A TRIP TO COBALT.

Leaving Watford at 3 p.m. you can reach Cobalt at 3 p.m. on the following day. Cobalt is 330 miles north of Toronto, and is pronounced by mining experts to be the greatest silver mining camp in the world. Cobalt is called after the mineral that is so plentifully found there associated with silver. It has been used for many years for coloring purposes, be-ing the only substance that will successully color earthen and china ware. Now they tell me that Edison is going to use t in his electric storage batteries. The town of Cobalt is not picturesque. It looks as if it had been dropped from the clouds. The place did not exist a year ago last March. Then came the boom and the place was built up before a town site was surveyed. Consequently the houses are placed in all positions and there are no streets. In doing the town the content of the property of the proper own of Cobalt is not picturesque. houses are placed in all positions and there are no streets. In doing the town one is continually passing through back yards. There are some splendid silver mines around Cobalt. Two years ago, when the new government railway was being pushed on to Liskeard and the north the men had to blast a cut through the rock and in doing so they found native silver. Shortly after this LaRose, a blacksmith, discovered a vein of silver.

blacksmith, discovered a vein of silver. He sold a ½ interest for $500, the other ½ afterwards for $28,000. Today the value of the mine is estimated at $3,000,000. Young Foster, an adventurous spirit from Walkerville, turned up one day at Cobalt. His father wrote in vain for him to come home and finally he went to Cobalt to bring home his wandseent to Cobalt to bring home his wand-ering boy, but when he arrived there his son persuaded him to stay for a couple of weeks. One morning very early the flues and mosquitoes drove him from his bed, he seized a prospector's pick and started out, in less than half an hour he dis-covered a vein of silver. This is the origin of the Foster mine and it is con-sidered very rich. Another very valuable covered a vein of silver. This is the origin of the Foster mine and it is considered very rich. Another very valuable mine is the Temiskaming & Hudson Bay Co's mine with ore assaying $$,000 a ton. In March 1905 their stock sold from 40 to 50c. per share. Their first dividend was 200 per cent and today the shares are selling at from $60 to $80 per share. Such reports as this have turned the eyes of thousands towards Cobalt and every train going in is packed and the same coming out. Every man goes in with high hopes, but soon gets rid of his delusion. It is a lottery and my impression is that not one in every 1,000 wins. I met many discouraged prospectors there, old prospectors from the Lake of the Woods, who had been looking for weeks and found nothing. The way of the prospector is hard. The adventurous spirits are there. Among the prospectors I met many professional men. Among others Drs. Colter and Wilkinson, Dentists, from Petrolea, Dr. Wolverton, a Geologist, and Lawyer Winnett from London. Cobalt and surrounding country is covered with rocks and small timber. What part those rocks take in the economy of nature we cannot understand. Perhaps in future generations some Edison may make use of them. Most of the prospectors are very intellisome Edison may make use of them. Most of the prospectors are very intelli-gent men and they will tell you how in past ages the huge glaciers came down from the north pole carried all the soil away, and left nothing but rocks and minerals behind. There are many proofs for this. The timber in Ne small, consisting mostly of birch poplar with some balsam tamarac, spruce and here and there stretches of, jack pine. This timber will in time no doubt be valuable for pulp wood. The large white What about that incubator and brooder? Call and see them at the store opposite Swift Bros.—H. Schlemmer. tf

Before borrowing classics. 40 years ago. I saw no land suitable for farming purposes although I was inform-ed that there is some good agricultural land, north of Liskeard, 12 miles north of Cobalt. I cannot understand anyone from Old Ontario going to New Ontario to start farming when it would take a life-time to clear his farm, while in North-Western Canada a man can have a crop the first season. Let any young man who is dissatisfied with his conditions in Old Ontario take a trip to New Ontario, unless he strikes a silver mme he will be unless he strikes a silver mine he will be glad to get home again. Cobalt and the neighboring towns, Halleybury and Liskeard have had their boom. Real estate went far beyond its actual value, but is now on the decline. There is nothing that I can see to keep them growing. Cobalt will be the making of a few and the undoing of many.

WATFORD, JUNE 15, 1906.

The Rise In Wool.

A remarkable feature of the market is the advance which has taken place during the last few seasons in the price of wool. Wool is now selling in the markets of this province at 25 to 27 cents a pound, which is higher than it has been quoted in Ontario market at any time during the past twenty-five years. About four years ago was the bottom of the depression wool. It was then selling around 13 cents a pound; nobody seemed anxious to handle it, and those who did so claimed that they made little or nothing out of it. Since then it has gradually advanced until it has now touched a figure at which it is a good paying crop. Lucky indeed is a farmer these days who has a good flock of sheep, for with the wool and lambs at present figures, there is no kind of farm stock that pays better. Unfortunately, during the years of low prices all Ontario farmers greatly reduced their flocks and many went out of the sheep business altogether.

During the years of the American War, the price of wool in the Sarnia market ran from thirty to thirty-five cents per pound. A few years after the war there was a sharp advance, and in one season wool reached in the Sarnia market the record price of fifty-eight and a half cents a pound. In those years the wool market was one of the largest factors in the local trade, and over a hundred and fifty thousand pounds used to be marketed each year in Sarnia. The Messrs. Symington, who were then large dealers in wool, purchased in the year of the highest prices over sixty thousand pounds of wool, and paid to one far-mer alone, Mr. Henry McGurk, of Moore, between seven and eight hundred dollars for his season's clip. Afterwards this price gradually fell away year by year until the lowest point was reached, three or four years ago. As to the cause of the present rise a number of explanations are giv-en. It is stated that wocllen goods have become more fashionable than they were a few years ago. Then there was a dying off of the Australian sheep, due to a long continued drouth that ended three years ago. Besides this, new processes, it is said, have beer invented by which the coarse wool can to a large extent be worked into goods formerly made exclusively from the wool, and this has greatly increased the demand for this gradethe grade that is produced almost altogether in Canada.—Canadian.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-el" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks failing hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way. The best kind of a testimonialers sarsaparilla. Light Cattle Popular.

During the summer months, when the weather is hot, and the market is flooded with vegetables and garden truck, the demand for meats is not nearly so great. So far as the beef is concerned, very little inquiry exists for big thick cuts, except at a few hotels and high-grade restaurants. The ordinary retail butcher wants smaller carcases than in the winter season, for the consumer demands smaller roasts and steaks.

Already the heavy cattle, unless very well finished are unpopular and hard to sell. Buyers prefer the kind that weigh from 1100 to 1200 lbs., and are especially fond of yearlings and two year olds. Dealers say that the demand for this class is becoming greater every year, and that they have more difficulty each season in getting rid of the big carcases.

This being true, then, the cattlefeed er and farmer should read the signs of the times and prepare cattle to fit the market conditions. At the present time, feeders of big heavy cattle from 1400 to 1600 lbs. each, that sell from $5.00 to $5.25 per cwt., claim that they are not making much, if anything, while the feeder of the light 1100 to 1200 lbs. has little trouble in obtaining from $4.75 to $5.00 per ewt. and is not complaining.—World.

The New Fad,

So sure are jewellers that the short sleeve will last through the summer even though it does crawl down by fall, that they have taken lovely women by the arm so to speak, and are furnishing many attractive designs in bracelets to break the expanse be-tween elbow and wrist. Among the latest of these designs, says a New York paper are bracelets woven of gold wire and giving the effect of broad bands of gold braid. They are flexible and have a buckle clasp through which an end of the band finished with a golden fringe, is passed

City and Country Children.

A London scientist says life in a big city makes young children quick, but not intelligent. Indeed, he thinks it often destroys their chances of being clever, for it hastens the development of the brain unnaturally. It makes them superficial, alert, but not observant; excitable, but without one spark of enthusiasm. They are apt to grow blase, fickle, discontented; they see more things than the country-bred child, but not such interesting things they do not properly see anything, for they have neither the time nor the capacity to get at the root of all the bewildering objects that crowd themselves into their little lives .- New York Tribune.

Good Dairy Season.

The season thus far gives promise of a banner year for the dairy farmer. The recent rains have made the grass grow rapidly, and creamery directors state that with the past ten days the receipts of milk have been in advance of last year for the same period. Fully two thirds of our farmers use hand separators. By this method the skim milk is not only more wholesome as feed for the pigs and calves, but more cream is obtained from the milk. It also is more convenient for the farmer, as cream separated may be allowed to stand at home two or three days while milk that is taken to the creamery must be delivered every day in the summer time.

Do You Get Duns?

Lots of people regard every request made to them, either verbal or in writing, to settle a bill, as a dun. A dun supposed to be more or less offen-Just why any man should find fault when some one to whom he owes money asks him to pay it is more than we have been able to comprehend. If you owe a man money yon ought to pay him if you can. If you cannot, it is your business to explain why you cannot. Most people intend some time or other to pay their bills, but not many are as prompt as they should be or as they should like others to be. It is a very easy matter when asked to pay a bill, to explain to the creditor why you cannot do it and ask for more time. The debtor will generally get extra time if he is dealing with a reasonable man. The exasperating thing in connection with creditors is to write letter after letter or send statement after statement to a debtor, and have him ignore them apparently with silent contempt. It under such circumstances that the creditor gets irritated and gives the account perhaps to an attorney, when excercising a little sense on the part of the debtor, the matter could be easily value of a flash of lightning in electric curthe debtor, the matter could be easily rent at $1.400.

and amicably adjusted. Do not look on a dun to irritate you. It is the right of a creditor to ask for his money when he does not get it, and to keep asking at intervals till he does get it.

First Try Farming.

Caledonian Banner :- Public officials are the best paid class in the country, and all this howling about the great sacrifices which they make is sickening and should be discontinued. Following the plow or an experience in the harvest field for a few days would convince them that they had a snap in comparison with the life of the average Canadian farmer.

Larger Farms.

Paradoxial as it may appear, in many localities favored with great agricultural prosperity the rural popula-tion is decreasing. The prosperous farmer buys out his less wealthy neighbor and adds small farms, to his already large estate. The prosperous farmer may have sons and is providing for their future start in life. It is not uncommon to see vacant houses failing to decay because their former owners had sold their estates to their more wealthy neighbors.

The greed for land in some localities has advanced prices out of proportion to the earning capacity of the farm. In some instances the new purchaser was obliged to make arrangements with the former owner to work the land owing to the difficulty of obtaining efficient help. As a commercial proposition the purchase price, placed at compound interest, will always represent the value of the farm as an investment, particularly if a farmer is obliged to rent his holdings to realize a dividend. It may be good policy to buy land as an investsment, but the price of the land at interest will generally grow faster than land values, particularly in old agricultural communities where price is normally high on basis of excellent quality and productivity. Many economists believe general prices for all commodities have advanced too fast and that reaction will follow in the near future. In regard to land prices there has been a peculiar combination of circumstances to make it more valuable. A succession of phenomenally productive seasons, with large shortage abroad, he maintained uniformally high prices for all surplus agricultural products. A few years of partial failures of a succession of bountiful crops in foreign countries that now consume our exports of cereals will turn the tide against agriculture and values of farms will de cline to a party with other commercial investiments. Land, like industrial stocks, will fluctuate in value according to the decrease of its earning ability.—World.

The Fruit Crop.

The first fruit report of the year ust issued from the fruit divisions, states that the frost in Southern Ontario the second week in May, affected the early blossoms of the strawberry crop, but will not seriously reduce the whole crop No injuries to the trees from winter killing were reported, but strawberries, and to a less extent, raspberries and blackberries suffered everywhere. The show of apple bloom was never better. Early and fall apples show somewhat better than winter fruit. Pears are on the whole a medium crop. The commercial plum sections of Ontario are reporting a very light crop, in some cases an absolute failure. Peaches indicate an average crop. Cherries show well everywhere. Grapes are reported in good order, except in sections that depended on snow tection, in which case winter killing is prevalent. Spraying is reported to be much more general than ever before.

Bread is sold from boxes strapped to don-keys in Asia Minor.

BREAD is never better than the flour it is made of. Often it is not nearly so good, but that is the fault of the bread-maker.

Without good flour, good bread is impossible, no matter how skilfully it is handled.

Now, good bread must be good to eat, as well as good to see or to taste. Good-to-eat bread is bread that nourishes.

In the matter of nutriment,

Was Given Up For Dead.

Seven years ago Charles Best, a farmer, residing near Harrow, started for the Klondike gold fields. Shortly after his arrival at Nome a letter was received stating he was seriously ill. Then all letters abruptly ceased, and his family and friends gave him up for dead. Without a word of warning Best walked in upon his sister. Mrs. Tofilemire, at Harrow. He made a fortunate mining strike, and is in comfortable circumstances.

We wonder, we W. C. T. Us, at the slow progress of temperance sentiment, but sometimes it is well to look in, as well as out; down, as well as up. We are Christain women. and just in the line of our cherished work, we have a department—that of hygiene and heredity—that goes right down to "rock bottom," if you will permit the expression. Have we worked this as we should? How many of our women are taking hold of it with a conviction that it lies at the very foundation of all the other departments; How many mothers and grandmothers are earnestly looking into these things for the sake of their own and other people's children? How many children are being brought up on cakes and pickles, and sauces and tea, and too much meat, so that the animal is being stimulated at the expense of the higher nature? Then bye and bye, we have to do "mission work," and "rescue work," and all sorts of reform work, because we are, as "Don," of "Saturday Night" used to say, chiefly interested in "suppressing something." Instead of turning a deaf ear to that terrible inheritance of ours, that God has been sounding down the ages, let us seek to know what we can do, in the light of this twentieth century of the Christain era, that so many children may not light of this twentieth century of the Christain era, that so many children may not come into temporal and eternal loss, because of our criminal indifference.

If I may, I would like, in another issue, to suggest some helps for young mothers.

LITTLE BELL BIOGRAPHIE A Schumann

OBERT SCHUMANN, born at Zwickau, 1810, died near Bonn, 1856, was celebrated as a composer and as a critic of music. He might have become a pianist of the highest order had he not crippled the third finger of his right hand in an attempt to make it stronger and more facile by some mechanical device. This accident proves that there is no short cut to this end; it is reached only by persistent finger exercises in the hard old modern way at the keyboard. If Schumann could not become a great pianist, he did become a great composer. Although he wrote an opera, choral and orchestral works, he will, like Schubert, rotain a high place in the musical world by his songs, pianoforte pieces and other short compositions. His style is very striking and original. And all his songs and pianoforte pieces are of the highest excellence and beauty. There is not oven among Schubert's vast collection any more perfect song than Schumann's "Ich Grolle Nicht" (I Do Not Complain). And for a pianoforte piece, strictly such, there is not in the realm of music anything so ravishing and haunting as his sensuous "Traeumerei" (Dreaming).

Schumann's pianoforte works have this virtue also—they are indispensable to the teacher and the student. To the young player Schumann had said—"Make Bach your Daily Bread," to which we add, and in the studio when all was finished. The girl, a brown eyed, slender creature, with masses of soft brown hair around a small oval face, smiled contentedly as she surveyed the results of three days' labor.

Storm In Camp.

The camp at Carling's Height in London experienced the full force of the great thunderstorm on Thursday night. Several tents were prostrated and their occupants drenched to the skin, while their belonging were saked by the heavy downpour. Others were kept busy driving stakes and holding their tents down as best they could through the greater part of thenight. Many of the horses stampeded, so that the Hussars had their share of the hardships. A house on Oxford street near the camp grounds had a close call, a tree within twenty feet of it being struck by the lightning and losing a large limb.

'A few pretty rugs were scattered over the floor. Pictures in various stages of completion leaned against the wall, and on the hearth a cozy wood are sparkled cheerily.

Beyond was a glimpse of a tiny bedroom and a kitchenette. Miss Vanderwier drew a long breath. It was what she had been dreaming of for years this return to New York to a studio of her own. Now she could show what the hard work in Paris had done for her; now she could prove what was in

"Thank you," responded the girl gratefully. It was a bit lonely—this much boasted independence. "Are there -are there many other girls here?" Pat waved the poker.

"Well, there's Miss Delano," he reflected aloud. "She's water, and Miss Brown in oils, and Miss Merriton, who charcoals. All nice, quiet young ladies as you'd wish to find. But the young gentlemen"-lifting eloquent hands-"them's the noisy lot! All but Mr. Lawrence, that is," consideringly.

Miss Vandervier jumped.
"Mr. Lawrence?" she echoed faintly.

The old Irishman nodded,
"Mr. Robert Lawrence. You'll no doubt have been seeing his things. Some likes 'em. But, as for me, I likes a bit of color meself," gazing admiringly at a fragment of vivid blue Vene tian water and sky. "But, sure, Mr. Lawrence ain't troubling the paints much these days," harking back to his subject with a sigh. "But, well, well," suddenly changing his tone, "I must be going. Good evening, miss. And if there's anything you want don't hesitate to call upon old Pat for it."

But the girl had drawn near the door. "Is-is anything the matter with Mr. Lawrence?" she asked in a carefully indifferent voice, "I-I think I used to know him in Paris."

"Did you, now?" The old man shook his head. "'Tis very sick I fear he is," he answered soberly. "I'm thinking that if no one comes to nurse him it's to the hospital he will be going. We've written his family, but they must be away. The doctor said that if no one came he'd most likely be took tonight. 'Tis sad to hear him, miss."

"Sad?" repeated the girl, with averted face. "He do be calling all the time," explained Pat. "'Marion, Marion,' 'tis that he's whispering."

With a determined effort Miss Vandervier flung herself into a chair and tried to absorb herself in the cherished studio, but to no avail. The thought of that lonely, ill figure upstairs persisted to the exclusion of everything else. He was ill, very ill, and they were going to take him away, and all he needed was nursing. The girl caught un-steadily at the arms of the big chair and half sprang to her feet. But that other girl—could she, oh, could she?"

And then, with a singularly sweet

Perhaps it would be unfair to accuse Pat of "snooping." Nothing might have been further from his thoughts; but, be the truth as it may, the indisputable fact is that, when a few minutes later the door of Miss Vandervier's studio opened and a slender figure flitted up the stairs, Pat, unobserved in the dark hall, uttered a smothered

"Miriam, is it?" he muttered. "Miriam, aha!" with a sly twinkle, born of his knowledge of woman. "Maybe I'm not much good at names, but it's sure the fine eyes I have for a likeness." And, picking up the empty coal scuttle, he went on down the stairs.

The Ark Born Man.

Hundreds of the ancient gleaners of miscellaneous curios, legends, myths and traditions give us to understand that Cush was born on the ark. Others claim that there was a child born on the sacred vessel, but that it was sacrificed to one of the wild beasts, Noah declaring that no person should leave the ark who had not gone on board in the regulation manner. The weight of the evidence as it is given by the Talmudic writers is to the effect that Cush is the person referred to by the old time mystery gleaners when they speak of the "ark born" man. The sacred books as well as the scores of Biblical encyclopedias, handbooks of ancient history, etc., are silent on the subject. In the "Saxon Chronicles" the following occurs: "Bedwig was the son of Shem, who was the son of Noah, and he (Bedwig) was born on the ark." Herbert's note in "Nimrod," volume 2, page 37, says, "Kybelc is the ark, and as Cush was begotten in the ark his posterity were in a peculiar sense descended from that ship." Although Herbert makes no direct reference to the fact of Cush being actually born in the ark, he speaks of him in several places as "Cush, the ark born." The

JEALOUS HUSBAND SHOOTS. & Man Wanted in Windsor in Trouble

At Wardsville.

The report comes from Wardsville of a shooting affray that has led to the police knowing where they might get a man they have wanted for some time.

Charles Dykes, wanted, it is said, for some time in connection with a robbery case by the Windsor people, was in hiding at his home in Wardsville.

On Wednesday evening he came out of his secret place in the house to object to his wife talking with a man who boarded in the place. Pulling a revolver, he shot at the man, and the shot went very near the man's feet.

As the man turned to get out, Dykes, the story goes, fired between his wife ar the fleeing man and very nearly struck his would-be victim in the head.

Dykes then went to Jake Wilson's hatel, where he asked for whiskey. It was noticed that he was under the influence of probably some stronger drug, and as soon as he had the liquor he pulled the revolver and boasted of the recent episode, which might have resulted in a tragedy. Finally he gave up the revolver to those at the hotel The authorities of the place sent word to the Windsor police that Dykes was

Your Fortune in Each Month.

Here is a bit of astrological lore which ay be of use to a hostess in amusing a cowd of young people. Ask the birth onth of each; the following little table gives the answers. The entertaining fea-ture of these so-called fortunes is in how far they generally are from the real characteristics of the person whom they are supposed to portray.

January-A meiden born in this month will be a prudent housekeeper, good tempered, but inclined to be melancholy.

February—Humane and affectionate;

tender parent.

March—A chatter box, fickle, stormy and of a quarrelsome nature.

April—Pretty, dainty, inconsistent and not studious.

May—Handsome in person, contented and happy in spirit.

June-Gay, impetuous and will marry early. July-Fair to look on, but sulky in temper and jealous.

August—Amiable, practical and will make a wealthy marriage.

September—Discreet, anable and a favorite with everyone.

October—Pretty, ecquettish and oftentimes unhappy without a cause.

November—Liberal, kind and pleasant and thoughtful of others.

December—Well proportioned, gay, fond of novelty and inclined to be extravagant.

A LAWSULT of some local interest came off at Thedford on Tuesday last between Mr. Ed. Clark of Port Frank and Dr. Clerk of Thedford. Mr. Clark had a sick calf, a thoroughbred Hereford, valued by him at $100. He procured a perscription for it from Drs. McLeish of Parkhill, but took the perscription to Dr. Clerk to be filled. By some mistake the Dr. gave him the wrong medicine, and as a conhim the wrong medicine, and as a con-sequence the animal died. Mr. Clark then entered an action against Dr. Clerk for the value of the calf and as a result of the trial the Dr. had to pay $40.00 and

FRAUDS ON FARMERS.

Arthur Smith, of Beachville, Arrested

Woodstock despatch: Last night high County Constable Boyle, of St. Catharines, and County Constable Hull, of this city, arrested Arthur Smith, of Hillcrest Farm, Beachville, upon the charge of obtaining money under false pretences with intent to defraud. The arrest was made at the instigation of E. G. Hull & Sons, nurserymen, of St. Catharines, who claim that they sent money to Smith Bros., Beachville, for a shipment of seed potatoes which were never torwarded. Smith was taken to St. Catharines this morning. ines this morning.

The arrest discloses a strange story.

The arrest discloses a strange story. The first National Co-operative Society of Woodstock has spread advertisements broadcart, advertising everything you eat, or wear at wholesale prices. Circulars were issued, and they led directly to Smith's arrest. The public bit, and postal notes and bank drafts have been coming to the Post Office here. There were no offices of the society here, nor was it known, and many of the letters were sent to the dead letter office. letters were sent to the dead letter office. letters were sent to the dead letter office.
Others, however, found their way to Smith.
The mails were used extensively, and a
Post Office official was sent to investigate.
The case was worked up, but for some reason the society was not prosecuted. The dupes of the society were chiefly farmers.
Among the advertisements was one of seed potatoes that sold at $700 a stone.

"Overwork and long hours at the office together with a neglected cold, brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. Miss Clara Beaubier of Beauport, Quebec, writes:

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties in many cases, quickly drifts then into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, tumors, ulceration, falling and displacements or perhaps irregularity or suppression, causing backache nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen the female organism and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to rise refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag about or stand up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

600 hogs and 225 calves.

The heavy runs of cattle this week indicate that the stable-fed cattle are being rushed out very fast. The offerings include some very well flaished cattle, but all are not quiet up to the market. There is a good steady demand for the export cattle, but the market on the whole is, if anything, a little easier to-day than last week. Some good prices were paid around $5.10 to $5 15, but anything higher than this was very rare, if, indeed, there was anything higher bid.

Pills Actually Make. A womar needs medicine more than a

A woman needs medicine more than a man. Her organism is more complex, her system more delicate. Her health is disturbed regularly in the course of nature. If anything happens to interfere with that natural course she goes through unspeakable suffering. In fact the health of every function and the health of every moment in the woman's life depend upon the richness and regularity of her blood supply. That is the simple scientific reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth their weight in gold to women of all ages from early girlhood up—they actually make the rich red blood all women need.

Mrs. Edwin Wark, Brooksdale, Ont., says: "For three years I suffered from those ailments that make the lives of so many of my sex miserable. I would take weak spells and become so nervous that I could not go about. My stomach was out for order, and I fewengthly wonited the food ould not go about. My stomach was out of order, and I frequently vomited the food I took. Heacaches and backaches afflicten me nearly all the time. Then I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and I went to an hospital for treatment. I had the heat of corrections are more reasonable. I went to an hospital for treatment. I had the best of care, but the doctors gave me little hope of recovery. My face and limbs became swollen and my system racked with a harsh dry cough. As the doctors did not look hopefully upon my case I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had taken half a dozen boxes there was a great change for the better. I still continued to take the pills until I had used thirteen boxes, and I am now enjoying perfect health. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Ward

Pink Pills do, but they do it well. They don't act upon the bowels. They don't bother with mere symptoms. They gestraight to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why they cure all blood and nerve troubles like anaemia, female irregularity, indigestion rheumatism, headaches and backaches, sciatica, nervous prostration and St. Vitus dance. Substitutes and imitations won't cure, purging medicines only make you worse, therefore you must get the genuine pills with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tor Pals People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockuille, Ont.

lightning at her home on the River Road, near Port Robinson.

Won Friday, a terrible gale of wind struck the new barn owned by James McClintock, near St. Thomas, at which some thirty or forty men were working. The barn was wrecked, and Wm. Clapton, aged 35, and M. Willson, a lad of 17 years, who were working in the basement, were hilled instantly. Mr. J. Willson, father of the young lad who was killed, had his band so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. Several others of those who were working at the barn were seriously injured.

Thomas Carr, 21 years of age, son of Liman Carr, 7th con. of Walsingham, was instantly killed with lightning about 30 o'clock on Friday afternom, while standing in the doorway of his house. His mother, who was a tew feet from him in the yard, had a narrow escape. She was rendered for a time insensible by the shock, but was not otherwise injured.
