

MURDER IN TENDERLOIN.

Woman Found in Her Room With Bullet in Her Heart.

One More of New York's Many Mysteries to Solve.

New York, Aug. 16.—A murder in the heart of the old tenderloin district was discovered to-day when the body of Madeline Vico, aged 50 years old, was found on the floor of her room in a lodging house at 105 West 29th street.

There was a bullet wound through her heart, and the furniture was thrown about the room, indicating that a quarrel had preceded the murder. The police are searching for an Italian known to them only as "Crino," who lived with Miss Vico, and with whom she is said to have frequently quarrelled. The murdered woman was the proprietor of an establishment known as the Eastern Star manicure parlor. Excepting a barber shop in the basement the building is occupied mainly by young women.

Isidore Abrams, the barber, told the police that Miss Vico, another woman, a man named Fernando and himself were in the barber shop until 4.30 a. m. To-day when Abrams went to his room on the floor above and in the rear of that occupied by Miss Vico, two hours later, he was awakened by groans in Miss Vico's room, and, being unable to open the door, summoned a policeman. Miss Vico's body was found seated on the floor leaning against the door opening into the room occupied by Abrams.

There was no revolver in the room, and neither Crino nor the other man or woman who were in the barber shop early to-day could be found.

Giuseppe Crino, the Italian for whom the police had been searching in connection with the case, was arrested during the morning in his room a short distance from the building where Miss Vico's body was found. He told the police that he had been in his room all night.

UNDECIDED.

Martin Malone's Course Depends Upon the Morris Suit.

No action has yet been taken to upset the contract made by the city with the Cataract Power Company to supply water to municipal residents. Mr. Martin Malone stated this morning that he looked upon the contract as illegal, owing to the vote of the citizens on June 7 and the city, he says, has not the funds to carry out the contract. He would not say whether he would give notice of motion at present or not, on account of the pending suit of Mr. R. S. Morris. He is considering the advisability of waiting for judgment. If the suit is won by Mr. Morris his motion would be defeated, while on the other hand, if the city wins in the suit, he believes he has a clear case, and will then sweep the whole Cataract bargain out of existence and leave a clean sheet.

SAW REVIEW.

Mr. E. R. Niblett Back From Old Country Trip.

Mr. E. R. Niblett, of the Bank of Hamilton, has just returned from an old country trip. He had the fine fortune to be in England at the time of the great naval review at Spithead, and saw it all. The wonderful spectacle of five miles of warships and the magnificent illuminations at night were alone worth going across the ocean to see. He was also at Cowes for the regatta, and was successful in securing a number of very fine photographs of these two great events.

ON THE TRACK.

Workman Took Short Way Home and Was Killed.

Oakville, Aug. 16.—The mangled remains of George Tomlinson were found lying beside the Grand Trunk tracks a short distance east of Oakville station Saturday morning by the sectionmen. The unfortunate man had been employed for some time at J. Nelson's evening. He was seen in Oakville on Friday evening about 9 o'clock, and it is supposed while going to his boarding house he stumbled over the tracks and was run over by the train. He was a very quiet fellow, and little is known of his connections.

DESTROYED HIS BARN.

Lightning struck the large barns of Mr. Thomas Johnston, about a mile and a half south of Campden, during the storm last night, and set fire to them, resulting in the total destruction of the buildings and contents. Mr. Johnston had housed all his season's crops and these, together with some implements, etc., were destroyed. Fortunately he carried some insurance, but not enough to cover the loss.

TO BUILD SHELTER FOR THE SOCIETY.

David S. Burn (Kidd) Said to Have Plan to Assist Children's Aid Society.

That the shelter that the city has declined to erect for the Children's Aid Society will eventually be built with funds from the fortune left to David S. Burn by an Australian millionaire, whose daughter he rescued from the streets of Chicago in 1907, is the hope of local philanthropists. It has been intimated to them that as soon as Mr. Burn gets the legal technicalities cleared away he will make a grant. Burn, who was formerly David S. Kidd, and changed his name recently to comply with one of the provisions of the will, sails for Australia on Sept. 10 to collect his money. He invited a local worker to accompany him. This gentleman, who has been in close touch with Burn since he arrived in this country, says there is no doubt about the amount of money that was left by the Australian millionaire for the rescue home and other charities, notwithstanding the effort of some of the papers to discredit the story. "If the papers had gone far enough with their insinuations," said the Times informant, "they would have been sued for libel. The matter was placed before Mr. Burn's legal advisers. I had an opportunity myself of inspecting the documents with which Burn will collect the money left to him. There is no doubt about them being genuine, and they have the endorsement of one of the best banks in Canada. One big financial concern in Toronto offered Burn $95,000 if he would sign the papers over to them. He refused to do this. The plans for the rescue home in Toronto are further advanced than is generally known. The plans have all been prepared and the support of Archbishop McEvoy, as well as Burn returns from Australia the work will be gone on with."

GIBSON-UDELL.

Chester Gibson and Miss Lillian Udell Married on Saturday.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Grimsby, Aug. 16.—A wedding of more than usual interest was solemnized at St. Barnabas' Church, St. Catharines, on Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. De La Rosa being the clergyman, and the parties Miss Lillian Udell, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Udell, North Grimsby township, and Mr. Chester Gibson, of the Bank of Hamilton staff here, a cousin of Hon. Wm. Gibson.

The bridal party journeyed to the City of Flowers by automobile, accompanied by the bride's sister, Miss Carrie Udell, and Mr. Harry Griffith, returning home on Saturday evening. The honeymoon will be taken later. Both Miss Udell and Mr. Gibson are deservedly popular throughout the district, and their hundreds of friends will shower their congratulations on them for the next few days.

Fought in Street

Orange, Texas, Aug. 16.—K. H. Rice and his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Smith, fought in the street with revolvers to-day, as the result of domestic troubles. Rice is alive at his home with three bullets in the body, and the woman is in jail. Mrs. Rice announced her intention of leaving her husband. He followed the two women to the street armed with a pistol, and the fight followed. Several shots were exchanged.

A MIX-UP.

Turbina's Second Engineer Thought He Heard Signal.

In spite of a mishap at Charlottee at 9.30 last night, the Turbina left Toronto on time this morning, not showing a scratch. The accident at the Rochester harbor was a peculiar affair. The second engineer was in the Turbina engine room working on the engines, and he says he heard the bells give the signal to start. As a matter of fact, the vessel was still tied up, the captain was not on the bridge and no signal could have been given. The Turbina struck the Kingston and damaged her considerably, and a very strong east wind that was blowing added to the mischief. The Kingston, running out into the schooner Coralia, and the passenger steamer Arundel getting a bump. Unfortunately the chief engineer of the Turbina was not on board at the time. The second engineer was dismissed at once.

ALLEGED CASE OF WHITE SLAVERY

Police Arrest Recent Arrival From Toronto—Girl Threw Note From Window.

Diverse are the temperaments of people. Some could not be induced to sit and watch Police Court proceedings, while others could not be kept away with a galling gun; they seem to delight in seeing the sordid side of life. This morning there was a huge crowd of the curious in the visitors' section. Many were standing and many had to leave owing to insufficient accommodation for them.

The police have reaped some results of assiduous surveillance of suspects. The iniquitous practice of the youthful white slave traffic has received attention, and the mystery of the bicycle stealing may be revealed. The tramps who have terrorized the East Flamboro district are being gathered in slowly but surely, and farmers there are once again regarding their property as being safe.

P. C. Cameron has for some time been detailed on special duty to gather information about the procuring of young girls for immoral purposes. His vigilance has already reduced the practice.

On Saturday night the police received word that there was a young girl at 198 Princess street, being kept there against her will. Her name is Annie Merry. Ralph Rufus and Rose Bartlett were charged this morning with keeping an immoral house at that address. They both pleaded not guilty, and were remanded for eight days, owing to Annie Merry, the principal witness, being too ill to be present. She is now in the City Hospital, presumably from rough treatment.

On Saturday night Fred Cullen and John Stephenson were walking along Princess street, when they noticed the girl Merry beckoning to them from an upstairs window with a note in her hand. They went over and she dropped the note, which they picked up and read. It said that she was in the house against her will. The men at once informed the police, and Constables Holland, Hodgson and Campaign, jun., were despatched in charge of P. C. Cameron, and they raided the house.

Rufus came here from Toronto last Wednesday with Rose Bartlett. He is said to be an interpreter. Both the girls mentioned are Barnado girls, and when they first came to this country some time ago went to the Hazelbrae Home, Peterboro.

From there they went to Toronto and became acquainted with Rufus. Rose Bartlett, it is alleged, is a married woman. When she appeared in court this morning she looked a girl about 18 or 19 years of age, rather slight, with a face that bore few marks of intelligence. She wept piteously when her name was called. The police have information that will result in more arrests.

WAS KNOCKED OUT OF BED.

Lightning Plays Queer Trick Upon A Paris Man.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, Aug. 16.—To be knocked out of bed by lightning was the unique experience of George Snagle at Paris last night. A big storm came up about 10 o'clock and he decided to sleep through it. One hour later the lightning struck his house on William street, tearing a hole in the roof and knocking the plaster off the bedroom wall. In the mix-up he was hurled from bed to the floor. Stunned for a few moments, he quickly recovered, without injury, but the incident was a great eye-opener.

BAD STORM.

Corn and Fruit Destroyed—Rain Was Much Wanted.

Although last night's storm lasted but a short time, considerable damage was done to the crops in some sections of the country. It seemed to take in but a narrow strip, for Waterdown and some other sections are as dry as ever. Where the rain fell it will do a great deal of good. In the city a few wires were broken, but as the police were notified they kept guard until they were fixed. At the corner of Catharine and King streets a fallen wire made a brilliant display. In the same vicinity many fuses were burnt out. All the instruments at the fire station were put out of order.

In some country districts the corn suffered greatly and a lot of fruit was destroyed.

IS VERY ILL.

County Treasurer Cockrane in the City Hospital.

Mr. Archie Cockrane, county treasurer, was taken deathly sick yesterday afternoon at the Coronation Hotel, where he has been boarding for some time. He was taken to the City Hospital, apparently suffering from stomach trouble. He passed a fair night and slept well. This morning his condition had not changed, and Dr. McGregor, who is attending him, pronounced his condition serious. The doctors found that he is suffering with intestinal trouble, and that an operation may be necessary.

For some time Mr. Cockrane has not been feeling well, and complained frequently of pains over the stomach, but little was thought of it. On Saturday he appeared to be enjoying his usual health.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Leo Brennan left this morning on an extended trip to the north.

Mr. Murton, who has been summering at Stoney Lake and Peterboro, returned to-day.

The engagement of Miss M. C. Roper, daughter of the late J. H. Roper, of Peterboro, to Judge Rogers, of Colborne, is announced.

Mrs. E. Fuller, Wood street east, and Mrs. A. Whitney, Colborne, have left for Otroto to attend the High Circle meeting of the A.O.F. Miss L. Cowan, Main street west, also accompanied them.

HUNG ON A TREE.

Pittsburg, Aug. 16.—After hanging for about three months to a tree within a few feet of a public road, along which hundreds of persons passed daily, the body of an unknown man, apparently about seventy years old, was found last evening by berry pickers. No clue as to the identity of the supposed suicide was found on the body.

NOT UNTIL NEXT YEAR

Will Reorganization of Civic Departments be Tried.

Eight Wards and Two Aldermen Elected for Each.

Ratepayers Want Improvement on King Street West.

The proposed shake-up in civic offices and the amalgamation of departments at present operated under separate heads, which was scheduled to take place this fall, will stand over until next year for the new Board of Control to deal with. This has practically been decided upon. It means that the new waterworks shops will not be built this year and that the scheme to have one department for the Board of Works, Sewers and Waterworks construction, and the placing of the collection of garbage under the direction of the Board of Works will await the approval of the controllers.

If the Council approves of a suggestion which will be supported by several of the aldermen it will divide the city into eight wards before the end of the year, with two aldermen from each, and provide for the election of two of the controllers for a term of two years. The idea is to have the two receiving the largest number of votes remain in office for two years, the lowest dropping out at the end of the first year. Chairman Allan, who will be a candidate for controller, thinks this is the best plan. He favors it because there would always be two men in office with a thorough grasp of the board's business.

The temperance people say that if all those who are mentioned as candidates for controllers are in the field they will have no difficulty in electing a majority. They figure that the larger the field the more the vote will be split, while their slate will receive solid support. In addition to those already mentioned as likely candidates, it is said that Ex-Ald Hancock, Daniel Mahoney and Thomas Fanning are considering the advisability of running. The name of Ward Foreman Church is also mentioned.

Drastic action will be taken by the Waterworks Department to stop the great waste of water which the officials are satisfied is largely responsible for the big increase in the amount of water pumped. A number of vacant houses, it is said, have been discovered where the taps have been running and with leaks in the pipes. City Engineer Macallum said to-day that he had instructed the department to make an example of some of these offenders. He says the increase seems to be largely in the southeast section, when the lawn sprinkling during the warm months is very heavy. The pumps are working to capacity now and might break down at any time.

It is expected that the work of cutting out the roadway between the Beach filtering basins will be completed by the end of this week.

A deputation of property owners, headed by Ex-Ald William Nicholson, waited on City Engineer Macallum this morning and urged him to recommend the paving of King street west, from Bay street. The Council will be petitioned to supply the funds. It is unlikely, however, that the city will make any attempt to pave this section of King street until the street railway company lays the new tracks.

TWO MORE TO HIS CREDIT.

PROVED FATAL.

Mrs. Scarrow Died as Result of Being Burned.

Mrs. Grace Scarrow, who was badly burned at Winona last Tuesday, died at the City Hospital this morning. Mrs. Scarrow resided at 230 West avenue. After the accident her injuries were dressed, and she was brought to the city on the H. G. & B. Railway and taken to the City Hospital. Dr. Lang-rill attended her, but despite all that could be done she slowly sank and passed away. Deceased was 65 years of age, and leaves two daughters and one son: Mrs. George Jacklin, Pine River, Michigan; Mrs. Grace Burrows, this city; and George, who is in the North-west. The funeral will take place from Green's undertaking rooms to Hamilton Cemetery.

LIKELY TO COME BACK.

Friends of J. H. Marshall, the Ninety-first bandman who left the city about two weeks ago, believe that he will return shortly. The girl he is reported to have eloped with wrote a letter from Winnipeg to friends here, saying that she must have been crazy to do such a thing. It is thought that she will come back to Hamilton as soon as she gets the necessary funds.

BLIND MAN MURDERED.

Shot Down on the Threshold of His Own Door.

Rumor That His Wife was Shot Four Times.

Young Boy Arrested on Suspicion of Being the Murderer.

Simcoe, Ont., Aug. 16.—A shocking crime was committed near the village of Walsh, ten miles west of Simcoe, in Charlottetown township. Michael Hall, 80 years of age and nearly blind, was returning to his house after assisting in the evening chores at the barn, and while in the act of entering his door was shot from behind in the darkness and fell dead on the threshold. Two more shots were fired into the prostrate body by the assailant, who fled, and left behind no apparent clue to assist in his discovery. The old man was carried into the house and news of the matter was telephoned to the county police at Simcoe. Constable Austin was sent to the scene of the crime, and arrested a young lad by the name of Shelly, who, it is said, had been quarrelling with the old man.

Later—There is a rumor current that Mrs. Hall, wife of the murdered man, was also shot prior to the old man, and that although four shots were fired into her body, she is still alive, and hopes are entertained for her recovery. Shelly has been lodging in Simcoe. An inquest has been arranged by the Coroner.

Emery Shelly, about 16 years of age, is being held as the person who fired the shot. No person saw him fire the shot, but shortly previous he was at a neighbor's with a .32-calibre rifle, and was firing it off.

LIQUOR AND HAND BOOKS.

Detectives are Doing Special Work Around the City.

License Inspector Sturdy and a number of detectives from a well-known agency in Toronto have been watching the local hotels, but all were shut down as tight as wax. On Saturday the detectives were out to Caledonia and Hagersville finding out from what source there liquor is procured by the Indians. The recent number of drunken Indians has aroused the department in Toronto to action and they are determined to suppress it.

The same agency have a number of spotters here watching the hand-book situation.

FRANK ERNE.

Former Buffalo Boxer is Now Paris Favorite.

The real Frank Erne, not the hold-up subject who was recently warned out of London and Hamilton by the police, is now a Paris favorite. Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight, writing in the Sporting Life of London about a recent visit to Paris, says:

"As you will notice, I am in Paris. Plessary brought me here, but I was once again interested in the boxing game to look into it. I find it a very interesting situation; there is nothing doing just now, but notwithstanding all the faking that has been done in the past, there is a promise that the game will open again in the fall with renewed vigor. I find that American boxers are in greater favor here than the English ones, and especially our colored friends. McVea, notwithstanding his defeat by Jeannette, is still the prime favorite. Willie Lewis is also a great favorite, and is apparently considered invincible in his class, and even pretty well out of it. Frank Erne and Kid McCoy, like all the prosperous Parisians, have left the city, so that I have been unable to see them. I am told, however, that Frank Erne in particular is very greatly liked here, and that he has produced a splendid boxer in Marcel Moreau.

Love Finds the Way

"Mr. Clifford," he exclaimed. "You have arrived most opportunely. An hour and it would have been too late. When did you hear—"

"The eyes never moved from the hearth, the lips were growing blue. "Who is dead?" came huskily from them. "Will you be my wife?"

"Great Heaven!" exclaimed Mr. Packer, turning to a small group that had collected from the mourning coaches.

"Gentlemen, this poor, young gentleman is Mr. Clifford. Dr. Morecroft, he has not heard?"

"The doctor pushed past and caught his hand clinched at his side. It was cold as ice. "My poor, young friend," he said, "it is a terrible blow; it has been for all of us; but wear up like a man. Be calm. They have gone to a better land where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest."

"Who lies there?" the blue lips formed. "Tell him, tell him," whispered Dr. Morecroft; "the strain will be too great."

"Mr. Clifford—bear up—we are taking to their rest resting places the bodies of our dear friends, Sir Ralph and Lillian Melville!"

One cry went up to heaven and rang in the hearts of all who heard it, never to be forgotten, and Clarence Clifford fell at the very feet of the pawing, impatient horses.

CHAPTER XLIV. The reader will be spared an extended description of Clarence Clifford's soul's anguish. Such emotion as that which tore his heart in twain and drove him to the verge of insanity is indescribable, and he who would attempt to pen it must fail lamentably.

Time, life and death wait for no man. The funeral cortege passed on and left Clarence Clifford in the hands of the postillions and a small gathering of villagers, who, halting betwixt two opinions, as to whether more interest could be got out of the agony of one living person than the burial of two dead ones, had decided in favor of the former, and stood gaping round him.

At last some one, the only Solomon in the crowd, suggested that it might be well to convey him to the inn, and in silence the post chaise was turned and the hired of it conveyed to the Rivershall Arms.

Here they prepared a room for him and literally locked him up in it, for it was evident that he could not be trusted to his own devices, and every soul in the village having arranged to be at the funeral, there was no one left to take charge of him.

So there he remained in a darkened room, alone, with that indescribable agony at his heart, and the tolling of the bell in his ears.

Presently the bell ceased, the suppressed hum came back to the village, and the Arms was inhabited again.

The room in which they had put him was directly over the common or public room. They had not chosen the best room for him, because it offered more advantages for self-destruction in the shape of bell-pulls, fast-irons and a comfortable staff.

This, the second-best apartment, was a very poor affair, with great slits in the floor, through which came the heat and smoke of the rosin below, and occasionally the conversation of the occupants.

Clarence Clifford, lying on the floor, with his head leaning upon his arm against the bed, was conscious of this, but for some time the gusts of voices came upon his ears unmeaningly.

Presently, however, as his grief became deadened and numbed by its very intensity, the words grew into shape and signification, and he found himself listening in a stupefied, half-conscious way, as if he were dead and the still living were talking over his grave.

How humbled his faculties were can be understood; the conversation did not draw a groan from him.

A rough voice was speaking with a broken, thoughtful tone, and a pause every now and then filled up with sighs.

"Ah, and so the squire is gone, and the mistress, too. Lemmy, it's a bad day for Rivershall—this. He was short and testy sometimes—which of us hasn't?—but a good one at heart. There's none of us here have wanted for anything while the Squire Ralph owned the Hall."

"Ay, ay," was the sad response; "he was good at heart, and Miss Lily was an angel."

"Angel," repeated the man who had spoken first; "that wasn't the word for her. It was used too often to please me, Jim; find summum more uncommon like. Bless her sweet heart and send her peace, say I."

"Amen!" came heartily and tearfully. "These be the days altogether for all on us, Mike," said another. "The undertaker have had it all his own way in 't village for a good bit now. 'The churchyard a-nigh full, a-nigh full. The angel of death have been among us."

"They was lead, perhaps," suggested a voice. "No, they weren't," said Mike, instantly; "there weren't no time to make them. Don't I know, for I lended a hand to carry 'em to the lodge. More by token they was made by the new doctor's orders, and most particular he were. They weren't lead, Bill, but they was as heavy as lead, none the more for that, when the squire and the young mistress were inside."

"Ay, and their summum else as is most peculiar, Mike," said Jim, encouraged by the general look of interest and awe. "Beant' it strange for a slim young lass like Miss Lily to weigh more nor a big-boned man like Sir Ralph?"

"It is impossible that man," commented Mike, gravely. "But beant' it," retorted Jim, with grim triumph. "Ask Bill and Jack if Miss Lillian's coffin didn't weigh him again as much more than the squire's."

"Ay, that be the straight truth," said two voices, assenting, "and so it did, Jim."

"Ah," said Jim, triumphantly, "you don't think as I can be five pound out in my reckoning, Mike Sullivan? Weren't I at the mill at Cheriton, a liffin' bags and weights all day, and couldn't I tell a bale within a couple of pounds?"

"Ay, you did ought to, that's certain," said several. "But think so," said Jim; "nor I haven't been and gone and carried so many o' them to the churchyard for nothing, mates. I knows the weight they generally run—man, and gal, and woman—and I says that there was never such a lumpin' weight as the squire nor the dear."

There was a dead silence, broken only by the puffing of the smoker and the occasional setting down of the pewter pot upon the plain deal table.

Presently the sound of a horse's feet and wheels caused one of them to look up with a:

"What be that?" "That's the strange doctor's cart," replied Jim, who seemed to be the best informed of the company.

"What's he doing?" asked the same questioner. "Goin' to Lunnon with the poor squire's things."

"What, the Hall things, the furniture?" "No," retorted Jim, scornfully; "d'you think as one cart 'ud take 'em, soft? No, the linen and furniture out of the squire and Miss Lillian's rooms, what's been hinfected as they calls it, Lunnon. Everything goes to Lunnon, even them dead."

"Who's cart the doctor got?" asked Mike. "I dunno," said Jim. "Bill Yardley offered his, but t' doctor says no, as he wouldn't go t' risk spoilin' it with the infection, and as he should get a cart from Lunnon, it was kept o' purpose like. And that be it a-goin' along."

"Who drives it?" asked Mike. "Dunno; one o' doctor's chaps, same as came w' it."

"Anyone know 'em?" asked Mike. "Not as I'm aware on," replied Jim, as ready to answer as the other to question. "Yardley seed one on 'em and said as he was the ugliest chap as he'd ever set eyes on. For all t' world like a furriner."

"Ah!" said Mike. "T' doctor's summum of a foreigner himself. Them foreigners stick together, I've heard. And whose a-comin' t' the Hall, Jim?"

"Ladly Melville," replied Jim; "the old squire's young widow. She's to come when the house is done up and set t' rights. Ah! who'd a thought we should ever see t' old stock die out?"

There was a groan and a sign of sympathy. The squire heard his own name mentioned, but footsteps ascending the stairs prevented him from discovering in what connection.

The landlord, who had only just returned from the church, where he held some office, entered and offered his assistance to undressing the poor, young gentleman, but the poor, young gentleman man and refused every offer.

He wanted rest, undisturbed, for another half hour. A horse was then to be saddled and brought to the door for him. He intended returning to London.

To the perplexed and sympathetic landlord's question, if he would not stay the night, or at least take some refreshment before starting, he gave no answer; indeed, seemed not to have heard it.

In a half hour the best horse in the stable was brought to the door and Clarence Clifford rose and walked heavily downstairs.

There was a small knot of men at the door, as usual on such occasions, and they turned aside with a shake of the head, and a smothered exclamation of pity.

When most of them had seen this man last he was in the glory of his youth and vigor; now this heavily gaited, bent-back, listless figure and drawn face were worse than age, and that more because he was a stranger.

"Poor Maester Clifford!" At the word he started as if in sleep and roused, with his hand upon the bridle. But he did not speak, and handing the landlord a sovereign with shaking fingers, started Londonwards.

"Ah!" said one of the spectators. "There goes a broken heart if ever I seed one."

"Ye can't break your heart, man," said one, sadly, but with a view to argument. "T' new doctor says so."

"I know he do," retorted the first speaker. "Nor t' neck, neither. But, mark me, if the poor, young gentleman does condescend that both ways. He's broke his heart and 'ull break his neck, I warrant, before he gets to Lunnon. Did he look as if he could sit in t' saddle?"

Bent in body and broken in heart, the horseman rode on, indifferent to the road or the pace.

R. MCKAY & CO.

Once or twice rural police had looked after him meditatively and considered whether they were doing their duty in allowing such an evidently absent-minded man to risk his life.

But no had stopped or interfered with horse or rider, and the lights of London were before them.

Then, towards dark, an incident, the solitary one of the journey occurred, and Clarence Clifford received a fearful shock.

In a narrow part of the high road the horse had suddenly stopped. Clarence Clifford looked up listlessly to see the large cart, drawn by two horses, which had stopped to allow a man to examine the harness.

LEAVE MODEL TOWN Inability to Get a Drink Disgusts Steel Workers.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 15.—Laborers are deserting Gary, Ind., the "marvellous steel city," in such numbers as to threaten embarrassment to the United States Steel Corporation in the operation of its big plant. Unofficial reports are that more than five hundred unskilled men have left the town, and that more are preparing to go because the "hid" is on tight, and it is virtually impossible to buy a glass of beer or a drink of any kind in the town.

CASTORIA CABLE AGREEMENT. Sr Edward Morris Tells of Unratified Contract.

London, Aug. 14.—Sir Edward P. Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, who at present is in London to attend the Imperial Defence Conference, was questioned to-day regarding the complaints of a breach of faith made by the Commercial Cable Company against the Newfoundland Government. He said: "What the present Government does not feel it justified in doing is to ask the Legislature to ratify a portion of the contract giving a new concession to the Cable Company whereby it would obtain a monopoly for twenty-five years of the transmission of all cable messages passing over the Newfoundland land lines and freedom from taxation. This would be unfair and prejudicial to the Anglo-American Company, doing business on the same street in St. John's, and which pays yearly taxes to the amount of $20,000." Premier Morris will leave England for New York on Aug. 21.

HURLED INTO WATER Fourteen Persons Injured on a Submarine.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14.—An explosion on board the submarine Dragon, which was lying in the Neva, injured fourteen persons to-day, twelve Russian laborers, Engineer Joseph Meads, of Baltimore, and a Russian naval foreman. One of the laborers died at the hospital of his injuries. The others are not thought to be seriously injured. Engineer Meads, who was in charge of the motors, and who was giving them a trial when the explosion occurred, was not seriously hurt.

The exact cause of the explosion is still a matter of conjecture, but it would appear that it resulted from the ignition of the benzine supply, which was being taken on while the motors were working.

The accident caused a lively stir in the city, and there were all sorts of rumors, all tending to exaggerate the extent of the casualties. Simeon Lake, of Bridgeport, Conn., who is supervising the construction of four submarines for the Russian Government, made a thorough inspection of the Dragon after the accident, and declares that no one was killed outright.

Several of the workmen were hurled into the water by the explosion, but were quickly picked up by boats, which came to their rescue. The fire following the explosion burned for five hours, and destroyed the board floor over the batteries and other wooden work.

THE FARM

TELLS FARMERS HOW TO APPLY LIME TO SOIL. Going on the assumption that progressive Jersey farmers and truckers are open for suggestions in ways of increasing the productiveness of their land Dr. Edward B. Voorhes, head of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station, in a pamphlet he has just issued recommends the yearly application of lime.

It is shown that through a lack of lime the growth of crops has become less satisfactory, clover has failed to be productive in many instances, and even oats and corn have not given profitable returns.

"Farmers are puzzled at times," he goes on, "as to the best way of supplying the needed lime. They have offered to them various kinds of burned and crushed limestone, burned or crushed oyster shells, by-products from factories and gas plants containing quantities of lime.

"The subject of liming is made more complicated still by the chemical composition and market values of the different limes. Some limes can be bought for half the price of others, yet we know that the lime with the lowest selling price is not necessarily the cheapest, nor that with the highest selling price the best."

Following is a more detailed outline of his suggestions with regard to the use of lime:

"In reclaiming swamps or very acid clay-soils it may be necessary to apply three or four tons, at times even more, of water slaked or air slaked lime to make the land fit for the vigorous growth of cultivated crops.

"Under such circumstances it will always be wise to add enough lime in the first place to correct the existing acidity. In other soils the amounts required are much smaller. In heavy clay soils, not markedly acid, 2,000 to 2,500 pounds of water slaked lime applied once in five years will prove sufficient. Similarly 1,500 to 2,000 pounds may be recommended for loam soils and 1,000 to 1,500 pounds for light sandy soils. Where air slaked lime, crushed limestone or oyster shells are used the quantities may be safely increased by one-quarter or one-third, and where alfalfa is to be established by one-half or more."

"Instead of applying the quantities just indicated once in five years we may apply correspondingly smaller amounts once in two years, or even annually. The advantage of the smaller and more frequent applications lies in the fact that the soil has not allowed to become so markedly deficient in lime, as it sometimes becomes in five or six years under intensive methods of cultivation. Furthermore, the smaller quantities may be readily distributed by means of the fertilizer drill without involving much additional labor.

"As to the time of application, the farmer may consult his convenience in this respect. The lime may be spread on sod or on fall plowed ground in the late fall or winter, it may be spread and harrowed into the soil in the early spring or it may be distributed by means of the fertilizer drill shortly before seeding.

"It is only necessary to remember in this connection that lime should not be spread on top of heavy dressings of fresh manure, nor mixed with fertilizer containing acid phosphate or salts of ammonia. Moreover, it would be best to lime the land immediately before the planting of the potato crop, lest the development of potato scab be encouraged, but preferably on the crop after potatoes are harvested.

"Finally, it may be urged again that the farmer will find it profitable to apply generous quantities of lime to his land; that he will find the cheapest source of supply in materials containing the largest amount of actual lime (or of actual lime and magnesia) for the given price; that he should apply his lime in a fine state of division, and that, when the land is no longer markedly acid, small applications at frequent intervals will give more satisfactory returns than large applications at longer intervals."

A PIOUS JOKE

The Rev. Dr. Alexander relates that there lived in Peeblesshire a half-witted man, who was in the habit of saying his prayers in a field behind a stone-dyke.

One day he was followed to this spot by some weavers, who secreted themselves on the opposite side, listening to the man at his devotions, who expressed his conviction that he was a very great sinner, and the opposite side, listening to the man at that moment to fall upon him, it would had he said this, but the persons on the opposite side pushed the dyke over on him, when scrambling out, he was heard to say: "Heeh, sirs! it's an awful world; this a body canna say a thing in a joke, but it's la'en in earnest."

WATER RATES.

Engineer Macallum is naturally interested in economizing the capacity of the waterworks. Pumping water costs money, and while it is bad economy to stint the useful consumption of water by the people, it is highly commendable to prevent waste. The engineer is said to advocate the placing of meters in all private residences. But why stop there? The greatest waste is not in the private residences. True, at this season of the year considerable water is consumed by lawn sprinklers, but that is not comparable with the drafts made on the waterworks month in and month out by the great services whose large pipes are a constant drain. Moreover, the private residence rates in Hamilton are very high. Were all the water used paid for at prices charged for private residence supply, the waterworks would be much more of a gold mine than they now are. But let Engineer Macallum go on with the good work. Metering all the supply will show just where the water goes. It will show, too, that John Smith, the private residence ratepayer, is required to pay as much for a few thousand gallons, as William Jones, the specially-catered-to water user, has to pay for many times as much, every gallon of which cost equally as much to pump as did the water furnished to Smith. Perhaps a general realization of the inequity of our system of water rate charges will lead to something more just. Equity as well as economy may be promoted by the introduction of meters and the abolition of the system of charging John Smith $10 for the same water service for which William Jones pays only $1.

VERY NEAR TO FRAUD.

The Canada Law Journal this month refers editorially to the Hydro-Electric Commission's mode of securing right of way for the transmission line, the legislation regarding which, it says, "has been well criticised by others of high authority as 'monstrous,' 'manifestly unjust,' etc.," and declares that it "is quite as objectionable as the legislation itself." This touches the matter which acting for farmer clients Mr. Geo. S. Kerr, K. C., has been seeking flats to permit of being taken into the courts. The Law Journal points out that the acts of 1906 and 1907 gave the Commission power to buy land for the line, and made the Public Works Act of Ontario applicable, thus providing means of arbitration. But it was subsequently decided not to buy the land for right of way, but to "do it on the cheap" by acquiring easements for towers and line. When this policy was decided on the government did not make "The Public Works Act" applicable to these easements, and therefore it is not available to either Commission or land-owners. Whether this was deliberately done or was a blunder of omission the effect is the same. Farmers refusing the small compensation tendered for a 30-year privilege involving so much danger as an unfenced, or unfenced high tension power line, have been served with notices that "the question will be submitted to arbitration as provided in the act respecting public works of Ontario. And three days after the tender of this notice the Commission will authorize possession to be taken of the said easement." The Times in dealing with the Commission's methods has referred to this matter in somewhat severe terms, but we did not, as the Toronto newspaper mouthpieces of the Commission alleged, charge the Commission with "practising fraud" toward its farmer victims. The Law Journal, however, does not mince matters, but editorially declares that it "is a clear misrepresentation and suggestive fallacy," it says, "there can be no such arbitration. The Commission by this notice pretends it has a power which it knows it has not, and the only reason for such pretence can be the seeking to force a settlement which it had not been able to effect except by means of some such device as this. Would it be too strong language to call this a false and fraudulent notice?"

It is a shameful business. Were one private citizen to be caught trying such a trick of coercion upon another, the law would probably be invoked to punish him; surely, as the Law Journal says, the Government of the premier Province of the Dominion "should conduct its business with at least as much regard to fairness and honesty as would be expected of a private individual!" When the matter was brought before Hon. Mr. Foy by Mr. Kerr the other day Mr. Lobb appeared to uphold the course of the Commission, but he had no word of excuse or apology for this trickery. True, Mr. Foy then said they did not wish to take the land for nothing; they were willing to arbitrate. The Law Journal says, "That would be fair and reasonable. But that is not what is said. THE NOTICE CLAIMS THAT A RIGHT EXISTS, WHICH THE ISSUER KNEW DID NOT EXIST. Sure it is not unfair to suggest that THE REASON FOR THIS CLAIM IS TO MISLEAD AND DECEIVE."

"And," concluding its strictures on the shameful business, the Law Journal significantly observes: "In effect agreements thus obtained are obtained by fraud and duress and are probably therefore voidable." How much easier it would have been to proceed straightforwardly. "O what a tangled web we weave, When first we practice to deceive!" Now that the summer is fitting up it is not about time the council became enthusiastic over some scheme for the improvement of the north end?

CANADA IN JAPAN.

It is a fact worthy of more than passing notice that while the Government of Ontario is using its every effort to discourage the investment of private capital in the development of public utility enterprises, even to exhibiting legislative bad faith toward those already established in the Province with money borrowed abroad, British investors are organizing a company to be incorporated under the Dominion laws to carry on a great hydro-electric scheme in Japan. The Asahahi, Tokio's leading morning paper, says a large loan for the purpose of this Anglo-Japanese Hydro-Electric Power Company is to be floated soon in London. When Marquis Katsura asked the financiers why the London business had chosen to organize in Canada, Mr. Sonoda explained that in England the registration fee was excessive, whereas in Canada, which encourages industrial enterprises, the various taxes, including registration fee, were insignificant, and moreover the Canadian law recognized the establishment of a company whose object it was to advance loans. These facts had induced the British capitalists to choose Canada for the establishment of the headquarters of the company. Marquis Katsura has expressed himself as favorably disposed toward the scheme, and Sir Edward Strassay, accompanied by an expert, will go to Japan, leaving London this month. They will inspect the Oigawa, the Kinugawa, the Azumagawa, the Katsuragawa, and other rivers which are capable of being utilized for the generation of electricity. The alertness of the Japanese to encourage the investment of foreign capital to develop the country, and the confidence of their statesmen in their ability to efficiently and justly regulate the workings of such companies are in striking contrast with the Ontario Government's hostility to such investments, its bad faith toward foreign capital already here, and its socialistic war on it under the guise of "public ownership and operation." It is indeed well for Canada that better counsels prevail with the Dominion Government, and that at Ottawa, at least, nothing will be done to increase the feeling of lack of confidence that the famous policy of the Ontario Government has aroused among investors abroad. But it is much to be regretted that the millions of capital which Whitney repels from Ontario should pass us by and go to develop Japan.

CARE FOR THE MAPLES.

From several cities come reports of a "blight" having struck the maple shade trees, and much apprehension is manifested in consequence. The trees affected present blotched and streaked leaves, and parts of the tree appear to be dying. Generally the blight appears to affect only certain portions of the tree, and as yet few trees are killed. We have thus far heard no great complaint in this city, but the blight has been reported as common in the Eastern States. The Assistant Director of the New York Botanical Gardens has given the matter some attention, and his statement will go to allay the fears of those who have been puzzled to account for the cause of the trouble. According to Mr. Merrill the blight is the consequence of insufficient supply of moisture to the trees, and it is aggravated by attacks of plant lice or green flies, which suck the juice from the leaves. He says that the treatment would naturally be plenty of water about the roots of the trees and through spraying of the leaves on the under side with a solution of whale oil soap, one pound to eight gallons of water, to kill the plant lice. It may be a little late in the season to attempt to save the present foliage on a large scale, but persons having a few trees that are still comparatively green might take steps at once to preserve them from further injury. It is to be noted that the parts of the leaves most affected are those most distant from the veins, but if the drought is prolonged the entire leaf may die. Blotches may occur in any portion of the leaf and may vary in size from a small spot around the puncture of an aphid or a leaf hopper to the area of the entire leaf.

The hard or sugar maple requires considerable water, and the laying of cement walks and pavements and careful drainage of the streets too often cuts off the supply of moisture to an injurious extent from the street shade trees. A well-shaped maple shade tree has a very large leaf surface, and the larger it is the greater the quantity of moisture with which it must be supplied to keep up the demands upon it. Some varieties of maples bear drought better than others, but city street conditions are severe on most of them. Protect the shade maples from caterpillars and insect pests, and see that they get a sufficient water supply. The city would present a less inviting appearance were it deprived of its beautiful maples.

STOP THIS ABUSE.

A Toronto license holder has sold his privilege for $40,000. Of course, he could not have realized $5 for it without the consent of the license commissioners to the transfer; and it is highly improbable that any man would have paid him $40, far less $40,000, unless he had some assurance that his license would be continued after this year. The only person who could give him the slightest assurance of this kind are the license commissioners or those who appoint them. Clearly this sale illustrates the unwisdom of continuing a system which permits license holders to traffic in the privileges granted to them. No license commissioners should be placed in a position where his action may mean so much to the men whom they are supposed to regulate. No license should be held to be worth $1 of transfer value beyond the proportional part of the fee for the unexpired year. These huge prices for license transfers require us to assume that the purchasers are marvels of folly or that they think there will be no doubt about their being able to influence the commissioners to continue the license. Why should any commissioners be subjected to such influence? And what is its nature?

(Guelph Herald.) It is quite noticeable that some farmers who object to the transmission line going through their property never knew they had a grievance until some lawyer told them about it. WON'T BAKE. (Stratford Beacon.) The Hamilton bakers have decided not to increase the price of cakes from ten to twelve cents per dozen. The editor of the Hamilton Times will probably now stick to the baker's article. ALL ON ICE. (Guelph Herald.) Hamilton's Hot Air Club held a reunion. Strange to say it wasn't held in the Times office, but at Oaklands. A new way of carrying cooling draughts was evolved, everything on ice was carried in bottles. THE SAME HERE. (Toronto News.) It is in the immediate vicinity of Toronto that the country roads are at their worst. A few miles past the city limits most of the highways radiating from this centre become quite good, and in some cases excellent. DISCOURAGING. (Baltimore American.) Nell (sentimentally)—I wonder if there is anything in a presentiment—why the chance of marrying a rich and handsome young man should haunt me so? Nell (earnestly)—Perhaps because it is the ghost of a chance. NEVER WAS, NEVER WILL BE. (Toronto World.) At the present moment the United Kingdom is not strong enough to meet at sea any possible adverse combination, and as for that never has been, and therefore will be. It is all this kind of talk, therefore, not wholly beside the mark, and its own refutation? THE SECRET. (Ottawa Free Press.) The secret of the success of the Lloyd-George budget with the masses of England is to be found in its basic principle as stated by the Chancellor himself: "I made up my mind that in framing that budget which was in front of me, at any rate no cupboard would be bare—no lot harder to bear." It would be well if all Chancellors could be inspired by the same desire. AMERICANS IN CANADA. (Rochester Times.) The eyes of Mother England are being opened to the fact that an American invasion of Canada is in progress. This year the official estimates are that 70,000 citizens of the States will seek homesteads in the Dominion's fertile Northwest, taking with them wealth to the extent of $75,000,000. Last year a total of 178,000 British Americans went into Canada, as compared with 84,000 from the continent of Europe. A correspondent of the London Times, who has been looking into the matter, quotes an authority in Canada as predicting that within the next dozen years 5,000,000 Americans will cross the line and cast their fortunes with the subjects of Edward. The guess may be too high but the certainty of a large transfer is obvious. STABBED TO DEATH. Beautiful Chinese Woman Murdered in New York. New York, Aug. 15.—Chinatown boiled over again early to-day on the discovery of the murder of the most beautiful of the few Chinese women in New York, Bow Kim, 21 years of age, who came here from San Francisco about a year ago with an Americanized Chinese, Chin Len, 31 years old. On the morning of the 2nd of August, just as the usual Saturday night revelry was quieting down, that Chin Len dashed out of a tenement house at 17 Mott street, crying: "My woman has been murdered!" The street, filled with loitering Chinese and parties of American sightseers, all of whom quickly recalled the sensational murder of Elsie Sigel, the missionary girl, was thrown into great excitement. A policeman and a detective hurried into the house under Len's direction. In a bedroom the murdered woman lay on the floor, stabbed in half a dozen places. Her slender neck was ringed with bloody finger marks, indicating a struggle with her assailant, and beside her lay a crusted hunting knife. It was evident that the woman had been dead for two or three hours. On the stairs were found traces of blood, also on a door leading to the store of Yuen Chin & Company, on the ground floor. Three Chinese were arrested, although they denied any knowledge of the murder. Six American women, who declared themselves to be the wives of Chinese, were also found in the house and arrested, but none would admit any knowledge of Bow Kim's death.

GOOD SHORT STORIES

John R. Drexel, at a dinner in Newport, said of good manners: "The Hottentot thinks his manners are the best, the Frenchman thinks his are, the cowboy thinks his are, even the sailor—but listen. 'I once attended a reception on a man-of-war. A distinguished statesman, visiting this man-of-war, dispensed with the usual formal salute. I heard a sailor near me say: 'Who's that blubber who don't tip his skypiece to the skipper?' 'Choke your luff,' returned another sailor. 'That's Senator Dash, the famous tariff leader.' 'Well,' growled the first sailor, 'why ain't he got manners enough to salute the quarter-deck?' 'Manners!' a third sailor chipped in. 'what does he know about manners? I don't suppose he was ever out of sight of land in his life.'—Washington Star.

CHURCH MEMBERS. Recently in a cozy south end home I saw a little comedy drama enacted that pleased me immensely. A mother was striving to finish a tiny baby petticoat, a sweet little garment, where a mother thinks embroidery is necessary, while close by in a crib the three-month-old youngster who was howling lustily for parental help. Ethel, a golden-haired little girl of 7, philosophically sized up the situation that a mother could not embroider a petticoat and toss up babies at the same time, so she approached the crib with great importance and addressed the crying baby sister: "Katherine, you must stop crying. We're all members of the church, and we're glad because we are. We want you to be a member of the church. Mamma is making you a petticoat so as you can go to church next Sunday, and if it ain't done you can't be a member of the church."—Boston Journal.

THE BEST PUN. From one who signs "Subscriber," Santa Clara, California: "Referring to your editorial on books, your issue of June 19, will you kindly print 'the best pun in the English language' therein mentioned? I inquire for to know." It occurs in the last verses of Thomas Hood's "Faithless Nelly Brown": "His death, which happened in his berth. At forty-odd befall; They went and told the sexton, and And the sexton-tolled the bell." The pronunciation of final judgment on this pun does not preclude an interest in other candidates.—Collier's.

THE POLITICAL MILLENNIUM. Two Kansas farmers, one a Republican and the other a Democrat, are quarrelling over their political beliefs. The more they argued the further apart they drifted. Finally they called in a neighbor to settle the dispute. This neighbor was a man who seldom said anything; who went about his business; was a good citizen and substantial in every way. "Well," he replied, after both had stated their sides, "my son and I have been hauling wheat nearly forty years now. There are two roads leading to the mill. One is the valley road and the other leads over the hill. But never yet has the miller asked me which road we came. He always asks: 'Is the wheat good?'—Kansas City Journal.

CORNISHMEN Held Jolly Picnic at Oaklands on Saturday Afternoon. The Cornishmen's picnic at Oaklands Park on Saturday was largely attended, and a good time was spent by all. The races were well contested, and, with other games, helped to make the afternoon and evening pass pleasantly. The gathering left on the 1.30 and 2 o'clock trains was much enjoyed. The races resulted as follows: Small boys' race—Walter Woods, Harry Ede, Peter Clark. Boys' race, 10 years and under—Stanley Woods, Walter Woods, Peter Clark. Married ladies' race—Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Lawrie, Mrs. Epps. Girls' race—T. Downs, Ella Downs, Miss Henshaw. Ladies' race—Lucy Tredwin, J. Williams and Nellie Tredwin. After the races were over the picnicers walked down to the piers, where an exhibition of swimming was put on by R. McBride, T. D. Fleming, H. Fleming and another member of the Hamilton Swimming Club. The different methods of swimming, diving, and under water swimming were shown, and a great many tricks were also demonstrated, and were greatly enjoyed by the witnesses. The exhibition lasted for about an hour. The picnicers returned later in the evening.

JUVENILE TEMPLARS. At the weekly meeting of International Youth Temple, I. O. G. T., in the C. O. J. hall on Saturday afternoon, one candidate was initiated and two propositions for membership were received. Mrs. C. A. Hardy ably assisted as Superintendent, and was officiated by Mabel Austin, Chief Templar. The plan of campaign as arranged by the adult Executive for the ensuing three months was submitted and heartily approved. During the next few months several new, important features will be worked out with a view of trebling the membership ere the close of the present year. Miss Annie Slade, formerly of the Pride of Normanton Juvenile Lodge, Derby, England, was present, and gave a temperance reading in fine style, also a song as an encore. This clever young entertainer is a welcome and valuable addition to the musical talent of the Temple. Next Saturday afternoon the popular Chief, Miss Mabel Austin, will be responsible for the programme.

SCRAP BOOK POETRY

A NIGHTMARE OF ULTIMATE CONSUMPTION. The Ultimate Consumer peeped from out his slumbers drear; His shoes were walking round the room and acting very queer. "Why should we kick?" the Brogaus hissed. "We're on the dear Protected List—We'll pinch poor Mr. Ultimate a little more next year." The Ultimate Consumer saw his trousers lean and tall and inconspicuous. Go dancing o'er the Carpet from their place upon the wall. "Good news!" they whispered to the Hose. "We're saved again from foreign foes; But poor Mr. Ult must pay the bill if he wears Clothes at all." The Ultimate Consumer heard some Voices down below—The Groceries in the Kitchen were discussing Uncle Joe. "I'm going up," the Sugar said. "And so am I," replied the Bread. "We've all got good friends in Congress," chuckled the Coal Oil, "ain't that so?" The Ultimate Consumer tried to slumber, but alas! His Bed began to frolic like a yearling turned to grass. "Get off me!" cried the Bed. "Get off me! I'm made of western lumber—see? You can't afford a bed, sir, since they let the Schedule pass." The Ultimate Consumer saw (and he was sore afraid) The Kitchenware, the Knives and Forks pass by in cruel parade, A razor snarled, "He's mine, he's mine!" Friend Aldrich ground me very fine—On, steely sir!" he cried; and at our wretched Hero made.

TO KINGSTON.

Insane: urders Transferred from Edmonton. Edmonton, Aug. 15.—Two convicts of Edmonton Penitentiary, serving life imprisonment for murder, will be transferred to Kingston Penitentiary, where they will be placed in the ward for the criminal insane. The men are Samuel Prior, Wolsey, Sask., and Amadee Petreault, Battleford. Prior was sentenced on March 26, 1906, to a life term for killing a little girl, whom he hit on the head with a stick, and afterwards beat her to death. Petreault was sentenced on June 17, 1909, for murdering a comrade, into whom he plunged a knife, the weapon penetrating the heart. His defence was that the man fell upon the knife by accident.

KILLED FOR HIS MONEY.

Mysterious Murder of a Young Man in Maryland. Baltimore, Aug. 14.—News reached here to-night from Muddy Branch, Md., of the discovery there, this afternoon of a murder that had apparently been committed more than a week ago. The victim was Henson Poole, aged 23 years, and an autopsy showed death to have followed three bullet wounds in the head and a blow on the right side that fractured the skull. This was probably inflicted with a hatchet, which was found in the house. The fact that a considerable sum of money, known to have been in Poole's possession, together with his watch and diamond ring, are missing, leads to the inference that robbery prompted the murder. No clue to the murdered has been discovered.

HUNTER COMMITTED

Bobcaygeon Man Will be Tried for Wife-Murder in September. Lindsay, Aug. 15.—Joseph Hunter, charged with murdering his wife at Bobcaygeon on August 7th, was up before County Magistrate Moore yesterday. Crown Attorney Devlin conducted the prosecution; Mr. L. V. O'Connor appeared for the accused. Hunter, pale and wan looking, but not in the least nervous, was led in by Chief of Police Vincent, and without glancing to either side took his place in the prisoner's chair. When once seated he looked around him in a calm manner. He wore a smart blue suit, and had his hair brushed back off his face. He quietly shook hands with his two children, Grace and Carman, smiling as he did so. Throughout the trial he sat quietly watching the different witnesses with a steady gaze. Only five or six witnesses were examined; the accused had nothing to say, and the Magistrate committed him to the Fall Assizes, which will commence on the 27th day of September next.

SUFFRAGETTE VIGIL.

Every Exit to British House of Commons Watched. London, Aug. 14.—The longest suffragette vigil on record still continues. Day and night four women stand outside every exit of the House of Commons. In the pouring rain or scorching sunshine they are always on duty. The Commons nowadays is often in session for eighteen hours at a stretch discussing the budget, and the patient suffragettes remain on guard every moment the House is in session. They are waiting to catch Premier Asquith or some members of the Cabinet in order to present their petition and thereby establish the constitutional right of every British subject, irrespective of sex, to petition the Premier, Cabinet and King.

MOULDERS HAD PICNIC And Thousands Enjoyed Good Time on the Mountain.

Numbers of the 101 Prize Winning Tickets. Baseball Games and Many Other Good Attractions.

The Moulders' picnic on Saturday at the Mountain View Park drew large numbers from Toronto and the surrounding cities and towns. They began to arrive during the morning, and by the time for parade, about 5,000 were in the city.

Altogether about 10,000 gathered on the park grounds in the afternoon. They included about 200 from St. Catharines, Welland 100, Peterboro 250, Guelph 500, Toronto 1,000, and large numbers from other places.

The park grounds afforded a good chance for games, and a number were played. The most interesting was the baseball game between the moulders and a picked team, and it resulted in a victory for the moulders by a score of 15-5.

The merry-go-round was well patronized and was kept busy accommodating the large crowds. Mr. Crawford, one of the committeemen for the moulders, was the ticket taker, and he performed the work to perfection. No doubt his jolly smile drew a larger crowd than would otherwise have been there.

Each of the outside contingents had its own union band, and there was plenty of music. The bands not only played during the parade, but afterwards, when on the mountain, rendered a number of selections, which were greatly enjoyed. The Ninety-First band supplied the music during the evening, and gained the applause of the outsiders for their good playing.

A large number of tickets were sold for the drawing. A little girl, picked from the crowd, drew the tickets, and Mr. Allan Studholme, M.P., announced the numbers.

The parlor suite was won by gate ticket 2,039. The drawing was free, as part of the gate ticket was used and placed in a separate box. Other winning numbers: 1, 4,819; 2, 8,140; 3, 6,190; 4, 6,361; 5, 1,783; 6, 870; 7, 5,147; 8, 3,013; 9, 1,643; 10, 2,763; 11, 5,952; 12, 2,470; 13, 1,830; 14, 2,777; 15, 6,915; 16, 2,867; 17, 8,854; 18, 2,778; 19, 4,739; 20, 145; 21, 4,812; 22, 7,078; 23, 1,833; 24, 3,994; 25, 4,629; 26, 6,927; 27, 2,876; 28, 3,305; 29, 4,949; 30, 8,805; 31, 9,925; 32, 3,708; 33, 4,109; 34, 1,632; 35, 6,819; 36, 6,355; 37, 4,759; 38, 6,210; 39, 6,022; 40, 9,790; 41, 314; 42, 4,130; 43, 4,572; 44, 3,082; 45, 9,882; 46, 162; 47, 6,296; 48, 3,321; 49, 3,882; 50, 5,772; 51, 4,924; 52, 4,98; 53, 2,08; 54, 1,332; 56, 1,508; 57, 1,999; 58, 3,941; 59, 4,918; 60, 791; 61, 6,215; 62, 2,942; 63, 6,830; 64, 3,604; 65, 6,303; 66, 5,911; 67, 6,780; 68, 2,873; 69, 423; 70, 4,786; 71, 4,797; 72, 9,067; 73, 6,890; 74, 1,111; 75, 2,170; 76, 8,805; 77, 9,832; 78, 1,437; 79, 1,953; 80, 9,975; 81, 1,579; 82, 9,992; 83, 6,033; 84, 2,267; 85, 1,309; 86, 3,650; 87, 977; 88, 1,267; 89, 3,946; 90, 6,176; 91, 6,964; 92, 4,177; 93, 9,989; 94, 6,17; 95, 780; 96, 1,195; 97, 1,620; 98, 1,310; 99, 2,827; 100, 765; 101, 898.

A number of races were run off and the events were all well contested. William Crawford acted as starter and Allan Studholme as judge. The baby contest resulted as follows: Mrs. James Deane; Mrs. E. Weston; Mrs. Anderson. The voting contest for the prettiest woman on the grounds showed Mrs. Heddon to be the pick. In the baby contest Mayor McEwen made a good judge and had as his assistants T. Church, S. Kimmerman and Armstrong.

Refreshments were served in abundance and very few were hungry or thirsty. The committees in charge were: General Committee—W. J. Lucas, chairman; E. Atkinson, secretary; W. Hume, treasurer. The Games Committee—Wm. Crawford, chairman; Joe O'Grady, secretary. Grounds Committee—Chris Newman, chairman; W. A. Wells, secretary. Store Committee—Roger Pearson, chairman; W. Wright, secretary. Printing Committee—James Ripley, chairman.

LAKE LOST.

Lacrosse, Wis., Aug. 16.—Beautiful Lake Como, near Hokah, Minn., a suburb of Lacrosse, disappeared during the night and when the residents of the village arose this morning they saw only that sandy bottom. A dam 300 feet long at the foot of the lake had been broken.

Held Open Air Picnic at Grimsby on Saturday.

A few of the members of the Hamilton union summering at Grimsby Park conceived the happy idea of holding a meeting for park residents on the banks of Lake Ontario, and forthwith proceeded to put the idea into practice. Plans were skillfully laid and carried to a finish. Invitations were sent to all residents, who turned out well, and a number going down from the city helped to make a good showing.

The thanks of the society were tendered to the young ladies who so freely and willingly assisted in the programme and in dispensing afternoon tea. A collection, which spoke well for the genuine interest and liberality of the company was taken for the work of the union.

CURZON'S REBUKE.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—Mr. Parish, one of the editors of the Statist, estimates the amount of money which the British people had placed in other countries at 2,700 million pounds, which obtained 5.2 per cent. return. These investments in the last sixty years had occurred simultaneously with an immense growth of trade and prosperity, and in his opinion this growth of trade and prosperity was largely the result of the investment of British capital in other countries.

Mr. Parish's deductions are correct. Great Britain is making the good showing of which you write largely through the possession of accumulated wealth. The immense British shipping is largely manned by foreigners, and in many ways the investment of this wealth does more for the welfare of the British Empire than the average of other countries.

In making preparations for building their district station at the canal bank, the Hydro-Electric Company has discovered a valuable deposit of building sand, which will be worth to the company alone in the buildings to be erected at least $1,000. The storm of wind and rain at about 11 o'clock last night was the fiercest and heaviest that has visited this locality this year, if not for several years. As yet no damage of a serious nature, has been reported.

SUNDAY DRINKING.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—Will you allow me a space in your paper, asking you if there is anything being done to stop this Sunday drinking? The hotel man, I think, has it in his head that he can sell, and I go as far as to say there is not much to be made of them; so they would be wise for the man who said all's well had he visited all the hotels, let him have a good look around and see if he is doing his duty. Now sir, some weeks ago I brought this matter before the I. O. G. T. and they said we have written to the Chief of Police, and he is doing nothing in it, but at the same time I hope he will look into it. A man offered me a drink out of a bottle of whiskey, which was got on Sunday. Thanking you for space. Yours truly, Ben Smith, 132 Park street, August 16th, 1909.

WRIGHT IN LONDON.

London, Aug. 16.—Orville Wright, who arrived here to-day from New York, spent only twenty-four hours in England. He is going to Germany tomorrow. He will not be able to do anything in the flying line here. He has received no communication from the British War Office and no arrangements have been made for a meeting between him and British officials, as has been reported in some quarters.

MAPLE LEAF PARK.

Next Saturday the big picnic of the G. T. R. employees of Stratford will be held at Maple Leaf Park, and it is expected that 2,500 people will come. For this week's free show Manager Burke has secured the famous Ali Bonni troupe of Arabian aerobats, who come here direct from a successful tour of all the big cities in Europe and the United States. They will give two performances daily and are wonderful in their line.

HURT IN RIOT.

Officer Struck a Boy and a Big Row Was the Result.

Twenty Persons Hurt in a Bayonet Charge—Arrests Made.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Twenty persons were injured last night when a company of Polish sharpshooters, 20 strong, charged a crowd of men, women and children with bayonets at a church picnic.

The trouble started when the captain of the company hit a boy with a sword because the youngster did not get out of the way quickly enough to suit the officer, who was drilling his company by electric light.

This enraged the crowd, which had gathered to see the soldiers. The company was surrounded and an explanation was demanded by the angry people. Finally the mother of the boy attacked the captain with a stick. The captain then ordered his company, which consisted of about twenty men, to charge the crowd with bayonets. The crowd fought back, greatly outnumbering the soldiers. The riot became general and the captain of the company was one of the first to retreat.

A riot call brought the police and they arrested five of the soldiers, all of whom were bruised. None were seriously injured.

WERE ASKED TO PAY AGAIN.

Dundas People's Tickets Not Honored on H. & D.

Dundas, Aug. 16.—The joint excursion of the Jones Bros. Co. and the Grafton & Co. employees to the Falls on Saturday was well attended, and was a very enjoyable one.

On Saturday night four revolver shots were heard about 11 o'clock in the vicinity of the old sub-station, which gave the police some uneasiness, but it was concluded that the firing had been done by some Hydro employees returning on the H. & D. Railway from the city, and that no harm was intended.

About twenty people who went on the excursion to Niagara Falls on Saturday did not return until last evening, when they were very indignant to find their tickets refused on the H. & D. Railway. The tickets were advertised good until to-day, and were accepted without question by the T. H. & B. road, but the fare had to be paid over again to the H. & D. Railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Towns and family, of Buffalo, were visiting friends in their native town yesterday.

Mrs. John Logan, of Peterboro, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Florence, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Deary, Hatt street.

Frank A. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. John Haines and Miss Lottie Krompert were visiting friends in Medina, N. Y., Saturday and yesterday.

WIDE-OPEN TOWN.

Atlantic City Preachers Preach While Extra Bartenders Work.

Atlantic City, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Somebody made away with the Atlantic City laid yesterday and the resort entertained a happy crowd of over 250,000 people with every sort of amusement and pastime furnished during the former years of its existence.

Preachers engaged in the reform crusade thundered forth from their pulpits, condemning the open saloons, while extra forces of bartenders handed out stacks of booze to all comers with the price. Detectives hunting more evidence from the violators of state laws made the rounds of saloons, but were hardly noticed.

WHAT WIFE SAYS.

Should Married Men Stay Home Sundays? Chicago, Aug. 16.—Should a man devote Sundays to his wife? Mrs. Emma Louise Singleton, 2,967 North Spaulding avenue, argued in the affirmative; Jas. Monroe Singleton, a book-keeper, answered in the negative, and the latter was cited five warrants for the arrest of Sunday rum sellers, announced that no more arrests would be made at present.

"A wife stays home all week, keeps house, mends her husband's clothes, gets the meals and is lonesome, and it is his duty to stay at home on Sundays," said Mrs. Singleton.

"A married man struggles all week to provide a home for his wife and he should have his Sundays to himself," insisted Singleton.

"I won't stay at home all the time," said the wife. "I will get a divorce first. It is too lonesome to be alone every day in the week."

They were married on Sept. 14, 1905, and lived together until May 11 last. "We simply could not agree on the one question," testified Mrs. Singleton.

KILL SELF AND BABES. Chicago Woman Refuses to Part With Children Even in Death.

HIBERNIANS.

Toronto and Hamilton Members Celebrated Here.

The Hibernians of Toronto joined with the Hibernians of this city on Saturday and had their annual picnic at Maple Leaf Park. In the morning about 1,200 of the Toronto people came to this city on the steamboats, and went down to Maple Leaf Park, and later in the day about 1,000 more arrived. The Hibernians of Toronto were in for a good time, and patronized the amusements freely. The Old Mill, the Merry-go-round, Katzenjammer Castle, the bumps, the figure eight, and all the others received a fair share of their attention.

The Merry-go-round, with its music of "Waltz Me Around" again, was kept busy all the day. The old mill was also on the go, and its pretty scenes were certainly favorites. The slide and the races down the bumps were amusing.

A programme of races was run off, and the results were as follows: Girls' race, 10 years and under—Miss McManney, E. Kennedy, E. Grey. Girls' race, 13 years and under—Rita Pearce, I. Gray, N. McTay, I. Legree. Boys' race, 10 years and under—J. Mc. Mullin, H. Foley, H. Hickey. Boys' race, 12 years and under—H. Kennedy, Wilkinson, J. Smith. Boys' race, 15 years and under—C. Wagner, W. Campbell, J. Doyle.

The free show was also a favorite with the visitors, and Enoch's tricks in the water were good.

HAD REUNION AT CLINTON.

Moore Family Gathering a Success—Autos Held Up.

Beamsville, Aug. 16.—(Special.)—There were many branches of the Moore family at the big reunion at the home-stead of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Moore, Clinton township south, on Saturday afternoon. While not quite as large as some former gatherings, it was very representative. The day was quiet, spent in recollection and story. Some of those in attendance were: Miss Lavinia Zimmerman, Carlisle; Miss Ray Zimmerman, Hamilton; Miss Thompson, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Snider, Miss Nellie Snider, Messrs. L. and E. Snider, Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. Eli Book and son, Mrs. E. C. Book, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Moore, Mrs. Frank Nelles and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Dunn, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerman, Burlington; Nelson Moore, St. Catharines; Mrs. Sarah Moore, Harmon Moore, Mrs. John Olliver, Chancery Moore, Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mildred, Della, Winnie and Dorothy Moore, Maurice and Ethan Moore, Jordan.

Constables Book and Tufford spent Saturday afternoon giving out owners a pleasant time. Every car that passed through without proper numbers was stopped, and there was some frantic digging and hunting for the signs among the baggage and inner recesses of the car. The constables blushed only once during the afternoon, and that was when they halted a wedding party from Grimsby, who were in a hurry to proceed east.

There will be no more disturbances or violations of relative to friends in Hamilton at the Pollock establishment of the Beamsville Preserving Company. The management is determined on that point. For a couple of Saturday nights past, men from the city have made trips down to the tennement to put in a night of it. Yesterday morning, however, things came to a climax, and three guests were arrested off the tennement jail by Constable Eufford, in the "wee, sma' hours."

BEEES THAT WORK ALL YEAR.

Indiana Apiarist Keeps Them Busy by Sending Them South in Winter.

A quaint method of working the bees overtime was given by one of the enthusiasts, who claims that the bees really enjoy the "busy" life throughout the year, when they find themselves where honey producing blossoms are plentiful. "My bees now work overtime," he said, "No hibernating for them. In the spring I send them down south, and they toil like blazes among the southern flowers. In summer I bring them here to the east, working them till the honeysuckle and the clover are quite gone. The autumn season finds them in Florida, where they make a peculiarly rich and aromatic honey from the Florida flowers. California gives them all they can do in the winter."

"It's a splendid idea. I got it from those hotel keepers of Europe, who have been planting all the hives in the cold part of open pen, snugly enclosed on the north and left open to the southern exposure. These enclosures are preferably long and narrow and but little higher than the hives, which are set close together in a straight line. Here the summer workers hibernate during the cold winter weather, and as soon as the warm air is their winter quarters that they are strong and hardy and ready for work at the first possible suggestion of early spring bloom.—From the Indianapolis Star.

Amusements

The attraction at the Grand on Wednesday evening will be the comedy drama, "Texas," a play of the great Southwest, the land of sunshine and romance. The story of "Texas" is woven about the efforts of a Greaser named Pisquale to brand the hero, Jack Dallam, as a cattle thief. Dallam joins the Rangers for the express purpose of riding the country of its outlaws, and the vindictive Greaser is rounded up and jailed with the rest of the bunch. He escapes from prison and hits the trail for duckhead ranch to do up the hero. A desperate fight ensues, and as a result Pisquale loses his life. It is an absorbing drama, vivid in its characterization, stirring in incident, vigorous in dialogue, and thrilling in its climax. The cast is said to be a good one, and the stage pictures all that can be desired.

"GRAUSTARK." At the Grand next Saturday will be "Graustark," George Barr McCutcheon's romantic and thrilling story of a love behind a throne. It tells a story of a typical American hero who wins the hand of a princess. It lends itself advantageously to dramatic purposes, and the pretty stage pictures and romantic and heroic spoken dialogue arouse the patriotic pride and quicken the popular pulse even more than the printed words. "Graustark" is strong in heart interest. The character of the Princess, who fights against the dictates of her heart and stands ready to sacrifice her love for the young American on the duty and the welfare of her country, is cleverly drawn, revealing the true woman behind the mask of royalty. "PAID IN FULL."

"Paid in Full," with the brilliant cast that is now at the Astor Theatre, in New York, where this celebrated play is enjoying the unprecedented distinction of a third year on Broadway, will be at the Grand next week. The Wagner-Kemper Company made a special production of this famous and popular American drama for its third year at the Astor Theatre, the New York engagement to be succeeded by a tour of the leading cities. This company is to go to Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and other important places for a part of the season, then returns to New York, in a special arrangement that enabled the management of the Grand to obtain this attraction. Seldom have local playgoers the opportunity of seeing such a notable company. It will be the greatest presentation of one of the greatest plays of the time.

A SHIPYARD FOR CANOES. Where the Canadian Indians Built Their Birch Bark Vessels. A party of New Yorkers hunting in the far Canadian wilds came upon an Indian shanty where had been built and launched such craft as the voyageurs use in travelling the rivers and lakes of that region even as far as Hudson's Bay. Noise of hammer and hiss of white hot bolt had never been heard in that shanty and it had neither drydock nor high slabs and greasy ways. Hidden in the deep grass were long and wide rolls of birch bark treasured against future need and all about were shavings of the cedar while the charred remnants of the fires used to melt and purify some of the shipbuilding material still shone black in a little pile.

The season before last, and perhaps for many seasons in succession the Indians had built their birch bark canoes. Bits of the long and pliant but tough root which the Indians pull from its shallow burial to make binding thongs were found here and there. This root when split has about the thickness of the cane used in weaving chair bottoms and the deft needlemen of the Indians make it serve to a nicety for sewing the seams of the birch bark which their canoes are covered. From strips of cedar two inches wide and hardly more than a quarter of an inch thick are made the ribs. Over this frame is laid white pine of the birch bark of suitable size and the joints are secured with long strips of the plant root.

All this, however, is not sufficient to make a canoe seaworthy, the seams must be made water tight. This is accomplished with a mixture of spruce gum and bear's grease, though lard will serve nearly as well as the latter. The spruce gum is melted in a pot over an open fire and cleaned of its impurities by skimming. Then a sufficient quantity of bear's grease is added to make the mixture at a moderate temperature about the consistency of shoemaker's wax.

The whole craft remains measureably pliant yet sufficiently rigid to be handled and carried without danger of collapse. One thing, however, the Indian looks to, that his canoe shall not grate upon sand or shingle when he lands. In fact, he stops short of the shore and in shallow water leaps out into lake or stream and unloads his canoe before carrying it ashore and laying it in a shady place safe from the damaging effects of the mid-summer sun.

Small canoes are built in this fashion for the use of one or two oarsmen, and with proper strengthening of materials big canoes 35 feet long or more are built to be paddled by ten or fifteen oarsmen. It is not carried great loads all about the region upon the errands of business that keep these hunters and trappers afloat much of the time so long as there is open water in that far north.

Those who came upon the Indian shanty had the pleasure also of encountering a company of the voyageurs under pleasant conditions. As the white men were at breakfast one morning they suddenly heard from far up the stream a noise as if some one were throwing every other second a gallon or so of water into the river. Then around a bend came one of the great birch bark canoes, riding high because it was lightly loaded. It carried two or three oarsmen at the height at which they sat could not dip their paddles deep, but they dug away with energy and rhythmic regularity, throwing obliquely behind them at each stroke a shower of foamy water that fell with the noise of a dozen little cataraacts into the bosom of the stream. They passed with friendly hallo and greetings, looking like a sudden vision from the sixteenth century.

With over a million pounds of dynamite in her hold the steamer Vatilina came into Cristobal Harbor, moved briskly up to the entrance to the French canal and tied up at the Mount Hope wharf. Frog Industry in France. It is in France that the frog was first generally used for food, and it is in that country that the industry of frog farming has been most largely developed. The green frog exists abundantly throughout France wherever there are marshes, ponds or sedgy margins of rivers or bays that contain fresh or slightly brackish water. The best outfit for frog raising is one or more shallow ponds or reservoirs filled with grasses and other water plants. It should be so situated that the water can be partially drawn off so as to facilitate the labor of catching. If, as is often the case, the pond already abounds in frogs, they are simply projected and left for a year or two to propagate. If food does not prove abundant, the owner throws in live earthworms, as the frog is a cannibalous animal, and prefers the food, whether worms, larvae or insects, fresh and in normal, living condition. If no frogs exist in the water they are planted, either living or in the form of eggs, which hatch when the water becomes warm in April.—Popular Mechanics.

MONUMENT TO THE IRISH.

Magnificent Celtic Cross Unveiled at Grosse Point.

Suggestion of Hon. Charles Murphy in His Speech.

Tribute to the Immigrants Who Were Cut Off by Disease.

Quebec, Aug. 15.—A monument to the Irish immigrants who died in 1847 was unveiled at Grosse Isle, twenty-seven miles below Quebec, today.

The Canadian Government steamer Druid was at the disposal of the committee in charge and the steamer Alice had on board the Lieutenant-Governor, Chief Justice Fitzpatrick, and Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, with whom were Mr. Sbarretti and Archbishop Begin.

The unveiling of the monument was when performed on top of the hill. The majestic Celtic cross of Canadian granite occupies a most commanding position, and can be seen at a distance of ten miles from the river.

THE MONUMENT UNVEILED. The unveiling of the monument was when performed on top of the hill. The majestic Celtic cross of Canadian granite occupies a most commanding position, and can be seen at a distance of ten miles from the river.

Present with Mr. Charles J. Foy, of Perth, Ontario, national president of the A. O. H., were the lieutenant-governor of Quebec, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Hon. Charles Murphy, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, William Power, M. P., C. J. Doherty, M. P., Montreal; Hon. Charles Devlin, E. Devlin, M. P., M. Turcotte, M. P., Dr. Guerin, Montreal; Matthew Cummings and E. McCarty, representing the national board of Hibernians.

Mr. Foy's opening speech was a masterpiece, and when he called upon Mr. Sbarretti to draw aside the veil from the front of the stone, the Apostolic Delegate spoke a few sentences praising the Poles for their love of Ireland.

TO THE HEROIC PRIESTS. The fourth inscription on the stone read: "Memorial tablet to the priests who voluntarily ministered to the typhus-stricken emigrants: W. W. Moylan, B. McGaughran, J. McDevitt, P. T. Sax, J. Nelligan, C. Z. Rousseau, A. Campeau, J. Baily, L. Provencher, M. Forgue, T. Caron, N. Belleger, L. A. Proulx, H. McQuirk, J. McDonald, L. Trahan, P. J. Jean, B. A. Feron, J. Harper, F. S. Brady, E. Monning, B. O'Reilly, L. A. Dupuis, P. Perras, M. Duguay, M. Tardiff, M. Kerrigan, J. C. O'Grady, E. A. Taschereau, E. J. Hosan, P. Beaumont, E. Payment, E. Halle, J. H. Dorion, C. Tardiff, A. Lebel, P. Garrepy, W. Dunn, C. Tremblay, L. S. Malo, H. Robson, P. Roy, M. Power, who contracted the disease and died of fever."

After Mr. Matthew Cummings had spoken, Hon. Charles Murphy made a fine plea for the erection of a tablet to the Canadian clergy, both Protestant and Catholic, who had died in 1847 by the contraction of typhus from the emigrants. He spoke with reverence the name of Mr. Drury, the Presbyterian minister of Bytown. He offered $100 to start such a monument fund, and suggested that the work be entrusted to the A. O. H., whose directors he thanked for giving to him, and to the Government of which he was a member, the privilege of assisting at the unveiling of the monument. Continuing, he traced the historical story of the emigration and settlement at Grosse Isle, where Maguire had declared that from 10,000 to 12,000 of the Irish race were consigned to the grave pit.

QUAKE IN JAPAN.

A Severe Shock in the Central Provinces.

Tokio, Aug. 15.—A severe earthquake occurred in Central Japan yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. The shock was particularly hard around Kyoto, Osaka, Lake Biwa and Nagoya.

The deaths at present are said to number 30, though it is feared the fatalities will be greatly increased when the outlying districts are heard from. The number of persons injured is 82. Thus far 362 buildings, including many temples, are reported destroyed, and more than 1,000 others badly damaged.

The following appeal has been issued by the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, announcing that the Rev. Alfred Hall, of South Africa, has arrived in London, from Durban, and that he would sail, accompanied by Mrs. Hall and their child, on August 13th, in the Empress of Ireland, and will be due in Quebec the following Friday.

BACK BROKEN.

John Boeckner, of Milverton, is in Serious Condition.

Stratford, Aug. 14.—John Boeckner, a young man, whose home is at Milverton, lies in a precarious condition at the hospital here with a broken back. Boeckner was driving and in some unaccountable way fell out of the buggy, striking on his head. He was taken to the Royal Hotel here, it being thought he was only stunned, but when a doctor was called it was found that his back was broken. He was removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed in the hope of saving his life.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Was Towed Out to Sea by Cable Steamer MacKay-Bennett.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 13.—The cable steamer Mackay-Bennett had a remarkable experience on the coast of Newfoundland with an iceberg that rested so near the shore end of the cable that repairs could not be made. An attempt to tow it off failed, the great mass being too firmly grounded. Application was made for assistance from H. M. S. Brilliant, in the port at St. John's. Two shots were fired and a lot of the berg was knocked off, but still it did not float.

An attempt to blow up the berg was then made. Four men from the dry-dock at St. John's and a boat's crew from the Mackay-Bennett got on the berg and started loading it with explosives. They had just succeeded in cutting and loading one hole, when the great mass broke away from the bottom and toppled over. The men on the berg clinging to it, but one man was washed off and a boat had to go to his rescue. The lighted mass then floated and was towed to sea. It took 600 feet of cable to go around the iceberg.

ROBBED MR. GOODERHAM. Man Arrested at Niagara Falls With Wraps Stolen From Automobile.

Niagara, Falls, Aug. 15.—While Mr. W. H. Gooderham and party from Toronto were dining at the Clifton House last night, Roy Hibbert, of Hamilton, stole two travelling rugs, three silk capes and one automobile coat from their automobile in the garage. With the goods slung over his shoulder, Hibbert commenced to cross the upper steel arch bridge. Officer Harwick, on duty at the bridge, thinking the goods did not belong to Hibbert, questioned him, and his answers not being satisfactory, arrested him. This morning Mr. W. H. Gooderham, who motored over with the party on Saturday, identified the stolen goods. Hibbert will be arraigned to-morrow.

CREAMY POPCORN.

The Adirondack guide who each night brought to the camp-fire before the lean-to a dishpanful of the creamiest popcorn any of the guests had ever tasted was coaxed for days before he would tell how it was made.

WATERMELON RIND PRESERVES.

After the rinds are cut off of the slices of melon pare off the soft white inside and green outside. Cut the pieces left into any shapes desired; put in a preserving kettle; and cover with water, and boil until tender. If there is not as much syrup as desired add more water. Put in three-fourths of a pound of granulated sugar to one pound of fruit and cook. Flavor with extract of lemon or boil ginger root with the rind. Children are fond of it when flavored with lemon. Mrs. A. P. Atkinson.

JELLY BAG HINT.

Now that the jelly making season is nearly at hand a few hints that will make less work and better jelly will not be amiss. Your jelly bag, of course, is perfectly clean to start with. After picking over and washing the fruit put it right into the bag, put the bag into a large kettle and add whatever amount of water you desire. Boil it in this way a little longer than you would without the bag. This way of doing saves one the awkward task of dipping up the hot fruit into the bag and often scalding one's self in so doing.

Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

Their Anniversary

(By Fred C. Kelly.)

It was just four years since the Goits had bought a brass fern d. sh. a picture of "The Marriage of the Crane," and set up housekeeping in their five rooms and bath. But they were still keen for celebrating an anniversary when one hour in sight.

The evening prior to the date, which he had carefully entered in his notebook, Goit came home looking pleased with himself. He seemed to think he was pretty keen at remembering dates.

"Now, to-morrow night," he began, in a just-look-what-I-brought-you tone, "we're going to get married all over again. I've got tickets for a good show, and before we go to the show you're going to meet me at the office in your very nicest, gallest clothes. We'll have

DEATHS IN WATER.

Several Lives Sacrificed by Bathers at Toronto and Elsewhere.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—The second fatality within a week occurred on the beach at Woodbine out Saturday afternoon, when Victor Mills, the 11-year-old son of H. A. Mills, 102 Carlaw avenue, was drowned in the surf, which was running very high, while bathing with his brother Albert and two other boy companions, Russell Oak and Matthew Stone, each aged about 14 years.

Drawn under the water by the swift undertow, R. G. H. Evans, accountant in the Equinox branch of the Bank of Montreal, was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in the lake at the foot of Manitow road, Centre Island. There were four young men swimming, Messrs. Fraser Bryce, Edward Marriott, Geoffrey Hill, and Evans. At about 4.30 o'clock they decided that the water was becoming too rough for them and all efforts to restore life were unsuccessful. This is the second drowning accident here this summer.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The body of a man, 45 years old, five feet ten inches in height, and weighing 150 pounds, was taken from the whirlpool. The little hair on his head was light-colored. Identification may be established by a clover-leaf pin set with a brilliant. The body had been in the water only a short time.

MAN WITH GUN.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 15.—A Hungarian desperado with a loaded revolver and a dangerous-looking knife dashed east down Grierson street, and firing ock as he ran at Sergt. Nicholson and other members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who were in pursuit, was the thrilling sight which gave Edmonton all the pictured appearance of the wild and woolly west for a few minutes on Friday afternoon. The man who created the trouble, and who was eventually landed in the cells at the R.N.M.W.P. barracks without killing or wounding any of his pursuers or spectators, is named Milan Oberonvitch. He told the police yesterday, through an interpreter, that he came to Edmonton a few days ago from Calgary, and that he has been in Canada about fourteen months.

He has all the earmarks of a genuine bad man, and he is being held by Inspector Worsley till further enquiries are made with reference to his antecedents. In the meantime the charges that have been laid against him are of carrying concealed weapons, and breaking windows on Jasper East. On his person, in addition to the loaded revolver and knife, were found a number of bullets.

The revolver had the appearance of having been loaded for some time. The Hungarian appeared at the corner of Jasper and Nanaima avenues on Friday afternoon shortly before two o'clock. He first attracted attention by approaching the music store at that corner and demolishing the glass in the door. He appeared to be under the influence of liquor, but was able to move about without trouble.

The occupants of the store immediately phoned the city police, but before an officer arrived the man had disappeared down Jasper east and along Grierson. When nearly opposite the Royal Northwest Mounted Police barracks he again attracted attention by discharging his revolver carelessly in several directions. The Royal Northwest Mounted Police heard the commotion, and Sergt. Nicholson and Constables Hays and Peters rushed out. By this time he has passed the barracks, and the officers started in hot pursuit.

As the man ran he turned and shot at Sergt. Nicholson at that corner and the lead, the bullet passing close to the officer's head. Nothing daunted, however, the men continued the chase and finally ran their victim to earth on the flats. Here he surrendered, and after the revolver and knife had been removed, he was led back to the barracks.

STRANGERS IN CITY PULPITS.

Rev. J. D. Cunningham Preached in Knox Mission.

Dr. Harris, of London, England, in First Congregational.

Scotch Preacher Speaks on Salvation by Households.

Rev. J. D. Cunningham, a former assistant pastor of MacNab Street Presbyterian Church, at Knox Church Mission yesterday morning preached from Isaiah xxxii. 2: "And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place; as a shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

A man, said the speaker, to thoroughly understand the full significance of the verse must be fully acquainted with the circumstances. In the desert are parching winds and burning sands which keep drifting along, covering up what little vegetation may spring up, but when a great rock rears its monstrous form above the surface, it gives a shelter from the wind and sand, and casts a shadow from the burning sun. So we find ourselves, where we might expect trouble and care, comfort and joy. The words of the text are one of the many proofs of God's graciousness; we find grace and goodness where we might expect judgment. He never forgets us, and when He speaks against our sins His prime aim is to bless us and bring us to Himself. We believe the world is becoming better, and this is only true because God is making men one great man as He did Abraham and Moses, and then makes them shadows from the burning sin from which power each draws thousands more around him. This every man who is drawn to Christ becomes a pioneer of some great work, as a shelter from the burning sun, the parching wind and the drifting sand. We of ourselves cannot resist these forces until we have taken shelter behind Christ, who must first save us; we should give Him a chance in our lives, and He will save us from the besetting sin; our lives could then be summed up as shadows and shelters of mankind.

One way of fulfilling this function is by kind and gracious words, as Christ to the sinner on the cross. There is a power and potency in kind words which cannot be estimated. Also by our very goodness we become sympathizers. When we become sympathizers of righteousness we are filled with sympathy for the sinner. In looking over our past life we can only conclude that we have made mistakes, and our only salvation is finding rest and peace in Christ.

REV. DR. HARRIS HERE.

Rev. Henry Harris, M. A., of London, England, occupied the pulpit at First Congregational Church yesterday. In the evening service he selected for his text Luke xv. 7: "I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in Heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance." The great joy spoken of in Heaven is not over the great things which occur there. In the celestial city is no monotony, for there the praises of God are continually sung. It is a city of great joy and delight, but the ecstasy of feeling spoken of in the text is not over those heavenly proceedings, but over a great interest in the things of earth, and there are events which transpire here which send thrills of joy through the corridors of that home on high. The greatest delight of heavenly beings is not over a great movement of sobriety nor a great biblical truth, but over one sinner that repenteth—not over his salvation, but his repentance. When a great joy must also have been in Heaven when John Wesley and Martin Luther saw the light and in spreading it over the world led thousands to repentance. So the repentance of one often means the repentance of many, and although the repentance of one obscure person is ignored in our daily newspapers, while murders, drunkenness and robbery is written in large letters yet in Heaven, it is looked upon as the greatest of all things that happen.

We have in our society a class of people whom we call the self-conscious; they believe they need no repentance, that they are not in God's debt and believe when they die they have an unquestioned claim in the kingdom of Heaven. No appeal ever goes home to them, no call to the higher life, the cap never fits, they always place it on some one else. Have been in Heaven, which joy must also have been in Heaven when John Wesley and Martin Luther saw the light and in spreading it over the world led thousands to repentance. So the repentance of one often means the repentance of many, and although the repentance of one obscure person is ignored in our daily newspapers, while murders, drunkenness and robbery is written in large letters yet in Heaven, it is looked upon as the greatest of all things that happen.

CONTROL OF THE FLEETS.

Point Under Discussion at Imperial Defence Conference.

Admiralty Wants All the Vessels Directed from London.

Canada Demands Absolute Control of Her Own Ships.

London, Aug. 15.—The final meeting of the Imperial Defence Conference will be held on Thursday to receive the report of the military sub-committee and the results of the various conferences between the representatives of the overseas dominions and the Admiralty. The naval conferences with Australia and New Zealand, have been completed, but some technical details with regard to Canada remain, referring chiefly to the local disposition of Canadian ships and services.

A despatch from Melbourne says it is believed there that instead of a Dreadnought, Australia will provide a squadron of fast cruisers, capable of being used in local and Pacific waters, and will also be responsible for the maintenance of a large federal naval base.

THE FLEET IN THE PACIFIC.

London, Aug. 14.—While the Imperial Defence Conference has little difficulty in elaborating a scheme for the army, the delegates found the naval question a hard problem to solve. All the colonies readily agreed to pay a fair share of the cost of the navy, but discussion as to the particular form of the contributions disclosed a sharp difference between the Admiralty and the Canadian and Australian delegates. This was particularly true with respect to Great Britain's recent policy in the Pacific. When the Anglo-Japanese treaty was concluded Great Britain withdrew the greater part of her fleet from the China coast and entirely abolished the North Pacific fleet, both of which could be used in conjunction with an Australian squadron to protect British trade and British possessions in all parts of the Pacific.

The home Government sees no danger in that part of the world, and has full confidence in her eastern ally. The colonial delegates, however, persistently pictured Japan as a rival which might some day become possessed of a desire for more territory. They, therefore, while agreeing to contribute to the maintenance of the main fleet, declared that the greatest energy should be exerted to provide defences for their own coasts and trade.

THE CANADIAN FLEET.

Australia already is building torpedo boats as a nucleus of the fleet, and Canada, it is believed, will do the same. The Admiralty believes that these fleets will prove of greater use if controlled from London, but to this the Canadians do not agree. The fleet, they say, would come to the assistance of the mother country in a time of need, but it must be absolutely under the control of the Federal Government. Canada's first ships will be modern cruisers, and the Canadians think that these should be placed in the Pacific. The home authorities, on the other hand, want them in the Atlantic, whence they could join the main fleet in the North Sea on the shortest notice.

The delegates are in daily conference, and the Admiralty hopes that a scheme will be completed and ready for presentation to the conference on August 19, New Zealand, South Africa and the smaller colonies have agreed to make direct contributions to the British navy and to depend on it for their protection.

TO DEFEND CANADA'S COAST.

London, Aug. 14.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that one result of the Imperial defence conference will be the provision of the sum of 21.4 million pounds for the further development of the coast defence of Canada. It is understood that the Canadian delegates submitted to the Imperial delegates a scheme in this regard.

On Thursday next the First Lord of the Admiralty will present bills to amend the colonial naval defence act of 1885, and to make better provisions respecting naval establishments in the British possessions.

A BORDER SALOON

Raided by Canadian and United States Excise Men.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Acting in concert by prearrangement, American and Canadian excise officers in automobiles swooped down to-day from opposite sides of the border on John Overton, who for years has straddled the line near Rouse's Point with a saloon that has long been an annoyance to officers of both countries.

Overton and his wife were arrested after a stiff fight in the Canadian wing of their house, and nearly a wagon load of whiskey was confiscated. In two other raids on line saloons much liquor was seized, but no arrests were made.

MEETING IN AIR.

Plan to Have Orville Wright and Count Zeppelin Meet.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—A meeting in the air between Count Zeppelin and Orville Wright is to-day being planned as one of the features of Wright's visit to Berlin to give a series of aeroplane flights.

Wright is expected in Berlin the latter part of the month, by which time Count Zeppelin will have completed his newest airship, the Zeppelin III. It is planned to have the Count sail his ship from Friedrichshafen, and for Wright to fly out in his aeroplane to meet him.

HOUSEHOLD SALVATION.

The services at St. John Presbyterian Church yesterday were well attended, to hear the sermons by Rev. James Smith, of Thillicoultry, Scotland. In the morning he preached about "The Crisis of the Cross," and to bear out the meaning, he quoted "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of Jesus Christ."

In the evening he spoke on "Household Salvation," and selected as his text Acts xvi. 31. "And they said, believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." He said the relation of the members of the family had a great deal to do with the bringing of one another to see Christ in the true light. The Lord has made provision whereby families might be saved and in numerous places in the bible examples may be seen of where the households were brought to the cross by one of the members. At the time of the ark, Noah said, "Go, these, and all thy house into the ark." Another way in which the responsibility of one to another was shown, was where the high priest made atonement for the sins of his household. In closing, he said every member of a household should realize the part they should take in directing every other member towards Christ.

BACK TO BADDECK.

Repairs to Broken Aerodrome Will be Made There.

Petawawa Camp, Aug. 15.—Following the accident to Baddeck No. 1 aerodrome on Friday evening, Messrs. McCurdy and Baldwin have decided to take the disabled flying machine back to their workshops at Baddeck, N. S., for repairs. They will leave here within the next few days, or as soon as the dismantling and packing up of the drome can be completed. According to their statements, they will return to the camp and resume the trials when repairs have been effected. Their reason for leaving the camp, they state, is to facilitate the work, which can be done with greater despatch at their shops.

A Little Carpet Talk

Activity is beginning early this year in our Carpet Department. The magnificent range of patterns in this season's new Carpets is attracting many wise ladies, who are, even in this month of August, re-carpeting their rooms in readiness for fall and winter. Right House Carpets have been the standard in homes of Hamilton and vicinity for many years. Come and see the reason for this—between seven hundred and eight hundred rolls of Right House Carpets and Matting's are what you will see. Then there are hundreds of Rugs, all the way in price from the Sanitary Fibre Rugs (30 x 60 inches) at $1.15, and the English Wool Rugs (9 x 12 feet) at $12, to the choicest and largest Oriental Rugs up to two hundred and twenty-five dollars in price.

DUE TO MAYOR.

Fort William Strikers Agree to Return to Work.

Their Grievances Will be Investigated by Board of Conciliation.

Fort William, Aug. 15.—To-morrow morning should see the end of the strike of the Canadian Pacific dock laborers. After having been away from work for exactly one week, the men will, if they abide by their own promise of this afternoon, at 7 a. m. be again moving freight from boat and train in their accustomed places, while the machinery of the Lemieux act will be under way to bring about a settlement of the wages difference between them and the company. The promise to return to work was made by the men of the three nationalities involved—Greeks, Italians and Hungarians—this afternoon at a mass meeting held in the coal dock section. At this meeting Mayor Peltier, who has spent the last couple of days endeavoring to persuade the company to agree to submit the dispute to arbitration, presented the situation to the men, telling them he had procured an agreement from the company that will be under way to bring about a settlement of the wages difference between them and the company. "Oh, well," put in Mrs. Goit, for the sake of keeping peace. "I GUESS I WOULD LIKE A LITTLE ICE CREAM."

dinner together at one of the cafes.

"Of course, all this sounded pretty good to Mrs. Goit. They salved back and forth for some time, while they confided in each other what a fearfully junk time they had had all the earlier part of their lives, as compared to the blissfulness of the four years just ending. Goit said they would do things up right, the next evening, and start all over again, just as if they hadn't been married more than a week—holding hands beneath the tablecloth at dinner, mealy, and he not even wanting to slip out between the acts.

The next evening when they got to the little table in the cafe they were apparently still in that same mood.

"Order up a good dinner, now," directed Goit. "Let's see, what kind of soup you goin' to have?"

"Really, I don't believe I care for any soup," declared Mrs. Goit.

"Oh, well, I won't order any, either," said Goit, frowning a wee trifle. "I supposed of course we were going to do it up right, and—"

But things moved along first rate until they reached the dessert stage.

"Well, I'm going to have a little ice cream," announced Goit. "What'll it be for you?"

"In—er—honestly," began Mrs. Goit, in a subdued tone, "I don't believe I can eat anything more. Indeed I can't."

"Been to a party this afternoon?" inquired Goit, sarcastically. "I s'pose just because I wanted to pull off a little eating stunt this evening you had to like out somewhere this afternoon and stuff yourself."

"Oh, well," put in Mrs. Goit, for the sake of keeping peace, "I guess I would like a little ice cream, come to think of it."

That quieted things down for the time being.

"My! That ice cream made me cold," remarked Mrs. Goit, innocently, as they were about to enter the theatre. "I feel as if I were going to have a chill."

"Well, if that isn't just like a woman," observed Goit, sharply; "eat something you don't want just for the looks of things. I suppose it wouldn't have made any difference if you'd known it would mean going home in an ambulance, you'd have taken it just the same. Because why? For the looks of things! That's a good woman think about—looks!"

Goit was still making remarks of a general nature after they got seated, about the fool things women do.

Mrs. Goit was getting more and more on the verge of becoming lachrymose. She was twisting at a foolish little wad of a handkerchief, such as women will carry, and looking at the scene on the asbestos curtain. Then she began to dab at her eyes with the wad of a handkerchief.

"I think you're just as mean as you can be," she burst forth. "You wouldn't have talked that way four years ago. You don't seem to care a thing about my feelings any more and I wish sometimes I'd never married you."

The situation was relieved some by the curtain going up.

"Well," reflected Goit, "wouldn't it just make you quit drinking—the way a well-intentioned affair will turn out."

REV. DR. HARRIS HERE.

Rev. Henry Harris, M. A., of London, England, occupied the pulpit at First Congregational Church yesterday. In the evening service he selected for his text Luke xv. 7: "I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in Heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance." The great joy spoken of in Heaven is not over the great things which occur there. In the celestial city is no monotony, for there the praises of God are continually sung. It is a city of great joy and delight, but the ecstasy of feeling spoken of in the text is not over those heavenly proceedings, but over a great interest in the things of earth, and there are events which transpire here which send thrills of joy through the corridors of that home on high. The greatest delight of heavenly

HAMILTON MOTOR BOATS were no match for the fast racers from Toronto and Buffalo at the international motor boat race held at the Beach piers on Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club.

Immense crowds lined the shore, the bay piers were crowded with people and the spacious verandahs of the Yacht Club were always filled with pretty, excited members of the fair sex and their escorts.

It was a sight to gladden the heart of every lover of things aquatic. Every kind and description of water vehicle was represented there in fleets. CAPITALS BEATEN BY TORONTO, SCORE 14-6.

Shamrocks and Montreal Win Their Respective Games on Saturday.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Toronto 14, Capitals 6, about tells the story of the N. L. U. fixture at Scarborough Beach. A team that can score 14 goals must have played pretty ragged lacrosse to allow their opponents to score six, and four of those six is an many minutes.

The game, witnessed by the smallest crowd of the season, only two thousand being in the stand, contained no sensations. The game was not even ordinary. It was a foregone conclusion before the game commenced that Toronto would win, and they did.

While the game was not of the first-class order, it was not a dirty one. The players showed little disposition to mix it up. In fact, several of the Caps showed a marked reluctance to even check their opponents.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY IN THE WORLD OF SPORT.

M'PHERSON'S Annual Picnic at the Falls a Fine Affair.

LOCAL TEAMS WIN AND LOSE IN INTER-CITY.

W. E. P. C. Whitewashed at Brantford, and St. Pats. Win Easy Game at Britannia Park.

The Verity baseball team of Brantford has not stopped sliding on the toboggan yet. That downward slope, which has been the ruin of many good ball teams, has got the Telephone City bunch, and where they will land is hard to foretell, but it's a sure bet that they cannot go much farther down. Saturday afternoon at Britannia Park they had as opponents the St. Patricks, and the Saints gave them the usual trimming. The Veritys certainly do not look like champions, judging by their work on Saturday. They hit the ball for a total of ten singles, but could only score four runs, while the St. Patricks got five hits and got nine tallies. The Veritys can play ball, at times, equal to any in the league. Every time a player made a hit it was followed by an error, and so they broke even—ten hits and ten errors. The Brantfordites hit the ball with two men out, but when a hit would do some good towards boosting their score the much longer a single would generally be a "pop" fly into a fielder's glove. The Veritys could not hit at opportune times, while the winners always managed to do their clouting at the right time. The Verity aggregation played decidedly off color in the field, although a few of the players pulled off some pretty neat plays. O'Reilly, at short, headed the roll for errors, and had three, and was closely followed by Whaler, with two. Ledtitz, the new left fielder, dropped one. McHugh, on first dropped one, and refused to move two feet for the ball, while two runners advanced one base. Garbut, the catcher, was a handicap to the team. He has sulky spells. The ball went past him on one occasion, and the first baseman was forced to follow it. The Veritys have no team work of all, and are greatly in need of either coaching or practice. They scored two runs in the first inning on a "flake" and were little noticed until the ninth, when they were fortunate enough to be handed two more. The best work for the winners was done by the outfield. "Lefty" Stephens and Lucas "Lefty" caught some hard flies, but the work of Lucas was the feature. His jump in the air after a fly was one of the most sensational catches seen here in some time. Lucas received much applause for his good work. The work of Wally Simons was also a noticeable feature. Wally replaced Brennan in the sixth, and made good. All the Saints played hard, consistent ball, and the kind that wins games. They only had five errors, and three of those were made by White, who replaced Beattie at third. Bob redeemed himself by knocking a three-bagger. Alex. McLeod did good work at first.

The work of the pitchers was equal to that of the rest of the players. McHugh was not as good as usual. The Veritys got 10 hits, but they were all scattered. He handed no charities, and struck out five men. Kerr, of the Brantfordites, was not effective in tight places. Kerr had great difficulty in getting wise to Garbut's signals, and they were continued to follow them. The Veritys were the first to score, and right off the bat. Bradley got a hit, and Whalen bunted to third. White threw over the fence, scoring Bradley and Whalen. The Irishmen tied the score in the next inning. White and Padden reached the base, and went home on a hit by Brennan. In the fourth the Saints scored again. Stephens and McHugh got to base on hits, and went home on a three-bagger by White. In the next inning the St. Pats got three more. Padden was hit by the pitcher, and got around the circuit on errors. Brennan and Stephens got to base on hits. Lucas came up with a terrific wallop to centre field. The fielder misjudged the ball, but recovered in time to nip Lucas at the plate. In the eighth White got to base on a hit, and Padden was hit by the pitcher. McDonald got a hit and scored two runs. The Veritys scored again in the ninth. Ledtitz and Switzer hit safe, and both made the circuit on a hit to right field by Bradley. The teams lined up as follows:

AT NEWARK. Newark, Aug. 16.—The Indians defeated the Royals yesterday in a close game. The visitors played good ball, but luck was with their opponents. Jones, of the visitors, gave Newark only three hits. Score: R. H. E. Newark, 3; Royals, 0.

AT JERSEY CITY. Jersey City, Aug. 16.—The Skeeters defeated the Buffalos yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. Merritt was steady throughout. Score: R. H. E. Jersey City, 4; Buffalos, 3.

In the sixth inning of the first game Catcher McLean and Roy Thomas collided at the plate. James Orgar Won Bicycle Race. Thirteen Cyclers Started in Brantford to Hamilton Race.

Three local men finished first, second and third in the Brantford to Hamilton bicycle race on Saturday afternoon. James Orgar, 309 Wellington street north, was the winner, and with a 2-minute handicap he finished the race in 1 hour and 33 minutes. Twenty-five cyclists were entered, but only 13 of them turned up for the start. The contestants left the Terminal Station at 10 o'clock and arrived in Brantford shortly before 2 o'clock. At 3:30 p.m. the starting gun was fired by Nelson Chambers. The start was made at Mohawk Park and a big crowd was there to see the riders off. All the contestants got away well, but it was not long before Orgar, Porter and Jones had taken the lead. The roads were in good condition, though dusty. Orgar led for the first 7 or 8 miles, when Porter caught up with him, and from then on until within a mile or so of the city, the two paced each other. For the last mile, Orgar struck up a lively pace, and drawing away, sprinted to the finishing tape, in front of the Public Library, a winner. Frank Porter finished second, and Morley Jones was a good third. The finish was as follows:

AMATEURS.

The Broadviews are champions of the City League for 1908-9, winning the title by defeating the Alerts on Saturday by a score of 7 to 3. The winners receive Spalding pennant and a prize donated by Mr. Fred Skerrett.

Ascensions are champions of the Church league and was victorious in a championship game it was about the worst seen in these parts for some time. The teams seemed to be over anxious, which, together with stage fright, made the playing poor. During the first few innings the Alerts made many misplays and all resulted in runs for the other team. The Broadviews earned but few of the runs, taking every advantage the Alerts offered them. The Broadviews had their usual line-up, the only regular absent being Chick Skerrett. The Broadviews had little chance to show their worth, but the best man on the team was Sullivan on first. "Sully" was always in the game and was handy with the stick. Harris did not get any chances in left but scored two runs. The work of Meehan was good on short.

For the Alerts, young Crossen, on third was the best man. He played a brilliant game, as did Fisher out in left. "Fish" caught a few hard flies. Holly and Bothan had the same records. The only difference being that Holly let more walk than Bothan. When it comes to pitching, Holly had the better of the argument. This was his first appearance in Hamilton, and he certainly will have a regular job here next year. His only fault was that he did not field his position as good as he might have done. The Broadviews scored in the first four innings and that was all. The Alerts got their two runs in the second. Glasgow got a hit, and McMaster bunted to third Antis threw wild to first, scoring Glasgow, and McMaster went home on a sacrifice hit. The game records in the eighth. Brydges walked and went home on a hit by Mercer. The following was the line-up:

James Orgar Won Bicycle Race. Thirteen Cyclers Started in Brantford to Hamilton Race.

Three local men finished first, second and third in the Brantford to Hamilton bicycle race on Saturday afternoon. James Orgar, 309 Wellington street north, was the winner, and with a 2-minute handicap he finished the race in 1 hour and 33 minutes. Twenty-five cyclists were entered, but only 13 of them turned up for the start. The contestants left the Terminal Station at 10 o'clock and arrived in Brantford shortly before 2 o'clock. At 3:30 p.m. the starting gun was fired by Nelson Chambers. The start was made at Mohawk Park and a big crowd was there to see the riders off. All the contestants got away well, but it was not long before Orgar, Porter and Jones had taken the lead. The roads were in good condition, though dusty. Orgar led for the first 7 or 8 miles, when Porter caught up with him, and from then on until within a mile or so of the city, the two paced each other. For the last mile, Orgar struck up a lively pace, and drawing away, sprinted to the finishing tape, in front of the Public Library, a winner. Frank Porter finished second, and Morley Jones was a good third. The finish was as follows:

The Broadviews are champions of the City League for 1908-9, winning the title by defeating the Alerts on Saturday by a score of 7 to 3. The winners receive Spalding pennant and a prize donated by Mr. Fred Skerrett.

Ascensions are champions of the Church league and was victorious in a championship game it was about the worst seen in these parts for some time. The teams seemed to be over anxious, which, together with stage fright, made the playing poor. During the first few innings the Alerts made many misplays and all resulted in runs for the other team. The Broadviews earned but few of the runs, taking every advantage the Alerts offered them. The Broadviews had their usual line-up, the only regular absent being Chick Skerrett. The Broadviews had little chance to show their worth, but the best man on the team was Sullivan on first. "Sully" was always in the game and was handy with the stick. Harris did not get any chances in left but scored two runs. The work of Meehan was good on short.

For the Alerts, young Crossen, on third was the best man. He played a brilliant game, as did Fisher out in left. "Fish" caught a few hard flies. Holly and Bothan had the same records. The only difference being that Holly let more walk than Bothan. When it comes to pitching, Holly had the better of the argument. This was his first appearance in Hamilton, and he certainly will have a regular job here next year. His only fault was that he did not field his position as good as he might have done. The Broadviews scored in the first four innings and that was all. The Alerts got their two runs in the second. Glasgow got a hit, and McMaster bunted to third Antis threw wild to first, scoring Glasgow, and McMaster went home on a sacrifice hit. The game records in the eighth. Brydges walked and went home on a hit by Mercer. The following was the line-up:

ATHLETICS

Although the attendance on Wednesday evenings at Britannia Park has been a little on the small side so far, still the committee are perfectly satisfied that they are accomplishing that which they intended, and get a large amount of good, all-round athletic men who will play the game fair and square, whether in sport or in business, and athletes in past years have proved that these weekly games have always been productive of good. The world has no use for the man that always makes excuses or sits down and complains about the odds against him, but it has a great deal of respect for the fellow that gets down and hustles and never bothers about the odds against him. This is the kind of men these weekly games develop. The athlete who takes defeat good-naturedly and gets down and digs next week shows that he is learning a good lesson, one that he will remember all his life, not only now, but afterwards. The fact that he played the game square and above board as an athlete will have a tendency to make him play the game all through his life.

LACROSSE

At the lacrosse game between the Capitals and Tigers on Saturday at Victoria Park, Rev. Mr. Saunders, C. L. A. referee, being away, the two teams decided on E. E. Spring, who is an old inter-mediate man. He was very strict with the players, and kept the game going from the start. The Tigers in their usual way were slow getting started, and before they really woke up, the Capitals had three goals on them. The Tigers were short of three of their best men, but in the second and third quarters the Tigers got going, and with their defence working splendidly, held the Capitals. The score in the third quarter was 4-3 in favor of the Tigers. From then on there was no further scoring. This is the last game that the Tigers will play in this district. They have four straight to their credit, and they go in the semi-finals with Toronto or Brantford. The Tigers are showing better form every game, and are getting more confidence in themselves, and without any accident, should be in the finals. Manager Ratelle is taking no chances, and will have every one of the players out to practise to-night at Victoria Park, and the balance of the week also. It is quite possible that arrangements can be made for a juvenile team from Brantford to play the Tigers on Saturday at Britannia Park during the regular time of the Inter-city baseball game.

SOCGER

A meeting of the Westinghouse Soccer Club was held in the East End Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, when business concerning the coming fall season was arranged. The following officers and committee were elected: President, Mr. J. Colquhoun; manager, Mr. H. Thomas; captain, Mr. R. Wands; secretary, Mr. J. Stewart; general committee, Messrs. A. Moffat, C. Maxwell, J. Aitken, J. Abercrombie and J. Baxter. Late Manager Corbin before tendering his resignation, read a very flattering report of the club's good record of the spring series. The secretary's returns showed the club to be in a fairly good position financially.

NOT UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

It is not expected that this work will be done before next summer.

The Financial Post contains an article dealing with the proposed Hydro-Electric Commission toward the farmers in obtaining easements for the Hydro-Electric transmission line. After setting forth, the Commission course, with which our readers are now familiar, the Financial Post says: It will therefore be seen that the Hydro-Electric Commission is attempting by means of an illegal document to blackmail the farmers and to force them through fear of the consequences to accept terms which they have already refused to agree to.

The Hospital Board will meet tomorrow morning at 11.30 to select an architect to prepare plans for the $10,000 addition to be made to the scarlet fever and diphtheria buildings on the hospital grounds. Another story will be added to each, and it is expected that this will provide accommodation for a number of years.

Sam Garrity, notmaster of the vertical limited in the City Hall, who has been rusticated for the past two weeks in Barrie, Orillia, Ottawa and Kingston, was at his post again to-day.

No charge will follow the statement made in the council by Ald. Forth. Today Chairman Allan, of the Board of Works, was informed by Ald. Forth that he had talked the matter over with his informants, and they told him that while the statement he made was correct, it did not apply to anyone in the city's employ at present.

In the absence of Mayor McLaren, who is shooting at the O. R. A. meet this week, Ald. Allan is acting Mayor.

MANY MASTERPIECES OF GREATEST GENIUSES PRODUCED LATE IN LIFE.

(By Ada May Kreeker.) When have the world's chief workers and thinkers performed their greatest achievements? What is the age of mental virility?

Prof. Osler, not long ago, in his notable article, said: "Take the sum of human achievement in action, in science, in art, in literature; subtract the work of the men above 40, and while we should miss great treasures, even priceless treasures, we would practically be where we are to-day. It is difficult to name a great and far-reaching conquest of the mind which has not been given to the world by a man whose back the sun was still shining. The effective, moving, vitalizing work of the world is done between the ages of 25 and 40."

W. A. Newman Dorland has made prolonged scientific investigations, and finds no 40 or 50 year "dead line." He abolishes the "line" and establishes a "live line" with undreamed-of possibilities still ahead. He produces abundant evidence for the conclusion that it is the mature genius that has revolutionized and mentalized.

Mr. Dorland points to the records of 40 men famous in the lines of intellect, the thinkers and the workers. In the first class are found philosophers and natural scientists; in the second, those whose intellectual activities culminated in some practical and visible application of their lines of thought—inventors and warriors.

"Merely to enumerate the names of these distinguished men," says Mr. Dorland, "becomes an inspiration. Involuntarily we doff our hats and with reverent mien note the procession as it passed before us, a magnificent array of genius and mentality."

The records give an average age of 50 years as the time for the performance of the master-work. For the workers the average age is 47 years, and for the thinkers, 52 years.

Chemists and physicians average 41; dramatists and playwrights, poets and inventors, follow at 44 years; novelists give an average 48 years; explorers and warriors, 47 years; musical composers and actors average 48 years; artists and divines occupy the position of equilibrium at 50 years; essayists and reformers at 51 years; physicians and surgeons follow at 52 years; philosophers give an average of 54 years; astronomers and mathematicians, satirists and humorists reach an average of 56 years; historians 57 years; and naturalists and jurists average 58 years.

This average age of 50 years for the master-work is seen to be misleading. It is remembered that the 400 lives analyzed include many that were snuffed out prematurely. Byron, Shelley, Keats, Poe, Mungo Park, Christopher Marlowe, and Thomas Chatterton, and many more, completed their life work before the age of 40 years.

Mr. Dorland concludes that had these men rounded out lifetimes of 50, 60 or 70 years, they would have done even better work than that already accomplished. He believes that these men had only begun to show the wonderful possibilities of their minds, and had they been permitted to live longer, doubtless still greater and more brilliant achievements of mentality would have been placed to their credit. It is probable that then the average age of the masterpiece would be nearer 60 than 50 years.

Forty Years the Average. The figures regarding the duration of the mental activity in these 400 records are most interesting. The average is found to be 40 years. For the thinkers it was 39 years, and for the workers 41 years.
