French Improve Position Near Loce—
London Cheerful But Hard Fighting
For Months Ahead Before German Is Exhausted

London, May 1.—French troops last night improved their positions in the neighborhood of Loce, on the Flanders front. The British rushed German posts in the Meteren sector and took prisoners.

British Headquarters in France, April 30.—(via Reuters' Ottawa Agency)—Prisoners showed considerable dejection at the failure of Von Arnim's heavy thrust and admit that the task ahead of the German army threatens to bleed the fatherland of its manhood.

British Official.
London, May 1.—The French official statement reads: "A local attack made by the enemy yesterday upon one of our posts in the neighborhood of St. Julien, was repulsed by machine gun fire. Posts held by the enemy in the Meteren sector were retaken by our troops during the night and a few prisoners were secured by us. By a successful minor enterprise carried out last night French troops improved the position held by them in the neighborhood of Loce."

French Statement.
Paris, May 1.—The text of the French statement reads: "Artillery actions of some violence took place in the region of Villers-Bretonneux and on both banks of the Aves. In Lorraine, French patrols brought in prisoners. The night was quiet on the remainder of the front."

Venna, April 30.—(via London)—Increased fighting activity on the Italian front is reported in the official statement from Austro-Hungarian headquarters today.

MONTHS OF HARD FIGHTING BEFORE
GERMANS DEPRESSED.
Apparently the chancellor feared grave disorders if the reform bill, which he submitted, was hedged around with safeguards, was not passed. A motion to postpone action was defeated by five to three.

Herr von Heydebrand, Conservative, declared that if equal suffrage, as the character of the lower house would be changed and it would not be possible longer to maintain the Prussian state as it is.

The unrest among the people ought not to last much longer, and an agreement was quite possible, said Herr Frickeberg, vice-president of the Prussian ministry.

Herr Porsche, a Centrist, said that a small section of the population would support it, but the majority would support it.

ALLIED SUCCEEDS MAKES MARKET TONE STRONG

New York, May 1.—Further successes of the Allied forces and the favorable quarterly statement of the United States Steel Corporation imparted a strong tone to stocks at the opening of today's market. Steel's initial offering consisted of 6,000 shares at $5 1/2 to $6, an extreme gain of 1-3/8.

Bethlehem Steel, Superior Steel, Republic Iron, American and Baldwin Locomotive, American Car, American Can, Central Leather, Distillers and Atlantic Gulf enhanced the other strong industrial and specialties, but rails made only slight response. Liberty bonds were steady.

Non Report.
The usual realizing for profit resulting from the first advance, leaders yielded large fractions. Prices steadied again on renewed buying of U. S. Steel and other active industrials and equipments, some of which increased their first gains. Offsetting features included Utah Copper, Agricultural Alcohol, American Tobacco and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which were under pressure at quiet recessions of a point. Trading became quiet at noon when another moderate reaction occurred. Liberty 81-2's sold at 99.06 and 99.10, first 4's at 98.70 to 98.78, and second 4's at 98.76 to 98.82.

NEW WATER MAINS
BEFORE PAVEMENT Laid

It will be necessary for the water and sewerage department to lay a new water main in the lower end of Main street, before the contractors can lay the new permanent pavement. The main now in use is not of sufficient capacity, according to the standards of the department, and it will be replaced before the pavement is laid. Meanwhile, the work of re-laying the curbing is going on steadily.

Somewhat the same condition exists in Union street, which is to be paved from Charlotte to Dock streets. An old main which serves part of the street is to be abandoned and employees of the department are to be put at work on the job of transferring all the service pipes it feeds to the newer main which runs through the street.

Commissioner Fisher this morning expressed disappointment that the citizens had not joined more readily in the movement to clean the sidewalks by sweeping off the sand, etc., from in front of their properties.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE OF ALLIES AT VERSAILLES

Versailles, May 1.—An important conference of the allied nations will open here today and will be carried over to tomorrow. The participants comprise Premier Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Orlando of Great Britain, France and Italy, respectively, and the representatives of France, Great Britain, Italy and the United States in the supreme war council.

LONDON MORE
CHEERFUL OVER
BATTLE NEWS

Marked Improvement in Tone of the Expert Writers
IT IS VERDUN OVER AGAIN

London, May 1.—The failure of the German attacks southwest of Ypres on Monday with the immense losses to the enemy is commented on here in a hopeful and more confident tone, which is in marked contrast with some recent comments on news of the progress of the German advance toward the channel ports. The consensus of opinion is that the enemy on Monday suffered the most severe and costly repulse since he began his offensive on March 21, and it is contended that if the terms of victory and defeat are applicable to single phases in such a prolonged battle then the Allies on Monday won a very substantial victory.

Comparison is made between the present operations and the French defeat at Verdun, and the opinion is expressed that the German experience on the Verdun front is being repeated in their effort to capture the group of hills southwest of Ypres. The enemy's failure up to this time to achieve his object and especially his bloody repulse on Monday are regarded as ominous signs of a hopeful augury for the future of the Allied cause.

Nevertheless, the commentators warn against optimism. They remark that, although the enemy has been foiled, it does not mean necessarily that the Allies' plan has been abandoned, but rather that it has been suspended in favor of an attack at some point where a successful defence seems less assured.

CAUTIOUS OVER REPORT OF NEW RUSSIAN MONARCHY

Another Rumor That Germans Have Captured Entire Black Sea Russian Fleet

Washington, May 1.—Recent reports from Finland through Copenhagen that a revolt in Petrograd had resulted in the restoration of the monarchy emanated from Berlin, in the opinion of a French newspaper as given in an official despatch today from France.

The French paper is advised to accept the news with great caution since it has not been substantiated by late reports either from Finland or Moscow or by the Allied ministers in Sweden.

Moscow, April 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik minister of war and marine, last night urged the issuance of a decree for compulsory military service.

"Fearing destruction, Russia must have an army," he said. "We do not know the hour when we will be openly challenged by the imperialist enemy threatening us in the east." The central executive adopted a resolution to this effect.

There has been a report here that the entire Black Sea fleet has been captured by the Germans.

FEWER IMMIGRANTS
BY A FULL MILLION

Washington, May 1.—Immigration from Europe fell one million during the United States' first year of the war, according to statistics made public today by the bureau of immigration.

PEACE TALK AND
THE CORN MARKET

Chicago, May 1.—Fresh intimations of a peace offering have given new impetus to the downward tendency of the corn market. Favorable weather for planting counted also as a bullish influence. Trade, though lacked volume. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/4 cent up with May 12 1/2 and July 8 1/4 to 8 1/8, were followed by a material setback, but then something of a rally.

Oats, like corn, responded to peace talk, and to excellent field conditions. After opening 1/4 off to 1/2 cent up, with July 7 1/4 to 7 1/8, prices fell sharply and later recovered.

TAXES ON TEA AND
COFFEE LEAST DEFENSIBLE

Toronto, May 1.—The Globe, on the budget announcements, says the government has wisely decided that the bulk of the increase must come from direct taxation. The duties on tea and coffee are the least defensible of the new taxes. They will take toll of nearly every household and fall more heavily upon the poor than the rich, as do all food taxes.

The Mail and Empire says: The government needs the money and there is no more equitable or less burdensome way of raising revenue in these times of war and commercial prosperity than by taxing business profits.

TEA GOES UP IN SOME OF MONTREAL STORES

Montreal, May 1.—The effect of the new tax on tea here was seen today when this commodity was advanced ten cents a pound for all grades in most stores.

A meeting of tobacco merchants was held this morning to discuss the new taxation. While no statement was handed out it was understood that there will be increases in the price of tobacco cigars and cigarettes to the effect of 50 per cent.

Conscription In Ireland Postponed

Act May Not be in Operation for Some Weeks and Home Rule Bill in Meantime Likely

London, May 1.—An order-in-council has been issued further postponing the operation of the national service act, or conscription, as respects Ireland beyond May 1, to which it had been postponed previously.

Some of the morning newspapers say the postponement is due to the government's wish to introduce a home rule bill and to see what measure of success it gets before proceeding to enforce conscription in Ireland, which, it is said in some quarters, is not likely to be attempted in the next few weeks.

Opinion in the public mind is that a home rule bill will be presented in the House of Commons this week, but the difficulties of drafting it have not been overcome yet.

LLOYD GEORGE'S
LABOR DEPUTATION

London, May 1.—Members of a labor deputation who waited on Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons on Monday in regard to the Irish conscription, admit, says the Daily Telegraph, that Lloyd George spoke frankly and firmly and listened patiently to a statement prepared by Arthur Henderson upon representations made by a deputation of Irish trade unionists and a lengthy explanation by J. H. Thomas, M. P. for Derby, who had been in Ireland on business of the employers' association.

Premier Lloyd George promised that the cabinet would consider fully the Irish conscription, but he held out no hope, so far as he was concerned personally, for any change in the policy of the government. In a speech the premier insisted that equal rights of citizenship involved equality of duty and responsibility, and that Ireland cannot take all the advantages accruing to its association with Great Britain while refusing to bear a share in the burdens and sacrifices of the United Kingdom of which it is a part.

The Daily Telegraph reveals that Ireland did not refuse the gift of old age pensions from an English parliament, nor the advance of money for the purchase of land and the building of factories and other public works.

Many laborites who oppose conscription in Ireland do so, not from principle, because they believe it is not wise in existing circumstances.

Catholic Union of Great Britain.
London, May 1.—The Catholic Union of Great Britain, an industrial organization which includes many titled persons and other prominent Catholics, has sent to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state for submission to Pope Benedict, a series of resolutions passed by it regarding the conscription of the Irish people.

The resolutions express the opinion that the Irish ought to share in the defence of the empire and to keep the soldiers who are exposed through a conscription forced on the world "by a cruel and unchristian policy."

There are serious misgivings, it is added, on the interference of ecclesiastical authority in purely temporal and political questions.

THE LIBERTY BOND

OPPOSITION WINS IN
DANISH ELECTIONS

Copenhagen, May 1.—Final returns on the voting for members of the Landsting, the upper house of the Danish parliament, show a victory for the opposition parties led by former Premier Christensen. They elected forty-five members, as against twenty-seven by the Socialist and Radical parties, which have been in control for the last four years.

STATEMENT BY O'CONNOR

Former Cost of Living Commissioner
Makes Declaration Before
Toronto Press Club—Said Stage
Had Come Where Control Of His Utterances Was Attempted

Toronto, May 1.—"On several occasions the minister of labor did directly require of me that I should not publish this thing or that thing, and the answer I made to him was that I proposed to go right on publishing things that I should discover. Indeed, I gave him my answer in terms less formal than that."

In these words did W. F. O'Connor, late cost of living commissioner for the dominion, indicate hitherto unrevealed differences between him and Hon. T. W. Crothers. The time, place and circumstances of such revelations were last night at the Carlton Hotel, when Mr. O'Connor addressed the Toronto Press Club.

"But, I said, I'll tell you what I'll do," proceeded Mr. O'Connor, unfolding further hidden causes of his resignation.

"A stage had come where my utterances were attempted to be controlled," declared Mr. O'Connor, unfolding further hidden causes of his resignation.

"A stage had come where I was expected to anticipate what other departments of the government might think of my reports. A stage had come where I was supposed to anticipate what other people might think or say of my reports. So I said to myself: This is no place for a minister's son."

WHOLESALE FLOUR AND FEED MEN TO BE UNDER LICENSE

Ottawa, May 1.—Wholesale dealers in flour and feed will be brought under the license system of the Canada Food Board by June 1. An order today provides that on and after that date no person shall deal wholesale in flour, bran, shorts or other feeds made from seeds or grains, or products of seeds or grains, hay or straw, without having obtained from the food board either a flour and feed wholesaler's license, or a flour and feed broker's license.

Certain regulations designed to prevent profiteering and to keep the selling prices of these products at a reasonable amount are included in the order.

Destruction of any food or feed products which are fit for human, animal or poultry consumption is made an offence and licenses are prohibited from knowingly permitting waste, or willfully preventing preventable deterioration.

Dealings with persons who have not complied with the license regulations of the Canada Food Board are made illegal.

CRUDE RUBBER PUT ON RESTRICTED IMPORT
LIST BY WASHINGTON

Washington, May 1.—Crude rubber has been placed on the restricted import list by the war trade board, effective today, and rules and regulations will soon be promulgated so as to govern the industry that the limitation of imports will not result in hoarding, speculative dealing and profiteering.

Some were fortunate enough to have the majority of their furniture moved yesterday and last night and thus escaped the rain this morning, while others made arrangements to hold back until weather conditions were more favorable.

Telemeters, it was said, were charging from $4 to $10 a load.

The N. B. Telephone Company is having a busy time of it for some time owing to so many of their patrons changing their places of residence. They have orders to move upwards of 400 telephones.

Stove merchants, plumbers and tinners are busily engaged assisting in moving. A prominent stove merchant speaking to a Times representative said that he was selling more new stoves this year than for some time. Last season, he said, the demand was for second-hand stoves.

The school children and all students of natural history will find much of interest in "Bob," the trained kangaroo, watching his funny movements, how strong he is in the hind legs and how easily he balances his grotesque body on the points of his long tail, leaving all four legs free for defence.

Lovers of manly strength and physical culture will find the feature presented by Vim, Beauty and Health to be about the best set of its kind they ever saw. Amusing stunts are performed on the flying rings in such a graceful and easy way that they do not seem difficult at all.

"HER UNBORN CHILD" PLEASING BIG CROWDS AT THE LYRIC

Interest in the play "Her Unborn Child" which is being performed by a splendid company at the Lyric Theatre this week seems to grow with each performance. These players of St. John who have already seen the play have pronounced it to be one of the best dramatic productions ever seen in this city and the cast, especially Miss Ophelia Alba in the role of the kindly Irish mother, Mrs. Kennedy, have been warmly praised.

Theatrical "Her Unborn Child" has caused considerable discussion. While the play is undoubtedly corking good entertainment, the theme with which the story deals is the most talked of among those who witness the sterling drama.

At the matinee this afternoon Miss Ophelia Alba delivered an essay on "Motherhood" to the large audience consisting of ladies entirely. Miss Alba, her talk created a very favorable impression, adding much to the lasting sense of the play.

"Her Unborn Child" is presented here under the direction of George F. Driscoll and Paul Casanova, two well known Montreal theatrical men. Mr. Casanova is personally directing the tour of the company and is here with the play.

Two performances are given daily of "Her Unborn Child." The matinee takes place at 2.30 and the evening performance starts at 8.30. The prices are 25 and 50 cents at the afternoon sessions and 75 and 50 cents evenings.

NEW PICTURE AND GOOD ACTS

"The Guardian" is the new five-reel picture at the Gem—a rich offering, featuring June Elvidge, Montagu Love and Arthur Ashley. This with the four big vaudeville acts makes a really good show which patrons are enjoying greatly. Only tonight and tomorrow see it. Two double comedy acts, a delightful musical number and a trio of musical dancing girls make up the remainder. Come tonight at 7.15 or 9 o'clock.

RED TRIANGLE LEARNED LESSON ON FIERY FIELD

Army Chiefs Appreciate To Full, Says Ozenham, What Y. M. C. A. Has Done To Win The War

John Ozenham, the English author, writing in the Philadelphia Inquirer, says: "That little Red Triangle on the black ground has done more to win the war, and still much more to save men's bodies and souls, than we at home as yet fully recognize. But the army chiefs know there it to the full and their appreciation is large and warm. To hundreds of thousands of our men it represents a new evangel—the gospel of practical and most genial Christianity. It has come to a new birth, and has opened its lusty new-born arms wide enough to take in the whole world."

"The Red Triangle asks no questions, requires no creeds, when it offers its help. Like the Samaritan it sees simply the need and to the utmost of its power, supplies it. Wherever it is a mighty lesson for the church and for all of us. If we have the wisdom to learn it—well! The Red Triangle has learned on fiery fields the way to win men."

NEW ATTACK BY GERMANS SOON

British Army in Flanders, May 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Gen. Von Arnim made no further move along the Flanders front since the night of April 22, when an attack had been expected. The heavy defeat which the Germans suffered on Monday forced them to abandon and bring up fresh troops before continuing their drive for the hill positions in the Kemmel region.

A few more hours, however, will suffice for their re-organization, and another assault may be expected immediately.

The seriousness of the German intentions here has been evinced in numerous ways. On Monday, for example, they pushed at least one field gun forward to within 700 yards of the battle line and other guns were being brought close up. Heavy artillery firing continued at various parts of the battle line during the night and there were the usual outpost actions.

Tchitcherine, Russian foreign minister, to the Roumanian press concerning the announcement that representatives of Bessarabia had proclaimed the union of their country with the republic, but in a flagrant violation of an agreement previously concluded with Russia for the evacuation of Bessarabia.

FURTHER BLOWS AT JOHN BARLEYCORN

Ottawa, May 1.—John Barleycorn was given his knicker in Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from Ottawa, last night, and thus the third largest city in the province of Quebec is "dry." By an overwhelming majority a year ago the residents of the city voted to eliminate intoxicating liquors after April 30, 1918.

Concord, N. H., May 1.—More than 500 bars went out of business last night and the state became dry for the first time in fifteen years. Close 3,000 Saloons.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Michigan joined the ranks of the dry states at midnight, when the constitutional amendment adopted eighteen months ago became operative. It affected 3,295 saloons.

Quebec, May 1.—Quebec woke up today to the spectacle of closed bars and empty shelves in heretofore licensed groceries. This is brought about by the referendum held here in last October on the prohibitory question when the large majority of voters decided to close down the bar under the Scott Act.

According to the Scott Act, twenty licenses have been granted, thirteen for the retail sale in small doses, under a prescription, and the balance for wholesale.

An extraordinary sale of liquor was noticeable yesterday, although a certain number of men took an over dose that brought them before the police sergeant's desk today.

One Hundred Point Efficiency

No man, whether in business, in professional life, or in any other line, can be one hundred percent efficient with only fifty per cent of his eyesight.

If your vision is impaired, or if you see well enough, but your eyes won't stand the strain of hard, constant work, you owe it to yourself and to your employer to make up the deficiency by wearing glasses.

We can restore your seeing power to the normal state by fitting you correctly with glasses if you will give us the opportunity.

THE BEST QUALITY AT A REASONABLE PRICE

Near Sight This is caused by the eye being too long. The nearer the object is to the eye, the better it is seen. Some near-sighted folk can see near objects more sharply than people with normal eyes. But this does not make up for lack of good distance vision.

Sharp's optometrist measures accurately the degree of near-sightedness, and prescribes glasses which will correct the defect. Unless this is done, near-sighted vision is apt to result in serious trouble.

GEM'S GOOD SHOW IS PLEASING PATRONS

New Picture a String One and Four Vaudeville Acts Excellent

With a new five reel picture, "The Guardian," the Gem has entered upon the last half of its week with an even stronger bill than at the opening. In the picture June Elvidge, Montagu Love and Arthur Ashley are starred. The story deals with the love of James Rokeby, president of the Brewster National Bank, for his ward, Marie Deere, and of her infatuation for a worthless young scoundrel named Fenwick Harvey. For a time it looks as though the impetuous and high-spirited young girl is going to ruin her life through a matrimonial mistake, but finally everything comes out happily through the efforts of Rokeby and the good sense of the girl. Montagu Love is seen in the role of Rokeby, June Elvidge appears as Marie Deere, while Arthur Ashley is handsomely villainous in the role of Fenwick Harvey. "The Guardian" is splendid entertainment, fast moving and thoroughly interesting.

In the vaudeville Art and Mignon Gardner, man and woman, continue to please all by their catchy dialogue, good songs and general jollity. The act is really set in the lobby of a "movie" theatre.

Sylvia, "the musical maid," gives a revelation of the possibilities of the musical glasses under skilled hands. She also plays the coortina well and sings to her own accompaniment. Her performance on the glasses is the feature. As one number she plays the piano with one hand, the glasses with the other and makes a decided hit.

Murphy and Morley, man and woman, are very good entertainers in conversational comedy, with songs. The man's chatter in a long succession of good sprightly bits.

The Three Melody Girls close the performance with an unique offering in songs and dancing. There are solos and good concerted numbers, with a bit of comedy and an inspiring dance ends the act amid applause.

The Gem will repeat this performance until and including Thursday night, with all changed on Friday afternoon.

HOLD LASH OVER BELGIAN MEN AND BOYS; MAKE THEM WORK

London, May 1.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Reuters learns that 25,000 Belgian men and boys have been compelled to work on military operations behind the German lines in the region of Valenciennes and Maubeuge along under the whip of German sentries. The captivity in the deportee camps is terrible. The numbers sent back as unfit are replaced by fresh recruits.

But One Toll Gate Left

Quebec, May 1.—Toll gates were removed from Lewis county at midnight, following an order-in-council passed some time ago by the Quebec provincial cabinet. Now there is not one toll gate left in the entire Quebec district.

WHO IS THIS GOOD MAN? Fredericton Mail—Opposition Leader Murray having fallen through on the matter, it might be necessary for the provincial government to take some action with a view of disclosing the identity of the Moncton philanthropist who put up his check for $82,000 in connection with the now famous patriotic potato transaction.

WILL SING IN MONCTON The choir of St. David's church, St. John, under the leadership of Miss Bleda Thompson, will in the near future give a grand concert in Moncton.

DEATH OF MAN WHO SHOT ARCHDUKE AND HELPED START WAR

London, May 1.—Gavrilo Princip, the assassin of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, died yesterday in a fortress near Prague, of tuberculosis.

Princip shot to death the Austrian archduke and his wife while they were on a visit to the Bosnian capital on June 28, 1914, and out of this double murder the European war developed. Princip, who was a student, was found guilty and sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

As the details of Monday's fighting are received, confirming the fact that it was the worst day the enemy has experienced since the opening of the great offensive, the newspapers, hitherto reticent in view of the fluctuations of the battle, now commence on the operations in a tone of confidence they have not hitherto displayed.

As the Times says: "Of all the violent combats witnessed in the last few weeks, we know of none which is a more hopeful augury for the Allies than this ten mile German failure."

Clemenceau Well Satisfied

Paris, May 1.—Premier Clemenceau, just returned from the front, was in the lobby of the chamber of deputies for a few minutes yesterday, and to a crowd of deputies explained the situation. It is understood that he declared that he was fully satisfied with the trend of events. What the premier told the deputies was confidential, but it may be said he declared that the froth as a whole has now become stable and that steps taken by the high command justify the opinion that points against which the enemy has directed his attacks are out of immediate danger.

With the Americans

"With the American Army on a French battlefield, April 30—(By the Associated Press)—The situation along the American sector is gradually becoming stabilized. There have been no infantry encounters in the last forty-eight hours, although small patrol parties on outposts have met in the darkness and mist. Despite rain and poor visibility, the American and French artillery have been most active in shelling enemy back areas. The German artillery is less active. The Germans are throwing some gas shells.

The Airmen

London, May 1.—East of Loere the enemy's troops on Monday offered good targets to British airmen, who dropped 275 bombs on them and engaged them with machine gun fire. Eighty-nine machines were brought down. Two British machines are missing.

SOLDIER MISSING

One of the guards at West St. John, who was on duty at No. 7 pier last evening, was missing this morning when the guard was taken over. HIS LIFE TO GUARD
NEW AIRPLANE TYPE

Story of Brave Pilot's Act When German Fleets Attacked—Destroyed Machine and Ended His Own Life

London, April 2.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—British aviators and mechanics sometimes are compelled to destroy their own machines to prevent the Germans from obtaining a jealousy guarded secret about the new type of airplane. Occasionally it is necessary for the aviator to sacrifice his own life together with his airplane. Such an instance is described in an official report of a brave aviator who deliberately blew himself and the airplane to pieces with a bomb to evade capture by a German fleet of destroyers.

observer in the latest flying-boat which British makers had turned out. They had been well out to sea when a fog had suddenly cut them off from the rest of their companions. The pilot headed for home, but a few minutes later the engine "died" and the pilot brought the boat to rest on the waters. He climbed up to the engine to see if it was in his power to make good the defect. A glance showed him that only a repair shop and a squad of expert mechanics could hope to make the engine run. His face was slightly more grave when he climbed down to the hull again. "Are you going to make the works go round again, Daddy?" asked the observer. "Can't be done, my son," said the pilot. "We shall have to wait on someone coming along to pick us up."

ly over the shadowy waters. For on the horizon was a little black smudge growing steadily in size, and behind it another smudge, and another. It was a patrol flotilla fast approaching them. "It is German, my son," said the pilot. "Is your lifebelt on securely?" "Yes!" "Well, get over the side and swim as hard as you can."

"But don't you want me to help—get over the side," said the pilot curtly, and there was that in his voice which made the junior man instantly obey. "Good-bye, sonny," he added as the observer slipped into the water. "It is my privilege, you know."

About 200 yards away the observer paused and looked back at the disabled plane. The pilot was crouched on the top of the wing under-plane just over the bomb rack, with a heavy spanner in his upraised hand ready to strike a blow. A mile away the first German destroyer was tearing the sea in twain in nervous haste to save the coveted trophy and get away before the appearance of the dreaded British patrols. The observer turned and swam away from the frag-ment which he knew was about to happen.

There came the roar of a mighty explosion. He heard the splash of the air-ship as it fell along the surface waters, and the rush of the approaching wave from the sea disturbances. The wave engulfed him just as he began to hear the splash and patter of the falling debris, and in the blackness of its heart his senses swam into unconsciousness. He was still sobbing deliriously when the British patrol boat picked him up an hour later.

COMB SAGE TEA
INTO GRAY HAIR

Ladies! Try this! Darkens beautifully and nobody can tell—Brings back its gloss and youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients in a large bottle, at little cost. At drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 1, 1918.

THE WAR BUDGET.

Canada's budget, including war expenditure, approaches a billion dollars. Hon. A. K. MacLean, acting minister of finance, says that for the current year $380,000,000 will be required for the civil budget, $428,000,000 for war purposes, and $325,000,000 for advances to the Imperial government to finance our export trade, for $800,000,000 in all.

WRONG BUT RIGHT.

It becomes the painful duty of certain St. John newspapers, the Times-Star included, to take their diminishing heads. After weeks of effort they have failed to make the Chatham World see that there was anything wrong with the demand of the New Brunswick Power Company for higher rates.

Mr. MacLean informed parliament that Canada's war expenditure last year was $846,000,000, and the total since the war began has been $978,000,000. The net debt of the country, which before the war was $836,000,000, is now about $1,200,000,000.

Having read thus far, one naturally expects the World to go on and denounce the legislature for its failure to do justice to the company by authorizing an increase in rates, and throwing in something for good measure. In reality, however, this is what we read.

It is desirable that the country should pay as much of its war expenditure as possible as it goes along, and the country generally is prepared to submit cheerfully to burdens imposed, so long as the war lasts.

Inasmuch as the legislature did what the editors asked, by throwing out the company's bill and passing the city's bill, with a few slight amendments which are not material, the editors' aforesaid will perhaps survive the World's attack.

An Open Letter To Our Customers

We regret that the war has depleted our staff of young men, which has been very much felt in our King street store. This has necessitated our engaging quite a number of young ladies. We, however, were fortunate in securing young ladies who are very anxious to please, therefore, we think you will be perfectly satisfied with our service, which will improve as our sales ladies become acquainted with both our customers and our stock. We bespeak for them your kind consideration during this unavoidable situation. We can assure you we are doing our very best to secure for you the best attention possible, and hope you will appreciate it, our slogan being, as you know, "Service and Quality."

Thanking you in advance for your assistance at this time, we are,

Sincerely yours,

Mercury Hosiery
for ladies and men

Narrow Ankle—No Wrinkles

On account of the war, very few of the fine imported lines of hosiery are at present obtainable in Canada. But women can now obtain Canadian hosiery that is superior in finish and fit to the most luxurious pure silk, mercerized lisle, cotton and cashmere lines produced abroad.

We took advantage of the situation created by the war and installed wonderful new machines. They knit Mercury Hosiery with a narrow ankle that fits without a wrinkle, a full-fashioned shapely calf, a widened top that gives utmost freedom and comfort—and seamless from toe to top.

The more fastidious you are the more you'll revel in this elegant Mercury Hosiery. Black, white, brown, grays and the other fashionable shades.

COSTLY NEGLIGENCE BY FRENCH ENVOYS

Paris, May 1.—The accidental loss, on Feb. 14 last, of a large bundle of highly confidential documents by two French officers, who were entrusted to bring them to the war office in Paris from Madrid, has led to the appearance of the two officers before a Paris court martial. They are Brig-General Danvignes, formerly French military attaché at Madrid, and his associate there, Lieut. de Levis Mirepoix.

The facts are very simple. The two officers during the course of the evening of their arrival in Paris took a cab and left the precious documents behind them when they got out. About midnight the same evening a young actress named Odette Florelle, who was playing at the Little Theatre des Capucines, on the Grand Boulevard, halted the same cab as she took her home and found a large roll of papers lying on the seat. She took them to the lost property office, whence they were recovered by the authorities. The general was removed from his post in the Madrid embassy and the lieutenant sent back to the army. In view of the high rank of one of the accused, the court was composed entirely of generals. Both officers, who were accused of communicating confidential documents to a third party by negligence, were acquitted. It is significant, however, that the general escaped conviction only by a majority of votes.

THE POSTAL CLERKS AND COLLECTION OF MUMMIES.

London, Mar. 30.—(Associated Press Correspondence)—The treasures of the British Museum, including its priceless collection of mummies, have been stored for the period of the war in a deep uncompleted subway which was being constructed for the use of the post office authorities when the war began. The employees of the post offices along the line of the subway have just raised a protest against the use of the boring for this purpose, asserting that it should be reserved for use as an air-raid shelter for postal employees.

"Should postal workers or mummies use the subway air-raid shelter?" asks the Postman's Gazette in its latest issue. "It is nothing short of a scandal that relics of doubtful value should get choice positions in this subway while access is denied to members of the post office staff in time of emergency."

"We find a government department doing all in its power to provide for the safety of the shriveled remains of the ancients at the risk of human lives. We have no concern for all that is left of the Pharaohs and Cleopatras. They had their time on earth many centuries ago."

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK-YARD GARDENERS EN-LISTED IN GREAT-BRITAIN PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN

Issued by the Canada Food Board in Collaboration With Experts on the Staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm

TOOLS.

The spade, hoe, garden rake, trowel and digging fork are the chief tools needed in gardening. The Dutch hoe, or what is called in the United States, the scuffler hoe, is also used but is not absolutely necessary. Narrow hoes and rakes are best for small gardens. In hot days use the hoe after the soil has been dug in order to break the lumps. Then the rake can be used advantageously. Every tool should be ready to use at a moment's notice. Have a place to keep them and when you are through with them that you put them away in the proper place. Provide a box of soft grease like axle grease for rolling over the blades of the spade and the hoe and the working parts of the tools most frequently used. Rust wears out more tools than use and makes work more laborious. Either a hose or watering can is an essential part of the gardening equipment.

The Food Board, in conjunction with officials of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, proposes to give the amateur gardeners of Canada a daily garden bulletin which will contain some useful hints for them to follow. It must be remembered that in some districts the season is ahead of others and this must be taken into account in following the daily bulletins.

THEY ARE DYING FOR ENGLAND

(London Daily Chronicle.) The nation's heart goes out to the men facing, with wondrous courage, the enemy's crashing, scorching shells, the insidious gas, and the waves of attacking infantry. To think of these sons and brothers of ours, standing indomitable in the very gates of hell, barring the road to England with a rampart of English dead, makes our shivered lives seem pitifully mean. Their deeds will never be forgotten. Their story will "the good man teach his son" until the end of time. The nation remembers, too, the mothers and wives and fathers waiting for news in cities and villages, in mansions and peasants' cottages. They are paying the bitterest part of the price of freedom. Yet their hearts, with all the apprehension, must be comforted by a deep tearful pride. It is good to know that our men are such splendid men. If death comes to them, it is no mean death, but death for a great purpose—"No Song on your bugles blown, England."

WHY NOT WRITE TODAY?

(Chicago Tribune.) "The man who gets a letter from home is a 50 per cent better fighter than the man who does not. The great thing is to write—write—write. Always write cheerfully, even if you do not feel cheerful."

This is the testimony and admonition of Sir Walter Lawrence, an embassy of the British army, who is now in the United States. His words are recorded here to remind the reader to write to his relatives, friends, and acquaintances in the service.

By the time the letters arrive in France our first hundred thousand will be in the thick of the fighting.

Our New Suits

Are Notably Stylish

WOMEN are going to spend much of their time this season in suits, for they are so attractive and always so serviceable.

The woman who is economizing will find these suits "ready" for every occasion at all times. There is a delightful trimness to the new Eton jacket effects that is remarkably pleasing. The strictly tailored effects and the modified waist coats help to give that military note now so popular. The fabrics used are of unusual quality and are so adaptable to the new suit styles. The colors favored are rook, sand, beige, tan, etc., and our prices for this time of the season are surprisingly low. Note especially these offerings:

Very stylish suits in light colors for summer wear. Material: Soft Tinted, Serge, Charmeuse Satin, etc.; an especially attractive display for summer wear. Some are trimmed with touches of embroidery, some new vest effects, others are smart yet simple tailored lines. $22.00 to $60.00. Smart Silk Suits of Taffeta, navy, Copen, black or taupe; also light-class model garments in various designs or with touches of gold colored embroidery on dark shades; simple styles with all-round belt, finished large buckles, etc. $32.50 to $50.00.

FINANCIAL HAS MOVE FOR PEACE STARTED?

German Renew Announcement of Intention of Pope to Issue New Document

The Hague, May 1—(British Advertiser)—The Emperor Charles has announced that Pope Benedict intends to issue a new peace offer on Whit Sunday (May 15). The document, it is said, will be of more pressing nature than formerly, and will contain concrete offers of mediation and of the possible co-operation of neutral sovereigns. Similar information of the Pope's intention, it is said, has reached Berlin, where it has been received sympathetically.

This is not the first report emanating from Germany recently that the Pope is about to make another peace move. The Neueste Nachrichten of Munich, Bavaria, according to a London despatch of April 28, said that the Pope would make a peace offer as soon as the western offensive had assumed a new phase. The Bavarian newspaper declared the move would take the form of a "universal warning addressed to the world community."

A despatch from Stockholm on Tuesday reported that a message announced that Emperor Charles of Austria was making a new peace offer, appealing to Italy to consider it in her own interests. That a "peace offensive" would be made by the Central Powers in the event that the German offensive on the west appeared to be successful, was predicted frequently in Allied cables. This may be the beginning.

Washington, May 1—Domination of the coast of Flanders, colonization of Courland, Lithuania and a large part of Poland and possession of the coal and iron mines in France and Russia would be the fruits of "the true German peace," outlined in a political calculation which has been delivered to the German soldiers on the western front, according to an official despatch received here today from France.

London, May 1—Prince Sixtus of Bourbon-Parma, to whom the famous letter written by Emperor Charles offering peace to France was addressed, the Times says, visited King Alfonso of Spain on Monday, according to the Madrid Sol. He was accompanied by his brother, Prince Xavier, and the Spanish newspaper understands that he gave to King Alfonso explanation on the subject of his correspondence with his Hapsburg relatives. (His sister Zita is Empress of Austria-Hungary.)

"Taking wool is added—and the fact may be of significance, declares the Times—paid for the Spanish sheep by the Belgian suit retailing at from 80 to 85, and if it is made of all new wool, the wool it would only cost from 85 to 88. Advances in the price of wool affect the consumer in but a small degree. But the important fact is that we have an adequate wool supply and no famine in sight, and an increased use of shoddy is unnecessary."

THE FRONT AND THE FARM

(Toronto Globe.)

The problem of trying to reconcile the interests of agriculture with urgent military needs is a difficult one for the Dominion government. When the Military Service Bill was introduced it was generally believed that 100,000 men could readily be selected for the army from the 600,000 in class one estimated still to be in the country, without curtailing food production. It was not foreseen that virtually every man called out would apply for exemption, and that the machinery of the act could not meet the demands on it. It is probable, too, that if the act had been framed in the light of such a crisis as now exists in the theatre of war the exemption clauses would have been drafted with a less liberal hand.

After four months of operation the act has yielded less than 14,000 men physically fit for the front, and its breakdown coincides with the most desperate phase of the war. Canada must reinforce her fighting men unless she is content to do less than her duty. The application of conscription is mild indeed compared with the burden laid upon the mother country. More men are needed to save the world from the Hun, and greater crops are needed to save the Allied countries of Europe from actual hunger. The German hordes must be stayed, whatever else happens, if the world is to be saved. The act is not intended to exempt every man at present working on the land without falling the Canadian forces in a dire emergency. But as far as possible the place of every man taken from the soil must be supplied by labor from other cities and towns. The appeals for this purpose which are being made must be continued with tenfold emphasis. Every able-bodied Canadian must be made to feel his personal responsibility. In many cases it will mean the substitution of untrained for trained labor, but this is one of the misfortunes of war. Industrial conscription has been resorted to, and the government is compelled to put restrictions on non-essential industries as a means of diverting labor to the land during the harvest period. In the west an army of helpers will come from the United States by arrangement with that country. In the east the centres of population must be the sources of labor supply.

MUST BE DEPOT TO PICKERS PAY NEW DOOR TAXES

Unmarried Men to Contribute on Incomes of More Than $1,000 and Married Men on $2,000 or More; Special Duties on Tea, Coffee, Tobacco, Matches, Malt Beverages, Picture Films, Motor Cars and Luxuries

Ottawa, April 30.—Substantial new taxation was announced in the budget speech delivered by Hon. A. C. McLean, acting minister of finance, in the house this afternoon. Business taxes will be broadened out, while important amendments are to be made to the income tax, both of individuals and corporations.

Among new excise taxes will be heavier duties on tobacco and coffee and a duty on tea. A change will be made in the system of assessing sleeping car berths and parlor car taxes, while a special excise tax of ten per cent will be imposed on the selling value of certain luxuries.

After regretting the absence through ill health of the finance minister, Sir Thomas White, and announcing his early return to Canada, Hon. A. C. McLean dealt with the financial situation. He said for the fiscal year ending March 31 the revenue will reach when all accounts are closed, $288,000,000, exceeding the revenue of the preceding year by $26,000,000, and that of the first year of the war by $125,000,000. Customs will yield $146,000,000 and excise $77,000,000, while other taxations will bring in $205,000,000. Of this latter amount the business profits war tax yields $21,271,289; banks, $68,784; insurance companies, $28,121; trust companies, $287,617; inland revenue from railways, steamships, telegraph and cable companies, stamps, etc., $2,229,227; $55,000,000 for War Account.

Imported into or manufactured in Canada and used this day. Such are the taxation proposals and other provisions of the bill. They are not, however, to be made a part of the law until the bill is passed by the House of Commons. The bill is now in the hands of the Finance Committee of the House of Commons.

Arrangements were therefore consummated whereby the government of Canada agreed to make advances to Great Britain at the rate of $20,000,000 per month, in order that it might purchase, in Canada, such of our products as she needed, and which we had to sell.

Government Expenditure. After dealing at length with the victory loan and the war expenditures, the minister referred to the commitments of the government for the present year. There would be required, he said, for the civil budget $280,000,000; for war expenditure $420,000,000; for advances to the United States $100,000,000; for our export trade with Great Britain $225,000,000.

Dangerous Antiseptics And Germicides Are Unnecessary

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially is this true since the outbreak of the influenza epidemic, the interest in antiseptics has been repeatedly renewed. It is not necessary, however, to use such a powerful antiseptic and germicide as it is absolutely safe to use and to have around the house. It is not poisonous and it does not harm even if the children do get hold of it.

CANADIAN STAFF JOBS IN ENGLAND TOO NUMEROUS

Administration Not Popular With Men in France

System Was Inherited — Staffs Out of Proportion to Work Required Are Now Being Reduced

London, April 10—(Montreal Gazette correspondence)—If the Canadian overseas military administration is to be judged by the army put in the field, it has been a complete success. The Canadian army in France is considered to be the best fighting machine in the Allied armies. Even the British always class them with the Guards, which is the greatest compliment a Britisher ever paid another military force. But the criticism of the Canadian administration in England is not as to results, but the cost of producing the results, and in addition the reserve army in England and the general administration has not been immune from adverse comment. To arrive at a just decision as to the merits or demerits of the administration is a difficult task; as the criticism comes in a great measure from men disappointed or disheartened, and officialdom is indifferent to the charges or incapable of refuting them. The fighting men in France are not enamored with the administration in England, and in a measure resent interference in what they justly consider themselves most capable of deciding. This is in a measure naturally intensified by the feeling that the line of defence always has for those considerably removed from the immediate conflict. If there is unnecessary expenditure in the system the blame cannot be attached to the present overseas minister, as he inherited the system. That he has done much for economy in his brief regime is conceded and that he will do much more is expected. The system in vogue with its wide ramifications is due in a measure to rapid development in our part in the war and to the recruiting policy adopted in Canada. That the system of county battalions was a wonderful stimulus to recruiting is conceded, but it flooded England with thousands of unnecessary officers, many incapable from age or health from going to the front. These officers sacrificed much to keep the Canadian army at fighting strength, and the natural tendency was to make provision for them. The growth of the administrative staffs in England was for a time out of all proportion to the work in hand any men at the front, the men being returned to Canada, felt and still feel that staff jobs in England are too numerous, and also that in many instances fortunate occupants of them have not earned them in the field.

No Criticism of Army. There is no criticism of the army in the field nor of railway construction corps. It is claimed that the administrative staffs in England are beyond all proportion to the work required, that the medical staff should be re-organized and that the cost of production in the forestry corps has been greatly increased by the overhead charges due to an administrative staff beyond requirements. Sir Edward Kemp has already made reduction in the staffs, and proposes to reduce cost and increase efficiency by consolidating in a measure Canadian training camps, by weeding out unnecessary officers and officials. The forestry corps had done a great work, and in these days of scarcity of ocean tonnage a necessary work, but at what cost? If the cost of production is moderate, then there can be nothing but praise for this corps, even if promotion is more rapid in it than in the field, and there is a ridiculous rivalry among the numerous colonels for royal recognition. A comparison of the staffs of the railway construction corps and the forestry corps would indicate that it is less difficult to build railways than to produce pit props. Return to Canada. To the criticism of the veteran officers in the field of the administration in England much more consideration must be given. They claim that promotion is more assured away from than on the firing line, but this is made with tragic humor as one of the best fighting men remarked: "This is probably as it should be, as few of us will come back to appreciate promotion, and what is the use of worrying whether we have major or general on our white crosses." Again, the army in France is opposed to the return to Canada of lieutenants and captains, claiming these should be attached as supernumeraries to the regiments in the field for special training, as all will be needed. There has also been considerable feeling caused by giving important positions in England to men who have not seen service or whose service has been of the Cook's kind variety. But all the army in France is generous in its views, and more interested in fighting Huns than in fighting the authorities in England. There is in that army the natural feeling of fighting men for non-combatants and the resentment, preference by those who "do not know the game from experience." Bestowal of titles for military service has aroused much comment owing to the unexplained reasons for the bestowal of such in many instances. It is felt that non-combatants have in many cases personally capitalized the work of the army and won in this manner unnecessary recognition. Giving titles as rewards for resignations, or as a solace for ungratified desire of promotion, has unquestionably done much to increase the popularity of such titles. Canada's High Standard. Among men of all ranks there is a disposition to give the new minister a fair chance. It is admitted he has already done much, and believed will do more. Sir Edward Kemp is making no promises, but is steadily at work, and will only act when satisfied that such action will improve conditions. Canada's army has done more to make Canada known and appreciated than the efforts of all governments since Confederation. The old day is past when Canadians posed as Americans in Europe. Now it is the proudest moment of a Canadian when he corrects such an impression, and the British and French are equally quick to appreciate the distinction. Whatever criticism may be directed against the forces in England, let there be none against our army in France, it is beyond criticism. On my recent visit to the American front in America, a West Point officer said, "Canada has set such a high standard in Europe for bravery, intelligence and sacrifice that our ideal is to try and reach that standard."

AERIAL NAVIGATION OVER GREAT LAKES

Detroit & Cleveland Co. is Investigating Types of Passenger Aircraft

Detroit, May 1—The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Co., of which A. A. Schantz, a wealthy Detroit steamboat man, is the head, is now conducting investigations of aircraft to determine what will be safe and satisfactory for carrying passengers up and down the Great Lakes. Mr. Schantz says air transportation between Detroit and Cleveland and Detroit and Buffalo will be established as soon as a satisfactory type of craft can be found. The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Company was formed more than ten years ago, when it first seemed likely that air transportation would be put on a practicable basis. The officers, stockholders, and directors of the company are the same as those of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company. The emergency service that Mr. Schantz has planned would be to carry passengers who must make unusually fast time between Detroit and Cleveland, or Detroit and Buffalo or New York. It is planned to have planes ready at a moment's notice to leave Detroit, Cleveland or Buffalo. In case the company is given a contract to handle a regularly scheduled service will be established.

How to buy Shoes and how to take care of them afterwards

MOST people could add ten per cent to the life of their shoes by buying the proper shape and the right size and then giving the shoes more care afterwards. That really means a saving of ten per cent. An ill-fitting shoe, for example, not only soon loses its shape and appearance but it does not wear well.

So, first of all, be sure to get a shoe that is the proper shape for your foot, take care that it is exactly long enough and wide enough. Take your dealer's advice about this. He sells thousands of pairs of shoes a year, and by experience can tell you the shape and the size of shoe you should have. Each time you buy a pair of shoes, let your dealer measure your feet. Sometimes the size you think you wear is not the size that will give the correct fit, because sizes are not to be relied upon absolutely. There is bound to be some variation in sizes. The workman may stretch the leather occasionally a little tighter over the last when he is making a certain shoe, thus reducing the space inside the shoe slightly below the normal standard. It is also wise when you are buying a shoe to consider the conditions under which you will wear it. If you will be tramping through the mud and slush, get a heavy shoe that we make for that kind of wear. If you want a stylish walking shoe for ordinary street or office wear, buy a lighter, more shapely A.H.M. model. If you are a farmer or an "outdoor" man, get a substantial boot made, especially for rough, hard wear. It is true economy to have two, three or even four pairs of shoes. It pays to have shoes for wet and stormy weather—shoes for fine weather—shoes for winter and summer. Shoes will wear much better and always look better if put away for a few days occasionally, preferably on a pair of shoe trees. It is also true economy to keep your shoes well polished. Frequent polishing helps to maintain their smart appearance and keeps the leather soft and in good condition, thus prolonging the life of the shoes. If your shoes get wet don't put them in a very hot place to dry, and don't at any time put them up against a hot radiator or stove. Such heat takes the life out of the leather. That is what causes shoes to crack and split. Put wet shoes on a pair of shoe trees, lay them on their sides so that the air can get to the soles, and let them dry slowly and naturally. We are telling you these shoe facts because as Shoemakers to the Nation, we want you to get the utmost wear and value from every pair of shoes you buy.

Ames Holden McCready operates three large factories, where boots and shoes for men, women and children are made. We make all kinds of footwear, from the finest kind of kid and calf shoes for both men and women, to special heavy grades for the workman and the farmer. The shoes that bear our trade-mark are splendid value for the money, no matter whether you pay $6, $7, $8, $9, or $10.

LABOR BUREAUS BILL REPORTED

Aid to Provinces in Organization of Employment Offices—On Basis of Spending

Ottawa, April 28—When the house went into committee today on the bill to aid and encourage the organization and co-ordination of employment offices, G. B. Nicholson, East Algona, said that employment offices up to the present had not got the country anywhere. If it was the desire to provide adequate machinery in order that employers and employees might get in touch with one another, then he thought the government should in some way assume control of the many private agencies throughout the country and in this way the main work of the government would be facilitated.

Mr. Crothers pointed out that it was intended to establish a clearing house in Ottawa. Five of the nine provinces had already legislated in connection with labor bureaus. Doesn't Go Far Enough. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux approved the establishment of labor bureaus throughout the country, especially in view of the reconstruction period which would come after the war. The establishment of such bureaus was a step in the right direction, but in the opinion of Mr. Lemieux it did not go far enough. The minister of labor, he said, was not doing enough for labor men. The government should be preparing for the time when peace would be declared. At that time there would be a complete disorganization of Canadian industries. Men and women who had been making munitions would be thrown out of work, not because their employers wished to discharge them, but because munitions plants would cease to operate. Better Technical Training Needed. On the other hand, the soldiers would be returning from overseas, many of whom had been recruited from the industrial ranks. Work would have to be provided for these men, and if this was not done conditions in Canada might be very bad. It was a good policy to provide for labor bureaus, but the government should go farther. It should first give to the laborers of Canada a better technical education. He declared that if Canada was to take the lead after the war in the industrial battle our labor must be equipped to meet the enemy. According to Mr. Lemieux, labor was not helped materially by the bill, the government not having made provision for the reconstruction period, which he hoped was fast approaching. It should not be sufficient to establish labor bureaus, but should also make sufficient allowances to the provinces to stimulate the cause of technical education. Others Support the Measure. J. H. Burnham (Peterborough) gave his entire support to the bill, stating that it would be a calamity if it was not put through the house. Mr. Du Tremblay suggested that a commission should be appointed to take up the question of employment after the war. R. H. Butts (Cape Breton) took the view that the bill did not go far enough.

There should be some attempt made to decrease the antagonism between capital and labor. Mr. Butts cited a judgment given in Sydney awarding $30,000 damages for the death of a man earning $1.25 a day. This, he said, was an instance of the antagonism he had mentioned. And he pleaded for the adoption of a uniform labor law throughout the dominion. Private Agencies Not Best. The minister of labor referred to the work of private agencies in obtaining employment for men, saying that they were not considered as the best method to this end. Private agencies were paid a fee for getting men employment, therefore it was also in their interest that there should be plenty of men out of employment. Better Aid the Provinces. Mr. Crothers said that a bill very similar to the one now under discussion was before the United States congress. In Germany and Holland a similar system in operation. He did not favor a national system of employment bureaus, preferring that the federal government should aid the provinces in establishing and maintaining these bureaus. Overlapping Not to be Feared. Donald Sutherland, South Oxford, feared that the work of the department of immigration and that done by these labor bureaus might overlap, causing unnecessary expense. Hon. J. A. Calder said there was no likelihood of overlapping between his department and the bureaus. At the conference between representatives of the provincial governments and the federal government it was decided that the work of establishing these bureaus was better done by the provinces with federal aid than by the federal government. The same view had been obtained at the conference between representatives of labor and the government. If the federal and the provincial authorities would get together, there was no necessity for any duplication of work. How Much to Each Province? Sir Wilfrid Laurier wanted to know if it would not be possible to place the amounts which would be granted to each province in the bill. It was simply provided that these amounts were to be a matter of agreement between the various provincial governments and the federal government. This seemed rather vague. Mr. Calder was not in a position to give information on this subject. Mr. Crothers said that the general character of the agreement between the provinces and the federal government was set forth in the bill. The amounts asked for the establishment of the bureaus was $50,000 for the first year, $100,000 for the second, and $150,000 for the third. The reason for increasing the amount was that the work would probably expand as time went on. Hon. W. S. Fielding asked how the federal government proposed to allot the money to the different provinces. The total amount to be divided in the first year was only $50,000. How would each province know what portion of this it was to get? He was heartily in favor of the idea, and appreciated the fact that the government wanted to encourage the provincial authorities to establish and maintain labor bureaus, but the encouragement, he felt, would not be very great if no definite allotment was made to each province. On Basis of Expenditure. Mr. Crothers explained that the money would be paid to the provinces at the close of each year on the basis of the amount spent by each. The idea was to grant each province one-half of the total amount which it had expended in connection with the bureaus. Mr. Fielding contended that if the $50,000 was not enough to go around some of the provinces would find themselves with very little of the federal government's grant. Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked the minister of labor if he had made an estimate of the expenditure which would be required, and Mr. Crothers replied that it was very difficult to make any estimate. The bill was reported. Penalty For Conspirators. San Francisco, April 29—Maximum sentences of two years' imprisonment in a federal penitentiary and fines of $10,000 each were imposed today upon Franz Bopp, former German consul general here, and E. H. Von Schack, former vice-consul, following their conviction last week on charges of conspiring to foment revolution against British rule in India.

IN THE LAND OF COMMON SENSE

Says it is suicide to cut corners, and tells how they lift right out

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freemason." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain. This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freemason is sticky it dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Don't let father die from infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

GERMANS WOUND THEMSELVES TO ESCAPE FROM BATTLE

The Hague, May 1.—In view of the fact that the Germans are trying to create the impression that American troops at the front lack courage and that some have committed suicide to avoid going into the trenches, interesting testimony is given by a traveler, who has seen Red Cross trains passing through Aachen from the great offensive. He says that hundreds of German soldiers have been wounded in the left hand, and that these wounds seem to have been self-inflicted with rifles in order that they may not have to go to the front.

The traveler says that there are 8,000 or 9,000 wounded men in Aachen and that 600 or 600 pass through daily. The lightly wounded are well cared for, but those who are severely wounded are transported to the other end of Germany, often dying on their long journey.

Blinding Headaches From Catarrhal Irritation Now Quickly Cured

The New Inhaler Breathing Treatment Does Away With All This Sort of Thing

"A stuffy cold in the head, or an old-fashioned attack of Catarrh are simply ancient history to me nowadays," writes S. Nathan Smith, from Cornwall, Ont. "I used to have the worst kind of blinding headaches. They were torture to me on damp days when my catarrh was bad. I would still perhaps be suffering but for the fact that I saw a friend making Catarrhose with apparent pleasure, and I got the dollar bottle in the Windsor Hotel Pharmacy in Montreal, which could scarcely believe the way Catarrhose cleared out my head. It let me breathe easier than I had breathed for five years. Catarrhose has cleared away every vestige of Catarrh from my system. My breath is sweet, my nose is clear, my digestion is constantly disordered, but since the catarrh is cured I have no stomach trouble. I am a perfectly well man, and Catarrhose did it all."

For speakers and singers and persons troubled with an irritable throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh or la grippe, Catarrhose is of inestimable value.

The Inhaler can be carried in your pocket and may be used at any time or in any place.

Large size, guaranteed, and sufficient for 2 months' use, costs $1; smaller size, 50c, sample size, 25c; all druggists and dealers or The Catarrhose Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

MORE FOOD USED IN FEBRUARY DESPITE ALL CONSERVATION EFFORTS

Toronto, May 1.—"Notwithstanding all the efforts to conserve wheat, flour and food, for some reason, during February, the consumption exceeded that of January," declared W. F. O'Connor, late cost of living commissioner for the Dominion, when interviewed by a local paper yesterday.

"All the economists in the country can make all the claims they wish," he said, "but they cannot get away from the bare facts. If the various government acts will devote themselves to their proper sphere, not overlap, and at the same time keep as clearly to the point as I did in my line, I can promise considerable success. My efforts were sufficient when one considers what my duty required. I have built up a practical system of application, and it cannot be run by theory."

When asked if his resignation resulted from differences with the minister of labor, Mr. O'Connor said that at no time was he an employee of the labor department. He was a judicial officer, loaned to the department for these services by the minister of justice, and at no time was the question of authority considered.

"I took the position assuming that I was to be the supreme dictator in my department," he said. "No lawyer can submit to dictation as to the method in which he shall conduct his own case."

MCADOO SCORN POLITICS

Knows No Party Now, He says, and Resents Talk of Presidency

Albuquerque, N. M., May 1.—"A Democrat doesn't look any better to me than a Republican," said William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, in refusing to address a party of prominent Democrats after his Liberty Loan speech here. "I am on this trip to sell Liberty bonds, not to play politics. I have three sons in the service. I think more of them than politics."

In introducing Mr. McAdoo, the Liberty Loan chairman spoke of him as possibly the next president of the United States. Mr. McAdoo took exception to the remark and, addressing the audience, repudiated the assertion, reiterating that he was not playing politics, but selling bonds.

"We need the bonds to win the war," he said.

CHANNEL LIKE BOTTLE NECK

Shifting Sands May Complete Raiders' Work at Ostend

The Ostend Channel, which the British attempted to block with concrete-trencher cruisers, opens like the neck of a bottle directly upon the North Sea. This channel, which leads from three large basins and several smaller ones, is about 2,200 feet long and 200 feet wide at its narrowest point, expanding to a mouth 400 feet wide.

The waterway is kept free from the shifting sands of the shore by two projecting moles flanking it east and west, while the town to the west is protected by a sea wall of the foot of which are the bathing establishments. If the cruisers sunk were like those submerged at Zebrugge—that is, more than 300 feet in length—and were driven near enough, even without entering the neck of the channel, they would make a formidable barrier around which the sand would quickly pile at this season of the year, both from the coast east and west and from the natural discharge of the channel carrying the waste from a dozen towns on its way from Bruges thirteen miles to the southeast.

The sea wall runs along the beach as far as Marakerke, three miles west of the town, and forms a fortification from which fire could be concentrated on the mouth of the channel. It is sixteen and a half to thirty-five yards wide and twenty-five feet in height.

Beyond the beaches on the south the channel connects with the Leopold basin for merchantmen, and the naval and repair basin on the east, the new harbor on the south, and the fishing and commercial enclosed docks on the west. From the basin containing the commercial docks runs the canal to Bruges.

At Zebrugge, a mole more than a mile and a half long, running in a curve to the northeast, protects an open harbor whose mouth is about seven-eighths of a mile wide. About half a mile east of the junction of the mole with the shore is the channel which leads to the inner docks, and thence to the canal to Bruges, ten miles long. Half a mile east of the channel is the mouth to the Lys canal. Both canals have tide gates, and one report says that those "inside the mole"—that is, the Bruges canal gates—were destroyed. If the submarine which was detonated alongside the mole effected a break, the first of the no-westerns common on that coast would drive sand into the harbor.

TRY OUT PEAT IN THE NORTH

Experiments to be Conducted in Cobalt District at Once

Cobalt, May 1.—Experimental work aimed at the development of the peat bog of Ontario is to begin at once, according to information given by one of the members of the commission.

As stated recently, Arthur Cole of Cobalt, mining engineer for the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway Commission, Roland C. Harris of Toronto, provincial fuel commissioner, and R. A. Ross, C. E., of Ottawa, one of the members of the advisory council for scientific and industrial research, together with two Dominion representatives, compose the commission in whose hands is placed the work of developing the peat bogs of Ontario.

The decision to proceed with this work is of much importance to this part of northern Ontario. Despite the fact that the examination of the peat bog to the north of Cobalt have undergone only preliminary investigation, they, nevertheless, appear to be of big potential value.

In due course it is not unreasonable to look forward toward the peat bogs of this district becoming the source of large quantities of merchantable fuel.

It is proposed to erect two plants, and after carrying out experiments to make a choice of the plant most suitable for the work. The cost of equipment, it is believed, will not be large.

Steps in Developing Bog. In developing a peat bog one of the first steps is that of affording natural drainage, so as to get rid of the excess water. This will result in the surface becoming dry, but immediately below the surface crust the peat will still be found to contain about ninety per cent moisture. Up to the present no artificial means of removing this moisture, commercially, has been discovered.

The method to be used is a natural drying process by sun and wind. The pulp is first excavated and is churned to a pulpy mass so as to make an even mixture of the substance. It will then be delivered by some sort of conveyor out over the field and deposited in a layer approximately six or eight inches in thickness. In a short time the surface of this layer becomes dry and forms a crust. When first deposited on the field the consumption exceeds that of January, declared W. F. O'Connor, late cost of living commissioner for the Dominion, when interviewed by a local paper yesterday.

Y. M. C. I. DIRECTORS PASS RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF REV. J. J. O'DONOVAN

The directors of the Y. M. C. I. have adopted the following resolutions in respect to the death of Rev. J. J. O'Donovan: Whereas, Almighty God, who doeth all things well, in His infinite wisdom, has called from His priestly activities to an eternal reward the Reverend John J. O'Donovan, pastor of the Church of the Assumption; and

Whereas, by his death, the Church has lost a zealous priest, a devoted pastor and friend and the Young Men's Catholic Institute an earnest advocate and generous supporter;

Resolved, that the board of directors of the Young Men's Catholic Institute, in special session assembled, place on record their sense of appreciation of Father O'Donovan as priest and man, their deep sympathy with his bereaved sister and his sorrowing people in their great loss and with His Lordship the Bishop in his deprivation of the services of so good a priest.

Father O'Donovan, through thirty-four years, did serve his God faithfully and with marked zeal in the high office of the priesthood. At the Cathedral and in St. John the Baptist parish but most of all in the Church of the Assumption, he had labored with notable success. He leaves a splendid memorial in the magnificent church property which is the proud possession of the Carleton congregation, but a greater memorial built there by his genial personality, kindly manner, fatherly attentiveness and to the spiritual interests of his flock and wise direction in the material affairs of his parish.

Virtues came to him, as they do to all in this life, but he faced them with indomitable courage and in a spirit that overcame all obstacles. Generosity was a marked trait in this good priest's character, as also were his love for the little religious life. He had done much, very much, in his years in the priesthood and in everything the motive was that there might be greater glory to the God he loved and served so well. Be it further:

Resolved, that this resolution be given place in the minutes of this institute and copies forwarded to Miss O'Donovan and His Lordship the Bishop with the deep sympathy of the directors.

The directors of the Young Men's Catholic Institute by: JOHN KEEFE, President, H. O. McENERNEY, J. H. COHALAN, Committee.

Some Sidelights on Y.M.C.A. War Work

The "Walking Wounded"—A Village Without a Y.M.C.A. Can the Need Be Measured?

"I think of the Y.M.C.A. emergency work when a great push is on," writes Francis B. Sayre in "Harper's," "and the wounded soldiers are streaming back from the front literally by the thousands, maimed, and torn and bleeding. The numbers are so vast that the stretcher-bearers can only attend to the prostrate wounded.

"All those who can manage to walk or crawl, known as the 'walking wounded,' must make their own way as best they can to the first aid stations. By the side of these first aid stations the Y.M.C.A. takes its place; and all the walking wounded who come in are given hot coffee and made as comfortable as possible while they wait, sometimes for hours."

Can Need be Measured?

Referring to the Y.M.C.A. huts, the writer says: "I have seen the halls so crowded on the occasion of some religious talk that after the benches were all filled and the standing room taken, soldiers kept crowding in through the windows to sit on the floor of the platform, and others remained outside to listen to the speaker through the windows."

A Village Without Y.M.C.A.

Here is the writer's picture of a French village without a Y.M.C.A.: "With only evil ways in which to spend money burning in their pockets, with nothing to relieve the dull monotony of idle evenings, many of them began to get lonely and homesick, or to drift along dangerous paths.

"It was not many days before officers began to send hurried calls for the Y.M.C.A.: 'For God's sake come down before it's too late and do something for my men.'

Death of a Y.M.C.A. Secretary

"One shell, dropping not ten feet from the dug-out, churned up the earth, the next went crashing through the steel sheeting. A party left the battery to search for the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary). Clambering through the shell-hole, they saw the fruit cans gashed as if by a hundred chisels; the stocks scattered and destroyed; the mugs broken; the cocoa-urn over-turned; and when they had thrown the debris aside they found the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary), with a dark red stream oozing from his head, still smiling, but sleeping his last sleep."

He was able to remain on duty in the trenches. He crossed overseas with the 140th Battalion and three weeks after arriving in France was sent to France with a draft for another unit. He was formerly employed as a member of the reporting staff of the Telegraph, and later was with the Standard.

TO BUILD VESSELS AT OROMOCTO?

A plan for starting a shipbuilding plant at Oromocto has been in the air for some time, and may yet be developed, says the Fredericton Gleaner. If the plan goes through it is probable that, before many months, Oromocto will again be the centre of an industry such as flourished there in years gone by.

Last fall, the paper says, company promoters, including both United States and New Brunswick men, visited St. John, and later took a quiet trip up the river, visiting different points as far up as Oromocto. On their return to St. John they seemed to be very favorably impressed with Oromocto as a place to start the building of wooden ships. The main difficulty, at that time, seemed to be to get men who were familiar with the building of wooden ships. All the men around St. John capable of carrying on that kind of work were engaged in similar work being carried on at other places.

Many of the old-time shipbuilders, who formerly worked in that line around Oromocto, had either died or removed to other portions of the world.

It was said last fall that those interested in the scheme would probably return to Oromocto and other points along the river as early this spring as conditions would permit, and would go more thoroughly into the matter. On this trip they plan to make a more thorough study of a suitable place for a site, as well as of the labor and lumber supply.

Their coming is eagerly awaited by those who are most interested in this project. Should the plans materialize, as planned by the promoters, there are hopes times ahead for Oromocto.
