HEAVY NAVAL LOSS

Three British Ships Tor- pedoed by the Germans.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, SEPT. 22.—THE BRITISH WARSHIPS ABOUKIR, HOGUE AND CRESSY HAVE BEEN SUNK IN THE NORTH SEA BY SUBMARINES, ACCORDING TO AN ANNOUNCEMENT GIVEN OUT BY THE OFFICIAL BUREAU THIS AFTERNOON. CONTINUING THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAYS THAT A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF THE CREWS OF THESE VESSELS WERE SAVED BY H.M.S. LOWESTOFT AND BY A DIVISION OF TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS. TRAWLERS AND THEIR BOATS ALSO AIDED IN THE WORK OF RESCUE. THE ABOUKIR WAS TORPEDOED FIRST. THE HOGUE AND THE CRESSY DREW IN CLOSE TO HER AND WERE STANDING BY TO SAVE HER CREW, WHEN THEY ALSO WERE TORPEDOED.

The warships Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy are cruisers of the same type. Their tonnage, armament, etc., are identical. These vessels had a displacement of 12,000 tons, were 440 feet long, 69.5 feet wide, and drew 20 feet of water. Each had a complement of 755, including officers and crew. These three cruisers had armaments consisting of two 9.2-inch guns, 12 6-inch guns, 12 12-pounders and five 3-pounders. The Aboukir and the Cressy were built at Govan in 1900, and the Hogue was built at Barrow in the same year.

LONDON OUTLOOK ON WAR

Hopeful but Indefinite News Comes Through To-day. Results of Battle of Aisne Have Not Been Decisive.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—The death of official news this morning from the long battlefront in the western arena of the war has led to the usual crop of rumors. These attract interest, and in the minds of some people are important, from the fact that, originating simultaneously at widely distant points, they seem more or less to confirm each other. The unsubstantiated report from Antwerp to the effect that General Von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, has removed his headquarters back to Mons completes these rumors. The latest official communication from Paris, even more laconic than usual, declares that the allies are making progress between Rheims and the Argonne, although the fighting during the day of yesterday was less violent. A wounded British officer who has returned to Paris from the front, has supplemented the official news with the declaration that the allies, on their left, have advanced seven miles. Berlin, however, reports that the German counter attacks about Rheims have resulted in their capture of the strong hill positions at Craonne, 18 miles northwest of

BATTLE OF AISNE IS STILL BEING FIERCELY FOUGHT' IT IS NOW BECOME A SIEGE

Germans Have Entrenched and Fortified Themselves—Still the Allies Have Made Progress in Many Places.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—The correspondent of The Times in Paris discussing the big battle, says: "The battle of the Aisne continues, having lasted a week with the allies making slow progress against extraordinary difficulties. It is no longer, properly speaking, a battle, but a siege, the Germans having constructed along their hundred mile front, a series of small fortresses from the Oise to the House, made of old forts and disused quarries. "Bombproof shelters, formed of bags of cement and subterranean passages, connect the casemates on the heights of Pommiers with the open country by means of which the enemy secures victuals and is supplied with ammunition. These elaborate works were prepared by the Germans before the march on Paris, thus indicating that they had some doubts of success. "The plains of Champagne are admirably suited for the French offensive. They bristle with trenches and redoubts, but if these hamper French action they also stop German attacks. The battle of the Aisne thus becomes a kind of Salsburg. Operations of this sort always result in the defeat of the besieged unless reinforcements arrive."

TO RAZE CITY
LONDON, Sept. 22.—A Paris despatch to the Express says: "Military experts believe that the Germans intend to raze the entire city of Rheims. While the city itself is immaterial from a military standpoint, it is the center of a district of the highest strategic value. The German forces in great strength are close to the city on the north side, while the French batteries occupy the heights to the south. "While the German main attack is developing at Rheims the French attack is centering towards Noyon. The plateau of Craonne is held by 100,000 Germans, while the village is occupied by the French. Blucher, who was defeated by Napoleon on this same ground, declared that 25,000 troops could hold this plateau against any odds."

FLEEING FROM CITY

Advances of Russians on Cracow Has Stirred Up the Population.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—The correspondent of the post at Petrograd sends the following version of the military situation at Cracow: "The populace is already fleeing from Cracow from which place a part of the unique university library has also been removed for safety. "The Polish voluntary bands which have been enrolled for the defence of Cracow, have declined to oppose the Russians on the ground that they prefer that the

SUMMARY OF ALL THE WAR NEWS

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
Another day has gone and neither one side or the other, Germany nor the allies, lays claim to any decisive outcome of the battle of the Aisne, where the supreme conflict of the war, up to the present time has been raging for many days.

The engagement, taken as a whole along its entire lines, seems to be partaking of the nature of a siege. Both sides continue to hold a majority of their strongly entrenched positions. The German lines for 100 miles, are described as favorable in Berlin. Counter attack follows attack, and occasionally one side or the other gains ground. It would appear to-day that nothing but a successful flanking movement could have any serious effect on Heister army. But neither front has been broken, and neither side has been outfanked.

Rheims would appear to be the center of the most persistent fighting. It is between the lines of battle and the city has suffered heavily. The Germans are described as most anxious to recapture this position.

The French official announcement issued at Paris this afternoon, avers that incessant German attacks delivered yesterday have been unsuccessful, and that the Germans have been compelled to retire at more than one point. The French took numerous German prisoners.

The military expert of the London Times, gives positions to the French forces on the left, which, to the present time the French line has been reported north of Noyon. The Times places it at Le Catelet, Rosiel and Lassigny. Le Catelet is 20 miles north of Noyon; Rosiel is 9 miles southwest of Le Catelet and Lassigny is 8 miles due west of Noyon. These locations have not been confirmed from any other source, the French war office having contented itself with saying that the French left wing was advancing along the right bank of the River Oise.

No confirmation of the report from Antwerp last night that Gen. Von Kluck had transferred his headquarters to Mons, has been received. The Germans, however, are said to be fortifying with great haste along the River Sambre, (Continued on Page 5)

Something May Break Soon of Great Victory

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Allies are now firmly fixed on the western section of the great battle line in France, where the allied army is expected to descend on the German right, which already is bending backwards under persistent pressure from the British and French armies to the northward of the River Aisne. If these German positions are once carried, strategists here are of the opinion that the whole German front will be in danger. In the meanwhile "a perceptible progress" is all the light the official chronicler permits himself to throw on the great battle. Thus far the battle of the Aisne reproduces on a larger scale the chief features of the struggle on the Marne, but whether in the final outcome the victory will rest with the same side is likely to remain a secret for a few days more.

Ten days of the most furiously-contested struggle known in modern history has left both armies in such a position that neither can claim a definite advantage over the other, and the result must largely be dependent upon what reinforcements the opposing commanders are able to control.

Day by day the allied line, though stationary in the centre, seems, according to official statements, to gain a little ground on both wings.

If the report that General Von Kluck has moved his headquarters back to Mons be true, it will be of the greatest significance as showing his recognition of the danger which might threaten him from an army marching from the west. The third great battle between the Russians and Austrians in Galicia, which started with a bombardment of Przemyśl, in which 2,000,000 men are said to be engaged, is expected to be in full swing within a few hours, when the whole line along the new positions held by the Austrians between Przemyśl and Cracow will be involved.

Great Trade Open for Conquest By the British Empire

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 21.—(Correspondence of The Canadian Press)—The outbreak of war between Great Britain and Germany, aside from many other considerations excited the liveliest interest in the commonwealth of Australia, because of Germany's colonial and commercial expansion in the Pacific. Germany was the last of the great European powers to enter upon a colonial policy but in the brief period of about 30 years she had come into possession of a great area in Melanesia and Polynesia, had a large trade with Australia, chiefly through the North German Lloyd and German-Australian steamship company; had made incursions upon the British island trade and just prior to the European conflict in which she is now desperately engaged, was challenging Great Britain's trade with New Zealand.

Germany owns the Bismarck archipelago comprising New Britain and other large and valuable islands; a large portion of New Guinea; the two most northerly islands in the Solomon group namely Buks and Bougainville; Upolu and Savali islands in the Samoan group, upon the former of which is the port of Apia; the Marshall islands, the Carolines, the Pelewa group and the Ladrones (Guam excepted which belongs to the United States). Although there is a dispute in Australia on the question of the strength of the hamlet of Simpson Hafon, in the Bismarck group, it is reputed to be a naval base of importance with munitions and stores, and if this be so, it is within striking distance of Torres Straits, where the steamship lines between Australia and the East converge. Upolu and Savali are considered at present the richest of Germany's island possessions and in no other of them has she made such industrial headway as there. German traders have captured a good share of the trade of other groups of islands as for example, the Torga islands which are under a British protectorate, and the Cook islands which are under the government of New Zealand. It is extremely unlikely that such traders will be affected by the result of the war, owing to Great Britain's fairness in her commercial dealings, but the war may mean the loss to Germany of what has cost her millions (Continued on Page 5)

OFFICIAL FRENCH ACCOUNT

Violent Attacks by Germans Have Been Repulsed.

Many Prisoners and Supplies Taken by the Allies.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
PARIS, Sept. 22.—The following official announcement was made in Paris to-day: "Along the entire front from the Oise to the Wever, the Germans manifested yesterday, Sept. 21, a certain activity, without, however, obtaining appreciable results. "First: On our left wing, on the right bank of the River Oise, the Germans were obliged to cede ground before the French attacks. Between the Oise and the Aisne the situation remains unchanged. The enemy has not delivered any serious attack upon us, contenting herself yesterday with a continued cannonading. "Second: On the centre, between Rheims and Soissons, the enemy attempted an offensive movement which was repulsed. "Between the Argonne and the River Meuse (there has been no change. In the Wever district the enemy makes a violent effort; he attacked the heights of the Meuse along the front between Treauvaux, Vigneulles and Haidicourt, without, however, succeeding in gaining position on those heights. "On our right wing in Lorraine, the enemy has again passed the frontier, using in this operation a number of small columns. One went to the south of Blonville, has been re-occupied by the enemy. "During the days of September 20 and September 21, we captured twenty automobiles used in moving provisions together with all the men attached to them. We also captured on the same days numerous prisoners belonging principally to the 40th, 60th, 80th, 90th, 150th, 160th and 160th German corps, to the Bavarian Landwehr and to the reserve corps. "Concerning the Russians in Galicia. The rear guards of the Austrian armies have been pursued by the Russians and have suffered considerable losses. Russian troops have come in contact with the Austrian garrison, near Przemyśl. The heavy Russian artillery is bombarding the fortifications of Jaroslavl."

EVERY MAN
ON CONTINGENT
WILL DEPART

Instead of 22,000 Canada Will Send 33,400 to the Front.

VALCARTIER CAMP, Sept. 22.—So great has been Canada's response to England's call for an army division of 22,000 men, and so keen are those who have volunteered to bear their share of the burden, that the government has decided to send to the front as the Dominion's contribution an army of 31,300 soldiers. In other words every officer and man, in camp here will shortly leave for Europe in addition to the men there will be 7,500 horses.

This was announced to-day in a speech to the officers by Sir Robt. L. Borden. Coming as it did most unexpectedly, it proved a surprise that was more than welcome. Every man in camp was in a state of anxiety, fearing that he was to be left behind when the final choice was made, and, naturally, each one did his utmost to make himself efficient. The result was that the officers whose duty it was to choose the battalions to go were faced with a task impossible to complete without discrimination. Thus, when the Minister of Militia placed the facts before Sir Robert and his colleagues, it was considered best to send the whole force.

It is understood that a base will be established in England, and the troops sent to the front from there. The first detachment will sail before long, and the remainder (Continued on Page 5)

DUFFERIN PARADE WAS A REAL HUMMER LAST NIGHT

Regiment is Getting in Fine Shape Again and if Another Call Comes Brantford Will Have Many Trained Men Ready.

Duffs.
The Dufferin Regiment paraded upwards of 300 strong under Major Genet and Capt. Ballachey last night. The recruits, who lately joined, showed a noticeable steadiness and increased appearance each night. Drilling took place on the triangle outside the armories and though a sultry night, was creditably executed. Some allowance must of course be made for the depleted condition of the ranks, which are without their smartest soldiers, now on active service. On the whole, things regimentally are looking up and an influx of recruits, which commenced on the outbreak of war, is still maintained. More men however, are required and a quickening of the local manhood would soon see this right.

B. C. I. Cadets
The B. C. I. Cadets had a parade yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Armories. The boys were put through company drill by their officers and afterwards made arrangements for the annual shooting matches to be held about the fifth of October. Cadet Capt. Sweet and Vaughn and Lieut. Wood and Jones were present on parade.

A Company
A Company's annual class firing takes place Saturday at the Mohawk ranges at 1:15 p.m. There is over $50 to be distributed and the shoot promises to be a keen sporting event.

The following having taken the oath of allegiance are granted the rank of privates in the 32nd Battery from the dates opposite their names: No. 58, Gr. Thomas Whitfield, Sept. 11th; No. 59, Gr. R. G. Kite, Sept. 11th; No. 60, Gr. Frank Usher, Sept. 11th; No. 61, Gr. Samuel Saunders, Sept. 14th; No. 62, Gr. W. Snow, Sept. 16th.

One of the Most Marvellous of Their Kind Ever Produced.
Annette Kellerman, seen to peculiarly great advantage in a magnificent film production at the opera house last night, charmed a large audience with her many-sided accomplishments. Apart from the fact that she is pronounced the most perfect woman in the world, physically, she proved to have an infinite capacity for the art of acting. While she is not a genius, she has a grace of movement, and this added to the subtlety of her figure, with her naive manner, made her a film favorite almost at once.
The production, which is a spectacular fairy play, Neptune's Daughter, adapted from the story by Captain Leslie T. Peacock, suits the personality of Miss Kellerman, as a glove in hand. The enchanting scenes afforded by the Bermuda Islands are specially suited to this aquatic film, and form a fitting background to the work of the artist, which has much to do with the success of this splendid picture.
In her native element, as it were, Miss Kellerman is a spectacle in herself, cutting some fast radegee swimming and diving, as only she can. The story of the play, which is cleverly woven around Neptune's daughter, shows how she falls in love, with the man she has sworn to slay, and the final climax and scenes are a truly superb conclusion to this exquisite photographic drama.

Nuptial Notes

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Basil's Church on Monday, Sept. 21st, by the Very Rev. Dean Brady, when Miss Katharine Tracey, daughter of the late Thomas Tracey, became the bride of Mr. William Hayes, a popular employee of the Pratt & Letchworth.

The bride looked charming in a new blue travelling suit with hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley, was given away by George Hoger, and supported by her sister, Alice, who was gowned in mauve satin and black picture hat and carried pink roses. The groom was escorted by Mr. Vincent J. Tracey, Miss Duke supplied at the organ in her usual clever manner.

After the nuptial vows was celebrated, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, with a few intimate friends sat down to a very tasty wedding breakfast at the bride's home, at which Dr. Tracey presided. When full justice had been done to the many good things, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes left amid showers of confetti on the 10:30 train for Montreal and points east.

Many useful and costly presents showed the esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends. Among the gifts from a distant town was Mrs. Luttrell, the groom's sister, of Toronto.

The groom's present to the bride was a handsome clock, the bride-aid a beautiful solitary pearl ring, and to the groomsmen an elegant pair of gold cuff links.

Social Evening at St. Jude's

The Reverend C. E. Jenkins, was seen in the role of host last night when he and Mrs. Jenkins entertained a large party of young people of St. Jude's Church. Altogether, some eighty were present and enjoyed themselves immensely, for the reverend gentleman and his wife proved genial hosts. A series of games and contests took place and pleasing prizes presented to the winners.

The little gathering was really the inauguration of the Y. P. A. for the coming season and a little business in this connection was done, when the officers were selected, which resulted as follows: Hon. President, the Rev. C. E. Jenkins; Fred Pelling, vice-president; H. Harrington, secretary; Miss A. Hunt; Treasurer, Mrs. L. Pelling. A nominating committee was appointed for the selection of the various committees and will report at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Pelling at the evening's conclusion, moved a hearty vote of thanks to their very worthy rector, Mr. Jenkins and also to Mrs. Jenkins and Reg. Three cheers were given in response. Repeating, Mr. Jenkins thanked the young people for their presence and assured them the pleasure was his. Ministers were always begged for help, he said, and he had no exception. He asked their whole-hearted support and was assured of it. The National Anthem and prayer brought an evening pleasantly spent, to a conclusion.

Music and Drama

BRANT THEATRE
Peals of hearty laughter re-echoed through the Brant Theatre yesterday when the audiences of the day witness the performance of the three great feature acts obtained by Manager Moutie. Each of the three was brilliantly clever, and the comedy of sparkling calibre.
They were fine artists, and the big audiences appreciated the fact. Larkins and Burns excelled in their particular line of mirth-making, and no better comedians have been seen here.
A very pretty scene presented by Moore and Eastman, two fine duet singers, received well merited applause, and afforded a contrast to the last sketch, a rollicking force by the Moran Gonzalez Company of two members, who in providing a wonderfully smart comedy sensation, "Winning a King," made the hit of the evening.
The Million Dollar Mystery film added to the attraction of the bill.
At the laying of the corner-stone of a new Methodist church in Peterboro' the chimes in a neighboring Anglican church played "The Church's One Foundation."

Hydro Lights are Broken

No fewer than ten hydro electric lights were broken in the city during last week, and the theory advanced by the experts is that the boys have been throwing apples at the lights, practising one against the other at their adeptness in putting the lights out of commission. In two or three cases apple juice has been splashed over the remaining fixture, and in one instance an apple was found lodged in the reflector. There is no doubt in the opinion of the authorities that boys have caused the damage, which is extensive.
The police have been notified of the fact and the public are reminded that there is a $25 reward for information leading to a conviction.
The situation of the lights broken was as follows: Huron street second pole south of Cayuga 1 lamp broken; Welby St. third pole from Brighton Row 1 lamp broken; Darling street opposite No. 133 1 lamp broken; Brock street, first pole from G. T. R. 1 lamp broken; Marlboro street opposite No. 72, 1 light broken; St. George St., first, second and third poles east of Grand street, 3 lamps broken; Grand Street, opposite No. 18, 1 lamp broken; St. Paul's ave., fourth pole from Dufferin avenue 1 lamp broken.

FARMERS LINED UP FOR BIG CAMPAIGN

The Farmers of the Brantford Township and County heartily endorse all that has been done by the Brant Patriotic and War Relief Association, and they met in the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday to discuss what action they would take. Mr. Morgan Harris presided and the Mayor, Mr. R. E. Ryerson, Mr. Lloyd Harris spoke of and the work being done. The farmers then passed unanimously a resolution appointing three representatives upon the executive of the Association. Without further ado, the farmers were chosen as an executive committee and they were: Charles Thomson, H. W. Williams, Alfred Kendrick, W. Biggar, and Alex. Edmondson. They will at once push on the work of campaign to aid the parent body. Team captains, one for each polling division, were appointed and are as follows: 1 Charles Curran; 2 Anderson, Irwin; 3 Robert Smith; 4 W. Biggar; 5 Charles Thomson; 6 W. E. Brad; 7 Fred Luck; 8 and 9 James Seace; 10 James Pate; 11 and 12 W. Moyle; 13 Chas. Edmondson; 14 Roy Pearson; 15 J. T. Adams; 16 H. M. Vandenberg. The meeting adjourned for a week and was most enthusiastic.

Two Hundred British Warships Point Towards Heligoland.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two hundred British warships lie in battle line off the German naval base of Heligoland, so close at times they appear to touch each other, according to Capt. Sicily of the British oil tank steamer San Lorenzo, which reached New York to-day from London.

For six weeks the San Lorenzo was with this British fleet, her officers said, as supply ship for the oil burning war craft. She took them 15,000 tons of fuel oil. The San Lorenzo was with the fleet during the engagement with the German cruisers behind Heligoland but was not permitted to steam close enough to see the fighting. Captain Sicily said that a story was current among the British sailors of the fleet to the effect that the British Admiral, Sir John R. Jellicoe, was aboard the submarine which sank the German cruiser Hela recently. As to this, however, he had no knowledge more than the talk of the officers.

Scores of recruits continue to join city regiments in Toronto.

DESCRIPTION OF BATTLE SCARRED CITY OF RHEIMS Cathedral a Wreck and Houses Razed - Little Loss of Life in City.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Sept. 22.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Rheims sends this story of the situation at that point: "To the visitor, Rheims, wreathed in smoke and echoing with the boom of cannonading, presents a forlorn and desolate sight. Everywhere there is evidence of the damage done by the shells of the big howitzers. Whole houses are seen with their interiors smashed into a shapeless mass of bricks, mortar and wood."

"An examination of the interior shows that the better part of fifty shells found lodgement, but luckily, the range being very great, the solid stonework of the building had resisted the successive shocks. It was the ancient and priceless glass of the windows which suffered the most. In the centre of the vault the great candelabra which hung from the roof lies broken in the centre of the floor amid a great mass of débris."

DESCRIPTION OF RHEIMS. LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Rheims, under the heading of Sunday, sends this description of the scenes there: "Following five days of bombardment, constantly increasing in intensity, there is streaming along the wet, muddy roads to Epernay a sad procession of refugees of all classes from Rheims. They are in every sort of vehicle except the motor car, and have been driven by the destruction of the city to seek shelter elsewhere."

MARKET REPORTS CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Notwithstanding a decided setback at one time, the wheat market today went higher, influenced by a notable falling off in receipts northwest. Closing prices were steady at 1-4c to 3-4c net advance.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—Wheat prices opened 1/4c to 1/2c higher; oats 1/4c to 1/2c higher; and flax 1/4c to 1/2c lower. Following the opening there were further advances in wheat and oats, influenced by the higher Liverpool prices for spot.

MONTRÉAL, Sept. 21.—The outside demand for Manitoba spring wheat was better today, and as the prices bid were 2c to 2 1/2c higher, sales of a few loads of old crop were made to London and Dublin, but there was no enquiry for coarse grades. The local market was quiet, the demand being only for small lots to fill actual wants, and prices show no tendency to rise.

PARIS KEEPS CHEER AS THE ALLIES WIN Optimistic Feeling is Aroused Among Military Experts.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] PARIS, Sept. 22.—The battle of Charleroi lasted three days and the battle of Mons covered six days. Today is the 7th day of the battle of the Aisne, the most violent of the three, but the limit of human endurance seems to have been reached, as the intensity of the struggle had diminished in front of Rheims.

THE significance of yesterday's official communications to be seen on consulting the maps, is that the allies have advanced at points where the danger to the invaders is greatest. The progress to the west of Neoyon threatens the German right, and the advance between Rheims and the Argonne threaten their line of retreat and communications through Stenay.

Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, addressed Gananogue business men on the effects of the war upon trade. Nearly 800 British officers were reported in the total casualty list. Over a hundred were killed and a dozen more before succumbing.

THE SITUATION.

The Allies have made a small advance on the left wing, but it has been at a terrible cost. Such desperate and long-continued fighting on both sides, even to the point of exhaustion, has seldom before paralleled, if ever. In the war of 1870 the German plan, successfully carried out, was to force the French to occupy fortified places, such as Metz, and then to besiege them. This time an intended similar design has failed, and the Allies have kept the struggle in the open with remarkable skill and abounding courage. Right now the Kaiser, whom one New York paper aptly speaks of as the "Mad Mullah of Europe," most fully realize that he made an awful mistake when he thought the time and the circumstances were ripe for "The Day." It is now almost a certainty that no further effort of any import can be made towards Paris.

Meanwhile the Russians continue to advance with irresistible force as far as any serious Austrian opposition is concerned. They are now sweeping through Galicia, a crown land belonging to the Austrian monarchy. The country is a high terrace, situated at the northern base of the Carpathian Mountains. The northern portion forms an extensive plain, broken only by low ranges of hills. There are many fortresses.

The rumor is again revived that Italy is almost the verge of declaring for the Allies, and the large number of unemployed there since the commencement of hostilities is given as one of the reasons.

One striking feature of the war thus far is the great loss among British officers. At last reports 130 had been killed, 388 wounded, and 279 are reported missing. This gives a grand total of 797, a figure out of all proportion to the losses in the ranks. For sheer and dauntless pluck and willingness to be consistently foremost in any danger zone, the British officers as a class are perhaps unequalled, and the men whom they lead are just as notable in their less exalted sphere. Without both of them the situation in France to-day would be far less satisfactory.

Johnny Canuck is about to send forward his first contingent, not of 22,000, as first asked for, but 35,400, because of that extra reserve. They will probably receive a further training for some weeks in the Old Land. The hearts of all Canadians will be with them.

THE BULL-DOG STRAIN.

The bull-dog is typical of the British race—men fearless in attack, grim and determined, tenacious, invincible. We in Canada are proud of the bull-dog strain in us—that quality of blood and heart that makes us dauntless and masterful. The bull-dog strain shows in us and others in times of peril and menace.

Everywhere in Canada manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of the bull-dog breed are answering the challenges of war—the challenges of trade disturbance and business opportunity. The identity of some of these valiant-hearted merchants and manufacturers is revealed in the advertising columns of this and other newspapers, for advertisements are expressions of courage, tenacity and mastery.

MINISTER OF FINANCE AND THE CANADIAN OUTLOOK

In an address before the Board of Trade at Gananoque, Hon. Mr. White, always noted for his careful language, took an optimistic view of the immediate outlook for Canada. He pointed out that in connection with the war we have been passing through a period of dislocation. Readjustment is taking place favorably, and the outlook is distinctly promising. Many of our industries have suffered, but the first and worse effects will gradually wear away. Others have been greatly quickened and stimulated. The higher prices for grains and other agricultural products will more than neutralize this year's shortage in amount. For the future agricultural production should be immensely stimulated and this for years past has been the great need in Canada. This will solve the problem of the high cost of living, the overcrowding of cities and consequent unemployment. It will also enable Canada to greatly increase its exports, thus ensuring payment of our interest and other obligations abroad and the preservation of our national credit. With so many men offering their lives for the Empire and undergoing hardships, privation and suffering at the front it was the duty of every man at home to put forth his utmost effort to increase national production, to add to the national wealth, that the wastage of war might be repaired and the strength of the nation increased to meet whatever of struggle and stress that may lie before us.

ROLL OF HONOR.

A great English newspaper, The Morning Post, made the publication of the first great casualty list which showed a loss for Sir John French's army of some 5,000 men, the occasion of a noble and high-spirited article "The Roll of Honor" which is here reproduced in part.

"To-day (said the Morning Post), we publish the first installment of the list which we have called the roll of honor, the list of our soldiers who have died in defence of their country. And we desire to use the occasion which some may think melancholy but we regard as glorious, to enforce the appeal for more soldiers in the cause for which they die. There are many who speak hardly of war as a thing altogether evil-bearing fruits only of suffering and misery. They point to the rare handwork of God destroyed in a moment and to the labors of man brought to naught. Such critics of war dwell exclusively upon the loss to the individual his personal sufferings, the extinction in this life of the divine spark, and the agony and deprivation of those other individuals who depend upon the extinguished life. We agree that there is much to be said for this censure of war; but, we hold, nevertheless that there are evils worse than the swift calamities of battle. A shameful peace, by which for the sake of material comfort and security, a nation sold its honor and betrayed its friends, would be a calamity far worse than war. Fighting may arouse certain evil passions of cruelty but such a peace would nourish evils more injurious to the soul of a nation—the desire for comfort, selfishness, cowardice, greed. These vices are worse for a nation than the manly animosities of war. As to death, it may be an evil, but it is an evil which comes to all soon or late. And we cannot think that death on the field of battle is a greater ill than death upon the sick bed by the more gradual processes of disease. For in war the mind is so set upon victory and the heart so full of the ardour of conflict that the very pangs of dissolution lose their terrors. In the heat and fury of battle the terrors of death are little regarded. What in peace is dreaded above all things, in war is rather sought and courted. For in the height of such a crisis men feel that their lives are nothing and that victory is everything.

Perhaps, after all, this view of death is not a fallacy. What matters is the life of the race; in the life of the race lies the immortality of the individual. The soldier dies that his country may live, and if his race survives in the spirit of the race, and in death partakes of its life, the soul of England is the soul of the sum of Englishmen living and dead. The slain in battle still live in the soul and character of the people. These great spiritual trials and exaltations which we call wars and battles mould and shape the mind and character of future generations of Englishmen. Individuals die that the nation may live; if the sacrifice were refused the nation itself would become a thing diseased and corrupt. Therefore, war is not altogether an evil; it cleanses and purifies; it invigorates the national sentiment and intensifies the national life. In this war every Englishman must feel a keener sense of the national spirit, a new feeling of friendliness and brotherhood towards the rest of his nation. It is a communion of the national spirit which draws us all together and makes us feel that we are not individuals merely, but parts of a great whole, whose destiny and interests are of infinitely higher importance than our own.

These feelings are felt by all, and therefore, we are sanguine enough to think that our roll of dead will be our best aid to recruiting."

The following news item is taken from the Toronto Mail-Enterprise:

"A revolting instance of brutality on the part of German officials, in which an English schoolboy of 14 was the victim, is instanced in a letter received by Rev. W. J. Southam of All Saints' Church, Toronto. The boy was the nephew of a neighbor, and his father at once left to bring the two of them home. During a stop at one of the stations, the boy, who had a small kodak with him, took a snap-shot, not thinking he was doing any harm thereby. His action was seen by an official, who notified the military authorities, with the result that the train was stopped at the next station and the boy taken from the coach onto the platform and summarily shot."

General Beyers, commandant-general of the Union of South Africa's defence, has resigned because he does not want to lead the Boers against Germans in Southwest Africa. Incidentally he attacked Great Britain. Whereupon General Smuts, of Boer war fame, came back with a red-hot reply, in which he said that the attack on the Old Land was not only "entirely baseless, but unjustifiable, coming, as it does, in the midst of a great war." He dwelt upon the splendid gift of freedom to their land by John Bull and added:

"I cannot conceive of anything more fatal and humiliating than a life of loyalty in fair weather and a policy of neutrality and pro-German sentiment in days of storm and stress."

Good for Smuts.

The following is one of many similar poems now appearing in the British papers during the recruiting period:

BRAVO!

Kitchener sat in his London den, Silent and grim and grey, Making his plans with an iron pen, Just in Kitchener's way.

And he sat where the clouds rose dark and dun, And that it meant, he knew: "We shall want every man who can shoulder a gun."

To carry this thing right through!"

Bravo Kitchener! say what you want, No one shall say you nay! And the world shall know, where our bugles blow, We've a Man at the head—to-day!

Jellicoe rides on the grey North Seas Watching the enemy's line, Where their Lord High Admirals skulk at ease Inside their hellish mines. They have drunk too deep in the hoisted fight, They have vowed too mad a vow! What do they think—on the watch—to-night? What toast are they drinking now?

Bravo, Jellicoe! Call them again, And whenever they take the call. Show them the way, give them their And settle it once for all!

And French is facing the enemy's front, Stubbornly day by day, Taking the odds and bearing the brunt, Just in the Britisher's way, And he hears a message, that makes him glad, Ring through the smoke and flame, "Fight on, Tommy! stick to them, lad! Jack's at the same old game!"

Bravo, Tommy, stand as you've stood, And whether you win or fall, Show them you fight as gentlemen should, And die like gentlemen all!

So Kitchener plans in London Town, French is standing at bay, Jellicoe's ships ride up and down, Holding the seas' highway, And you that loaf where the skies are blue, And play by a petticoat hem, These are the men who are fighting for you!

What are you doing for them? Bravo, then, for the men who fight! To Hell with the men who play! It's a fight to the end for honor and friend, It's a fight for our lives to-day! —Fred. E. Weatherly.

"THE CRIME OF RHEIMS"

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—All the New York morning papers to-day contain lengthy editorials on the destruction of the Rheims cathedral. The Tribune has two editorials in the same issue. A leader entitled "Germany Continues to Violate the Humanities as well as the Rules of War," and the other "The Crime of Rheims."

The leader says that the ruin of the cathedral again puts Germany on the defensive as being an "exponent of the spirit of savagery in Europe."

"The levelling of the beautiful monument is a piece of vandalism," it says.

The Tribune continues that the French protests cannot be dismissed as mere lamentations over the inevitable ruin of war. "They rest on legitimate grievance against Germany," in breaking the rules of war, Germany is encouraging other nations to do likewise, but the most crushing rebuke against Germany's pretensions that she is conducting a war for the defense of culture, is the fact that "the public opinion of the world is not ready to believe that France and Great Britain will never do to Cologne and Munich what Germany has done to Louvain and Rheims."

The Provincial Government announced the creation of another prison farm for northern Ontario.

ONE RED MORASS OF THE BEST BLOOD OF ENTIRE EUROPE

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Daily News publishes the following despatch from a correspondent at some point south of Vic-Sur-Aisne, France:

"All day I have been travelling a little to the south of the British and French line, between Soissons and Vic-Sur-Aisne, and without cessation the air has been shuddering with the bombardment going on in the north. The guns have never ceased. When I left at dusk, the deep artillery thunder was rumbling still. What progress the allies have made to-day I cannot say, but I do know we are pressing against the enemy with still more men and heavier guns. All day long reinforcements have been pouring northward. Columns and columns of artillery and munitions have gone along. Some of the French guns are of such formidable type that it is easy to distinguish what must be paid whenever they speak. I fear that, when the cost of the victory on this new front is known, it may shock those who at present hardly realize what kind of a war this is into some dim understanding of it. The vitality of the best of Europe's manhood is draining away rapidly enough to make a whole country one red morass.

FROM VON MOLTKE

His Proclamation Warning the Inhabitants of French Towns.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Following is the text of the proclamation published in French and said to be posted in all towns occupied by the Germans:

"All the authorities and the municipality are informed that every peaceful inhabitant can follow his regular occupation in full security. Private property will be absolutely respected and provisions paid for.

"If the population dare under any form whatever, to take part in hostilities, the severest punishment will be inflicted on the refractory."

"The people must give up their arms. Every armed individual will be put to death. Whoever cuts telegraph wires, destroys railway bridges or roads or commits any act in detriment to the Germans will be shot. Towns and villages whose inhabitants have taken part in the combat, or who fire upon us from ambush, will be burned down and the guilty shot at once. The civil authorities will be responsible. (Signed) "VON MOLTKE."

SMASH HOSPITAL

Another Attack Made by the Germans on the Red Cross.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

BORDEAUX, Sept. 22.—Madame Paul, head of the French Women's Ambulance corps, has sent in a report to the government from Etain, in the department of Meuse, in which she described the bombardment of a hospital at that place by the Germans on August 24.

The first shot from the German artillery, Madame Paul declares brought down the Red Cross flag from the roof of the building, and a fragment of this same shell shattered a basin at the side of a table upon which Dr. Froust of Paris, was operating on a serious case. The doctor then moved into a room in another wing of the building, in which there were five wounded soldiers. The shells began to fall faster and finally this section of the building had to be abandoned. The wounded were moved to Verdun, 12 miles away.

HOW PEGASUS WAS DESTROYED

Artillery Was Disabled in 15 Minutes by the German Fire.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)
CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Sept. 22.—Further details have been obtained here of the naval action in the harbor of Zanzibar last Sunday morning, when the British cruiser Pegasus, under the command of Captain John A. English, was attacked and put out of action by the German cruiser Noerwigberg. It seems that the Koerigberg approached Zanzibar harbor at full speed at five a.m. Sunday. She disabled a patrol boat with three shots, and then opened fire on the Pegasus. She commenced firing at 9,000 yards, closing in to 7,000.

The Pegasus replied with all her guns, but her artillery was disabled in 15 minutes. When her fire ceased there came a lull of five minutes, after which the Koerigberg again opened fire for another quarter of an hour. The Pegasus was unable to reply. Nearly all the casualties on board the British boat occurred around her guns and on her upper decks. She was badly injured on the water line, and listed heavily. The flag of the Pegasus was shot away twice, but each time it was raised again and held up by her marines.

IS CONFIRMED.
BERLIN, Sept. 22.—(Via Rotterdam and London)—The report of the sinking of the German arm ed merchant cruiser Capt. Trafalgar, September 14, off the coast of South America, by the Canadian liner, Carmanda, converted into a British auxiliary cruiser, has been confirmed in an official statement given out here today. This communication adds that the crew of the Cap Trafalgar was saved by the German steamer Elenore Koerman.

RIVERDALE CHURCH

Splendid Improvements Carried Out by the Pastor and People.

Riverdale Baptist church in the Holmedale has entered upon a renewed era of prosperity. On Sunday the church, after having undergone extensive repairs, was opened for service by Prof. Farmer of McMaster University, preached two eloquent sermons. The church now has an enlarged auditorium, and an addition 20 by 40 feet for Sunday school purposes. The interior has been redecorated, new seats and windows, furnace and electrical fixtures installed. This was done at a cost of $3,500, of which there is an unpaid balance of about $400.

Last evening a splendid supper and concert was held at which, Mr. George S. Matthews acted as chairman. The program included solos by Miss Roberts, Edna Phipps; duets, Misses Phipps, Messrs. Pickering and Drury; readings, Mrs. David Wright; Congratulatory addresses to the pastor, Rev. Mr. Richards, on his splendid work and to the people, were delivered by Rev. L. Brown, S. G. Read, T. B. W. Henderson, Rev. C. J. Loney, all representatives of the Baptist church of the city.

Mrs. N. D. Neill has returned from spending the summer in the Stoney Lake district.

SUMMARY

 from Maubeuge in France to Namur in Belgium, but this report also lacks confirmation. It finds place in a Paris newspaper.

In Belgium the situation shows no real change. Belgian sorties from Antwerp continue, but apparently without affecting either the German or the Belgian positions.

The Russians are before Przemyśl, engaging this Austrian fortress in Galicia with artillery fire. The Russians claim that Austrians in Galicia are fleeing before them, while Vienna declares that the movements of her armies are for the purpose of re-organization.

Continued Employment in the Ten Penman Mills

The industrial conditions created by the war will stimulate activity in the ten mills operated by Penman's Limited, manufacturers of hosiery, underwear, blankets, etc. In summing up the situation, Mr. I. Bonner, general manager of the company said: "Prospects for the hosiery business look bright. The fact of the German and Austrian competition being cut off is bound to make a greater demand for the staple lines made by Canadian manufacturers. Penman's Limited have already felt the extra demand, which will undoubtedly increase."

The under-war trade is holding steadily, compared with what it has been for the past eight months. Of course the demand is still below what it has been in previous years, but we do not anticipate any further falling off."

There are 2,300 employees in the ten mills of Penman's Limited, and these employees are assured of continued employment. Indeed if the extra demand for hosiery continues, as is likely to be the case, the staff in the hosiery department will have to be increased.

The continued operation of the Penman mills will mean the circulation of a million dollars a year in wages to Canadian employees. It will mean much more than that because the finished product of a year's operation of these mills is worth $4,000,000, and much of the difference between that amount and the payroll of $1,000,000 will be spent in Canada in the purchase of raw material, in factory supplies, in freight, cartage, etc.

THE STORY OF Waitstill Baxter

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN.

Copyright, 1913 by Kate Douglas Wiggin.

"I know you do. That's what I'm afraid of." And Mark's voice showed decided nervousness. "You won't get out of the notion of marrying me, will you, Patty dear?"

"Marrying you is more than a 'notion,' Mark," said Patty soberly. "I'm only a little past seventeen, but I'm far older because of the difficulties I've had. I don't wonder you speak of my 'notions.' I was as light as a feather in all my dealings with you at first."

"So was I with you. I hadn't grown up, Patty."

"Then I came to know you better and see how you sympathized with Waitstill's troubles and mine. I couldn't love anybody; I couldn't marry anybody who didn't feel that things at our house can't go on as they are. Father has had a good long trial. Three wives and two daughters have done their best to live with him and failed. I am not willing to die for him, as my mother did, nor have Waitstill killed if I can help it. Sometimes he is like a man who has lost his senses, and sometimes he is only grim and quiet and cruel. If he takes our marriage without a terrible second Mark, perhaps it will encourage Waitstill to break her chains as I have mine."

"There's sure to be an awful row," Mark said as one who had forecasted all the probabilities. "It wouldn't make any difference if you married the Prince of Wales; nothing would suit your father but selecting the man and making all the arrangements, and then he would never choose any one who wouldn't tend the store and work on the farm for him without wages."

"Waitstill will never run away. She isn't like me. She will sit and sit there, aching and suffering, till doomsday, for the one that loves her isn't free like you."

"You mean Ivory Boynton? I believe he worships the ground she walks on. I like him better than I used, and I understand him better. Oh, but I'm a lucky young dog to have a kind, liberal father and a bit of money put by to do with as I choose. If I hadn't I'd be eating my heart out like Ivory."

"No, you wouldn't eat your heart out. You'd always get what you wanted somehow, and you wouldn't wait for it either, and I'm just the same. I'm not built for giving up and enduring and aching. I'm naturally just a tuff of thistle-down, Mark, but, living beside Waitstill all these years, I've grown ashamed of my soft light-blowing about hither and thither. Oh, but I shall will forgive me, Mark. I won't mind what father says or does."

"She will forgive us, Patty, darling. Don't fret and cry and make your pretty eyes all red. I'll do nothing in all this to make either of you girls ashamed of me."

"Does the town clerk or does the justice of the peace give a wedding ring just like the minister?" Patty asked. "I shouldn't feel married without a ring."

"The ring is all ready and has 'M. W. to P. B.' engraved in it, with the place for the date waiting, and here is the engagement ring if you'll wear it when you're alone, Patty. My mother gave it to me when she thought there would be something between Annabel Franklin and me. The moment I looked at it—you see, it's a topaz stone—and noticed the yellow fire in it, I said to myself, 'It is like no one but Patty Baxter, and if she won't wear it no other girl shall!' It's the color of the tip ends of your curls, and it's just like the light in your eyes when you're making fun."

"It's heavenly!" cried Patty. "It looks as if it had been made of the yellow autumn leaves, and, oh, how I love the sparkle of it! But never will I take your mother's ring or wear it, Mark; till I've proved myself her loving, dutiful daughter. I'll do the one wrong thing of running away with you and concealing our marriage, but not another if I can help it."

"Very well," sighed Mark, replacing the ring in his pocket with a rather crestfallen air. "But the first thing you know you'll be too good for me, Patty. You used to be a regular will-o'-the-wisp—all nonsense and fun, forever laughing and teasing, so that a fellow could never be sure of you for two minutes together."

"It's all there underneath," said Patty, putting her hand on his arm and turning her wistful face to his. "It will come again. The girl in me isn't dead. She isn't even asleep, but she's all sobered down. She can't laugh just now, she can only smile, and the tears are waiting underneath, ready to spring out if any one says the wrong word. This Patty is frightened and anxious, and her heart beats too fast from morning till night. She hasn't any mother, and she cannot say a word to her dear sister, and she's going away to be married to you, that's almost a stranger, and she isn't eighteen and doesn't know what's coming to her nor what it means to be married. She dreads her father's anger; and she cannot rest till she knows whether your family will love her and take her in, and, oh, she's a miserable, worried girl, not a bit like the old Patty!"

Tired Mothers. It's hard work to take care of children and to cook, sweep, wash, sew and mend besides. Tired mothers should take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, ensures restful sleep, and helps in many ways.

Lest we forget, Lest we forget"*

GREAT BRITAIN is engaged in the most terrible war the world has ever known, and on it hangs the fate of the British Empire and the freedom and happiness of everyone of its citizens.

Thousands and thousands of our best manhood are fighting the bloodiest of battles at the front—they are laying down their lives FOR YOU. What is your duty to them and to the Empire? What Share of the burden will you carry?

$100,000 IN THREE DAYS!

A great campaign is to be conducted this week by 150 of Brantford's best business men to raise $100,000 in three days as a War Relief Fund.

This money is to be expended in Brant County to care for the dependents of those who have gone to the front, and also to help those, who, through no fault of their own, will be made to suffer because of unemployment caused by the war.

Now is the time to raise the money—not weeks hence when the cold of the winter will make the suffering more intense.

Everybody will be called upon and asked to contribute. The widow's mite will be just as acceptable as the hundreds or the well-to-do.
