London, Jan. 14.-Mr. Balfour defeated, Mr. Winston Churchill triumphant, and 21 out of 26 seats taken from the Conservatives - these are the great outstanding facts in the Liberal free trade sweep with which the polling began on Saturday. The figures are even more astounding, for not only did the Conservatives fail to gain a single seat to offset their reported losses, but where they started, in 21 ridings, with majorities aggregating 17,369 in their favor, they finished with majorities aggregating 34,090 against them.

The voting covered 40 seats. The result analyzed shows that the Conservatives retained only 5 out of 26 seats. The Liberal's added 17 to 12. Already Labor representatives have increased their holdings from 2 to 6. The Labor Note may be included with the Liberal vote as, with one exception, where Labor won there was no Liberal in the field. The Liberal majorities in seats formerly held were increased from 8,043 to 23,130, the average Liberal ma-

Prominent among the victors were two Canadians. Sir Gilbert Parker again led the Unionist cause to success in the Gravesend campaign on the lines of advanced tariff reform. He had a three-cornered fight, with the result thus: Parker 3,102, Geary (Liberal) 1,413, MacPherson Labor) 873. At the last election on a straight party fight Parker's majority was 738.

Mr. Hamar Greenwood joins the ranks of Canadians in the Imperial Parliament, heading the poll as Liberal candidate in York City, which has a population of 100,000. He has been campaigning in the riding for about two years, and is reported to have had over a thousand canvassers on his behalf in the last few days. York City has two members. At the last election two Unionists were unopposed. The result this time is: Greenwood (Liberal) 6,413, Faher (Conservative) 6,108, Butcher (Conservative) 6,094, Stuart (Liber-

London, Jan. 15.-The Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour, ex-premier, was defeated in East Manchester today by 1,980, his majority at last election being 2,453. Winston Churchill, under-secretary of state for the colonies, was elected in Northwest Manchester by 1,241. The Liberals carry all the six Manchester seats, the returns to date showing 11 Liberal gains and two Labor gains all by large majorities, The gains were Ashton, Boston, South and North Salford, five divisions of Manchester, and Burnley.

The Liberals held their seats at Bury, Stafford, Scarboro, North Manchester and Stalybridge.

The Unionists held Dover, Darlington and Winchester. The Right Hon. Wyndham, ex-secretary for Ireland, carried Dover by an increased

Sir Gilbert Parker was re-elected at Gravesend by a majority of 1,669. Hamar Greenwood, a Canadian candidate, heads the poll at York. This is a Liberal gain

Free Fight at Birmingham.

London, Jan. 13.-The elections thus far have not been marked by any serious collisions. The free traders at Birmingham, who attempted to engage in an anti-Chamberlain demonstration this afternoon, were roughly handled. A mob of tariff reformers effectually prevented the delivery of speeches, tried to duck the leaders of free traders in a fountain and ultimately routed them. A strong body of police intervened and prevented serious fighting, which at one time threatened to be the outcome of the political warfare.

The Last Election.

The position of the parties after the last election in 1900, when the Concervative ministry was in power, was as follows: England-Ministerialists 339, oppositionists 126; ministerial majority, 213. Wales-Ministerialists 4, oppositionists 26; opposition majority, 22. Scotland-Ministerialists 38, oppositionists 34; ministerial majority, 4.

Ireland-Ministerialists 21, oppositionists 82; opposition majority, 61. The two parties were thus made up; Of ministerialists, 402 (Conservatives 234. Liberal Unionists 68); opposition, 268 (Liberals 185, Nationalists 82, Socialist 1). The Labor Party included nine Liberals, one Socialist and three Nationalists. On Nov. 15, 1904, the ministerialists, as the result of by-elections, numbered only 385, and the opposition 285. Before dissolution the majority of

There have been two features of the lightest side of the campaign which have added to the gayety of the fight. These have been provided by the women advocates of female suffrage, who have been attending meetings and hackling candidates. Winston Churchfil's reply, "I will not be hen-pecked, madam," to one of them in Manchester has become one of the campaign's classic phrases. At one of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's meetings no less than seven women suffragists who are now nick-named suffragets had to be forcibly removed. The woman who has come out into the fierce light of the electoral fight more than any other is the Countess of Warwick, who is working hard, addressing meetings on behalf of the Trader, won the seat for the northwest Socialist Democrats. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep, and often effecting a permanent cure. We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent it reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady. Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.

Mr. Wm. O. Jenkins, Spring Lake, Alta., writes: "I had a very bad cold settled on my lungs. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup but is only required one to cure me. I have never met with any other medicine as good." Price 25 ets., at all dealers.

Chicago, Jan. 14.-The body of Wm.

Rainey Harper, late president of the University of Chicago, was placed in a vault of Oakwood Cemetery. The final resting place, however, will be on the university campus, where it is planned to build a memorial chapel and crypt. The body lay in state in Haskell Hall from 8 o'clock until noon in the room in which President Harper had led the faculty meetings of the university. At noon the coffin was taken to Mandel Hall, where funeral services were held. Owing to the small seating capacity of the hall, only a portion of the students were able to attend the exercises.

Addresses were delivered by President W. H. P. Faunce, of Brown University; Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, of the University of Nebraska; Dean Harry Pratt Judson, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Lyman Abbott, of New York.

Britain's New War

press.] Of the adminstrative tendency of nost members of the cabinet, we are aware. But of the policy of Mr. Haldane, new war minister, we know nothing. Only of two things have we had a hint. At present he intends to do nothing, and when he does something he will go cautiously. That is Mr. Haldane's Scotch birthright.

There is nothing martial about Mr Haldane. He looks what he is a lawyer; deeply learned, an authority on torts. Ever since his briefless days he has had "Lord Chancellor" stamped all over him. The first time I saw him, suggest, if you please, that you try me on twenty years ago, freshly elected M.P. for Haddintonshire, and stumping the country with an umbrella as his only luggage, a wiseacre said: "There is the future Lord Chancellor of England." Noibody has since alluded to his advancement without the red-clad woolsack getting focused in the mind's eye. "Of course, Haldane is safe for the Lord Chancellorship," has been the prophecy, though it was known Mr. Asquith had occasionally cast his eyes that way. Mr. Haldane is big and round, with a mobile, solemn jowl which bespeaks vast wisdom. And you feel how majestically dignified that countenance would be if framed within the curled and tumbling horse-hair of a full-bottomed Lord Chancellor's wig. But wellloved "Bob" Reid has gone upstairs to the Gilded Chamber—is it to be Baron Dumfries?-and Mr. Haldane is to take with the British army in hand.

He dose not, I fancy, know a breechloader from a howitzer. He has never been in a Government, even as a Civil Lord of the Admiralty, and he knows nothing about the army. Yet no one sits has cried "Why Haldane?" The exclaform, "Why not Haldane?" Much appreciation is in that question.

Some men in Parliament have a bigger reputation than they ever won in politics. They get above their surroundings. Mr. Haldane is one of them You know he is a Liberal and opposed to Home Rule. But you hardly ever think of Mr. Haldane, the party politician. Haldane, the man, however, is a power. Rarely does he talk party politics. Party is a mere stepping-stone lifting him into the serene atmosphere of philosophic politics - or political philosophy.

So he is listened to in the House, not because he has any Asquith orator-I married you, and you swore you would ical coruscations or Lloyd-Georgian vitriolic banter, but because he lifts politics from the odor of party. There are no discordant shouts. Men on both sides of the chamber sit forward in attentive attitudes as much as to say: "Now, here is someone worth Hitheto the bench of his affection in the House has been immediately behind the front Opposition bench-the bench where men sit marked for preferment, or who expect preferment and are sometimes disappointed. He has not often interfered in debate, and hardly ever when the subject was on strictly party lines. Subjects permitting a large attitude of opinion-such as education-bring him to his feet. He eschews notes, and gets rid of his hands by folding his arms. His voice They were discussing the things which is mild—such a smooth little voice from such a huge man.

Perhaps Mr. Haldane has received as job," is the current observation. And maybe because it is thankless, because it has broken the heart and the reputation of more than one man, is the reason Mr. Haldane has become Minister of War. Sometimes we have been prone to blame the War Minister for defections, whereas, had we looked deeper, we would have discovered it was the system at fault. And the very reason there is a whole system to be altered explains why the member for Haddingtonshire has "taken on."

He is a sort of philosophic dreamer who has the faculty of turning his dreams into bricks. Further, he knows I vow'd that you should have my hand half as much again as ever appeared in the "Encyclopaedia Britannica." He can prepare a salad and discourse to you on the Salic law. He is not too As for my feet, the little feet much a philosopher to neglect prandial delights. He is an inveterate diner-out. For a man who has translated Schopenhauer's "World as Will and Idea," in three heavy volumes, he takes an amiable and even cheery view of life. He is urbane, though never jolly.

He is a glutton in philosophy. At Edinburgh University he took first I don't half like the outside place class honors in philosophy. That soon after the Ortona left Australia the cat was missing and it was thought that it had been left behind; but when the vessel was 32 days out from Sydney one of the engineers heard a faint mewing in the Germany, and picked up all the available knowledge. So he sat down and sel started, was promptly examined, and wrote "Essays in Philosophic Criticism," which is a book, which, if the ordinary man does not understand, One of its ears and a portion of its nose convinces him that the man who wrote it has a wonderful intellect. Since then, Mr. Haldane has written several books-and nobody has thought the Unemployed Australians Resorting

The Pioneer Female Wearer o Trousers to Give Love Letters to the World.

"What if I said 'No'? Should I die out before her, and a black void by a psychic lover, George Edward Fowler, a young Englishman, whose subsequent fate after paying one of his visits to the pantalooned lady is shrouded in mystery. Like Tolstoi, whom she also loves with a lesser psychic love, Miss Fowler lives a simple life. She sells apples, driving a donkey cart, and tills the soil for vegetables for much of Vineland's soup. Marriage, as it exists today, she thinks, is the crime of the age, and it is to show the world what woman should require of man and man of woman that she has decided to cast the joint Fowler-Fowler psychic product upon the field of erring souls.

Incidentally, she hopes, too, that the manner, he passes on, the two women apple cart will be no longer necessary when the returns begin to come in. Is Pioneer of Pantaloons.

A Word to the Public About Our 1-5th Off Sale

We'll not enumerate today the list of goods we allow this big reduction on-we want to tell you why we do it and why you should buy up these values at this time.

FIRSTLY-January, immediately after the holidays, is usually dull. People are tired and have spent a good deal of money in gifts.

SECONDLY-In order to awaken interest, we turn in about 35 lines of most needed goods, on which we allow a reduction of 20 per cent. It's a big reduction, but we make it. We get the advertisement, though customers get our profit.

THIRDLY-We take stock near end of January, and it's worth a little to us to reduce stock as much as possible. The large quantities we carry of most of these lines makes it almost imperative that they be reduced.

FOURTHLY-Now the whole tale is before you. It's plain-it's reasonable. We should receive a large share of the public patronage. The values are tempting. No old goods, no job lots, no bankrupt stock - the same kind of good goods that you will have to pay regular prices for within a day or two.

First, by the appointment, at last, of a British consular agent; second, by the reduction of the present excessive postal rate of eight cents a pound on British magazines and

In a column, editorial, the Times supports both, publishing and indorsing a letter on the first subject from Mr. O'Hara, chief of the commercial agency branch of the department of trade and commerce at Ottawa.

He draws attention to the fact that the British Government maintains no commercial representative in the Dominion to assist the British exporter, while the United States have 189, and every other country is represented.

Strange Situation.

"The situation," says the Times, "is astonishing. The defeat is such a crying one that Mr. O'Hara's plea for the establishment of an official British agency in Canada ought to meet with support in all quarters. He writes, not as an official, but as a citizen of the Empire bent or knitting up imperial trade; and the eminent Liberals who have made so much of the necessity for improving our consular service cannot afford to ignore his argument. A really adequate representation in Canada Balance carried forward.. might, indeed, not only push our trade with the Dominion; it might be the nucleus of an improved commercial representation all over the world, forming part of a developed ministry of commerce." Postal Rates.

Upon "postal rates" the Times says: "At present British publications struggle in vain against American publications for entrance into Canada. The charge of ou postoffice is four pence a pound, wherea the rate from the Union into Canada is the rate from the Union into Canada is a halfpenny. Our charge is, therefore, eight times as heavy. The result has been to give the United States not merely a pref-erence, but something like a monopoly. Canada is flooded with American periodicals; British periodicals are practically

The literature which a people reads day by day and sees everywhere must in the long run color its mind, however involuntary be the process. Out of sight is, in the same way, out of mind. How can we expect the Canadians to keep in touch with British current opini interest themselv the empire, so long as we willfully de-prive them of the chance of reading our magazines and newspapers?

American Advertisements.

"There is another consideration. American publications anada are packed with American adver disements. Not only, therefore, does the United States beat us in official represenation by 189 to nothing, her commercial interests are represented over again, and most effectively, in the periodicals which monopolize the Canadian market. Our commercial interests are unrepresented, as before.

"The stock reply of the postoffice has always been that a reduction of rates would mean too heavy a loss. That was, n substance, Lord Stanley's reply to tl deputation which waited on him in the summer. But if we are not much mis taken, the postoffice has always made the same reply at first to suggestions of re-form. In the end it has always taken the advice of the reformer—generally Mr Henniker Heaton—and we have yet to "In this case the mere increase of cor-respondence evoked by the presence of advertisements would probably advertisements would probably go far to recoup an immediate loss. But even some sacrifice would be worth risking. It is not newspaper proprietors, as British officials seem disposed to think; it is, as Sir George Drummond described it in the debate in the Canadian Senate reatment was carried unanimously: important factor in the spread of im-perial feeling and sympathy."

CHARING CROSS DOOMED

Probable That Famous Station May Not Be Rebuilt.

London, Jan. 15. - A London daily says the directors of the South-Eastern and London, Chatham and Dover Railway are considering a proposal to pull down what remains of Charing Cross station and to make Cannon street the headquarters of their system.

The company has long been handicapped by the number of their London stations. Indeed, the system has more to the mile probably than any other railway in the world. There is London Bridge, for instance, almost entirely unsuited for the purpose for which it was intended-it is so out of the way.

Then there is Cannon street, not a mile distant from London Bridge, Victoria, too, is situated at least two miles from the position it should occupy.

In addition, there are St. Paul's. Snow Hill and Ludgate Hill-three stations scarce a stone's throw from each other, and used almost entirely for suburban traffic.

Eighteen months ago it was suggested that the L. C. C. should purchase the site of Charing Cross station, and use it for the purpose of a county hall. The L. C. C., however knowing what an enormous cost this would entail, refused to have anything to do with the proposal, and threw it out without paying it the

The payment of debts is, of course, materially better than in 1904. British Columbia

While the North-Western Provinces

have had more attention from Eastern Canada and from the outside world during the past year, no Province in Canada has had greater prosperity relatively to its immediate possibilities than British Columbia. This huge Province, destined probably some day to outstrip all others in wealth, with resources which require literally millions of people for their development, has at present but a handful, as it were, of people. It is so rich in products of both sea and river, valley and mountain—fish, fruit, grain, cattle, timber, coal, and almost all minerals; it is so lovely a country for man to live in; and it can eventually be so largely self-supporting because of its hilities in producing varieties of food and varieties of manufactures, that no one can doubt as to the character of its industrial future. But the physical and financial problem of British Columbia is by far ple in British Columbia is about the same as in the city of Toronto, and a large part is not of white blood. Provided the other fellow plays the part of a wooden man, any athlete skilled in the art can, by this method, apply several forms of what the head professors term 'death touches.' A much more effective method, however, is to go out and get an axe and then knock the wooden man on the head. It is also a whole lot easier, and does not imply the waste of time spent in learning the jiu jitsu plan. Any well conditioned man can wield an axe with effect, provided that his opponent sticks his forehead right where a good, sound crack will do the business.

"Seriously, though, jiu jitsu is the most palpable fake that has ever been foisted on athletes. All its alleged deadly holds have been recognized wrestlers for years, and the only good ones have long been defined as fouls. All of them are useless against a man who will put up a fight-at least they are of less use than some good, old-fashioned wrestling hold.

"I happened around police headquarters in Pittsburg one day when a Jap professor of jitsu was going to give the first lesson to the cops on how to arrest a man by a method which made the most powerful athlete a child in the hands of the artist.

"'Arrest me,' I said to the Jap. He explained that he would use no death touches on me, and I told him to bring 'em all along. We rolled around a little while, and then our jitsu friend began to squeal in a strange tongue. "That was all there was to it. If a man fights, jitsu is no use. Also, they are still making arrests by the old plan in Pittsburg."

KIDNEY DISEASE AND ITS DANGERS

CAN BE QUICKLY CURED

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Kidney disease comes on quietly, it may have been in the system for a long time before you suspected the real cause of your trouble. There may have been backaches. swelling of the feet and ankles, disturb-ances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in urine, higly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent urination, stone in bladder, etc.

Perhaps you did not know that these were symptoms of kidney disease, so the trouble kept growing worse, until Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Dropsy, and worst of all, Bright's Disease have taken hold of your system. Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken as the first sign of anything wrong. There is no other safe way, (plasters and liniments are useless), as the trouble must be eradicated from the system.

Doan's Kidney Pills go to the seat of the trouble, strengthen the kidneys, and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Mayhew, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with my kidneys, and my back got so lame I felt miserable all over. After taking five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was as well as ever." Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill
