TWENTY-ONE MEN CRUSHED TO DEATH BY WRECK OF CIRCUS TRAIN IN MICHIGAN

Air Brakes on Second Section Refused to Work and It Plunged Into First Section Near Durand.

Thirty Are Injured, Seven of Whom Cannot Survive.

AGONIZING DEATHS OF VICTIMS

Physicians and Nurses Hurried to the Disaster—Collision Creates a Panic Amongst the Animals.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 7.—A special from Owosso, Mich., to the Press, says that Wallace's circus train was wrecked at Durand, on the Grand Trunk, early this morning by the second section running into the first. Eighteen persons are reported killed and twenty injured, some fatally.

Durand, Mich., Aug. 7. — Wallace Bros.' circus trains were wrecked in the Grand Trunk yards here early today and eighteen men, mostly employes of the circus, were killed outright. Twenty more were injured, some fatally.

The show was traveling in two sections over the Grand Trunk tracks from Lansing to Lapeer, and the accident, it is said, was caused by the failure of the second section of the train to stop on time. The second section ran into the first at full speed.

The engine of the second section and four cars of the first section were completely demolished. Much valuable property was destroyed, and the loss to the circus people will probably be very heavy. Some of the victims were railroad people attached to the train. These include Trainmaster J. McCarthy, of the Grand Trunk. Some of the animals were killed.

The scene after the collision was appalling. The wreckage was strewn about and piled high. The shrieks of the injured and the bellowing of the frightened animals could be heard above the hiss of escaping steam and the excited shouts of the rescuers. It was some hours before the injured were rescued from the wrecked cars. Some of them were in terrible agony, and it is thought that seven more will die.

Dead: James McCarthy, trainmaster, Grand Trunk road, between Port Huron and Battle Creek; A. W. Large, special officer, Grand Trunk, Battle Creek; John Purcell, Peru, Ind., boss canvassman; Lafe Arson, Cambridge, Ohio, six-horse driver; G. Thomas, residence unknown, member of stake and chain gang; Harry St. Clair, residence unknown, reserved seat man; John Leary, Springfield, Ill., boss of ring stock; Andrew Howland, New York State, canvassman; Frank Thorp, Dundee, Mich., trainmaster of circus train; Robert Rice, residence unknown, harnessmaker; George Smith, residence unknown, blacksmith; Charles Sands, Peru, Ind., driver; Joe Wilson, Pittsburg; W. J. McCoy, Columbus Ohio, canvassman with sideshows; unknown man, driver of band wagon; unknown man, home said to be Indianapolis, rider in circus races; unknown man, home said to be Louisville, horse driver; unknown man, four-horse driver; unknown man, suffocated to death: two unidentified men are also dead at the hospital.

Seriously injured: James S. Foley, special officer, Grand Trunk, Detroit, shoulder dislocated, bruises; Joseph F. Benton, New Milford, Conn., internal injuries; W. H. Roe, Armstrong, Ill., internal injuries; Frank Tilley, Risingsun, Ind., hip dislocated, very bad bruises and internal injuries.

The wreck, according to the statement of the engineer of the second section, was caused by the failure of the air brakes to work.

A wrecking crew was on the scene in a very few minutes. All the physicians and trained nurses in town were sent for, and those in nearby places were rushed to the scene on handcars. The Hotel Richelieu was converted into a temporary hospital and scores of volunteers with stretchers were in readiness. The dead, many of them so terribly mangled that identification seemed impossible, were laid on the grass a short distance from the scene. By 6 o'clock a corps of twelve physicians was at work. Four of the injured died at the hospital before 8:30 o'clock. When the wrecking crews had finished seventeen dead men were lying on the grass awaiting removal to the morgue. The circus performers were on the rear of the moving train, and escaped injury. Wallace Bros. say that their loss will be very heavy, but have given no estimate of it as yet. This is the second wreck that the Wallace shows have suffered within a month.

LATER.

Durand, Mich., Aug. 7. — The number of killed is now 21.

RHODES' SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholar Should Not Go to Oxford Too Early.

Cape Town, South, Africa, Aug. 7.—Dr. George Robert Parkin, principal of the Upper Canada College, Toronto, who was appointed to prepare a plan for the allotment of the Rhodes scholarships, delivered an address yesterday upon the general result of his consultations in Canada, the United States and Africa. His conclusion is that the scholar should not go too early to Oxford, but as mature graduates, who would be able to add Oxford culture to the full training received in their own countries.

A DETROIT BOY BURNED AT STAKE

Twelve-Year-Old Lad Was Waylaid by Ruffians.

SEARCHING IN VAIN FOR MONEY

They Tied Him to a Tree, Built Fire Beneath Him and Watched His Agony.

Detroit, Aug. 7.—Another terrible deed in the carnival of crime that is being carried on in the suburbs of Detroit was committed yesterday morning, when a 12-year-old Hungarian boy was chained to a stake and was being burned alive when rescued.

Frank Sminke is the young son of John Sminke, who runs a saloon at the corner of Baldwin and Halkin avenues, in Delray, and he works for Martin Sweitzer, a farmer who lives about three miles from the village. Yesterday morning young Sminke started from home to his work, and walked up the tracks of the Wabash Railroad, as the farm is near the tracks, and had gone about half of the way when he was accosted by four young men, ranging in age from 17 to 19, who commanded him to throw up his hands and surrender his money. He protested that he had no money, but they searched him and would not let him go when they had finished and were satisfied that he had nothing of value on him.

After a hurried consultation the four ruffians led the boy some distance from the railway track to a tree. Some chains were found near the track, and these, with some ropes, were used to bind the frightened lad to the tree in such a way that his feet were about 30 inches above the ground, and his arms were bound back at right angles with his body, as if he were fastened to a cross. This was about 6:30 in the morning.

While two of the older men stood on guard, the others went off towards the railway and returned soon with a quantity of wood shavings and other combustibles. More secure fastenings were bound about the Hungarian boy, and the pile lighted. Then as the kindling blazed up, the ruffians replenished the piles and stood back watching the tongues of fire as they climbed up towards the boy's feet and began to lick his bare legs, listening all the while to his screams of terror and pain.

About this time an incoming freight train crew and have not been heard of to switch into the yards at Oakwood, and the victim's cries for assistance attracted the attention of the trainmen, who ran in his direction. It was with some difficulty that he was taken from his bonds and carried to the train. The ruffians who had committed the awful crime had fled on the approach of the train crew and have not been heard of since.

The injured boy was taken to his home in Delray, where his parents cared for him as well as possible before a doctor arrived. An examination proved that the boy was very severely burned about the feet and legs, and his suffering is still very acute. When seen last night by a press representative, young Sminke was in too great pain to be able to tell very much of the affair, but he says that he could identify his assaulters if he should see them again. The boy's parents cannot speak very much English, and little could be learned from them except that they had not yet notified the officers, but this will be done this morning. Although very serious, it is not thought that the boy's burns will prove fatal.

SULTAN RUSHING TROOPS TO MONASTIR TO HEAD OFF MACEDONIAN REVOLUTION

Bulgarian Villagers, Between Two Fires, Flee to the Mountains for Refuge—Insurrection Bands From Russian Territories Pillage Armenians—British Counsel Ordered to Investigate—Chaos in the Balkans.

Constantinople, Thursday, Aug. 6.—News received here as to the extent of the Bulgarian revolutionary movement in the vilayet of Monastir is conflicting. In consular dispatches from Monastir, which were received this morning, the opinion is expressed that the insurrection broke out a fortnight earlier than its chiefs intended, and before the bands were in readiness, presumably because the leaders were disconcerted by the active preventative measures adopted by the authorities.

The Bulgarian inhabitants in a number of villages have fled to the mountains for refuge. The railways have asked that the troops guarding the lines be quadrupled, but this would entail the employment of 20,000 soldiers, and in view of the impoverished treasury the Government will find it difficult to comply with the request.

In spite of reports to the contrary, it is confidently believed in well-informed quarters that the Porte, in conformity with its formal declarations, will employ only regular troops to suppress the insurrection, as it is well aware how important it is for Turkey to avoid excesses such as certainly would be the outcome of the employment of the undisciplined Albanians or other irregular soldiery. The diplomats here entertain no doubt that the Porte will continue its present policy of fighting the bands with regulars.

Of the eight battalions of infantry dispatched to Monastir, four will remain at Monastir, three will occupy the heights of Peristeri, to the westward of Monastir, and one will go to Florina, a town of 11,000 inhabitants, 17 miles southwest of Monastir. The Porte has sent categorical instructions to the valis of the Armenian provinces of Asia Minor, holding them personally responsible for any Kurdish excesses, and ordering vigorous measures to be taken to prevent fighting. The British viceconsul at Bitlis has been ordered to proceed to Mush, 80 miles south of Erzeroum, where the Armenian massacres by the Kurds and Turks occurred in 1894, to investigate the situation there.

A consular dispatch from Erzeroum, received here this morning, says the excitement in that district is quieting down, but that the vali of Erzeroum reports that 600 armed Huitchakists, from Russian territory, have compelled the Armenians in the villages of Sassun vilayet (also the scene of Armenian massacres in 1894), to take refuge in the mountains. The vali has sent four battalions of troops against the Huitchakists, who escaped to the mountains. The Porte has communicated this information to the Russian embassy, calling attention to the fact that the bands came from Russian territory.

London, Aug. 7.—The London papers print mail letters descriptive of the Macedonian situation dated the latter part of July, which indicate that the committee was vigorously preparing for an uprising at the close of the harvest. The members of the committee, according to these advices, have been vainly hoping for an outbreak of war between Bulgaria and Turkey, or some other sensational occurrence, such as a massacre of Christians, to give them an opening, but nothing has happened, and although the situation is critical it is just possible that the committee may still further postpone the date of the outbreak. Meanwhile the Turks are more ready then ever to strangle any rising at its birth. The imperial troops, poorly paid, and poorly fed, exasperated by the prolongation of the crisis, and the necessity of incessant duty night and day, owing to the threats of the Turkish population to pillage Bulgarian houses and murder the occupants as revenge for the depredations of roving Bulgarian bands, are preying upon the peasantry. They would indulge in barbarities upon the slightest pretext.

According to these mail advices, despite the combustible appearance of the situation, it is declared that a unanimous insurrection of the Macedonian people is quite impossible, as the Turks have the advantage in numbers and arms over the Bulgarian bands, and any attempt at such an insurrection would merely be the signal for the massacre of innocent peasantry.

The Times Sofia correspondent says that the Bulgarian Government is determined to maintain a loyal attitude toward Turkey by preventing ammunition for insurgents for passing across the Bulgarian frontier into Macedonia.

THE SUN, MOON AND THE ARTIST

Decorations of King Edward Hotel Cause Trouble.

PAINTER PUT IN NIGHT SCENE

But the Architect Preferred Daylight and Wants It Changed—Case in Courts.

New York, Aug. 7.—That no other artist may apply a brush to his mural decorations in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, William De Leftwitch Dodge, an artist of note, has applied to the supreme court for an injunction restraining the Tiffany Company, from which he received the contract, from such action. An order to show cause why the injunction should not issue, obtained by the artist's attorneys, comes up for argument today before Judge Dugro. Mr. Dodge entered into a contract to execute four murals for the lobby of the hotel. He is a pupil of Gereme, a portrait painter, and his work is to be seen in the library of congress and other great buildings.

"My contract was to submit sketches for murals," said Mr. Dodge yesterday, "which when approved by the contractors and the architect of the hotel, E. J. Lennox, were to be finished in accordance with the designs. I went ahead and finished four.

"All these were finished with infinite care. My heart was in my work, and I was told by brother artists who saw it that it was good. While the panels and drawings were in my studio they were approved by the contractors and by the architect and positively accepted. I went to Toronto and put them in place.

"Soon after they were in position, came Mr. Lennox, the architect. Although he had expressed unqualified approval, he now began to criticise. Mr. Lennox wanted everything 'bright and sparkling,' according to his expression. He began to order changes. One of the paintings represented Wolfe before the battle of Quebec reciting Gray's 'Elegy' to his men as they floated silently down the river in the dead of night. Necessarily the picture is in a dark tone and history says it was a cloudless night. In deference to him I put in a moon, but now he orders me to put in a sun and make it daylight.

"'But Wolfe did not advance on the citadel in the day time,' I say.

"'This Wolfe will' is his answer.

"I have flatly refused to make these corrections. It would make me ridiculous in the eyes of the art world. It would ruin my reputation. Now the contractors have threatened to send some other artist there and have the changes made. I have asked the courts to restrain them. It is my work and it will not have my name affixed to what may prove to be a ridiculous exhibition."

A MESSAGE TO AMERICA

Pope Pius Sends One by Cardinal Gibbons.

Rome, Aug. 7.—Cardinal Gibbons was received by the Pope today in private audience. In a lengthy conversation Pius X. renewed his expressions of interest in America, already made manifest by his reception on Wednesday to the pilgrims from the United States.

In closing the audience, the Pontiff charged Cardinal Gibbons to carry the apostolic benediction to all the faithful of America.

Suffocated by Gas.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Fannie and Mary Dick, sisters, aged 18 and 13 years respectively, were found dead in bed at their home in this city today. They had been asphyxiated by illuminating gas, which had escaped from an imperfect gas jet.

COOL THIEVES THESE

Take Safe From Hotel and Blow It Open in Street.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 7. — At four o'clock yesterday morning robbers removed the safe from the bar of the Washington Hotel, and rolled it down the side of the steep hill on which the hotel is situated. Passers-by, including street car men going to work, saw the men, but paid no attention to them. The robbers drilled the safe and planted dynamite and stepped out of the way. Several people stopped within a few hundred yards to look at the safe lying in the street, and the possibility of safe-cracking was suggested.

While they were looking the safe exploded. People came running from all directions. The safe-crackers, of whom some say there were two and some say three, made a dash for the safe to get its contents, but were frightened by people who came running down from the Washington Hotel, and bolted and left the $300 which it contained.

CHUNKS OF HAIL TEN INCHES LONG

Struck Sheep Dead, Wrecked Barns and Houses and Killed a Man.

Denver, Col., Aug. 7.—Details of the storm which prevailed along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado and Southern Wyoming, show it to have been much more severe than at first reported. In the neighborhood of Grenley and Easton, in the northern part of Colorado, chunks of ice, measuring in some instances ten inches in length, fell. Sheep were struck dead, farm houses were wrecked and crops runied. Near Grenley a man was rendered unconscious by the hail. The damage in and around Lafayette is estimated at $200,000.

COLDSTREAMS ARE COMIN'

The Famous Band Will Peform at Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7.—Manager McNaught, of the Dominion Exhibition, has received a cable from Chelsea Barracks, London, stating that His Majesty the King had been graciously pleased to give his consent for leave of absence to the Coldstream Guards band from London for a visit to Canada for the primary object of playing at the Dominion Exhibition.

This is the first time that permission has been granted to a regimental band to leave England to visit the colonies for concert purposes.

In 1872 the Grenadier Guards' band was allowed to leave England for the United States to play at the peace jubilee at Boston. The Coldstream Guards is the oldest regiment in the British army, and their band is now considered the finest in the service.

The Royal Artillery fife, drum and bugle band, at present in Halifax, has been secured to play at the Dominion Exhibition.

Entries, which close on Saturday for the Dominion Exhibition, are coming in rapidly.

The "Major" Won.

Paris, Aug. 7.—"Major" Taylor last night won the final in the International Criterium cycle race after a fine struggle. Grogna was second, Meyers third and Ellegard fourth.

A Winnipeg Mystery.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7. — Another mysterious river tragedy was revealed late last evening, when the body of a man, fully dressed, supposed to be Lenson Styring, was found floating in the river at Elm Park. How the man got into the water has not yet been discovered.

ODESSA STRIKERS WIN A POINT

Russia Agrees to Concede to Some of Their Wishes.

MANY FOREIGNERS IMPRISONED

Von Plevhe Is Held Responsible for the Killing of Rioters by the Troops.

London, Aug. 7. — The Times this morning prints a dispatch from Kieff, Russia, dated Aug. 1, which says that General Arsenieff, Governor of the district of Odessa, and the mayor of Odessa, together with a committee of influential citizens have induced the tramway strikers to resume on the distinct understanding that their grievances will be considered and concessions granted. Gen. Arsenieff received instructions July 30 from St. Petersburg enjoining him to refrain from active interference with the men provided they maintained order and obeyed the police.

In the event that the mob became recalitrant he was directed to have the troops fire blank cartridges, and then if necessary, three pounds of ball cartridge.

The correspondent says the strikers made no serious attempt to resist the police, and the Gen. Arsenieff's action in the alleged riots are freely condemned as unwarrantably precipitate. He says: "This collision caused a feeling of pain and indignation over the ruthless methods of Russia's strong man, Von Plehve, to whose above mentioned instructions it was due."

The Standard's Odessa correspondent under date of Aug. 2, says that all the trades have now resumed work, that the strike is practically ended, but that the city will remain under martial law for at least another ten days. The strikers did not get all they demanded, but in most cases were met with fair spirited compromises on the part of the employers. According to the correspondent, the local Odessa payers on the day the dispatch was sent, announced that the Governor had issued a statement to the effect that he had summarily convicted 71 persons, and had sentenced them to three months' imprisonment for disturbing public order. Names given include many Jews and a few foreigners. The strike ended just in time to avert serious food riots, as the high price of provisions led to ominous popular threats to storm the bakeries and flour mills. There have been a few fatalities. It is stated that while the strikers were trying to prevent a train starting Saturday night, four of the strike leaders were run over and killed.

Kieff, Russia, Aug. 7.—Three workmen were killed and 24 wounded yesterday, when the Cossacks fired on and charged the strikers, who were attempting to interfere with railroad traffic. The rioters numbered 2,000. A magistrate, an officer and several soldiers were injured by stones.

FRENCH AND MOORS CLASH

Several Killed and Wounded in Frontier Dispute.

Madrid, Aug. 7.—According to a dispatch to the Imparial from Melilla, Morocco, a fight has taken place between French and Moorish troops near the village of Beni-Fatt. The Moors, who were pursuing a body of insurgents, entered French territory, in spite of the protests of three French frontier posts, and a conflict ensued.

Three French and two Moorish soldiers were killed and a number were wounded.

First Wheat Cut.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—The first wheat of the season was cut in the Portage Plains yesterday. Cutting will be general in a week's time.

PREMIER ANSWERS THE MEMORIAL

Mr. Russell Gets Reply to the Separate School Petition.

REFUSES TO MAKE IT PUBLIC

But He Says the Delegation from the Winnipeg Catholics Is Well Satisfied.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 7.—F. W. Russell, of Winnipeg, who was waiting here to get a reply from the Government to the memorial of the Roman Catholics of Winnipeg to get certain privileges in connection with the city schools, left for home today. He received a letter setting forth all the contentions in the memorial and replying to same. Mr. Russell made arrangements to give the press the memorial and the reply as soon as he had received it. Mr. Deegan, his companion, agreed to this before leaving, but when Mr. Russell read the answer he changed his mind. When seen by your correspondent, Mr. Russell said: "I have nothing to give out. I thought I might have something, but all that you can say is that we are fairly well satisfied with the results. We have made satisfactory progress. That is all that I can say for the present. I leave for Winnipeg this afternoon."

The fact of the matter is that Premier Roblin succeeded in jollying the aggrieved parties until the election was over by telling them that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would attend to the city schools of Winnipeg. As a matter of fact the whole question is purely a provincial one, in no way under the control of the Dominion, and it is now up to Mr. Roblin to deal with the matter.

The Provincial Government was given full power under the decision of the judicial committee of the Privy Council to make whatever amendments it chose to the law.

GAYNOR-GREEN CASE

Mr. McMaster Completes Case for U. S. Authorities.

London, Aug. 7. — Mr. Donald McMaster, Canadian counsel for the United States before the Privy Council in the matter of the extradition of Messrs. Gaynor and Greene from Canada, yesterday completed the preparation of the United States case so far as it affects imperial action. He will consult with the Washington authorities before returning to conduct the proceedings in Canada, which are not likely to come before the court until next February.

HAIL DESTROYS FRUIT

Crops On the Peninsula Badly Damaged by Storm.

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 7. — The heavy rain and hail storm which passed over the Niagara district yesterday afternoon did a great amount of damage to the fruit crop. Growers coming into the city this morning from along the lake shore, report the storm as having been very violent. Hailstones as large as walnuts fell, which in many cases practically ruined the fruit crop. Further inland the storm was not so severe, and comparatively little damage was done.

A Butchering Contest.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7. — John Glass, champion beef dresser of the United States, had a contest here yesterday, with Walter Dennison, the champion of Canada, and the American won out His time from the death stroke to the bullock until all the work was done was six minutes and five seconds. Thomas L. Craig, of Toronto, was one of the judges.

"Butch" Williams, of Buffalo, beat Fred Perry, of Toronto, in a similar contest.

ABDUCTED A WITNESS

The Sensational Episode of a Berlin Scandal.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—A girl was abducted from the Rescue Home for Women, at Teltow, a suburb of Berlin, Wednesday night, when Freda Sittel, aged 16, the chief witness in a pending prosecution, was taken almost nude from her cell by three men. She apparently went voluntarily. She was dragged out of a window, from which two men, standing on the shoulders of the third, were able to cut away the frame. Upon reaching the ground the girl was dressed in clothes, brought for the purpose. The party then scaled the outside wall of the home and escaped. When the alarm was raised inside the building no trace of the girl could be found. Immoral traffic in children in the schools in various parts of the city has been conducted for over a year.

HE CALLS JAILS SCHOOLS OF SIN

A Chicago Professor Roasts Uncle Sam's County Jail System.

Chicago, Aug. 7. — "The most disgraceful thing that exists in this country in the name of law and civilization is the county jail. Idleness and bad associations make crime, and at public cost we are maintaining free schools of crime in every county in the United States."

This arraignment of the penal institutions of counties was given by Dr. Charles R. Henderson, at the University of Chicago last night, at the conclusion of a lecture upon modern prison systems. Prof. Henderson recently retired as president of the National Prison Association. He has made a special study of crime and criminals and has issued several books on the subject.

"There is no necessity for the present jail system," he said. "In Europe prisoners are kept in separate cells until they are tried. Here we herd youths and hardened criminals together, and it is a well established fact that many habitual criminals find keen delight in teaching to their less experienced companions the fine points of criminal practices gained through the experience of years of wrongdoing. That such a condition should be permitted to exist is a shame and disgrace to the entire republic."

THE "SOO" COMPANY

A Syndicate Formed to Underwrite Bond Issue.

New York, Aug. 7. — Dispatches from Philadelphia yesterday said that a syndicate had been formed in that city to underwrite the $12,500,000 bond issue of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company. The dispatches added that the time limit for subscriptions would probably be extended from Aug. 10th to Sept. 15th, and quoted President Shields, of the company, as saying that Speyer & Co., who advanced over $5,000,000 to the Lake Superior Company, had given it until the latter date to make payment.

Bankers in this city interested in the loan of the Lake Superior Company said that they had heard nothing of the formation of such a syndicate. They added that they thought if such a syndicate had been formed, they would have heard of it.

Hit by a Train.

Colborne, Ont., Aug. 7. — The body of John Cronk was found about five o'clock yesterday morning lying alongside the G. T. R. track. The coroner, after learning the facts, decided that an inquest was unnecessary, as it appeared the man had been struck by a passing train while walking on the track. Mr. Cronk was an aged man, and his hearing being defective, it is supposed that he did not hear the approaching train.

CAUSE OF THE CIRCUS WRECK

G. T. R. Official Announcement From Montreal.

SAYS ENGINEER LOST CONTROL

The Train Crew of Section No. 2 Say the Air Brakes Refused to Work at Critical Moment.

Engineer Bropst, Fireman Colter and Head Brakeman Benedict, who was also on the engine of the second section, say that if the brakes had worked there would have been no collision. Fireman Colter and Brakeman Benedict jumped, but Engineer Bropst remained at his post trying to get the brake to work until his train was within less than 100 feet of train No. 1; then he, too, jumped. He was shaked up, as was the fireman and brakeman. None of the crews of either train was hurt.

General Manager F. H. McGuigan, of the Grand Trunk sytem, was on his way from Chicago to Montreal, and arrived at the scene on the passenger train at 7 a.m. He immediately took charge of the work of clearing the track and caring for the injured and dead. A statement is expected form him.

Montreal, Aug. 7. — The G. T. R. management issues the following official statement of today's accident. At 3:30 this morning a second section of Wallaces' circus trains collided with the rear end of the first section, just west of Durand, Mich., due to Engineer Brobst, of the second section, not having his engine under control coming into the yard. The collision resulted in destroying the caboose of the first section, and an old sleeping-car, which was occupied by tent and animal men, belonging to the circus. It is reported that a number were killed.

JIM HILL FOR CHINA

The Magnate Will Build Roads in That Country.

St. Paul, Aug. 7. — James J. Hill, who built railways in the Northwest when everybody said he could not make them pay, will attempt the equally difficult undertaking of building railways in Canada. R. Van Bergen, a personal representative, is making a very careful investigation of the Chinese field. Mr. Van Bergen has just reached China, after a trip from Shanghai to St. Paul, to interview Mr. Hill and his associates, and the first of his reports are authoritatively stated to contain information of a very favorable character. It was stated today that an announcement of Mr. Hill's plans may be expected within a month or two.

DROWNED WHILE FISHING

Brantford Lad Fell Into Canal and Perished.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 7.—A drowning accident occurred at 3:30 yesterday afternoon in the canal near the Market street bridge. The victim was Fred Willitts, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Willitts, who resides in this city. While walking along the beams under the bridge he lost his balance and fell into the water. Being unable to swim he sank, and was carried down stream for a considerable distance by the current. An alarm was turned in and the fire department's life-saving crew responded promptly, but did not recover the body until after an hour and a half's search. Life was extinct. It is believed that the youth was fishing, and in his desire to locate his line in the middle of the canal attempted to walk the beams. A number of local swimming experts assisted the department in the recovery of the body.

STORM AT THE CAPITAL

Kills One Man and Fatally Injures Two Others.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—A terrific electrical storm, accompanied by a wind of cyclone force, which swept down the Upper Ottawa and over Lake Deschene, struck the city with awful force at 4 o'clock yesterday. At Deschene, seven miles from Ottawa, it hit the big sawmill being erected by the Fraser Company, blowing down three walls of the power house, killing one man, probably fatally injuring another, seriously injuring a third and slightly injuring three others. The dead man is James Campbell, son of ex-Ald. W. J. Campbell, boilermaker, Ottawa. Joseph Valiquette, a boilermaker's assistant, had his back broken, and will die. John Chugg, a lineman, was seriously injured, but has a good chance for recovery. The others were only slightly injured. Campbell was sent by his father to superintend the installation of a sawdust carrier, and was in the boiler room when the cyclone struck the building. Three walls were blown in, and the men buried in the debris. They were speedily released and every haste made in bringing them to the hospitals in Ottawa. Campbell had a leg crushed, but it was evident that he had suffered internal injuries. He died on the electric car coming into Ottawa. Valliquette was taken to the Catholic Hospital, and was reported as having no chance for recovery. Chugg is in St. Luke's Hospital. The loss to the Fraser Company was about $10,000.

The storm caught four young men in a yacht on Lake Deschene, who had a narrow escape from drowning. They clung to the upturned boat for an hour before being rescued. Rescuing parties were repeatedly swamped before the storm calmed sufficiently to allow a boat to put out. Trees were blown down and C. P. R. semaphores snapped as if they were so many reeds. In the city very little damage was done beyond the uprooting of a few trees.

ALWAYS A GOOD FRIEND.—In health and happiness we need no friend, but when pain and prostration come we look for friendly aid from sympathetic hands. Those hands can serve us no better than in rubbing in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, for when the Oil is in the pain is out. It has brought relief to thousands who without it would be indeed friendless.

SPAIN CHECKS EMPIRE BUILDER

The Steam Yacht of Jacques Lebaudy Seized.

HOW HIS PARTY WAS FORMED

Member of Expedition to East Africa Gives Details of Millionaire's Project.

Havre, Aug. 7.—The Spanish Government, according to dispatches received here, has seized a steam yacht at Las Palmas, owned by Jacques Lebaudy, the French millionaire, who is engaged in an attempt to establish an empire for himself on the west coast of Africa.

A sailor named Fuseau related how Lebaudy made up his expedition. He says the men were engaged by an agent named Tordo, the men signing articles on board the yacht Aigle, belonging to Prince de Nissol. When they arrived at Las Palmas and saw the yacht Frasquita they were considerably astonished to find only a small vesel of 60 tons, with room for a crew of only a dozen men. The yacht was armed with small, quick firing guns, and had on board a large number of rifles and revolvers, with large quantities of ammunition.

The agent who engaged them had been careful to pick only men who had served either as artillerymen or marines in the French navy.

Capt. Jacques Lebaudy communicated with the crew almost entirely by means of written orders, which were read out by his secretary.

At Las Palmas he had a conflict with the Spanish authorities, who wanted to know whence he came. Lebaudy replied with some heat:

"From my own country. From my own country. I come from my own country. I have no information to give you. I recognize no other flag except that of my yacht," and he pointed to a triangular blue flag with three gold balls flying from the mainmast.

The sailor Fuseau added some picturesque details to the facts already known of Lebaudy's meeting with the Moorish caravan. He said:

"But you have not heard of the abduction of a young native boy or the purchase of a girl. When the long convoy of these desert traders, bristling with lances, appeared on the horizon, Lebaudy was for an instant perplexed. Then he gave orders to his docile followers to indulge in the greatest outward manifestations of respect. Sailors with their tongues in their cheeks began to prostrate themselves before Lebaudy and honor him by a succession of salams.

"We were far from reassured," continued Fuseau, "for the caravan was a strong one, but we were better armed than they were. They had, after all, only their swords and some old flintlock guns. They were, for savages, extremely polite, and they regarded Lebaudy with beaming smiles.

"Lebaudy was soon in their midst, distributing 5 franc pieces right and left, to gain their sympathies. The two troops in consequence soon afterwards pitched their respective tents in most friendly fashion, but an incident occurred which almost led to trouble. For some unexplained reason Lebaudy made a young Moor prisoner, and dragged him on board the Frasquita. The next morning the father and mother of the captive came on board the yacht to implore clemency. Lebaudy finally gave in to their pleadings and set the young man at liberty.

"The next day, however, he noticed among the members of the tribe a beautiful young girl about 16 years old. Fascinated by her beauty, Lebaudy offered the chief of the caravan to buy this pearl of the desert. After much gesticulation (for both parties were forced to communicate by signs) the bargain was about to be concluded, when the African Jeanne d'Arc, realizing that she was about to be sold, began to utter piercing screams.

"The men of the tribe sided with her. The action of the too mercenary chief was severely blamed, and the negotiations were broken off, and the same evening Lebaudy re-embarked, leaving on shore five unfortunate sailors, who were destined to become prisoners of Moors."

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Aug. 7.—Jacques Lebaudy has come in conflict with Spain and his career as an empire builder my be cut short.

The Spanish Government today seized Lebaudy's steam yacht Dahlia, with which he has been landing armed men and supplies on the African coast. Lebaudy's "empire" encroaches on Spanish territory in Africa. The yacht, which came here for repairs, is now moored beside a Spanish gunboat. The French captain of the yacht was at first placed in irons, but is now at liberty.

STOLE $53,000

Is the Charge Against Prominent New York Broker.

New York, Aug. 7.—Detectives yesterday arrested Joseph Cowan, a broker, who lives at Matuchen, N. J., on a charge of larceny of $53,000, which he is said to have appropriated to his own use between March 10, 1902, and the present time. The complainant is Blanche H. Smith, of Milwaukee, who is said to have intrusted the money to Cowan to invest for her benefit. Joseph Cowan is senior member of the firm of Joseph Cowan & Co., which was formed about two years ago, and has branch offices in several cities. The firm is a member of the Toronto Board of Trade. Cowan was later released on $30,000 bail. He declares his arrest is due to the enmity of a former employe.

Nerviline gives instant relief to cramps, colic, stomach pains and summer complaint. "Nerviline is as good as a physician in the house," writes E. A. Archy, of Swansea. It is a powerful reliever of pain and a lasting cure for bowel and stomach disorders. No house should be without this great family medicine. In large 25c bottles, at all druggists.

Sailing vessels for general transportation are now obsolete on the great lakes. Of several hundred such vessels hailing from Chicago not more than 35 are now in use.

VERY MANY PERSONS die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly subdues the pain and disease.

DODGED BULLETS IN OLD KENTUCKY

An Engineer Tells His Experience With Moonshiners.

WAS COMPELLED TO DRINK

Detective as Brakeman on His Train Captured Waldron, the Illicit Whisky King.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—"The best job I ever had in my life," remarked C. P. Merriam, the secretary of the Milwaukee County Soldiers' Relief Commission, who is a locomotive engineer by trade, "was in running a locomotive from Richmond Junction Ky., to Jellico, on the border line between Kentucky and Tennessee, right through the heart of the moonshine district, where they have been having so much trouble since the war on account of the family feuds and the long list of shooting affrays that have followed.

"I only held the place a few months, however. It was too much for me. As a soldier I had traveled all over Kentucky during the war, and could stand it well enough when I had a chance to shoot at an open enemy. That, however, was the wildest and most lawless district I was ever in. We couldn't keep a red light on our train. It was the special delight of the moonshiners to shoot them to pieces. They would also shoot the lanterns as the brakemen hung them on their arms when we had to stop at night and pick up cars at the mills along the route.

"While I was running a freight down there, John E. McManus, a United States detective, was given a place as a brakeman behind me. He would drop off the train in the moonshine district and get left, as if by accident, and on these occasions he managed to get in pretty thick with the moonshiners, visiting their stills up in the mountains and drinking with them.

"For weeks he kept this up, and at last became so thick with the desperadoes that they regarded him as one of their number. Finally, one day as I whistled in and brought my train to a standstill at Woodbine, quick as a flash McManus slipped a pair of handcuffs on his companion and covered him with a revolver. The train crew went to his help, and landed the man on board.

"It was Waldron, the king of the moonshiners, who had shot several detectives, and he was the particular game that McManus was after. He succeeded in landing his prisoner in the penitentiary, where he is still serving a sentence.

"While we were at Little Pittsburg one night, setting off empties and pulling loaded cars on to the main switch for the north-bound freight to pick up, as was the custom with the south-bound train, a man got on the engine and asked:

"'Where are you going?'

"'To Woodbine,' I replied.

"'I'm going with you,' he said, and producing a bottle of whisky, invited me to take a drink.

"I declined, on the ground that I had a headache.

"'Someone has got to drink!' he exclaimed, and the next moment he had the fireman covered with his gun and was handing him the bottle.

"The fireman was obliged to drink in order to save his life.

"'How long do you stay here?' he inquired.

"'Half an hour,' I replied.

"He left the engine, and a few moments later returned with two bottles of beer.

"'This wont give you the headache,' he remarked.

"He next suggested that I hold the bottle up and allow him to shoot the neck off, but I declined and broke the neck of the bottle on the side of the cab and drank the contents.

"A few such experiences as this was enough for me, and I quit the job. Most of the feuds down in that country are the result of the war. The communities divided between the Union and the Confederate cause and fought each other during the rebellion, and have kept it up ever since. The families became involved in shooting scrapes during those stirring days, and the relatives of the victims, Union and Confederate, have kept it up as a sort of family feud ever since, and probably will for generations to come unless a stop is put to it by the law."

GALA DAY AT CHATHAM

Port Huron Merchants Run a Big Excursion.

Chatham, Ont., Aug. 7.—The Port Huron Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association's annual excursion, which visited London last year, came to Chatham yesterday about 1,000 strong. In the morning the Port Huron baseball team was easily defeated by the local team, score 13 to 5. In the afternoon Chatham and Blenheim played an exhibition game of lacrosse. It was a slow game until the last quarter, when the locals got into the game, scoring three goals, the score having before stood 2 to 0 in favor of the visitors. The game ended 3 to 2 in favor of Chatham.

The death occurred Wednesday evening of Mrs. George G. Taylor, of this city, after a lingering illness of several weeks. Interment will take place in London on Saturday.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The impression that British North America is covered with valuable timber is fallacious. Black walnut, red cedar and white oak are not found north of Toronto. A line drawn from the city of Quebec to Sault Ste. Marie will designate the northern limit of beech, elm and birch. The north shore of Lake Superior will mark the northern boundary of sugar hard maple.

Sunlight Soap is useful in more ways than one. It will demonstrate its wonderful cleansing power in every cleansing operation. 98

SHE TREED THE FLIRT

Young Lady and Bulldog Teach Him a Lesson.

Carbondale, Pa., Aug. 7.—For two hours yesterday pretty Elsie Hoagland, of Forest City, with the aid of a bulldog, kept a flirt treed, while a large crowd, attracted by the unusual spectacle, looked on, applauded the girl and "joshed" her victim. The latter was James Manley, a lineman, who was at work on a telegraph pole near the home of Miss Hoagland, when he spied her at the window. Humming "Elsie of Chelsea, a Sweet Little Girl," the lineman made desperate efforts at a conquest. Tiring of his persistence, Miss Hoagland waited until he prepared to move towards the ground, then, with her bulldog, took a position near the foot of the pole. "Tige" obeyed her commands to "watch him," and for two hours Manley pleaded and begged pardons before he was forgiven.

EXCHANGED SHOTS

Burglars and Watchman Clash at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—About 2:30 yesterday morning the office of the Imperial Cotton Company, on Sherman avenue, north of Barton street, was broken into. The burglars blew off the vault door with nitro-glycerine. The noise of the explosion attracted Night Watchman Anderson, who was in the mill. He saw a man standing on guard in front of the office and fired at him. The shot was returned. The night watchman ran upstairs, opened a window, and fired again. There were two men standing near the door, and they fired at Anderson and ran down Sherman avenue. Anderson opened fire on them, but he failed to hit either of them. The vault door was badly damaged. The crooks did not get anything, as no money is kept in the office over night.

SMITH IS FOXY

Young Desperado Gets Credit of Several Robberies.

Galt, Aug. 7. — The police are busy these days hunting for the renowned "Foxy" Smith, the young thief and highwayman, who terrorized these parts last winter by the daring acts of himself and gang. On Sunday it was reported that he had been seen in the woods near Killean, seven miles from here, and the same night eleven policemen were sworn in and surrounded the section in question. While they were thus engaged the C. P. R. station at Schaw was broken into and the till rifled of what it contained, supposedly by Smith and his pals. On Saturday night the office of George Pattinson's woolen mill at Preston was broken into, the safe door blown off, and a small sum of money secured, the watchman narrowly escaping death from a bullet as he chased the three cracksmen as they decamped. Other depredations of a mild character have lately been committed. "Foxy" gets the credit for them all and they certainly look like his handiwork.

POLICEMAN RUNS AMUCK

Fires Cannon in Man's Face and Chops Way Into House.

Highlands, N. J., Aug. 7. — The entire police force of this place ran amuck at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. The police force consists of one man, but he is described as a whole army in himself. Charles Finch is his name. He shipped a big cargo of liquor on Tuesday evening and set off on a cruise for trouble.

Finch anchored outside of Murphy's bar so long that John Vanberger, a bartender, ordered him to weigh anchor. Finch had among other things a package of dynamite. He said he did not want to explode it just then, but would get something that would do as well.

He disappeared and returned in half an hour with the one foot brass cannon that is used for firing salutes at Sandlis' bathing pavilion. The cannon was ready for business, and, placing it on the bar, French discharged it full into Vanberger's face.

One of the bartender's eyes was shot out and his face horribly mangled. He is in a precarious condition.

Dozens witnessed the act, but were afraid to prevent the escape of the policeman, who walked in the direction of Parkertown.

Arriving there, Finch got an axe and went to the home of Charles Parker. Finch, who has had some domestic trouble, was under the impression that Mrs. Parker was harboring Mrs. Finch. The policeman chopped down Parker's front door and searched the house, but failed to find any trace of his wife.

Returning to the highlands, the policeman went to Creighton's Hotel and announced that he was there to blow up the place with dynamite, which he exhibited. He changed his mind, however, and went home, where he was arrested this morning, and remanded without bail to await the result of the bartender's injuries.

Finch told the magistrate that he remembered nothing of his doings except that he was disturbed by bad dreams after he arrived home.

Couldn't Report.

Col. Mills, superintendent of the West Point Academy, has a reputation for sternness even among army men. Years ago, when he first took command of the post at Buffalo, he found that station extremely lax in discipline, and it was no secret among his friends that he proposed to work some reforms. Shortly after his installation he was one day annoyed by the receipt of a telegram from subordinate officers on a furlough, which read: "Will not report today as expected, account unavoidable circumstances."

The tone of the message was not at all to Col. Mills' mind, and he wired at once in reply: "Report as expected or give reasons."

Within an hour the following message came over the wires from a hospital in New York:

"Train off, can't ride; legs off, can't walk. Will not report unless you insist."

The colonel did not insist.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Distinguished Visitors.

London, Aug. 7.—Hon. George Peel, who recently distinguished himself by letters to the Times criticising Canada's preferential policy, sailed for Canada Wednesday on the steamer Canada. Sir William Holland leaves for Canada on Saturday to attend the chambers of commerce congress at Montreal, where he will represent the Manchester and Associated Chambers of United Kingdom.

Continental waiters, says Truth, have an international system, in the way they paste hotel labels on visitors' luggage, of showing what may be expected in the matter of tips.

MR. TAYLOR'S SUCCESSOR

Mr. John F. Mackay Appointed Business Manager of Globe.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Mr. John F. Mackay, of Woodstock, has been appointed business manager of the Globe, in succession to the late Mr. Charles W. Taylor. Mr. Mackay, although still a young man, has won a place among the foremost newspaper men in Canada. He began his newspaper career in the office of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, and, after brief terms in Toronto and Chatham, held for several years the position of business manager of the Montreal Herald. During the past four years he has had charge of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, in partnership with Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M. P. P. In each position he has achieved distinct success, and in the larger sphere to which he is now called his business ability, varied experience and personal character will make him a worthy successor to a truly worthy man. Mr. Mackay is now arranging to dispose of his Woodstock interests, and will enter on his duties in the Globe office during the present month.

WANTS $10,000 DAMAGES

An Engineer's Widow Is Suing the Canadian Pacific.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—A writ for $10,000 damages against the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was issued in the high court yesterday on behalf of Mrs. Rose Langelier and family. The action is taken to recover the loss sustained by the death of Napoleon Langelier, Mrs. Langelier's husband, who was a C. P. R. engineer. Mr. Langelier was in a railway accident at Carleton Junction on May 28, and died thirteen days after, as a result of the injuries. On May 28, when running into Carleton Place, a freight train stood in the way and the engineer, seeing that a collision was imminent, jumped, and sustained the injuries which afterwards proved fatal.

MANY INVENTIONS

Or the Fantastic Fiction of the Conservative Press.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The Conservative journals have begun to fabricate a new line of stories. A while ago the effort was made to create the impression that dissensions prevailed in the Cabinet. Now they are conjuring up quarrels between Sir William Mulock and Mr. Fielding over the Premiership, which is not vacant, and is not likely to be so for a long time to come. Of how foolish and utterly unreliable those reports are, one illustration only need be given. A night or two ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the French Liberal members held a conference upon some matters affecting the organization of the party. The following evening the local Tory journal came out with a scare-head story, representing that the Premier had consulted his followers in regard to making concessions to the Winnipeg Catholics. The following morning the very same paper gave a new version of the conference. This time it was a demand made upon the Government for increased subsidies on behalf of the Province of Quebec. Both reports were as far from the real object of the meeting as anything very well could be. They serve to show, however, the purely imaginative character of the yarns which are appearing in the Conservative press.

IMMIGRATION FIGURES

Nearly 95,000 Enter Country in Seven Months.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—According to immigration returns supplied by the department of the interior, the arrivals for July number 11,278. This is a falling off as compared with the previous months of the year, but it so happens that the immigration during July of every year is much smaller than for the other summer months. The arrivals for last month were made up, 5,093 British, 2,867 from the continent, and 3,318 from the United States. Compared with July, 1902, there is an increase of 2,639. For July, 1902, there were 2,170 immigrants from Great Britain, 3,168 from the continent and 3,251 from the United States, or a total of 8,589. For the first seven months of the calendar year 1903 to July 31 the returns give a total of 94,315, as against 54,040 for 1902. The British immigrants numbered 36,802, as against 12,804 for the same period of the previous year; the continental immigrants 29,157, as compared with 21,391, and the immigrants from the United States 28,356, compared with 18,845.

DR. MORTON VERY ILL

Was Presbyterian Missionary to Isle of Trinidad.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 7. — News has been received of the very serious illness of Rev. Dr. Morton, the veteran missionary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who for 36 years has been laboring in Trinidad. He has started on a voyage to England, but the hope that he will recover is slim. He has been attacked by stomach trouble complicated with other ailments.

HOLDEN WHITE DIES

Was Subjected to Alleged Harsh Treatment by Police.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 7. — Holden White, of Walkerville, the young man who was arrested and subjected to alleged unseeming treatment at the hands of police officers at Woodbridge street station, Detroit, and who had been lying at the point of death since, died at midnight last night.

Yesterday was the 26th anniversary of White's birth. White, who was of exemplary habits and not given to drink, as had been rumored, had been a newsboy in Walkerville, since he was 8 years old, and latterly had been an agent for a number of papers, with a number of boys in his charge.

Boy Loses a Foot.

Brantford, Aug. 7.—Charlie Snider, the 10-year-old son of Charles Snider, of this city, met with a serious accident near the Waterous Engine Works yards Wednesday. While engaged in play with several other boys, his foot became caught between the rails, and he was run over by a shunting car. The foot was afterwards amputated, and the youth is now progressing favorably at the hospital.

THE DOCTORS MEET HERE

Probably Four Hundred Will Attend Convention.

Fine Programme Has Been Arranged for Their Entertainment.

The programme of the 36th annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association, which is to be held here on the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th of this month, has been arranged, and it is of such a nature that a very large number of Canadian practitioners will be attracted to the convention, probably four hundred or more. Railway rates of single fare, applicable to doctors' wives and daughters as well, have been secured, the delegates to obtain certificates when purchasing single tickets.

The committee that has charge of the entertainment is working energetically, and when the time arrives the arrangements will be found most complete. The programme provides, among other things, for a smoking concert at Springbank, a reception at the asylum, and on the third day an excursion to the laboratories of the Parke-Davis Company, Walkerville, and Detroit, including two pleasure trips up and down the Detroit River, and a banquet at the Hotel Russell in the evening. Special trains to and from Detroit have been arranged for. On the first afternoon the ladies of London will entertain the visiting ladies at the Kennels.

The business of the meeting embraces numerous papers and discussions. It will be presided over by Dr. W. H. Moorhouse, of this city, who will deliver the annual presidential address. Other addresses will be given as follows: Medicine, Dr. H. A. McCallum, London; surgery, Dr. Alex H. Ferguson, Chicago; gynecology, Dr. Matthew D. Mann, Buffalo. Dr. W. P. Caven will open a discussion on the treatment of typhoid fever, which will be continued by Dr. J. Herald, Kingston; Dr. W. B. Thistle, Toronto, and Dr. H. A. McCallum, London. A discussion on the diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis peritonitis will be led by Dr. A. B. Atherton, Fredericton, N. B. Others who will take part in this will be Dr. A. Groves, Fergus; Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, Toronto, and Dr. L. C. Prevost, Ottawa.

The following is a list given by the committee, as those who are among those expected to read papers at convention: Dr. George M. Gould, editor of American Medicine, Philadelphia; Dr. George F. Butler, Alma, Mich.; Dr. Theo A. McGraw, Detroit; Dr. J. H. Carstens, Detroit; Dr. E. G. Wood, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. E. Hornibrook, Cherokee, Iowa; Dr. A. Lapthorn Smith, Montreal; Dr. A. M. Our Canadian Imperialists.

The Montreal branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association discussed Imperial preferential trade yesterday, and urged the "adequate" protection of Canadian industries with the tariff upon articles not manufactured in Canada so adjusted as to insure the purchase of these goods in Great Britain. The tariff is to be adequate for the exclusion, if possible, of British goods, which compete with the Canadian-made article, but to show their affection for the old flag and give Mr. Chamberlain a helping hand, the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association express the pious wish that Canadians will prefer to buy from the mother country what they cannot buy at home. The great sentimental value of this resolution will be appreciated in Great Britain, especially by British manufacturers. To be sure, the bulk of our imports from the old country come into competition with Canadian industries. Shut out manufactures of iron and steel, cottons, woolens and other textiles, and British sales to Canada would not amount to much. For this reason it is to be hoped Great Britain will not approach the question in a sordid and calculating spirit. The British Empire is held together by bonds of sentiment, and the mother country ought to be satisfied with the pledges of our affection and loyalty. We don't want her goods, but we crave her love and protection, and a preference of 5 cents a bushel on wheat for the upbuilding of the Empire.

Contradictory Criticisms.

In one breath the opponents of the Grand Trunk Pacific contract denounce it as being too favorable to the company, and in the next they declare that the eastern section of the road will not pay for the axle-grease.

How do they propose to reconcile these two statements?

If the eastern section will not pay for the axle-grease, the promoters of the Grand Trunk Pacific are making a gigantic blunder. They are required to operate the road from end to end; to spend $5,000,000 for rolling stock for the eastern section; to pay 3 per cent of the cost of construction for 43 years, and pay for all the improvements for 50 years. Here is a liability of at least $75,000,000. One thing is plain, Mr. Hays and his associates must believe the eastern section can be put on a paying basis, perhaps not immediately, but in a few years' time, when the company must begin to pay rental to the Government. On this question Mr. Hays is probably better qualified to judge than the quidnuncs who are decrying the enterprise. If the Winnipeg-Moncton line proves a paying section of the road within ten years, the contract with the Government will turn out to be a favorable one for the company; and in that event it will prove to be an qually favorable one for the Dominion. The success of the road will demonstrate that the country required it, and will testify to the wisdom of the Government in promoting an all-Canadian line.

A Missouri Hero.

The State of Missouri has thrown up a civic hero who is attracting the attention of the whole country. When Joseph W. Folk, of St. Louis, was nominated by the Democrats for the office of district attorney, he warned them that he intended to do his work without fear or favor. He kept his pledge, and the first summons of duty brought him into collision with his party friends. St. Louis had been for years a pocket borough for a nest of boodlers, who levied toll on every franchise that went through the city council. When Folk undertook to clean out the foul brood the leaders of his party implored him to stop, but Folk went resolutely on his way. The further he probed, the worse the corruption which he exposed. Behind the boodlers of the city hall were the rich corporations, who furnished the bribes. When the probes of the district attorney began to touch the big men, prominent citizens, including business men, lawyers, bankers and even ministers went to Folk and begged him to desist, representing that he was scandalizing the community and bringing reproach upon honored names. Folk could be neither wheedled nor threatened out of his duty. Some of the boodlers fled the country, others were indicted, and one of the chief sinners confessed. Finally the ringleaders were convicted and sent to prison for terms ranging from five to seven years. Folk had to fight the battle single-handed. Arrayed against him were powerful elements, including a host of so-called respectable citizens, men of the very highest standing in the city, who were fearful of offending the great interests which had profited by crooked practices. The attitude of these men Mr. Folk pronounced to be the most discouraging feature of the situation. Now that he has broken up the St. Louis ring, he is turning his attention to the state legislature, and is unearthing more corruption. He has already forced the lieutenant-governor of the state to resign. His conduct has so appealed to the moral sense of the people of Missouri that they are demanding his nomination for governor, and it looks as if the Democratic machine, in self-defense, will have to choose him as the candidate.

The new Pope was born of peasant parents. His older brother, Angelo, is a letter-carrier, besides keeping a small shop in which he sells pork. His sisters are all reported to be engaged in equally modest callings. Evidently a man is elected Pope for what he is, not for what fortune has done for him.

"Montreal is going to publish its assessment list as the best means of exposing the inequalities of taxation. As Ottawa's revising committee seems backward in the work, perhaps this would be the better means to adopt."—Ottawa Citizen.

London tried it a few years ago. The city clerk had to hire a dray to carry away the printed assessment lists and burn them. Nobody wanted them.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association offers John Bull a brand of preference "not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of esteem."

The Lords are inclined to lay rude hands on the Irish land bill. They have so often maltreated Liberal measures that their present conduct is like giving the Tories a dose of their own medicine.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, commenting on the failure of Toronto's home-coming celebration, points out that these things can be done better in a smaller place and adds:

"The reunion at London on Monday, for instance, attracted people from every part of the continent. A large proportion of the visitors were from across the border and herein lies one of the principal advantages of these various gatherings. These men return to the homes of their adoption and tell the people there of the progress being made in their native country. They recite at length all the advantages of life here—the stability of our government, the uniformity of our administration of justice, our high moral and educational standards, our fine rugged climate—and the hearers cannot fail to be impressed. As advertisements for the Dominion it would be hard to get anything better than the Old Boys' reunions and we have every reason to hope for their continued success."

Mr. John F. Mackay, of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, has been appointed business manager of the Toronto Globe, a great prize in Canadian newspaperdom. Mr. Mackay is a young man, but he is one of the brightest in the business, and is personally very likeable. He began his career in Woodstock, but has had the advantage of several years' experience on the Montreal Herald, returning to Woodstock to take a partnership in the Sentinel-Review. We believe the Globe has made no mistake in its choice.

Why Object?

[Toronto Star.]

Why should anyone in Canada object to the erection of a monument to Washington in London? Better for us that the English should show goodwill to the United States in that way than in giving away Canada's rights in a boundary dispute or something of that kind.

Will Stave Off Hard Times.

[Brantford Expositor.]

With continued good crops, and something like $100,000,000 to be expended upon another great transcontinental railway, the return of hard times, so far as Canada is concerned, would seeem to be a long way off.

Mrs. Homer—That is my brother.

Witless—Indeed! He doesn't resemble you in the least.

Laurier On the G. T. P.

[From the Premier's speech on Thursday, July 30.]

"Another transcontinental railway, every inch of it on Canadian soil, is a national as well as a commercial necessity; it is a corollary of our status as a nation."

"Now is the time for action; the flood tide is upon us that leads on to fortune. If we let it pass it may never recur again; if we let it pass, the voyage of our national life, bright as it is today, will be arrested in the shallows."

"We cannot wait, because time does not wait."

"Time lost now during our wonderful development is time doubly lost."

"The prairies of the Northwest, which for countless ages have been roamed over by the wild herds of bison, or by the scarcely less wild tribes of red men, are now invaded by the white race. They came last year 100,000 strong."

"The sum total of the money to be paid by the Government for the construction of the entire line of railway from Moncton to the Pacific Ocean will be in the neighborhood of $12,000,000 or $13,000,000, and not a cent more."

"It will not only open territory hitherto idle and unprofitable; it will not only force Canadian trade into Canadian channels; it will not only promote citizenship between Old Canada and New Canada, but it will secure us a commercial independence, and it will forever make us free from the bondage of the bonding privilege."

"The Canadian Confederation would have been a union on paper, and a union on paper only, but for the fact that the G. T. R. the C. P. R., and the L. C. R. brought all parts of our country together in unison to pulsate with one and the same heart. This new railway will be another link in that chain of union."

"We offer to the House today a contract which is free from all clauses which were the blemish of former railway contracts in this country, and which is far superior to them in every other respect."

"Sir, I claim that everyone who has in his bosom a stout Canadian heart will welcome it as a scheme worthy of this young nation, for whom a heavy task has no terrors, and which young nation has the strength to face grave duties and grave responsibilities."

"We look upon this new transcontinental line as a work of a national character necessitated by the status of Canada in the year 1903, just as the Intercolonial Railway was necessitated by the status of Canada a few years after confederation."

STORIES OF THE CONCLAVE

No Truth in the Reports of Intrigue Amongst Cardinals.

London, Aug. 7.—The Times correspondent at Rome says: There is no basis for the old "misconception," fostered chiefly by the continental press, concerning the conduct of the Sacred College before and during the deliberations. He recalls that the strange tales of intrigues and counter-intrigues, the private rancors and petty feuds told at the time of the conclave which elected Leo XIII. were afterwards disproved when the true history of the conclave was written, and says that much the same process has been taking place during the conclave just closed. One seemed to be witnessing the reproduction of an old play wherein all the antiquated stage properties were again brought to sight. Stage cardinals acted as stage cardinals should—bickered, quarreled, intrigued and entered upon dark conspiracies for the confusion of their enemies, while in the background stalked mysterious figures, the counterfeit presentments of kings, emperors and potentates. It would be useless, probably, to protest that this was not a true picture, and it must be confessed that the reality was decorous; in fact rather dull beside the stirring sensations of the melodrama. Yet behind the scenes, where one could witness the actual manufacture of the puppets who were placed on the stage, one was sometimes amazed at the gullibility of a world which believed in their reality. As it is useless to protest, one must be content to state the firm conviction, based on the closest and most careful observation of recent proceedings, that the conduct of the members of the Sacred College before, during and after the conclave was absolutely in accordance with their high office and grave responsibilities, and the dictates of their consciences.

FOUR DAYS IN FREIGHT CAR

How a Beat Traveled From Halifax to Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 7. — When Winnipeg checkers opened a C. P. R. freight refrigerator car here Wednesday they found a man named Henry Johnson concealed therein. Johnson was hidden in the car at Halifax and came through with the car on a passenger train. He had been four days without food, but was not much the worse for wear. He was charged at the police station with beating his way without a ticket, but the magistrate released him with a warning.

In Danger.

Every one is in danger who neglects the warnings of declining health. The warnings are not as startling as the sudden shriek of a locomotive, but they are just as ominous. When the body begins to lose in flesh, when the cheek is hollow and the skin sallow it is Nature's warning that the body is failing of proper nourishment. It is a condition of "weak" stomach, and "weak" stomach soon involves other organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote, but which have their origin in the disease of the stomach and its allied organs.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"Before I commenced to use your medicine I was in a bad condition (for eight years), and four doctors treated me," writes Mrs. Bettie Askew, of Garysburg, Northampton Co., N. C. "They, of course, gave me at the time some relief, but it did not last long. I was some days in my bed and some days I dragged about the house. I have used five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five of the 'Favorite Prescription' and four vials of the 'Pellets.' Now I feel like a new woman, and I want the world to know it."

THE SALARIES OF COMMISSIONERS

Dominion Parliament Passes Resolution Fixing Amount.

GRANT FOR A YEAR'S EXPENSES

The Measure Reported for Third Reading—The Lead Bounty Resolution Carried.

Ottawa, Aug. 6. — In the House of Commons today, replying to Mr. Earle, Sir William Mulock stated that the report of the labor commission on the British Columbia labor trouble was being printed.

Hon. Mr. Sifton, replying to Mr. Carscallen, stated that the Government had intimated to the Royal Society of Canada that if the International Congress of Geology accepts the invitation to hold its next meeting in 1906 in Canada the Government would appropriate a sum of money towards the entertainment of the society. Also that Dr. Bell, acting director of the Geological Survey, had been deputed to carry the invitation to this year's congress, which meets at Vienna.

In reply to Lieut.-Col. Hughes, it was stated by Hon. Mr. Fielding that the Government had appointed no medical officer for the Government contracts on the Balsam Lake and Lake Simcoe section of the Trent Canal, that the department was not aware that the contractor had not been paid for some time, and that no complaints had been received.

Hon. Mr. Fielding moved that the resolution granting aid for the proposed news cable service between Great Britain and Canada be taken into consideration tomorrow.

The House then took up the resolutions to provide for the salaries of the commissioners under the Railway Act. The chief commissioner is to receive $10,000 a year and the other two $8,000 each.

The Premier said that these salaries were the highest paid by the Government of Canada—higher than the judges of the supreme court or the ministers of the crown. The commissioners, however, would hold office for only ten years. Their duties would be quite as important as those of the judiciary, and the chief commissioner especially would have to be a man versed in the law and in the practical working of railways.

Mr. Monk asked what would be the total cost of the commission per annum.

Mr. Blair said that having regard to the amount of work to be done, especially in the earlier stages of the commissioner work, he thought it would be unwise to appropriate less than $100,000 for the first year. If it proved to be too much no harm would be done, while if it had not ample funds its work would be greatly hampered.

Mr. Fielding said that the amount which Parliament would be asked to vote had not yet been determined.

The resolutions were then adopted.

The other clauses of the Railway Bill were then taken up.

A clause was inserted that in the classification of goods for freight charges, no goods shall be moved from a lower to a higher class without publishing the same in the Canada Gazette for six weeks, or such further period as the commissioners may determine.

Mr. Fitzpatrick offered a clause to the effect that when any Government assistance is given to a railway, in the shape of either a subsidy or guarantee, the company shall pay such wages as prevail in the district where the work is performed, and in district where there is no current rate of wages, the rate paid shall be fair and reasonable, to be determined by the Minister of Railways in case of disagreement.

Some doubt was expressed by several members as to how far this would prove effective. The question was raised as to whether the company could contract itself out of the obligation to pay the current rate of wages, and also as to whether the matter did not come properly within the powers of the Provincial Legislatures.

After some discussion, however, the clause was adopted.

Mr. Ingram pointed out that the clause with reference to safety appliances required them to be put on all box and freight cars built in Canada for use on Canadian railroads, but no such provision was made as to cars imported from the United States. He wanted it altered so as to apply to all cars used in Canada.

Mr. Fitzpatrick agreed to amend the clause so as to provide that all box and freight cars purchased or leased by Canadian railways after the passage of the act shall be equipped with the appliances named in the bill.

Mr. Guthrie offered an amendment to the effect that when a railway employe is injured he should not be barred from recovering damages by reason of his membership in any benefit society connected with the railway.

Mr. Fitzpatrick protested earnestly against the proposed amendment as being both unnecessary and ultra vires.

The amendment was finally voted down by 41 to 25.

The bill was then reported from committee and sent for its third reading.

The resolution to grant a bounty on lead was then taken up. The bounty is to be $15 a ton, the total amount not to exceed $500,000 in each fiscal year, and the bounty to be proportionately reduced when the price of pig lead in London, England, exceeds £12 10s per ton of 2,240 pounds.

The resolution was carried after some discussion.

Amendments still continue to be suggested for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway bill.

Mr. Hackett gives notice that he will move that the bill be referred back to committee of the whole, to be amended by providing that "the company may acquire and operate the railway from Sackville, on the line of the Intercolonial, to Cape Tormentine in New Brunswick, and in the event of acquiring said railway, shall construct a line at Carleton Point, in Prince Edward Island, place suitable steamships on the route and maintain efficient communication summer and winter between Prince Edward Island and the mainland."

Mr. Ganong will move an amendment providing that a branch line be built from Grand Falls, N. B., crossing the St. John River and passing along the west side of the river to Woodstock and the head of the Maguacleven River, and through the town of St. George to Letang Harbor, in the mouth of the Bay of Fundy.

Mr. Fielding on Monday will move the following resolution: "Resolved, that it is expedient to enact as follows: Advances may be made from time to time out of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada, to the Minister of Railways and Canals, to enable him to purchase necessary materials and stores for the construction, renewal, maintenance and operation of the Canadian Government railways, and for the establishment and conduct of railway stores, provided that the sums so advanced shall not exceed annually for the Intercolonial Railway the sum of $1,500,000, and for the Prince Edward Island Railway the sum of $100,000."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will introduce a bill to amend the mounted police act.

Sir William Mulock will introduce a bill to amend the civil service act.

Mr. Barker on Monday will inquire of the ministry, first, why did Sir Wm. Van Horne decline to act on the transportation commission? Second, had Sir William been informed previous to his refusal that the Government intended to enter into the national transcontinental railway arrangements, and did he decline after receiving such information? Third, did the Government ascertain Sir William's views on the contemplated arrangements and intimate to him that it was desirable that he should not act?

Brophy, John Stevely, Fred Goldsmith, Dr. J. B. Campbell, Ald. Becher, S. F. Glass, William McPhillips, John M. Daly, James D. Tytler, James Egan, St. Thomas; Ed J. Ryan, Sam Stevely, Harry E. Buttrey, W. F. Higgins, of Cleveland; Thomas Weston, Chicago; George C. Jolly, F. Vann, Thomas Wilson, D. J. Cowan, George H. Merritt, George W. Torrance, Toronto; Dr. Guest, St. Thomas; H. E. Hickson, John Deprose, James P. Murray, B. Noble, Harry Merritt, E. J. Carr, Victor Mitchell, John Elson, B. C. McCann, Ald. Cooper, Chief of Police Williams.

A number of prominent persons had been invited to attend, but were unable to do so. Among those who sent regrets were: Lord Minto, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, F. E. Devlin (president of St. Patrick's Society, Montreal), Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick (Minister of Justice), C. S. Hyman, M. P., Hon. F. R. Latchford (Provincial Minister of Public Works), Rev. Father Egan (London), Lieut.-Col. Denison (London), William E. Mullins (St. Albans, Vermont), John Milden (president of St. Patrick's Society (Cornwall), James E. Day (president of St. Patrick's Society, Guelph), John Pringle (president of St. Andrew's Society, London), and James McMillan (chief of Camp Flower, of Dunblane, Sons of Scotland, London).

One of the pleasing features of the banquet was the presentation to Mr. Denis Mason of the telegram recently received from King Edward in reply to the one sent by the society during his trip to Ireland. Mr. Mason made the suggestion, which led up to the message being sent to his majesty, and he was more than pleased with the action of the society in presenting him with the telegram.

Mr. Mason is a most ardent admirer of the King, and is not at all unlike him—a fact which was commented upon by Mr. Murphy, when making the presentation.

Another feature of the evening was the presentation to Dr. Wilson of a pair of silver mugs for his twin babies. The cups were donated by Mr. Mason for the baby show, but as there were no entries of twin babies he thought it would be well to have them presented to the past president for his children.

Mr. Fred Goldsmith, the veteran ball player; Ald. Becher and Wm. Spence, of the Kenwick quartet, rendered songs and the quartet gave a number of selections.

Dr. Fred Guest, of St. Thomas, was one who responded to the toast, "The Corporations of London and St. Thomas," and he told the Irishmen of London not to be surprised to hear of the formation of an Irish Benevolent Society in St. Thomas at an early date.

NO TROUBLE SINCE

But Angus Campbell Was Ill for a Year Before He Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lime Hill, West Bay, Cape Breton, N. S., Aug. 3.—(Special).—Lime Hill can furnish many proofs that Dodd's Kidney Pills effectually cure Kidney Ailment. Angus Campbell is one of them. He says:

"For over a year I was troubled with sore back and loss of appetite. I had doctors but they did me no good. At last I sent for two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and the result was they cured me completely.

"I have not been troubled with Kidney Trouble since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. I can highly recommend them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have a growing popularity in Cape Breton. Everybody who has tried them for any Kidney Trouble, from Backache to Bright's Disease, recommends them.

The Glass Bottle Blowers' Union is financially the strongest trades union in the country, having $200,000 surplus in its national treasury and as much more in local treasuries.

FIVE WERE DROWNED

Catastrophe Due to Big Storm in the East.

New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 7.—A tug which arrived here last night from the south reported the loss of the barge Florrie between Barnegat and Fire Island during Wednesday's storm. Five persons went down with the barge. Captain Cobb and one of the deck hands of the barge were saved by the towing tug. Mrs. Cobb, the captain's wife, his 10-year-old son, a man named Jones and the engineer and cook were drowned. The storm swept away the barge's deckhouse and before the tug, the Boswell, could effect a rescue, the barge sank. Captain Cobb and a deckhand clung to a hatch until rescued by the tug half an hour after the disaster.

A BOGUS CHECK ARTIST

He Touched Many Hotelmen in Canada.

Toronto, Aug. 7. — It will be a satisfaction to one or more hotelmen, to know that John Henry Hollander is under arrest in Cleveland. He is a fugitive from justice, and is wanted in many cities besides Toronto. When apprehended he had three small grips, containing bonds, blank checks, and other papers. One check, for $1,700, was signed by himself. Hollander is a bogus check artist. He operated in Toronto, where he "touched" a leading hotel for $75. Speaking of the sharper, Inspector Stark said yesterday: "We traced Hollander from Montreal to Windsor. He had registered in most of the large places en route, but if the hotel men elsewhere suffered, they didn't say anything. We are not likely to get this fellow, for he will have reached the threescore-years-and-ten before the American authorities are done with him."

A CANADIAN CARDINAL

A Quebec Archbishop Likely to Get the Honor.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—That one of the Canadian archbishops may be raised to a cardinalship, now incumbent of the chair of St. Peter in Rome, is one of the possibilities of the next few weeks. Local members of the church are canvassing the situation, and judging from reports from inside places the topic is a general one all over Canada.

Among Toronto Roman Catholics Archbishop Begin, of Quebec, is looked upon as by all means the most likely. Though not the senior archbishop, he ranks high in ability and popularity. The senior, Archbishop Duhamel, of Ottawa, whose ordination dates back 29 years, is not considered to be as strong a claimant as Archbishop Begin, of Quebec. While Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal, ranks nigh in ability, energy and popularity, he is handicapped by his comparatively short term as archbishop. Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax, with 30 years' service in that capacity, is also regarded as a possible appointee, but his age and feebleness count against him.

No message of congratulation has yet been sent from Ontario to the new Pope, but it is likely that the Ontario bishops will shortly send their collective good wishes. In a sense it may be looked upon as their formal acquiescence in the election, as it is their first official acknowledgment of it.

THE LINERS WILL REMAIN BRITISH

Admiralty Dictates Terms to Morgan's Big Shipping Combine.

London, Aug. 6. — The agreement of the International Marine Company with the British admiralty and the board of trade is published in a parliamentary paper tonight.

It provides that the British companies in the combines shall remain on an equal footing with other British companies in respect to any military, naval or postal service that the British Government may require from the British mercantile marine. No British ship in the combine shall be transferred to a foreign registry without the consent of the president of the board of trade. The vessels shall continue to be officered by British subjects, and carry the same proportion of British sailors as is prescribed in the case of any other British ships engaged in the same line of trade. The vessels shall still be subject to hire or purchased by the admiralty on the same terms as existed prior to the combination. At least one moiety of the tonnage built or acquired during the continuance of the agreement shall be registered as British. Any company hereafter taken into the combination shall be subject to the same terms. The British companies included in the combine shall continue to be British companies, qualified to own British ships, and at least a majority of their directors shall be British subjects. Nothing shall be done to jeopardize the existing British register or the right of a vessel to fly the British flag. Any British combine shall be subject to the conditions of the agreement, and the combine shall advise the British Government of any other lines of whatever nationality they may be that may hereafter be absorbed.

The agreement shall continue for twenty years, dating from Sept. 22, 1902, and shall be terminable thereafter at five years' notice on either side. It is provided that the British Government has the right to terminate the agreement at any time should the combine pursue a policy injurious to the interests of the British mercantile marine or British trade.

The International Mercantile Marine Company agrees that the chairman of the British commission shall accept service on behalf of the American company of any process or other document arising in connection with the agreement.

The lord high chancellor is appointed referee in any dispute arising out of the agreement. His decision in law and fact shall be final.

The agreement is signed by Gerald Balfour, for the board of trade; Admiral Lord Kerr, senior naval lord and Rear Admiral May, third naval lord, for the admiralty; Sir Clinton Dawkins, on behalf of the International Mercantile Marine Company and by the directors of the constituent companies.

HAIL AND WIND CREATE HAVOC

Much Damage Done to Barns and Crops in Lambton County.

Forest, Ont., Aug. 7.— Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock a disastrous cyclone swept through a portion of Plympton Township, two miles west of Forest, and the damage done by wind and hail is serious.

The following had their barns blown down or unroofed: George Beattie, Thomas Gammon, Arthur Gammon, —— Annister, James Hubbard, John Stonehouse and George Core.

Dozens of windmills were wrecked, several chimneys were blown off dwelling houses, and fences were leveled to the ground.

The hail which accompanied the wind was terrific. Windows were shattered, orchards were stripped of their fruit and foliage and fields of oats literally threshed out and beaten into the ground. The hail was three inches deep.

Several persons were injured by loads of grain being upset and flying boards.

In Forest some damage was done, the end of the Franklin House barn, a brick building, being blown in, and fruit trees riddled.

In Warwick Township the roof was blown off Frank Jenkins' barn, and apple orchards were badly damaged. The storm came off Lake Huron without a moment's warning, and spent itself in a short time.

COLOR IN U. S. NAVY

Officers Refuse to Recognize Negro Carpenter.

New York, Aug. 7. — The color line has been drawn on board the United States receiving ship Columbia at the Brooklyn navy yard. The chief petty officers have refused to mess with Isaac Miller, a negro, who has just been sworn in as chief carpenter's mate. They have asserted their unwillingness to associate with him in any way, or to receive or carry out any orders that may come from him in the line of duty. Captain Snow, of the Columbia, says Miller's rights will be protected.

YANKEE POACHERS

Probability of Their Going After Canadian Salmon.

Vancouver, Aug. 7 — The free lance gill-netters on the salmon banks of Puget Sound have heard that the American Government has just removed the duty on Canadian salmon entering the United States, and the more piratical among them are said to be talking of doing a little quiet poaching in Canadian waters should the run to the Fraser prove better than that to the Sound.

The gill-netters and purse-seiners on Puget Sound in the aggregate have a none too savory reputation, and if they once decide to poach in Canadian waters the utmost vigilance on the part of the fisheries officials will be required to prevent them reaping a great harvest. It would be a comparatively easy matter for the Americans to slip past Point Roberts, and well up into the gulf, where they could fill their boats and return to the American side as easily as they came.

GILBERT PARKER ON DEAR FOOD

He Says the Wheat Fields of Canada Will Solve the Problem.

London, Aug. 6. — The Financial Times, commenting on the programme of the Montreal Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, has no fault to find with the ten resolutions emanating from the Canadian chambers, except that from Belleville, asking for the destruction of inter-Imperial tariff barriers, which it is obviously impossible to table. All the Canadian resolutions, it says, make requests for preference in the friendliest terms, except Winnipeg, which complains of lack of reciprocity. The Financial Times hopes that the Montreal Chamber of Commerce will withdraw the ill-advised motion concerning Imperial defense.

Fifty delegates, representing provincial chambers of commerce, sailed today from Liverpool on the Allan liner Bavarian to participate in the international meeting at Montreal.

In a long letter to the Times today, Sir Gilbert Parker makes short work of many of the anti-Chamberlain arguments. In discussing the dearer food terror, he says this past year 110,000 emigrants went to Canada, and over 3,000,000 acres of land were taken up. If only three-fourths of this one year's settlement were put under wheat, within four years, at sixteen bushels to the acre, there would be poured into the world's markets 36,000,000 bushels of wheat. Would bread in England for the poor men be dearer or cheaper in that case? If cheaper, then wheat should receive the smallest preference, which would secure for Great Britain from Canada the 50,000,000 cwt of wheat now obtained from the United States. A preference of two and a half to two shillings would be sufficient. He denies that Mr. Chamberlain ever named the amount of the preference at all. What he advocated is the principle. Sir Gilbert Parker says: "Do the colonies expect more than two to two and a half shillings tax? I have every reason to believe that they don't. They would be satisfied, indeed would welcome, that amount of preference." Regarding the attitude of the United States, Sir Gilbert Parker suggests that Mr. Chamberlain's proposals will probably lead America to see the desirability of a readjustment of tariffs with the British Empire, though reciprocity is very unlikely.

LORDS OPPOSE IRISH MEASURE

Divisions on Amendments in Committee Show Determined Opposition to Bill.

London, Aug. 7. — The committee stage of the Irish land bill was reached in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon. There was an unusually large attendance of Irish peers.

The divisions on the amendments indicated a determined fight, and in the division on the first amendment the government narrowly escaped defeat, by one vote. In the following division the Government was defeated by three votes. Neither amendment was vital to the bill, but as notice has been given of 34 pages of amendments this early opposition to the Government rouses in Nationalist circles apprehension of trouble before the committee stage of the bill is concluded.

Another amendment, moved by Lord Abercorn (Con.) was carried against the Government by a majority of three.

After that the progress was easier, no clause 42, upon reaching which the House of Lords adjourned.

A True Brain Food

must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain—that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvelous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red, vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by all reliable druggists.

COSSACKS WHIP RUSSIAN WORKMEN

Gendarmes and Police on Verge of Mutiny—Incendiarism in Many Parts of Empire.

Kieff, Aug. 7.—The strike in the railway and private workshops continues. An attempt by the strikers to interfere with railway traffic led to a serious riot. The strikers, refusing to disperse, they were fired upon by Cossacks, who subsequently charged, killing and wounding many.

London, Aug. 7. — The Daily Mail's Nikolaieff correspondent, under date of Aug. 2, fully confirms the Times' correspondent's accounts of strikes in South Russia. Groups of men who assembled last Saturday with the intention of holding a meeting were driven into a solid mass by soldiers. About 2,000 strikers being inclosed, the Cossacks rode through them, striking right and left with heavy whips, the fallen men being trampled under the horses' feet. "When the living mass had been thoroughly kneaded to the Governor's will," continues the correspondent, "numerous men were arrested as suspected agitators. It is reported that 400 strikers were seriously injured, and that from six to a dozen succumbed. The whole affair is a typical piece of administrative savagery. The extraordinary feature of the movement of Odessa is that the police and gendarmes belonging to one depot threatened to throw off their uniforms and risk all the terrors of insubordination unless the miserable pittance of 11 to 14 pence which they are allowed daily was increased and the hours of labor reduced. Siberia is losing its terrors even for Russian policemen. The epidemic of incendiarism is spreading through Russia. Scarcely a day passes without news of conflagrations. In 24 of the largest towns the damage by fire during the past month is estimated at from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000. The object of the bulk of the fires is to get insurance money. Many of the incendiaries are Jews, and the insurance companies in some cases have raised premiums 5 per cent."

INTERCEPTED MESSAGES

French Society Say They Caught Several Marconigrams.

London, Aug. 7.—The Canadian Government, standing as it does behind Marconi, special interest lies for Canada in yesterday's news from Paris. The president of the Societe Francaise des Telegraphes et Telegrammes, says his station, Carpi de la Hague, interpreted all the messages sent or received by the Marconi Company not only at the Lizard, but at other points on the English, Scotch and Irish coasts, and holds copies of them at the disposal of Signor Marconi. Signor Marconi leaves London today and sails for Canada on Saturday. He expects to be absent one month and may visit Winnipeg.

CREW FIGHT TRAMPS

A Desperate Encounter on the Erie Railroad.

Jamestown, N. Y., Aug. 7.—A terrific fight occurred between four tramps and the crew of Erie freight train 82, east-bound, between Falconer and Kennedy, at an early hour yesterday, during which Jack Allen, a brakeman, of Headville, Pa., was badly stabbed, and one of the tramps fell between the cars of the train, and was cut in two. There was nothing on the body of the dead man to indicate who he was except a bunch of keys and a key check which bore the name of Samuel Frey, Excelsior Coal Company, Akron, Ohio.

At Randolph one of the tramps was arrested and taken to Salamanca. Another tramp, who is believed to be one of the gang, was arrested later in the day. They both claim innocence in the matter, and refuse to give their names. The man who did the stabbing has not been caught. He is described as wearing a sailor suit.

"SIAMESE TWINS" SAYS CARNEGIE

Considers United States and Canada Bound by Unbreakable Ligaments.

London, Aug. 6. — The members of the commercial committee, which is going to Canada in connection with the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, have been deputed to represent to the Canadian Government the disadvantages to home traders owing to the Canadian system of tendering for contracts.

Writing to the Times today, Andrew Carnegie claims that the cost of transport of exports and imports through Halifax or St. John is much greater than through Montreal or American ports. He quotes figures from the Statesman's Yearbook to show that America does more than double the trade of the rest of the world with Canada, Great Britain included, Canada and the United States, he says, are Siamese twins, commercially bound by an unbreakable ligament, 3,000 miles in length, and which is constantly growing stronger. Those who attempt to interfere with the natural conditions will be wiser men after the effort, but what may be irreparable injury may be done to the country by their rashness. Referring to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statements that he only voiced the sentiments of the people of the States when he said that Britain could not give preference to Canada, because of the bonding privilege, Mr. Carnegie says that the Times' editorial view may have been changed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's opinion.

The Caithness Society of Toronto is unnecessarily alarmed in regard to the erection of a monument to George Washington in Westminster Abbey. Ambassador Choate, in his 4th of July speech, made no such proposal.

The House of Representatives of the Australian Commonwealth yesterday eliminated the clause in the defense bill which rendered the permanent forces liable to serve outside the limits of the Commonwealth.

THE FRUIT CROP

This Year's Will Be Heavier Than Last Year's.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—E. H. Wartman, Dominion fruit inspector, from Montreal, is in Toronto for a month to look after the inspection of fruit in the Toronto division. Mr. Wartman was seen at the fruit market this morning and spoke interestingly of his work, and the prospects in the fruit trade.

"The fruit crop," Mr. Wartman said, "will be bigger in everything than last year. In export apples it will be almost double. Pears, peaches, plums, and, in fact, every kind of fruit, were never more abundant."

Notwithstanding a larger crop, however, prices will likely be well maintained. "The man who packs his fruit honestly and marks it properly will have no trouble in getting good prices," Mr. Wartman added.

The reason for this was the enlarged market for Canadian fruit. In Great Britain the market was constantly extending, and Canadian apples, for example, were driving out American apples on account of their superior quality. United States apples ripened earlier and consequently rotted earlier than Canadian apples did. Canada was also shipping large quantities of fruit to Germany and France, where formerly she had no market at all. The growth of population in the Northwest also was causing larger shipments in that direction.

SPECIAL FROM NORWICH, ONT.—The recovery of Mr. Norman Batty, hardware merchant, one of Norwich's oldest and most successful citizens, has excited much comment. For years Mr. Batty has been an unceasing sufferer from catarrhal asthma, and although no end of time and money was spent, relief was not obtained until Mr. Batty commenced Catarrhozone treatment, which perfectly cured him. This case is only equaled by that of Mrs. Bannon, wife of J. J. Bannon, druggist, who was also cured of asthma and hay fever by Catarrhozone after thirty years' suffering. Fully a hundred persons in this town have been cured of catarrhal troubles by Catarrhozone, which is a remarkable proof of its value. Two months' treatment, price $1; small size, 25c. Sold by all druggists or by mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

VAN HORNE EXPLAINS

Some of His Remarks About Grand Trunk Pacific.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 7.—Sir William Van Horne stated yesterday that in the course of the interview given by him in Toronto relating to the transportation problem he had no desire in any way to criticise the Government or the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme, but wished to show the difficulty of making the all-rail route for grain from the Northwest pay when compared with the part rail and part water route.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carington, yesterday:

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Early tendency of the wheat market was to continue yesterday's decline in view of better weather conditions in the Northwest, continental cables and financial conditions prevailing in Wall street. During the morning many bullish features developed and prices were quick to respond, led by yesterday's profit-taking. Yesterday's estimate of a 200,000,000 crop for the three northwestern states were reduced today to 170,000,000 bushels. Nebraska estimates were for a low rate of yield, for both spring and winter wheat, and there are complaints of recent wet weather, delaying threshing in parts of Kansas. Cash situation was noticeably strong, particularly at Minneapolis, where No. 1 northern spring wheat sold at 89c, with the future market keeping pace with the advance. No. 2 hard was sold 1½c higher relative to the option than was bid a few days ago, and the export demand at seaboard is reported good, and 50 loads were said to have been worked. It seems only necessary to buy wheat on weak days to realize quick profits. Estimated tomorrow, 135 cars.

Corn—Firm market, which showed little inclination to follow the easiness in wheat, but gained strength readily when the latter advanced. Weather throughout the belt was much improved, with seasonable temperatures. Liverpool market was steady and our house there reports gradual strengthening on the price, due to fears of a squeeze. State reports continue to show lower range conditions than is generally anticipated. Iowa condition is reported as 73, compared with 77 a month ago. A large Nebraska firm estimates the crop of that state at 75 per cent, with ideal weather conditions, but present prospects are for not over half a crop. Longs appear to have considerable confidence in value of their holdings, and show no disposition to let go when news is not all bullish. Local receipts, 89 cars, with 130 cars estimated for tomorrow.

Oats opened at a fractional decline, with moderately general commission trade, and on weakness in wheat eased somewhat further. Buying by local speculators, who sold yesterday, and fair demand from commission people, found offerings not heavy, and prices firmed up steadily, closing strong at top for all options. Receipts this morning were light, at 125 cars, with 62 of contract grade, and the estimate of 125 cars for tomorrow is considered only moderate.

Provisions were quiet throughout the session, opening quiet and lower, with letting go by holders, who are fearful of the unsettled financial conditions east, and selling by commission houses credited to packing interests. This had a depressing effect on prices, coupled with an increase in local stocks of 3,000 tierces of lard, pork stocks being about the same as last week. The market closed quiet. Estimated for tomorrow, 19,000 hogs.

Man Neglected His Wife and Babies for Drink.

Mrs. Franklin Eastman Tells a Sad Story in Police Court.

One of the saddest cases that has been heard at the police court in some time was that told by Mrs. Franklin Eastman today, when she accused her husband, who was in the prisoner's dock, with neglecting to support either herself or her two little children. If all that she told was true, and there is no reason to think otherwise, for her husband made but poor excuses for his conduct, the man deserves a good term in penitentiary. As the magistrate pointed out, however, there would be no good purpose served by keeping him in jail, as it may be possible to make him do his duty. Eastman said himself that he was willing to support his family, but the magistrate wants some security to that effect before he will let him go.

Mrs. Eastman, as she appeared in the court this morning, was a woman who it was easily seen deserved better treatment. She was a rather small woman and frail, but with spirit enough to stand up for her rights. She was very neatly dressed, though the black dress that she had on, she said, her husband had bought her two years ago, and that that was the last one he had given her. Her story was that she had married Eastman some four years ago in New York State. He is a baker by trade, and could have steady work all the time if he wanted it. He had, however, preferred to move from one place to another, and they had been in London for some months. For a time he treated her properly, but then he took to drinking and neglected her, so that neither she nor her children were able to get enough to keep them. Her two girls were two and three years, respectively. When the baby was but an infant in long clothes he left her penniless and went to the Soo. For almost a year he stayed away, during which time he sent her $20, according to her story. He admitted being away that time, but said that it was $30 that he had sent, which the magistrate pointed out was not very much to keep her, and the man gave as his excuse that he had been sick.

While he was away that time, the poor wife sent to her father, who lives near Woodstock, to come and help her. Her father is well enough off, and he kept his daughter and her two little girls while the husband was away. Then this spring the husband wanted to come back and the wife agreed to start housekeeping with him again. He came back, and the wife agreed to start London, making $12 a week. Then he started to drink again, and he drank every cent he made, so that his family suffered. A week ago last Tuesday he went away again, tiring of his situation. He told her he was going to Lucan and would be back on the following Saturday. Soon she heard that he had gone to Detroit, and it was not until today that she saw him again.

The complainant said that she would not be so hard on her husband if it were not that this was the second time that he had deserted her, and this time when he went away she and the two little girls were sick.

The magistrate found him guilty. "You haven't done your duty," he said. "You ought to have fatherly feeling enough for your children as well as affection for your wife, to see that they do not want. I do not want to send you to penitentiary, but I want you to support your family, and I want security that you will support them."

Eastman, as he stood up in the box today, appeared to be a respectable man, and an intelligent one, and should be able to support his family well. As he could easily go away from the country again if let go, the magistrate insisted that he should give some security that he would stay here and keep them, and on this account remanded him for a week to see what could be done.

STUBBORN VAG SENT DOWN

Graham Gets Six Months—Other Police Court News.

Frank Graham was as stubborn this morning as he was a week ago, when he was brought up on a charge of vagrancy. He would not tell where he came from nor anything about himself, and the magistrate had nothing to do but find him guilty. He will be safe from harm-doing and tramping in general for the next six months, having been sent to Central Prison for that length of time.

Sarah Dorcey was up again for being drunk. Only last week the magistrate fined her $5, though she did appear very penitent at the time. The fine was paid by her mistress, and the prisoner agreed to work out the money loaned. But last night she went down town and got a few drinks. She pleaded to be given just one more chance, promising to got at once to work again. The magistrate let her go with a warning.

Four young fellows appeared for breaking the bylaw against firing off firecrackers of letting topedoes off. They pleaded guilty and were fined $1 each.

Of three juveniles, two had been breaking windows in the house of Jas. Bruce, William street. They were made pay for the damage they had done. The other boy was charged with vagrancy and remanded. He is an incorrigible.

GOT DRUNK, FELL IN LAKE

But for Prompt Action of Young Lady, Might Have Drowned.

Man Was Tossed Helplessly in Waves for Some Time—A Narrow Escape.

A man who went in for another kind of "good time" than most people who go to the Irishmen's picnic do, had a narrow escape from drowning at Port Stanley yesterday. But for a young lady whose pluck was admirable, his indiscretions would likely have led him to a watery grave.

The man, from all indications, had become helplessly drunk, and while walking along the beach close to the water, became overbalanced and fell in. Unable to arise he was tossed about helplessly, though luckily the undertow was not of sufficient strength to carry him out any distance. One of a party of young ladies, enjoying an afternoon walk, suddenly noticed him in the water and ran to the edge of the water and into it. The man was in water several feet deep, but this did not daunt the girl and with difficulty she succeeded in pulling him out. Quite a crowd had assembled by this time and a physician was sent for. He soon arrived and succeeded in bringing him around.

THE IRISHMEN ANNOYED

Think L.E. and D.R. Should Have Brought Banqueters Home.

Many of the Officials Expressed Their Dissatisfaction.

There were over 60 Irishmen in London today whose feelings towards the L. E. and D. R. R. management were none too kindly, in consequence of the refusal of the trainmaster, Mr. Cameron, of Ridgetown, to have a special train run to London from Port Stanley after the banquet last night, and thus save them the necessity of stopping at the village until this morning.

Had the place been able to accommodate them properly, the Sons of Erin would not have thought so much of the matter, but they do not appreciate sleeping in hay-lofts, summer-houses, and on sofas in hotel corridors. President Murphy, of the Irish Benevolent, secured the trainmaster at Ridgetown, through the operator at Port Stanley, and had the exact condition of affairs brought to his notice, but it was all to no avail. Mr. Cameron said that under no condition would a train be run after the last of the excursion trains, which had left at 10:45, and Mr. Murphy finally spoke of the running of the train at the expense of the society. This proposition was not entertained.

The whole matter, so far as Mr. Cameron was converned, was settled when he gave his answer the first time. The members of the society and the executive committee are much put out over this, especially in view of the fact that at the time Mr. Murphy was in communication with him a light engine was standing at the Port Stanley station, and there were empty cars standing down the yards. These, they thought, might have been ordered into the service after such a monster excursion, netting thousands of dollars to the company.

The matter may yet be brought the attention of authorities higher than Mr. Cameron. "If there is any way of having the picnic at some other point next year," said one member of the executive committee, "we will not bring it to Port Stanley. This is what I consider very unjust treatment."

THE GIRL RELEASED.

The young girl whose case was reported in last evening's Advertiser as being arrested on a charge of vagrancy has been released. It was on the information of her aunt, with whom she was staying, that the girl was arrested. It was stated that she had been sent there by her parents, who had found her incorrigible, and that her uncle and aunt had found that they could do nothing with her. After the case was adjourned at yesterday's sitting of the police court, the aunt of the girl acknowledged that what she had said in laying the information was false. When the girl's father reported this to the magistrate the latter gave an order for the girl's release, the aunt confessing that she had done what she did from spite.

SPIRIT IS VERY KEEN.

There could scarcely be a keener desire to be on top than that which exists among the clubs of the City League. There is only the difference of one game between the leaders and the tail-enders, and consequently no team can lay a claim to great superiority. A healthy spirit of rivalry is apparent in all the games, and this helps greatly to keep the spectators from becoming dissatisfied. HUMAN PILLAR OF FIRE

Terrible Accident to a Little Girl in Michigan

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 6.—Burned to the waist line, front and back, 6-year-old Cora Van Degehugte is dying tonight at Kalamazoo hospital as the result of an accident shortly before noon today. The little girl was playing with two neighbors' children, who had cattails and kerosene, with which they devised flaming torches. The trio were alone.

Harry Dominanschet, also aged 6, tried to frighten Cora with his torch, which he flourished too close to the girl's light summer dress, which caught fire and blazed up about her. The wind fanned the fire and the girl ran shrieking about the yard, when her hair caught fire also. A passerby finally threw the girl on the ground, rolled her about and extinguished the flames. The flesh all over the upper half of the body hung in shreds from her quivering form. Physicians are keeping the child under the influence of opiates, but express no hope of recovery.

CAN'T FIND ENEMY

The Rival U. S. Squadrons Haven't Met Yet.

Portland, Me., Aug. 7. — With thick and stormy weather along the entire coast it would seem as if the attacking fleet under Rear Admiral Sands had the best possible conditions, in which to win the war game by evading the defending squadron under Rear Admiral Barker and establishing itself in some one of the numerous little harbors of the Eastern Maine coast. But at a late hour last night nothing had been heard from the "enemy," while the reports from the defending squadron were somewhat meager.

Several of the swift torpedo boat destroyers ran into Penobscot, during the day, and a naval tug came into Bar Harbor for the mail. The main portion of Admiral Barker's fleet, however, kept well off shore, and, it is believed, continued the work of patrolling the coast between Eastport and Cape Ann. Admiral Sands has still about three days in which to make his dash for the coast, and it is believed he will wait until the last moment in order to give the defending squadron plenty of practice in patrolling and take advantage of every relaxation in the vigilance of their work.

AN ELEVATOR BURNED

A Costly Structure Destroyed at Quebec.

Quebec, Aug. 7.—Fire early yesterday morning almost totally destroyed one of the costly floating elevators of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes Transportation Company. The elevator is one used in the Louise Basin to transfer cargoes from the Wolvin Company's steamers to the sea-going vessels and vice versa. It was in the outer basin when the fire took place, and was burned almost to the water's edge. The apparatus cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, and is almost a total loss. A number of barges nearby were also badly damaged. The elevator was partially covered by insurance.

A STRANGE CASE

A Story of Domestic Infelicity From Woodstock.

Woodstock, Aug. 7.—A strange story of domestic infelicity was unfolded yesterday by John and Thomas Gustin, who came here in search of their wives. The brothers formerly lived in Tilsonburg with their families and occupied the same house. About two weeks ago they decided to move to Georgetown, where they secured employment in a mill. Their wives were left behind to pack up the furniture, but failed to turn up in the new home. The deserted husbands traced the shipment of goods to this city, and last night located Mrs. John Gustin in a house in the east end. The other woman was found in the hospital seriously ill. The latter agreed to join her husband as soon as she recovered, but the other refused to do so with John. The police were called in, as the men decided to remove their furniture. The brothers say they never had any domestic troubles and cannot understand why the women deserted them.

A HERO HONORED

Captain Gouin Presented With a Bronze Medal.

Charles Gouin, who on the night of April 19 rescued Dr. Fleury, medical superintendent of the Notre Dame Hospital, from the river, was yesterday awarded the bronze medal of the Royal Canadian Humane Association, the presentation taking place in the Richelieu and Ontario Company's board room. Mr. Gillespie, honorary secretary of the Montreal branch, in presenting the medal, congratulated the captain on his bravery and the company on having such a gallant man in their service. He also referred to the death of George Lessard, a holder of the association's medal, who was drowned last Saturday in attempting to rescue a bather at St. Helen's Island.

Proved His Case.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—Prof. Slaby, the wireless telegraph expert, has, after exhaustive experiments, removed all doubt that the surface of the earth acts an important part as conductor of telegraphic electric waves for which many have heretofore regarded the air as the only conductor. He constructed an artificial earth, which was immunized from external influence by covering the floor of his laboratory with zinc. He then experimented with waves on the floor until his theory was proved.

The Rose of Wentworth

CHAPTER XVII.

"From this time, no matter what comes — excepting accident or health —I am mistress of my own career," Arley said to herself, as, with a firm, quick step, she wended her way home, after leaving the art store. "If worst comes to worst I can earn my own living — I need be dependent upon no one. And why should I not toil for my bread?" she added thoughtfully. "She —Ina—did, while I was living a petted, spoiled child upon her money; and now perhaps it is no more than right that I should take my turn and realize something of the trials and hardships that she endured."

Philip wondered to see her bending over her drawings every time he came into their sitting-room, and one day remarked upon her industry.

"I did not know that you were so fond of your pencils, and brushes, Arley," he said as he glanced at the pretty sketch which she was working upon.

"I must fill up the time in some way," she answered quietly. "I cannot go out here as freely as I have done elsewhere, for I cannot speak the language, and the swarthy, fierce-looking people half-frighten me. I am very, very lonely much of the time. When will you take me home?" and she looked up at him with tears of homesickness in her eyes.

He scowled at her question.

"I don't know," he said, and then muttered something else which she did not catch.

She regarded him questioningly, and saw that there was an anxious and angry look on his face, while he began to pace the floor with nervous tread.

"Is there anything that troubles you particularly?" she asked.

"Yes, everything," he answered moodily; then asked, "Have you any money, Arley?"

She flushed a vivid crimson.

She felt humiliated that he, a strong, active and capable man, should be so lost to his sense of duty and manhood as to allow himself to become reduced to the necessity of coming to her for money to defray their needful expenses.

"Yes, I have a little money in my purse," she answered, coldly.

"How much?" he demanded eagerly.

"Four or five pounds, perhaps," she said, more determined than ever to keep the secret of her earnings from him.

"Let me have a part of it, will you?" he asked, turning his back upon her, while a blush of shame mantled his cheek as he made the request; then he added deprecatingly, "I am in a deucedly unpleasant predicament just now, and—and a remittance which I was expecting has not arrived."

"A remittance?" she repeated with quick surprise. "I thought you told me that you had nothing. You gave me to understand when we left home that all you had you had with you—is it all gone?"

"Yes."

"Then you have been trying to borrow," she said with abated breath.

"Well, suppose I have? A man must live somehow."

"Somehow!" repeated Arley, scornfully.

Then, rising, she confronted him resolutely and said:

"Philip Paxton, I will not live upon borrowed money; it is not honest."

"There is an old saying, I believe, that beggars cannot be choosers," he replied with bitter sarcasm.

"We need not be beggars while you have your health and a pair of hands to work with. You ought to go to work. Why will you not be a man?" she said, scorn and righteous indignation quivering in her tones.

"It is not exactly a comfortable feeling, when one has had plenty, to be obliged to come down to such a level—to dig and delve like a common laborer. It is rather galling to one's pride, to say the least," Philip returned, with considerable heat.

"I would rather dig and delve like a common laborer, as you express it, and get an honest living, than to exist as we have been doing for the past six or eight months," Arley said with grave dignity. Then she added:

"But if you should return to England and resume your profession you might do as well, if not better, than formerly, and we should, no doubt, be much more comfortable than we are now."

"Do you suppose I am going back to England in this poverty-stricken condition and have people laughing in their sleeve over the failure of all my expectations?" Philip demanded with a very red face.

"I should say that it would be at least more manly and honest than to live like this and borrow of your friends, with no prospects of ever being able to repay," she remarked, pithily. "But you need not go back. Why not resume your profession here? You speak the language so well you might make a beginning here. I will not murmur, though I am so homesick that I feel as if I cannot stay here another day."

A sudden rush of tears blinded her as she said this, and her voice broke:

"I will do anything to help or encourage you, if you will only give up this kind of life and do right; but it is beneath you—it is mean to impose upon the good-nature of one's friends and then sit idly by with folded hands."

Philip's eyes fell and he flushed hotly. He felt the truth of her words and cringed beneath her well-merited scorn, but he was still too proud and obstinate to act upon her advice or his own convictions of duty and right.

Fate had, according to his way of thinking, used him very ill, and like a silly boy, he had run into a corner to sulk, instead of manfully grappling with it and making himself master of the situation.

"We will not discuss the matter further," he said coldly; "but if you will let me have two or three pounds I will endeavor to satisfy our landlord's demands for the present."

Arley sighed heavily, but went to her room to get her purse, and when she returned and took from it some pieces of gold to give him, Philip watched her narrowly and noticed that there was more in it.

He received it with a muttered "thank you," and then immediately left the room; while Arley, with burning cheeks and quivering lips, sat down to her work again.

There was a bitter pain in her heart, together with an unaccountable consciousness that she was beginning to despise her husband for his cowardice and meanness.

The poor girl, however, was not conscious, happily, that her darkest hours were yet to come.

She worked steadily on at her drawing, and in the course of another week carried a second collection to the art store.

Her employer was even better pleased with them than he had been with her first efforts—she had improved upon the hints which he had given her, and had really furnished him with some exquisite little things.

The money which she received for them was more precious to her than anything she had ever possessed, while a year ago she would have laughed to scorn the thought that she could have prized the paltry sum earned by her own hands.

On her return to her rooms she was feeling very cheerful; her face was brighter than it had been for some time, and Philip, who happened to be in, observing it, wondered what had caused the change, while for some time he had had an unpleasant consciousness that she was somehow getting beyond him—rising above his level.

He pointed to some letters which he had just brought in, and Arley's eyes glistened with eagerness at sight of them.

Hastening to her room she laid aside her hat and mantle, and then returned to read them.

One was from Miss McAllister—she recognized the cramped, old-fashioned hand instantly; the other was from Annie Vane and postmarked Horsham.

Miss McAllister's letter was, of course, seized upon first, for it was from her dear old home, and though hers now no longer, yet the tenderest memories clustered around it still. It was full of affection for her; full of pleasant, sunshiny news, mingled with longings for her speedy return.

GREAT DRIVE BY GEERS LANDED HAROLD H. WINNER

Canadian Horse Wins in the 2:04 Class at Buffalo.

Wisdom King Again Winner at Wingham—Sporting Events in General.

A young Londoner, Mr. William C. Allan, brother of Mr. Allaster Allan, of the C. P. R. ticket office, is playing good ball with the Y. M. C. A. team in Winnipeg. The Telegram of that city refers in complimentary terms to the game be played a week ago. Besides giving him credit for good hitting, it says that Allan made a running catch of a fly from Kerr's bat, which won a round of applause."

Billy Price, the young London jockey, who had the misfortune to be crushed against a fence at the Woodbine on the day before the King's plate, in which he was to ride Mayor Beck's entry, is at his home in the city recuperating. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery. His career while training to be a jockey has been marked with misfortune. A few years ago, when riding for Mr. J. O'Flaherty, the saddle twisted, and he was almost kicked to death by the horse. Then on the eve of his first big race his leg was broken. The injury is mending quickly, however, and he will commence to ride again as soon as he is well enough. "I hope to get another chance to win the plate next year," he said, "Although I've had pretty hard luck, I'm going to stick to the business."

Jimmy Collins, the wonderful third baseman and captain of the Boston Americans, believes that a rule should be enacted that would compel pitchers to cut out useless motions in the delivery of their ball to the batsman. Collins says that these motions constitute a balk in most instances, but that umpires do not enforce the rule. "Motions such as the bending of the knee, the throwing forward of the body, the swinging of the arms, and all that kind of business," declares the Bostonian, "are done with the evident purpose of deceiving base runners. They certainly don't help the pitcher to get any more speed on the ball or better curves. There is no doubt on earth that base-running is hurt by the practice. The runner who gets on first don't dare take a long enough lead for fear of being caught on a false motion by the pitcher. I believe that pitchers should be made to deliver the ball to the batsman after he takes his position, without all these motions."

"Tom" Daly, of the Cincinnati team, is one of the baseball men that backs up his claims for high salaries with some strong arguments. "In only a few cases are the present salaries too high," says Daly, "these exceptional cases representing instances where the National and American League were strong bidders for the services of the same man, with the result that his price was jacked up beyond a reasonable limit. On the whole, however, baseball players are not getting any more than they are entitled to, and I, for one, believe that the magnates should not be allowed to make sweeping reductions, such as are threatened after the season. It is only in exceptional cases that a ball player's life in fast company is for more than ten years. If he is to receive only $1,500 or $1,800 a season for giving the best years of his life to the game, what inducement is there for him to play ball? Take the case of Elmer Flick, who was a star on the Philadelphia team, for instance. When he signed with Col. Rogers his contract was so arranged that he would not have reached the salary limit then existing in the National League—$2,400—until after he had played with the Philadelphia team ten years. It was but natural that he should decide to make a change when the opportunity offered with such a prospect before him if he remained with the Quakers. The majority of the ball players are drawing cards and should be considered as such when the question of salary comes up. Men like Lajoie, the late Ed Delahanty, Kelley, Keeler, 'Cy' Young and a host of others that could be mentioned draw thousands of dollars to the box office annually as individuals. I'll wager that Mathewson was worth $50,000 to the New York club the first year he pitched for the Giants, and equal amounts to the other National League clubs. Baseball players are stars quite as much as actors, and ther salaries should be graded according to their ability to draw audiences."

THE TURF.

AT SARATOGA.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 6.—There were no sensational features on the fourth day of the Saratoga meeting. The attendance, however, was exceptionally good. A heavy track was the cause of a number of withdrawals, there being only two starters in the fourth race. The Spinaway, at 5½ furlongs, valued at $14,000, the stake event, was won by Raglan, a 2-year-old filly by Plaudit K., out of Royal Gun, whom Fred Gebbard purchased yesterday of J. E. Madden. A large amount of money was wagered on Runnels and Masterman, the only two starters in the fourth race. The former won easily. Mr. Gebhard registered three winners—Gay Boy in the first, Raglan in the third and Maid in the sixth.

First race, 6 furlongs—Gay Boy, 128 (Fuller), 7 to 5 and 2 to 5, 1; Cobourg, 133 (Hoar), 6 to 5 and 1 to 2, 2; Rigodon, 130 (Gannon), 4 to 1 and 6 to 5, 3. Time, 1:15⅘.

Second race, 1 mile—Florham Queen, 91 (McCafferty), 11 to 10 and 2 to 5, 1; Flara, 96 (Creamer), 13 to 5 and 4 to 5, 2; Peninsular, 98 (Redfern), 10 to 1 and 2 to 1, 3. Time, 1:46⅘.

Third race, the Spinaway, 5½ furlongs—Raglan, 119 (Hicks), 3 to 1 and even, 1; Little Em, 116 (Fuller), 3 to 1 and even, 2; Memories, 119 (O'Neill), 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, 3. Time, 1:12⅘.

YACHTING.

YACHTING AT TORONTO.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—The lake off the island was a brilliant picture today, when the annual regatta of the Lake Yacht Racing Association commenced. About a score of yachts of all shapes and sizes competed in the races on the programme, and as they all clustered about the starting point the sight was a pretty one. A strong, steady breeze from the southwest was blowing at about 15 miles an hour, kicking up a choppy sea. There were six races scheduled, but owing to default only four were started. The start was made at 11:10, but about 1 o'clock a sudden squall blew up, and all the yachts out had to lower their canvas. It was also impossible to locate one of the bounds and a tug was sent out to render assistance to some of the boats, which appeared to be in trouble. The 25-foot sloop Keno, owned by George Tuckett, of Hamilton, had her mast broke six feet above the deck. The races were then declared off for today.

BONA WON AT COWES.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 6.—Five yachts started in today's race for a prize of $500 presented by the town of Cowes. The start was made in a moderate breeze. The Bona was first across the line, followed by the Cicely, Trest, German Emperor's Meteor III. and the Brynhild. The Bona won. Meteor III. was second.

DID GREAT WORK.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 6.—Twenty-two and a half minutes in a 20-mile race, which occupied a little more than three hours, in the sailing was the beating administered to Shamrock I. by Sir Thomas Lipton's new cup candidate today. No shift of wind nor calm helped or hindered the boat. The course was a beat of 10 miles from Scotland Lightship and return. The boats went off on different tacks, but the Shamrock III. soon tacked and both headed eastward. At 12:05 when they made the first tack together Shamrock III. had won the race. After that the only question was as to the number of minutes. The challenger turned the mark with a lead of nineteen minutes 44 seconds. On the way back Shamrock III. gained steadily, and when she finished the old boat was more than two miles away. Summary:

Shamrock III., start, 11.31.38; turn, 1.07.10; finish, 2.36.40.

Shamrock I., start, 11.30.00; turn, 1.26.54; finish, 3.52.

Guests of Sir Thomas Lipton on the Erin today were: Lieut.-Gen. Miles and Mrs. Miles, Colgate Hoyt, of New York; J. W. Dunlev, of Chicago, and officials of the New York City police and health departments.

Mr. Gardner stated today that he had heard that one of the club's directors was eager to have Mr. Irwin come here, and so yesterday afternoon he went to Irwin and told the latter that if he could secure his release from Rochester he would be willing to work for him here just to show that he had the interests of the Toronto Club at heart. He had been assured, however, by the club that no negotiations whatever had been carried on with Mr. Irwin.

POSTAL DELIVERY

A Letter From Mr. T. C. Patterson, Postmaster at Toronto.

To the Editor of the Globe: A correspondent in your paper complains of the slow delivery of letters in Toronto and cites instances. If he had brought the envelopes of the delayed letters to me I could have explained the cause, which I am unable to guess at without them. He asks if a letter posted in the city before 8 a.m. should not be delivered that morning. Surely it must depend on where it is posted, and to what part of the city it is addressed. Our delivery covers an area of sixteen square miles. If it were posted at the corner of King and Dufferin streets, and addressed to a house in Rosedale, or vice versa, it would not be delivered till the afternoon. If posted anywhere in the central district of the city for a house in the same district it would be delivered before noon, and if for a house out of the district, at noon or in the afternoon, depending on the distance. The statements your correspondent makes are susceptible, in all probability, of easy explanation. He calls our delivery slow. I have from time to time looked into the delivery system of city in Great Britain. I only know one place where the delivery is materially faster than in Toronto, and that is London, England.

It has become a frequent practice for disappointed people to rush to the newspapers with complaints of slow delivery, but I have to say that when they bring their complaints to the post-office, in nine cases out of ten the fault on investigation is found to lie with one or other of the correspondents, and is due to a defective address, an untrustworthy messenger or some cause with which we have nothing to do. The sorters and carriers here, as elsewhere, make a percentage of error; but I know that the Government's system of delivery is at least as liberal here as in any city in the world of its population, while as responsible for its working I have reason to hope that the percentage of error is as low. We deliver considerably over 100,000 letters a day, and the number of inquiries and complaints would not indicate that a score of them are irregularly treated. If half a dozen instances occurred in any one day, in all of which investigation proved the carriers or sorters to be to blame, it would constitute a record, and I think, sir, that the public generally is rather given to the expression of wonder at the general correctness with which postoffice work is done. It is at best a compromise between haste and accuracy, not a compromise with exceptional leaning towards the more desirable alternative?

Defense, therefore, may be uncalled for, but when serious charges have found their way into the leading newspaper of the country, they may, if uncontradicted, work injury to our reputation abroad, and shake the confidence of our people at home; both of them results to be deprecated. I therefore reluctantly ask you for space to say a word on the other side, and incidentally on behalf of the large staff of zealous, hardworking clerks and carriers who constitute the staff of his office. Your obedient servant,

THOMAS C. PATERSON, P. M.

HARRY LEHR'S LATEST

Newport's Clown Now Wears a Wrist Bag.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 7.—Little gilt chain bags or purses carried by women soon will be a necessity for men if the novelty introduced by Harry Lehr at the Casino is adopted. Young Lehr is responsible for many innovations in the social world; he figured in monkey parties, walked down Bellevue avenue with Mrs. Fish, each of them holding a rag doll; designed dresses for his women friends, was ringmaster at Mrs. Ogden's circus, and recently a story was printed, the truth of which was denied vigorously, that he slept with a rose in his hair.

The women all looked astonished at Lehr when he strolled to the tennis tournament with Mrs. Lehr and Mrs. Fish this morning with a small square purse made of gold links attached to a slender gold chain dangling from his wrist. The chain coiled around his wrist twice, "just as the ladies do it, you know," he explained to his acquaintances.

Some thought he was the player of a proper married man's part and merely was toting the bag around to save Mrs. Lehr trouble. Lehr, in his high pitched tenor voice, explained to the woman, however, that if they supposed his carrying the bag there was for any one except himself they were much mistaken. The little chain purse, he says, is his, and he intends to use it, as he finds it extremely useful to hold small change, his pencil and other odds and ends.

The setter of fashions did not say whether he carried a powder rag or other toilet articles in the bag, but it looked bulgy.

A Bit of Scotland in Canada.

At a point 145 miles north of Toronto on the Grand Trunk Railway system is reached one of the most magnificent districts in the Highlands of Ontario, known as the Lake of Bays district. The region comprises a series of connected lakes, over which large steamers are navigated. What greatly adds to the Lake of Bays' value as health giving and sportman's resort is the unmatched purity of the air one breathes upon its heights. The visitor forgets his ills under its reviving influence in less than a week, and sees life's problems in a smoother light, enjoying the good things in this life which Nature and Providence have prepared for him. Its bracing morning breeze which rivals the celebrated atmosphere of Pike's Peak, Col., imparts new lung power and fresh vitality.

Municipal Services at Fort William

The municipal telephone plant at Fort William does not appear to have been the success that has been claimed for it, judging from the following statement in the Times-Journal of 23rd July, of that town, over the signature of Mr. A. F. Woodhead, a prominent citizen:

"The public (electric light and telephone) services have been administered with inefficiency and inaptitude culminating in the destruction of the town hall, with its valuable records, a costly law suit in which the town has been signally worsted, and today we have another breakdown in the electric light plant, simply through sheer mismanagement, which will cost a large sum and deprive the citizens of light for probably some weeks. The municipal telephone service is so bad that evey user of it is disgusted and supporters of legitimate public ownership are chagrined and disappointed."

R. A. BAYLY, CHAIRMAN

He Was Elected to Succeed the Late Mr. Waterman.

Mr. R. A. Bayly, trustee of the Victoria Hospital board, was yesterday elected by that body as its chairman. The meeting was held in the mayor's office. Mayor Beck told the board that the solicitors of the late Mr. Waterman had intimated to him that Mr. Waterman had left $500 to the hospital. The money will be used to furnish one floor of the new nurses' home, plans for which were submitted by the city engineer. These plans provide for a large three-story building, to be erected at the west end of the hospital property. The new building will be added to the maternity ward, which will then become part of the new home for nurses. It will extend towards South street in the same way that the east wing does now.

The thanks of Mrs. Isaac Waterman were received. She expressed her gratitude to the board for their kind resolution of condolence and the tributes that they paid to her late husband.

The superintendent reported ten deaths and five births at the hospital during the month. There were 85 operations during the past month. The receipts were $1,625 20.

He will give thirty-five concerts, leaving Europe on a steamer via Suez and returning by same route. HAMILTON'S PREPARATIONS

Summer Carnival's Parade Will Include 3,000 Troops.

Hamilton Herald: The military committee of the summer carnival committee met last night and furthered the arrangements for the military show on the last day of the carnival. About 3,000 soldiers are expected in the city. A review and military manœuvers will take place at the Jockey Club track in the afternoon. Col. Hon. J. H. Gibson will be in command of the brigade. The officers will be entertained at supper.

The programme for the grand midway and street fair has been arranged. There are fifteen "high grade paid shows" in the midway attractions, and three free shows twice a day. There will be a street parade daily. The midway will open on the night of the first day of the carnival, Monday, Aug. 17. Following will be the midway attractions: Wild animal steel arena, crystal maze, streets of India, moving pictures, a night in the Orient, house upside down, Ferris wheel, dog, pony and monkey circus, German village, down in Dixie, the Aztec twins, garden of the gods, the girl from up there, Buckskin Bill's wild west, a trip to melodia and aquatic circus.

From the above it will be seen that every effort is being made to give the public and the old boys and girls of Hamilton a splendid time on the occasion of the Summer Carnival and Old Boys' Reunion on the 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th inst.

Now that the London demonstration is over it is hoped that greater interest will be taken in the one in Hamilton. A special meeting of the Hamilton Old Boys' Association will be held at Nordheimer's, 188 Dundas street, this Friday evening at 8.30 o'clock.

TREMENDOUS CROWD WENT TO PORT WITH IRISHMEN

Children of Erin Again Break All Past Records.

Even Travelers Beaten in the Size of Their Crowd.

Picnic Was a Great Success—It Included One Grand Feature Not on Programme.

The picnic of the Irish Benevolent Society at Port Stanley yesterday was without doubt the greatest outing, in point of numbers, yet seen at the old-time summer resort.

This is a pretty bold statement, considering that picnics have been held at the lakeside for 30 years past, and especially so in view of the outing of the commercial travelers, held on Saturday last, when it was generally acknowledged that all records were broken. The Irishmen, however, have the knights of the grip beaten, and it will now be up to the latter next year to secure the place they held for only four days—that of running the greatest picnic to the Port.

Speaking of the travelers, it might be said that their picnic year by year is one of special features. While they are a jolly big crowd themselves, they are too modest to consider that they alone would draw the thousands they so much like to see at the Port. Therefore they spend large sums for specialties, the total expenses this year amounting to more than $2,500.

With the Irish Benevolent Society it is a vastly different story—no specialties of any kind, but the same programme year by year, concluding with a banquet in the evening. Yet the fact it is Irishmen's day at Port Stanley seems to be sufficient to cause the people of London, St. Thomas and the country surrounding Port Stanley to the north, east and west to go down in throngs.

ESTIMATED ABOUT 12,000.

The crowd yesterday was estimated by many to have numbered above 12,000. Just how many were carried from London and St. Thomas is not known, but it is believed to have been fewer than on Saturday last. The travelers had considerably more from London than did the Irishmen, while the latter had over 2,000 from St. Thomas, or four to one. Where the Irishmen also gained was from the country. Before the first excursion had reached Port Stanley, every hotel yard in the village was jammed with rigs, and scores were lined on the streets.

Mr. Harry Buttrey, one of the most energetic of the travelers' picnic committee, acknowledged last night that the Irishmen had from 2,000 to 3,000 more on the grounds than were there on their big day, but what mystified him to a certain extent was how the Irish Benevolent managed to draw so heavily. The genial sons of Erin invariably have a good time themselves, and make a good time for every person else, and this undoubtedly explains it all. It is simply that it is the Irishmen's picnic.

The crowd yesterday was well handled. The first train left London at 10 o'clock in the morning, and as was the case with every subsequent train during the day, it was heavily laden. Eighty-eight carloads in all were hauled. The last of the excursionists reached London about midnight, on a train leaving Port Stanley at 10:45.

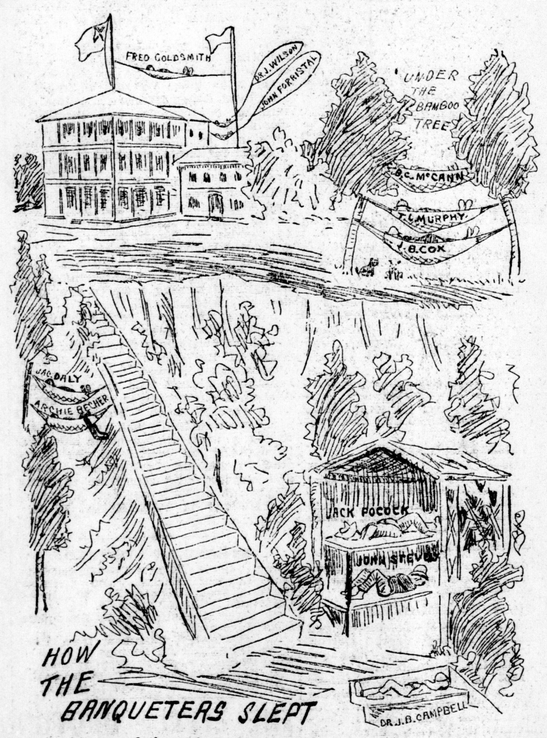

VETERANS WERE THERE.

To see the crowds on the hill and beach during the afternoon was alone well worth the trip to Port. It was a most pleasing sight—so many thousands of men, women and children intermingling with the one object of making the day a pleasant one. The crush on the heights was so great that many were forced to go elsewhere when lunch-time came around. There were veterans on the scene. There was Jerry Collins, of South London, for instance—a typical Irishman, whose particular duty on the benevolent picnic day is to carry the flag of Old Ireland.

"Yes," said Mr. Collins, "I remember the Irishmen's first picnic at Port Stanley. It was held 27 years ago, and there were only four hundred at it. It was an easy matter to handle the crowd—easier than today, you can depend upon it.

"Have I missed any picnics since? Yes, I have, but only one. That was one summer when I was on the broad of my back, a very sick man. That is the only time an Irishman can be kept down."

Another of the veteran class was Mr. Denis Mason, third vice-president of the society. Mr. Mason, however, cannot lay claim to such a record as Mr. Collins, but gives him a close chase.

HOW THE BANQUETERS SLEPT

AN EVENT NOT ADVERTISED

Only a Few of the Best of Them Saw This Feature

Any features at the Irishmen's picnic are never included in the regularly prepared programme. One of them was reserved for those who attended the banquet at the Fraser House, and it was productive of more hearty laughs than anything that has transpired at the Port for many a day. The banquet was the usual gathering held to close up the outing. It was called to order at 8 o'clock by the president, Mr. T. J. Murphy. There were upwards of 70 persons present, and with the exception of two or three who have summer cottages at the lakeside, they were all anxious to return to London on the last train, which was due to leave Port at 10:45. The banquet was proceeding rather slowly, when Mr. John M. Daly announced that the company need not hasten the proceedings, as he had the assurance of the trainmaster of the L. E. and D. R. R. that at the conclusion of the banquet a special train would convey the party back to the city.

From that time on to 11:30 there were a series of short speeches and songs, but when the banqueters got to the station at midnight they found the place locked up, and no sign of a train. A railroad man said the last one had gone, and he knew nothing of a special.

For a half-hour or more there was a lively effort to locate the agent, Mr. Woollatt. His family were away in Toronto, and it was finally discovered that he was boarding near the station. He was called out of bed and came to the station, where he got the trainmaster on the wire and notified him of the position in which the party had found themselves. Mr. Martin, the trainmaster, however, declined to do anything. His answer was that not another train would be run over the road until morning. A special to be paid for by the society was spoken of, but this would not be consented to by him.

NO SPECIAL TRAIN.

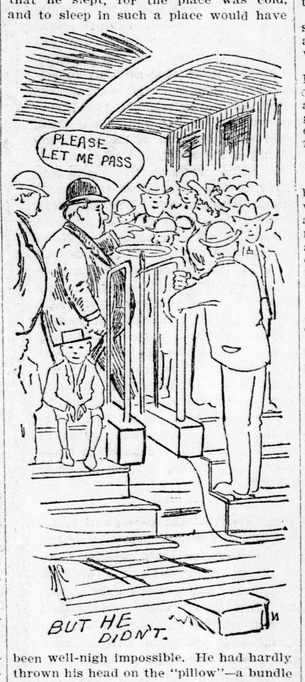

The next move was to find the local agent of the telephone company, Mr. Mitchell, and when he was located at his home he was kept busy for a while getting homes in London on the long distance telephone. There were many in the party who wanted to send word to anxious friends as to the cause of their absence from home. Dr. John D. Wilson, for instance, wanted to send word to his twin babies, and Ald. Cooper was all excitement until he succeeded in sending a message "in his own handwriting" to let everyone know that he was perfectly sober and would not be home until morning—"and all on account of Daly."

The chief of all London's police force was not alarmed at being detained over night. He explained that he was once in a great while from under his own roof for a night or two, and that his family would know that having gone to the Irishmen's picnic he would be in good company. Barney McCann got a relative to convey the sad news to his dear ones, and John W. Pocock set his family at rest by telling them all about the delay. President Murphy was also anxious to get the desired intelligence to his family, and when the needs of the many were filled the telephone office was closed up and the agent was soon in bed again, sleeping soundly, for he had turned in a few sheckels to the company, and thus wound up a good day's work.

The next question that was puzzling the belated excursionists was where to sleep for the night. At the best of times Port Stanley can never house more than a hundred strangers, and with the summer season in full swing it was not to be expected that many spare rooms would be found in the hotels. A dozen or more were given rooms at the Fraser House, as many more were accommodated at the Loney, and what room was to spare at the Franklin was soon secured. Another handful found accommodation with friends on Hill Crest; and it was not known until this morning, a few minutes before train time, how the others had managed to put in the night. Many funny tales were told.

SLEPT IN A HAY LOFT.

Imagine Frank Love, London's police magistrate, sleeping in a hayloft. Mr. Love was one of the number who could not secure a bed any place, and rather than walk the streets of the village all night, he climbed into the loft of the stable at the Loney Hotel, and spend the night. He would not say this morning that he slept, for the place was cold, and to sleep in such a place would have been well-nigh impossible. He had hardly thrown his head on the "pillow"—a bundle of hay—when the sounds of others were heard, and in a moment another form appeared at the door of the loft. It was that of Peter Birtwistle, the president of St. George's Society, who crawled into a corner and did his level best to keep warm. William A. Martin, the secretary of the Irish Benevolent Society, followed suit, together with a newspaper man and a number of others.

IN THE SUMMER HOUSE.

J. B. Cox, the old reliable secretary of St. George's Society, was also one of the number that could neither secure a room or bed. He wandered up to the Fraser House grounds early in the morning after he did everything possible to get accommodation, and took shelter in the summer house on the heights, where he remained the greater part of the time, sleeping until he would get too cold, and then walking up and down on the lawn in the attempt to warm up.

Barney McCann took more fun out of the misfortune of the excursionists than did any other member of the party. He had sympathetic words for every person, but in the morning the laugh was on him. He hunted high and low for a room, and was even willing to sleep in the attic of any old building. It was a case of him being anxious to lay his head anywhere, but the only spot he could find was in a hall of the Fraser House, where he got a sofa. He stretched out on this, and when there were no covers in sight he took possession of a table cloth, and used it for a quilt. It did not provide the necessary warmth and many times he awoke with the cold, and found it necessary to swing his arms vigorously to get up a good circulation.

He was not the only one who took shelter in the Fraser House without getting a bed. That old timer, Jerry Collins, who as already stated has only missed one Irishmen's picnic in 27 years, was not going to be outdone by his friend McCann. He also secured a sofa in the building, and about 2 or 2:30 in the morning laid down his weary head to rest. He got little, for he found sleeping on sofas the same as did the genial McCann—a very cold and unpleasnt pastime.

Ed Ryan, Jack Stevely and several others were accommodated at a cafe facing the railroad station. The building is a story and a half structure with the second story very low. The result was that none of the star boarders could stand straight in the room, and many a head was bumped.

CHIEF WALKS THE STREETS.

The chief of police was one of the most unfortunate. He did not fancy sleeping in a hay mow or a summer house, and he took to watching the property of the villagers over night. He was on the street the greater part of the time—walking to keep warm, he said—and when morning broke he took the Kenwick Male Quartette, who had been at the banquet, to the Fraser House, where such appropriate selections as "Oh, What a Difference in the Morning," and "Home, Sweet Home," were rendered in a manner that impressed J. B. Cox, Jerry Collins and Barney McCann that there was more in the songs than they had ever before realized. The chief showed the effects of his all night exercise when he appeared at the station in the morning. The quartette were none the worse, for on the way to London on the train they sang as well as ever.

Ex-Ald. Jolly did not get a wink of sleep all night. He spent the time in an armchair in the Fraser House waiting room.

Condolences were exchanged generally this morning, and all were of the one opinion that Jack Daly didn't know anything about the trains when he gave out the information at the banquet that a special would be waiting for the banqueters.

THE GAMES.

The sports were pulled off on the beach, where a large tract of ground was inclosed with ropes for the judges and competitors. Messrs. James Murray and Ben Noble were the starters, and Dr. J. B. There were a number of medals offered in the dancing and other competitions. Mayor Beck gave a gold medal for the winner of the Irish jig for girls, President Murphy and Secretary Martin gave medals for the best waltzing couples, and to each of the babies who did not get any of the cash prizes Dr. Wilson gave a nice gold pin. The winners in the dancing contests were:

Higgins, of Cleveland. The first prize went to Louella, the 7-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Geary, of Port Huron, who was generally acknowledged to be deserving of the award. The winner of the second prize was Hubert Ferguson; third, William Keiller, Toronto; fourth, Isabel Cole; fifth, Frank Patton, and sixth, Fred McLean. The prize for twins was awarded to Orval and Eric Wyckoff, the 4-year-old sons of Dr. and Mrs. Wyckoff, of East London.
