This was intended for presentation to Rear Admiral George Dewey, as a token of admiration of the magnificent ability and great bravery displayed by him in the planning and execution of the battle of Manilla, the culmination of the great victory which startled the world, proving American officers of the army and navy are unexcelled. The magnificent piece of penwork was carried over to the navy department, where it will be held subject to Admiral Dewey's disposition.

There is considerable mystery concerning the cutting of cables running out of Cuba and the continuance of cable service from that island.

It was positively established today that the French cable running from Santiago to Cape Haytien went out of service last Friday and remained out of working condition until Saturday. During the 24 hours interruption the company was unable to carry any disiness over this line. . There is little doubt that the interruptions were due to the work of the cable cutting ship sent out by Gen. Greely and in charge of signal service officers. But the mystery of the affair is that the French cable began working again on Saturday. How this came about s beyond explanation by the best cable experts. The French cable company is as much in the dark on this point a are the anthorities here. The matter is further complicated by reports reaching the officials here again today that the creed by the insurgents, preferred to yield to Warships Enter Guantenasso Bay.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, June S .- It is reported here that a great battle has able relaxation of the rules so rigidly applied taken place at Cumanera, in the bay of Guantanamo.

At 5:30 yesterday morning (Tuesday) five ships of the American squadron son's men during Monday's fight with the forts opened a heavy bombardment of the fortifications of the town. There was a perfect hail of bombs in the bay, striking and demolishing many houses beyond the fortifications.

On the Spanish side the artillery replied tigorously, maintaining for some time a stiff resistance. The fire from the warships, however, never slackened for an instant. It was regular and carefully di rected, and a great majority of the shots department was in communication with the proved effective.

The Spaniards were forced to abandon their positions on the shore and retreat to the town of Cumanera proper. It is supposed that later they fled from that position, also, with the inhabitants. Information has reached here that the Spanish at Santiago and Cumanera are preparing for a final desperate struggle, and are determined to resist the assaults pleases at Manila. There were intimations that took away in a measure the disappointment occasioned by this attitude, to the effect that once the troops, are ashore there will be a considerrelative to the giving out of information as to the army's movements.

The imagination displayed in the Spanish bulletin recounting the killing of 1,500 of Sampof Santiago caused a good deal of amusement at the navy department, and the officers profess themselves, though willing to meet the Spaniards with arms, to be utterly unable to contend with them in the field of mendacity. To some of them this bulletin recalled vividly the stirring bulletins issued almost daily from the Spanish legation here in the days of Senor de Lome, telling how the Spaniards, with the loss of one man, had managed to annihilate the Cuban army: «

No balleting were posted at the navy department, and although there were signs that the South, the newspaper men were assured that there were no events worth reporting treated of in the messages. The department is also very busy in arranging details for the Manila expeditions, having undertaken to make ready the transports which will carry the soldiers from San Francisco to Manila. Work on them is being hurried under telegraphic orders, and by the end of the week there will be sufficient military force afloat to enable Admiral Dewey when it reaches him, to do pretty much as he surgents, according to the newspaper reports, Justice on the Yukon.

When the May West, was about to leave, a few days ago, police boarded her with writs of attachment and brought ashore four or five parties, together with their bags of dust. For tune had favored these men and they were going to the outside world prepared to enjoy all the luxuries that gold can give. They had forgotten, however, that manhood and honor still lives, and neglected to pay bills due for goods furnished last winter. When their debts had been settled the men were permitted to go on their way. Execution of the law, after this manner, is quite encouraging not only to business men, but to every man with a sense of honor in his breast. It teaches that justice will reach those without principle as quickly ere as in any other part of the world. The form of law applicable in cases of this kind is, in fact, better here than elsewhere; for there are no delays, no procrastination, and men in the Klondike country must deal honestly with their fellows or be compelled to do so.

4 p. m .- The following communication from Capt. Gen. Augusti, dated at Manila, June & has been published:

"The situation is very grave. Aguinaldo has succeeded in stirring up the country and the telegraph lines and railways are being cut. I am without communication with the provinces. The province of Cavite has completely rebelled and the towns and villages are occupied by numerous bands. A Spanish column defends the Zapote line to prevent the enemy from invading the province of Manila, but the foe has entered Bulucan, Lagina and Miron, so that Manila will thus be attacked by land and sea.

"The insurrection has reached great propos tions, and if I cannot count upon the support of the country, the forces at my disposal will not suffice to hold the ground against the enemy."

It is reported that the Spaniards at Manila have already been compelled to take refuge in the fortified part of the town.

The Ynkoner is a man above average intelligence, and as such is always after something to read, and pays liberally for any kind of a paper that is liable to contain the information he desires. Its forests are yielding of their abundance to supply the demands of civilized men while its waters are dotted with various kinds of craft loaded with provisions and other articles of commerce.

In dealing with these sudden changes in conditions that have existed so long, practically the same, new methods are required. Better means of communication with the world must be established, mail service is to be improved, the rocks and shoals upon which so many boats have been wrecked this spring should be removed or marked; in short the Yukon Valley as one of the inhabited portions of the civilized world must be

On the other hand if he brings with him a due amount of pluck and energy and a willingness to endure hardship and privation, in the long run the chances are favorable for his success.

> MANY complaints are heard from the men who worked on lays during the past winter. It is undoubtedly a fact that on an average the men who worked for wages are better off today than the laymen. The conditions of a lay contract were such that a claim unless a very good producer, yielded the layman little or nothing.

WE point with pride to our list of Settle advertisers. It shows the interest taken in Seattle in the future of this country, and the faith of the reliable houses in the success of THE NUGGET. Such enterprise deserves patronage, and when you visit the Queen City do not fail to remember those who remembered this paper.

WHEN John Bull and Uncle Sam stand shoulder to shoulder the rest of the world must take off its hat. The Anglo-Saxon race holds the balance of power in international affairs and from this time on may be expected to show a united front in dealing with other nations.

THE improvements that have recently been made in the gulch trails are worthy of mention .- Incidentally it might also be said that the trails are worthy of much more improvement of the same kind.

ONE of the boats that recently came down the river brought with it a large supply of fireworks. We presume that when the 4th of July rolls around "there. will be a hot time in the old town."

NEWCOMERS who go up the creeks should be very careful in the matter of building campfires. Considerable loss has already resulted from carlessness in leaving campfires unextinguished.

ENCOURAGING reports continue to arrive rom the lower country. A good town somewhere on the American side will be the result if indications may be accepted for anything.

"Froma comparatively unknown region this conclusion long before he set out for rast district has suddenly sprung into Dawson that every creek and gulch adsuch prominence that even its small streams and their tributaries have become household words throughout the civilized world. Heretofore the mention of the Northwest Territory and Alaska has conveyed but a vague idea to the minds of most people. Nearly everybody knew that those places were located on the map way up toward the north pole somewhere, but beyond that knowledge their desire for information did not extend.

The chief products of the country were supposed to consist of Esquimaux, polar bears and icebergs and as none of these contributed materially to the knowledge or comfort of the world they were allowed to rest in comparative peace and Dawson, and it is highly probable that quiet.

The gold is here beyond question or doubt. The richness of the creeks is no longer a matter of speculation. The difficulty lies in the fact that these things were known and advantage taken of that knowledge long before the present rush began.

Notwithstanding this, however, there is no necessity for discouragement of the newcomer. If he came into the country with the intention of making a business of prospecting, there is plenty of room for him yet and doubtless will be for years to come. Bonanza

On May 28 a large boat containing a complete taflor's outfit and a large stock of cloth, vas wrecked at the mouth of Sixty-Mile river. The boat struck against a log jam which had become lodged against a sand hpr. The force of the shock almost demolished the boat, and the occupants barely escaped with their lives. The owners of the craft were M. Jorgensen, Jas. Mnrray and Bill Brynn. After reaching the shore they were forced to walk the entire distance to Dawson. For two and one-half days they were without food of any kind, but finally reached a camp where they managed togached Dawson.

Big Fire on Upper Bonanza.

A fire occurred on upper Bonanza last week resulting in the loss of nine cabins on claims 41, 42 and 43. The fire spread from a camp fire which had been built by a party who had gone up the gulch for the purpose of inspecting a elaim. Three cabins on 41 were burned, one on 42 and five on 43. The fire, after spreading over the claims and destroying the cabins, jumped over the creek, but was checked by a light rainfall. At last accounts it had not entirely ceased burning."

Accidental Shooting.

Mr. B. H. Graves of Vancouver, B. C., was acgidentally shot by H. Nelson of Portland, Or., at the head of Lake LeBarge, May 12, while enroute for Dawson. Nelson was in the act of picking up a shotgun, which was lying on the ground, and accidentally placed his finger on the trigger. The contents of the gun were dispened to be standing a few feet away. Mr. Graves was attended at LeBarge by Dr. Look of Portland and after a two, weeks delay came on from the sale of its flesh, to Dawson, reaching here June 1, '98, where he has been doing nicely under the care of Dr. Richards.

The Coming Fights.

Dawson is becoming sporty of late and the success of the last fight has led to other matches, the one in particular on the tapis being the 10-round go for Frank Raphael, a noted young pugilist from the Pacific slope, who met and defeated Sam Maxwell, in San, Francisco. His record is well known as an honest and conscientious fighter. His opponent is Frank Allen, also of the Partic slope, who for years was boxing instructor of the old and orld-famed California Athletic Club. He has trained many a noted pugilist and has had several finish fights himself.

Both men are training conscientiously and their set-to takes place June 30, for a side bet of $5000 each and total gate receipts.

June 25 a return match between Pat Rooney and Coolgardy Smith takes place, and judging by the clever work of Rooney of late the decision might go in his favor this time. Rooney eision? Boat-Building a Failure.

From a recent arrival THE NUCCET learns that the boat-building business on Lake Lindeman was badly overdone this spring. Hundreds of new ventures along the shores of the lake, and boats in large numbers were ready to meet the demand that the rush was supposed to bring. The rush arrived all right, but for the most part each party constructed their own boat, and there was little sale for craft of any kind, A number of sewmills were also set up, But few/if any realized any considerable return on their investment.

Calamity Jane, Calamity Jane, of Deadwood and Leadville fame, and one of Wells-Fargo's most trusted detectives, is in Dawson. The life of this woman has been filled with wild adventures, and on more than one occasion she has been secure provisions enough to last until they forced to take human life in defense of her own; yet a kinder, thier character would be hard to find. The Poet-Scout Coming.

Major Walsh has recently received a letter from Capt: Jack Crawford, the famous scout and poet, who is now on his way to Dawson. Capt. Crawford expects to reach Dawson in a short time, and our citizens will have an opportunity to listen to the poet-scout's literary productions as rendered by himself.

Drowning at Big Salmon.

Paul Jones and wife, and Nick Hanna, of Seattle, reached Dawson June 19. They bring a detailed report of the drowning of George Melham, formerly in the employ of the Seattle Brewing and Malting Co., mention of which appears in another column under date line of Big Salmon. Nick Hamna, George Sherwood and Melham, all of Seattle, formed the fatal party, and the outfits of all three were together in the boat, although Hanna had made other arrangements for passage. When a landing was made at Big Salmon Sherwood went into the police barracks to show customs papers, and during his absence Melham lost an oar overboard. A FIRST-CLASS SHOW. The Pavilion the Most Popular Resort of Its Kind Ever Opened Here.

A mining town without a theatre is like a mining camp without any gold. Dawson was without the former for some time, however, until the Pavilion people came to the front and under the able management of R. C. Gardner has, since the 13th inst., been putting up the best bill ever since in this neck of the woods. And his efforts have been appreciated, for every night the house has been crowded to tiptoes to the street doors. The first week opened with Nellie Lamore in song, followed by Blanche Lamont in song and dance. Fred Breen, exhibited fine talent in sketch; song and clog dance. Annie Kane sang beautiful songs in the true operatic style. Ren Dayis gave some comedy sketches and sang some of the original Billy Emmerson's songs in Billy's own style. His dialect was good. Jacquilin and Rosaline captured the crowds with their lever songs; the bill closing nightly with a three-round go between Frank Raphael and Hat Rooney. For this week the able manager, who is always looking for new talent and attractions has put on the following bill: Prof ... W. W. Pickrell, champion banjo soloist; Chas." Brown, buck and wing dancer; Eva St. Clair, the clever character sketch artist, and the regular bill of last week, with complete change in songs and sketch. That the efforts of the management to "enthuse are fully appreciated is evidenced by the nightly attendance.

STORIES OF CATP AND TRAIL. He was a youth whose dress, accent and gen-cral appearance indicated him to be a son of Swedgen and not long away from the protect. ing arms of the mother country. His yellow maekinaws and large fur cap made him a fe-cidedly conspicuous figure as he toiled up the steep lope of the Skagnay trail, drawing in his wake a heavily loaded hand side. A few hundred yards ahead of him a small group of men were standing under a large fir tree. All but one were dressed in the garb commonly worn on the trails and some had packs strapped upon their backs. Apparently a party of friends had come together on their toilsome journey toward Dawson and were spending a few moments of rest in convarsa-tion under the tree. Close observer, howev, er, would have noticed a small table within casy reach of the man who was dressed in or-dinary citizen's clothes. Upon the table were there innogent appearing wainut shells. The average man who passed along the trail recog-nized the business in which the party was en-gaged aid wort on his way without stopping, to make any impuries. Business, in fact, was dull, and a general appearance of depression seemed to hang over the little group. When, however, our friend, who answered to the rame of Lars, appeared in the distance below, new energy seemed saddenly to be ejected into he party above. They gathered round the lit-dit table and with laughter and jest began speculating as to which of the shells covered a small ball which the man behind the table had been manipulating. As the sound of the voices, reached his ear, Lars unconscions quickened his pace and came upon the seeme just in time to hear the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial tone, "This gentleman has guessed correctly and the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial to hear the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial to hear the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial to hear the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial to hear the ball manipulatior ery out in a joyial tone: "This gentleman has guessed correctly and wins $40," at the same time passing two double engles over the table to one of the men.

spoke he carelessly raised the first shell and without any effort at all placed the ball be-neath it... This was enough for Lars. He had heard what the man had said, had seen exactly where the ball disappeared. Herewas a Kion-dike much nearer home than he had antici-pated. Hastily throwing down his rone he pushed his way into the little ring/and began a search for his money. At length, from out the depths of his capacious inside pocket he drew a large package wrapped in a red bandanna handkerchief. Carefully unwrapping this ha disclosed to view another package, this time with a newspaper wrapping. After repeating the same process several times an envelope was brough to light, and from this a small roll of bills was mastily taken. Without hesitation Lars placed a 20 bill on the table raised the shell under which he had seen the ball disappear. The man behind the table raised the shell and the astonished Lars almost dropped to the ground when he saw that the ball was not there. He protested in broken finglish that he knew he had seen the ball placed under the shell, and demanded the re-turn of his money. But the shell man pocketed the twenty, and one of the sturdy "packers!" whispered to Lars that he had been mistaken and that the ball was under another shell. "Give her another trial, old boy," said he, "and this time you will make it sure." Again the little faree with the ball and shells was en-acted with the same result, the only difference being that the same result, the only difference being that the same result, the only difference being that the same result the sam and swore some good strong Swedish-eaths, but his friend, the "packer," again succeeded in quiet-ing him, and Lars was persuaded to try flis huck once more. prospecting below. Sam C. Dunliam of Washington, D. C., statis-tical expert United States Department of Labor, was an arrival on the Weare and called at the Nuccess office. Mr. Dunham has compiled some interesting statistics and already furnished the government within 17,000 word report.

government within 17,000 word report. From Jermyn, Penni, comes the following party of prospectoes: Eugene Avery, A. Martin, John Rosemorgey, Thos. Amey, John Wasley, John Eastfake, Thos, Boundy. Chas. Boundy and Samuel Temby. The Messrs. Boundy were formerly publishers of the Press in the city from which they came. - WANTED-To represent a claim. Address Oliver Ohlsen, care of Nugget office.

Ed. Keeley, formerly of Seattle, well known there as the editor of the Dramatic Star, was one of the passengers on the Hamilton. Mr. Keeley left Seattle August 18, on Mayor Wood's expedition, and wintered at Minook, where he located at Little Minook creek and Idaho bar. He thinks the Minook district is immensely rich. Mr. Keeley took passage on the May West on her return trip last Saturday.

Dr. J. H. Koons, of Seattle, arrived Sunday Dr. J. H. Koens, of Seattle, arrived Sunday merning. He reports the steamer Kalamazoo, formed by the Kalamazoo Mining company, to be lying on this bettom of the treacherous Thirty-Mile river, having struck what is known as Casey's rock, about five miles this side of Le Barge. Among the passengers were several women, who succeeded in reaching the hurrl-cane deck and were rescued in due time.

cane deck and were rescued in due time. Win. Frost and partners, of Grand Rapids, Mich., are among the unfortunates who have lost outfits, on the trip down the Yukon. It seems that after safely arriving almost in sight of Dawson an overhanging tree caught the mast, and in an instant outfits and occu-pants were in the water. The boys succeeded in saving one clothes bag and stove. They are not discouraged by any means, and will doubt-less retrieve their loss. Judge A. B. Guptill. Wm. O'Nell. James Me-less retrieve their loss. Judge A. B. Guptill, Wm. O'Neil, James Me-Kendry and John Finn, of Farge, N. D., reached Dawson Monday of this week. It is rumored that this party represents considerable capital and will make extensive investments in Daw-son properties. Walter Preston, their colored cheft, is represented to be a star in his line, and numbers among his many accomplishments the necessary qualifications of a first class bar-ber and a slugger to "beat the band." Mr. Charles Oaks, while crossing the river in the small ferryboat, picked up a purse con-mining what he thinks was about $200, all in gold dust. Mr. Oaks will be glad to inform the owner of the whereabsuits of the money. He can be found by inquiring at THE KLON-DIKE NUGGET office and paying for this notice.
