CAIRO, May 23.—The ministers are inciting Ulemas and the populace by representing that the foreign fleets have been sent to annex the country.

The pourparlers between the consuls and the ministry completely failed. The ministry refuse further negotiations unless the fleets are withdrawn. A council of wardecided in favor of active military preparations. It is rumored England and France was held last night and was not as stormy as the first one. New officers were elected. The late president offered to give his note for $100,000 to cover any irregularities, and as well the estate of his son, which he values at $95,000. The irregularities, it is said by stockholders, will amount only to $30,000.

. We observe the 24th of May with considerable enthusiasm in this country—much more so than in England, where Victoria is he head of affairs and more than a name. While Canadians hold the queen in high admiration for her womanly, queenly qualcelebration of to-day must be traced to other causes than mere loyalty. We like holidays no matter in whose honor. We also like our olimate, especially the midder part of it, and the sentiment of to-day would in the last analysis most likely resolve itself into the old May day idea, a welcoming of warm, sanny weather. The 24th of May clearly marks the welcome change in our climate, and the beginning of the summer business.

Even when the queen passes away we will continue to celebrate a holiday about this time of the year. Certain it is, when the present Prince of Wales becomes the king, and, his natal day in bleak November comes regard, there will be no such rejoicings as we hope will characterize to day.

Without going very far back we have seen the votes of all the ridings of York, and Peel, and Ontario, changed from reform to tory. The time was when a tory's chances of being elected in any of these counties

Now, it may not be going very far wrong to argue that if gerrymandering, or "John-A-mandering," or almost anything else could awake these voters on old time issue, to a knowledge of the fact that these old issues are past and gone, and that we have now to deal with new issues altogether-it might not be wholly a bad thing for the country. More even than this may be said. This sticking to old issues and ignoring of new ones is mostly on the part of reformers. It was this disposition, on their part, which blinded them to the importance of the N. P., as it continues to blind some of them to the importance of the Chinese question, the labor question, the railway question, and other live issues and really burning questions of to-day. It is, therefore, reformers who stand most in need of being shaken up with regard to these matters.
Wherever Sir John has "hived" them together by hundreds, for the purpose of defeating their votes, they will surely begin to bethink themselves afresh as to what they are always voting for. They need "new light" on the subject very much, and Sir John's "hiving," scheme will bring it to the highest delicacy and quality. Cabinets and have most valuable improvements. 246 tenants at more per annum than the Dominion gets for the land in fee simple? The question does not appear superflous, by any means, when we look at what is going on. But what have they been doing in the States these many years? It is mentioned that congress has granted to seven corporations for the construction of railroads no less than 80,000 square miles of valuable land, a territory as large as the area of New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland together. Of this amount there remain in round numbers over 82,500,000 acres, not yet earned, but claimed by the seven corporations and withheld from settlement. Are we to infer that landlords and landlordism are being established in the great republic, as well as in the Dominiou? Or is there some mistake about this, and is the whole business destined to take another turn, from causes incident to the air of territorial democracy which prevails in America. On both sides which prevails in America, on both sides

PAT CATTLE FOR ENGLAND.

It seems like uttering moral heresy to say that any good can come of gerrymandering constituencies in the interest of a party. Yet one way there is, in which ultimate good may come of present evil. There are in Ontario a considerable number of townships which have remained tory and reform respectively, from the town during the last ten years?

He replied more eloquently than in words, by blushing profusely, and asked if I was a stranger here. He evidently thought that no old resident ought to be misled by so conspicuous a sign. The only time we make up to the fact of being alive, wealthy and prosperous, is on reading some speech delivered by one of our belted knights at Ottawa, and copied into one of the four dayley papers here, from some Ontario paper, setting forth in glowing eloquence "the wealth, industry, contentment and loyalty, to be found among our friends down by the sea."

THE PROVINCIAL PRESS.

When I say copied from an Ontario paper do not imagine that our own journals are leading in editorial ability, that would be far from the truth, for I doubt if any town on this continent of equal population, possesses as much of it as St. John. The trouble is we are to provi much of it as St. John. The trouble is we are too poor in population to support so many dailies, and have them show any enterprise, and as a natural consequence have to be satisfied with the latest telegrams the largest ever attempted in Germany. A Real Count Working on the Railroad. (From the Albany Argus.)
There is no doubt that there is a real count among the Italians now at work on this division of the West Shore railroad, near Tribes Hill, N. Y. He came with the gang that last arrived here, and, it is said, paid their fares from Italy to this country. The Italians wished to give him a separate apartment in their shanty, but he refused. He works with the rest. It is said that a love affair and a duel compelled him to leave his native country.

INSURANCE

MONEY SAVED. we now propose to furnish practical proof of the above statements, by citing one out of many thousands of cases existing all over the land.

H. B., of Peterboro', insured his life 13 years ago for $1,000, (the profits to be added to the policy) in a company still doing an active business in Canada, and whose name is found in our chart for the guidance of insurers entitled "TEN YEARS' RECORD." He has paid, in premiums, during the 13 years, $328 28, and for his policy and the bonus additions thereto, he can now obtain from the company a paid-up policy—that is, a policy with no more premiums to pay upon it—of only.

Add to this the difference in the cash paid by H. B., and the interest thereon during the 13 years—equivalent to an additional $314 00.

THE DIFFERENCE.

For the same money, therefore, on the same life, the same insurance could have been obtained from the ÆTNA during the 13 years, and, ceasing payment, there would be left to the family, payable at his death, as above, a paid-up policy of.

Whereas, H. B. can now obtain only. Difference in favour of dealing with an economical company, $432 00 Which is More than 170 per cent.

Many people, who do not take the trouble to investigate, believe that all companies are about alike; and because all charge about the same premium, they absurdly imagine it is as well to insure with one as another, or with the office or the agent nearest their own door. There could be no greater mistake, as the above figures, from a thirteen years' experience, so clearly show. So long as intelligent business men allow themselves to be drawn into expensively managed companies, so long will there be a poor investment, instead of a good one, to most of the insured. "The public cannot be misled if, when seeking an office in which to effect an insurance, they select one which transacts its business at a small per centage of working cost."—British Board of Trade Report.

.....A very interesting balance sheet for the last financial year at Monte Carlo has just been published by the administration. It appears that in the year ending the 31st of March the tables bad won 12,000,000 francs. Against this 8,800,000 is set down for expense of ali sorts, thus leaving a sum of 3,200,000 francs, or £128,000, to be divided among the shareholders. This is child's play to the amount of money which annually changes hands at some of the Paris and Nice clubs. M. Dupressoir, who was formerly the presiding genius at the Badenforder or general of the Casino at Monte Carlo. Experiments made at Leipsie with a cuirass formed of a new kind of steel prepacuirass formed of a new kind of steel preparation show some very satisfactory results. The metal of this cuirass, as described, is only about three-fiftieths of an inch thick, and is lined inside with a layer of wool; the cuirass itself is four-teen inches wide and ten inches high, being intended

These sign boards are said to act like a charm.

The grand chic for a French actress nowadays is to have a little hotel. So Mile. Julia Feyghine, the Cossack girl whose debut at the Francais in Barberine a few weeks ago was not exactly brilliant, has become the proprietor of a hotel in the Avenue d'Eylau, in Paris. Ruchel did not get her hotel so rapidly.

The German Fliegend Biaetter reports the following conversation: "Who is the gentleman escorting Miss Amelia?" "That's care influential by their rank, wealth, and are influential by their rank, wealth, and terest a project which has been set on foot to raise a monument to Admiral de Coligny, whose murder by the massacre of St. Bartholomew Coligny's corps was deep rigitated and dragged to the massacre of St. Bartholomew Coligny's dibbet of Montfaucon, where it was hanged at there. The singu-lar cause to which this fact is ascribed is the burning of the ring theatre, which, by the magnitude of the distress occasioned by it, is supposed to have diverted the thoughts "So say all of us," was the mixed re-joinder; and with many regrets and apois supposed to have diverted the thoughts of the poor and suffering from their own sorrows to those of others.

Twenty years ago the Tir Devisme was frequented by everybody who aspired to be "in the movement." Its literary glories were Theophile Gautier and Alphonse Karr, both dead shots.

Beatrice was called upon to sign her name N. P. CHANEY & CO in the register. She gave her bouquet to the bishop of London to hold, and then she quite forgot to reclaim the fragrant burden from the right reverend divine. In

He corrected himself after saying : "Where were you on Friday night?" Judge Metcalfe, who held the inquest on the body of Jennie Cramer, corroborated Painter's testimony. Seven lawyers for the defence held a consultation. Blindenbergh stated that they concluded to make no opening, but leave their story to the testimony of the witnesses.

The names of the Malley boys, who are on trial at New Haven for the mysterious murder of Jennie Cramer at Savin rock, have become household words. The mys-tery which shrouds the insensational uncertainty intensifies public interest in the boys, and owing to their previous good character and their kind public treatment of Jennie Cramer gives the trial some of the elements bordering on heroism, for there are many who believe the minocent of any wil set toward the dead girl evil act toward the dead girl.

The Malleys, James and Walter, were among the flashiest of in their native city of New Haven. The boys are cousins and highly connected. They were afforded every educational advantage, and Walter being of a studious turn of mind, improved the opportunities and became somewhat noted in the vizinity of his native heath for his scholarly attainments. James' mind ran rather to business than to books, and he became manager of his father's large store at New Haven.

Wealthy, accomplished, of good family connection, and not bad looking, they became popular beaux of New Haven, and moved in society creme de la creme of the city, Marriageable belles vied with each other for their company, mothers manceuvered for them, and prospective fathers-in-law, after mentally calculating the boys' bank accounts and looking over their hydrogen prospective were very their other for their company, mothers manceuvered for them, and prospective fathers-in-law, after mentally calculating the boys' bank accounts and looking over their business prospects, were wont to admit that the Malleys were quite a "catch." These two young men while in the gay whirl of New Haven society met, and meeting, admired, Jennie Cramer, the handsomest girl of the city. She was not their equal in society, but her great beauty partially opened to her the doors of wealth and fashion. The prosecu has woven a web of evidence around a prisoners from which it will be difficult for them to extricate themselves. They have proven Jennie to have been seen in their company at Savin Rock on the last midnight previous to the finding of her body on the beach at the same place. Medical testimony has shown that her ruin was first ac complished but a few short days before her death; chemical analysis of her remains showed arsenic in her stomach, liver and kidneys. will probably be that while under the influence of wine and while in the toils of the virtue-ghoul Douglass, Jenny Cramer fell a victim to James Malley's lust; recovering her right senses she became frenzied at he her right senses she became frenzied at her fall, and unflinchingly threatened exposure and the law's revenge. In self-protection the Malleys in some manner gave her a large dose of the arsenic which Wafter Malley had from time to time been jurchasing for Douglass; and, death following, they dumped her lifeless body into the sca.

THE THEORY OF THE DEFENSE.

On the preliminary examination the Malleys proved a weak alibi. The additional testimony of this trial has defeated that defense, and must necessarily drive the prisoners' lawyers to stand firmly on the theory of suicide. To do this successfully a most damning admission must be made, viz: that they accomplished Jennie's ruin, and in the despair of remorse she partock of Blanche Douglass' poison and then threw herself (into the sea. A weak attempt might be made to show that Jennie Cramer was, like Blanche Douglass, a victim of the arsenic habit, but the fact that the arsenic when continuously used in small quantities thoroughly and evenly permeates the system would break evenly permeates the system would break this down, as it was only found in the three organs of Jennie's body heretofore mentioned, and there in sufficient quantities to produce death. Blanche, the enigma. The hope that Blanche Douglass would turn state's evidence is dispelled by the prosecution putting in evidence stories of what she had agreed to confess. Indifference of the Malleys. The Malleys seem in nowise worried about the late which hangs nowise worried about the fate which hangs over them like the suspended sword of Democles. The body was soon found. It was lying entirely nude alongside the track. It was so horribly mangled—one leg being off and the other torn to shreds, the head crushed in, and the body weth hardly a sound spot to be found on it—that at first it was not to be found on it—that at first it was not recognizable; but on closer examination the remains were identified as those of Michael Mohan, a freight conductor on the Grand Trunk railroad. The mangled remains were collected, together with the clothing which was scattered along the track, placed on a stretcher and conveyed to the station.

As we have seen in Castarrh and throat are times, perhaps gether, when the affinnce, and the patie entirely passed awas cause of irritation of disease is material; the year, not under apparent, and admuble future which mis not speedily alla deavor to convince the special cause of will prove to them it housands who have from whence no trave. No one, therefore, catarrh or throat affered to axist. Ofter rous complications, penduloits organ whit time arch, just over the penduloits organ whit the cause was time the quickly removed fore, that before the pof medication a careful competent to dende up the disease.

Inhalations are applications, penduloits, organs, inclustion free, and in the reach of all.

The very best of reready cured.

Those who deaire to cases had better call ition, but if impossible may write for which will be ONTARIO PU 135 Church will be on the patient of the pendulon of th
