French Check Fierce Assaults of Enemy; British Strike Another Successful Blow

All Leuze Wood Now In The Hands Of Haig's Men In Khaki

Fighting Continues Between There and Comblès as Push Continues—Russians at Same Time Keep up Pressure in Volhynia and Eastern Galicia

While the Germans were making attack after attack south of the Somme last night in an endeavor to recover ground won by the French in their latest advance, the British struck another blow north of the river.

The attacks south of the Somme were delivered between Deniscourt and Bery. Although German infantry charged repeatedly, its efforts, the Paris war office announces, were broken by the fire of the French.

THE BRITISH STATEMENT

London, Sept. 6.—The British again pushed forward on the Somme front last night. They gained possession of all of Leuze Wood, the War Office announced today.

The text of the British official statement follows: "The artillery of both sides has been active north of Pozieres, and in the neighborhood of Mouquet farm. Last night we discharged gas successfully opposite Doullenscourt.

"During the night our troops gained possession of the whole of Leuze Wood. Fighting continues between the wood and Comblès village and around Glancy.

"Yesterday afternoon our heavy artillery effectively shelled the enemy's positions in Polygon Wood, east of Ypres."

GERMANS TRY IN VAIN

RUSSIANS ALSO WIN

Petrograd, Sept. 6.—Russian troops yesterday captured a Tuscov fortified position in the region of the Gordenka, in the direction of Halicz, Galicia, and drove the Austro-Germans toward the north-west.

The number of prisoners taken in the fighting on the Lower Gordenka so far amounts to 4,500 men, among whom were about 2,000 Germans. The statement adds that in the wooded Carpathians the Russian advance continues. The troops have captured a series of heights and have repelled all repeated enemy counter-attacks.

Caucasian front.—In the region of Oguz our troops are advancing and inflicting great losses on the enemy. In the region to the west of Oguz we found corpses of our soldiers terribly mutilated by the Turks. To the west of Lake Van, British armored motor cars drove out the Turks from the villages situated in the region of Chukburn Nurshen.

CITY PUBLIC WORKS

Portions of Douglas avenue are to receive a treatment of asphalt surface in connection with repair work to be undertaken there. Instead of merely filling the holes with gravel, Commissioner Fisher has decided to use a tar treatment between the rails and on part of the northern side of the avenue, between Main street and St. Peter's church.

At present the chief efforts of the department are being concentrated on the completion of the asphalt sidewalk repairs before the cold weather arrives and most of city teams are engaged hauling sand to the asphalt plant.

The completed product to the various scenes of operations. Some repairs are being made also to the roadway in Paradise row, gravel being hauled from the city pit in Fairville for this work.

As soon as the present operations are completed, which will be fairly soon as the money will be exhausted before long at the present rate of work, the commissioner plans to undertake the promised repairs to the Marsh road, between the Marsh bridge and the One Mile House.

The letter, which is dated from Caesar's camp, south, Shorncliffe, Kent, England, August 28, is as follows: "I am in receipt of the $500 which your city so kindly contributed to the 104th regimental fund, for which please accept the thanks of myself, officers and men.

"You will be pleased to learn that the 104th is not to be broken up, but is to go to the front as a unit.

"We are getting along splendidly with our training and have won much praise from officers of high command."

Would It Embarrass You Financially If Your Partner Died To-morrow?
We have known cases where, on the sudden death of a partner, credit has tightened and the remaining partner has had a hard time keeping things moving while straightening out matters for his partner's heirs.
Moreover, the family of the deceased man invariably looks to the remaining partner for first help. One cannot always rely upon the assets of a deceased partner, but an Imperial Partnership Policy is ample protection against such a contingency.
The matter is very clearly dealt with in a book we have published, entitled "Personality in Business." It would be well worth your while to send for a copy and read it. It's free for the asking.

Common Council, at Weekly Meeting, Talks of Investigation into Local Situation

Investigation into the prices charged in St. John for coal was suggested at the meeting of the common council yesterday afternoon by Commissioner McLellan and other commissioners agreed that it might be desirable.

The commissioner of finance and public affairs recommended that the accounts for August be paid. The recommendation was carried. The amount are: Public works department, $2,612.22; public safety, $1,078.43; harbors, ferries and public lands, $918.21; treasury, $839.98; water and sewerage, $1,031.55.

Commissioner Wigmore recommended that the lease on the house lately made out to Andrew P. Stephens be given to John P. Bain for five years for $115 per year. This was approved. The commissioner also recommended that Marion Robb be granted a rebate of $7 on her water assessment, and that David B. Doig be granted a rebate of $10.20. These, it was explained, were due to errors at the time the assessments were made. After the explanation the council readily approved.

A petition asking that Captain Frank L. Hurley be paid $80 for removing a scow from the harbor was referred to the commissioner of harbors.

Commissioner Wigmore was delegated to represent the city at a meeting of water and sewerage experts in Portland, Me., September 13 to 16.

Further amendments to the traffic laws were promised for the next meeting by Commissioner McLellan.

There was a controversy between the commissioners of safety and public works regarding the terms and conditions for sidewalk gasoline stations.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 6, 1916. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE WAR DRAGS ON.

A correspondent of the Associated Press, after a visit to Verdun, says the German losses there have been one half a million men, and the French less than the half that number. He says it is the belief in well-informed quarters that the Germans will gradually let go before Verdun, and before winter will try to shorten their whole western line by a steady retrograde movement.

It is that piles up great fortunes for the few and leaves the pockets of the great masses empty. If that be prosperity, then prosperity is a damnable thing. The comments of the American press show that the railroad men have gained a great victory. They refused to wait any longer than Sept. 4 for the compromise measure which had been agreed on, and congress was forced to act or the strike would have occurred. One paper bitterly said: "At the present time, 400,000 men dictate terms to a nation of 100,000,000 people without giving the 100,000,000 people a chance to be heard; and another said: "The trainmen's brotherhoods have simply held up the country at the point of a starvation gun, and demanded more money, and the country has had to pay."

Naturally the question arises: What will be the next demand, and how will it be met? The action taken by congress does not settle the question. It merely tides the country over for the present. The railroads will attack the constitutionality of the new law, and then there is to be the report of the special commission six or nine months hence. But the men have scored a decided victory, and may be relied on not only to hold their ground but to demand further concessions.

People are wondering whether Mr. Hughes, the Republican candidate for president of the United States, will follow the lead of Mr. Roosevelt. The latter jumped into the campaign in Maine last week, and at Lewiston roundly denounced the "German-Americans who in our politics act as servants and allies of Germany." Referring to President Wilson's attitude in the war he said: "His task was not an especially difficult or dangerous task, but it needed a brave heart and steady hand. Under his lead America could and should have put itself at the head of all the neutral nations, by its example, if not by direct diplomatic agreements, in demanding that the war should be conducted in accordance with the usage of civilized nations, that international law should be observed, that the rights of neutrals and non-combatants should be respected. If this spirit had animated our administration there would probably have been no invasion of Belgium, no fears of a like fate to terrorize other smaller nations, no torpedoing of merchant vessels, no bombardment of churches and hospitals, no massacring of women and children, no murder of Miss Cavell, no attempted extermination of the Armenians and Syrian Christians, etc."

THE MEN HAVE WON

That was a memorable meeting in the Interstate Commerce Committee Room in the Senate Office Building at Washington last Thursday when the threatened railroad strike was under discussion. The New York Times report says: "From 9 o'clock in the morning until after 7 o'clock tonight representatives of the brotherhoods, the railroads and the shippers of the country deliberated and argued over the legislative programme, while the members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, plainly far from familiar with the details of the issues before them, listened and urged delay that would give them time to understand. Beside them at Samuel Gompers' Labor. Before them a group of railroad presidents, representing $200,000,000 worth of railways, faced four men, the heads of the brotherhoods, who were ready to halt the commerce of the United States, to put millions face to face with hardship and want, not alone to get the added wages they sought, but to show that the organization they led could make good. The men demanded an eight-hour day, with one-and-one-half time for overtime work. They have gained the eight-hour day, but overtime is to be pro-rated. The railroad presidents failed to get consent to increase rates. A confirmation, however, will observe the operation of the eight-hour day for six or nine months and report upon its effect on the railroads. Through that long conference on Thursday there was no declaration of high principles, but the situation was well put by Mr. A. B. Garretson, chairman of the Railway Brotherhood Conference, Committee, when he said: "In times like this men go back to primal instinct. They go back to the day of the cave man, the cave man who with his half-gnawed bone, started at the other cave man who wanted to take his bone away. I am reminded today of the time I worked on a train down in Mexico, where the vulture was a sacred bird. When we hit a cow speck in the sky that were vultures could soon be seen over the carcass. Now the public is the carcass. And we are all, perhaps, vultures. We brotherhood leaders are protecting the pockets of our men, the railroads are protecting the pockets of their stockholders, and the shippers are protecting their own pockets. The country will pay." Mr. Garretson would not admit, however, that the country would suffer. He said: "But I take no stock in this talk of advancing prosperity. What can be done?"

"This never was a time when it was more important for us, as Americans, to avoid creating lines of cleavage in this country, based upon place of birth or occupational status. We cannot properly censure Americans of foreign birth for sympathy with the nations which once claimed their allegiance, as against the nations with which they are fighting, and the attempt to impute treasonable motives to any class of citizens because of their original nationality, or their sympathy which go with it, so long as these do not interfere with their paramount loyalty to this republic, or in any way infringe it, is severely to be condemned."

Is Hughes with Roosevelt or with Fairbanks? It is true that Mr. Hughes telegraphed Col. Roosevelt saying: "I heartily congratulate you on your speech at Lewiston and warmly appreciate your effective support," but will he be as outspoken himself on the subject of the hyphenated-Americans and the duty of the United States in regard to Germany? There are many Conservatives in Carleton county who are not in the Fleming ring, and who have some regard for the reputation of their county and the province. It is for them to turn the scale and turn the graters out.

Canada is still far short of that half million soldiers. If the war lasts another five years Sir Robert Borden may be able to redeem his pledge. Meanwhile Sir Sam Hughes is posing on the other side of the Atlantic.

The announcement that Mr. H. M. Blair is going into Carleton county to tell some of the things he knows about the provincial government is a cause of worry for the Standard. If Mr. Blair would go to Boston, as Mr. Bill Berry did, and stay there till after Sept. 21, the Standard would be delighted. The opposition party is not responsible for Mr. Blair, or for the facts to which he may direct attention. If he chooses to tell what he knows, however, his statements should be of more than passing interest. No man had a better opportunity to gain inside knowledge.

"What is the difference between firmness and obstinacy?" asked a young lady of her fiance. "Firmness," was the gallant reply, "is a noble characteristic of women; obstinacy is a lamentable defect of advancing prosperity. What can be done?"

ROOSEVELT CRITICIZES PRESIDENT

YOU CAN OBTAIN THE CHARM OF BEAUTY

Nothing of More Value To Women

The glory and satisfaction of beautiful womanhood can be known only to those possessing the unlimited advantages of health.

No weak woman can be happy or enjoy half the pleasure of life. Faded cheeks, sunken eyes, exhausted nerves, all tell of a terrible struggle to keep up.

What the weak woman needs is Ferronine; it renews, restores and vitalizes instantly—this is a woman's remedy—that's why.

Ferronine makes women strong, plump and beautiful because it contains lots of nutriment, the kind that forms muscle, sinew, bone and nerve. Vitalizing blood courses through the body, making delightful color, happy spirits, true womanly strength.

To look well, to feel well, to enjoy the unlimited advantages of robust, bounding health use Ferronine; sold by all dealers in box boxes, and refuse a substitute.

He has held. We put the man who thinks and speaks directly, and whose words have always been made good, against the man whose adroit and facile eloquence is used to conceal his plans or want of plans.

"The next four years may well be years of tremendous national strain. The American people, wish at the helm during these four years—the man who has been actually tried and found wanting, or the man whose whole career in public office is a guarantee of his power and good faith? But one answer is possible; and it must be given by the American people through the election of Charles Evans Hughes as president of the United States."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Gill-Sawyer.
At the residence of Professor and Mrs. Kalmus, Beacon street, Brookline, Mass., Miss Hazel McClary Gill, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Gill, of 120 Paradise row, was united in marriage to Frederick Russell Sawyer of Boston, by Rev. R. P. Bush, M. A., in the presence of their most intimate friends.

The bride looked charming in a Parisian gown of white satin and chiffon with lace and veil of rose point lace caught up to form a crown with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The ceremony was performed under a large bell of white roses, with maiden-hair fern background. The bride was unattended. Mrs. Kalmus, acting as maid of honor, wore a gown of pink apple green over lavender. Charles S. Rawlins, Jr., class-mate of the groom, was best man. The double ring service was used; the bride's being of latest style platinum chased and encrusted in diamonds. The bride received many costly and beautiful presents. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond and ruby necklace set in platinum. After the ceremony luncheon was served. The dining-room was decorated with pink and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer left for a tour of California. On their return they will reside at the residence of Mrs. Sawyer, 206 Marlboro street, Back Bay, Boston.

Chapman-McLeod.
The marriage of Miss Emily McLeod, eldest daughter of Alderman Murdoch McLeod, of Edinboro, Pa., formerly of Moncton, to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Chapman, of Moncton, took place Tuesday at the residence of the bride in Moncton.

Fleming-Brown.
The Norwood, Mass., Messenger says: A quiet home wedding of two well-known young people took place Wednesday evening, the bride being Miss Jane Ellen Brown, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, and the groom Edward White Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Fleming, formerly of Moncton.

Ferguson-Black.

The wedding of Miss Agnes Burns, youngest daughter of Mrs. Simon Burns, to Albert H. Heenan, was solemnized on August 29 at St. Columba's church, Fredericton Junction. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Murphy.

THE MILK QUESTION.

The cows they called a meeting In a newly white-washed barn, And sent out invitation To all the nearby farms.

The meet was booked for seven, And the chair was taken at eight; And the question of the price of milk Was opened for debate.

A saucy looking Jersey Was the first to rise and speak; She gave her straight opinion How milk was sold too cheap.

She read a lengthy paper On the prices of the lines, How the price was nearly doubled On all the household lines.

How the baker wanted nine cents For a little square of bread, If the kiddies eat a last piece You couldn't call them fed.

How the barbers put a nickel On the shaving of the beard; And on a sound of protest From the citizens was heard.

How the bar-rooms have a notice, You read as you go in, Fifteen cents for cocktails And ten for Holland gin.

How the druggists charge a nickel For a little square of powder, And oyster stews are thirty-five, And fifteen cents for chowder.

And they passed a resolution That the milk for ten would sell, And if city folk protested, They all could go to—Well!

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

The use of creams containing animal substance sometimes causes hair to grow. You run no risk of acquiring superfluous hair when you use ordinary mercurized wax. There is nothing better for a discolored skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression.

It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimply skin. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drugstore, and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation.

The ideal wrinkle remover is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost instantaneous results.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets Nourish your Nerves. Neuralgia and Neuralgic Headache simply indicate that your nerves are weak and underfed. Why drug them into insensibility when it is nourishment they need? Drugs cannot supply that nourishment, they can only deaden the pain for a time at the cost of bad after-effects--heart-depression, faintness; and if persisted in a drug habit may be set up. In Dr. Cassell's Tablets you have true nerve nutrients. Ingenuity at the Hospital. A remarkable instance of the efficiency of the Army Medical Service is the case of Sergeant J. Leaver, of the Buffs, now in hospital at Southend, Eng. He sustained wounds which practically shattered his left hip-bone and hip, and for some time his life was in danger, while the loss of his leg was considered certain. When brought to the hospital Leaver was in so serious a condition that he could not even be turned over to admit of his wounds being dressed, but the ingenuity of the hospital medical staff was equal to the occasion. A mattress specially constructed in sections was placed on his bed, and his injuries were dressed from underneath, the way

BRITISH PRISONERS ARE GOOD STUDENTS

Library of 9,000 Books at Ruhleben For Civilians Detained There; Qualifying For Positions

London, Aug. 23.—(Correspondence).—About a year ago some of the British civilian prisoners of war at Ruhleben in Germany, sent home an urgent appeal for books for the educational classes and lectures organized by the Ruhleben Camp Education Department. The British Education Minister at once took the matter up, an appeal was made to the public for new and second hand books of a suitable kind, these were sifted in Whitehall and today prisoners at Ruhleben have a first-class library of 9,000 books, all educational, for those of the 4,000 prisoners interned there who want to turn their enforced leisure to some account. Ruhleben has 200 lecture classes, and since these were set going the despairing cries "send us something serious to read or we shall go mad" have ceased. What was well begun at Ruhleben is now being developed and extended for the benefit of British prisoners of war in other camps. The British Foreign Office, working in conjunction with legations at The Hague, Copenhagen, and Bern, and with the United States embassies at Berlin, Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople, are supplying similar educational libraries to all the camps in Germany, Austria, Holland, Turkey, Bulgaria and Switzerland.

A very interesting development of the scheme has now been formulated by which interned men who attend classes may secure under certain conditions recognition of their work when they return home. For instance, the Board of Trade, which has welcomed this idea with enthusiasm, is prepared in calculating the period of qualifying service required before a certificate of competency can be obtained, to take into account the evidence of study during internment submitted to them on a special form. A man who wants to become a master, mate, first engineer, or second engineer in the mercantile marine, or a skipper, or second hand of a fishing vessel, who devotes a few hours a day to systematic instruction in navigation and seamanship can have his counted toward his certificate. Several examining bodies in the United Kingdom have signified their approval of the enterprise of the Board of Education in this matter.

NEAR SEVENTY MARK BUT A LIEUTENANT

Henry Webber's Three Sons Out-ranked Him in British Army; Claim on the Somme

London, Aug. 23.—(Correspondence).—One of the British officers who fell in the advance on the Somme was Lieutenant Henry Webber of the South Lancashire Regiment, aged 68 years. But despite his years he was the youngest subaltern of them all in spirits. He was a Cambridge schoolboy half a century ago, and a fortnight before he was killed he wrote this letter to the only assistant master left on the staff who knew him as a boy:

I know that the doings of old Tom-bridgians are sometimes interesting to the present generation, so it occurs to me to write you a line. Fifty-one years ago I got my colors in the eleven, and last week fifty-one years ago I was howling against the Old Boys, and looking on some of them as "sitters" and in the "sere and yellow leaf" and here I am a lieutenant in His Majesty's army, having to salute three sons if I meet them out here, a colonel and two majors. I am first-line transport officer to this battalion, and we have been plumb in the centre of the picture during the last ten days and gained no end of kudos, and also a very severe mauling. We have been resting for a week and refitting, and are at them again tomorrow. I am so far extraordinarily fit and well and though when I tell you that for four consecutive days I was either on my feet or in the saddle for twenty-one hours out of the twenty-four, you will see that there is a bit of work attached to it. Our boys were simply splendid and well, after a rest, they are as keen as well, as a schoolboy to be put on to bowl.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

A trades union congress meeting in Birmingham, Eng., yesterday, took the stand that it is impossible for Britons to meet representatives of labor from the central powers until the German democracy disavows the methods of German terrorism. The congress demanded the nationalization of the railways of Great Britain. Lloyd George was strongly criticized for his statement that British workers are not doing all they should. The jury which has heard the charges against Sir Rodmond Roblin, former premier of Manitoba, and two of his ministers, was discharged yesterday as they had failed to agree, nine standing for conviction and three for acquittal. At the opening of the Kings county circuit court in Hampton yesterday an address was presented to Mr. Justice Chandler by the grand jury. Prince Albert Chapman pleaded guilty to shooting Allen Holder with intent to do bodily harm, and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The first snow of the season occurred at Gagetown on Sunday. At a meeting of the commissioners of the River Glade sanatorium on Monday it was announced that Mrs. Jordan has purchased and presented to the institution the Burton Kay farm of 500 acres, costing $5,000, which will be used in connection with the work of the sanatorium.

ALLIES IN WEST PUSHING AHEAD; GOOD NEWS COMES FROM ALL FRONTS

Gradually the lines of the Entente Allies are drawing more closely about Cambes and toward Peronne, and farther and farther their wedges are being driven into the German lines both north and south of the River Somme. On a front of about twenty-six miles the French and British troops, supported powerfully by their enormous artillery arm, are steadily hammering the German positions and sustaining unflinchingly heavy counter-attacks. North of the Somme, to the east and southeast of Forest, the French have driven forward their line, capturing the outskirts of the Auleru Wood, Hospital Farm and the Rainette Wood, Hospital of Martereau, Wood and a position on the road leading from Bouchavesnes to Clary.

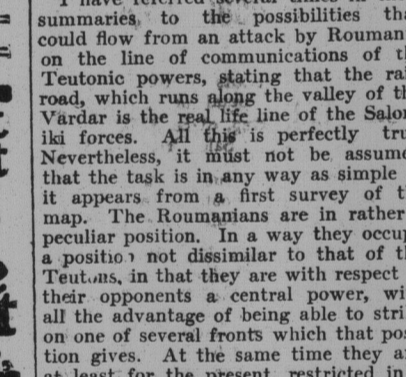

ABOUT GREECE

Greece has not yet officially announced her intentions with regard to her future stand in the war, but unofficial reports say that three classes of Greek reactions have been called to the colors. The advice says also that the Greek authorities have taken the British and French secret police the task of arresting Austro-German agents, who will be apprehended by the Greeks and deported. Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Representatives of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council and of the textile, steel and munitions industries, had a conference this afternoon with Hon. T. W. Crothers and Hon. Robt. Rogers, acting on behalf of the government, with a view to discussing informally the best means of mobilizing and utilizing Canada's labor forces during the war period, of labor scarcity and acute production demand. After talking over the general situation in an informal way the cabinet ministers intimated that the government in prosecuting further recruiting efforts would endeavor to harmonize as far as possible war needs both at home and at the front and that the recruiting plans would keep in view the economics of the labor market in regard to those who were required to fight and those who were required to produce.

THE WAR SITUATION

(By the Military Expert of the New York Times). The Italians, who have been guarding the allied left flank on the Saloniki front and have been operating from the Albanian port of Avlona, are exhibiting unmistakable signs of activity. It will be remembered that after the conquest of Serbia and Montenegro was about completed, the Austrians, who had taken Cetinje, the Montenegrin capital, forced their way south in an attempt to take Avlona before the Italians would have time to gain a secure foothold. This attempt was abortive, as the Italians landed a large contingent of troops and were in thorough possession of this part of Albania before the Austrians appeared on the scene. Some time later a force of Greeks crossed the border, advanced to Tepeleni, and occupied the town. This town is the point of the Italian movement reported last night. Immediately at the beginning of the Italian advance the Greeks who were occupying this region retired, and the Italians seized the town. There is no importance in this isolated movement, considered by itself. In fact, which does not seem to be a great deal of importance attached to anything which the Allies have done as yet on the Saloniki front. The fact that it is a theatre of great interest is due, as in the case of the new Roumanian theatre, to the possibilities with which the situation is pregnant. As to the forces present in the vicinity of the Vovusa River, the Italians, as far as we know, have some 10,000 men between Avlona and Monastir. They are faced almost entirely by Austrians, who are very probably much less numerous. The country is of the same general character as that in which the Allies are fighting further east, which means that it is ill adapted to military movement, being all mountainous and characterized by the almost total absence of good roads, or, in fact, roads of any kind, and absolutely without any railroad accommodations. It is, therefore, only by highways that Monastir can be reached from the west. Nevertheless, this activity of the Italians may presage events on a much larger and much more important scale. One of the weak points in the position of the Teutonic allies on this front is its flank. The Allies, with their superior numbers, are in an excellent position to envelop the Austrian right and destroy completely any advantage which the Bulgarians may have obtained as a result of their occupation of Florina and Bitola, on the Monastir-Saloniki railroad. This can be done only by pushing the Austrians back through Albania, and to a certain extent, folding their line back upon itself. This would result in the exposing of the flank of the Bulgarian forces and their enforced retirement to the north. The task will be difficult and progress will probably be slow, but it is distinctly possible. The Italian army at Avlona has been kept there for some such purpose, not merely as a defensive force. It is true that the original problem which confronted the Allies at Saloniki was defensive. The ultimate idea was, of course, for an offensive which should strike at the most vulnerable part of the Teutonic powers, the back door of Austria. Before this could be attempted, however, it was first necessary to land sufficient troops to seize and fortify a base line behind which the concentration of a large force, with the necessary equipment and supplies, could be effected. Therefore, their first task was to form a purely defensive line which would be sufficiently strong to hold the invaders in check, and when their concentration had been perfected, to strike out on the offensive. Evidently their plans have not as yet matured, for no offensive campaign has, as far as we know, been inaugurated. This movement of Italy's

TAKE TOWN OF CHILLY

South of the Somme, the French have taken the town of Chilly, situated one mile west of the railroad leading from Chaulons to Roye, a line of trenches east of Soyecourt and numerous isolated positions between Verdunvillers and Chilly. Since Sunday the French alone have taken on the Somme front 6,550 prisoners and 36 guns, 23 of them being of heavy calibre. On the eastern front violent fighting continues from the Priepet marsh region in Volynia, through Galicia, and up in the Carpathian passes, with the Russians reporting successes near Vladimir-Volynski and a continuance of the advance toward the plains of Hungary through the Carpathians. Berlin reports that in Galicia, in the region of Brestsyb, and near Fundu Moldovei, in the Carpathian region, heavy Russian attacks were repulsed, in the latter district with heavy casualties. Eastern Roumania the Germans and Bulgarians have captured the fortified bridgehead of Tutrakan, and the Bulgarians the town of Dobro, while Petrograd reports the cutting down of a Bulgarian outpost by Russian cavalry in

SPORT NEWS OF THE DAY HOME AND ABROAD

THE TURF. The Grand Circuit. Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5.—After being shipped from Holyoke last night reaching the Grand Circuit track at 8 o'clock this morning, Galeton, son of Bangale, won the 224 trot in straight heats this afternoon justifying a field of four other horses and making a new mark of 2:17.4. At Calais Fair. St. Stephen, Sept. 5.—A fair crowd witnessed the horse races at the Calais fair this afternoon. The 228 trot and pace was won by Mary Herz, owned by Chas. Cone, Calais, with Miss Colombo second, owned by P. D. McKinnon, Bangor. Best time, 2:20.1-4. The 218 trot and pace was taken by Lady Ashbrook, owned by Bert McBride, St. Stephen, with Jack Farmer, owned by Chas. Cone, Calais, second. Best time, 2:21.2.

News of the Fast Ones. Gleaner—An offer of $2,100 has been refused for a Game of Chance, 213, the speedy son of the Patches Boy, owned by W. Bert Lint of Fredericton. The offer was made at Houlton a few days ago by Ira D. Carpenter, the well known Maine horseman who was trying to put over the deal for Archie McLeod of Patten, Me. The offer stands good until this evening. Mr. Lint having been given four days to consider the offer. The local horseman said yesterday that he would not accept. The Houlton race meeting was productive of several sales, which horses trained at the local track figured. Pat Doherty, the Sydney horseman, who does his training in Fredericton, sold Dan Paine, a 3-year-old, bred of Fox Fair, field, son of P. H. Reed, the prominent Maine horseman, the purchase price being in the vicinity of $1,200. Mr. Doherty has also disposed of Shrub, a young trotter bred in Cape Breton, to Ira Carpenter, the local horseman, where near $800. Both horses have been turned over to their new owners, George Reed having been at Houlton on Saturday to drive Dan Paine, had the races been carried out. Mr. Doherty may return to Sydney, as Pearl Bourbon is lame and Alverton is his only dependable race horse at present.

A HUNTING POEM

(Literary Digest.) There are several things worth noting about the following poem (re-land). In the first place, the emotion is sincerely presented, and it rises to a noble height in the last stanza. In the second place, the descriptions in the first three stanzas are admirably vivid. In the third place the rhyme-scheme is most interesting; the use, in some of the stanzas, of a word in the middle of the second line rhyming with the last word of the first line suggesting, as do other things in the poem, the work of the ancient Gaelic bards.

BALLAGH GAP.

(By James B. Dollard.) Ballagh Gap, and the spring sun shining On Leinster's valley far down below Ballagh's Gap, and the hedges lining The roadways, blossomed like sifted snow! 'Tis there I'd be with Youth's comrades playing, In gladness maying through sweet lost days, The gold-eyed primrose green banks straying, And daisies spangled in faerie maze.

Again I'd hear, as the wind came sighing Across Mount Leinster' and brown Creeper-creepers, when the plough was dishing And all the West was a magic glow. 'Tis there I'd be when the sun new-born Brought vales Elysian to raptured eyes, And his spirit saw, from its clayey prison, God's hand bedeck the seas and skies, Too soon, alas, from these fair scenes vanished, The friends of boyhood all passed away, And Youth's fond hoping too quickly vanished In grief and groping when skies were grey.

McKinnon had Roddie puzzled as the latter tried again and again to land the knockout blow, but McKinnon got away from them, though there were a couple of occasions that the Cape Bretoner came near to securing his desired advantage. McKinnon is the best man of his weight yet seen here; he has a left jab which he landed quite often, and besides his scientific work with the left hand, he has a right hand which is strong, and quick on his feet, all of which, with his experience, made him such a formidable opponent for the Cape Bretoner, but his punches seemed to lack steam. He was clever at inflicting punishment about the body, but Roddie was also apt in the same respect. The Cape Bretoner fought hard at all times, and it was his aggressive work which made the interest. In fact he fought so hard for twelve rounds that he was tired from his exertion. Roddie was after a knockout from the outset; in the very first round, McKinnon after an exchange turned away from him, and McDonald went right after him, and landed on the side of the head. McKinnon appeared slow in the early rounds, slugging his man, but he jumped up as the fight progressed. He found, apparently, that the Cape Bretoner wanted to finish him with a blow to the jaw, and he governed himself accordingly. It was not until the opening of the sixth round that McDonald got a fairly good blow near his opponent's jaw, but the visitor was not much discouraged. In the seventh, McDonald landed hard enough to stagger his opponent and he decided to slug him out, but McKinnon took all the blows for the time being, and then came back with jabbing his opponent towards the finish. Several times during the next five rounds McDonald landed about the face, but they seldom phased McKinnon, who over and over again showed his cleverness by ducking and dodging the exertions of the Cape Bretoner or throwing him away from him, while at times he made the crowd laugh with the manner in which he caused Roddie to miss his tearing upper cuts. Roddie had fought hard enough to beat a couple of ordinary men, but he grew tired, and the last rounds were given, except the final, which was in McKinnon's favor. Warrant Officer Kinch, who had refereed in splendid style, and who had kept count at every round, decided the bout a draw; and that it was a good decision was shown by the general acceptance of the verdict, and some arguing in favor of McDonald and others for McKinnon, in fact, many of the latter being outspoken in their claims. In the preliminaries, Seaman "Kid" Burns and Travis boxed six exhibition rounds, and Seaman Day was altogether too clever for his game opponent, Seaman Willis, who, after receiving several knock-downs, retired in the fourth round. A telegram was read from Joe Uvan-

GUNNER HARRISON ON VISIT TO EDINBURG

St. John Soldier Writes of Interesting City and of Kindliness of Scots

Gunner Harrison of the 4th Siege Battery, in writing to his wife, Mrs. James A. Harrison of 50 High street, describes some of the places of interest that he visited while on leave of absence. Extracts from his letter are as follows:

"I arrived at London on a Thursday night and spent all day Friday seeing some of the most important places that I missed on my last trip. I met an Englishman up there, looking around like myself and we went in to see Westminster Abbey. You talk about relics of other days, there certainly are a lot of them there. It is a very large and beautiful place with tombs and inscriptions many hundred years old.

"I went from there to the art gallery and saw oil paintings nine and ten hundred years old. They are just as good as when they were painted. The cost of some of them is from 15,000 to 100,000 pounds. They are most all painted by Frenchmen or Italians.

"Well, I am now in Edinburgh, the most beautiful city in the British Isles. It is eight hours' run from London. The train travels eighty miles an hour, but the road beds are so good you never notice that you were traveling that fast. The people of Edinburgh think a lot of the Canadian soldier and will go out of their way to show you around. If you wish to know anything in London you have to ask a policeman, as they are the only ones there that know anything about the place, but the people in Edinburgh know every point of interest. It is a very clean city and very easy to find your way around in.

"I will now tell you about some of the places I visited; one of the most interesting was Holyrood castle, the home of the unhappy and unfortunate Mary Queen of Scots. It was started in 1460 and of the parts of it have been rebuilt, that is the outer works, but the interior is the original building. There are

THE MAN IN THE STREET

Isn't it rather an anomaly that we should show our respect for labor by stopping work for a day? And then we call it Labor Day?

The British authorities who are giving returning soldiers training in farm work evidently believe in preparing to follow the Biblical policy of turning the sword into ploughshares; but it will be a harder job to adapt a modern rifle for use as an agricultural implement.

Canada now has 261,000 soldiers, not including General Sir Sam Hughes, who counts as a whole army division.

If we had a less soldier and one more real minister of militia, a few more of the 261,000 might have been overseas by this time.

Of course there will be no conscription in Canada; the government merely will undertake to "direct each man to his most useful sphere of national service."

And some of us may have hard work to prove that our present jobs come under that class.

Of course we were not saying so. We found his "most useful sphere of national service" is the same. I am at present at the base. I came here about three days ago when I was discharged from the hospital. Private Smith speaks of Harry Graham and Leo Killam, both of whom were in the same hospital as he was.

TWO MORE ST. JOHN BROTHERS MEET AT FRONT

Sears and Charles Smith Have Reunion After Two Years—News of Harry Graham and Leo Killam

Privates Sears Smith of the 14th Battalion and Charles Smith of the First Canadian Reserve, C.A.S., in writing to their mother, Mrs. Julia Smith of 9 Clarence street, speak of meeting at the front. Sears' letter in part is as follows:

"A few lines to let you know that I have seen brother Charles after a period of two years. As you may suppose, it was very nice to meet him, as well as surprised. He has just been discharged from hospital and has been sent down to the base for a rest. He is much changed since he left home and has also grown a lot."

Charles' letter is as follows:

"A few lines to let you know that I am here and hope will find you all the same. I am at present at the base. I came here about three days ago when I was discharged from the hospital. Private Smith speaks of Harry Graham and Leo Killam, both of whom were in the same hospital as he was."

Joins Machine Gun Section.

L. C. R. Conductor Andrew Cruikshank has received a letter from his son, Lieut. A. Otty Cruikshank, in which he says he has been transferred from the 10th Battalion to one of the machine gun corps in England. The transfer comes in the way of a promotion.

Wounded Second Time.

Sunday's casualty list announces the wounding of Private Larry T. Kennedy of Moncton. He is a brother of Tremaine Kennedy, formerly of The Moncton Times staff, now with the Boston & Maine Railway. He enlisted originally with the 4th, volunteered into a draft to re-inforce the 5th, and finally went to the front as a member of another battalion. He was wounded once before but returned again to the front.

Son and Three Nephews.

A former Moncton man has enlisted with the 10th Pioneers in Verdun, Montreal, Robert D. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Moore. Mrs. Moore has three nephews in the 10th Battalion, also now in England, sons of J. R. Moore of Petticoat.

Lieutenant M. Sien, of Fredericton, who has been with the 237th Battalion, American Legion, at Digby, N.S., has been transferred to the New Brunswick Killies.

Arthur W. Bird, of Burt's Corner, enlisted in Fredericton on Saturday with the special company attached to the Killies.

THE COAL SITUATION

Much interest is taken in coal prices just now. It should be said that yesterday's discussion of the coal situation in the Common Council was not directed at the Consumers' Coal Company, which is purely a retail company. The committee were talking about prices generally and the possibility of getting hard and soft coal from the mines to the consumer at reasonable prices. That is the question. It is not any one company, local or outside, that is responsible. The Consumers' Coal Company happened to be mentioned at the meeting, not in connection with prices, but because it had applied for permission to unload coal across the sidewalks.
