GANG MURDER IN A BOWERY SALOON

"Gyp the Blood" No. 2 Kills Thomas Murphy

HE TOLD THINGS TO POLICE

That is Reason Given For Shooting in "The Tub of Blood"—Slaying Done While Another Leader Was on Trial

(Canadian Press) New York, Jan. 21—"Dopey Benny" Fein, a gang leader, was charged with assaulting Police Sergeant Patrick E. Sheridan, who one day in last August told Fein to "move on." The gangster instead reviled Sheridan, according to the testimony and engaged in a rough and tumble fight with the sergeant. The latter's life was threatened by a mob "I'll get you."

The trial was one of the briefest of its kind in New York courts in recent years, lasting only two days. Gang members loitered near the court room and an extra guard of police was stationed to guard against disorders. When the case went to the jury, Fein leaned past the officers who guarded him and whispered sharply to Sheridan: "I'll get you."

Fein will be sentenced on Friday. While Fein's trial was in progress, gang activity in the city did not cease. Last night in a Bowery corner saloon called "The Tub of Blood," a machinist named Thomas Murphy was shot dead by a man known to the police as "Gyp the Blood," a title given since the original "Gyp the Blood" was sentenced to be executed as one of the gang which murdered Herman Rosenthal, a gambler, at the bidding of Charles Becker, a police lieutenant.

Express On The I. C. R. Grave Charge Made By F. B. Carvell In The Southampton Case

(Special to Times) Fredericton, Jan. 21.—That another scheme was being hatched to plunder the public treasury and rob John E. Stewart of the fruits of years of labor in promotion of the Tobique and Campbellton Railway was a charge made by F. B. Carvell this morning in speaking of the stock which Mr. Stewart put up as security with Dr. H. H. McNally of Fredericton to secure $1,000, the disposition of which is one of the contested points in the Southampton Railway case.

The eighteen passengers in the sleeping car were turned topsy turvy. In a short time the gas lights went out and the passengers picked for their belongings in complete darkness. Wearing apparel was thrown into indiscriminate piles.

PREDICT DEATH OF FEDERAL LEAGUE BUT IT IS VERY LIKELY

Three More Pitchers and Four Umpires Signed

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 21.—While representatives of organized ball are predicting its early death, the Federal League continues collecting major league ball players. They signed three pitchers yesterday, as well as completed a quartet to play ball here was won by the Russell Ford of the New York Americans, who will be with the Chicago Federals; Howard Cantitz of the Philadelphia Nationals, who will go either to Indianapolis or Pittsburg, and Edgar Willett, a Detroit pitcher, who was signed by Mordcaai Brown, manager of the St. Louis team of the new league.

The effort to gain possession of the north side plot on which the new league is to play ball here was won by the Federals yesterday, according to President Gilmore and Charles Weegman, head of the local club, when the latter delivered a large amount of cash to the holder of a lease on a strip of land which, if held by an enemy, would have made ball playing impossible on the field.

SAGE AND SULPHUR
 DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Receipt to Restore Color, Gloss and Thickness

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.
 Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Weych's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that no body can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time.
 By morning the gray hair disappears,
 but what delights the ladies with Weych's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Agent—Wasson's 3 stores.

Daily Hints
 For the Cook

Buttercup Cake
 One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1 1/2 cups flour, whites 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Pot Roast
 Into a basin put a layer of sliced onions, a layer of sliced potatoes and a layer of chopped or sliced cold mutton or lamb (end of your last roast). Continue until full. Now add salt and a red pepper. Now cover top with potatoes cut in halves, which will roast a pretty brown.
 Sometimes you may use a pork roast the same way, only add a little sage to flavor.

Hamburg Loaf
 One and one-half pounds of meat, three slices of bread crumbed, one-quarter pound fat pork chopped fine, one egg beaten, salt and pepper to suit taste. Place alternately in pan meat and dressing, some pork on top. Bake slowly one hour or less. Four one-half cup of water over it.

Saving the Coal
 As coal is high these hints will help a great deal. Sprinkle a few table-spoonsful of salt on the kitchen fire after it is made up. It will keep the fire for hours without requiring any attention.

Save the parings of potatoes and turnips and when they are dry throw them on the fire and it will help to save the coal.
 Instead of throwing away loose corks keep them in a jar with a little paraffin. They will be found a great help when lighting the fire.
 Use an orange and lemon peel, when dried, quickly ignite and there is not so much wood needed.
 Charcoal is good for making quick fires.

THE COAL SITUATION

(Coal Age.)
 Generally severe weather in nearly all parts of the country during the first of the week, started an active movement in the retail hard-coal trade. The change has not been of sufficient duration to affect wholesalers as yet, but there is a better tone generally in all departments. However, producers are still compelled to make concessions in order to move tonnage, while dealers are already beginning to anticipate the possibility of carrying some winter-pre-coal over after the April 1 discount

No more ashes to carry; no clumsy ash-pan to spill dust or dirt on the kitchen floor.
 The GLENWOOD ash chute solves the problem. It is situated just beneath the grate and connected by a sheet iron pipe, straight down through the kitchen floor to the ash barrel in the cellar. No dust can escape—just slide the damper once each day and drop the ashes directly into the ash barrel.
 This is only one of the splendid improvements of the plain gives into effect. The production continues in excess of demand, and the situation is particularly unfavorable at tidewater.

 The recent cold weather has failed to help the bituminous market, and there is a feeling gradually developing among producers that a general slump can only be prevented by a strict curtalment. Even now mines are working under a heavily restricted output, while consumers are endeavoring to cancel old orders. Little spot business of any kind is being negotiated and quantities are particularly dull.
 Although a decided improvement on domestic business is expected in the Pittsburgh district as a result of the sharp fall in temperature, the demand at the moment is light; a resumption in general manufacturing effective the first of the year will help the situation some, but the absence of sustained cold weather has had a depressing effect.
 Conditions in Ohio show some improvement as a result of the more seasonable weather and an increase in manufacturing. Anticipation of labor troubles April 1 is also having an effect upon the situation; with the market in its present unsatisfactory condition, operators will be ready to suspend operations indefinitely, if necessary, and the position of the miners is materially weakened.
 While shipments from the Hampton Roads piers have fallen off during the week, the effects of the curtailed production over the holiday period are now being felt and accumulations are only about normal. Prices are holding remarkably firm in spite of a general slowing up. The southern markets are contending with adverse weather conditions and dealers are showing little disposition to buy; an improving tendency is noticeable, but not much change is anticipated before spring.

 The anticipated labor troubles next April have had a stimulating effect upon the middle western situation, which was also helped out by the colder weather. Large industrial concerns are showing an inclination to increase their stock piles, and the better grades are now commanding good figures. There has been an unexpected shortage of hopper bottom cars. Some demurrage coal is occasionally forced on the market for anything it will bring.

Alfred Wood, Head of R. J. Tooke, Ltd., Montreal, Thinks City in Line for Growth—Shows Faith in Tangible Way

Alfred Wood, president of the R. J. Tooke, Limited, of Montreal, who has been in the city concluding arrangements with John P. Condon for the opening of a Tooke department in his semi-ready store, says that he has seventeen votes under the new voters' law in that province. Mr. Wood is president of one corporation, vice-president of three other industrial enterprises and a director of two wholesale companies.

Each company elects him as its official voter, and these five companies have properties in the various wards which give Mr. Wood seven votes on important measures submitted to the people. In an interview with Mr. Wood he stated that he was very much pleased with the solid and substantial business outlook in St. John. He had visited the city at intervals during the past twenty-one years, his first visit being in a journalistic capacity.

COUNTY LEGISLATION

Bills Submitted to Municipal Council This Afternoon

The report of the bills committee dealing with proposed legislation on several important matters was presented to the County Council this afternoon. Among the bills is one providing for the establishment of a municipal prison farm. A similar bill was rejected by the legislature last session because of the opposition of city members on the grounds that the province as a whole should undertake the scheme.

A MODERN MIRACLE

He Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors Said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk has Worked Complete Cure

This is the experience of a man of high reputation, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated. Mr. T. M. Marsh, the gentleman referred to, lives at 101 Desjardins Avenue, Montreal, and has lived there for years. For twenty-five years he has had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in red blotches which itched, and when scratched became painful. Bad sores followed, which discharged, and the discharge spread the disease until his hands were one raw, painful mass of sores.

Then came Zam-Buk! He tried it, just as he had tried hundreds of remedies before. But he soon found out that Zam-Buk was different. Within a few weeks there were distinct signs of benefit, and a little perseverance with this great herbal balm resulted in what he had given up all hope of—a complete cure! And the cure was no temporary cure. It was permanent. He was cured nearly four years ago. Interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsh said: "The cure which Zam-Buk worked has been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was cured to the present moment I have had no trace of eczema, and I feel sure it will never return."

The government, he said, would neither submit a new tariff law as a base for new treaties, nor denounce the existing treaties. The initiative in the matter of new treaties must come from the foreign governments, or they would be automatically extended.

OPIMUM SMOKING IN TORONTO IS ON THE INCREASE

Morality Officer Thinks Criminal Classes Are Taking It Up

EFFECT VERY DEGRADING

Court Officials Differ as to Punishment for Offenders — More Than $20,000 Worth of Drug Seized in Queen City Recently

(Toronto Star)

The recent conviction of Mrs. Rose Davidson in the Women's Police Court on a charge of smoking opium and of keeping an opium joint brought forth the startling statement from Staff Inspector Gregory, chief of the morality police, that he believed the vice of opium smoking was being taken up by white people of the criminal classes in Toronto, with promises of dire results to the moral welfare of the city.

"Since my appointment to the direction of the morality department last March, I have waged continued warfare on the opium traffic in Toronto, with the result, so far, of securing over sixty convictions for engaging in the traffic in opium, and the seizure of $8,500 worth of opium. With the exception of two negroes and Mrs. Davidson all those convicted have been Chinese."

It is needless to remark on the terrible effect of the opium habit on morals and health, "went on the staff inspector. "There is no more degraded man in all my experience than the white man addicted to the opium pipe. Liquor is bad enough. But in the opium fiend there is no shred of manhood or of truth left. And the worst of opium is the unkillable whiskey, which a man may drink for years and not become its slave, four meetings with the insidious dream-pipe enslaves a man for good."

To prevent the habit from creeping upon Toronto's criminal classes I would propose an effort to be made to confine the Chinese, I would, by means of frequent convictions, keep a stern check on it. We have a law which makes it an offence to be even smoking the drug. This law I would apply to every white caught at it."

Seized $20,000 Worth

The opium raids made in the past year, mostly by Plainclothesmen Koster and Scott, and by the late Commissioner Dawn, of Court street division, under the Morality Department's orders, have resulted in the seizure of more than $20,000 worth of opium. The seizures were made in the form of small packages, many of which were in the shape of a tin, and were hidden in the most unlikely places. The opium was mostly of the Chinese variety, and was of a high quality. It was an awesome sight to see, exhibited in the year of a value totalling more than $20,000, which is a large sum for a city of this size. Refining is Secret Art

This same Jim Lee has had eight convictions registered against him in the past year of being a manufacturer of smoking opium. Where he secured the crude opium, which is in hard, grey blocks, is unknown. Probably in consignments of tea, or china or candy confectionery from China. The refining of this crude opium is an art kept secret in certain families and those who know the process are held in high esteem by the Chinese. The crude opium is ground into powder, mixed with some substance to bring it to the consistency of very thick putty, and is then pressed into small cakes, each of which costs the smoker $5.

Nothing Like Novelty Describe

There being no "joints" as described in novels, where rows of bunks like a steamer's cabin are rented to the smoker, the possessor of a "humble" of this "refined" opium, goes to his room, gets out his bamboo pipe, his glass spirit lamp, and reclines on his bed. The bowl of this pipe, which is big as a teacup has an aperture in it only the size of a five-cent piece, and only a quarter of an inch deep. On a steel knob opposite the smoker dips up a dab of the sticky opium the size of a bean, holds it over the spirit lamp till it bubbles, and then kneads it into the bowl of his pipe. Then he inverts the pipe, rests the broad bowl upside down on the glass shade of his spirit lamp, and when the bubble of opium burns, he draws the fumes of it up the stem of his pipe, and into his lungs.

Three or four puffs are enough for the Terribly Afflicted With Lame Back. Could Not Sweep the Floor.

When the back aches and pains it is almost impossible for women to do their housework, for every move and every turn means an ache or a pain.

Women are beginning to understand that weak, lame, and aching backs from which they suffer so much are due to wrong action of the kidneys, and should be attended to at once so as to avoid years of suffering from kidney trouble.

On the first sign of anything wrong with the back Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken.

They go right to the seat of the trouble. Mrs. Wilfrid Jolicoeur, Nouvelle, Que., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About three years ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, and was so bad I could not sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I only used three boxes, and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Toronto.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Canadian Credit In The Old Land

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Jan. 10.—Barely a year has elapsed since Canada enjoyed her most favorable position in the London market, and the contrast with conditions that would be starting did the depression extend only to Canada. Now, signs of renewed confidence are not wanting, and this improvement so far as Canada is concerned will be accelerated if prominent public men on your side are able to give reassuring and optimistic statements—which can be supported by facts.

As a matter of fact, as a London banker with intimate associations with Canada said today, things are not as bad as some people would have us believe. It is as unjust as it is remarkable that Canada has been the principal target for the ammunition of the London financial press, and his explanation of this offers some slight consolation.

At the height of the Canadian boom, and the belief in Canada that even good domestic as well as foreign issues were neglected in favor of Canadian investments. Insurance companies, for instance, made a point of assuring their clients that a great deal of their capital was invested in Canada and that their ability to give remunerative rates arose from the high returns they secured from Canadian holdings.

This, of course, had a tremendous effect on the minds of the investing public as many as two conditions of the faith of people in Canada that when the slump came so suddenly an abnormal reaction was natural. British securities, American, and indeed the securities of all the world depreciated heavily, but without that hysteria which made one writer speak of the "financial anarchy" in Canada, and so complete was the pessimism with which Canadian finance has been latterly regarded.

The depreciations in the value of securities given in the "Bankers' Magazine" strikingly confirm the view that Canadian holdings have suffered only the same fate as first-class British securities. Taking 1897 representative securities the summary shows a decline in value of more than five per cent as compared with the end of last year, the total depreciation amounting to nearly $800,000,000.

The attitude of the London money market toward Canadian requirements was explained as having been framed unholy old pirate. He drops the pipe on the little table beside the bed, blows out the spirit lamp, rolls over on his bed, and composes himself to the most lurid dreams mortal mind ever conceived.

The novice in the opium smoking game never does his own smoking. For the first dozen times the best he dare do is to let another smoke for him. The "refined" opium, goes to his room, gets out his bamboo pipe, his glass spirit lamp, and reclines on his bed. The bowl of this pipe, which is big as a teacup has an aperture in it only the size of a five-cent piece, and only a quarter of an inch deep.

Of the effects of opium, beyond the fact that it incites dreams, no one who is a smoker can say. Old Jim Lee, on one of his numerous appearances in the police court, would, when the Star was asking him to tell a simple truth, only murmur: "Nise, nise!" and roll his dim old eyes in ecstasy. The police have learned, however, that it promotes an exaltation from which to come back to dull earth is a far fall, and the opium smoker soon flies back to the flowered land of dreams.

Health is Undermined

Its ultimate effects are much the same as those of other drugs, pernicious in the extreme. Health is undermined. The victim becomes a moral jellyfish, unable to keep, for instance, steady employment; or to tell a simple truth. To him theft, murder, or any sordid crime is a minor matter, from which he can at once escape through his pipe. The record of the few whites convicted in Toronto for dealings with the drug are the most horror-fall of any.

Colonel Denison's attitude is summed up in a recent comment of his made during the trial of an opium case in the police court: "I cannot sentence one of these poor creatures without being influenced by the recollection of that disgraceful war in which Britain forced opium on China to enlarge the revenues of her Indian subjects," said his worship.

Crown Attorney Seymour Corley cannot force himself to propose imprisonment for even the most frequent offenders. "Imprisonment, away from their drug, would kill the poor devils! There is a lonely, restricted vice. I believe it injures no one but themselves," said Mr. Corley after one trial. "China has now issued orders for her government to stamp out the vice. And it will die out here when its source is stopped."

"I Found a Cure" Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt Did It.

So Writes Mr. J. C. Mason, Ligar, Ont. This is His Experience in His Own Words.

Lost Ambition and General Energy. Ligar, Ont.

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I purchased one of your Electric Belts last June, and can say it is all you advertise to be. I felt much better, and got it. I had such a tired feeling, no energy had to lie down every time I came into the house—but can say candidly, after using the Belt for one week I was as fresh at night as when I started in the morning. It used to be I could not stand shoveling the cross furrows in the fields, my back would pain me so; this year I could do it as well as I could when I was not quite so old. I will be seventy years of age next July, if living, but feel as if I was only forty or fifty. It used to be that I could not sleep well—now I sleep soundly. I also used to be troubled with rheumatism, but I never feel it now. Your Belt has certainly cured me. If I could not get any other Belt, money could scarcely buy the one I have. Wishing you every success. Yours very truly, J. C. MASON.

Hundreds of men are writing me letters like this, men who have been cured right in your own neighborhood. Let me furnish you their names, so that you can talk to them personally.

Give me a man broken down from dissipation, hard work, or worry, from any cause which has sapped his vitality. Let him follow my advice for three months, and I will make him as vigorous in every respect as any man of his age.

I will not promise to make a Hercules of a man who was never intended by Nature to be strong and sturdy. Even that man I can make better than he is; but the man who has been strong and has lost his strength I can make as good as he ever was.

A man who is nervous, whose brain and body are weak, who sleeps badly, awakes more tired than when he went to bed, who is easily discouraged, inclined to brood over imaginary troubles, who has lost ambition and energy to tackle hard problems, lacks the animal electricity which the Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt supplies.

The whole force of vitality in your body is dependent upon your animal electricity. When you lose that in any manner my Belt will replace it, and I will cure you.

FREE TO YOU Get my 80-page book describing my Electric Belt, with illustrations of fully-developed men and women, showing how it is applied. If you can't call, I'll send this book prepaid free, if you will enclose this coupon.

WHERE IS MR. HAZEN?

It is to be regretted in connection with the discussion concerning the safety of the Bay of Fundy that the position of the board of trade should be misrepresented by the Standard, and that the citizens should be asked to give an expression of their opinion about what the board should do in ignorance of the fact that the board is taking the very action which is necessary.

In the meantime, what is the Hon. J. D. Hazen, the minister of marine, and also the representative of St. John, doing in this matter? If it has not yet occurred to him that he ought to rise in his place in parliament and denounce the slanders that have been uttered concerning the Bay of Fundy, some of his friends who are giving interviews to the Standard might fairly suggest to him that there is no time like the present to show that he really represents this constituency.

MR. BORDEN'S SPEECH.

The speech of Premier Borden in the debate on the address was singularly ineffective, and must have been very disappointing to Conservatives throughout the country, however loudly he may have been cheered by a servile following in the Commons. Especially following was that portion of his speech which dealt with the navy. To appreciate the fact it is only necessary to remember Mr. Borden's attitude before the contribution policy was brought down last year. He had asserted that his government would bring down a naval policy, and if parliament refused to adopt it he would go to the people. The policy was brought down and rejected by the senate. It was claimed by Mr. Borden that there was an emergency which called for the most prompt action on the part of Canada. Now, a year later, he coolly tells the country that he will not re-introduce the naval bill or bring down a naval policy of any sort until such time as the senate may have a Conservative majority. He will not go to the people. Clearly there was not and is not an emergency, and Mr. Borden and his colleagues are simply marking time in the hope that something will develop which may enable them to pacify the Nationalists and at the same time have a campaign cry with which to go to the country when it is deemed expedient to pursue that course.

LORD STRATHCONA

The office of high commissioner for Canada in London in recent years gained most of its interest for the people from the picturesque figure of the high commissioner. Lord Strathcona has long been regarded with a degree of affection by the Canadian people, because his wonderful and romantic career appealed to the imagination and his unbounded generosity appealed to the heart. The story of his life, that is told in brief in the press today, will be told in fuller measure no doubt in a biography, which will necessarily have to deal with some of the most important events in Canadian history, in which Mr. Donald Smith, or Sir Donald Smith, or Lord Strathcona, played an important part. It is a far cry from a Hudson Bay post on the bleak shores of Labrador to the King's drawing room, and the mere story of the life of this man who won full of years and honors, has gone to his rest, should be an inspiration to the young Canadians of today. If Sir Donald Smith and those associated with him made enormous fortunes during the early constructive period in the Canadian west, they also made possible the rapid expansion and growth of Canada; and Lord Strathcona, as Canada's representative in London and also as a citizen of Canada, has by his service and his benefactions shown that he had throughout his life the clear consciousness of the duty and responsibility involved in the great material prosperity which came to him and to Canada during the long period of his active career. In London this fine old man, so vigorous in spite of his great age, had in a sense come to typify Canada in the minds of the people, and wherever he went he was received with honor and affection. It is doubtful if any other man will be able to make the high commissioner mean as much to the people of the old land, from the standpoint of sentiment, as it has meant during the last decade. In Canada, the city of Montreal especially will mourn the passing of Lord Strathcona; since he spent millions to enrich the university and hospitals of that city. The mere enumeration of the various benevolent and other organizations with which he was connected shows at how many points he touched the life of the people of Canada. The tributes that were paid to him during his lifetime by the most eminent men of the Empire show in what high regard he was universally held. His memory will be cherished as that of a man who did much through a long life to advance the interests of Canada and the Empire, and his name will forever be associated with that gigantic work the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which has been the greatest single factor in the development of this country.

THE SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

It surely cannot be true that the principals and teachers in the St. John schools are opposed to a wider use of the school buildings. They must have been misrepresented by someone of their number who takes the narrow view. The press of the city and the citizens generally expressed themselves recently in favor of an increase in salary for the teachers, on the ground that they were an intelligent and progressive and hard-working group of persons doing a very important work for the welfare of the community. They would hardly as a return set themselves in opposition to the theory that public buildings are for public use, and that the citizens of St. John should get the best possible return for the $600,000 which they have invested in school plant. It is very gratifying to observe that the school board take a broad view of this question, and that in the case of the high school assembly hall they have taken down the bars and said practically that this fine assembly room is at the service of the people for any useful purpose when such use does not conflict in any way with the work of the schools. In Amherst the teachers of the schools welcomed the opportunity afforded by the community work done in the school buildings after school hours, under the direction of Mr. John Bradford and his staff, to meet and become better acquainted with the parents of the children and others who gathered at the weekly or monthly entertainments. The universal testimony from centres in the United States where school buildings have been used for several years for social center work is that no damage is done to the buildings or their furniture, nor is there any injurious effect upon the health of the people or the children of the day school. Ten years hence, possibly in less time, when the school buildings of St. John are in active use as social centres, the citizens will look back and wonder why they were so blind to the interests of the public as to keep the buildings in darkness for so many years.

The people of the Bay of Fundy shore of Nova Scotia and of the best farming district of that province, as well as those who are interested in the development of harbors at L'Etang and St. Croix are interested with St. John in exposing the falsehoods that have been published broad-cast in relation to the navigation of the Bay of Fundy.

Mr. A. K. MacLean, M. P., in an hour's speech in parliament yesterday presented an indictment of the government which the finance minister was unable to answer effectively in a speech of more than three hours. The latter, however, made it clear that the government has no intention of making a downward revision of the tariff. He also made it clear that the government has put its naval policy in cold storage to keep company with the emergency.

The Standard in big headlines tells its readers that, "prosperity has come to the dominion under a wise administration." This is obviously a reference to the period during which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was premier. Since 1911, however, under an unwise administration, there has been a more rapid increase in the cost of living and an increase in unemployment, and the conditions have become such that the people will at first opportunity return Sir Wilfrid Laurier to power, and secure an administration that will restore the prosperous conditions which existed prior to 1911.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21.

The Hon. Jules Allard, minister of lands and forests in the Quebec government, who is fifty-five years of age today, was born and brought up at St. Francois du Lac, P. Q. He is a lawyer by profession but has long taken a considerable interest in public affairs. Beginning by being a school commissioner in his native village, he rose to be mayor and then was elected to the legislature. For a time he led the government forces in the legislative council. His abilities were recognized by Premier Gouin a few years ago and he was given the portfolio of colonization and public works. Later he was shifted to the department of agriculture and five years ago to his present office.

USE THE SCHOOL BUILDINGS AS SOCIAL CENTRES

Some Information For St. John People Concerning This Great Movement and Its Results

IV. The Times yesterday quoted the bulletin of the Milwaukee Federation of Civic Societies relative to neighborhood civic clubs in school buildings, and the splendid work they could accomplish. An observer of this movement in the state of Wisconsin has made the following comment: "For generations the school houses have been monuments of neglected opportunity. The policy of closing them to the people outside of regular school hours has retarded the development of that higher type of citizenship which calls for better government. It matters not where it is located, whether in a congested city district, or in a hamlet, or on a prairie among scattered farm houses, a public school building is a potential centre of civic activities, a potential neighborhood civic club house. If there should be realized anything like a fair measure of that which the thousands upon thousands of public school buildings of the nation offer in raising the plane of citizenship, and in increasing the people's capacity for self-government, democracy would be vitalized to a degree that would make it militant and all-conquering."

WILSON OUTLINES HIS ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of congress today the fundamental principles of the Democratic administration's programme for dealing with trusts and "big business." The president presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were corrected. "We are now about to give expression to our co-operation in our constitution of peace," said the president, "the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

TO MAKE SEA TRAVEL SAFER

International Rules Are Now Adopted CONFERENCE CLOSED Iceberg Patrol—Better Construction and Equipment of Passenger Vessels Required

London, Jan. 20.—The convention drawn up by the international conference on safety at sea was signed at the foreign office this afternoon with considerable formality by all the delegations except one, namely Austria, which will sign tomorrow. It was decided that the text of the convention which contains seventy-four articles and which, together with the annexed rules, covers sixty printed pages, should not be officially published until Feb. 15, in order to give the delegations time to communicate it to their various governments. Lord Mersey, president of the conference, however, in his closing speech summarized the principal provisions of the convention. He said: "The service will also continue the ice observations work started last year by Great Britain with the object of determining before the ice becomes a peril, the fundamental conditions which govern its movement. The service will also continue the duty of dealing with dangerous derelicts east of a line drawn from Cape Sable to latitude 44 north, longitude 70 west. The waters to the west of this line will continue to be watched by the United States. "The duty is also imposed on all shipmasters to report the presence of dangerous ice and derelicts and a code has been prepared to facilitate this reporting. "When ice is reported on or near the track a ship must proceed during the night at moderate speed or after its course so as to clear the danger zone. "The practice by which routes across the Atlantic are fixed by agreement between the steamship companies has been left unaltered and the government undertakes to impress all ship-owners with the desirability of following as far as possible these rules. "The effective lighting of boat decks is provided for by the convention, and the carrying of derelict lamps is made compulsory. International Code of Signals. "An international code of urgent and important signals has been adopted. It was impossible to revise the international collision regulations as many states which were parties to those regulations were not represented at the conference, but the convention binds the contracting states to bring about a revision of these regulations. Other points affecting the safety of navigation were found impossible of embodiment in definite articles but the committee submitted resolutions embodying its views. "On the question of construction of passenger steamers the convention provides that existing arrangements shall be considered on their merits by the country to which each vessel belongs, with the view of providing increased safety where practicable and reasonable. "The most difficult point this committee had to deal with was the division of ships into watertight compartments. The convention provides that the degree of safety should increase in a regular and continuous manner with the length of vessels, and that vessels shall be as efficiently subdivided as possible, having regard to the services for which they are intended. It is also explicitly stated that the requirements imposed by the convention are minimum requirements. "The convention provides that all merchant vessels when engaged in international or colonial voyages, whether steamers or sailing vessels, and whether carrying passengers or not, must be equipped with wireless telegraphy if they have on board fifty persons or more, except where that number is increased owing to causes beyond the master's control. The contracting states, however, have the discretion to make suitable exemptions in certain cases, the most important of which is in connection with vessels which, in the course of their voyage, do not go more than 160 miles from the nearest land. THE BLACK CAP Discussing the action of Mr. Justice Ridley recently in passing death sentence at the Old Bailey without assuming the black cap, the London Law Journal says the judge was well justified on this occasion in omitting the grim formality. "The black cap owes its origin to the Order of the Gif, and according to one historian is the covering expressly assigned to veil the cof on the only occasion when it was required to be hidden. By the ancient privilege of the serjeants the cof was not to be taken off even in the royal presence. It was to be displayed when sitting on the bench or gliding at the bar, but this rule seems always to have been departed from in passing sentence of death. The head of the administrator of justice was then covered or veiled as a token of sorrow, by the black sentence cap.

ANNNOYING DANDRUFF W. C. T. U. URGES REFORM

Will Make Canada a Bald-Headed Nation if Not Checked

M. Pasteur, the great French physician of Paris, once said: "I believe that one day the world of all diseases will be caused by germs."

Dandruff is caused by germs, a fact accepted by all physicians. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness.

Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back. It wets itching scalp, falling hair and makes the hair grow thick and abundant.

It puts life and lustre into the hair and prevents it from turning gray. It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease and stickiness.

It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease and stickiness. It is the favorite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of fascinating hair.

EATING RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLE

A Prominent Physician's Advice "Eat good foods and plenty of them. Dieting, in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain or physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will be at once relieved."

Dr. J. C. McLeod, of Montreal, writes: "I have suffered terribly with my head for weeks at a time and I thought I would go mad. A friend advised me to give Burdock Blood Bitters a trial, so I got a bottle and found relief. I have used four bottles in all and I am glad to say that I have had no more headaches since. I would advise all sufferers to give it a fair trial."

LIVERPOOL PUSHING LONDON

London, Jan. 20.—London has a task cut out for itself to hold its own in the export and import trade. During the year of 1912 Liverpool showed a much more rapid growth in this business than did the metropolis, although London still led by $50,000,000.

The trade through Liverpool amounted to more than $1,876,000,000, excluding coastwise goods, showing an increase of $185,000,000, while London during the same time showed an increase of only $75,000,000.

London suffered a severe setback through strikes and lack of port facilities. The port of London authorities are now spending millions in the improvement of the docks in the hope of inducing the steamship companies to send their larger freight steamers here.

Thought She Would Go Mad WITH HEADACHE.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, for with the cause removed the headache vanishes for all time. Headache powders just relieve for the time being, but what is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Althea Bowman, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have suffered terribly with my head for weeks at a time and I thought I would go mad. A friend advised me to give Burdock Blood Bitters a trial, so I got a bottle and found relief. I have used four bottles in all and I am glad to say that I have had no more headaches since. Court Gives Damages For Fraudulent Imitation

Bold Attempt to Deceive the Public with an Imitation of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

You can scarcely imagine an imitator with sufficient audacity to put on the market an exact imitation of a medicine so thoroughly well-known as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. And yet this is exactly what was done a few months ago in the city of Montreal.

A study of the wrappers reproduced on this page will show you that the imitation is a direct steal, word for word. The only difference being in the portrait which takes the place of that of DR. CHASE and the name DR. ROSS. The company name at the bottom was, by the way, purely fictitious as was also the registration number. Not only were the wrappers the same color, but the pills, the wooden boxes, the inside labels, were all just as like Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as they could be made.

Such a deliberate attempt to defraud the unsuspecting public and steal the reputation of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills had never previously come to our attention, and an appeal was immediately made to the courts to stop by injunction the sale of the imitation. This was followed by an action for $50,000.00 damages against Mr. Ethier and the discontinuance of the manufacture and sale of the imitation.

Our object in telling you about this is to show how particular one must be when buying Dr. Chase's medicines. While not many dealers will take the chances of punishment which Mr. Ethier did by directly imitating the medicines, very many have some substitute to offer and will try to talk you into accepting it in place of the genuine. Why? There is only one reason. More profit. Medicine is one thing on which you cannot afford to take chances. Always remember that an imitation is like the original in name only and insist on getting what you ask for.

NEED $200,000 FOR HOSPITALS

Proposals Before The County Council

H. R. McLellan New Warden—Electric Light For Municipal Home—Lancaster Taxes

Harry R. McLellan, commissioner of public safety for St. John city, was elected warden of the city and county of St. John in the place of the retiring warden, Thomas B. Carson, at the quarterly meeting of the municipal council which was held yesterday afternoon when the council met in the city hall.

The expenditure of some $200,000 which will probably be necessary for the first building, when taken in conjunction with the estimated annual cost of $80,000 for maintenance of the proposed tuberculosis hospital, was the cause of debate, some, including Councillor Frink, deeming the expense too heavy to be undertaken without even fuller consideration and until the public should be more conversant with the facts in relation to the proposed expenditure.

The matter of tardy collection of taxes in the parish of Lancaster and that of installing electric light in the municipal home were also debated, it being decided to proceed with the latter.

The new warden, on taking the chair, paid tribute to the honest, conscientious and useful work of his predecessor. He dwelt on the importance of the matter of county assessment, saying that this would have to be taken up and a re-evaluation of the whole county for assessment purposes. Relative to political differences that he believed to be rather bitter between some members of the council, he said he did not want to be considered a mediator, and that if he had been or should be considered such he would produce satisfactory reasons to show that anything he might have done was justified. He hoped any existing differences of opinion might be laid aside, especially in this matter of assessment which he considered to be a vital issue.

A vote of thanks to the retiring warden, moved by Councillor Frink, was adopted unanimously.

Doctor Thomas Walker was heard regarding the construction of new fire escapes on the General Public Hospital at a cost of $6,400 and was assured that the matter would be dealt with.

Plans of the new building which it is proposed to build in White street on five expropriated lots as a nucleus for the new hospital, were submitted to the committee by H. C. Mott, architect.

Dr. Walker remarked that the original suggestion of extending the hospital to meet increased requirements had not found favor and was abandoned, and the matter of submitting plans for the nucleus of a new building had been left in the hands of the hospital commissioners. This had been done, and the estimated cost of the first part of the building was $270,000, the building to accommodate 140 patients, with an additional structure to house the staff. The building was four stories in height, facing on White street. He pointed out that in Toronto accommodation in the most modern hospital for 700 patients had cost initially about $8,000 a patient.

The only question was whether the municipality could afford the money or whether the city would have to go on indefinitely with the old building. He urged the necessity for an x-ray plant, and an extended out-patient department. For the former there was no room in the present building, he said. He referred to a letter that had been published anonymously, saying that the matter had been long enough before the public for them to know all about it.

After examining the plans submitted the committee rose and reported in council.

The report of the finance committee was considered as read, and taken up section by section. A blank space was left for the amount to be set aside for the maintenance of the proposed tuberculosis hospital.

Councillor Schofield said that this space had been left blank as the estimated cost of $40,000 for the first year had not been as yet definitely fixed. He said the plans had been drawn and the council had already decided to go ahead with the building, having got an expert report on the subject. He urged that the matter should be proceeded with as soon as possible. The cost of $40,000 was only for the first year, as $10,000 of that amount was for furnishing, and allowed for the hospital being filled all the time to its capacity of 80 patients. The councillor said he was strongly in favor of proceeding with the building without further delay, though the high cost of maintenance had set him thinking.

Councillor Schofield's motion that the sum of $10,000 be appropriated for the first year's maintenance was carried. The remaining appropriations, as already published, were then voted without discussion, with the exception of the sum of $2,800 for the installation of electric light in the municipal home.

An amendment was proposed that the question be deferred for consideration at a later meeting of the council, but was not carried.

The original motion, that the lights be installed at a cost not to exceed $2,800, was then voted on and carried.

The report of the finance committee was then received and gave rise to further discussion.

ATLANTIC RATE WAR IS LIKELY

German Companies at Loggerheads Over Share Allotted Them—Conference in Paris Today

Berlin, Jan. 20.—The prospects are outwardly very slight for a renewal of North Atlantic shipping pool at the conference to be held in Paris tomorrow, according to reports from Bremen and Hamburg, but there is an undercurrent of opinion that a disastrous general rate war between the various companies will be prevented.

The German companies in spite of the intervention of the emperor and the expressed displeasure of the business world are apparently still at loggerheads. The Hamburg-American persists in its refusal to attend the conference in Paris because its demand for an increase in

ITS QUOTA OF THE STEERAGE PASSENGERS BUSINESS HAS NOT BEEN GRANTED IN ADVANCE

The company demands forty-seven per cent. instead of the forty-three per cent. it at present enjoys. This would reduce the quota of the North German Lloyd from fifty-seven to fifty-three per cent.

The North German Lloyd line is sending to Paris a delegation consisting of four of its chief directors on the assumption that other business than the simple recognition of the fact of dissolution of the pool will be transacted. Attempts may be made, it is said, to find other means of compensating the Hamburg-American.

SAYS AUTOMOBILE IS CHURCHES' WORST ENEMY

Washington, Jan. 20.—The automobile is chiefly responsible for the present day slim attendance in church congregations, according to Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith, rector of the fashionable St. Thomas' Episcopal church here.

He refuted the theory that women's clubs are the cause of the decline in church attendance. "Much of the blame," he declared, "can be laid at the door of the ministers themselves. They do not work hard enough."

CONSERVATION COMMISSION

Co-operation of Women's Council—Protection of Game and Insectivorous Birds

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—At the meeting of the Conservation Commission here yesterday Mrs. H. P. Plumtree, wife of Rev. Canon Plumtree of Toronto, gave an address of the co-operation between the commission and the National Council of Women, of which organization she is the recording secretary.

Dr. Chas. A. Hodgetts, medical adviser to the commission is preparing a report on sewage disposal, as followed in England and Germany. Housing and town-planning are to be taken up actively.

The necessity for immediate action on the part of Canada and its provinces if game and insectivorous birds were to be saved from extermination in the near future, was emphasized by W. S. Haskell of New York, counsel for the American Game Protective and Propagation Association, in an address in the afternoon.

Apart from their value for sport, the economic importance of many species of migratory birds, which prey upon injurious insects, constituted a sufficient reason for their protection. The United STATES CONGRESS IN LAST MARCH PASSED THE MIGRATORY BIRD LAW, WHICH PROVIDED FOR THE PRESERVATION AND PROTECTION OF INSECTIVOROUS AND GAME BIRDS.

Recognizing, however, that the problem was an international one, the Senate

GOVERNMENT ON DEFENSIVE

Broken Pledges and Inefficiency

MR. MACLEAN'S CHARGES

Rakes The Tories Fore and Aft—Feeble Reply by Hon. Mr. White—No Policy to Offer

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—In regard to almost every count of the national and political issues now before parliament and the people of Canada, the government has started the session on the defensive.

A. K. MacLean took one hour this afternoon on resuming the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne in summing up the various indictments against the government in regard to broken pledges, dishonest and inefficient administration, and lack of any constructive statesmanship in dealing with the economic problems of the country. It took Hon. W. T. White over three hours to reply. His explanations were as weak as his defence.

Mr. MacLean pointed to the growing, wasteful and unnecessary expenditures, the increase of public debt and the borrowing of upwards of $50,000,000 by the minister of finance in a tight money market this year.

Mr. White admitted the growing expenditures and went into a long and labored explanation as to why he had to borrow so much. He gave no promise for any economy for the future.

Mr. MacLean recalled Premier Borden's pre-election promises of senate reform and noted that every member on the government side now fancied himself ticketed and routed for the senate.

Mr. White frankly admitted that the government was simply relying on death and Providence to reform the senate, so that the government could force through its measures.

Mr. MacLean characterized the government's attitude on the naval question as one of "cowardice and inefficiency."

Since the emergency was admittedly dead what reason could the government advance for not submitting forthwith its permanent policy?

Will Keep Emergency in Cold Storage. Mr. White simply replied in effect that when the government had a majority, the emergency would be again produced and the contribution proposals renewed.

Mr. MacLean referred to Mr. Borden's flamboyant pre-election pledges of honest elections with the recent record of Chateaugay and MacDonald.

Mr. White made no reply whatever to the government side now fancied himself ticketed and routed for the senate.

Mr. MacLean developed the problem of the high cost of living and restricted trade with the Liberal proposals to remedy conditions by removal of duties on foodstuffs and wider markets. It took Mr. White a full hour to explain that it's tariff had nothing to do with the cost of living and that the protesting for the Canadians to do was to be optimistic and to believe that conditions would right themselves. He concluded with a significant declaration that there was no public opinion in favor of a general revision of the tariff downward at the present time.

"Free food," he said, "means free trade."

Hon. Frank Oliver the last speaker of the day in a compelling and logical speech pointed out that the only suggestion which the government had to offer was to encourage agricultural production and make the farmers the prosperous, yet when the authorized representatives of the farmers asked for free wheat the government refused to give it to them.

In the Senate. The address in reply to the speech from the throne was moved by Senator Mason of Toronto, in the upper chamber. The increased cost of living he attributed to increased population and the failure of agricultural production to keep pace, to consequences from wars, particularly that in the Balkans, and the troubles in Mexico, which affected money throughout the world.

MATTHEWSON'S BIG LEAGUE GOSSIP

BY CHRISTY MATTHEWSON THE GIANTS' STAR PITCHER

Copyright, 1914, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc. Christy Mathewson, New York Baseball Club. Dear Sir—What in your opinion are the greatest assets for a pitcher? How would you tell a boy to begin pitching? I have seen some pictures of you showing your son how to pitch, in the papers recently. What is the greatest single asset that a twirler can carry? If you will reply to these questions, you will oblige a constant follower of your articles.

Yours sincerely, CONSTANT FOLLOWER. This correspondent of mine has been fairly asked me a hard one. Answering his questions in their order, I should say that the greatest assets of a pitcher are speed, with a good hop on the fast one; control, nerve under fire and in the pinches. My advice to any one consulting me with the ambition to become a big league pitcher is to try to be as much like Walter Johnson as possible. If he simply observes this rule, he will probably get along very nicely.

The greatest single mechanical asset a pitcher can have is control—he wants to put the ball just where he wants it—because, as he gets schooled in the ways of the big leagues, he begins to calculate the "grooves" or weaknesses of the various batters, and unless he has control, he is not able to take advantage of this knowledge. Of course, I believe of this "heart," as ball players call it, is most essential to a pitcher, but that is a really psychological quality. If I were to give a boy just one single scrap of advice about how to go to work to develop into a pitcher, I would urge him to practice controlling the ball. This can be accomplished by pitching constantly at a knot hole in the fence or by getting some younger boy, whose ambitions have not been so far developed yet that he thinks he is a pitcher, to catch for you with a plank cut the size and shape of a regular catcher's mitt. Let him pitch to you. Be sure to have the ball call for a high one on the inside, or a low one on the outside, or the same two kinds on the outside, and have him determine balls and strikes on your pitching as accurately as possible.

As my own speed began to fade after several years of service in the big leagues, I worked more and more on my control. I did not hit a single big league batter with a pitched ball. It is a company that I have established an absolutely clean record in this respect. The number of men I have hit in every succeeding season since entering the big league has been diminishing about proportionately. My control was not very highly developed when I first broke into baseball.

I recall one game which the Giants were playing against the old Cincinnati club with me pitching, when "Joe" Kelley was the Reds' manager and "Eagle Eye Jake" Beckley played first base. Beckley was at the bat, and he thought he had been tipped off to a curve ball by me, and he was coaching on third base and attempting to get on signs. It was a fast one, and Beckley was up there set for away from the ball. It caught him on the side of the head, and he was in the hospital for a few days. The pitch was as scious for two days. The pitch was as much Beckley's fault as mine. However, if my control had been as good then as it is now, he would not have been hit. I dislike to "bean" batters because a hard blow on the head is liable to put a good man out of baseball by making him what we call "bat shy." Bill Lauder played third base on the Giants in the early days of McGraw in New York. I was pitching for the morning batting practice at the Polo Grounds one day when Lauder came up for his turn. He was a man who always crowded the plate, and I shot him way high and fast and close in. It was what I called my whisker trimmer ball, a wicked delivery, and in those days it took a good sized hop toward a right handed batter, which Lauder was. It caught him in the side of the head, this particular pitch being league baseball since then. He was badly hurt. He has never held the thing up against me. I saw him only last summer, and we were talking about the incident. I kept insisting how sorry I was, for the accident has always worried me.

"Oh, that's all right, Matty," Bill told me. "It was a question of salary that made me quit the game and not being 'beated' by you."

After that incident, I made up my mind to make my control as perfect as possible. I never intentionally threw a ball at the batters' head, as some pitchers do to drive a batter back from the plate. It is too dangerous. Few men can get a solid smash in the head without being made "bat shy." Take the case of "Jack" Martin, a promising young shortstop the New York Americans picked up two seasons ago. Martin was game clear through. American Leaguers have told me, and this quality was building up a promising future for him until he went to bat against Walter Johnson one day in his first year out. He was so eager to get a hit off the Washington winder that he stood too close to the plate and caught a fast one in the ear. Martin tried hard to come back, when he got out of the hospital, but he always pulled away from the plate afterwards, so they tell me, and he is now in the minors.

Roger Bresnahan is one of the few big league stars who took a fast ball in the face, a knocker, unconscious and evidently never thought of it again by the way in which he has batted since. But Roger has great nerve, an unusual amount. Sometimes too much control works against a pitcher. Batters seldom fear being hit when I am pitching and therefore stand up to the plate much better than against some man who has the reputation of being wild. If a man stands up to the base, of course, he has a better chance of getting a hit.

Players hit a fast ball pitcher with more control. The Giants were playing Boston one day late last fall, after we had the pennant cinched, and Stallings was trying out some left handed pitcher. This pitcher had plenty of speed, but apparently no notion of the locality of the plate, as is the case with many young southpaws, and did once, too, for that matter. None of our club was over anxious about being "beated" by this fellow and so some of the veterans were pulling away. McGraw did not call them down for it, as he would ordinarily.

"Don't take any chances," warned even "Mac" when he saw the calibre of this pitcher.

Therefore, I would advise the writer of the letter which I have used in this article to strike for control, if it is his ambition to be a pitcher. The curves and speed will come of themselves. All the best twirlers have had control. Plank had it to a narrow edge in the final game of the last world's series which he won while working against me. He also carried an abundance of "heart," as usual, always a necessary asset. Only once was he in real difficulties, and then his infield crowded around him to encourage. But "Eddie" did not need the salve.

"Get back where you belong and let me work," ordered Plank.

"You might think he was pitching hay out on his farm," said Baker, as he watched Plank pitch himself out of the hole with apparent indifference to the pressing circumstances.

Have Been An Untold Benefit

NEW BRUNSWICK WOMAN PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. She Suffered for Four Years, and the Doctor Couldn't Cure Her. But Dodd's Kidney Pills Gave Her a New Lease of Life.

Portland, Carleton Co., N. B., Jan. 20. (Special)—"I find Dodd's Kidney Pills the best kidney medicine I have ever used. They have been of untold benefit to me."

The speaker is Mrs. John S. Dickinson of this place. She is enthusiastic in her praise of the great Canadian kidney remedy, and not without reason. "I suffered from kidney trouble that started in a cold," she continues, "and for four years I was never free of it. I was treated by a doctor, but he did not seem to be able to do me much good. I had rheumatism and neuralgia, and my joints were stiff; my muscles cramped, and I was always tired and nervous. I perspired freely with the slightest exertion. I was depressed and low spirited, my limbs swelled, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins.

"Nine boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me."

Are not Mrs. Dickinson's symptoms those of a run-down, worn-out woman? They are also the symptoms of kidney disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills give new life to run-down women by curing their kidneys.

WILSON GETS OPTIMISTIC LETTERS ON BUSINESS

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Wilson has been receiving optimistic and estimates on the business situation throughout the country which lead him to believe that a general confidence in the future exists.

The president told callers yesterday that while he had no sufficient analysis of the situation and his letters were of various colors, in the main conditions were optimistic. He is said to believe that in some industries, especially those depending on the railroads, conditions have not been so satisfactory, but he made it clear, incidentally, that he had not expressed any opinion as he had been reported, on the propriety of increasing freight rate. The question let it be known, however, that while he held distinct views on the president, he did not feel that he could express them while the subject was being determined by a semi-judicial body.

With reference to the tariff the president's letters led him to the belief that business activity has been stimulated by it and the average small merchant is in better condition now than formerly.

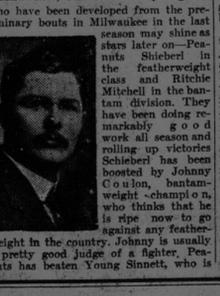

HIGH POTATO PRICES. Growers Are Holding Back Product in Hopes of Raise; About Half of Crop Marketed.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Unusually high prices prevail in the potato markets because the farmers this year are holding a larger proportion of this vegetable than was held in the last four years, in the belief that they will profit by a further rise in prices, according to a statement on Saturday by the department of agriculture. The supply, however, is said to be normal and the conditions do not forecast any material advance in prices.

In consequence of the firm holding of the potato by producers of Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota—important producing states—the price was about 17½ cents a bushel higher than a year ago and 10½ cents higher than the 1910 crop remained in the hands of farmers and 9½ cent. in the hands of the dealers on Jan. 1 in the important potato-growing states.

Two Youngsters Who May Be Stars

(FROM T. E. ANDREWS)

Milwaukee, Jan. 19.—Two youngsters who have been developed from the preliminary bouts in Milwaukee in the last season may shine as stars later on—Pennants Schiebel in the featherweight class and Ritchie Mitchell in the bantam division. They have been doing remarkably good work all season and were rolled up victories Schiebel has been boosted by Johnny Coulson, bantamweight champion, who thinks that he is ripe now to go against any featherweight in the country. Johnny is usually a pretty good judge of a fighter. Pennants has beaten Young Smetter, who is louted as a world beater, and if he can go along at the same speed he will soon be ready for big game.

Mitchell is fast developing into a featherweight, although at present he scales just 117 pounds in condition. He is tall and reminds one very much of a clever bantam named Harry Harris when he was fighting around Chicago and later in New York. He has a snappy left hand like Harris and he stings, too, when he lands. Mitchell was sent against Dick Leadman of Pittsburgh, who recently gave Kid Williams a ten round argument, and during eight rounds Dick did not land half a dozen clean blows on the best city youth.

There are some who figure Harlem Tommy Murphy to have a good chance of beating Ritchie, but I cannot see it for a moment. Tommy is not a spring chicken any more, being twenty-nine years of age, and has been in the fight game for more than ten years. Ritchie is in his prime and has the advantage of weight and size. I look for a good battle, but cannot figure it any other way than a victory for the present holder of the title.

As for Wolgast and Rivers, that is another story. They are old rivals and Ad holds a win over his husky opponent, but Rivers has always said that it was a chance victory and should never have been allowed. They will meet in Milwaukee before the National Athletic club and from the interest shown the place will be packed. It is about even having the greater number of admirers. A great battle is looked for when they clash and from the looks of the Spanish boy, Mr. Wolgast is going to have his hands full.

Notes About Books and Writers In London
(London Special Correspondence.)
London, Jan. 16—Who was the vainest man in modern history, as well as the greatest "Fool-Bah" on record? One is inclined, after reading extracts from his voluminous diaries and from the notes and chronicles of his that son are to be sold at auction in London, to award these distinctions to the late Major-General L. Macquarie, who once was governor of New South Wales.
These private journals of his, a weighty package that has been tossed about for eighty-nine years since it left Botany Bay, will be sold to the highest bidder at Sotheby's sales rooms on Jan. 22.
Fewer than forty years then had passed since Captain Cook's first encounter with the natives, and Australia was new to the white man—just the place for an official with a habit of discovering rivers and mountains and improving them by affixing his celebrated name to them.
Stones "laid by L. Macquarie, Esq.," were as numerous as the opportunities for planting them. He was the champion foundation-stone layer of all time. But the name of Macquarie had to be plastered also on the works of nature. There are Macquarie streets and Macquarie buildings everywhere.
In his own opinion, Macquarie was the pioneer of religion and morality. Natives were taught not to steal by being shot at sight with their wives and families—innocent with guilty. Some writers on Australia have painted Macquarie as a monster. It is more interesting to recall that he struck the English public of his own day as a man too merciful black cat with a grotesque grin, its tail thrust through a label inscribed: "Keep me, I'm a mascot."

Sorry He Tried It
She: "Did you make papa come to terms as you said you would?"
He: "Yes, and they were the very worst that anyone ever applied to me."

Futurist parties are the latest in literary circles here, the first one having been given by Ford Madox Hueffer, author of "The Fifth Queen" and "Ladies Whose Bright Eyes," whose fortieth birthday occurred last Saturday. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wells and the chief incident of the evening was a "Futurist Tragedy" written by Mrs. Heffer, which, enacted in a series of shadow pictures, evoked, I am told, shrieks of laughter.
Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who already has several ingenious inventions (apart from his stories), to his credit, has just added another. This is a book-marker, which is already exceedingly popular with women-readers. It represents a

Story by Frances Hodgson Burnett
CECELIA LOFTUS, whose winsome cleverness and rare skill have won her the envious distinction of a prominent place among the popular stars of the day at a surprisingly young age, endows the motion picture by her first appearance before the camera with a new charm and glory. The subject, from the pen of a famous authoress, is an idyllic blending of the romance, beauty and daring of the days of knight-hood. In the impersonation of Cecelia, a gay boyhood whose spirit and heart are broken by Sir John Oron, a beau ideal of London Town, Miss Loftus renders a delicate and appealing portrayal. The play is a brilliant reproduction of the warmth and color of a picturesque period.

THE JUDGES

Speculation as to Who Will Be Third to Move to St. John

There is considerable speculation among the lawyers as to which judge of the King's Bench division of the Supreme Court will have to remove his residence to St. John, under the amendment to the act which recently went into force all the judges of the Court of Appeals and Chancery Division must reside here. Chief Justice McLeod already lives in St. John and, as announced yesterday, Justice White and Gritmer will have to move to this city. The act provides also that two judges of the King's Bench division shall reside in St. John and one in Fredericton. This division includes Chief Justice Landry and Justices Barry, McKeown and Crockett. Of these Justice McKeown is the only one who lives in St. John at present and it is supposed that he will remain here. Justices Barry and Crockett both live in Fredericton and the chief justice in Dorchester. It is altogether probable that the judge who will be required to reside in Fredericton will be one of those now living there but there is nothing to indicate which of the three will be required to come to St. John. Some expect that Chief Justice Landry may be the one not living in either St. John or Fredericton. As head of the division it is probable that he will have something to say in the matter, however, and he is wished to remain where he is. It is probable that he would be able to insist upon Justice Barry or Justice Crockett making the change. If there was any disinclination by them to take advantage of this opportunity legal men say it might be natural to expect that the choice would fall upon Justice Crockett as the junior member of the bench.

MAYOR WAS NOT ON TRAIN WHEN WRECKED; LEFT IT AT MONCTON

Because of an announcement that Mayor Frink left for Halifax and did not board the train which was afterwards wrecked there were inquiries today regarding His Worship's safety. Fortunately he was not on board the train when the accident occurred as he was going only to Moncton and had left the train before it was wrecked. He expected to return to St. John this evening.

PROTECTING OUR FAIR NAME AGAINST THE SLANDERERS

The board of trade has not been idle in the matter of the false statements that have been made regarding the safety of navigation in the Bay of Fundy. The president, J. M. Robinson, some ten days ago asked the marine department for a record of the number of sailings in and out of the Bay of Fundy as far back as records are conveniently available, with also a statement of the percentage of loss.

When this has been prepared the board will give the facts the widest publicity. In the meantime the board is sending out today a list of newspaper statements of the facts as revealed in previous reports prepared by the board, showing beyond question the approach to the port of St. John is as safe as that to any port north of Cape Hatteras.

UTILITIES COMMISSION IN SESSION HERE AGAIN

Hearing in connection with the application of the Eastern Electric and Development Company of Sackville for permission to increase their rates was continued before the Public Utilities Commission here this morning in the provincial government rooms, Prince William street. Those present were G. O. D. Otty, A. B. Connell, Felix Michael, F. Robinson, J. B. M. Baxter, counsel for the company and A. B. Copp, counsel for the town of Sackville, and the witnesses.

The witnesses were Charles W. Fawcett, a member of the company; J. D. Doull, police magistrate of Sackville, and an architect, who gave evidence regarding the cost of the buildings owned by the company, and Kenneth D. Pickard, secretary of the company, who was recalled.

Mr. Pickard was on the stand when the commission adjourned for lunch and will be on again this afternoon. The commission hopes to conclude the hearing of evidence today.

A SEWELL STREET DOG

Threats of vengeance, uncharitable thoughts and ugly sentiments are entertained by residents who traverse Sewell street to any extent, against a collie dog which is the subject of annoyance to them and causes them to pass in terror. One young man who works in a downtown office has been known to take five minutes for three mornings in succession because of making a wide detour to avoid the greetings of the canine, as he is of too kindly and sympathetic a nature to do, as others driven to desperation have done—walk bravely along with one eye on the dog and the other on a missile or a stick, ready for use if the occasion demanded.

There has been more than one encounter. One young man says he is doubtful whether the dog in question is actually fierce or not. He has heard of the animal having had to be muzzled. He has also heard of his having knocked down little school girls, but when he comes at the young man he is both barking loudly and wagging his tail energetically.

It was said yesterday that the police had been appealed to, but the animal was still busy every day taking possession of the street.

THE ROYAL EDWARD MAILS

The steamer Royal Edward, which is expected to dock at Long Wharf tomorrow morning, is bringing about 1,600 pieces of mail which, it is understood, will be sent west over the C. P. R. The steamer passengers will be taken to meet the dredge and will be thence taken west by special train.

AFTER DREDGE'S EQUIPMENT

An effort will be made today to raise the portion of the Don Frederic's ladder and turret, which was lost while the dredge was at work near the entrance to Courtenay Bay Monday. A hoisting scow with a crew of men aboard went this morning to where the part was dropped.

JAS. CAMPBELL WRITES OF POLICE INVESTIGATION

Former Sergeant in Answer to Charges Against Him—Invites Reputation of Them in Press

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir—In justice to my character I crave space in your columns to answer some grave charges which were made against me at the police investigation recently held by the commissioner of public safety, at which policemen now on the force, as well as ex-policemen, made statements in answer to questions put by the commissioner regarding upon me, largely upon hearsay. I may say that during the investigation I retained counsel and upon his advice I allowed the matter to stand until the investigation was concluded. Subsequently I consulted him with reference to whether or not I could not maintain an action for slander and was advised that the investigation was a privileged occasion. If this were not the case I would most assuredly commence an action against those who made statements imputing dishonesty to me.

I resigned from the police force in consequence of the intervention of the commissioner of public safety, after a record of 22 years and during that whole period there was never a charge of dishonesty made against me. I am now employed in the Opera House as a policeman sworn in for the purpose and with the recommendation of the position by the manager of the Imperial Theatre, who was a newspaperman and who has known me for many years.

As I am denied the right to bring an action because of the privilege which surrounds those who slandered me at the investigation, I now invite all those who uttered such slanders on that occasion to come out publicly if they desire to do so and repeat the slanders in the public press and give me an opportunity to vindicate my character in court.

Though a poor man, my good name is precious to me and my family and I am seeking only the opportunity which should be afforded every British subject to clear his character when it is falsely aspersed.

In conclusion I wish to say I am credibly informed that the commissioner of public safety personally visited Haley Bros. and made inquiries of the firm as to their belief in my honesty and was assured by one of the members that they had perfect trust in me. I am also indebted to that gentleman, Robert Woods, former watchman at Haley Bros., along the same lines and got the same answer from Mr. Woods. Moreover, Mr. Woods, night watchman at Haley Bros., along the same lines and got the same answer from Mr. Woods. Moreover, Mr. Woods, night watchman at Haley Bros., along the same lines and got the same answer from Mr. Woods.

PITIFUL STORY FOR WOMAN TO HAVE TO DISCLOSE

North End Wife Beating Case Includes Bottle Drinking at Home and Sunday Purchase in Street

A pitiful case was heard in the police court this morning, when Scott Fanjoy of Main street was brought before Magistrate Ritchie on a charge of beating his wife, Mary E., and turning her out of the house on Sunday night. Mrs. Fanjoy said that her husband came home drunk on Saturday evening and that he had some liquor with him. This he drank during the night. He made quite a disturbance, broke furniture and quarrelled with her and her two sons. One of the boys was hit on the face and his nose made to bleed. A policeman was called in. Mrs. Fanjoy said that her husband gave her some money with which to buy food and clothes for the children but he afterwards took this from her. On Sunday, she said, he went out and got a bottle of gin in the street and on Sunday night he was worse than ever and pulled her out of bed. Mrs. Fanjoy said she was barely able to get a few clothes together when she was ordered out of the house. She picked up her baby and went to a neighbor's house where she spent the remainder of the night and all the following day until she felt sure her husband had left the house.

Mrs. Fanjoy also said on the stand that her husband worked on a vessel and did not support her as she was obliged with the aid of her two sons to pay the rent and buy provisions. Mrs. Fanjoy said he remembered nothing of the charge of beating his wife but admitted that he had been drinking. He asked to be allowed to go back to his work and said he would live on the vessel and not make any more trouble for his wife. Mrs. Fanjoy said this would be perfectly satisfactory to her as she did not wish to have him punished but wanted to live in peace.

The magist rate imposed a fine of $20 or two months in jail but said he was giving him a light sentence on account of what Mrs. Fanjoy had said about not giving him a light sentence. He added that the witness to prosecute. He added that the witness brought before him charged with wife beating would be sent to jail without a fine.

Oscar Dize who was arrested yesterday morning charged with being drunk and deliberately breaking a window in the store of Wilfred Barlow, pleaded guilty and was remanded. Mr. Barlow said he ordered him out three times and when the prisoner refused to go he was put out. Then he deliberately turned round and broke the window. It is said that Dize is trying to get in jail for the winter. If so he will probably be allowed to go.

THEFT OF $10 CHARGED

Alexander Robins was brought before the police court this morning to answer to a charge of stealing $10 from Frank Garson last Wednesday. Mr. Garson said that the prisoner was working for him and gave the prisoner an order for $10 and he had not seen Robins since until he was brought from Moncton yesterday. He had been arrested there. Mr. Garson said he had often given orders to Robins, and that he had always brought back the money. The prisoner elected to be tried in the police court and the case was adjourned until Friday morning.
