TOWN COUNCIL

ROUTINE BUSINESS TRANSACTED—NO ENCOURAGEMENT FOR CIRCUS HERE

A meeting of the town council was held on Thursday evening last in the town clerk's office. His Worship Mayor Andrew in the chair and Councillors Quinn, Harquail and Miller present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Mr. Chas. A. Killam who reported to his seven men in the council and his account for the damages by reason of water backing up into his cellar on Gerrard Street owing to the sewer on that street being two small to carry off the sewerage. Mr. Killam requested an answer to this letter. The communication was referred to the Water and Sewerage Committee.

A communication was also read from Mr. W. J. S. Welsh, an employee of the Water Department, asking that the town council reconsider his application for an increase in his pay. He had asked for 35 cents per hour and that 30 cents per hour had been granted him. This communication was also referred to the Water and Sewerage Committee.

A largely signed petition from the residents of Ward III was read, requesting that a sidewalk be laid on Side Hill Street in that Ward. This petition was referred to the Public Property and Street Committee.

The matter of a reduction in the electric power rate for the McLennan Foundry and Machine Works, also for Mr. D. A. Stewart was taken up. There was very little discussion on this matter, it being referred to the Electric Light Committee to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

N. B. Telephone Co.	$8.15
POLICE AND LICENSE.
N. B. Telephone Co.	$11.25
James Alexander	2.50
PUBLIC PROPERTY AND STREETS
Estas J. F. Andrew	$27.85
L. E. Renault	9.30
James Alexander	6.75

Councillor Harquail then brought up the matter of supplying light for the firemen's carnival, asking His Worship if he knew anything about the outside company who was to put this on and the arrangements being entered into with the firemen. His Worship stated he was not fully conversant with the matter, but he understood it was an outside company who wished to put on this carnival for a week in Campbellton. There were some 100 in the company. He thought there were some three or four tents used by the company in putting on this carnival. Various prices of admission were asked. Some tents calling for 20 cents some 10 cents. He also understood there was a merry-go-round in connection with the affair. The firemen he said were to receive 15 per cent of the gross receipts and were to pay all town expenses. He understood however that the firemen were to receive 50 per cent from the sale of stands upon the grounds for the sale of refreshments, etc. The firemen were to retain one-third of their net receipts, the other two-thirds being devoted to patriotic purposes.

Councillor Harquail felt that such a carnival would take too much money out of our town, and under the conditions existing today was not agreeable to giving it any encouragement, notwithstanding he would like to help the firemen along as well as the patriotic cause. Under the arrangement as outlined he felt there would be little indeed for the firemen and the patriotic cause, the lion's share going to the company.

Councillors Miller and Quinn were of the same opinion as Councillor Harquail.

No action was taken upon the matter, but it is quite evident no encouragement will be given to this carnival.

CONCERT AT INCH ARRAN

BRILLIANT EVENT AT POPULAR SUMMER RESORT—FOR RED CROSS WORK

There was given a closing concert of the 1917 season, at Inch Arran Hotel, on August 8th, which must rank as high class, with no less a professional name than that of Miss Bonnie Boyce (well known in New York operatic circles) to add her talents and her charm to local endeavor. Miss Boyce was a guest at Inch Arran, and gave her services gratuitously on two occasions in aid of Red Cross Work.

The concert was under the distinguished patronage of Lady Foster, wife of a Canadian Minister of the Crown, and Miss King, wife of a distinguished Judge, while surrounding the two ladies was a galaxy of leading citizens from outlying points. A very large number of visitors to Inch Arran, from West Virginia, from British Columbia, from Massachusetts, in short, from everywhere, brought a critical ear to bear on what turned out to be a masterpiece of art. The three performers, Miss Bonnie Boyce, Miss McDonald and Miss Wilkinson, bringing to Dalhousie all that the cosmopolitan cities could offer. Miss Boyce scored a triumph in her "Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix," from the grand opera, Samson and Delilah, given in a most finished manner. Her other selection, lighter in tone, but showing the fullness and richness of her delightful contralto notes, betrayed a training abroad. It also testified to hard study and Canadian pluck, for Bonnie Boyce comes of Canadian stock, and has New Brunswick blood in her veins. At the close of a rousing recital, Miss Boyce was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses, by a little lady, who afterwards proved herself a most successful singer.

Miss Nils McDonald was heard to great advantage in two fine selections, one "The Travelling Man" by Lady Gregory, the other "Kipling's British Soldier," and proved her ambitions to be well founded. Miss McDonald lately graduated from a Nova Scotia college, and will reach the heights yet.

Miss Wilkinson of Quebec, sang in a fine soprano voice "The Angel's Song," and responded to an encore in a pretty Lullaby.

Mr. Richardson played acceptably some concertina selections, and the choir was ably taken by Rev. Mr. Jenner, whose appearance brought great applause. Mrs. Jenner in one of the best workers in Red Cross Work we have. Inch Arran lent its large rooms for a dance after the concert to which a large number came.

The sum of $154 was realized.

GERMAN SUBMARINE ATROCITY THAT RIVALS THE VIOLENT DEEDS OF THE VICIOUS HUN

A British Port, August 3.—"About eight o'clock on Tuesday evening when we were 200 miles off land. I saw the wake of an approaching torpedo. The vessel gave a lurch as she was hit and was thrown to the deck among the debris. The vessel listed heavily and we all took to the boats. The submarine approached and shelled the vessel and then ordered the small boats alongside the submarine. The skipper was summoned and taken inside. The others were mustered on the deck of the submarine.

"The Germans removed the lifebelts and the outer clothing of all except eight of us, smashed the lifeboat with axes and then entered the submarine and closed the hatches, leaving us on deck. The submarine went about two miles and then submerged. I had a lifebelt. Near me was an apprentice boy of 16 shouting for help. I went to him and held him up until midnight, but he became unconscious and died of exposure. At day light I saw the Belgian Prince afloat. I was picked up after eleven hours in the water by a patrol boat. The second engineer who also was a survivor, succeeded in reaching the Belgian Prince before she blew up. The Germans came on board and looked at her, he reported. He was in hiding but finally jumped into the sea and kept afloat on the wreckage. The only other survivor is too ill in a hospital to tell his story."

NEGRO RIOT IN CAMPBELLTON

FIREMEN ON STEAMER IN PORT REFUSE DUTY AND ARE LOCKED UP—ONE HURT

Nine negrofire men on the Steamer "River Orites" which is loading lumber at the Government wharf refused duty Wednesday and took their dunnage ashore.

The Captain swore out warrants for their arrest and at about 8.30 last evening Chief Mann and Officers Adams and Perry proceeded to place the men in the lockup.

While doing their duty the officers were interfered with and the negroes strenuously resisted. One of them endeavored to pull the Chief away from a prisoner, when he (the negro) fell backward down the long basement stairs leading to the police office and was injured. The rest of the men were then placed in cells and the injured man was taken in a carriage to the Hospital. He is quite badly bruised but not seriously injured.

SCHOOL BOOKS NOW ONLY FOR CASH

Fredericton, Aug. 3.—The provincial government has made a change in the school book business recommended by the public accounts committee. The credit system operated by the previous administrations has been abolished and a cash system established. The vendorship system, which never worked satisfactorily, has been done away with.

A discount of fifteen per cent. will be allowed the dealers. The department will prepay freight to the nearest railway station only on orders amounting to $5 or more. Remittances must be made to the superintendent of the department by post office or express order or registered letter. No order less than $5 will be accepted.

So far as the present vendors are concerned, they may retain books now in their possession or may return them to the department and a reasonable sum will be allowed for settlement of accounts.

31 DEATHS FROM MINE EXPLOSION

Clay, Ky., Aug. 6.—The death list from the explosion here Saturday in the south entry of No. 7 mine of the West Kentucky Coal Company, had last night amounted to 31, according to information supplied by the vice-president.

Damage to the fan house by fire which followed the explosion forced the shutting down of the ventilation machinery for repairs yesterday and halted the work of clearing the mine. From 15 to 20 men were still in the work last night. Little hope is entertained that any of them will be found alive.

NO CARNIVAL

The Graphic understands that the proposed carnival to be put on here by outside parties will not now materialize. This week the carnival company are playing Van Burfen. It is the intention of the company not to enter Canada at the present time. It is possible however that in the fall this company may fulfill their engagement in Fredericton and Halifax.

300 HUNS KILLED BY BIG EXPLOSION

London, Aug. 6.—According to reports received from the German frontier by the correspondent at Amsterdam of the Exchange Telegraph Company, the explosion at Henningsdorf was one of the worst catastrophes of its kind that has happened in Germany since the war began. A munition factory was wiped out, 300 people were killed or injured and enormous damage was done. Henningsdorf has been isolated by troops and police.

ANNIVERSARY OF WORLD WAR

MEETING IN ASSEMBLY HALL OF GRAMMAR SCHOOL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in answer to the proclamation made by the Mayor of the Town, a number of the principal citizens met at the Assembly Hall of the Grammar School to observe the anniversary of the beginning of the present war. The meeting of the citizens of Campbellton called by the Mayor was in response to the proclamation made by the Lieutenant Governor of the Province.

The attendance was not large, but representative citizens interested in the condition of affairs met there to signify their great sympathy with the great question of "Win the War."

The Mayor addressed the assemblage at considerable length, explaining the reason for the gathering being held and spoke to the audience along the line of conservation of food. He was followed by Rev. Mr. Barnes and Rev. Father Wallace. Both gentlemen emphasized the need of our earnest co-operation with the authorities with a view of continuing the struggle until peace is assured on a basis of freedom against aggression, and the security of the rights of weak nations.

Rev. Father Wallace particularly spoke of the part the different peoples of different nationalities who had so bravely maintained the struggle, and who because of their efforts were only to be considered as brothers in the great conflict.

Mr. D. Champoux, one of the Town Councillors, spoke briefly of the need of all citizens of the Town and Commonwealth being interested in the perpetuation of the conflict until the ultimate object was secured, and called upon all to stand up and do their part in whatever way they were best fitted for. Before closing, he read the following resolution.

"That on this third anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting of the citizens of Campbellton records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of Liberty and Justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

And moved the adoption of the resolution in an earnest and inspiring address. The motion was seconded by Mr. M. A. Kelly. After singing the National Anthem, the meeting adjourned.

The citizens of Campbellton have been, and are, deeply interested in this great conflict and stand ready, as they have in the past, to sacrifice much that the common good may be attained and that peace (when it does come) may bring with it a cessation and relief from oppression: the oppression of the autocrat; and it is devoutly hoped and earnestly sought for that all the citizens, in the broadest sense, may take the matter home to themselves and earnestly accepted the fact that all must do their share in the winning of the war that effects the whole of civilization; Campbellton has done its part and expects to continue the work until the end.

WHO CAN TELL

How curious may be the result of an apparently minor injury? Many a case of blood-poisoning and even amputation has been the result of a neglected cut or burn. Be on the safe side by keeping a box of Zam-Buk handy for such an emergency. It is the accumulation of germs in a wound that sets up festering. Zam-Buk destroys all germs as soon as applied, and protects the sore place from the germ-laden air. NOTICE TO THE LIVE STOCK BREEDERS OF N. B.

The demand for all classes of pure bred stock is so great that it is doubtful if our local breeders can fill the orders that are pouring in to the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture. Some time ago we forwarded a circular letter to each of the breeders in the Province asking him to report the number of stock he had for sale. The response on the whole was very good, and to those men who forwarded a statement we have been able to direct a number of purchasers to them. However, the demand for stock is greater than the supply and the Department of Agriculture may have to make an importation from one of the other provinces. The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, insists that we ex-

RETURNED VETERANS FORM ASSOCIATION

Meeting Held Here and Decision Made to Form Association

—Another Meeting

Mr. Chas. Robinson of St. John, Secretary of the Returned Soldiers Aid Society was in town Sunday and a meeting of the Restigouche returned veterans was held at the St. Louis Hotel. Lt. O. J. Larzen was chosen chairman and Corp. H. S. Murray, Secretary.

The meeting decided unanimously to organize a branch of the Returned Veterans Association here, and decided to meet again on August 14th when it is hoped for a full attendance of returned soldiers. A committee consisting of J. A. Payne, D. Duguay, A. Letourneau and J. Paradis were appointed to get in touch with all returned soldiers and explain the benefit to be derived from organization.

Mr. Robinson gave an interesting address upon the aims and objects of the association.

The following returned soldiers were present: Lieut. O. J. Larzen, Lieut. D. Blue, Sergt. Major Placemba, Sergt. D. Duguay, Corp. H. S. Murray, F. Vatur, A. Letourneau, J. Harvey, A. Chambers, J. A. Payne, I. A. Willitt, F. Gaff, A. Lechance, M. Wheelhouse, J. Paradis, J. C. Calhoun, J. McNaughton, J. McEneaney, F. W. Harris.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Robinson for his kindness in coming to Campbellton in the interest of the boys.

haust our own local supply before making an importation. This he considers the best way to encourage local breeders.

To those men who have not yet forwarded a statement of their available stock to the Department of Agriculture, we ask you to do so now.

In parenthesis, it might be said that this is not an opportunity to dispose of any cul stock that may have been accumulating. The real purpose is to help the farmers secure genuine breeding stock from New Brunswick breeders. Address all Live Stock communications to Thomas Hetherington, Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, N. B.

Authoress "Discovers" Dalhousie and Praises Its Beauty

Kate Simpson-Hayes Gives Restigouche Report a Glowing Certificate and Backs It Up With Telling Facts.

(By Kate Simpson-Hayes, author of "Relations of the West," "The Legend of the West," etc.)
The thought came quite like an inspiration: "I will go back home!" New York had grown intolerable by reason of the sound of marching feet—by reason of the boom of (practising) guns, and most of all by reason of the heat and noise, and Newport, as Atlantic City, thronged by fashion, while Far Rockaway, and pretty Lake side were overrun by wealthy Jews, and there seemed peace nowhere. Suddenly the thought came I will go back home, and quite like the prodigal visions of "fatted calf" rose up and I "hiked" for the old man and parental forgiveness! Thirty years make quite a gap in one's little life span and it had been thirty years since I had seen New Brunswick's pleasant hills since then I had seen the Seven Hills where sits a dethroned empire! since then I had seen Alpine snows—since then I had viewed lovely Lucerne from far famed Mount Rigi, and from the lava torn heights of old Vesuvius, I had looked upon a Dead City, Irish hills and Scottish lochs and English lakes I had wandered among, at, and from the fortress walls of St. Malo, in sunny France, I had seen silver seas. Where ruin now sits upon pretty Belgium I had made the journey to Antwerp, glimpsing the dykes of Holland, and had heard the resounding rattle of foot-steps on Antwerp's cobble stone streets, sipping the native wines of those small street cafes in Brussels the beautiful I had looked at tropic skies through the famous "wheel" window of the great cathedral at Rheims (now desolated by the fires of war) and pleasant Aix and Lille, where those olive and grape fields between had reproduced again and again Millet's inspiring picture "The Angelus", and I had seen the battlefield of Waterloo! But now, something away down deep in the cells of memory tugged at my heart strings, and there kept up an incessant little singing voice "Home, Sweet Home."

How very small and insignificant the old home hills would seem after the starry heights where history was born and what a dull holiday it would be; but "there being nowhere else to go," I took Vancouver, set at eighteen (and blessed of everything) and we took what is known as "the government railway" to the Atlantic seaboard, by way of Montreal.

Now a "government railway" is something the gods weep over, for it is popularly pronounced "not to pay."

We left the train at Newcastle, where the greatest wireless in America stands. It is a garrisoned station, and the soldiers on guard were sentineling the grounds while soldiers off duty played ball near by. Here is the jumping off place to Chatham—one of the oldest towns extant, and you are ready to believe this when you see Chatham. Chatham is aged and is honorable; it still boasts "The Miramichi Fire," a tragic happening to which I still pinned the oldest inhabitant's proud boast that "It was the day I found my wife! she was floating on a log and I was just going down for the last time, when—but go to Chatham and hear the tale for yourself, and you will find Scottish tales of the border dull, flaccid ever after.

Chatham has everything to make it beautiful, which is the gift of Nature; but somehow Chatham misses application of its opportunities. There is a moss, a grove, old oaks, a lake, a river, a place; tumble down buildings destroy the artistic effect of hand-some homes about which flower gardens flit their colors. A park (like a city-lung) breathes beauty, but its fountain is—dry! something hit Chatham hard once-upon-a-time, but three little fighting newspapers are doing their level best to make the world believe that Chatham is the hub of the (New Brunswick) universe. I met one of the editors, a very gentlemanly, sweetly agreeable elderly gentleman met him at a college closing—and when I addressed him in ordinary vernacular, he silenced me by a quotation from Thucydides. The editorial sanctum was small, but the editorial mind was large, even grandiloquent. While in Chatham I had the luck to attend a girl's college (St. Michael's) closing, and, looking upon the sea of youth about the place, I was struck by two things: one was the up-to-date-ness of the curriculum, the other was the keen interest and friendly camaraderie of the big men of the place, who, regardless of creed differences were there to encourage education and to speak words of advice to the budding citizens of the town. The mayor was there—the editor of the local paper, in educational circles and men high up in judicial circles, and I heard a fine piece of oratory from a gentleman over ninety years of age, who, seated beside a lord bishop, gave great eclat to the proceedings. Hooded nuns, whose wonderful work in education shows already a rich fruition, were there, silent but structural foundation stones in the upbuilding of Chatham's educational future. Wonderful women they are!

Then came a time when Vancouver grew anxious to see more. This is the fault of New Brunswick—you must always see more of it. So we hied away to the north, and found an unsullied Eden in a little spot known on the map as Nash's Creek. Who Nash was or why Nash became a "Creek" is for the historian to state; I am satisfied that Nash was a pioneer and paid the penalty of pioneerhood by remaining a name only. The "Creek" I have never yet seen. At this point Vancouver refused to go further, farm homes glorify Nash's Creek. Farm homes that surround the town.

For here you find gas, water-service, orchard gardens, schools, churches, debating clubs, elections, and here statute labor keeps a highway over which the motor, world run riot. Nearly every farmer in the surrounding district owns a motor, while the barns are full of fine horses, but the modern farmer does business in town and speed calls for a motor. So that as you go along the highway your ear, upon which only the silence of the woods hung, now is jarred by the honking and squeaking of the motor horn. At Jacquet River—an elfin haunt, where you find caves in the rocks along the shore—where the settlement comes down to drink with the river from the river from Jacquet River to Campbellton, it is a network of salmon weirs, and where you see the bobbing lobster-traps—where wild fruits in their ripening seasons fill the air with fragrance—where great-grand sons still dwell in the "first house" in the place—in short where beauty abides; there you find sentimentality, which, in this day of turmoil and war's alarms, seems like a haven of blessed rest. Here the daily newspaper from St. John (just a day old) and "when there's time" you see what's going on "outside." From brave little New Brunswick have gone forth armed sons to fight for the flag you see everywhere. From New Brunswick have gone sons to their first duty who will never come back again, sons whose mothers, kneeling at altar and church rail, offer up their prayers, just as they offered up their prayers, and best, for the dear homeland's freedom; and, at the Sabbath service, you hear the heart-breaking cry: "From pestilence and war, deliver us, O, Lord!"

Vancouver wanted to see Dalhousie. The "government railway" refused to carry us there, but (obligingly) set us down at the threshold of the dour little town, where we were turned out, with bag and baggage, at (Continued on Page 7)

MORE MONEY FOR THE CRAFTERS

How $400 a Month Goes to a Member of a Conservative Patronage Committee

A few days back we published in our columns the story from the Parliamentary Debates of the Carleton County gentleman, who draws down a fat salary annually ($2,000) for signing his pay cheque as a Canadian Immigration agent for New Brunswick. Another would reveal in the following passage from Hansard of July 25th. Mr. CARVELL: Is it under this vote that there is a tug employed in the city of St. John?

Mr. BURRELL: Yes. Mr. CARVELL: Is it under this vote a man named Elkin. Elkin was and I presume is still, of the wrong stripe politically. Of course, he is not. Elkin rent the tug to the department. Elkin, and he was a friend of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries (Mr. Hazen), were here he would be able to tell you exactly who McNeill is. He is a very prominent member of the patronage committee of the Government party in St. John. McNeill pays, $500 a month to Elkin for the tug. He rents it to the minister for $900, and there it goes on, year after year. These things are well known to the people here, and when there will a way of stopping these things, but at least for the present, we would like to know how long it is to continue. The time will soon arrive when it will commence again. It starts in the autumn, and continues during the winter. The tug is not more than $2,000 a year, but it is an absolute patent steel, known to everybody.

Mr. MACDONALD: All over the province. Mr. BURRELL: If I had known this matter was coming up I should have had the information. Mr. BURRELL: The Deputy and Dr. Montisambert looked into the matter, and we came to the conclusion it was a proper and business-like arrangement.

Mr. CARVELL: For McNeill. Mr. BURRELL: No, for the Government. A responsible officer of the Government advised me in the matter. I cannot enter into the discussion, because I do not remember the details. Mr. CARVELL: I know there is a rake-off of $400 a month being made by a member of the Conservative patronage committee in the rent of the tug, and I do not think it is necessary to hire the tug at all, because it is tied up at the wharf for a long time. The minister could hire all that work to be done by other men there for $500 a year. It is simply a straight steal; that it all there is to it.

For here you find gas, water-service, orchard gardens, schools, churches, debating clubs, elections, and here statute labor keeps a highway over which the motor, world run riot. Nearly every farmer in the surrounding district owns a motor, while the barns are full of fine horses, but the modern farmer does business in town and speed calls for a motor. The stumpage in spruce, pine, fir and hemlock saw logs per M. superficial feet will be $4 on all crown lands tributary to the river St. John and to the Bay of Fundy. For the remainder of the province the stumpage will be $8 per M. on this lumber. Where it has been shown to the satisfaction of the minister of lands and mines that the portage haul of camp supplies is forty miles or more, then the stumpage may be reduced, but in no case shall the charge be less than two-thirds of the regular rate.

Permits issued by the authority of the minister of lands and mines to enable licensee to cut under-sized lumber on barren lands or thickets will pay the same rate of stumpage as stated above with the addition of twenty-five cents per M., being the cost of supervision.

All lumber cut under this license shall be scaled or taken account of in the usual or customary mode of scaling and taking account of lumber for stumpage by some person or persons to be appointed by the minister of lands and mines, to be hereinafter termed scalers, who shall return to the minister of lands and mines, the quantity cut under this license. In the event of the licensee or any operator under him claiming that the Government scaler has not reported a correct amount of lumber as cut from crown lands, it shall be incumbent on the licensee or any operator under him to furnish the Minister of Lands and Mines with a sworn statement as to the total quantity of lumber cut and also of the quantity cut from granted lands. Should such licensee or operator, or his or their agents, fail to comply with these conditions on notice in writing signed by the Minister of Lands and Mines or the Deputy Minister of Lands and Mines, and delivered to said licensee or his assignee personally, or mailed to his address, such licensee shall forfeit all right to his license and the berth and limits shall become vacant. No spruce, fir or pine tree shall be cut by any licensee under any license, not even for piling, which will not measure twelve and one-half inches on the stump, and if such shall be cut the lumber may be forfeited or a penalty exacted for such violation at the rate of $7.50 per M. superficial feet.

INTERMENT OF HUN SUBMARINES
Madrid, Aug. 6.—The Epoca, a Government organ, protests against the comments of the pro-German press regarding the interment of the German submarine U-23, which arrived at Corunna seriously damaged and was taken to Ferrol. The Epoca points out that the German government itself has made no protest. Replying to one paper, which contended the interment decree is contrary to The Hague convention, the Epoca recalls that the convention left neutral the

Striking Stories of Nobility Told of the Present War.

Prince Frederick Karl of Prussia, in his last days as a prisoner in a war hospital, said a British chaplain who ministered to him, came into a deep spiritual oneness. The prince thought that God had been with him and was still with him because of the care given by his captors, and he had no regrets. He had done his best, he said, fighting for his country. He wanted to live and when the war was over go back and help to build up his nation again. The following paragraph appeared recently in one of the great British reviews:

"Many touching stories might be told of the sympathy which united the combatants when they find themselves lying side by side, wounded and helpless, in shell holes with corpses, or in the open plain after a sanguinary battle. The ruling spirit which animates the soldiers in the fury of the fight is, as it seems to me, self-preservation. He kills or disables so that he may not be killed or disabled. Each side in its own opinion is waging a purely defensive war. So it is that the feeling of hostility subsides once the sense of danger is removed by the enemy being put out of action, and each side sees in its captives, not devils or barbarians, but fellowmen. Especially among the wounded British and Germans do these sentiments prevail as they lie stricken together on the field of battle. In a dim way they pitifully regard each other as hapless victims caught in the vortex of the greatest of human tragedies, and they sometimes wonder why it was they fought each other at all. They try to help each other, to ease each other's sufferings, to staunch each other's wounds, to give each other comfort in their sore distress."

A letter written by a French garrison officer as he lay wounded and dying was picked up later by a Red Cross worker. This was his story: "There are two other men lying near me, and I do not think there is much hope for them either. One is an officer of a Scotch regiment and the other a private in the ulans. They were struck down after me, and when I came to myself I found them heading over me rendering first aid. The Britisher was pouring water down my throat from his flask, while the German was endeavoring to staunch my wound with an antiseptic preparation served out to them by their medical corps. The Highlander had one of his legs shattered and the German had several pieces of shrapnel driven in his side. In spite of their own sufferings they were trying to help me, and when I was fully conscious again the German looked up a ghastly injection and took his himself. His medical corps had provided him with the injection and the needle, to which with grateful instructions for its use. After the injection, feeling wonderfully at ease, we spoke of the lives we had lived before the war. We all spoke English, and we talked of the women we had left at home. I, German, and the British had been married only a year. I wondered, and I suppose the others did, why we had fought each other at all. I looked at the Highlander, who was falling asleep exhausted, and in spite of his drawn face and mud-stained uniform, he looked the embodiment of freedom. Then I thought of the tri-color of France and all that France had done for liberty. Then I watched the German, who had ceased to speak. He had taken a prayer-book from his knapsack and was trying to read a service for soldiers wounded in battle."

The letter closed with mention of the falling light and the constant roar of guns. A wounded French officer has told of a pathetic incident near where he was lying at the close of a battle. Among his companions in suffering were two who were near to death. One was a German, a private in the ulans, the other a private in the Royal Irish Dragoons. The Irishman, after a painful effort, succeeded in getting from his pocket a rosary of beads with a crucifix attached. Then in a low voice he began the invocation to the Blessed Virgin: "Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus." The German lying near him stirred with the weak movements of a man weak with pain and loss of blood, in a dazed condition, but able to sense what was going on, and he made in his own tongue this response to the invocation: "Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now at the hour of death." The words of the German and the Irishman intermingled thus in address and prayer—the wrapt ejaculations of the Irishman, the deep cultural of the German. They grew weaker and weaker and finally were hushed on earth forever.

Among the last words of Edith Cavell, that morning when she went to her death at the command of the German military officer in Belgium, were: "Standing as I do in view of God and eternity, I realize that patriotism is not enough; I must have no hatred or bitterness toward anyone."

Debris of War.
The debris of war has accumulated to such an extent in France that the Government has decided to begin disposing of it without waiting for the end of hostilities. A commission has been appointed to inventory all the materials and equipment that have been discarded by the army and navy, to classify them and ascertain how they may be sold to the best advantage. The commission is asked also to determine where the second-hand material may be used to best facilitate the economic revival in France after the war.

HOW MRS. BEAN MET THE CRISIS

Carried Safely Through Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nashville, Tenn.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I had a terrible headache as large as a child's head. The doctor said it was three years coming and gave me medicine for it until I was called away from the city for some time. Of course I could not go to him then, so my sister-in-law told me that she thought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure it. It helped both the Change of Life and the tumor and when I got home I did not need the doctor. I took the Pinkham remedies until the tumor was gone, the doctor said, and I have not felt it since. I tell every one how I was cured. If this letter will help others you are welcome to use it." —Mrs. E. H. BEAN, 625 Joseph Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a pure remedy containing the extractive properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, meets the needs of woman's system at this critical period of her life. Try it.

If there is any symptom in your case which puzzles you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

SAVE AND PRODUCE

We have got to save and produce. On every side, from every hand, we hear the same cry of warning. "We have got to save and produce if we are to win the war."

David Lloyd George in a recent statement to the press said that Great Britain and her colonies had over seven million men in the army and navy, more than the total population of the entire Dominion. In addition there are the millions of France, the millions of Italy, the millions of Russia and the millions contributed by the smaller countries, all fighting for us under the banner of the Allies and civilization. The total would not be far short of twice the population of the Dominion of Canada.

The human mind is too small to grasp the enormity of the demands of this huge army in food, clothing, munitions and all the other necessities to maintain a fighting force in the field at the very highest pitch of efficiency. It means an expenditure of scores of millions of dollars every day. And the war has been lasting a great many days.

These men were producers three years ago and now they are only consumers. With twelve million less producers and just as many consumers, as there were before the war, the people at home have got to produce more than ever before. Production has got to be speeded up to an enormous extent and anything that puts the brakes on that speeding motion is traitorous to a degree. We have got to save and produce more than ever before if the Hun is to be thwarted in his deplorable plans.

Save and produce then is the slogan. First, as to saving. He saves most who buys at home. It may look like saying to buy on the attractive offers of a catalogue; but it is a penny wise and pound foolish policy. It means the going out of dollars from your town which you will never see again. You get a second chance at the dollar that you spend at home. Buy at home for it is the greatest saving in the end.

To Second, as to production. Production as you know has got to be increased and increased and increased. It is vital. And as you know production depends on three things land, labor and capital. We have got the land in abundance in New Brunswick. We don't have to worry about that. But we have lost thousands of our best young men who have donned the khaki in freedom's cause and marched away to the tropics.

We all have got to work harder and bend all our energies to increase production. And that brings us to the third factor in production—capital. We must have money, all the money we can lay our hands on. And how are we going to get it?

We have got to learn the lesson that if we send our money away to buy goods we have just that much less at home. We have just that much less for production purposes in our own province. You may say that the money will be used in the other province to which we send our money. Truly, it may be and then it may not be. In any case, we are not doing our duty. Our duty it is to keep our money at home so that we may speed up our factories and take our place in the fight for freedom. Buy at home then. Buy at home so as to keep our money at home that we may use it for speeding up production. Buy from your home town merchants. Your province needs the money.

BARN BURNED BY LIGHTNING.

Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 3.—About five o'clock yesterday afternoon just as John Keating, of Strathadam, with four helpers, had hauled in a load of hay and were resting on the barn floor, lightning struck his barn and set fire to it. The horses were slightly stunned but neither they nor the men were hurt. There was just time to get that load of hay and the stock out of the barn before the building and fifteen tons of hay and some oats were destroyed.

A few days ago the window of Mr. Keating's house was smashed by hailstone.

DISCOURAGING.

An old farmer, driving near a golf course, stopped to watch the game, what? he demanded curiously. Golf, was the reply, want to try your hand Uncle? Don't mind if I do, declared the farmer, climbing down. The players gave him a few points and finally one pointed to a flag on a hill 250 yards away. At the foot of that pole, he said, is a little hole. The object is to put this ball in the hole with the smallest number of strokes. The farmer took the club, stepped for some time and then let go with a mighty swing. It fell short, bounced, rolled and wound up a hand's breadth from the objective—a phenomenal feat that made the experienced players gasp. By George I missed the farmer exclaimed. Every body's Magazine.

TEMIOUS WORK TO LEAVE GERMANY.

Berlin (via London), Aug. 6.—Neutrals desiring to leave Germany are now advised to file their applications at least four weeks in advance, as police permits to leave the country cannot be issued until the military authorities have acted on each individual application. Three thousand such applications from neutrals were recently on file in Berlin alone, and the action on each individual request invariably consumes from three to four weeks.

AUTHORESS "DISCOVERS"

DALHOUSIE AND PRAISES ITS BEAUTY.

what is known as "the junction". I pause here to ask why the railway left Dalhousie in the lurch? Evidently "some one had blundered." But who? Here you have a coast line second to none in the Dominion—a harbor as beautiful of that of Naples itself—deep water where men-of-war ships used to float on the tide—room for dockage as great as that of Liverpool—and a forest as primeval as that of Eden itself, where a magnificent timber, limitless as to wealth and boundaries, lies untouched. All the world is building ships today and yet the forests of New Brunswick are all cut and its waterways reflecting only the skies that are above. Who is to blame for this lack of "commercial spirit"? But, for the damnable deed, in killing the little town upon the Restigouche river, by allowing the railway to give it the go-by, some one should answer to its patient people.

I remember Dalhousie with its heart throbbing a fine commercial town; its row of smart little homes—live little shops—its budding youth—its blossoming womanhood and its splendid manhood, all of which seems to have given to other lands the wealth of intellect it possessed. Within the British house of parliament sits Bonar Law, who refused a premiership of all England! There Hamar Greenwood makes the welkin ring in eloquent harangues—Oxford itself knows Dr. Parkes—and, at the gateway of the great north-west, it took a Dalhousie boy (Dr. Daniel McIntyre) to systematize a school system which today, is quoted as "the best ever".

Retracing to those shores where magic in sunrise and sunset is seen; where there seems everything the gift of nature could bestow; where loveliness unsurpassed is found, it seems to me that a century of wrong lies upon this little town where the blight of mismanagement is stamped. Somebody is to blame and the responsibility of somebody is seen in the very streets of the dear little town. Here is everything to make a big city. Here is a natural watering place, unsurpassed by any. Brightly by the sea which royalty once made famous—Dinag, where dock thousands from all lands—Ostend, queen of bathing beaches; Killybeg, and in story, and song—Lock Lomond, where Burns sang his "Highland Mary"—the Solway of the Firth, where a Scottish queen, dipped her royal toes—and, to come back to our own continent, Atlantic City broad walk—Old Orchard Beach on the Maine coast—not one of these have half the charm or half the gladness of Dalhousie sands. Here vice-royalty comes once a year—comes in viceregal state to take in "the salmon season"; here, in a pocket of the hills, a few nearby cities come to escape the heat—but the big world outside is rushing hither and thither to find the very thing which, like a hidden gem, lies at the door of Canada, and holds in its heart a cure for every ill, including ennui.

Vanessa discovered (you have to hunt for it) a beautiful little many windowed hotel known as Inch Arran, and there upon its wide and sheltering verandas my soul has found not only recreation, but rest. Inch Arran is unique. It's kindly proprietor is your host, your welcome is sincere, it is spontaneous. Your room facing the sea; it reminds you of a Brittany coast, inasmuch as the internal arrangements are for comfort, not show. The bath house is within ten yards of the veranda, and its accommodation is free to guests, its table is laden with garden products. Its afternoon tea is presided over by a smiling goddess whose quick eye seems to sense your every need. Its big and spacious living rooms are replete of kelp and sea-kail from the surf dashing against the beach below; and, when it rains you have within, the dreams of the folk-lore that surrounds you. In this pleasure haunt by the sea. Of the folk-lore there is a wealth of untold treasure. Here the famous Captain Kidd once roamed the coast, and (so our grandfathers say) hid his treasure, which has (several times) been "found". From Inch Arran you may see where "The Flying Dutchman" went down one cold November night with all its crew, and here still is seen (on anniversaries) "the burning ship", which gives again that terrible picture of destruction, and movies pale into insignificance beside that visionary sight.

The register book at Inch Arran is worth reading. Celebrities are beginning to "find Dalhousie". Yesterday a motor labelled "West Virginia" was driven up, and from its interior popped an Americanine. Somehow West Virginia had found out that Dalhousie holds in its heart "the balm of Gilead"; and now we may expect American enterprise to step in and wrest from Canadians what they have always possessed, but never used. We shall hear of Dalhousie as a famous watering place some day; soon, but it will be the Yankees who will shoot its worth. Even so, let it be, for Dalhousie by the sea is long suffering, and it is a wonderland of beauty. Chateaus like in its error, but the prince is coming!
