Yesterday Detectives Nickle and Egelton and Acting Sergeant Green and Sergt. Gilmour, of the barracks, returned to the city for a rest after 48 hours' of constant service. After a brief rest, they returned to Stratford last night at 11:30 to again take up the man hunt.

Warrants Prepared.

Last night Chief Williams decided to take the final step that would insure Moir's capture. He prepared warrants for Moir, special warrants, calling for Moir's arrest at all hazards and had them prepared.

The detectives, Nickle and Egelton, had received information of a somewhat definite nature, and decided to get back in the hunt as early as pos-

Charge of Murder.

Each had a warrant for the arrest of Pte. Moir on a charge of murder. With this warrant, the man can be shot if he resists arrest, as the instructions are to this effect although It is not stated in the warrant. Escape is impossible for Moir.

The net is gardually being drawn around him, and it is but a matter of days, probably hours, when the most desperate criminal London has seen for years will be rounded up dead or

At that time Moir was heading north towards Stratford. A close watch has been kept along the line of railway, but not a sign of him has been seen. He has evidently taken to the back roads, where farm houses are few, and where the chances of capture are also very few.

In the day time he has kept well away from the beaten lines of travel. The railroad, with few houses along its line, gave him excellent opportunities for escape, but now they have been closely watched, and Moir has shaped his course away from them. Headed for Guelph?

He is evidently going towards the only part of Ontario he knows-his former home in Guelph. Moir has steadily drifted from the great lines of railroad leading out of the country, and has gone where railroads are few, and where the chances of capture are much more increased.

Peg-Leg Brown.

In this he has pursued a much different policy to Maida Brown, the negro desperado. Brown was an expert on catching trains, and he lost no time in getting near the great lines that lead out of the country. Moir does not know much of railroad

BOOM IN JAPAN TURNS TO PANIC

Country's Credit at Home and Abroad Impaired By Economic Policy.

Tokio, March 19 .- In attempting to estimate Japan's position among the powers the present economic condition of the nation is interesting and important. This induces examination of antecedents of the existing commercial and financial depression and of the policy which has brought the country to the verge of a panic by seriously impairing its credit both at home and abroad. The west is by now tolerably familiar with the general features of the economic policy adopted by Japan immediately after the conclusion of peace with Russia, and enough time has elapsed since this innovation was put into effect to indicate some definite results of it both externally and internally. The external results are significant, but they may perhaps be better viewed from a different angle. It Is the internal effects which have more directly contributed to create the present crisis, and with which the Government is now compelled to reckon before it can proceed with the prosecution of its scheme for external expan-

It had been necessary to hypothecate most of the available assets controlled by the Government to obtain the foreign war loans, and it was not practicable to immediately again increase taxation. On the contrary, the Government, then facing the popular indignation which failure to get an indemnity had aroused, felt it necessary to defer announcement that the extraordinary war taxes must be definitely Gorgeous Easter Millinery Obscures a Fire in the Church Pulpit.

St. Louis, Mo., April 29 .- Merry Widow millinery, worn by every worshiper on the front row of St. John's Cathedral, shut off the view of the altar from the rest of the congregation and prevented a fire panic during Easter services here today.

As the Rev. Father J. Stepan was praying bouquets of paper lilies, banked about him, became ignited from candles placed among them. Instantly the blaze spread and almost before the clergyman became aware of what had happened the flames had assumed menacing proportions.

The congregation sat with heads bowed and knew nothing of the threatened disaster.

The Merry Widow contingent was seated almost directly under the sancforces, the intrusion of the Government tuary rail, and its members were in a position where they could not see the flames.

Quickly the priest brought water from the vestry room and under direction of Father Stepan soon had the fire under control. It was put out enadopting this policy Japan introduced tirely ere any one else in the church learned of its existence.

INFANTS' HEALTH TO BE FIRST CARE

Exhibition to Show Best Methods for Development in Children.

London, April 19 .- Several members of the royal family will give their patronage to the infants' health exhibition which is to be held in London the middle of June. The affair will also be supported by all the leading medical men in the country. There has been much emotional literature written about the appalling high mortality in infants under twelve months old, but as the result of careful inquiries which have been proceeding for some months all over the kingdom another serious factor has been brought to light-namely, the very sad condition of large numbers of infants who do not die.

Serious Condition Shown Statistics of infantile mortality afford a very important index of the serious conditions that affect the in- which is a kind of certificates of distincfant life, but by far the most serious matter affecting the commonwealth in every possible way is the condition of babies who do not die, but who are reared in a condition of hopeless mainutrition.

One of the chief objects of the exhibition will be to teach the people the pure and high ideal of mother- orial. hood. Eminent physicians are coming forward with evidence that there is an appalling number of children of limit. the well-to-do class who are born healthful, but who within a few months of birth become desperately ill in consequence of the absence of food adapted to their precise requirements. SIX COAST ON A COW

Port Jarvis, N. J., April 20.-Three ouples, while coasting down the long hill, struck Farmer Caldwalder's cow. Sled and all slid down a quarter of a mile on the cow's back, the steel runners of the sled having caught on the cow's horns. At the bottom of the hill the young people were hurled many feet and the cow so badly injured that she had to be shot.

Mr. C. J. Placy, a prominent farmer of Wolverton, Que., was afflicted with serious kidney trouble, for years he suffered tortures with pain in his back. Doctors said he had incurable kidney disease. "I was discouraged," writes Mr. Placey, "when I was advised to try 'Fruit-a-tives.' I used altogether fifteen boxes, and am now well, all signs of kidney trouble having left me."

LONDON, TUESDAY, APRIL 21.

LONDON UNFAIRLY TREATED. His organ declines to discuss it, but Mr. Beck, if he faces the electors of London again, will have to meet the question, Why has this city been so redistribution?

The inequalities of the Whitney gerrymander would be ludicrous, if they were not so unjust. Our own county of Middlesex is an example. The west riding has a population of only 13,104, and the city of London a population of 50,000; vet each elects one member. Small as it was before, the Government made West Middlesex still smaller in order to hive the Grits and make a safe Conservative seat in the

Why should 17,000 people in the riding of Brockville, or 19,000 in the per. riding of Kingston, have the same representation as 50,000 people in the city. of London? The disparity is monstrous, even on the accepted principle that the greater the population of an be the unit of representation. This and dashing self, hovering around the principle is grossly violated by allowing one member for every 34,000 people in the city of Toronto, as compared with London's 50,000. Every elector in the former city will have two votes as another evidence of the Government's favor.

The city of London, under the Whitney gerrymander, is placed in a class of its own. It is the largest constituency in Ontario with a single a citizen of London has less force and effect in electing members to the Legislature, than the vote of an elector of any other riding in Ontario.

Mr. Beck is mainly responsible for this anomaly. He could have secured fair play for London if he had insisted upon it. There is an impression that he not only did not assert the claims seek regeneration in real constitutionof his own city, but was opposed to alism. Even the elections held there What makes her eye so steely cold? representing London in the doubtful reason evidently Mr. Beck's vanity. the people of London have not been Whitney Government.

Although its precise terms have not been given in the cabled report, the treaty is described as greatly in advance of anything previously proposed, and not only is King Leopold thwarted in his cunning attempt to rid bimself of responsibility for the while retaining the actual power of administration, which he sought to accomplish by giving his own appointees control of the Congo budget, but the budget is placed unexclusive direction of the Belgian Parliament. The King orig-Inally also sought to reserve to his own uses the extension and most productive part of the Congo country, known as the crown domain. This the treaty also rules out. A clause safeguarding the concessions made to a United States syndicate some time ago has met with so much opposition that important changes in it are not unlikely.

The Belgian Government is believed to be making an honest endeavor to secure the confirmation of the treaty, feeling convinced that unless a settlement of the whole difficulty is speedily reached by that means, steps will be taken by Great Britain and other powers to have the terms of the treaty of Berlin with regard to the rights of nations and freedom of commerce in the Congo country carried out. Great Britain has been foremost in protesting against the misrule of the Free State, and its barbarities, and the United States, to the credit of the American people, joined in presenting a remonstrance to the Belgian Gov-

A CURE FOR EGOTISM.

[Sam Kiser.] There is one cure for egotism that ha may be told to his face that he is no better than other men, but his egotism will not be diminished in the slightest degree. He will merely decide that the speaker is prejudiced or incapable of passing proper judgment. New Spring Models of C-C a La Grace Corsets

The time has gone by when "any corset will do." Women of today know that correct corseting is the foundation of perfect gowning. Therefore they insist upon models that suit the individual figure, and meet the requirements of prevailing modes. There are many styles of the C-C a la Grace Corset, scientifically modeled to suit stout, slender and medium figures, and so designed the aid in producing the comely slenderness prescribed by fashion, and giving distinction and smartness of line to gowns fitted over them.

Mr. Calvert Congratulated.

Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P., for West Middlesex, was given a splendid reception on arising to speak. He was suffering from a very severe cold, and consequently spoke very briefly. He congratulated the association on the splendid representation of delegates, and declared it augured well for the success of the party. He was indeed proud to be back among his own constituents once more. Mr. Calvert thought that the candidate of the convention would have little difficulty in North Middlesex Steal.

The redistribution bill of Mr. Whitey was criticised by Mr. Calvert. He thought that Mr. Whitney would have been a little more chivalrous, a little more generous to his old opponent, Hon. G. W. Ross, than to steal the riding from his son. The redistribution simply meant the stealing of North Middlesex. Mr. C. C. Hodgins knew well that he could not defeat Mr. T. G. Turnbull, the Liberal nominee, and he forced Mr. Whitney to gerrymander the riding to suit his convenience. Now Mr. Hodgins was assured of a safe seat.
