World-wide Inquietude.

Described in Pope Leo's Latest Encyclical - Unity of the Church.

Rome, March 30.—The Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, prints the encyclical issued by the Pope to-day, in which he says the time has come when he must recognize that he is approaching the end of the term of his life on earth and that this encyclical should be his testament to the Catholic Church.

The Pope says he would encourage the Catholic Bishops throughout the world to continue vigorously to resist the persecutions which now afflict the Church. These persecutions will continue, but they will not affect the spread of the light of Christ among infidels. Never has humanity found itself in more miserable conditions than at present. There is disorder in all social relations and especially in family relations; excessive liberty has been created which has fostered socialism and anarchism.

Unjust wars, the encyclical says, are being waged by strong nations against weak and feeble peoples. There are exaggerated armaments among great nations, the effects of which are even more disastrous than war. All these things have created world-wide inquietude. Unceasing troubles and misery have provoked the people to anarchism, which henceforth promises to constitute a formidable league against Emperors, Kings and Presidents of all governments. These governments must adopt decisive measures for the defence of genuine liberty and must enforce the teaching of religion.

In conclusion the Pope invokes the union of Christian churches as the leading remedy to save society from the violent attacks of Atheists and Freemasonry. He maintains the necessity of upholding the temporal rights of the church and counsels the active spread of Catholic workmen's societies.

His Holiness thanks the bishops for their friendly manifestations on the occasion of his jubilee and proceeds to deplore the spread of Atheism, which he finds to be invading all departments of the state. He also condemns the forthcoming institution of the law of divorce in Italy, and urges all Catholics to combat doctrines contrary to religion.

Church Robbery in Barrie.

The peace of Holy Week was broken in this diocese by the shocking burglary committed in Very Rev. Dean Egan's church in Barrie, but the prudent conduct of the Dean undoubtedly saved worst desecration and won for the cool-headed priest the admiration, not only of his fellow townsmen but of the entire public throughout the province.

Before midnight on Ash Wednesday, Dean Egan from his rectory window noticed a light moving in the church, and going at once to investigate the matter he perceived upon entering the sacred edifice a burglar rifling the altar. Preparations had been made for Holy Thursday and the Blessed Sacrament was in the chapel. Father Egan, therefore, was not afraid of the desecration of the Blessed Sacrament and decided upon the instant not to frighten the robber away. He made up his mind to capture the fellow and any associates might have without a very violent struggle, and going back to the rectory telephoned down to the hotel for any gentlemen who might be there to come up at once. The response was general and in a few minutes the church was surrounded. When the burglar came out he walked into the arms of a stalwart resident and was overpowered without trouble. The town police in the meantime had been communicated with and captured an associate who fought with his captors and afterwards endeavored to break jail.

A correspondent of The Register, writing from Barrie on April 1 says: "Both burglars are in jail. They have pleaded guilty and will be sentenced to-morrow. The public expectation is that they will get ten years in the Penitentiary. They had broken the vestry door open and as they were caught with some trifling church articles in their possession, it would have been useless to make defence. They broke the poor boxes, but beyond this very little damage had been done."

The Register in presenting these facts believes that the Catholic people of Ontario will feel pleased that the character of the robbery was not worse. Dean Egan is entitled to all the credit which his quiet management of the matter deserves, and it must be said for the police force of Barrie that they did quick and conclusive work in capturing the second burglar.

The Catholic Press.

(By Bishop O'Hare.)

"There is another field in which the lay apostolate can exercise most salutary influence and erect a mighty fortification to withstand in the hour of trial the attacks made upon our Holy Faith I am alluding to the Catholic press. The Church, faithful to her Divine commission to save the ransomed flock of Christ and to guard them against influences which would alienate them from their religion, has always made use of all legitimate means at hand and pressed them into her service. The pages of history everywhere testify how music and architecture were used by the Church, in conjunction with her doctrine, to bring truth and civilization to the barbarians. The printing press in our days is one of the means which the Church must use, both for defence and instruction. In an age when pagan ideas rush in in a mighty torrent to destroy the bulwarks of faith, and often carry away with them many a precious soul; in an age when atheism is catering out the vitals of social and Christian life, the Church stands in need of a press that is ready to explode the fallacies of infidelity and to bring into high relief the splendor of Christian truth. The Catholic press in America, in most cases at least, is presided over by men of ability and learning, many of courage and Christian zeal, men who are just fitted to do the work which they have undertaken; but, alas! they receive no inspiration, no encouragement and no reward. It is not the fault of the Catholic editors that we cannot boast of a strong Catholic press, but the fault of Catholic readers who fail to see the importance and the great advantages of a fully supported press. In this field the lay apostolate can do an immense amount of good.

"Let some one in each parish exercise his influence, and if need be, canvass for subscribers and introduce Catholic papers into Catholic homes. Here, again, the Catholics of Germany are our model and a source of inspiration. In the year 1871, when the haughty chancellor undertook his lamentable mission to destroy the influence of the Church, there were but three newspapers in Germany. When, however, in 1878, the laity came to the rescue of the Church and realized the immense advantage of the press, there was a notable increase in the number of Catholic papers." The various organizations of Catholic laymen in this country, comments the Baltimore Mirror, owe much of their strength and prestige to the fostering aid of the Catholic press. Catholic journals are ever ready to place their columns at the service of these bodies and to do all in their power, to wield all their influence, to exert all their endeavors to make known, to make favorably known and to spread to the utmost limits, range and membership our Catholic lay societies. These unselfish labors cannot be said to be fairly requited. Officers and organizers of these organizations are anxious to employ the Catholic press for the furtherance of their aims, but very unwilling to exert any influence or authority for the propagation and encouragement of the Catholic press. This is a grievous error of policy and of judgment. The laity of the country are now well organized, but their growth depends and must inevitably depend in no small degree upon the manner of their support by the Catholic press. Let our lay organizations do something for the cause of Catholic literature, for the apostolate of Catholic journalism. Their own best interests will be most securely fostered by this course, which a spirit of true reciprocity demands be pursued for the sake of honesty.

An English Rector's Offer.

New York, April 1.—The Rev. Dr. R. C. Fillingham, the English clergyman who is carrying on a pro-boer agitation in this country, made this answer to a newspaper correspondent who asserted that the minister was condemned by public opinion in England:

"If on my return to my parish at Helton I am not received with cheers and ringing of the church bells, and if I am disciplined by the Church authorities, then I promise, when I come back to this country next September, to swallow my hat publicly in the Fifth Avenue Hotel lobby."

The Coronation Oath.

The Pope and the London Chapter.

The London Tablet states: In honor of the New Cathedral at Westminster, the Holy See has raised the number of the Metropolitan Chapter to eighteen, the number of the Chapters of St. John Lateran and St. Mary Major, in Rome. To correspond with this gracious act seven new Canons have been appointed, as follows: Right Rev. Monsignor J. E. Crook, of Thorndoo; Right Rev. Monsignor J. Vaughan; Very Rev. St. Delaney, Church of Our Lady, St. John's Wood; Very Rev. Langton Vere, of St. Patrick's, Soho Square, Very Rev. W. Fleming, of St. Mary's, Moorfields, Very Rev. Michael Fanning, of the Pro-Cathedral, Kensington; and Very Rev. Thomas Dunn, Secretary to His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop, Right Rev. J. L. Patterson, Bishop of Emmaus, has been appointed Provost. In addition to the extension of its membership, the Holy See has also honored the Cathedral Chapter by granting it the same canonical dress as is worn by the Canons of the Patriarchal Basilicas of Rome.

Papal Organ for Peace.

Osservatore Romano on the Boer War - English Church Hopes As To

Rome, March 25.—The text of the appeal issued by the Pope for peace throughout all Christendom, irrespective of sect, for the halting of peace in South Africa, is creating much comment. As published in The Osservatore Romano, recognized as the organ of the Vatican, as nearly as any paper can be, it reads:

Before the horrors of the war conducted in South Africa with so much obstinacy Catholic spirit is filled with great grief and considers the day at hand for ending the mutual hatred of the combatants, when, instead of anger, peace will spread her wings over that blood-soaked country. English and Boers are alike the sons of God. All are brothers.

Political interests may divide them, but both should recognize that this bloody war is disastrous to both. There is nobody but admits that dignified peace is desirable. It is desired by the combatants themselves.

Blessed will be the hour when the English nation will see fit to end its sacrifices and when the valiant Boers will join in a sentiment of concord. The Catholic hallelujah will resound more happily through the entire world, even among dissenters, who join in wishing that conclusion of peace of which Christ was the author and consummator.

Who can dare separate himself from those hearts which daily call upon Heaven to give peace which will reunite Christian civilization, bearing a common legitimate mission to save human generations?

London, March 26.—A "prayer for peace" was the only novel feature of the observance of Good Friday in Great Britain. The Bishops of London, Rochester and St. Alban's issued special appeals to their diocese to unite in prayer that both British and Boers be granted the temper of peace-makers, pointing out that similar prayers are being offered in the Dutch churches of Pretoria. A Sunday atmosphere pervades everything here. All business is suspended. The government offices are shut up.

Holy Week and Easter.

During Holy Week at the Cathedral, the office of Te Deum was chanted on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. On Holy Thursday morning the ceremony of the blessing of the oils used in the sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, Holy Orders and Extreme Unction, took place. His Grace the Archbishop celebrated Pontifical High Mass and performed the ceremonies. He was assisted by Vicar-General McCann, assistant priest, and Rev. Fathers Teely and Hand deacons of honor. Rev. Fathers Trayling and Coyle were deacon and sub-deacon, and Father Treacy master of ceremonies. All the priests of the diocese were present in the sanctuary. After the ceremony of the blessing of the oils, the procession took place to the repository, where the usual indulgences were announced.

On Good Friday morning Mass of the Pre-Sanctified was sung and the ceremony of the Adoration of the Cross took place. A very large congregation was present in the church. His Grace the Archbishop, before the ceremony, explained the meaning of the Adoration of the Cross. On Holy Saturday, the Laptismal Water was blessed. On Easter Sunday morning the Archbishop solemnly pontificated, assisted by Fathers O'Neill, Canning, Burke and Rohleder. Fathers Treacy and Michean were deacons and sub-deacon of the Mass. After the communion His Grace the Archbishop preached an impressive sermon on the Resurrection of Christ from the dead. In the evening Rev. Father Rohleder, assisted by Fathers Canning and Michean, sang Vespers. The sermon on the Divinity of the Catholic religion was preached by Rev. Dr. Treacy. The choir sang Gregorian chant, interspersed with productions from Catholic composers. Miss Adela Lemaitre was organist, and Mr. Richardson conductor of the choir.

Death of the Scottish Archbishop.

A line in the cable despatches of last week mentioned the death of the Scottish Archbishop. In this connection it is sadly interesting to remark that on Saturday, March 15 last, the venerable Archbishop, the Most-Rev. Dr. Bryce, LL. D., celebrated the anniversary of his translation to the Western See, and on Wednesday, the 19th, he attained the Diamond Jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood. His Grace's health had rendered necessary the postponement of the religious and other observances appropriate to the jubilee, but it was sincerely hoped and fervently prayed for that he would be able to attend a special service in the Cathedral. In all the Catholic churches of the city on Sunday prayers were asked and offered up on His Grace's behalf.

School Board Will Sue City.

Members of the Separate School Board, at their monthly meeting Tuesday night in the De La Salle Institute, denounced in strong terms the action of the city in retaining $1,218 of the board's fund for rent of quarters in the City Hall. Repeated demand have been made on City Treasurer Coody for the amount without any satisfactory answer, and now litigation will be resorted to with a view to enforcing payment. A resolution instructing J. J. Foy, K. C., the board's solicitor, to take proceedings, and, if necessary, issue a writ, was proposed by Rev. Father Hand and passed.

Inspector Brother Charles Baldwin submitted a report of the attendance for the month of March. The register was 4,013, highest 3,779, and the average 3,529. Accounts totalling $177,75 were ordered paid. It was decided to close the Italian night school, held in connection with St. Patrick's School. H. Gallagher was appointed caretaker of St. Patrick's School at a salary of $40 per month, and J. F. White was chosen to represent the board on the Board of Entrance Examiners of the High Schools for the current year. The acceptance of tenders amounting to $9,870 for the erection of a four-room brick school on Close avenue was laid over, pending a special meeting of the board, when funds will be reported.

At the conclusion of the meeting the chairman, Vicar-General McCann, and trustees attended the winter closing exercises of the gymnasium class, conducted in connection with the De La Salle Institute.

Father Quinlan's Funeral in Paris.

The remains of the late Father Quinlan of St. Patrick's, Montreal, were laid to rest in the Montparnasse Cemetery, Paris. The funeral service was held March 14th, and upwards of 400 priests of the Sulpician Order, of which the deceased was a member, attended and followed the body to the grave. Among the Canadians present were Hon. Hector Fabre, the Canadian Commissioner, his brother, Mr. T. Fabre, Mr. J. Emile Vanier, C. E., of Montreal, his son, and Mr. C. H. Dion, of Montreal.

St. Mary's C.L. and A.A.

The regular weekly meeting was held in the rooms of the Association, the President, Mr. C. J. F., in the chair. A lecture was given by Mr. M. J. Quinn, a member of the Association, illustrating the working of the Septic Tank system, which was very instructive and much appreciated. Mr. Quinn also exhibited a model of his patent in connection with same, which has already met with much success.

The last debate was taken part in by Messrs. J. J. Power and C. J. Gilroy for the affirmative, and J. A. Muldoon and J. T. Loftus for the negative. Subject: "Resolved, That Free Trade with the U. S. is Desirable." Mr. J. J. McLaughlin was chairman and J. J. Murray critic. Messrs. W. H. Johnston, W. Flanagan, G. Furlong and H. H. Garigue were chosen for the debate at the next meeting.

IRELAND IRISH EMIGRATION.

The Most Rev. Dr. G. Donnell, Bishop of Raphoe has addressed the following letter to the editor of The Boston Globe

Dear Sir—We are promised a Land Bill, about Easter, to facilitate the process of turning Irish tenants into owners of the soil they cultivate

I do not allude to a remedy for congestion, necessary as it is to relieve it. That is only a fraction of the problem.

It is a hopeful sign that there appears to be something like alarm in our midst at the very alarming loss of a quarter of a million of our population during the past ten years.

Are we going to do anything that will stop this bleeding unto death? Slight palliatives here and there are no match for this exhausting drain.

Well, after her people, Ireland's wealth lies in her land. We must use the land to support the people.

Thus the rural laborer, if he did not become a farmer at the start, would have employment with others where there is no employment now.

If the revival of Irish industries is to assume national proportions some such land scheme as this must be the basis of public endeavor.

The work should commence on a comparative small scale, and should always be carried out with great care.

But whatever the attitude of the Government may be to a project of this kind, it is one of the great advantages of having a strong Irish party in the House of Commons that this most important problem will be kept to the front in any discussion of the land question.

With apologies for so much prose on St. Patrick's Day, I am, dear sir, Sincerely yours, PATRICK O'DONNELL, Bishop of Raphoe

IRELAND'S LOYALTY TO LIBERTY AND JUSTICE.

Our motherland has been depopulated, but the world has been benefited. Honor and glory and power have come to the Irish exile, his heart

Our hearts go out in loving sympathy to the people at home, and our best energies are pledged to aid them in the battle for their rights.

Ireland deserves from humanity which she has bettered that liberty come to her. By the title of her large work in civilization, by her devotion to religion and to scholarship, by her unflinching loyalty to God by her undying protest against wrong.

FOR NERVES. A remedy for nervousness in the woman of many pressing duties may be found in some kinds of fancy work, not the exquisitely fine embroidery, where each stitch must be laid by rule, but in the big, soft, bright pieces of crochet or knitting, where the vivid colors of the varied wools set as an alternative to the eyes and therefore to the brain; where the fingers busy themselves in weaving up these brilliant hues into a harmonious whole and some pretty garment results to be given away and to be a comfort to the recipient.

toona as elsewhere, men passing the age of thirty-five and forty without any thought of marriage, whilst around them is the most comely list of fair young women with all the virtues and qualities that go to make up good and loving wives.

The commonly assigned reason of the young man is that he cannot afford to marry; that women have grown too extravagant in their habits, that, in other words, it is too expensive to support a wife.

Taking up the subject of the ideal husband, it was looked at from the woman's point of view. Of husbands there were two kinds: The prospective husband and the husband in reality, the husband to be and the husband that is.

Speaking of the grounds and conditions of a true marriage, he held that the creative forces of happiness must come from conjugal love. Whim, fancy, passion and other things are sometimes mistaken for love.

There are many people who marry for money, both men and women. There are marriages of convenience, more frequent in the old world, perhaps, than here, where family considerations are taken account of.

THE PAPAL ENCYCLICAL

The summary of Pope Leo's latest Encyclical, which is alluded to in the newspaper despatches as a testament to the world has been very imperfectly made.

THE C. M. B. A.

It has been our custom year by year to summarize the general showing of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association from the report of the Dominion Government Inspector of Insurance.

The total amount paid into the C. M. B. A. by members during the year 1901 was $234,818. The number of certificates taken was 1,700, representing $1,978,000.

We have closely compared the C. M. B. A. with the Commercial Traveller's Mutual Benefit Society, one of the assessment companies the management of which appears to be conducted on a conservative plan.

We have therefore found in the Government report a great deal that is distinctly creditable to the administration of the Association.

CECIL RHODES.

Cecil Rhodes is dead and the flood-gates of imperialistic adoration have been opened. When a man has passed beyond the reach of human reproach, it is natural enough that writers should prefer to look around to find the good he had done.

that he died and left that ambition unsatisfied. Whilst the war rages in South Africa, however it would seem to say that Mr Rhodes died a mere dreamer. His wish, expressed in his own phrase was to "paint all that red" — indicating the Dutch South African states on the line of his proposed Cape to Cairo railroad.

Was Mr Rhodes responsible for the war? Most people are of that opinion, but many who entertain it do not blame him as much as they blame Mr Chamberlain.

AN AGGRESSIVE MOVE.

If the Jingoism of Ontario who are clamoring against Sir Wilfrid Laurier because he has refused to tie Canada up to an Imperial military defence scheme, could manage to reflect intelligently for five minutes upon the significance of the whole question at stake, even they might put a bridle upon their reckless tongues.

It is the patriotism of Confederation that binds the Government as well as those members of the Opposition who deny the right of irresponsible preachers to upset the constitutional policy of the united Canadian provinces.

The spirit and freedom of the union of the provinces was not limited by the mere concession of our present institutions. The Act of Confederation was accepted by all the provinces as a guarantee of our protection from future disturbances by foreign wars.

The defence of our seaboard from foreign assault was a question of a different kind. Canada could not hope for generations to be in a position to maintain a serviceable navy, and our statesmen foresaw from the beginning that some contribution to naval defence might loom up, if England went to war with Russia or France.

The scheme which Sir Wilfrid Laurier has declined looks to the maintenance of a Canadian section of the Imperial army. This would be tantamount to an invitation to whatever enemy England may be at war with to invade Canada.

The Republic to the South has already grown into a foremost world power. That development is certain to go on as far as it has gone it has been characterized by a friendly and neighborly attitude towards the Dominion.

In Canada prepared to become the aggressor against the continuance of this principle? The request made by the Colonial Office is that Canada assume the role of initiating a new doctrine of aggression against the traditional policy of the United States.

pawn in the first great conflict in which England might engage. It is all very well for the Ore-craters to say that we are able to hold our own against any foe, and that the British Empire can face the world in arms.

PEACE RUMORS

While the air is full of rumors of peace negotiations proceeding in Africa between Lord Kitchener and the Republican generals, the British War Office is putting all its resources to the test, and Mr Chamberlain is straining the docility of the colonies in the work of rushing fresh reinforcements to the Cape.

There is one feature of the statistics, however, which we must refer to as conclusive evidence of the economic administration of Catholic hospitals. Comparing the average cost of each patient per day in different parts of the province we have the following facts.

LEAFLETS FROM LORETTO

The Easter number of The Leaflets, which appeared last week, is a most creditable production. A notable table of contents sets forth a variety of subjects, all treated with marked literary skill.

CATHOLIC INFLUENCE IN CHARITY

In his lucid report upon the hospitals and charities of the province covering the year 1901, the Provincial Secretary, Hon J R Stratton, gives a large amount of statistical information of interest to all supporters of our Catholic charities.

The Catholic charities of the province receiving government aid on the same basis as Protestant institutions, all doing the work of the public are. St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto; St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton; Hotel Dieu, Kingston; Roman Catholic Hospital, Ottawa; Misericorde Hospital, Ottawa; St. Joseph's Hospital, London; St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph; St. Joseph's Hospital, Port Arthur; St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Brockville; St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough; Hotel Dieu Hospital, Windsor; St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham; St. Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury; Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

Table listing hospital names and their respective costs per patient per day, such as St. Michael's, Toronto at $3,078 and St. Joseph's, Hamilton at 514.

From this we see that the sum of $28,701 was donated by Catholics to hospital charities last year. This is nearly one-third of the entire subscription under this head to all the Ontario hospitals of every description, public, Protestant and Catholic.

Taken altogether the Provincial Secretary's report should give satisfaction to all who have the progress and efficiency of Catholic charities at heart.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A marked copy of The Orillia Packet has been sent us containing a letter signed "P Fitzgerald," which is a farrago of furious rictions about Mr John Dillon.

It is remarked, says The London Tablet, as a curious fact that Westminster Abbey now reverts to the care of a Catholic. The Duke of Norfolk, as a matter of fact, from now until King Edward's Coronation will be the historic Abbey's custodian, and have it, so to speak, at his sole disposition.

A cable despatch on Tuesday said "Westminster Abbey is closed to public. The Duke of Norfolk and the Board of Works officials to-day take charge of the sacred edifice, and the necessary preparations for the coronation will be commenced without delay.

Forty athletic Protestant young women who don't know a word of Dutch are being sent out from Canada to South Africa at the instance of the Imperial Government to teach the Boers how to forget their mother tongue.

Our worthy contemporary, The Hamilton Herald, assumes too much in its reply to our observations upon the recent suspension of Mr. Dillon in the House of Commons.

Opposition lobby appear to have laid aside altogether the consideration of order in the House and voted solely upon the point of Mr Chamberlain's character for veracity.

A contemporary alluding to newspaper paragraphs on the Jubilee of Pope Leo points out that they are circulating one historical error. It is asserted, or assumed, that the fact of Plus the Ninth of blessed memory having reigned more than twenty-five, in fact nearly thirty-two, years, falsified the traditional saying, supposed to be addressed to every Pope on his election: "Non videbis annos Petri" ("Thou shalt not see the years of Peter").

When the advisers of the King cancelled the proposed Irish visit a little while ago, it was alleged that His Majesty was not a party to the transaction, which was inspired by a partisan motive.

Two curious statements have appeared in this regard in two British Jingo papers — The Daily Mail and The Birmingham Post.

FIVE LITTLE MINUTES are all the time Perry Davis' Painkiller needs to stop a stomachache, even when it is sharp enough to make a strong man groan. Don't be fooled by imitations. 25c. and 50c.

Progress of the Church in a Hundred Years.

In 1800 about 1,000 missionaries were distributed throughout the missions of the world. In 1900 there were 13,500 missionary priests and 3,500 lay brothers working in various missions, and this is only part of the staff that modern apostolate has created.

A National Saint

HERE is no Saint in the Calendar whose personality is so thoroughly identified with any nation as S. Patrick is identified with Ireland.

Towards the close of the fourth century we find him a captive tending sheep in the mountains of Antism and Down. His time was wholly given to penance and prayer.

Encouraged by S. Patrick many youths and maidens embraced the religious state, and schools, convents and churches rose simultaneously throughout the land.

The Hymn of the Wind

Thou voice of the winter night That glides through the gaunt pine trees, That faints 'neath the soft moonlight

And the wind pulled low its voice, And proudly it answered then; 'I've been where the spheres rejoice

"And I, a poor earth-stained thing, I stole but the echo small And I tell it now to all;

—MAY O'BRIEN, in Leaflets from Loretto.

If she went to an American port I urged that cheap transportation was a more important problem to Canada than fast transportation, yet he declared that the inauguration in the near future of a fast line of steamers between Quebec and Liverpool was as much an assured fact as the rising of to-morrow's sun, or as the construction of the half-completed Quebec bridge, which he ridiculed for promising a couple of years ago.

AMERICAN SYMPATHY WITH BOERS.

Washington, April 1.—Representative Sulzer of New York yesterday introduced in the House the following resolution: "That we sympathize with the heroic Boers in their struggle to maintain their liberty and independence, and protest in the name of humanity and civilization against the continuance of a war which outrages the feelings of all liberty-loving people."

war. Annexation means peace, but also our gradual extinction at some distance, perhaps, but still inevitable — of our nationality and our religion.

In the preliminaries to this conclusion, La Verite asserts that Great Britain has always sacrificed Canadian interests, and proceeds to review what it calls the dangers of Imperialism. It points out that closer relations with the Empire will mean the taxation of Canada for the support of the British navy and army.

La Verite does not consider that by the change in civil and criminal law; the method of choosing the judges and of the elective system, the French-Canadians would be any worse or any better off than under the present regime. It claims that annexation would be of great benefit to agriculture and the development of our national resources, but it would also mean the closing of all our workshops and factories.

INTER-CATHOLIC CLUB DEBATING UNION FINAL DEBATE.

The subject on this occasion was: "Resolved, That the Canadian Senate should be abolished," and the eloquent and able manner in which it was handled reflects great credit on those taking part.

Messrs. Sweeney and Sheehan, for the affirmative, took the ground that reforming or changing the Senate must be considered as abolishing it as it exists to-day; that it was a partisan body not responsible to the people; and that if money spent in maintaining the Senate were applied to the endowment of colleges it would be of greater benefit to the country.

The decision of the judges was announced by Dr. Teely in favor of the affirmative, after which speeches were made by Mr. J. J. Foy and Mr. Frank Anglin. Songs were contributed by Messrs. R. Fulton and W. Collins.

The Inter-Catholic Club Debating Union is to be congratulated on the manner in which they have conducted this, its first season's debates, and it is to be hoped that next season they will be even more successful in continuing the work so well inaugurated this year.
