a waxed iron. If the iron is a little too hot it ruins them as surely as boiling could do. If not hot enough the moisture will be left in the leaves, and the slow process of decomposition which will fol will be as ruinous to the colors as the other extreme. It is almost impossible Don't dry and then oil them: the oil gives an unnatural transparency.

Place them between sheets of blotting paper-no one leaf overlying anotherand under a moderately heavy weight. Change them every day for three days. using dry blotters each time. They should dry fast, and the weight should be just heavy enough to keep them smooth, but not heavy enough to press the veins flat. On the fourth day you will find them dry, but will also find they have lost a little of their color and gloss. You can restore both by varnishing each leaf on both sides with a thin shellac varnish. If varnished on one side only, the leaves will curl.

PARIS FASHIONS

A Great Deal of Black Is Worn in French Capital. The best houses in Paris are making large numbers of black toilets for street wear, for walking and shopping. They are of woolen material, such as cash tentiary. J. A. Cope, Vancouver, got five years for attempting to kill his wife. small capote with very little color, if any, and plain black sun umbrella, or a hat with a wide brim coming to a peak over the forehead and very simply garnished. Shoes for morning walks have quite thick soles, and it is optional whether the toes are pointed or square. The public taste is divided regarding wraps, one-half preferring for ordinary occasions the box coat with its ungrac ful lines, and the others the jackets with more or less ornate vests and rolling collars. Probably both will be worn. Visiting and reception toilets are very dainty and pretty. One shown yest day was of mode cloth, the front laid in plaits from the neck down, with the rest of the corsage of cashmere in shawl pattern, with fringe of the same kind. men to take a hand in the management of city affairs is something surprising. The importance of good city government cannot be overrated. This is what the Right Hon, Joseph Chamberlain says on that interesting subject :

And besides offering a chance of moderate personal distinction, the performance of these (civic) duties provides opportunities of philanthropic activity which cannot be found in private benevolence or in any other description of public work. Local institutions minister more directly to the happiness and well-being of the whole people than even the National Government itself. They are of necessity in closer and more intimate connection with the population they have to do with their every day exist-ence, with their family life, with their health and personal security, and with whether existence shall be delightful intolerable. No doubt the rulers the public imagination than parish. They cover space, they make more noise, and they exinterest; but, after all, fort, their health, their lives-depend much more upon the action of the despised vesthat is said or done by the great potentate

This is really the right way to look at city governments; yet, although so much depends upon their being composed of intelligent, experienced, active, clear-headed men, citizens, and intelligent citizens, too, exhibit a most astonishing carelessness, and even apathy, when the time comes to choose civic rulers. This is an evil under the sun; and one which it is very difficult to account vember Forum in which he contrasts the expense of the government of the city of Birmingham with that of Boston and other American cities. An American writer, Mr. Julian Ralph, has described Birmingham as the "Best Governed City in the World," and Mr. Chamberlain shows what the corporation of that city has done and is doing, and what the citizens pay for the comforts and conveniences they enjoy. He describes Bircondition, being an overgrown village with the population of a great town. Good city government has, since then, completely transformed it. He says :

Great public edifices, not unworthy of the metropolis, have risen on every side. Wide arteries of communication have been opened up. Rookeries and squalid courts have given way to wide streets and open places. The roads are well paved, well kept, well lighted and well cleansed. whole sewerage of the town has been odelled, and the health of the people is cared for by efficient sanitary inspectors. Baths and wash-houses are and museums of art are open to all the inhabitants. United States takes place. Sixty millions of people will, in the course of the next few nours, peaceably and constitutionally elect the man who shall be the head of the Executive of the Great Republic for the next four years, and the minority will quietly and even cheerfully acquiesce in the decision of the majority. The agitation and stress and struggle are before the election takes place. While it is going on the electors are too intent upon getting in their votes to think of anything else, and as soon as the choice is made the contest is

He has been away several days per-fecting the details of a plan for improving a considerable amount of property in Victoria West. The programme, as now arranged, includes the erection at once of nine houses on the land, which will be divided into lots. The Royal Templars of Temperance met for the first time last night in their new lodge rooms, in the Caledonian hall, Blanchard street. There was a very large gathering of members, who were entertained by a capital debate on the question whether the press or the public is the more powerful. the press or the pulpit is the more powerful agency for good. Bros. J. Russell, D. Mc-Phadden, and F. Wright championed the of the pulnit, while Brog J. Whitcause of the pulpit, while Bros. J. Whit-field, J. Ellis, and T. H. The Templars will meet every Monday night in future, so that a busy and entertaining session may be looked for.

Memorial Service. A special service was held in the Centen-A special service was held in the Centennial Methodist Church on Sunday evening last in memory of the late Mrs. Kermode. The pastor, Rev. J. H. White, preached a very effective sermon from the text, Prov. xxxi., 28, "Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." The rev. gentleman spoke in feeling terms of the deceased lady and the loss which not alone her beloved family, but the church, sustained in her demise. She had been a consistent Christian, and She had been a consistent Christian, and when her end came was reconciled to the will of the Lord, and died with her husband and family at her bedside. Hers was a life worthy of emulation, and although her latter years were years of sickness, she was fortified in her sufferings by that peace which passeth understanding. The members of the Canadian Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity, assembled at Trades and Labor Hall, on Sunday morning, and, in full regalia, marched to the First Presbyterian Church, where Rev. Dr. Campbell addressed them from the pulpit. The reverend gentlemen spoke of the bene-fits of the order, and instanced its rapid growth and popularity as evidence of its sound principles. The turn-out was not as good as usual, owing to recent differences in the local lodges, which have made many of the brethren apathetic. However, a change for the better has taken place, and new members are enrolled at almost every meeting of the lodges. Those in attendance on Sunday were "Dauntless," "Fernwood," "Victoria West," and "Waverly" lodges, marshalled by Bro. Baker.

to a Large Congregation. Rev. J. E. Coombes, the new pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, met his congrega-tion as a whole for the first time on Sunday, and by his earnestness and eloquence made a most favorable impression. His morning sermon, or address, was based on Samuel,

He alluded to the heartiness of the recep tion accorded him since his arrival in Vic-toria, and said that these kindly expressions of feeling were not confined to the members of his congregation, but came from other churches of the denomination throughout the province. There was a great work before the church in this city, and that it may be accomplished, men whose hearts God had touched should engage in it. It would not do simply to labor as Sundayschool teachers, preachers or officers of the church unless the Holy Ghost had influenced them, and their works were undertaken and pursued in the love of God and in the interests of His church. The surging waves of sin, the mire of shame, the dens of infamy and the wails of sorrow must be borne on the hearts of Christian men and women if they would awake to the realization of Christ's great work among men. of his congregation, but came from other churches of the denomination throughout and women if they would awake to the re-alization of Christ's great work among men. The rev. gentleman took for his evening ext I Corinthians, ii, 2: "For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." In his Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." In his morning service, he said, he had laid down a platform for the congregation; he would now lay down one for himself. While he courted honest and loving criticism, he would brook no dictation in the manner or method of his work. in the conditions of competition.

It will be seen that Canadian architect have secured three out of the five prizes offered, and British Columbia archi-tects have to be especially congratulated in having taken two out of the five prizes in the 65 sets submitted from all parts of North America. This speaks well indeed for the skill of the profession in the Prov-nce.

The five sets of plans will now be elabor ated and finished by the competitors, when another and final competition will take place in some three months time, and the most suitable design will then be adopted.

I testerday, one of the farmers arrived on the beach just in time to find the head of one of his cows in the sand, and on looking around he saw a boat in the offing rapidly widening the distance between it and the shore. It was so far out that the features of the occupant could not be recognized, but the farmer is positive that it was a white man.

Thus far it seems that whoever is doing the stealing lands from a boat, selects an animal, drives it down to the beach, and animal, drives it down to the beach, and there killing and dressing it, loads the carcase in his boat and leaves only a water trail to follow. But little attention was paid to the master at first, but now the losses are growing too numerous and a determined effort will be made to put a summary stop to the proceedings. If other methods fail, there is talk of instituting a coast patrol, which will make a business of laving for the man or men in the beat. If Nothing further has been brought to light in the hold-up cases on the Saanich road. No fresh attempts have been made in the past few days, and it is probable that the bold bad man has found that his health demanded a change of climate since the scene of his operations has been visited by the officers of the law.

Fernwood Lodge, C. O. O. F., M. U., intend giving a concert, followed by a dance in their hall, Spring Ridge, on Tuesday evening next, when a few hours of social enjoyment are expected to be spent very pleasantly. The programme furnished for the occasion is to be first-class.

The elaborate preparations which have been made for the entertainment to-morrow night in St. John's school-house, under the auspices of St. John's guild, ensure a first-class programme and of necessity a good audience. The little ones who are to take part in the programme have been well drilled in their parts, and will give an interesting rendition of the story.

Floated Like a Cork.

Yesterday morning, while unloading shingle bolts at Porter's wharf, a "heathen Chinee" fell off the gang plank into the cold, cold sea. Whether the shingle bolt hit him is not known, but the fact is he was stunned. When he struck the water he sank, coming at once to the surface and floating like a cork, as stiff and rigid as few days' corpse. Fellow-workmen soon hauled him out and applied restoratives, which brought the Celestial round.

For a couple of weeks past a stylish stranger might have been observed, with a to less stylish lady, doing the town. The gentleman was of Jewish extraction, and so well defined were his features that he could not be mistaken. He wore a pair of goldnicking of the mistaken. He wore a pair of goldnicking who knows must see. His visit, then, to this province should be regarded as an event of much more than ordinary importance to its inhabitants, for what he factitities for spreading it far and wide over the Queen's dominions. Mr. Parkin has become an authority on colonial subjects, and is evidently determined to deserve the confidence that is placed in him both in the Mother Country and the colonies. He is a native of Canada, has resided for some years in Great Britain, and has also visited all the other great colonies. He is, too, a great reader, so that it is very questionable if there is any man living who knows more about the whole empire of Great Britain, then he. Besides being a careful and accurate observer, he is a deep thinker and an accomplished scholar, as anyone who has read his works must see. His visit, then, to this province should be regarded as an event of much more than ordinary importance to its inhabitants, for what he tin mot be mistaken. He wore a pair of goldrimmed glasses, and never appeared in public unless in a black frock coat and top hat.
The lady who accompanied him was particularly neat in appearance, and it took no female critic to see that her dress was the best that money could procure.

The pair registered at the Driard as M. L. Wofffe and wife, and took a choice suite of reoms. There was evidently no shortage of cash with the outfit, and to those with whom Mr. Wolffe got in conversation he said that his visit to Victoria was due to his intention to take the next Empress for Japan.

On Friday night last he suddenly announced his intention of going over to Variconver, and, with his lady friead, left the hotel presumably for the boat. However, he did not board her, but changed his quarters to the Wilson. Here he also registered as Wolffe, but the lady was not with him.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The Operation of the Local Improve ment By-law-Extension of Broad Street.

A Deputation of Unemployed Workingmen who did not Address the Council.

The weekly meeting of the City Counci was held last night, Mayor Beaven presiding over a full board of aldermen.

About 300 unemployed tradesmen and laborers occupied the seats outside the railings, their object being to press upon the Council the necessity of providing them work. For the first half hour they listened with attention to the deliberations, then they got worked up to the applauding point as the aldermen spoke of works under the Local Improvement by-law, but later becouple remained as that motion, always in

Dr. Dio Lewis, the eminent Boston physician, in a magazine article says: "A radical error underlies nearly alt medical treatment of catarrh. It is not a disease of the man's nose; it is a disease of the man's nose; it is a disease of the man, showing itself in the nose—a Local exhibition of a Constitutional trouble." Therefore, he argues, the use of smuff and other local applications is wrong, and while they seem to give temporary relief, they really do more harm than good. Other leading authorities agree with Dr. Lewis. Hence, the only proper method of cure for catarrh is by it taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparila, which, reaching every part of the body through the blood, does eliminate all impurities and makes the whole man healthier. It removes the cause of the trouble and restores the diseased membrane to proper condition. That this is the practical result is proven by thousands of people who have been cured of catarrh by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Dr. Dio Lewis, the eminent Boston physician,

A famous financier was asked how h spent his evenings. "I lie upon the sofa and think," he answered. His thoughts were of money making, and they were to such purpose that in ten years he had made himself worth as many millions got in a comparatively honest way, too, it may be said. I have attended ings of women's clubs frequently and listened to their speeches. When a woman begins a sentence with "I feel that" I know what is coming. I know she will pour out a slosh of unreasoning emotions and prejudices. It is this poor creature—the "I feel" woman-who is the cause of discord and disruption in women's clubs. When, on the contrary, the woman who thinks was sold by auction, Mr. George Byrnes makes her speech, you hear a clear and dices and her little feelings and used her brains. The woman who does that in the club or in business is the dependable one. You know where to find her. She will never desert you. If she sets her head to it she will make a fortune in business or will gain success in literature or art. She will not let her emotions do duty one moment for her brains. body who hassung and danced herself into the affections hundreds of thousands of persons in the United States.

I called at Miss Adams' rooms a few days. ago and sent my card up with the expectation that I would be received in a conde cending manner by the girl-for she is still girl-about whom all New York is talking. When a young person has made an emphatic hit, especially in New York city, a severe attack of "enlarged cranium" is almost certain to develop rapidly. This is the usual course, and I expected to find Miss Adams no exception to the rule. But she was. She was a conspicuous exception, for not only was she not impressed with a sense of her own greatness, but she actually seemed to be embarrassed by the idea of an interview. Miss Adams came into the drawing room dressed in an ordinary house gown of simple and almost severe p ook occasion, having observed this, to ask if she is fond of dress. I nearly fainted and wishes that they had never been invented; they are a nuisance, etc. Of course the proper, or rather the professional, ahswer for an actress to have made would have been an emphatic declaration that she adored dress, and that Worth, Felix and half a dozen more of their kind were all making robes for her which would 'surpass anything ever seen on the Amer-can stage." But Miss Adams isn't that f her nature and her aversion to everything savoring of humbug. She is gen-uineness itself. Miss Adams says that she is not "a great student," like most actresses. She has a fad for accumulating old books, but not the extra expensive ones. She plays the piano, but is just now devoting her spare time to learning to twang the harp, which she considers the sweetest instrument ever inrented. She is progressing rapidly and already performs quite creditably.

I have heard several persons who have

The reason is very plain. She had never before had a part which admitted of the possibility of brilliant work. As soon showed what she could do.

Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City in—well, long after the Grant-Seymour campaign. Her first appearance was made when she was less than a year old. She was carried on the stage on a waiter, the baby who should have "played the part" the realm of society and fashion these having taken it into her head to indulge in an operatic selection at the critical moold. Her mother is an actress, and in fact World has a similar page in charge of that brilliant young journalist, Eliza-"The Masked Ball." When she was old

When the company was organized for "The Masked Ball" it was decided to let Miss Adams try the role of the young wife, young people till nearly daybreak.

The Masked Ball is the very station of the young wife, young people till nearly daybreak. Mrs. J. C. Croly (Jenny June), says she has never had any. Everybody likes to record the success of a dutiful and affectionate daughter, who, deprived by profession. Thus has Maude Adams done, and therefore her success is deserved.

Her quaint and original methods bad attracted some attention, and when Ben Stevens was about to take De Wolf Hopper a-starring a little more than two years ago he went to Trenton, where Conried's company was playing, to see whether Miss Fox would suit. He thought she would, and engaged her on the spot. She has been with him ever since, and will probably remain where she is for many years, as she says the starring bee has not yet got into her bonnet and shall not

Miss Fox made her first great hit in "Castles in the Air," about the worst apology for a comic opera ever seen in New York. She emphasized her ability by her work in "Wang," and has given evidence of versatility by her performance of Hilaria in "The Lady or the Tiger." I saw Miss Fox in her handsome suite of rooms at the Hotel Vendome. She can sit at her window and look directly across the street into the Broadway theater. She says she likes to be near her work. The daily routine of this interesting actress and singer is as follows. Breakfast about 10 read the papers and mail and answer correspondence, shopping and calling, back to the hotel, lunch, a long walk or a drive, dinner, read evening papers, go to the theater, whence she returns at about 11 o'clock, then a light lunch and—bed. Special Services Announced by the Various Pastors-Music Plays a Prominent Part.

In the majority of the city churches Thanksgiving services will be held this morning, the after part of the day thus well started being given up to the many light amusements provided for the holiday.

High mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's R. C. Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock, the choir providing special music, and Mr. Hawthorne, the celebrated basso from California, furnishing several solos.

In Calvary Baptist church at 11 a.m., the Baptist congregations of the city will join in a union Thaaksgiving service. In the evening the congregation of Emmanuel

As an instance of how this operated, Mr.

Parkin drew attention to the wool trade of Australia. The raw article was carried South Sea to the immense mills in Yorkshire, where millions of men and their families depended on the manufacture of the goods for their daily bread. The shipping must be protected, and it showed how unfairly the present arrangement worked when the fact was appreciated that the spinner paid for the warships, while the grower, away out in Australia, stood idly by. JUBILEE HOSPITAL BOARD.

A Prolonged Meeting of the Directors and Much Important Business Transacted.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Would Like to Have a Voice in the Internal Management.

The Directors of the Jubilee Hospita held their regular monthly meeting last night, sitting from 8 o'clock until 11:15, and in this time discussing and dealing with many matters of interest, some of them concerning the internal management of the institution.

President Joshua Davies was in the chair the other members present being Messrs W. M. Chudley, J. S. Yates, Alex. Wilson G. H. Brown, A. C. Flumerfelt, H. D. Helmcken, Ben Gordon, E. Crow Baker I. Braverman, Geo. Byrnes, C. Howard, Thos. Shotbolt and J. Braden. Routine business, the reading and adoption of minutes of previous meetings, etc., were soon disposed of, and then the actual work was taken up.

nication from all the nurses in the hospital in regard to the hours of work was thoroughly discussed, and afterwards referred to the committee of the month for report. There are now in the hospital six regular nurses, three of whom, according to the by-laws, are to go on duty at 7 s.m. and continue until 7 p.m., the other three to come on at 7 p.m. and go off at 7 a.m. Every six weeks the night and day nurses change places, necessitating one long day of 24 hours for those who are changing. nurses think that 12 hours continuous work is too much, and ask that the rule he

The concensus of opinion at the directors meeting seemed to be that it would be bet-ter to change the hours, but no new arrange ment will be made until the new mate Miss McMillan, arrives from Toronto. In order to reduce the hours of nursing from S to 12 it would be necessary to employ three more nurses, but an alternative plan was suggested. The further discussion of the matter was, however, postponed as stated, and it will come up at a subsequent meeting.

Dr. Richardson's report for the month drew attention to the bad condition of the drain to the Cadboro Bay road. The cause of the difficulty is that when the Cadboro Bay road drain was put in, it was placed about a foot higher than the drain from the hospital, and water, especially thick water, does not generally run up hill. The committee for the month will wait upon His Worship Mayor Beaven and endeavor to have him go out and get a whiff of the Bay road drain was put in, it was placed His Worship Mayor Beaven and endeavor to have him go out and get a whiff of the odiferous atmosphere. speak in public on the election, has written a strong letter counselling all Irish-Ameri-cans not to be led by Patrick Egan and his

Cleveland's election, and that the cry of keeping out British goods in order to injure England is absurd, as we cannot injure

REVELSTOKE.

(From the Kootenay Star.) As the result of a numerously signed petition from the residents of Revelstoke, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company have Ward & Dickie, assayers, of Nelson, on the 25th ult., went 427 31 cz. per ton in silver. This was not a picked sample, but was taken from the vein at hazard. Two samples from the No. 2 Glacier, a claim about eight miles south of Trout Lake, showed: No. 1, 405 cz.; and No. 2, 200 cz. silver per ton. Mr. Seroy says 200 cz. to the ton is the lowest he has had from Lardeau ores. He says there is no mining oz. to the ton is the lowest he has had from Lardeau ores. He says there is no mining district on this continent that can begin to compare with the Lardeau, both for size of vein and richness of mineral.

At this point, too, the railroad system of the country would be perfected by the ex-tension thereto of the Nelson & Fort Sheppard line, which would thus give direct access to Spokane by railroad. Leaving Balfour, they would, within eight miles, again strike a producing centre at Ains worth, with its rich and varied mines close at the back of it, and following the benche long the lake would reach Kaslo, the port for the remarkable ores of the Slocan country and where so healthy a development has taken place this year.

Continuing northwards, passing claims of white quartz galena giving an assay of 67 ozs. in silver, they would reach the Lardeaux and Trout Lake, which have already this year vielded a rich harvest of claims spectors from the north and south.
it is only about 10 miles over a moderate pass to the Northeast Arm of the Upper Arm Lake, from which place Revelstoke would be easily made. Should a branch line be run into the Slocan mines better grade can be obtained by starting a few miles below Kaslo, near Fletcher creek, where there is a remarkable tract of bench land, rising gradually from the water's edge in a nice little bay, and avoiding the high mountain just south of Kaslo. This line would swing round gradually on a very light grade and strike the Slocan route

It will thus be seen that this is a business route through the Kootenay Lake country proper; geographically, it is a district of it-self, occupying the great basin between the Selkirk mountains in the west and the Purcell range in the east. He is prospecting on behalf of the Spokane & Great Northern Mining Company, of Spokane Falls, Wash., who will invest a large amount of money in the Lardeau and respecting on the other side. The rock for the most part is quartz of an open, porous nature; a large proportion of it is free milling and the rest good roasting and concentrating stuff. There appears indeed to be an entire absence of base ore. The mineral is well mixed or combined with the rock, and has not that clean, homogeneous appearance which many experts regard as a sign not favorable to the "staying" power

f a mine.

The valleys are open and afford some good alluvial bottoms capable of cultivation, and there are large areas of thousands of acres of open grass Alps which would support any number of cattle in the summer months just as they now are given up to bands of elk and cariboo.

I bar nothing, not even the Australian Broken Hill or the American Comstock, where so many millions have been taken out. many millions have been taken out.
We have a Comstock right here. It only wants development. The Silver King, on Toad mountain, is a great mine, but neither Toad Mountain nor the Slocan can begin to compare with the Lardeau, where the ores carry a large percentage of gold.
