GOOD DEMAND FOR ELECTRIC POWER

Give Demonstration

Although without immediate prospects for industries to use bellton's present surplus

Since hydro was turned on here on the 9th of January, numerous new electric power connections has been effected and the work is still going on. The new electric lines and power connections for electric light will be completed. These are most in Athol, where first lot of these in that vicinity have been completed. In the latter part of May it is expected that at least fifty houses in Athol will be lighted with hydro.

Local Mills Using Power

Local mills are already using electric power. This is being sold by A. G. Horse Power. This is being sold by the following: Richards Mfg. Co. 50 H

In addition to the demand for h lighting in Athol the same requ ville and residents enroute, many whom are very anxious to have homes and stores lighted by electricity. In addition to the connections mentioned much more wiring has been done and by the time all presented demands for electric current are satisfied, the town's surplus which is approximately 500 H. P. will be substanc-

Demonstration
Other immediate efforts to increase the use of electricity here will be in the form of demonstration of its various uses in the modern household.

March first the advantages of the electric range will be demonstrated here and it is hoped that in view of its convenience and cleanliness many local householders will install an electric range.

Since hydro was turned on last week, it has proven very satisfactory. The light is strong and steady being entirely free of the occasional flicker that is often experienced when the power supply is inadequate.

An examination of the Per Chart at the police house showed power to be remarkably stable despite the fact that Campbell is approximately 100 miles away from the generating base.

It is interesting to note Lower St. Lawrence Power offered to co-operate with authorities in disposing of our power and creating a demand for electric energy. A com-

Two Problems That Should Be Solved By Campbellton Without Further Delay

Decrease In Home Trade and Establishing Of Suitable Industries Here Are Questions That Should Be Faced In 1925--Town Being Bled By Annual Drain Which Threatens Commercial Growth Of Community.

WIFE DANCED TILL SHE WAS BLUE

Oil Promoter Files Affidavit in New York Separation Suit

New York, Jan. 19.—Dancing is such a mania with Mrs. Elizabeth Lenz, of the Hotel Gotham and East Hampton, L. I., that her knees turned red, and after a night devoted to the terepichorean art her flesh turns black and blue, according to an affidavit filed with Justice Wagner by her husband, C. E. V. Lenz, an oil promoter with offices at 1 Madison avenue.

The affidavit was made in answer to Mrs. Lenz' suit for separation. It says that Mrs. Lenz was particularly enthusiastic about dancing with August Rust-Oppenheim at parties given at the East Hampton homes of Mrs. Thomas Symington and Mrs. Ellis Hoffman.

He states that he divorced his first wife at Eldorado, Ark., on Dec. 18th, 1922, at the request of the present Mrs. Lenz, whom he married in Jersey City on Jan. 18th, 1923, and that as the New York courts do not recognize his Arkansas divorce, the present Mrs. Lenz has no standing in court in her separation action. The first Mrs. Lenz is now suing him for divorce here.

The present Mrs. Lenz claimed that the defendant has an income of $50,000 a year, and applied for $12,000 alimony and $4,000 counsel fees pending trial of the suit. Justice Wagner granted her $35 a week alimony and $200 counsel fees.

WHEN WOMEN RULE COUNTRY

English Woman Barrister Says
That Country Will Have
Woman Premier by 1950.

Mrs. Normanston, known as the British "Portia," the first woman barrister admitted to the English bar, had barely set foot on American soil before she predicted that Britain would have a woman Prime Minister before 1950 and the United States would have a woman President before that.

Mrs. Normanston does not prognosticate for the fun of it; she believes what she says. She came here to lecture on the right of woman to stand with man, both in the matter of rights and obligations, not as a matter of law, but as a matter of natural endowment.

She deplores the tendency in Britain at the present time to keep married women out of the business world. "Women are being dismissed from work every day, because they have married," she said. "Women doctors when they marry, are barred from working in maternity hospitals and in child-welfare work. This is indeed illogical. Careers should be open to talent, regardless of sex."

Women jurists, she said, are thought well of in the Old Country. "Even the Recorder of London has praised them for their impartial judgment of the cases before him. The women have no sex bias."

"ROTOR" SHIP MAKES TRIP IN LIGHT WIND AT EIGHT KNOTS AN HOUR

Danzig, Jan. 26.—Plettner's "Rotor" ship Buckau arrived here Sunday from Kiel, having covered the distance in two days. The speed of the vessel averaged eight knots in a very light wind.

The Buckau will leave here at the end of the month with a cargo of lumber for Scotland, this prospective trip being the first attempt to give the sail-less vessel a thorough tryout on the high seas.

To any thoughtful citizen who pauses to take a retrospective glance back over the past few years, that period in the life of Campbellton will be recalled as one of steady progress. And to substantiate this recollection and emphasize it as a reality there is abundant evidence on all sides. The solution of our electric power problem is probably the greatest and crowning success, but it is merely one of a number of local victories.

It is not the purpose of this article, however, to record these various achievements or scatter bouquets to those who have contributed toward this progress. Its mission is vastly different for its purpose is to emphasize the urgent need of renewed effort and greater cooperation if this period of advancement is to be continued and these various improvements utilized in such a way as to further the growth and prosperity of our town.

There is still much work to be done and it is work that Campbellton, as a growing town, cannot, for the sake of progress, afford to overlook.

In spite of the progressive steps already taken, Campbellton is today, confronted with at least two formidable problems which, unless they are solved, and solved satisfactorily and without delay—may, before long, jeopardize that future which we have planned and worked for, and which by merit of our location and facilities, is clearly a most reasonable aspiration.

And these two problems which head the list of all problems confronting our town today are: Building up Home Trade and the Establishing of Year-Round Industries Here.

Must Be Faced
It is possible that many citizens may be inclined to regard the above statements as illusions on the part of the writer and content themselves with the delusion that there is no cause for worry. To those it can merely be said that several local business men have already had occasion to worry over these very questions and that these same business men have emphatically stated that something must be done or disastrous conditions may result.

To those who are closest to the pulse of local business are well aware that these problems are no figment of an inventive imagination but are realities which should be faced and settled in the wisest possible way—not next year or in coming years—but in 1925.

Home Trade.
The question of Home Trade or Buying At Home is always an unpleasant one to tackle. It is also an unpleasant one to read about because the average reader instantly assumes that the writer is boldly attempting to tell him where he should buy. For that reason we will deal with this subject briefly and give only a synopsis of outstanding facts.

In the first place, however, we wish to emphasize the fact that this is not a "Buy At Home" article. We do not desire to address the individual, but rather the citizens of Campbellton as a whole, and to draw attention to this matter as it affects not the merchant alone, but the growth and progress of our town.

Town Being Bled
There is positively no doubt about the seriousness of the decrease in home trade. Every merchant in the town of Campbellton will admit that our town is being bled by the steadily increasing trade with distant mail-order houses. Annually, thousands of dollars, earned here through local industry and local enterprise, and which should be kept as far as possible in this part of the province, are sent away to distant shopping centres. As a result, not only the merchants lose but the whole town suffers in equal measure. Any day of the week one may hear a thousand senseless arguments on this subject but in the last analysis all the different aspects of the problem lead to the same conclusion. Were this money spent in Campbellton, it would only be a matter of a few years until citizens would see the benefits—benefits that would be demonstrated in unmistakable ways and which would eventually mean a substantial return to the average purchaser as well as to the merchant.

An Investment.
Home trade is primarily an investment on the part of the buyer—an investment in his own town and its enterprises. It makes for general prosperity in a community and where general prosperity is enjoyed the average purchaser, as well as the merchant, is correspondingly benefited. It is an investment which eventually pays good dividends and if the people of Campbellton have not enough faith in their own town to invest in it, hesitatingly and stand back of it as a sound and progressive institution, it

SAYS AUTOISTS SHOULD HELP

To Build Roads And Assist In Their Maintenance—Quebec Minister's Opinion

Montreal, Jan. 19.—Motor traffic on public highways should bear part of the burden of building the highways and their upkeep. This opinion was expressed at a meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada last night, by Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads, who frankly discussed the matter of motor truck traffic and the manner in which it affected the railways.

"We have in this province a lot of railways," he said. "They are entitled to at least earn interest on bonds and capitalization. They are paying very heavy taxes, and they have built their own roads on rights of way which they had to purchase, and pay interest on the money borrowed for their construction."

"On the other hand, we find in this province during the past ten years a very expensive road construction program with now some 40,000 miles of roads for a population slightly over 2,000,000. These roads are being extensively used by motor trucks, automobiles and autobuses, which is quite proper."

"The road problem is closely allied to the railway and other economic problems."

The Minister pointed out that he had stopped the building of highways costing $50,000 per mile at this world simply mean bankruptcy, and gravel roads costing $6,000 per mile were now being used. The farmer, he said, was paying for the roads while others were using them without paying for them.

is a waste of time to talk about the future we have hoped to make.

A Civic Problem
Although few people seem to realize it, this matter of Home Trade is a civic problem for it is responsible for a steady drain which is sapping the commercial life of our community. It represents a tremendous leak in our towns gross income; it is draining off the cream of our business interests which should be utilized in further enterprise right here in Campbellton instead of in some other section of country in which we have no interest; it is indirectly helping to keep our taxes up and our salaries down; it is retarding progress in all departments of life, for without our own money to work with we are forced to pass up many opportunities for expansion and development. If anyone can deny the truth of these statements we will cease to talk about the development of home trade. But no one can. It is essentially a civic problem, and it is one of such alarming possibilities that unless a remedy is found, disastrous conditions may result.

Must Co-operate
Before anything can be done, however, to better conditions, our business interests our town representatives and citizens generally must co-operate. The time is past when any one merchant or, indeed, any one factor, such as a weekly newspaper, can hope to stop this drain. The decrease in home trade has reached such alarming proportions that some decisive movement is now necessary but this movement must be started through organized effort and must have the support of every citizen who is concerned over the future growth and development of Campbellton.

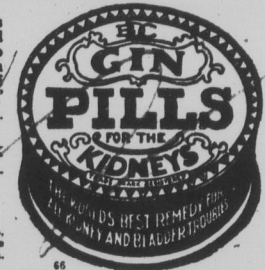

A score of arguments, most of which have already been advanced through the Graphic, might be presented here in support of home-buying, but we will not weary readers with these. We desire rather to urge some action which will evolve a remedy for conditions as they now exist. This problem has now reached the point where every thoughtful citizen should be deeply concerned. Doubtless every taxpayer here, who wants to see greater prosperity brought about and his taxes reduced rather than increased, but unless this tremendous annual drain of our monetary resources is at least cut in two, these hoped for conditions will never materialize and Campbellton with its possibilities of becoming the second city in New Brunswick will be permanently doomed to the comparatively "inferior" confines of "small town" history.

Note: An article dealing with the second problem, "The Establishing of Year-Round Industries Here," will be found on another page of this issue.

BURNS' NIGHT DANCE.
The new Orange Hall here was the scene of a most pleasant affair on Monday night when about sixty couples were guests of the Caladonian society at a Burns' Night dance. With a large crowd present the occasion was a success. The Linnaea orchestra furnished the music and this was a feature of the evening. During intermission, dainty refreshments were served. Following are the names of the chaperons: Mrs. H. A. Carr, Mrs. F. E. Shepherd, Mrs. A. I. Morrison and Mrs. J. D. McNutt.

NEWCASTLE CHURCH ELECTED OFFICERS.
Newcastle, N. B., Jan. 28.—The general annual congregational meeting of the St. James' church was held this week within the church, and reports for the past year were presented. Mr. James Troy was chairman of the meeting and Mr. James Stables acted as secretary. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Messrs. J. M. Troy, G. G. Stothart, A. A. McFavish, James Stables, W. P. Copp, H. B. Cassidy, J. R. Gordon Brander, C. P. Stothart, John Russell, Dr. J. D. MacMillan, Joseph Jardine and David Mutch. Messrs. C. E. Fish and Geo. M. Lake were appointed auditors.

TENDERS FOR HEATING.
The Graphic understands that local firms have not been given an adequate opportunity to figure upon and put in tenders for the heating of the new court house at Dalhousie. We also understand that they have not been supplied with plans and specifications to enable them to make proper estimates. Also we wish to call attention to the fact that tenders were not advertised for this work in the local papers. Ratepayers throughout the county are watching the job closely and are afraid that a building which was estimated to cost about $55,000, will greatly exceed that price. It is known that the Chairman of the Public Lands and Building Committee endeavored quietly to have the Municipal Council at its meeting last week increase the borrowing power given the Municipality at a special session from $55,000 to sixty-five or seventy-five thousand, but found very little encouragement from the Councilors.

THANKS.
I wish to extend my hearty thanks to those who have been kind enough to give me their support in today's election. If this short contest has had the effect of creating an interest in our town affairs, I have attained my object and am satisfied.

AN OPPORTUNITY.
Campbellton citizens should not miss the opportunity of hearing John Patton, M. A. of Manchester, England who will speak to citizens next Monday evening, Feb. 2nd, in the Opera House. Mr. Patton has an international reputation as a speaker, and we are sure he will have a message of interest to the lecture they will be ren-joyed themselves after the game with a nice big dish of hot beans and then a good rest, starting the following morning on the Ocean Limited for Bathurst.

OBITUARY.
Mrs. John MacLellan.

The death occurred on Wednesday morning, January 21st of Margaret MacLellan, widow of the late John MacLellan, of Caplin at the age of 85 years. Mrs. MacLellan was a daughter of the late Duncan MacRae of Hopetown, Quebec. She had been in failing health for some time, yet considering her age was very active until about two months previous to her death she was confined to her bed. She is survived by an only brother, Mr. James MacRae of New Carlisle, also 12 children, four daughters and 8 sons besides a number of grandchildren. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. McKay on Friday, the 23rd, interment being made in New Richmond cemetery. In spite of the inclemency of the weather quite a few followed the remains to the grave where they were laid to rest alongside those of her late husband. No burdens yonder, not a single care, When home is entered, not a load to bear; No burdens yonder, all will be laid down, Before we share His glory and His crown.

WEDDINGS.
McMULLEN-BILLINGSLEY.

A very pretty wedding took place on December 24th at the home of Mrs. McMullen when her son Edward McMullen was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Margaret Billingsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Billingsley of New Carlisle, P. Q. The bride wore a handsome dress of white satin with veil and hat to match. The happy couple left on the Limited enroute to Montreal and Toronto. On their return they will reside in St. John. They have the best wishes of a host of friends for a happy wedded life. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rousseau of town.

IS OPTIMISTIC.
Sir John Aird, President and General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, naturally had to say something about the "onerous taxation" at the annual meeting of the shareholders a few days ago, but he also expressed the opinion that the country is headed toward more prosperous times. "As we look around at the threshold of another year, the prospect is not clearly discernable," he declared, "yet we cannot but have faith in this great country, and in various quarters we can see tokens of a change for the better."

VALUE OF A PAPER
The value of an aggressive weekly newspaper is not always admitted, although it is usually recognized. Lit- tle would be known of many urban centres and rural districts, were it not for these mediums. Through them, home activities are published to the world. Were doubters on this point to see the exchanges that come to the desk of the weekly editors, the fact would be realized that the record of events published for the home folk is not confined to them but is given in part, at least, by reprinting to a much wider constituency. Articles of interest are copied and news of im- portant events goes the round, thereby gaining for the home community pub- licity that could not be secured in any other way. The ground will not ad- mit this, but the same thinking individ- ual will not hesitate to agree. The service given by the weekly press is inestimable.
