L'exemple généros

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Les images plus grande de la ne conforme filmage

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

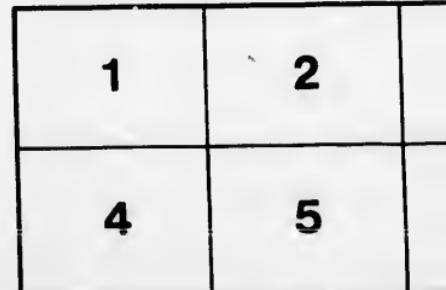

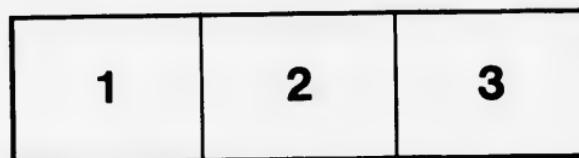

Les exemplaires papier sont pris par le premier et dernier pages d'impression en plat, sauf si l'original est couvert de la première à la dernière page par une impression

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▽ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Un des deux derniers cas: le symbole

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des rapports de réduction différents. Lorsqu'il est nécessaire de les reproduire dans plusieurs cadres, il faut commencer par le coin supérieur gauche, de haut en bas et de gauche à droite, jusqu'à ce qu'il soit possible de les inclure dans un seul cadre. Les deux diagrammes suivants illustrent cette méthode.

Les Images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

READ THIS !

From the Perth "Courier," August 21st, 1874.

THE CANADIAN FARMER'S MANUAL OF AGRICULTURE. By CHARLES EDWARD WHITCOMBE, with an Introduction by PROFESSOR H. McCANDLESS. Toronto: JAMES ADAM & CO.

Discusses the Question.—How shall we raise the greatest amount of marketable produce in a given series of years, with the least proportionate expenditure of Capital and Labour?

A shrewd, intelligent Farmer can Save the price of One Hundred Copies of the work the first year—and the price of Five Hundred Copies in three years.

This is the title of a new and valuable work on Canadian Agriculture, of 572 pages, and handsomely bound, just issued from the press by Messrs. James Adam & Co., Toronto. It is a work that should be in every farmer's hands, and form an important part of his reading matter, for, as farming is a trade, just as much as printing, carpentering, and blacksmithing, and one to which there is no end to the fund of information that can be derived in connection with it—so should every farmer seek to know everything about it—the best modes of farming; what to sow and when; what stock to raise and how; the adaptabilities of the different soils to the various kinds of grain, roots and vegetables; the best kind of outbuildings, &c., &c. All this, and infinitely more, will be found in this work. There is no farmer too well posted in agriculture, or none too careless and "unscientific" in his business not to find a very great deal of practical benefit from a study—not merely a perusal, but a study of this work, as its range is too wide, its information too complete, and its advice too good not to be followed by profit to the farmer. The following are some of the articles treated upon, and will suffice to show the character of the book:—Soils, capital, farm-buildings, rotation of crops, drainage, manuring, seeds and sowing, treatment of burnt lands, sub-soiling, root-crops, field-crops, pasture lands, ploughing, seeds, flax-culture, peat, weeds, farm implements, hot-beds, fences, farm gates, trees suitable for soils, forests, cattle-breeding, feeding and fattening, milch-cows, raising calves, milk, butter and cheese, horses, sheep, lambs, pigs; diseases of cattle, horses, &c.; land surveying, machinery, weights and measures, business transactions, farm accounts, taxes, roads, wills, farm labor, &c. The work is illustrated with suggestive engravings—in short nothing is left undone to render it a first-class book of advice and instruction for the Canadian farmer. It has the additional merit over periodicals of having all this information in a compact form, in one volume.

N.B.—The price of the work is placed so low that no Farmer can have a reasonable excuse for being without a copy.

PRESS OPINIONS—(Continued.)

From Toronto "Mail" Saturday September 12th, 1874.

The author of the Canadian Farmer's Manual of Agriculture has been now for several years before the reading portion of the Canadian agricultural public. We are glad to find that a beginning has here been made towards the providing of standard Canadian books, and a start in the authorship of works specially bearing upon Canadian agriculture. The voluminous works on the field or farm from English pens are "too high" for the farmer here; au contraire, the system of farming in Canada is "very low" and requires to be levelled up. The central object of the volume before us is, to use the author's own words, "to demonstrate how farming may be made to pay by the general improvement of the soil, of seeds, and of methods of cultivation." The author writes in an eminently practical strain, so much so indeed that he occasionally lays himself open to the charge of homeliness in his style. This is, however, considering the present status of agriculture in Canada, we consider, no detraction from, but rather an addition to the genuine value of the work before us. The language being simple, has the power which alone belongs to simplicity, of striking home. The writer has never lost sight of the fact that he is writing for a class who, as a class, are neither too highly educated in the principles of their profession, nor possessed of large capital. All theories advanced, and improvements of system recommended, appear to have stood practical test in Canada. We have in every page of the work evidence of a scientific observer, but always kept within bounds by a practical knowledge of farming in Canada. There is in the 572 pages of this book a large amount of information spread over many subjects connected with the farmers' daily avocations. We find a portion devoted to the more common diseases of live stock. The matter contained under this head the writer does not claim as original; but we especially commend the careful selection and happy arrangement of this portion of the manual. We observe also a great number of useful rules and tables of practical value to every farmer. The system of farm accounts, which issued in a separate form by the author and has been before noticed in The Mail, we consider one of the most valuable portions of the present work. The newly arrived emigrant will find a practical summary of useful information, and the oldest and most scientific farmer will not rise from a perusal of the book without having added to his stock of knowledge on many points. Messrs. JAMES ADAM & CO., the Publishers, have done their part well. The book is handsomely and strongly got up in full coloured leather. The paper is good, the type clear, and the illustrations, of which there are a large number, well executed. Mr. Whitecombe has fairly earned a place among the authors of Canada.

"It is a work that should be in every Farmer's hands."—Kingston "British Whig," Sept 9th.
