Since the days of the harpsichord the piano has stood in innum homes, closed and mute, a witness to the lack of skilled to coax forth its melodies—a treasure chest to a multitude of music lovers. But at last a key to unlock its treasures has been found. -a wondrous plano-player that, with fingers almost human, plays any piano perfectly.

This device, the Chase & Baker
Piano-Player, has a complete mastery over the piano, and plays any composition under the guiding hand of the operator with faultless accuracy. It is, in fact, a skilled musician without a soul, affording to anyone the power to render a plece with the precision of a practiced pianist. And the greater the operator's skill and taste, the more beautiful will be the interpretation. The Chase & Baker Piano-Player Is pre-eminently perfect in con-struction and in operation. It can-not play a false note, it never slurs, but plays always with abso-lute precision and certainty of

BIG ORE DOCK COLLAPSED

Probably 12 Lives Were Lost at Ashland, Wis.

Structure Gave Way During a Fire-Men Thrown Into the Bay.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 24.-The Wisconsin Central Railroad ore dock was destroyed by fire Saturday, the loss involved being about $525,000. In falling the dock carried with it a number of firemen and dockmen, and several lives were lost-just how many probably will not be known for several days. Several badly injured firemen were rescued from the ruins, one of them with both legs broken. The fire caught about 5 o'clock, presumably from a boat unloading lumber across the slip, and before the firemen arrived the entire ore dock, naif a mile long, was in flames. An engine was run on the tramway as near to the fire as possible, and half a hundred cent stock in the Union Stock Yards men began tearing apart the timbers Company, Toronto. Suddenly the dock gave way, falling with a crash and carrying with it 200 fect of the tramways, the engine just barely escaping the fall into the bay. Several hundred people were under the tramway, but most of them escaped with slight injuries. As the broken tramway and the burning dock fell at least a dozen men were seen to go down in the ruins. The wreck fell into 20 feet of water, and it will be impossible to recover the bodies for some time. A large force of men is engaged in an effort to recover the remains of the dead firemen.

When the fire began the upper dock man was cut off from the shore and a lumber boat put off to rescue him. Another man, in running to the shore, fell into an ore pocket and his companions were compelled to leave him to his fate.

The dock was valued at $500,000 and the ore at $25,000. Honduras, since 1900, has had no market for her cattle. In the past she has depended on Guatemala, but financial conditions in that republic have

T. R. directors feel that in view of the apparent need of additional railway facilities, and in order to guarantee to the present Grand Trunk system direct communication with that very important and growing section of Canada, the only wise policy is to take active steps towards an extension in that direction, which will be commenced as soon as the necessary legislation has been obtained from the Government.

RAILWAY ACROSS CANADA

The board of directors has had this project under consideration for some time past, and the company is now pre pared to go right ahead with a railroad extending from North Bay or Gravenhurst, on the present through that portion of Northern Ontario familiarly known as New Ontario, through Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Assiniboia, Alberta, via Peace River, or Pine River Passes, and through British Columbia to either Bute Inlet or Port Simpson, on the Pacific coast, as may be determined later

It is quite likely that an arrangement will be made with the system already constructed for 1,500 miles by Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann. The Hon. Mr. Wells, Commissioner of Works for British Columbia, spent some time here and in Ottawa last winter, with a view and also British Columbia, with its securing a subsidy for the diversion terminus on the Northern Pacific of the road of Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann southwest from the Yellowhead Pass down Bute Inlet to the coast, and thence across the narrows by ferry to Vancouver Island. The Dunsmuir Company has already a railway running north of Nanaimo on the island, and a 50-mile extension would connect with the proposed ferry and make Victoria the real terminus ment and the work of survey will be of the new transcontinental line. Mr. Wells, when he left here, appeared quite confident that a new line would be built, ending at Victoria, and now mated, cover 2,500 to 3,000 miles of it appears that the Grand Trunk Railway is ready to start operations. Like the Grand Trunk Western Rail-$100,000,000. It is expected that the way, extending from Port Huron, on work will be completed within ave the Detroit River, to Chicago, this new line will be constructed under a separate corporate name, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, and will be Toronto Globe. - Another Canadian of the most modern and up-to-date character, having in view especially low grades, long tangents, steel bridges, heavy rails, etc., as well as ample station facilities and equipment for the handling of both freight and passenger ment of Mr. Hays, has made extraorbusiness. The road, in short, will be of dinary strides, and I am authorized to announce one more. No one who has the highest standard in every respect.

STEAMSHIP LINE DOUBLE LIFE FOR GRAND TRUNK

at Old Bailey to the Crime fo Forgery.

London, Nov. 24.-One of the most startling stories of double life revealed for a long time has come out at the Old Bailey. Who among his acquaintances would have dreamed that Prof. John Goodfellow, eminent scientist, analyst and author of standing works, could have been guilty of anything of the sort? At the police court where he pleaded guilty of forging a check for £500 ($2,500) on Messrs. Pink, for whom he did some work as an analyst. it was stated in evidence that he had an income of £1,500 ($7,500) a year at least. While the professor's wife and child were living in a small room at Westham, with hardly anything to eat, he himself was living luxuriously in a bungalow at Thames Ditton, where he had a steam launch on the river and showered money lavishly on friends. It also transpired that, for three years, he had been in the clutches of money lenders. He was sent to penal servitude for three years, a brilliant career thus coming to a sad termination.

The Noted Scientist Pleads Guilty In Connection With the Transcontinental Road-Will Not

Use the Northern Road.

Montreal, Nov. 24. - Mr. Hays was asked: "Is there any intention of using the Canadian Northern?"

No, said Mr. Hays. "We will be entirely dependent of this or any other road. There is lots of room in that Northwest Territory for three, or even more roads.

INQUIRY INTO A PARIS MYSTERY

a Canadian Interest.

Had Been Wife of a British Columbia Man and Was Divorced to Go on the Stage.

WAS KNOWN IN VICTORIA, B. C.

Paris, Nov. 24.-The investigation into the circumstances of Mrs. Gore's death has made no progress during the last forty-eight hours, and will probably remain at a standstill until Tuesday, the day fixed by the investigation magistrate for the examination of witnesses and the formality of the "reconstruction of the scene," which will take place in the room in which the tragedy occurred, and in the presence of Derydzewski. The latter will be closely cross-examined, and it is expected that the scene will be reacted as exactly as possible. M. Bertillon, the expert criminologist, will photograph and make a diagram of the room. He is studying the case with a view to the coming trial, but even though the magistrate may adopt the theory of an accident, it will be necesand he is liable to be mulcted in damages for the benefit of Mrs. Gore's heirs should any put in an appearance.

Meanwhile it is evident that sary to try Derydzewski on the charge efforts are being made to public opinion in favor of Derydzewski. The newspapers, with hardly an exception, the of a pure accident, and view manifest much sympathy for rydzewski. Interviews with his Russian friends are published in which he is spoken of in the highest terms. Thus the councilor of the Russian embassy, who has alone been admitted to see Derydzewski in the infirmary of the prison to which he was transferred on account of a throat trouble, is quoted as saying that Derydzewski is much more afflicted by the frightful death of his friend than what has happened to him. THE FUNERAL. Consul-General Gowdy has received a cable message from Attorney Butler, of Mexico City, regarding the disposition of the body of Mrs. Ellen Gore, whose death by shoot ing occurred on Wednesday. Mr. Butler telegraphed: "Give the most Mr burial to Mrs. Gore." kindly Gowdy has accordingly arranged that the funeral shall take place today (Monday). Many artists will attend. The burial will be in the Cemetery of Boulogne. At Mr. Gowdy's request the morgue authorities stopped the burial in the Potters' Field. CAME FROM CALIFORNIA. Consul-General Gowdy's investigation into the shooting of Mrs. Ellen Gore on Wednesday, the room of Jean Derydzewski, the Russian actor, develops that Mrs. Gore was a pupil of the famous composer Moszkowski. Her maiden name was Sinclair. She was originally from California. where she married Tom Gore, an architect, of British Columbia. The couple moved to Mexico City and became wealthy. For a time Mrs. Gore resided in New York, and obtained a divorce from her husband.

LIVED IN VICTORIA, B. C. Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 24.-Very special interest in the reigning sensation of Paris is felt throughout Western Canada, where Elien Gore, then only budding into womanhood, was some ten years ago or more a leader in both musical and social circles, her husband, Thomas Gore, being noted for his interior exploratory tours into the wilds of the Canadian Northland, and holding the presidency of the Provincial Land Surveyors' Association

It was on a professional visit to Lower California that the young Canadian became acquainted with his future wife, he, too, being a vocalist of considerable ability. An acquaintance fostered by mutual love of music fast ripened into love, and the marriage was solemnized at Los Angeles, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gore returned to

A SOCIAL QUEEN.

There Mrs. Gore reigned undisputqueen of the social and musicworld, until discord was sown in the household by the chance remark of the director of Emma Abbott's company, then touring to the west, that a voice like hers belonged to art and the public, rather than to the family "It was suggested, Mr. Hays, that it circle. Her ambition was fired, termination upon her husband's part not to lose his wife, she finally went to San Francisco, where a divorce was conveniently obtained upon a technical charge of cruelty and non-support. Then the divorcee drifted out of the orbit of her former husband's life, and

Mrs. Gore's Tragic Death Has DEATH OF ETHEL DINGLE

Canadian Nurse Said to Have Had Suicidal Tendencies.

This Is the Line of Student Kent's Defense-Accused Out on Bail.

Rochester, Nov. 22. - Leland D. Kent was arraigned in county court today before Judge Sutherland, on the charge of manslaughter, first degree, in killing Ethel B. Dingle. "How do you plead to this indictment?" the judge asked him. "Not guilty," he replied with spirit and a slight curl of the lip. "I have decided that this is a proper case for admitting the prisoner to bail," said Judge Sutherland. "The bond prepared on Wednesday is satisfactory, and is accepted." The bond on which Kent is at liberty was signed by his father, Edward E. Kent, of Syracuse, an uncle, and William W. Williamson, a friend to the Kent family, living at Palmyra. District Attorney Warren moved for Kent's trial to begin on Dec. 8. Kent's attorney objected, saying that the district attorney had held the case up for a month before the grand jury room 147 at the Whitcomb House on the night of Sept. 13. It is a case with a history and when it comes to trial the people will find out that its ramifications extend far beyond the time and place of the climax.' For the first time the purpose of the defense became apparent. From the words of Kent's attornely it seems that he will try to build up a defense for Kent by attacking the character of Ethel Dingle and endeavoring to show suicidal tendencies of long harboring. "We shall be able to show that this Dingle girl had a history as regards this subject of suicide, and that it was not a new thing for her. Her history will show her suicidal tendencies, and motive for suicide."

Gompers President. New Orleans, Nov. 22 .- Samuel Gompers was re-elected president of American Federation of Labor without opposition today.

Leland Kent Bailed. Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 22. - Leland Dorr Kent, accused of complicity in the death of Ethel Blanche Dingle, the retty Canadian nurse, was released on $5,000 bail today.

Great Downpour in Texas.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 22. - There has been a steady downpour of rain for the past 24 hours over the greater portion of Texas, ranging from one to eighteen inches. Trains are all run-ning behind time. In Eastern Texas Trinity and Sabine Rivers are out of their banks and have done considerable damage.

Train Held Up in Iowa. Davenport, Iowa, Nov. 20. - The westbound St. Joseph and Kansas City express on the Rock Island Road was held up at 11:30 o'clock last night three miles west of this city by masked bandits, who cut off the express and baggage cars, forced the engineer to run two miles up the track, blew up the through express safe with dynamite and escaped with their booty. The amount obtained from the express car is not known, but as this train generally carries a heavy shipment, it is presumed the sum was considerable. Struck a Reef. Manila, Nov. 23 .- The U. S. transport Ingalis, with Gen. Miles and party on board, struck a reef while entering the harbor of Le Gaspi, Luzon, Saturday, but floated at high tide the same day, and will arrive here next Monday. The vessel struck on a coral reef while going at a speed of nine knots.

Letters to the Editor.

STREET TREE CUTTING. To the Editor of The Advertiser: I would like to say a word or two, and ask a question, re the above subject. On Wilson avenue, West London, about ten rods north of Dundas street, there stood an oak, like to which London streets have not another-trunk fully three feet in diameter, branches springing and low down, wide spreading, and the top wide and lofty; tree in its immense girth and beauty. which could not be duplicated in all Western Ontario. In a three years' residence, in that locality, I seldom, if ever, passed it without bestowing upon it a glance of admiration, and there were many with me in that admiration of a tree that must have been of fair proportions, when Governor Simcoe in 1793 camped at "The Forks" on his memorable winter journey to Detroit. I was painfully surprised and equally disgusted, to find, a few days ago, when in your city, that the tree-cutter had got in his deadly work, and that splendid tree was lying in sections and fragments along the side of the street. My question, Mr. Editor, is: whose authority was such wretched vandalism and ruin of beauty, which cannot be repaired, carried out? The one who could be guilty of such has no more sense of the sublimely beautiful in the tree-world than has a bat, and as little of that which is proper, as he who some years ago, by political influence, but without scientific knowledge, found himself appointed as curator of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and in the zeal for his new office, had smashed with sledgehammers, and sold for old bones, many keletons of prehistoric monsters, of priceless value, and all the others given a substantial coat of whitewash. such vandals with axe and sledge-hammers, we pray, "Good Lord, deliver us." Dozens of People in This Country Have Been Cured by the New Constitutional Treatment.

There are a great many people here in Canada who have been permanently cured by this remedy, some of whom had een given up to die by the doctors, and others on whom unsuccessful operations had been performed. This treatment can be taken in the rivacy of your own home, involves no where knife and plaster fail. For full by any means prohibit, and, further, were the liquor act, which is to be voted upon on Dec. 4 next, passed by the people of the Province of Ontario, drinking, as in those counties where the information force. the infamous Scott act was in force, would increase instead of diminish; that the licensed and carefully inspected saloon would be closed, and in its stead there would spring up unlicensed places where illicit selling would flour-ish; that millions of dollars of capital ish; that initions of dollars of capital would be displaced, and a general depression would ensue that would seriously affect almost every line of business in the country. The best temperance centiment of Ontario is in favor of a strictly enforced license law, but there are those emotional and over-zealous individuals who would cancel all licenses for well regulated hotels and shops, and wipe out a respectable and lawful business in which millions of capital is invested.

The proposed liquor act, if passed, would be most pernicious in its effects. What the result would be under it can best be judged by the history it can best be judged by the history of those counties in Ontario which adopted the Scott act, but were sub-sequently compelled to repeal it. If sequently compelled to repeal it. If the Scott act failed utterly to even decrease the consumption of liquor, what earthly chance would there be of putting a stop to drinking in the entire province? Absolutely none. As long as the taste for liquor remains, a mere legal enactment cannot remove t. If a man wants liquor he will get it, despite the law. An army of officials constantly at work could never enforce the provisions of the liquor act. They failed to enforce the Scott act, is it not fair to assume that they also fail in the case of the liquor act?

One of the argument advanced in favor of a prohibitory law is that it lessens crime. Now, let us see if this Take the County of Halton, for instance, under the Scott act, There was a marked increase of crime there, instead of a diminution. Taking the assaults, threatening language, larceny, trespass, drunks and disor-derlies, violations of the liquor law, and miscellaneous offenses, it is seen that there was an average of 156 commitments before the Halton magistrates for the three years before the Scott act, and an average for the last three years of the Scott act of 297. commitments for petty nearly doubled under the act in one county alone, in which it was con-tended that the law was carried out with the greatest severity.

The experience and bad results that followed the passage of the Scott act will be repealed under the liquor act of 1902, if it should, perchance, carry. Then there is the financial aspect of the question to be considered, and from that point of view the outlook is equally as gloomy. First, there is the matter of compensation to be considered. If the act passed, about $75,-000,000 would have to be paid to those whose business would be ruined. Then thousands would be thrown out of employment and the enormous loss in revenue would result in direct taxation.

Perhaps no better idea of the serious effects, from a financial point of view, can be gained than by referring to a speech delivered when the big deputation of liquor men and others waited on the Ontario Government last winter On that occasion the following figures were given, and although they apply to the Dominion, it should be remembered that by far the greater amount of the liquor industry is in Ontario, there being only one other distillery outside of the province:

Invested in distilleries and brewer-Invested in real estate of retailers, In stock and fixtures, $21,000,000.

Total, directly invested in business Paid by distillers and brewers to farmers annually, $2,382,000. Paid annually to the transportation companies, $450,000 Paid in wages, $1,200,000 a year. Other outgoings, $1,012.000. Paid annually by retailers in wages, $10.500.000. Now, the passage of the liquor act would affect this vast amount of capital, and the question is, can the province afford to experiment with a measure of such a revolutionary character? We maintain it cannot. The people are already heavily burdened with taxation, and if the liquor act were enforced, it would mean more taxation. There is no other source from which it can be derived, except direct taxation, and there is not a person who would like to see that method of raising revenue adopted. Morally, prohibitory liquor laws, or partial prohibitory laws, have failed, and, for the present, at any rate, they will continue to do so. Financially, the present measure means ruination thousands engaged in the liquor business. It is bound to prove abortive, so then, experiment with such a costly thing? Yours faithfully,

London, Nov. 24.

PROHIBITION AND TEMPERANCE.

PLAIN FACTS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Just a few words on the all momentous question of probibition and temperance. St. Paul, in speaking to the Galatians, says that temperance is fruit of the spirit. That is, it is entirely a thing within the heart or soul of men, working from within, not from without. In other words, temperance is a principle, which, when established in the heart, guides and controls the Press: appetites, habits and desires of the flesh. Love is one of the great principles of human life, through the workings of which the world has secured the great blessings of broad liberties and the uplifting of the moral condition of men. It has transformed the c Europe America and Australia, has laws. changed our attitude towards the poor, has established national charities and religious peace, and especially has it marvelously improved the status of women and children. By this it will be seen how far reaching are effects of one principle when established in the hearts of men. The principle of Christianity was likened by Christ to a bit of leaven which leavened the whole meal, or a mustard seed which grew to the largest of'

Temperance reform can be accomplished only by development of intellect and moral courage. For years experiences, that prohibition does not there has been so much agitation in regard to the liquor problem in one direction that little attention has been given to temperance in its other and more rational aspects. Herein has been the chief evil of such agitation, that it has not only divided the citizens of the nation so that one party despises the other, but also has been the cause of much neglect in the rational development of the general principles of temperance. This is one of the great "left undones."

Intemperance in liquor drinking has completely overshadowed everything have agitated for that which they cannot get, and could not successfully work if it could be obtained. In other words, they have striven to do by legislation the spiritual work in men's hearts, and have left the noble work of development of the grace of temperance in everything else to grow like the seed in the parable that fell whole subject of this spiritual work of that reign which is a curse to our the nigger has been worked. perance and temperance reform are matters of intellectual training and moral culture, and no good can be done by legislation. The cost of prohibition for a large province like Ontario would be very great, and contario would be very great. tario would be very great, and, con- ner fashion, attended by sneaking, lysidering that drinking would still continue and drag a train of evils in its course, this should lead every elector to think seriously before voting for such a measure.

The revenue of Ontario last year from licenses was $629,238, of which the municipalities received $250.482. There would be a large loss to the Dominion in excise and other duties. An immense amount of money is invested in distilleries, breweries, hotels and kindred institutions, which would be almost ruined were prohibition enacted. Add to this the loss in employment to thousands of people, the decrease in transportation, the loss to financial institutions, must of which would have to be paid for by the public by way of compensation, and the necessity will be evident of making sure that prohibitory legislation is of such benefit as to outweigh all these considerations. As regards liquor drinking, Canada is already one of the most temperate countries in the world. Owing to the strong temperance sentiment, greater prosperity, educational development. the modern requirement of sober men for keen business competition, as well as other causes, drinking has steadily decreased. Can Ontario, therefore, afford a costly experiment with this question, when the efforts of other countries in this line have never been successful? And I think there is no need of changing the present liquor laws, if they are properly enforced. Your very truly, PRO BONO PUBLICO. London, Nov. 23.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION. To the Editor of The Advertiser: The following letter has been addressed to the editor of the Free In looking over your issue of yesterday I noticed "The Referendum Issue," an article in which an attempt is made to cast discredit upon the work performed by temperance reformers, and to show the necessity for the continuance of the present license

To say that the article is one of the very weakest and most illogical productions which has appeared, as an editorial, in a reputable newspaper. for a long time, no one, I think, will dispute.

The article was evidently written by some one whose historical knowledge and general experience are extremely moral principle and material and industrial conditions are such as would suggest that he must have lived several generations ago. Has Rip Van Winkle come back from the musty past to enter a solemn protest against the enlightened views held, cherished and advocated by the most progressive, the most law-abiding and moral part of the community?

That temperance reformers "can be credited with an instinctive aim to do good by setting aside the legalized regulation of the liquor trade" is quite true; but that the "great majority of thinking men are of a different opinion" is not true. How many great statesmen, eminent jurists, military commanders, railway magnates, or in dustrial leaders in any department of business will risk his reputation by else, and so-called temperance workers | advocating the retention of the saloon?

The article in question states that Canadians have a lively recollection of passage of the Scott act. Yes. Canadians have not forgotten what followed the passage of the Scott act, neither have they forgotten the "reign of lawlessness which preceded the passage suffering of any kind, and is effectual on the thorny and stony ground. The of the Scott act, nor the continuation > country today." The statement is made that during ing and false swearing. This is certainly a dreadful indictment of those engaged in the liquor traffic as well as of their friends and supporters.

That such men should be allowed to go on in business which so unfits them for good citizenship and turns them into lawless, sneaking perjurers is enough to arouse the righteous indignation of every true, philanthropic Canadian.

Another statement is that no good whatever came of the Scott act. That is something upon which there may be a great difference of opinion. fact that "it was thrown out at the end of three years by larger majorities than those that had been cast in its favor" does not prove that "the best minds of the communities in which it was tried revolted against the act.' It simply proves that the Government did not properly enforce it, and any act is a failure if not properly enforced.

But perhaps the most remarkable statement of the whole is the following: "The lesson of the Scott act was so impressive that it was thought no further attempt of the kind would be made." I presume this has reference I presume this has reference to the thought of those who favor a license law and not to the thought of temperance reformers. They received check which they very much regretted, but they never dreamed then, neither do they for a moment now entertain any idea of giving up the contest until victory has been achieved and Canada shall be free from the great incubus which has been for so many years weighing so heavily upon Great moral and industrial reforms during all the ages have been as re-lentlessly opposed by "sneaking, lying and false swearing" as they are today. Magna Charta, the basis of all the political civil and religious liberty vas only gained after many defeats, and many times after it was wrested from an unwilling king, it was rend-Britain revolted against it? I hardly think that any intelligent person will make such a claim in view of subsequent results. It certainly proves that the best minds of Great Britain, far from revolting against it, became more and more determined that the nation should be free from the tyranny which they were enduring.

nost philanthropic minds of Canada horrors of dyspepsia. have been disinterestedly working, in the face of many discouragements and to banish from our country that gigantic evil which has wrought so much misery and ruin and which has not one redeeming feature to in any way atone for its existence. Public houses are a necessity, but the bar is not a necessity; and it is a matter of surprise that any intelligent person should make a plea that the bar is an indispensable adjunct to it. Public houses will soon adjust themselves to changed conditions, and the general public will suffer no harm. The distillers, brewers and saloonkeepers may temporarily be inconvenienced, but thousands of families, now living in squalor, ignorance and misery "will be taken from between the upper and the nether millstone,' and set at liberty and made free, respectable, valuable members of so ciety. "I am a farmer and hotelkeeper. My age is 64. Have always enjoyed good health until about four years ago, when I began to be troubled with indigestion. Nothing I could get would give me permanent relief. I went from For many years the wisest, best and bad to worse until I suffered all the night I would lie in bed tossing, rolling, the inside of my stomach seemingly all on fire, gas continually generating and belching the food, fermenting and vomiting it up. My stomach being thus disordered, my blood became very impure, rheumatism took me in my feet, and it was with great difficulty that I could walk. This was the state I was in about one year ago, when a friend recommended me take Celery King. I procured a package, and when I had taken it I found a marked improvement in my case. In fact, it made a new man of me. I would not be without it. The lameness has left my feet, so that I can walk almost as well as ever. My wife is troubled with headache and dizziness at times, the result of constipation, and soon finds relief after taking Celery King. For many years he was barely able to get a living out of the works. In 1826 his son, Alfred, became the owner of the establishment and he, too, endured poverty for years before fered the first stroke of apoplexy. Acfortune smiled upon him.

HIS STARTING BOOM. He was unable to secure satisfactory recognition for his products either at home or abroad until he took his steel and a gun or two to the London exposition in 1851. Before that was over the British were calling him a great steelmaker. He emerged from the competition with the English steelmasters port this suggestion, the physicians in with flying colors, and he found himself talked about as a man whose technical methods were not understood, but whose products were undoubtedly first class.

There are processes in the Krupp manufacture and manipulation of steel that are not known in the trade today, and they are carried on in buildings that no visitor or employe, who does not work in them, is permitted to Friederich Alfred Krupp succeeded to the control of the great Essen works in 1887. Baron Krupp, as he was known, was said to be the wealthiest man in the German Empire. In July of 1901 he declared that his annual income for purposes of taxation was $5,700,000. The Krupp factory at that time employed 80,000 persons, 65,000 of whom were workmen and 15,000 clerks. Agreement Expected To Be Ready for Approval Dec. 3.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 24 .- The anthracite coal strike commission adjourned to meet Dec. 3: and it is the hope and expectation of all parties to the consubmission to and approval by the commissioners. Attorneys on both sides express the opinion that the commissioners will make only one more trip to this city. Before adjourning a sub or conciliation committee was appointed in order that the wishes of the commission may be officially voiced with regard to any matter that might arise in the interval. The commissioners want it understood that they

HAVE THE LAST SAY in the adjustment of the differences; that they will carry the full responsibility for whatever award, if any, they may make, and that whatever is agreed upon must have full approval before the agreement can be put in operation. The committee, which is made up of Commissioners Watkins, Parker and Clark, called into conference as many attorneys representing all the parties before the commission as could be gathered on short notice, and stated to them the attitude of the commission. After the meeting a statement was given out in order that the general public, which the commission regards as seriously interested in the proceedings, might know the position of the German newspaper, which caused the arbitrators regarding the new turn gunmaker great mental distress, was affairs took on Friday. This statement

A WRONG IDEA. "The idea has gone out in some quarters that the matter is to be settled without further effort or responsibility on the part of the commission. This idea is entirely wrong. The commission will, as announced, cheerfully encourage conciliatory spirit and action between the parties to the con-troversy, but the commission has not surrendered, and will not surrender jurisdiction of any of the matters which have been referred to it, nor reached. No adjustment can be made which does not by its terms,

DOESN'T SUIT OPERATORS. The individual operators, between 30 and 40 of whom are represented before the commission, are disposed to object to the way matters have been progressing. They say they would rather have the whole matter threshed out before the commission than have a private settlement of the difficulties. One of them said:

"There is more than a question of wages and hours involved in this fight. We are right and we want to have the opportunity of showing the American people we are right. If an increase in wages and a shorter work day are agreed upon in private the public will have the impression we were wrong.

OPERATORS RETICENT. New York, Nov. 22. - Representa tives of the coal roads in this city were unwilling today to discuss possibilities of a settlement of the anthracite miners' strike by agreement between the operators and the miners. "Until I have the news direct, I cannot discuss the matter," said President Olyphant, of the Delaware and Hudson, when asked if the Scranton report were true.

E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad, was asked whether Wayne MacVeagh re-presented all the operators in the negotiations. Mr. Thomas replied: represents the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Hillside Coal Company." When asked regarding the possibility of a settlement in way suggested, Mr. Thomas said: "It is a bad policy to anticipate." Robert Olyphant, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, said, regarding a rumor that the differences between the Delaware and Hudson and the coal strikers in Pennsylvania had been settled: "Many rumors are current which are very far from being the truth. London, Monday Nov. 24. The Grand Trunk to the Coast. The evidences of Canadian expansion are coming with almost stunning rapidity. The latest is the determination of the Grand Trunk to extend its system to the Pacific coast within five This is the most important development project the country has known since the construction of the C. P. R. The new road will be known as the Grand Trunk Pacific. It will begin at North Bay or Gravenhurst and will traverse New Ontario, Manitoba. Saskatchewan Alberta and British Columbia, having its western terminus at Bute Inlet, or Port Simpson, on the Pacific coast. Port Simpson is 375 miles north of the international boundary. From this the public will have some idea of the route the new line will take. It is said an arrangement will be made with the system already constructed for 1,500 miles by Mackenzie & Mann. Application Yor the necessary legislation will be made at the ensuing session of Parliament. It is not known yet what subsidy the Grand Trunk will ask. The terms granted the C. P. R. are, of course, not to be thought of, as the conditions are entirely changed. The C. P. R. received for the construction of its main tine $25,000,000 in cash and a section of completed road upon which the Government had expended $37,000,000. In addition the company received 25,000,000 acres of land, now rapidly increasing in value. The Northwest was then almost a terra incognita; the railway was preceding settlement, and it was regarded as a hazardous experiment. No such extravagant bargain would have been assented to by the country could the results have been clearly foreseen. The C. P. R. was built as a political necessity-it was the condition upon which British Columbia entered confederation. For that purpose and for the purpose of developing the country, the Czar-he rules a billion men; the rubble was content to make a sacrifice to build the road. It was a public enterprise in private hands. The Grand Trunk enters as a purely private enterprise, not so much to create development, as to profit by that which is already taking place. Ten years ago a second transcontinental line was hardly dreamed of. Even five years

The indications are that the tide of immigration has only begun to rise, and 1t may not be surprising to find in another five years three or four railway systems traversing the Canadian Northwest from the Rockies to the great lakes. The Grand Trunk Railway Company has decided not to be forestalled by rival systems, but to lose no time in placing itself in a position to share in the wonderful progress of the West. The Canadian

Toronto clergymen have been disenssing methods of bringing the churches closer to the poor. Rev. Dr. Milligan thinks a special effort should be made to get the poor into the dore, "don't you announce the weight?" churches and correct the impression prevailing so largely among them that they are not welcomed by the welldressed and well-to-do people who make up the bulk of the church-going population in the cities. Is the impression entirely erroneous? A critic of the church might point to the following advertisement, which appeared in Saturday's Toronto Globe under the heading, "Female Help Wanted": WANTED-EXPERIENCED CON-

TRALTO soloist for fashionable city church. Apply Box 179, Globe. This will probably bring a flood of applications: the average soloist prefers a stylish audience, and the "ad." was no doubt framed with that idea. Apart from that, there is the fact that a congregation publicly proclaims itself as fashionable. Why not? Everyone knows that in the larger cities distinct social grades among the churches; but it humanity which does them all honor, most liberal in this respect. It usually has a poor fund and an active Dorcas society. Its rector or curate or pastor is often an indefatigable visitor among the poor. The fashionable church is par excellence the patron of the poor, and only asks in return that they shall keep their place. There are others who like Dr. Milligan, may think that patronizing the poor is not the best way Interesting Event Celebrated to inspire them with a sense of Christian brotherhood: that they should be met on terms of equality and made to feel at home in even the so-called fashionable churches. This is a problem for the church: the Salvation Arm, has solved it.

[New York World.] Stirred by the hope that has come into their lives by the approaching visit of the great Vienna surgeon, an army of helpless little ones are seek-ing the medical certificates which will give them a chance to be treated by Dr. Adolf Lorenz.

The scene at the Cornell University Medical School when fathers and mothers struggled to have the claims of their children considered, was one of the pathetic sights which only a great city can present. It is estimated that there are 50,000 of these helpless, suffering children, of whom 30,000 live in Manhattan Borough. Only a comparatively small number of these are afflicted with congenital dislocation of the hip joint, the cure of which by bloodless surgery has made the Vienna specialist famous on two continents. And of those thus afflicted, naturally it will not be possible for the visiting surgeon to operate upon all. With the courtesy that distinguishes the medical profession and with a would be unjust to the fashionable the doctors are examining all cases presented, and will thus be able to save Dr. Lorenz much time and unwith neglecting the poor. sketch of the distinguished pair, says: "Many and hearty congratulations will be extended to the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen today-the 25th anniversary of their wedding-for both have found a warm place in the hearts of many people. They are favorites in London and with persons devoted to philanthropic and charitable institutions and to social improvement and religious work in the great metropolis; and pleasant and kindly memories of them dwell in Edinburgh, in Ireland and in Canada, where official life has now and again necessitated their residence. The earl and countess, in fact, have made a distinct place for themselves, and had come in contact with so many classes of people-with so many agencies for ameliorating the human lot—that congratulations on the attainment of their 'silver wedding' will be exceedingly numerous and exceptionally cordial; and these congratulations will doubtless be accompanied by the best wishes for the future of the noble pair."

The Aberdeen Journal of the following day, Nov. 8, says:
"The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, put in extra time praying to be led who, with Lady Marjorie Gordon are now at Tarland Lodge were yesterday morning the recipients of most gratifying presentations on the occasion of their silver wedding. The first was from the members of their household at Haddo House, and also at Tarland. The gifts consisted of a beautifully carved antique silver figure forming a seal, for Lady Aberdeen, and a very handsome silver-fitted tea basket for Lord Aberdeen.

"Mr. Germain, house steward, who acted as spokesman for the donors, said a few appropriate words, alluding to the strength (for work) symbolized by the silver figure in armor and remarking, in reference to the tea-basket, that the makers estimated that it would last for 25 years, so that at the end of that time the household would hope to offer another with gilt fittings. "Lord Aberdeen, who, with Lady Aberdeen, was evidently much impressed and touched by this unex- 997. James F. "Soon afterwards Lord and Lady Aberdeen received a very large and handsome silver bowl, the gift of the whole staff of employes, etc., on the Haddo House estate. "Lord and Lady Aberdeen sent the following telegram to the factor, Mr.

The splendid gift of the employes has been safely received. We are deeply grateful, and shall never cease to value this handsome and lasting token from such good friends who

WIRELESS WAVES ON CARS

Communication Between a Railroad Station and Traveling Train.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 24.-Another wonder has been wrought by wireless telegraphy. For the first time prolonged communication has been successfully established between a railroad station and a train speeding at the rate of a mile a minute.

The Grand Trunk Railway has announced the result of its experiments with the wireless system. St. Dominique, between Toronto and Montreal, was the station selected for the tests, and the results obtained lead the men who conducted the experiments to say that a new tion, two large metal plate vibrators, 10 by 12 feet, were connected with an induction coil of the usual pattern. On the train the waves connected to a coherer of nickel and silver powder.

The relay operated electric bells in three cars. The collecting wires were run through the guides for the train signal cord, and extended on both sides of the coherer for about one car length. The apparatus was not designed to obtain the maximum effect, but only to demonstrate the practicability of giving orders from stations while the trains are flying past. The test showed that it is at least possible to communicate with a moving Russian Paper Says the British Have Abused It.

St. Petersburg Government Neglected a Rare Chance.

London, Nov. 24 .- It is the popular impression in England that Russia, of all countries, has profited tremendously, esecially in the far east, in the last thre Antwerp, Nov. 22.—Petroleum, 19 france years by reason of the British embroglio in South Africa. Now the chief journal of St. Petersburg, the Novoe Vremya, comes forward with a long lamentation over the failure of Russia to seize this unexampled opportunity. The British policy, according to the idea of the Russian imperialistic party, has more than held its own all along the Asiatic fron-tier. The Anglo-Japanese treaty has left Great Britain with complete financial control of Corea, while Japanese influ-ence at Seoul is all-powerful. This is the case in spite of the fact that Russia, as the article rather asserts, is the only power whose territory matches with that of the Emperor of Corea. of the Emperor of Corea.

Not only, says the paper, has Russia failed to make use of the splendid opportunity for advancing a step toward India, but Great Britain has actually been allowed to move toward Seistan, in Afghanistan, with the result of throwing a great barrier in the way of Russia's a great barrier in the way of Russia's descent from Central Asla to the sea. Even an attempt to open negotiations of a commercial nature with Afghanistan has proved abortive, thanks to the hostility of the British Government; and, finally, says the Nova Vrenue of the finally, says the Nova Vremya, on the Bosphorus, Great Britain has shamefully repaid the friendship of Russia at a critirepaid the friendship of Russia at a critical moment by leaving Germany a free hand in the matter of the Bagdad Railway. In a word, it comes to this: While Germany made a definite bargain for the price of her neutrality, gained thereby Samoa and Bagdad, Russia, who was in a position to do greater harm to Great Britain, has befriended her in the most quixotic way, only to have her kindness repaid by open hostility. Started in Dwyer's Evaporator-Three Buildings Burned-Loss, $3,000.

Strathroy, Nov. 23 .- About 1:45 this ternoon the fire alarm was sounded, having started in Mr. Frank O. yer's evaporator on Adelaide street Within an hour the three frame buildings were leveled to the ground, and about $2,000 worth of property lost. The blaze started from one of the furnaces on the southwest corner, and a strong northwest wind sent the flames over all the buildings in the shortest order.
About Oct. 1 last a fire destroyed two of the buildings, but in a short time thereafter they were re-built. These were insured at that time, but on this occasion no in-surance existed, so that Mr. O'Dwyer is heavy loser. A watchman was constantly kept on the premises, but he says the fire took such a hold almost at once, he was unable to do anything but give the alarm. The firemen were on hand in good time, but were unable to do anything further than to save the adjoining property.

Mr. George Moore's residence was camaged slightly, but the firemen kept the loss down here to the minimum fig-

GREAT DEPOSITS OF ORE

Sault Ste. Mr. Drew confirmed the make the country one of untold wealth been making a thorough exploitation of the property all summer. Little has been said of it publicly, partly because it is yet almost impossible to tell to what extent the ore deposits may be found, and partly because those who Ottawa, outside parties interested. But the ore is there, and when the work of dewith, the people of Canada will be astonished at its magnitude.

Experts in iron mining in Michigan have looked over the property and are of the same opinion as those who are interested. In fact, men who have spent a lifetime in iron mining are thoroughly of the opinion that this will develop into one of the biggest things in Canada. Several thousand dollars have already been expended there, and men who have interested themselves in property have millions behind them. The ore is found about 40 miles north of Sudbury, north of the great Nickel range, which has made that district

Fifty Thousand Americans May Go During 1903.

Canadian Imports From the United States Grow Rapidly.

Detroit, Nov. 24.-The Detroit Free Press says: L. O. Armstrong, colonization agent of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, was in Detroit yesterday on his way to the Canadian Northwest, where 30,000 American farmers have settled during the past year.

"People seem to be astonished," he said, "that so many Americans are going to Canada, but it is a fact, and next year we are making preparations to take over fully 50,000. Most of the farmers who have made the change come from Kansas and Nebraska, and other western states, though there are a few from Indiana and Ohio. They sell their land in this country for an average price of $40 an acre, and get 160 acres of land just as good, or better, for practically noth-

The winters are severe, about like Montana, but with less vind, and the facilities for grazing cattle cannot be excelled. I farmed in that country for six years, and have been working on the colonization plan for the last twelve years. We did not do much the first three years, but since then the growth has been steady, and during the past year our transportation facilities have been taxed to the limit. We have excellent schools, and the five provinces have a population of 400,000. Politics cut little figure, and the people are improving right along."

DUST CAUSES UNHAPPINESS IN MANY NORTH END HOMES

Housewives Cannot Hang Washing Out to Dry.

Happiness has departed from the once joyous homes roundabout the corner of Talbot and Oxford streets, and deep woe is depicted on the countenances of the residents of that neighborhood. The cause of this desolation is the working of some apparatus which has been located there by the company that is putting down the tar macadam pavement on Talbot street. The people use rather rough language when speaking of it, calling it an infernal machine, and in the twilight the children stand around it and sing "We Were Happy Till We Met You." The trouble is that while the object of this wrath is operating, great clouds of dust arise from it, which dirties the exteriors of the houses and the interiors as well. One gentleman, who lives up there has said without the least sign of a blush that there hasn't been a wash-day at the homes of any of his neighbors for three weeks, and the prudent housewives don't want to send their washing out, because the wash-ladies charge so much now to take it home. Another man tells pitifully of trying to slip into the house quietly late one night, and being slapped in the face by a wet sheet which

DEATH OF CLARKE GAMBLE

Was Well-Known Here, Where He Resided for Five Years.

Many Londoners will hear with regret of the death of Clarke Gamble, K.C., one of the best known and oldest barristers in Ontario. The death occurred on Sunday morning at the home of his son-in-law, I. F. Hell-muth, K. C., Deer Park, Toronto. He had been ill only a week. Mr. Gamble was born in Kingston in 1808, and came to Toronto at an early age, when there were only one or two brick houses in the city. He was educated at Bishop Strachan School and after being called to the bar entered the law office of the late Judge James C. McCauley. Subsequently he was admitted into partnership with the late William Boulton of the Grange and the late Hon. John Beverley Robinson. He retired from active practice in 1895, but for several years before that was in partnership with his son, H. C. Gamble, who is still practicing in Toronto. For five years after retiring to private life, Mr. Gamble lived at the home of Mr. I. F. Hellmuth, in this city, going to Toronto when his son-in-law moved to that city. He was the last surviving members of a family of 13 children. For 23 years he was a churchwarden of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto. Mr. Gamble is survived by three daughters, Miss Sarah Gamble and Mrs. Hellmuth, Toronto; Mrs. Bowker, of England, and four sons, Clarke and Gordon of British Columbia, and H. C. Gamble, barrister, and Alleyne Gamble, both of Toronto. The funeral will take place at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow from St. James

LOCAL RIDER CENSURED

Horsemanship.

The New York Sunday Telegraph has the following to say of an occurrence at the horse show in that city: "The entries of horses suitable for cavalry were disappointing. They were few in number, and Miss F. E. Webb's El Queso, splendidly caparisoned, had an easy walkover, ably ridden by Mr. Stilwell. Second prize went to Adam Beck's Antelope, whose rider gave a nasty exhibition of temper by striking the animal over the head and in the eye with his whip after he had lost. The committee should make an example of such brutal horsemanship by barring such riders from the ring. Third prize went to J. J. Scannell's Saratoga. Highly commended, Adam Beck's Irish Bob."

No Definite Action Taken Regarding Proposed Private Settlement.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 24. - No definite action was taken today regarding the proposed private settlement of the differences between the mine workers and the employers. All the attorneys for the coal companies have gone to their respective homes to consult the officials of the concerns they represent. No conferences will be held until they return clothed with power to negotiate a settlement.

CHAPTER XV.

Kenneth was deeply touched by this evidence of the young girl's gratitude to and her regard for him, and an answering thrill of tenderness and affection swelled up in his own heart for her. He was greatly disappointed that she had left the country—or was about to leave it—for her note had been dated the day before, and it said "tomorrow." He looked at his new gift to ascertain He looked at his new gift to ascertain

It told him that it was nearly twelve o'clock, and he knew that at least two steamers for Europe were about starting from their piers, and doubtless she was of them.

He would not have had time to reach her and thank her for the delicate act of kindness, even if he had known the

He sighed heavily and felt greatly depressed; it seemed as if his was was hopelessly hedged in.
But that afternoon he left the office earlier than usual, and bent his steps - avenue to ascertain if Miss Kavanagh had remained in the ountry.

He found the residence dismantled and empty, while there were placards in the windows announcing that the place was for sale, and to whom to apply for information. Kenneth went directly to the formation. Kenneth went directly to the broker's office, determined to follow the matter up, now that he had undertaken it, and there he learned that Miss Kavanagh had been a resident of England for a number of years, although previous to that she had lived in New York. She had returned to America early in he spring of that year to dispose of some property that until now had been rented; she had spent the intervening months in travel and sight-seeing with her niece, and had now returned to England to reside permanently. Kenneth felt almost discouraged upon learning this, for now it seemed almost impossible that he could ever learn anything more about himself, and yet he was impressed that Katherine Kavanagh was in some way connected with his past, or at least that she knew something of his birth and early history.

"If I had the means I would follow her England, or even to the ends of the earth, if it was necessary, and compel her to divulge what she knows," he told himself, as he wended his way dejectedly towards his boarding-place. "I ought to have sought her immediately after re-ceiving her note and demanded an exeeting me that day on board the ferry oat, and also of the fact of the similarity in the writing of those two communications. Now I doubt if I could find her even if I should go to England, for the broker did not know her address, as settled everything before leaving the Tears of disapointment and regret actually arose to his eyes as he thought of those two who were being borne on the wings of the wind and by the power of steam across the broad Atlantic. A strange yearning for that sweet girl whom he had saved came over him, and he rebelled almost angrily against the thought that they might never meet from that time the precious gift which she had sent him was treasured as the dearest thing in his possession. He wore it constantly, and although he never made any parade of it he was very proud of it, and regarded it almost superproud of it, and regarded it almost superstitiously as some sacred talisman which might bring him some good in the future.

He never had a suspicion, however, that it might be the instrument of some overwhelming calamity to him; but such was the case, nevertheless.
In the same office with him there was a young man about his own age.
He was the only son and heir of a wealthy gentleman who was an intimate

These feelings had betrayed themselves in connection with Kenneth ever since Reynolds entered the publishing house, while a mean spirit of jealousy had been manifested because of Kenneth's superior erary attainments and position in the his young man was an intimate friend This young man was an intimate friend of Laurence Fane, a promising fellow, of whom we have spoken before as an admirer of Alice Sherman; though what the two could find in common was a matter of wonder to all who knew them, for Laurence Fane was the type of all that was generous, manly and noble, while Egbert Reynolds was known to be rather ast, and was sometimes concerned in matters of a rather questionable nature. As has been stated, Kenneth had been with Mr. Stark ever since he was twelve ears of age. He had always conductel mself in such an honorable, straightforward way, and shown so much in-terest and diligence in the business, that he had become a great favorite with that gentleman, who had steadily promoted him and done everything that he could to advance his interests, and now it had even been hinted to him that he might hope to become junior partner in the great publishing house at the beginning of the new year.

Already his name, as a reporter and talented letter writer, were beginning to the new year.

Reynolds' keen eyes espied it instantly, and he regarded the costly affair in amazement, for he knew that Kenneth had hitherto carried a very cheap silver watch, and could ill afford, with his moderate salary, to purchase one so expensive, while, too, he saw that his chain was in keeping with the watch. He knew, too, that he had no friends or relatives who would be likely to give him so valuable a present, and his curiosity was at once piqued to ascerain how he came by it.

"It is a quarter past eleven," Kenneth at last replied, opening the case and glancing at the time.
"Um—got a new watch, haven't you?" questioned him companion.
"Yes," Kenneth returned, with a preoccupied air, as he replaced it in his nolds, reaching out to take it.

"Excuse me." Kenneth responded, feel-"Excuse me." Kenneth responded, feeling just a trifle irritated at being interrupted, "I am very busy with this article; it must be in the printer's hands within an hour. Some other time," and he went steadily on with his work, his pen literally flying over the pages as he

Egbert Reynolds frowned darkly because his request was disregarded, and he bent a suspicious look upon Kenneth. All at once he gave a slight start, sat in thoughtful silence for a few moments, then, giving vent to a prolonged whistle, he arose and abruptly left the room.

Last Saturday's game between 'Varsity and the Argonauts was a spectacular exhibition, replete with brillfant runs, fine tackles and long punting, and it was the best advertisement that the Burnside rules could have received.

At an assemblage of road drivers the other day, Mr. Ed A. There is Metropolitan A. C. show of that evenof the boxing game in Detroit, the ing being the first entertainment of any pretensions, barring those held by the D. A. C., since early spring. Thirty rounds of fistic sport is announced each of the matches being for the full distance of local contests, ten rounds. According to the promoters the outlook is exceedingly bright, based on interest shown and the early advance sale. While the night before or the night of a holiday is not always a good date for a boxing show, it is a happy choice. The big football game at Ann Arbor will draw a large number of rooters from Chicago and the northern region. Many of these will arrive on Wednesday, and will spend the night in Detroit in preference to taking chances on the more limited hotel accommodations of the college town. To these holiday-makers a boxing show will appeal with especial force. The promoters have endeavored to cater to this element by pitting Chicago boxers against Michigan boys in two of the contests. Invitations will be issued to the management of the two elevens, and in the event of acceptance, boxes will be set aside and will be appropriately lraped with the college colors. The Metropolitan band has been engaged to further add to the festal nature of the opening. The full card follows: Johnnie Ruse, of Chicago, vs. Johnnie Beaubien, of Detroit, ten rounds, 105 pounds. GAME AT GALT UNFINISHED. Galt, Nov. 22.—The Rugby football match played here this afternoon was on account of darkness 10 minutes before time, the score standing 15 to 13 in favor of Hamilton. TOUCHDOWNS.

The University of Toronto Rugby football team held a meeting on Saturday afternoon to elect a captain for the coming year, when the star center half-back, Harold Beatty, was chosen captain for the years 1903-1904. Imperial beat Montreal in the friendly game of Rugby on Varsity campus Saturday afternoon. Several accidents occurred to men on the loser's side. Macbeth receiving a broken nose, Oliver broken rib, and De la Mere a crushed shoulder. Imperial was ahead at half time, 2 to 0, and at the finish

There is little likelihood of the Intercollegiate Rugby Union reconsidering its decision regarding the Burnside rules. The matter may be brought up again next year. Queens are de-termined not to support any change in the present playing rules, and this will be their decision in spite of the fact that they send representatives to view tomorrow's match in Toronto. At a meeting of the Toronto Intermediate League the protest of the Scots against All Saints was postponed till Monday in order to allow the teams to procure further evidence. Mr. H. H. Evans was appointed referee for the Toronto-Gore Vale game on the Toronto Railway grounds.

Frank Reisling, the new manager of the Toledo Club, was expelled from the Connecticut League at its meeting recently. He was accused of attempting to induce players to jump the Connecticut League and join the American Association. This action will bar him from playing with any league governed by the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs. Subsequently the league ratified the board's action and expelled Reisling by unanimous vote.

HOCKEY.

WATFORD ORGANIZED. At the annual meeting of the Wat ford Hockey Club on Saturday night the question of joining the O. H. A. was discussed. The sentiment of the meeting was not favorable to joining the association unless more satisfactory arrangements can be made than prevailed last season. OIL ADVANCES IN PRICE

Postlude-March

Retails in London at 20 Cents Per Gallon.

The price of oil in London has taken were preached at the Dundas Center per gallon, now retails at 20 cents. It Methodist Church yesterday by Rev. is understood that the reason for this is the great increase in the quantity of oil being used. The scarcity of other fuel has produced an immense demand for oil stoves, more in the larger cities than in smaller places, and dealers say that especially while the present rather mild weather continues the consumption of oil will remain of unusual proportions. The refiners met some time ago and came to an agreement fixing higher prices, which have been going into effect during the past week. The price of crude oil is now at top notch.

WHO STOLE THE COAT?

Allen, Charged With the Offense, Says Dublesais Did It.

Thomas Alien, charged with being drunk and stealing an overcoat, pleaded not guilty to the second charge at police court this morning. He alleged that his companion, Edward Dublesais, took the coat from underneath an old man's head at the Grand Trunk station. He said that he had nothing whatever to do with the stealing of the coat. Dublesais entered no plea. The case was adjourned until Friday, when witnesses will be heard.

Jacob Obernesser and son Walter anpeared to answer a charge of being disorderly at the O'Neil House on Saturday night. It is said that they set upon two bartenders at the hotel and a fight ensued. P. C. McDonald placed two under arrest, but they were immediately bailed. Their case was adjourned until Wednesday.

The last but one of the Sunday night temperance mass meetings being held campaign was held last night at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, after | soul!" an attentive audience. The chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Johnston, pastor of St. Andrew's, and seated with him on the platform were Rev. George J. Church, and Evangelist Walter Rus-

The service was opened by the hearty singing of "Work for the Night Is Coming," by the choir and the congregation. This was followed by a snort an earnest prayer delivered by Rev. Waiter Russell, who besought divine aid in the struggle which the temperance people are waging against the followed by a selection by the St. An-draw's Male Quartet.

In introducing Rev. Mr. Bishop, the speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. Johnston referred to the apathy which ha feared existed among many who should be actively engaged in the campaign. If the temperance cause be defeated, it will not be by the power of the liquor traffic, but by the indifference of good people. He urged upon all friends of the cause to keep in view the one paramount question, "Shall the barroom and liquor shop disappear?" and not allow it to be overshadowed by shallow arguments about the loss of personal property and the failure or unpracticability of prohibition.

Rev. Mr. Bishop, in opening his address, said that the work in which the temperance people were engaged at the present time was one that com-mended itself to all serious men and women. The battle is on between the forces of evil and good; the struggle of the centuries, with the forces of Christ arrayed against those of Satan. Though there was doubt in the minds of some as to the issue, the speaker said he believed the possibilities of success to be such as to stir the blood and cause the forces of temperance to stand together loyally in the conflict. Mr. Bishop said he was persuaded that there were enough Christian voters in Ontario to secure an overwhelming victory if they did their duty. Any fears of defeat entertained must be based upon the fact that many were so slow in awakening to the momentous nature of the occasion. If the vicory was gained, however, Mr. Bishop thought it would be such an overwhelming one as to establish the priniples of temperance in Ontario for all ime to come. The voters of the province had never before had such clear-cut issue to face as in the present contest, in which is presented for acceptance an act which has been declared constitutional, and which the Government is pledged to enforce. was a magnificent opportunity to close the barroom and prevent the retail sale of liquor anywhere in the province.

The open barroom, continued Mr. Bishop, is the backbone of the liquor trade. The barroom is most dangerous, because it appeals to man's social nature, a method by which Satan has reached and ruined more souls than by any other medium. Mr. Bishop incidon's morning paper, which, he said, was evidently not designed to help the dentally referred to an article in Loncause of temperance, but which contained the all too true admission that in nearly every instance a man went to a bar to drink because he disliked drinking alone. The manager of the Northern Pacific Railway had stated that since the saloons in the vicinity of the company's shops were closed. grunkenness among the workmen had decreased two-thirds.

"Close the bar and save the boys and young men from their greatest temptation," urged the speaker.

Large Gathering at Mass Meet = Thank God for the admission," said Mr. Bishop. A Maine statesman had said of the operation of prohibition in that state, that while old bummers continued to drink in dives, a generation of boys had grown up knowing nothing of the evils of drink.

"We have heard appeals for the retention of the bar," continued the speaker, "from prominent men in the nation-men who ought to know better -on the ground that it is the poor said Mr. Bishop. "Yes, perhaps it is, but where is the license law stringently enforced? Not in any place where I have ever lived. A few Sabbaths ago the superintendent of the First Bishop, pastor of the First Methodist Methodist Sunday school was called out of his house to help a father take home a son who was helpless from drink, and to his surprise he found the father also somewhat intoxicated. Two weeks from that Sunday he was again called apon, this time by the son, who was endeavoring to take home the father. I am informed that there are many places in this city where groups of young men are seen entering all Sunday and coming out showing eviliquor traffic. Mr. Russell's prayer was dences of drunkenness, while outside are posted watches to see that these illegal proceedings are not interfered with. The police rourt records of the past week show that two hotels had double bars, and that while one was closed tight, the other was doing a rushing business. Show me the men holding licenses who are asking to have the law stringently enforced, who are not seeking its infraction every day. As for a loosely administered prohibitory law, the temperance people are not admitting that there will be such a thing. It is far easier for an honest government to secure total prohibition than to enforce any license law. The Government pledged to it, and I believe that the weight of public opinion will be so great in its favor that no government will dare to ignore it." Mr. Bishop referred to a recent Sunday when all the bars in the Canadian Soo had been closed tight. So great was the rush of Canadian young and old men across the river that day that the saloonkeepers on the Michigan side said, half in jest and half in earnest, that they would subscribe thousands of dollars to help the prohibition cause in Ontario, as they would soon get their money back in Canadian trade.

The present time was a most critical one, said Mr. Bishop, and if the temperance workers failed to accomplish their desire this time, it would take many years to do it. The speaker said he believed that the temperance army was strong enough to go up and possess this land for sobriety and purity. If the referendum was lost, there would be many good people who would on Dec. 5, regret that they had not taken advantage of the opportunity given them.

The argument that the abolition of the traffic would mean the loss of revenue to the Province was met by Mr. Bishop with the statement that this loss would be more than compensated by the saving of money new expended on drink. Of the $142,000.000 spent in Ontario each year for liquor, not less than $1,100,000 is spent in London, or 21/2 times the amount spent on the maintenance of the city. Mr. Bishop told of a conversation he had had with an intelligent Jew who had maintained the impossibility enforcing a prohibitory law. The abolition of slavery had seemed equally impossible, said Mr. Bishop, but it had taken place. Looked at from the standpoint of human power and wisdom, prohibition might be impossible, but what to men is impossible is possible to God, and will be realized in years to come. Some day those who oppose prohibition will see, like Nehemiah's enemies, that "this work is wrought of our God!"

The present opportunity was a Godgiven one, said Mr. Bishop in conclusion, to secure for the Province of Ontario the enforcement of a parlia mentary enactment which will banish the barroom, stop the treating system, opponents of the referendum claim that the closing of bars and abandonment of the license system and save the rising generation. Dr. Johnston, before announcing the closing hymn, said he had no doubt

Company Is a Good One, Music Is Catchy, But Libretto Is Weak.

Taken at its own valuation as "jolly bit of tomfoolery," Rice's "The Show Girl" is all it claims to be. It pleased two good-sized audiences at the Grand on Saturday. It hasn't the shadow of a plot, and in this respect men's club. The combination of these ingredients furnishes a couple of hours of very acceptable amusement. The production has its faults, most of them in the piece itself rather than in its presenters. The music is bright and tuneful, but the libretto is woefully weak, and nearly all the jokes and a great portion of the "business" have been utilized before. There are two points, however, for the sake of which "The Show Girl" can be freely forgiven for its faults. One is its introduction to local audiences of Kathryn Hutchinson, blondely beautiful, tall enough, divinely fair, and with a voice which is there whenever she needs it in her business. The other is the presentation of "Psyche," quite the prettiest or catchiest chorusa heard here this season, with its irresistibly tuneful air to the words: 'Phyche, for you I'm sighing, My heart is crying, with love I'm dying; Into my arms come flying, For I love you, Psyche, dear, I do."

Frank Lalor, a funny comedian, who is reminiscent of Frank Daniels at times, made many laughs with his representation of Dionysius Fly. Whether he appeared modish garments affected by the "perfesh," in the Grecian garb or in the severely classic habiliments of the old Romans, he was equally sure of exciting the risibilities of the audience. With better lines he could have been even more effective. His suggestion that the city be heated this winter with Ald. Cooper's hot air caught the crowd Neil McNeil, a clever comedian seen here previously in Sousa's "The Bride and Edward's "Princess Chic," got all he possibly could out of the role of Jonaie Jhones. His Bowery dance with Anna McNabb, "Waltz Me Down the Alley, Sally," was a strik-ing sample of the possibilities of the mazy dance in the hands-or rather, on the feet-of strenuous devotees. His cockney coon duet with Mr. Dailey was another of the good things of the show.

Robert L. Dailey made full use of his opportunities to be amusing, but his vocal accomplishments do not equal his mirth-making abilities. Frank C. Young proved himself a clever dancer in his specialty with Bessie De Voie, but he hardly seemed to belong as Cadwallader Dyce. At the matinee he forgot to complete make-up by the addition of his Dunry whiskers, and so he didn't even the part. David Lythgoe's handsome face and figure and pleasing tenor voice made him an admirable exponent of the role of Capt. Armor, the "Psyche" song being his best number.

Yolande Wallace's ample proportions accorded well with the dignity of Lady Clarissa, and did not interfere in the least with the sprightliness of her "Susie Anna Anna," with Mr. Dailey, caught on well. Bessie De Voie made a winsome Lady Betty Pringle, and Marie Hilton was equally comical as the passe ingenue and the indomitable cook lady.

The "tom" part of the foolery was supplied by David Abrahams, in his realistic impersonation of a Thomas cat, Mr. Abraham's imitation is wonderfully natural and lifelike, and has been he subject of comment by the leading critics of the big cities.
