Will Not Abandon the Vilayet, Curzon's Dictum

Turkey Claims Rich Territory as Hers; British Government Declares That it is Pledged to Free Arabs from Rule of the Turk.

(Canadian Press) . . . . . Lausanne, Dec. 27.—Through Foreign Secretary Curzon, Great Britain today formally announced that the British will never abandon the Mosul vilayet, as requested by the Turkish delegation and that prolongation of the Near East conference can influence the British Government to recede from the position it has taken on this matter.

The British position is outlined in a letter sent by Lord Curzon to Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation covering the formal reply of the British delegation to the Turkish note of Sunday last, which insisted Mosul be handed over to Turkey.

Lord Curzon said in this letter that the British Government had expelled the Turks from the Mosul and the British had taken a pledge to free the Arabs from Turkish rule and establish the government of the Irak and Great Britain since then had repeatedly given her word that the Arabs would not be interfered with.

Lausanne, Dec. 27.—The British note concludes: "The British Government reiterates its refusal even to contemplate the surrender of the Mosul vilayet and it is British policy to stand ready to meet the Turkish experts in the settlement of the Mosul vilayet, a British spokesman said this morning it merely meant that the British delegation stands ready to meet it a few miles south if the Turks so desire, to give a most natural and more readily defensible frontier."

WHY THIS DEBATE?

Letters from bond dealers and bond-owners in behalf of the New Brunswick Power Company might be interesting subjects for purely academic debate if the members of the City Council had ample leisure to indulge in this pastime, but they are understood to be busy men. Why, therefore, debate? The people settled two things at the November elections. One was the right to be offered the New Brunswick Power Company, and the other was to be final. The company rejected the offer and there is nothing to debate. The people also declared against arbitration when they endorsed the Fisher platform. Why, therefore, does the City Council waste any of its valuable time in discussing these matters? Surely it does not contemplate any such action as would over-ride the expressed will of the people. Why bring these matters up at all? Why not table them at once and let them lie there? A brief but emphatic statement could make it clear to all-comers that the people themselves have spoken and there is more to be said. Every day's delay in getting on with the hydro programme, every hesitant word spoken at City Hall, gives new courage to the Power Company to keep up its agitation to defeat the will of the people. Every member of the City Council is as well aware of this fact as the man in the street. Moreover, the time until the first of May is short. This is a time, not for words, but for action.

WHY FARMERS COMPLAIN.

The Toronto Globe quotes from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics some illuminating figures to show how the farmer has been hit since 1918. Prices which were used in the different years in estimating the value of the total value of crops in Ontario on Dec. 1 are quoted. We may omit all but those for the years 1918 and 1922, and the comparison cannot but convince any one that the farmer is confronted by a serious problem, in view of the fact that while that which he has to sell has not been anything like as high in the price of the things he buys. Here are the figures—

Table with 2 columns: Crop, 1918, 1922. Rows include Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Peas, Beans, Buckwheat, Mixed grains, Flax, Potatoes, Hay and clover, Fodder corn, Sugar beets.

THE PERFDIOUS TURK.

Referring to the latest promise of the Turks to protect the Christian minorities, the Boston Herald remarks that the public quickly forgets, and gives the following very striking review of past promises and performances— "This particular promise, protection for the Christians, was made by the first conqueror of Constantinople, and has been repeated by every Sultan since 1453. Abdul-Hamid promised it just before the great horror of 1895, though he hinted that his subjects might get out of hand if he tried to introduce reforms. After these subjects had carefully fulfilled his secret orders and some 100,000 Armenians were slain, this same Abdul, 'the Damned,' fervently made the same promise over again, as he looked into the guns of the warships of Europe and America, which lay in the Bosphorus. Twelve years later the remarkable career of Enver Pasha began. Threatening the life of Abdul-Hamid, he secured the proclamation of a constitution which secured not only protection, but equal rights, to these Christian minorities. The promise of this new constitutional government was so bright that even the experienced missionaries hailed Enver as a messenger of freedom. Then came the Adana massacre, where not only thousands of native Christians but two American missionaries were slain in cold blood. Enver blasphemed in this Abdul-Hamid and secured his overthrow, promising again perfect equality between Christian and Moslem subjects of the Ottoman empire. It was a painful process of undeciding which brought the Americans who again trusted Enver Pasha to realize what the wholesale extermination of the Armenians during the world war. When the war was over, however, Enver and his bloody band were banished, and a neck and chastened Sultan once more promised, at Mudros, perfect protection for the Christians. So far as his support power extended this promise was not flagrantly broken but the consuls of Enver and Talat started a Turkish government at Angora which has far surpassed the barbarities of Abdul-Hamid, and whose record of violence almost equals that of Enver." The Herald goes on to say that there was a disposition to trust Mustafa Kemal, but "since then have come the Smyrna atrocity and the wholesale deportation of all remaining Christians from Anatolia at the orders of this Nationalist government," while it is clearly the present Turkish policy to drive 400,000 Christians from Constantinople. It is well to be reminded of the record of Turkish perfidy, in view of the truculent attitude of the Turkish delegates at Lausanne. The European powers would like to do business with Turkey on a basis that would insure protection for Christian minorities, but the need of the strongest safeguards is obvious.

THE PEOPLE WAKING UP.

St. John is not the only city where people have been made to suffer by stock manipulation of public utility services. Comptroller Craig of New York said to the members of the Bronx Board of Trade last week: "Not so long ago some friends of mine invested to provide for their families in stock of the Metropolitan Street Railways Company. They paid in the vicinity of $200 a share for their holdings. Within three years from the time they bought it it had dropped to a point where the stock was not worth 250 mills a share. Not only has the public purse paid its tribute to stock manipulation by the traction interests, but in addition it has paid many times over for a public service that does not exist."

I am sure he plots my downfall with a deep and dark design; You see, he must be wicked—since his customs are got mine!

"Do you know," said the earnest person, "that there are men renowned in literature, art and science whose annual incomes are not large enough to give them the ordinary comforts of life?" "I don't doubt it," said Mr. Gawker, "but if nature gave them sound bodies to start with and they've enjoyed reasonably good health, it seems to me that it's their own fault if they haven't gone in for athletics and acquired proficiency with a pair of eight-ounce gloves."—The Birmingham Age-Herald.

Deserted, Feet Frozen, 8-Year-Old Lived on Wind-Swept Roof 3 Weeks

JOHNNY MILLER THE EMPTY-TANK IN WHICH JOHNNY MILLER WAS LIVING

New York, Dec. 27.—How much is a friend worth? Eight-year-old Johnny Miller can tell you, for Johnny has four friends who stuck to the finish. Alleged to have been deserted by his stepmother, both feet frozen, Johnny was found crawling across a tenement roof on which he had slept for three weeks. "Only I didn't sleep much," Johnny confesses. "My shoes had holes and snow got in under my feet. My feet would wake me up."

From his warm bed in the Hecksher Foundation Hospital, where the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is now keeping him, Johnny sings a psalm of praise for his friends, Fishy, Natie, Johnny and Fashie. "I got good friends, anyway," he beams. "They told me about the tank. Fishy fixed it for me to wash in his hall with soap. Natie gave me his pants. They got too small for him. Fishy got me stockings. In the tank I dressed all up with the stuff he kept."

Fishy got be an old mattress out of the cellar. I told him my feet was cold and the boys brought me a box to put them in on cold nights. They would worry about me all the time. Natie sells frankfurters and all the time he asks me if I want one. "Once when my mother was alive Santa Claus came. She is two years dead now. Not everybody is good like her. My friends I got, anyway."

BAVARIA SEEN AS RALLYING GROUND OF MONARCHISTS

Ludwig's Former Kingdom Has Had Five Premiers in Four Years.

Munich, Nov. 25.—(By Mail)—When the world war swept Ludwig III from his throne, Bavaria's ship of state went careering on a stormy political sea, the absence of which has forced a rapid change in the men at its helm.

The revolution, which put the last of the Ludwigs into the discard, at the same time installed the Socialist, Kurt Eisner, in charge of the regime. Eisner's radical ideas and practices embittered many Bavarians who clung to things imperial, and his term of office was cut short in February, 1919, by assassination at the hands of Count Arco-Valley.

Johannes Hoffmann, a Majority Socialist, who had been Minister of Education under Eisner, next took up the reins of power, but fled the capital in April, 1919, in the face of a "Red Republic" uprising. This movement was crushed about four weeks later, and Hoffmann returned to the premiership. Under his tenure of office, a new constitution declaring Bavaria a free state was adopted the following August.

A surge of reactionary feeling carried in Gustav von Kahr, a Nationalist, as Hoffmann's successor, dating from May, 1920. Von Kahr figured prominently in various public capacities, one of which was co-organizer of the Bavarian military force known as the Eiswacht, in company with George Escherich. Political circumstances necessitated a new vote for premier on July 16, 1920, and von Kahr was retained in office, forming a Coalition cabinet of the bourgeoisie parties.

Differences within the Bavarian People's Party over negotiations for special considerations of Bavaria with the republic, led to the selection of Count Hugo von Lerchenfeld, a member of this party, as premier in September, 1920. Count Lerchenfeld is married to an American. He resigned from the head of the government early last month, following criticism of the Rightists that he had been too weak and subservient in the face of the Berlin Government.

The new premier comes from the same political party as did his predecessor, and has always lived in Munich. Doctor von Knilling was born in Munich, August 1, 1865, and was educated here in the public schools, the academy and the university. In 1892 he assumed public office, and has been in the public service almost continuously ever since. His opinions at the present time are said to be representative of the middle classes.

Reactionary Hotted.

Today, with the second largest state in the new German republic, noted as the hotbed of Germany's reactionaries, von Knilling takes over the administration of its 16,429 kilometres and 7,140,333 inhabitants during a period of most trying politics. His selection has been opposed in the press of the extreme right on the grounds that Bavaria's present-day needs demand rather an economist than an educationist as premier.

About him, within the state, Nationalists and Socialists alike have been actually arming, each faction claiming this action necessary for self-protection. Reports have been frequently circulated during the past few months that a "putach" was contemplated for the purpose of restoring the monarchy. The Socialists declared November 11 had been selected as "the day," and urged reinforced watchfulness over the reactionaries after November 5.

The Nationalists, who have come to be known as Bavaria's "Fascisti," assert they have armed themselves merely to defend the sovereignty of the state and to guarantee public order. Of late their activities have become more open and more vigorous, due to encouragement from the success of Fascism in Italy. A comparatively unknown agitator named Hitler has risen as a candidate for the "Mussolini" of the state.

Munich has long been a bee-hive for the monarchial elements of the republic. The notorious Organization Council, which spread its Nationalist tentacles all over Germany, was found to have its headquarters here. It is in the south that the Socialist Government at Berlin sees its greatest danger from domestic quarters, and any coup started here, if only for a Bavarian monarchy, it is feared, might easily prove all the spark that is needed for the reactionary tinder lying about in other parts of the country.

Von Knilling's selection was born of a desire on the part of the politicians in power to present a stiff-necked front to Berlin. This attitude already has found a pointed expression in the state's opposition to the way in which the Federal Government wished to administer the new law for "defence of the republic," which was framed after the assassination last June of Dr. Walter Rathenau, then foreign minister. Bavaria stood out for the right to try her own courts such offenders as were found within her borders, and only receded on the point after the central administration agreed to do nothing impinging upon the state's rights. It remains to be seen to what extent the new premier will carry on the previous policy. In his inaugural address on November 9, the anniversary of the German revolution, he reiterated Bavaria's loyalty to the republic. In the same speech, Dr. von Knilling admitted there was some basis for the fears that the state was threatened with disturbances, but cautioned against believing sensational rumors.

SAYS SHE MARRIED PRINCE OF WALES

Unknown Woman Demands Entrance to Windsor Castle on Grounds That She is Wife of Heir to Throne.

London, Dec. 14.—(By Mail)—An unknown woman, who has been lodging in Windsor for some time, paid a visit to Windsor Castle during the week-end, and announced that she had come to take possession of the apartments set aside for her own and her husband's use.

She possesses a good knowledge regarding the various members of the Royal Family, and is obsessed with the idea that she is a member of the House of Windsor.

When asked who she was she gave the name "Amy Lillian Windsor," but from papers in her possession it is likely her proper name is Amy Lillian Daves.

Asked how long she had been married, the woman replied, "thirteen years." "Do you know the Prince is only twenty-seven or twenty-eight years of age, and that he could only have been about fourteen then?" she was asked. It was then observed that the woman wore no ring, and the question was put to her: "Where is your wedding ring?" She responded, "I lost it, and did not get another." In answer to the question, "Where were you married?" the woman replied, "At St. George's Chapel."

The woman is sharp featured and has gray eyes. While resident in Windsor she has received letters from Birmingham.

COMMENTS ON THE ENCYCICAL

Rome Newspapers Discuss Relations of Vatican and Italy and Proposed Ecumenical Council.

Rome, Dec. 27.—Divergent views of the meaning of important passages in the papal encyclical are expressed by various Rome newspapers in their commentary. Regarding a passage alluding to the relations between the Vatican and Italy, the Tribuna says this shows that, while the Pontiff feels no hostility against the present regime, he thinks the country is not ready for a complete reconciliation.

The Epoca, on the contrary, considers an accord between the pope and the government to be a necessity of the times, without either party being obliged to renounce its own political or spiritual convictions, while the Giornale d'Italia considers the words of the Pope "an invitation towards the conclusion of a definite understanding with Italy, indicating the road to be followed."

The Giornale d'Italia nevertheless thinks the most important passage in the encyclical is the announcement of the possible convocation of an ecumenical council, which Pius IX. and Leo XIII. proclaimed to be impossible, on account of the fact that temporal power was lacking. It recalls that the Vatican ecumenical council of 1870 was suspended in July of that year because of the sudden departure of 150 French and sixty German bishops as a consequence of the Franco-Prussian war.

The resumption of the council now, immediately after another war which so profoundly changed the conditions of these two countries, it adds, might be dangerous to the serenity of the discussions, and this, perhaps, was the thought of the Pope in not taking a definite decision regarding the convocation of the council.

VOYAGE THROUGH SHOWER OF GLASS

London, Dec. 24. — (By mail.) — A small vessel's weird voyage through a shower of volcanic glass has just been reported to "Nature" by Grenville A. J. Cole. The circumstances are worthy of a Jules Verne story, and have been made public through the courtesy of Dr. Russell, director of the Fisheries Laboratory of the Ministry of Fisheries, and J. W. Carruthers. When the steam trawler Prince of Wales was off the west of Yeggs, in the North Atlantic, the captain reported to the mate that land had appeared to the port quarter. A heavy storm soon enveloped the vessel. The storm lasted for the unusually long period of six hours. At the air resembled the appearance of a London fog, while the vessel was covered with a deposit from steam to volcanic glass. The material is a characteristic dark, granular, and distinctly brown, probably andesitic in origin. The meteorological office records show that the position of the fall lay a cyclonic depression, with a wind veering east of south blowing at sixteen miles an hour, says the report. It is thought that some account of the dust may be forthcoming from the stern of the Prince of Wales. It is most probable the source was eruption in Iceland, the dust having in that case traveled 300 miles. France's best cognac comes from the city of Cognac.

PERISHED IN SIERRAS

Young Ranchers Lost in California Mountains.
Henry Smith of Tryon, P. E. I., has received word of the death of his two nephews, Richard Smith, twenty-five, and his brother Arthur, twenty-one, of Round Valley, Onyo C. E., California, sons of L. Y. Smith, both perished in the snows of the Sierra Mountains. They had left home on horseback to close down the gates of Horton Lake, from whence comes the stream which irrigated the Smith ranch. They rode to a steep canyon, left their horses, and proceeded on their way afoot to the lake four miles away. On their return they lost the trail, were out all night, and searching for a way out next day in a five-foot snow drift. Richard was lying rigid in death; Arthur was sitting up and still living. He smiled faintly at his rescuers and said: "Oh you boys have come!" These were his last words; he died next morning.

RICH PEAT FIELDS IN U.S. MAY END FUEL WORRIES

Undeveloped Territory Capable of Yielding 14,000,000,000 Tons of Needed Supply.
New York, Dec. 27.—Cost of high quality oil of such widespread occurrence in this country, and so accessible to the public, that the end of the word "peat" means little in the United States other than memories of its use in Europe. However, according to a bulletin issued by the United States Geological Survey, peat occurs widely in this country and is a valuable commodity. The United States contains 12,000 square miles of unused peat lands, the Survey declares, or an area more than ten times that of Rhode Island; which is capable of yielding 14,000,000,000 tons of fuel at a cost of $1.50 to $6 a ton. These deposits are found on the surface and lie in the New England, Atlantic Coast and Great Lake States, mostly remote from coal mines. A peat deposit of commercial value is found in many parts of the country, and in some of the peat is used for fuel. However, it is pointed out by officials of both the Survey and the Department of Agriculture, the value of peat as a fertilizer is itself is not high, the peat being used as a filler or body for the manufacturer or mixed fertilizer.

COULD NOT GET THROUGH.

Boston Herald.—Considerable additional expense in handling a cargo of 300,000 feet of lumber is entailed in connection with arrival of the three-masted schooner Edward Smith, from St. John, N. B., and destined to the Page Box Company, in Cambridge. The vessel has been of 802 feet while the bridges she must pass in proceeding up the Charles have less than 80 feet. This excess of beam, although it is slight makes it impossible for the vessel to be moved to the discharging berth, as originally intended, and she will be moved to the Grand Junction dock, East Boston, where the lumber is to be loaded on cars and transferred by way of Chelsea, Everett and Somerville.

Appropriate music was rendered by the choir, and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love" was sung. The bride and groom were unattended. The agitation over the purchase by the city of the property of the New Brunswick Power Company for the distribution of the Musquodchuic, current, which Mayor Fisher has proposed to handle through the entry of the Investment Bankers' Association, New York, into the discussion, took another new turn today.

This morning Mayor Fisher, who has exchanged several letters with the city on the subject with the association, received a long letter from Henry K. Hayes, chairman of the association, asking if the Mayor would confer with a representative whom they proposed sending to St. John for the purpose. He said that he had received the letter which had once been returned to the Mayor undelivered. He said that while the interest of the association was impartial in the matter, both parties had sought credit outside of St. John, and therefore he requested that the Mayor, as executive officer of the city, confer preferably on January 9 or 10 with O. B. Wilcox, counsel for the association, and such other representatives as might be determined later. He added that the association was taking an active interest in the proceedings, and he advised him that the representatives of the association would gladly be heard on January 10.

YULETIDE WITH LAST CAR CLUB

The members of the Last Car Club enjoyed their Christmas reunion last evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Caddell, Riverview, Fox Lake. Happy hours were spent at whist and in holiday jollity. After the third game came the event of the evening, the serving of a turkey supper prepared by the skilled hand of the hostess. Twenty-eight gathered about the table, which was artistically decorated with miniature Christmas trees and brilliant with color and light. Mrs. Caddell, who is president of the club, presided, and Mr. McClean, secretary, was in the vice-chair. A pleasing incident of this part of the evening's programme was the presentation of a silver cup to Leslie Caddell, won by him in the round of weekly games just concluded. After dinner, cards were resumed for another round, and winners of attractive prizes were then found to be First, Mrs. McCafferty and Mr. Nickson; second, Mrs. McClean and Mr. Oton; consolation, Mrs. Post and Miss Doris Nickson.

It was a very delightful evening for all with its Old Country Yuletide touch, not forgetting the holly and the mistletoe. With congenial companionship, bright interchange of jokes and quips and the singing of some choruses, the hours passed all too quickly, and when good-byes were said as "last car" line arrived, it was to the regret of all that parting time had come. And as the members of the club, who were on the homeward way, on all sides were re-echoed the sentiment, expressed in song at table that the genial hostess was in truth a "holly good" fellow.

New York, Dec. 27.—Police of Jamaica are trying to find a mysterious man, accused by Johanna Van Guetem, eighteen, of cutting off her two long braids of hair. The girl is the daughter of Albert Van Guetem of Springfield, Queens.

She told the police that while waiting for a Far Rockaway car a man, about fifty, apparently an Italian, seized her and cut her hair with a pair of scissors. THE MATTER OF IMMIGRATION IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Provincial Government Asked by Federal Minister to Assist in a Colonization Scheme—Question Now Being Considered.

The Province of New Brunswick has been requested by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Immigration and Colonization in the Federal Cabinet, to consider a programme of immigration, so Premier Foster announced this morning. The matter is now in the hands of Hon. David W. Messerreau, Provincial Minister of Agriculture.

A selective policy if immigration is suggested, only those that can readily be absorbed being chosen for this country and each province being requested to assist in this connection. The Federal department proposes that the province make an estimate of its requirements; the Dominion Government will then undertake to fill these requirements, and the province will look after the new citizens and see that they are established.

The Dominion expects that the province shall periodically submit a statement of their requirements, with the number and type of immigrants desired, and the country from which the province desires that they should be brought. The provinces are also asked to prepare literature setting forth the attractions of their different regions.

The Premier said that the matter would have the earnest attention of the government.

Trade the Red Sox—Late Sport News.

New York, Dec. 27.—A trade when Norman McMillan, utility third baseman of the New York Yankees, would be sent to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for John Collins, Joe Harris, or Herb Pennock, was considerably better than the subject of a conference yesterday between Edward Barrow, business manager for the Yankees, and Harry Frazee, owner of the Red Sox. It was said they were unable to reach an agreement, but may get together later on the proposition.

S., Dec. 27.—In a game that was replete with excitement and kept the 800 fans keyed up to a high pitch of enthusiasm, the New Glasgow Independents defeated the Sydney pro team in the arena here last night, 8 to 4. It was good hockey, at all times, considerably better than the usual early season variety. The work of MacLeod in the New Glasgow nets was to a large extent responsible for Sydney's low score, as he repeatedly turned aside shots that looked sure.
