HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY-SUMMARY.

(Debate Continued.)

Hon. Mr. Whelan.—Were the question to be discussed independently of party views and party feeling, no impropriety whatever would appear, or could be made to appear in the course pursued by the Hon. the Colonial Secretary. It was well known that the sitting member had not been returned, as the Law directed, as having had a majority of votes. The Return was, therefore, irregular; and, that being the case, it was the duty of the House, even in the absence of any Petition concerning the matter, to enter upon a due investigation of it, to the end that justice might be done to the electors, by allowing that candidate to sit, as their representative in the Assembly, who had polled a majority of their votes.

candidate to sit, as their representative in the Assembly, who had polled a majority of their votes.

Doctor Corroy.—The hon member who had spoken last knew very well that it was quite competent to him, or to any other hon, member, to move a Message to His Excellency for the Return. But when the Crown came down to dictate to the House in the matter, it became their duty indignantly to resist such assumption of authority as a direct and gross violation of their privileges. If a dissappointed candidate wished for a hearing, and redress, if due; it was his place to enter at the door, and not to break in at the windows. If he approached with a petition he would get fair play. Hon, members would not, with respect to it, submit either to the blests of Government, or bow to the dictation of a party. They would cast their regards upon the copy of the Magna Charta which hung above the Speakers head, and prove, by their independent and conscientious preservation and exercise of their privileges, as representatives of the people, how high and sacred was the estimation in which they held the rights conferred upon the people how high and sacred was the estimation in which they held the rights conferred upon the people, how high and sacred was the estimation in favor unduly either the one or the other—the sitting member, or the petitioning candidate.

Mr. Douse again stated how the House, giving security, to the amount of £100, or, more, for the expenses consequent upon the investigation. Let Mr. Coles do the same, and justice would be done to him by the House.—That was the only course to be pursued; it mattered not who the individual might be; whether a member of the Executive Council or not.

Mr. Faasta.—The cases were not similar. The Sheriff was bound, by the Law, to return, that candidate who should have the greatest number of votes upon the poll-book; but, in the case under consideration, he had not done so, The question was truly a serious one; for it affected not Mr. Coles alone, but all the representives of the peop

The question was truly a serious one; for it affected not Mr. Coles alone, but all the representives of the people.

Mr. Davies.—Never was a Return before made in the same way as that under consideration. In Queen Beas's days, the Sheriff was the creature of the Government, and, as such bound to obey it. But here, under Responsible Government, there was no such vassalage on the part of a Sheriff or of any other public officer: and the Government, with a liberalty and fearless confidence, unprecedented in the Colony, had appointed, as Sheriff, not an individual of the responsible, but one of an opposite party; and they had looked for, or expected nothing from him but an imperial discharge of his duties, and strict observance of the Laws. As for the patriotism of the hon, and learned member for Charlottetown, and his boasted regard for the rights of the people, he (Mr. Davies) thought, with the hon, member, Mr. Mooney, that, when he laid claim to any, such merit, he was always meditating something to the contrary.

Doctor Connor.—Was it proposed to entrust

Davies) thought, with the hon. member, Mr. Mooney, that, when he laid claim to any, such merit, he was always meditating something to the coutrary.

Doctor Cornoy.—Was it proposed to entrust the morties and rights of the people to the protection of Government? As well might they entrust pigions to the guardianship of a cat. Under such protection, the representatives of the people would have no reason to expect any greater regard for their priviliges, than was manifested by Charles the First, when he sought to control the Commons by a file of bayoneta; and any interference, in these days, with those privileges, whether by message from, or dictation of the Cruwn or Government, would be scarcely less obnoxious, and differ but little in character from Charles the First's remedy of a file of bayonets.—The attempt made, on the part of the Government, by the Hon. Colonial Secretary, was undoubtedly a direct and gross breach of the privileges of the House.

Mr. Mooner.—All that the learned Doctor had said about Magna Charta, Charles the First, and a file of bayonets, was nothing but a bushel of flummery. It required no reply, for it was not worthy of it. But he would eshellenge the hon. and learned member for Charlestetown, who had been, for so many years, a member of the Assembly, to shew that such a Rotarn as that under consideration, had ever before been made. Had he ever known a member to be returned with a misprity of votes! He had not, that was certain. If he answered, he (Mr. M.) hoped he would give a direct answer for opec.

Hon. Mr. Palmen.—He had never known a candidate to be, trusted all others would also be. But the hon. member, Mr. Mooney, was departing his opinion. He (Hon. Mr. P.) would not follow his example; but, when, by virtue of an eath, bound well and trusty to try the case, and to decide according to what should appear to be the real marrits and facta thereof, he would be prepared to give his opinion, as he trusted all others would also be. But they were not to sillow the Government to take the le an object. That object, if attained, would, he suspected, go far to serve these whose aim it was, and to deprive the representatives of the soophic of their privileges, by subjecting them to the will afted, would set with proper independence and due regard to their privileges, irrespective alike hoth of any motion affecting the case which might be made on behalf of the Government, and of any opinion which His Excellency, in corribinate with the counsels of his confidential advisors, might, in a manner, be forest to souncists. [Hon. Mr. Wheiss. Neither His Excellency in Government and pronounced any opinion on the case.] Indeed. Why then was the subject to pointedly adverted to, in His Excellency? Spacesh. Mr. Frasse.—When, in the time of Sir John Harvey, that Governor sent down to the House, a dictatorial message concerning the political conduct of three of its members, his interference was not then denounced as arbitary or unconstitutional by the party who now would have it to be believed that they saw nothing less than a hold and dangerous hreach of the privileges of the House in the simple motion of the Hon. Colonial Secretary respecting the Return of the Writ for the First District of Queen's County.

Mr. Moosky denied that he prejudged the case or was disposed to do so. His vote had always been, and would ever be, as independent and conscientious as that of the hon, and learned member for Charlottetown. The learned member need no think to alarm him by allusions to the sancty of an eath; for whether under so solemn an obligation or not, he respected himself to much to do violence to his conscience by disregarding, its dictates in his public capacity. He respected the gentleman, Mr. Bears, who was sitting near him; but he also respected himself, and his self-respect would not allow him to act unjustly towards Mr. Bear, or any other individual, in the question likely to arise out of the Retura under consideration.

Hou. Mr. Lond maintained that there was no impropriety, much less any thing approaching would not answere the consistent answere the consideration.

Hon. Mr. Lord maintained that there was no impropriety, much less any thing approaching to a breach of the privileges of the House in the motion of the Hon. Colonial Secretary. He had merely asked the House to permit the Return to be laid upon the Table, and to allow it to be read. The outery about the rights of the people being endangered by it was a mere trick. Its only object was to gain a little popularity. Why did not the hon. and learned member for Charlottetown, or some of his friends, make a motion on the subject, if he and they so much disliked that of the Hos. Colonial Secretary! As to the allusion made to the Return by His Excellency in his Speech, he had an unquestionable right to make it, and it would be found, not only that the Royal Instructions bore him out in it, but that in any course which he might see fit to adopt to avert the subversion of the Responsible System as lately established in the Colony, he would be sustained by the sanction and concurrence of the Home Government. Hon. members, he trusted, would understand that.

Mr. HAVILAND.—He could not allow the last observations of the hon. member who had just sat down to pass without comment. He had said that he would defend the rights of the people, and avowed himself, at the same time, prepared to support acts of the Government. He had said that he would defend the rights of the people; and, doubtless, also promotion would be well supported at home in any act of his tending to increase the influence of the Crown, and to diminish the power of the representatives of the people; and, doubtless, also promotion would be the reward of such worthy service. With respect to what had fallen from another hon. member about a message from Lieut. Governor of its members, he (Mr. H.) would be leave to remind that hon. member that that message did not concern a controverted election or in any way militate against the privileges of the Assembly, but had reference only to language and proceedings proceedings of those three members, amounting to treason, and directly affecting the well-being of the state. In all matters and questions affecting the measures internally, they were the sole ing themselves in the Montal and the inguity of the sole of the themselves in the Hon, and, learned member then concluded by reading the following extract from Judge Storey on the Constitution of the United States, setting forth the extreme jealousy with which the privileges of the Representatives of the people are guarded in the United States of America—a jealousy even greater than that with which the same privileges are protected in Great Britain:—prefacing the same Extract with a high culogium upon the author.

"The first clause [of the Fifth Section of the Constitution of the United States I declares that each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members.

"The first clause [of the Fifth Section of the Constitution of the United States I declares that each House composing the Legislature, for, otherwise, there would be no certainity as to who were legitimately chosen members, and any intruder or usurper might claim a seat, and thus trample upon the rights and privileges and liberties of the people. Indeed, elections would, become, under such circumstances, a mere mockery; and legislature down would become, under such circumstances, a mere mockery; and legislation, the exercise of solverigaty, by any self constituted body. The only possible question, on such a subject, is as to the body in which such a power shall be lodged. If lodged in any other than the legislative body in which such a power shall be lodged. The House went into Committee on the Draft Address in reply to his Excellency's Speech at the opening of the Session—Mr. Whorman in the Chair.

[The Committee appointed to prepare the draft of the Address consisted of the Hon, Mr. Whelan, Messrs. Wightman, Clark, Mooney, Davies, M'Gill, and Eraser; of whom the Hon. Mr. Whelan, as Chairman, reported the Draft on Saturday morning.] on Saturday morning.]

The House sat in Committe for about six hours and a half, from the time of its going into it, in the morning, until the House was finally resuned in the evening. On the part of the Government, the principal speakers were the Houbls. E. Whelan, W. W. Lord, and J. Warburton, Messrs Mooney, Davies, Clark, and Fraser. On the part of the Opposition, every member thereof bore a share in the discussions arising out of a consideration of the several original paragraphs and amendments; but the Hon. E. Palmer and Mr. Havillany were the principal Speakers.—Mr. McEacrent in reply to arising out of a consideration of the several original paragraphs and amendments; but the Hon. E. Palems and Mr. Haviland were the principal Speakers.—Mr. McEachem, Ireply to the Hon. Mr. Weelen, give an explanation of his conduct during his canvass previous to his election; repelling the charges of inconsistency and deception brought against him.—Mr. MacGowan, in moving an amendment to an original paragraph of the Draft Address, also took occasion to exonerate himself, by his statements, from what had been advanced, both in the House and out of it, to the prejudice of his political principles, and public conduct previous to and subsequent to his election, as it respects his position in the Assembly; asserting the independence and purity of his motives, and his perfect freedom from every act of deception towards his constituents.—Mr. MacLod also spoke in exculpation of himself from the charges of political insincerity and deception which had been preferred against him.

The amendments proposed by the Hon. E. Palmer, and other members of the opposition, to the several clauses of the reported Draft Address, were all carried; and the amendments to those amendments, proposed by the Hon. E. Wellan, Hon. J. SWEARING OF CHINESE WITNESSES.-The Swearing of Chinese Witnesses.—The Chinese, when brought into court as witnesses in California, are sworn in the manner peculiar to their country. An oath, written in Chinese characters upon tissue paper, is subscribed with their names, and burned to ashes. The purport of the oath is, that if the witness does not tell the truth, he hopes that his soul may be burned and destroyed, as is the paper which he holds in his hands. Notwithstanding the severity of this oath, the evidence of a Chinese taken in court is not generally of a very reliable character, and the Recorder is often obliged to discharge prisoners against whom there is nothing but Chinese evidence, on account of the contradictions and discrepancies which are always discovered in their testimony.

Three Germans having been arrested at New York, charged with having committed a series of burglaries, one of them confessed that in the year 1851, he was convicted of burglary in the city of Brunswick, Germany, and sentenced to the State Prison for a term of years; that after remaning there until September, of last year, he was pardoned by the Duke of Brunswick, on condition that he should emigrate to the United States and never return. He goes on in his affidavit to say:—"Accordingly we were all taken from prison by the police and conveyed to Bremen, and there put on board the brig Hiram, and kept under the surveillance of the police untill the vessel sailed; our passage was paid by the 'Director,' and we each received from them $5. Wednesday, February 15, 1854.

The House of Assembly was the scene of a turbulent debate on the evening of Monday the 13th inst., while the House was in Committee on the Address to Bis Excellency in answer to his speech at the opening of the Session, and resulted in the adoption of the amendment proposed by the Hea Edward Palmer, which was followed up by Mr. Warburton's announcement on the moraing of the succeeding day, that he and his colleagues in office had tendered their resignations to His Excellency the Lieut. Governor. It must have been evident to them all, from what took place on the first day of the Session, that there was a decided majority against then; and it would, we think, have shewn a more thorough hnowledge of the practice of Parliament, and have been in botter taste, had they come forward at once and stated that it was their intention to comply with the usual rule on such occasions, and resign the administration of the Government into other hands. As we cannot compliment them on the dignity and gracefulness with which they closed the scene, we shall drop the curtain;—it is not in our nature to insult the fallen, and we will therefore abstain from any remarks on what teach along the Marker sight and may be the state of the state of the state of the scene. we will therefore abstain from any remarks on what took place on Menday night; and we do this the more willingly, as an abstract of the debates on that occasion will be published, and our readers will be able to judge for themselves.

Every school-boy is familiar with the fact that Demosthenes become an orator only by the most determined perseverence and extraordinary application. Nor are our illustrations of the great truth, that industry is talents, confined to the higher intellectual pursuits. When Girard trusted the customer without an endorser, who carried his goods home on his shoulders, the shrewd old Frenchman was acting on the truth, deduced from his own experience of mankind. All eminent persons, whether, mechanics, merchants, lawyer's or statesmen were industrious, from a Watt and Norrisi down to Thurlow and William Pitt. On Monday Evening last, the Temperance Lecturer Mr. Arbuckle delivered a Lecture in the Baptist Chapel (Rev. Mr. Knex's) at Brudenell River. The learned Lecturer remarked that he was aware that the indifference and apathy heretofore manifested towards the advancement of the Temperance cause, in this part of the Island, could not be attributed to the ignorance of the population: he knew they were proverbial for their intelligence and integrity, and he would, therefore, confine himself on that occasion, principally, to the refutation of Three objections urged by professors of Religion against identifying themselves with Temperance Societies let. The drinking usages of all classes were exposed, in their dfreful and multifurious results as affecting health and happiness, and as hartful and injurious to the best interests of society, entailing physical, intellectual and moral evils. GENTLEMEN;
I have bed the honor to receive your numerously signed Registition, to permit myself to be put in Nomination as a Candidate, to supply the vacancy in the House of Assembly, occasioned by the Immented death of your late Mamber, James McKay, Equire.

The confidence which you are pleased to express in my integrity, arising from your knowledge of my public and private character, and your approval of my official conduct, would, under any circumstances, be highly appreciated by me; but, at this moment, they are peculiarly gratifying, as affording a satisfactory proof that the suncrupulous attempts of my enemies, to injure the one, and to impeach the other, on my late retirement from Office, have signally failed.

Until I received your Requisition, I had no intention again to take a prominent part in the public affairs of the Island; but, from the flattering manner in which you express a wish to avail yourselves of my services, as one of your Representatives in the House of Assembly, I willingly accede to your request, to be put in Nomination, as a Candidate at the approaching Election; and, should I be returned, my best exertions shall be devoted to the advancement of the general presperity of the Island, and to the local interests of Princetown and Royalty.

The "Philadelphia Saturday Gazette," says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters.

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters.—We are trying this renowned medicine for a stubborn disease of the bowels, and can with truth testify to its efficacy. "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—We have seen many flattering notices of this medicine, and the source from which they came induced us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and must say we found it specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration, is really surprising. It calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them into a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.

If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stomach, liver and nervous system, the great majority of real, and imaginary diseases emants. Have them in a healthy condition and you can bid defiance to epidemic squerally. This extraordinary medicine we, would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial—it will recommend itself. It should, in lact, be in every family. In this mammon-worshipping Age, it is rare to find a min place his usefulness to the public, before his interest. During a late visit to the 'City of Spindles,' we were presented by a professional friend, to the celebrated Chemist, Dar. J. C. Avra, whose name is now perhaps, more familiar than any other, at the bedside of sickness, in this country. Knowing the unprecedent popularity of his medicines, and the immense sale of them, we had expected to find him a millionare, and rolling in weslth. But no, we found him in his laboratory, busy with his laborers, smong his cracibles, elembics, and retorts—giving his they personal care to the compounds, on the virtues of which, thousands hang for health. We learned, that notwithstanding his vast business, and its prompt returns in cash, the Doctor is not rich. The reason assigned is, that the material is costly, and be persisted in making his preparations so expensively, that the nest profit is smalls.—American Farmer, Phil.

We cheerfully comply with the request of a friend to insert the following letter which we are assured is from a lady of the first respectability, residing in Lowell, Mass., believing that a vast amount of suffering may be prevented, and many valuable lives saved, by calling the attention of mothers to this valuable prescription of an old and experienced nurse:

Dear Sir:—I am happy to be able to certify to the efficiency of Mr. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and to the truth of what it is represented to accomplish. Having a little boy suffering greatly from teething, who could not rest, and at night by his cries would not permit any of the family to do so, I purchased a bettle of Soothing Syrup, in order to test the remedy,—and when given to the boy according to the directions, its effect upon him was like magic, he soon went to sleep, and all pain and nervousness disappeared. We have had no trouble with him since and the little fellow will pass through with comfert, the excruciating process of teething, by the sole aid of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Every mother who regards the health and life of her children, should possess it.

Hunter's Balsam. It is not often that we can say anything favorable of patent medicines, on the testimony of those with whom we are acquainted, who have used and tested their merits. But in regard to Hunter's Balsam, put up by our fellow citizen, Jeremiah Curtis, Esq. we have the testimony of many of our own citizens and those of neighbouring towas, unanimous in its praise. The testimony of one individual with whom the public are acquainted, carries with it more weight than whole columns of certificates from strangers, whose faces we never saw, and whose certificates, for aught we know, may have been procured by fraud. In so fit as Pence, Liberty, Education, Temperance, laternal Improvement and Industrial Development may be subserved by acting with the Whig party, it must continue to be, as it has been, Whig.

Though never acting with any Abolition or other one-idea party, THE TRIBUNE is and must be the releutless foe of Human Slavery, as of whatever else tends to degrade Labor and obstruct the intellectual and social development of any portion of mankind. But while it does not see its way clear of any effective Political, action against Slavery in the States which now cherish it, it regards the defeat of whatever effort to extend the giant wrong under the flag of our Union, or to obstruct by its power the progress of Abolition in other hands, as among the most urgent and ascred of public duties, not to be sübordinated to any party consideration whatever. And, while it does not propose to make Anti-Slavery the basis of Political action, other tham defensive, it will neglect no opportusity, remit no effort, so to diffuse Light and Truth as to render the continuance of Slavery impossible in a land irradiated by the sun of Christianity and bousting itself the great exemplar of Political Justice and law-guarded Freedom.

The Wonder of the World! Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenge.

THE Great Remedy is at last discovered, and COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA. COSTIVE-NESS AND CONSUMPTION have lost their terror, and vanish as as if by magic before this Sovereign remedy. Was it ever before known that, Hopeless cases of Consumption were erred for less than $5?
Truly, if any individual is to be pitied, and needs sympathy, it is the consumptive,—always expecting to get well, and yet the painful evidence of decay almost "makes the inner soal shrink with the outer flesh."

"Some bloom as roses bloom, And live as roses live, A single morning space!"

A single morning space!"

While others, in more mature life,—by some impredence and a slight cold neglected,—in the hectic flush, the painful cough;

"The prints of their parting steps appear."

All we ask is this one question:—If you have get aucous membrance, or any other members of the body that are "theirs to like."—are you not interested at this great remedy, DEVINES COMPOUND PATCHE LORINGS.

CONSUMPTION.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life—increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, hone can be named of more real value to mankind, than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this bread country, has proves beyond a doubt, that no medicine or combination of medicines yet knows, can so surely control and care the numerous variethes of pulmonary disease which have bitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on, to cure the most dangèrese affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by its use, but we would present the following:—and refer further enquiry to my American Almanac, which the agent below named, will always be pleased to furnish free, wherein are full particulars, and indisputable proof of these statements.

Office of Transportation, Laurens R. R., S. C., Aug. 4, 1853.

J. C. Ayra. Dear Sir,—My tittle son four years old has just recovered from a severe attack of malignain Scarfet Fever, his throat was rotten, and every person that visited him, pronounced him a dead child. Having used your Chenany Fractoral in Californis, in the winter of 1850, for a severe attack of Bronchitis, with entire succes, I was induced to try it on my little boy. I gave him a tea-poon-ful every three hours, commencing in the morning, and by ten o'clock at night, I found a decided change for the better, and after three days use he was able to eat or drink without pais.

Its use in the above named disease will save many a child from a premature grave, and relieve the anxiety of many a fond parent.—For all affections of the Throat and Lungs, I believe it the best medicine entant. A feeling of the despest gratitude, prompts me in addressing you these lines,—but for your important discovery, my lit

Dr. J. C. Ayra, —Since your medicine has become known here, it has a greater demand than any other cough remedy we have ever sold. It is spoken of in terms of anmeasured praise by those who have used it, and I know of some cases where the best they can say of it, is not too much for the good it has done.
I take pleasure in selling it, because I know that I am giving my customers the worth of their money, and I feel gratified in seeing the benefit it confers.m

SIR,—As the Agent of various Fire Insurance Companies, I beg to bring under your notice my PATENT ARTIFICIAL SLATE. This PATENT ARTIFICIAL SLATE. This composition has been upwards of, three years extensively used in New Brunsavich, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, the Canadas and Nova Scotia, principally for covering shingled roofs, as you will perceive by the accompanying circulars of certificates. It has been severely tested, and proved most successfully its fire proof qualities under most extraordinary circumstances; so much so, that I am of opinion that Fire Insurance Companies should encourage its general application to all kinds of wood building (where the color would be no objection to its being used, such as he back valls of dwellings in the city, out houses, ware-houses, &c., as well as the roofs) by lowering the premium of insurance on such buildings as are covered.
