DESPERATE FIGHT WITH BRITISH

Thirty Warships Sighted on The Cattagat Off Swedish Coast—Russian Bombarding Przemysl Day and Night

War weather report—Rains in northern France, snow furries in the Vosges, damp and cold in Galicia.

Paris, Sept. 23—British reinforcements have landed in France. The Germans have occupied the heights of the Meuse and are marching on St. Mihiel. The French have occupied the opposite heights before Verdun. German reinforcements from Liege oppose the British on the allies' left wing and the fighting is desperate. British and French cavalry have cut the German line of communication between Cambria and St. Quentin. Some German siege guns have been captured by the French. The bombardment of Przemysl continues day and night. The Russian advance guard is before Cracow. The Dutch liner Amstelwijk with German reservists on board, was captured by a British cruiser. A small British steamer, the India Prince, was sunk by Kron Prinz Wilhelm off the coast of South America. A mine has sunk the Austrian steamer Baron Gautsch in the Adriatic. Thirty warships were sighted on the Cattagat off the Swedish coast. Berlin, Sept. 23—Heaviest siege artillery is steadily reducing the fortifications at Verdun. The loss of life at Verdun on the German side is estimated at 10,000 killed and 15,000 wounded.

GERMANS LOSE SIEGE GUNS

London, Sept. 25—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says that in the hurried retreat from Paris the Germans lost several of their big siege guns with which they had intended to reduce the Paris forts.

Owing to the rains they were left stuck fast in the mud. French sappers have since been engaged in digging them out. They will be brought back to the French base.

What Berlin Says

GERMANS ADMIT HEAVY LOSSES

Paris, Sept. 25—The Matin publishes a despatch from Basle, Switzerland, credited to the Fourier Agency, which says that Germans in flight from Lorraine declare that during the attack upon the entrenched camp at Verdun the Austrian and German artillery had 10,000 dead and 15,000 wounded. Many of the wounded died where they fell, it is stated, owing to lack of prompt treatment.

GERMANS WANT TO CROSS SWITZERLAND

Rome, Sept. 25—The Giornale D'Italia publishes a report from Basle that Switzerland has refused a German request for permission to send a Swiss army corps across Swiss territory.

British Subjects in Germany

London, Sept. 25—The Lord Mayor of London has received from Mrs. Gerard, wife of the American ambassador to Germany, a letter in which she says that virtually all British subjects now in Germany are on the register of the British emergency relief fund, of which she is president.

"All Britishers requiring help," she adds, "are being looked after by local committees formed by the American consul for their districts and directed by the central office, which is under the protection of the American embassy. This week we are despatching 300 more women and children and early next week we have reason to hope the authorities will allow invalids and men over forty-five years of age to leave Germany."

Saved from the Cap Trafalgar

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 25—The German steamer Waermann has arrived here after an African cruise, having on board eighteen officers and 282 other persons from the German steamer Cap Trafalgar, which was sunk by the British auxiliary cruiser Carmania. Some of the party were wounded.

ONTARIO'S PREMIER IS DEAD

Sir James Whitney Passed Away In Toronto at Noon

THE LATE SIR JAMES WHITNEY. Toronto, Ont., Sept. 25—Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario, died at noon today.

Sir James Piny Whitney, premier of Ontario, died suddenly at his home, 113 St. George street. Lady Whitney and Miss Whitney were the only persons at his bedside. Dr. Herbert J. Hamilton had been hurriedly called, but when he arrived the premier had passed away. Sir James' death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, caused by hardening of the arteries.

Sir James Whitney was a son of Richard and Clarissa Leet Whitney, the former being descended from Henry Whitney, who came to America from Herefordshire, Eng., in 1640. He first saw the light of day at Williamsburg, Ont., on October 3, 1843. He was educated at the public schools in that town and also at the Cornwall Grammar School. He studied law and was very successful, practising his profession for many years in Morrisburg, and becoming one of the leaders of the bar in that section of Ontario.

In 1902 he received the honorary degree of D. C. L. from Trinity University Toronto, LL. D. from Toronto University, and Queen's University in Kingston, the latter honor being conferred in 1903. He was married in 1877, a year after being sworn in as barrister, to Miss Alice, third daughter of the late Wm. Park, of Cornwall. He saw several years of service in the volunteer militia, and was also on active duty in the Fenian raids. In his later years he held the title of lieutenant colonel in the reserve militia. After once being defeated for the seat of Dundas, Ontario, in 1886, he had for this seat since 1888 up to the time of his death. He was leader of the opposition forces in Ontario from 1886 to 1905, when he became premier and president of the council. He was made chairman of the Ottawa Interprovincial Confederation and in 1908 was selected president of the St. John Ambulance Association. He was a vice-president of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance and British Empire League, was knighted by King George during the Quebec Tercentenary celebration in 1908 and was present by invitation at the coronation of King George and Queen Mary in London in 1911, being presented to Their Majesties at Buckingham Palace in the same month. When the Borden cabinet was formed he refused to accept a seat offered him in it. In religion he was an Anglican, and was a member of the York Club, Toronto, the Albany Club, Toronto Club, and the Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto.

Again Bombarding Rheims Cathedral

Bordeaux, Sept. 25—It was announced officially in Bordeaux this afternoon, that the Germans last night recommenced bombarding the Rheims cathedral.

CARNEGIE'S PIPE DREAM

New York, Sept. 25—Andrew Carnegie reached New York today on the steamer Mauretania with a new version of how the war in Europe started. "I'll tell you how the war started," said Mr. Carnegie. "The Kaiser was on a holiday on his yacht in the North Sea. While he was away, he received a telegram asking him to return to Berlin. When he returned the mischief had already been done. The trouble was started by the German military caste that rules the country. They are responsible for the war. The Kaiser gathered around him a group of men, who, unknown to him, acted in concert and in his absence took the action that could not be altered."

WEST SIDE WAREHOUSES. A start was made this morning on the new warehouses in connection with the new terminals on the west side. The work is being done by the Maritime Dredging and Construction Co., and they expect to have them completed in time for the winter push.

NICE WARFARE, THIS!

Bordeaux, Sept. 25—The French foreign office today made the statement that General Stenger, commander of the 36th German infantry brigade, has issued an order of which the following is a translation: "Make no prisoners. Shoot all who fall into your hands, singly or in groups, and despatch the wounded, whether armed or unarmed, as the Germans must leave no Frenchmen living behind them."

WILD PEARS AND RAW POTATOES THEIR ONLY FOOD

Austrian Prisoners Tell Russians of Sorry Plight

DEAD LIE DAYS IN TRENCHES

Town-Criers Take Place of Newspapers—Czar's Troops Continue in Pursuit of Austro-German Forces—Further Successes

London, Sept. 25—"The fiercest fighting previous to the Russian capture of Jaroslavl," says Reuter's Petrograd correspondent, "seems to have been at Soudays and Vishaya. It lasted a week. The Austrians occupied the hills commanding several miles of open country, and they swept the advancing Russians with guns and quick rifles. The Russians undauntedly pushed forward, however, and on the fifth day were able to bring their guns into action. The enemy's artillery was speedily overpowered and then came bayonet fighting in which the Russians were victorious. "In the enemy's trench were found wounded and dead who had been lying there for days. Prisoners taken in the battle said they had been four days without food, their only sustenance being wild pears and raw potatoes. "Owing to the stoppage of a shortage of paper, news concerning the war is being communicated to the people of Ladin by town criers."

London, Sept. 25—The Petrograd correspondent of the Post says that the Russians have captured Przeworsk, eight miles from Jaroslavl, and Lancut, twelve miles further west. "Probably by now," the correspondent continues, "they have taken Rzeszow, another important strategic point ten miles to westward of Jaroslavl. "The Russian pursuit of the Austro-German forces is proceeding at a rapid rate. By crossing the river Vistula, they got within one march of the Vistula and the town of Tarnobrzeg, which is only a few marches from Cracow and has direct railway connections with Budapest and Vienna."

Petrograd, Sept. 25—An official announcement from Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces in the field, says: "On the southwest front the Russian forces have taken possession of the fortified position of Czesky and Foulstyn, which covered up Khvostoff and other positions in the Radymno region, (between Jaroslavl and Przemysl), taking all the enemy's artillery. "The Przemysl garrison has evacuated Bourgoale and Medyka and has been repulsed in the eastern segment, toward the line of forts. There has been no fighting on the German frontier."

Fighting Listed a Week

Paris, Sept. 25—Telegraphing from Petrograd the correspondent of the Havas Agency says that among the engagements preceding the capture of Jaroslavl by the Russians that at Sadova on the Vistula river, was the most important. This fight lasted seven days without interruption. The Austrians were engaged on the summit of some wooded hills rising from a broad unsheltered plain. The Russians were forced to charge across this open plain in the face of a raking machine gun fire. Their losses were tremendous and they were repulsed many times, until finally their guns found the range. Then their charge was successful.

MARINE INSURANCE RATES TO INDIA ARE HIGHER

New York, Sept. 25—Marine underwriters, because of the activity of the German commerce destroyers along the coast of India, have raised insurance rates to India and the Far East to five per cent again. For a time they were quoted as low as 2-1/2, although at the beginning of the war some companies charged 15 to 20 per cent for the war risk.

The rate to South American ports has likewise been advanced to 8 per cent, wherein most cases it had been only 2 per cent or less.

FIVE GERMAN AEROPLANES CAPTURED

London, Sept. 25—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in France says: "There is considerable elation in the allies' lines over the capture of five German aeroplanes by a French cavalry patrol. "Twenty cavalrymen, patrolling into a thickly wooded country, entered a clearing where the rich prize awaited them. The aviators and a number of mechanics, at the time, were overhauling five taube aeroplanes. The patrol made a dash to round up, but met with fierce resistance, and twelve cavalrymen were killed before the aviators were beaten. Their aeroplanes will never fly again."

Left Marne Because They Had To; Do Not Advance Because They Cannot

The Germans' Situation Tersely Described—Allies' Progress Slow Because Enemy is in Great Numbers and Well Armed in Strong Positions

London, Sept. 25—A correspondent of the Daily News telegraphing on Tuesday from outside of Paris, says: "The battle now proceeding is, of course, beyond description. No one can see it. It would take a good walker at least a fortnight to get from one end of the line to the other. You still come across croakers who are not yet convinced but that the Germans are playing a subtle game, that they have something up their sleeve and will presently give an alarming surprise which they now are carefully developing behind their lines, and come back to Paris. "THE COMMON SENSE OF THE MATTER IS THAT THE GERMANS WENT BACK FROM THE MARNE BECAUSE THEY HAD TO, AND THEY DO NOT ADVANCE NOW, BECAUSE THEY CANNOT. THERE IS NOTHING MORE MYSTERIOUS IN THEIR PLANS THAN THAT, AND THE ALLIES CANNOT MAKE QUICKER PROGRESS BECAUSE THE GERMANS ARE VERY MANY, ARE WELL ARMED, HAVE STRONG POSITIONS, AND KNOW THAT, IF THEY BREAK NOW, THEY BREAK FOR GOOD. "Their prolonged and formidable resistance, is not more mysterious than their retreat. Luck is almost as important in warfare as good soldiers. Admitting the value of that essential, it is safe to say the Germans will never get back to Paris. They will see Berlin first."

The submission of the report of the committee on immigration at the session of the 30th annual Trades and Labor Congress of Canada this morning brought out an interesting discussion in which there was bitter denunciation of the policy of the Dominion government in regard to their bringing settlers here. There was also strong feeling against the bonus system as favoring the Salvation Army and other bodies seeking settlers from Europe and other centres by methods declared unscrupulous, unfair to Canadians and unjust to the European who leave homes on the other side of the world to come here. The discussion on the report and its able presentation by W. R. Trotter, chairman of the committee on immigration, occupied almost the entire morning session. With a little alteration recommending the establishment of free municipal labor bureaus the report was adopted. It is expected the congress will close today.

Immigration Matters Give Labor Congress Delegates An Interesting Morning

Changes Set Out in Committee's Report Find Favor and There is Criticism of Present Conditions and Methods

Reading Clerk Stevenson read a letter from the Saskatchewan delegates asking that when an organizer was appointed for that province he should be a member of the executive. A letter from the Pottery Workers' union of St. John's, Quebec, complained of a lock-out because of refusal to accept a lower rate of wages and asked for the moral support of the congress. On motion of Delegate Rigg, it was agreed to comply with the request. A letter from the Union Label Stores Company asked for support in the purchase of goods bearing the union label.

Immigration Matters. W. R. Trotter submitted an important report upon immigration as chairman of the committee on that matter. It recommended the abolition of the bonus system and immigration campaigns. The provision of free labor bureaus which recommended the restriction or abolition of private employment agencies; and the curtailing of immigration societies. The center host of the proposal government with representatives of the colonies to regulate the matter of immigration was recommended. The ex-Delegation of the Immigration Commission was urged, also legislation prohibiting the employment of white girls by Orientals.

With respect to illiterates coming from Europe, it was recommended that there be a test of educational requirements. The report was followed by a profitable discussion. Delegate Armstrong of Winnipeg criticized the in-pouring of thousands of immigrants unskilled in any trade, which he said, the government had always contended it was unable to check. "Once the capitalist class was hit, though," he said, "it was a different matter. When they found that they had a big unemployment problem on their hands they could soon put the screws on."

Chairman Trotter deplored the statements of Obed, Smith, of the Canadian immigration department in London, regarding affairs in this country. Advertisements in British magazines had been inserted featuring Canada as a land of gold and luxury even when it was known that conditions in many localities at the time did not warrant sending any further new settlers. The government hid itself behind a shield that "farm laborers" were all it sought to have come in. Concerning a statement that 25,000 unemployed had been marching in Winnipeg, the government's official representative in the British Isles had sought to make light of it by saying that those out of work did not total one-eighth of the number, and that they were "young men in from the country."

He had also told the people of England that there were no poor-houses in Canada, because there was no need of them. The establishment of a central bureau of immigration in England was recommended by the speaker. He noted an instance wherein Colonel Lamb of the Salvation Army had advertised for 1,000 men from England to go to British Columbia. At the same time a similar advertisement from another source was placed in a Toronto newspaper and 1,200 replies were received from unemployed men desiring to go to the coast province. It was suggested that the Salvation Army drop their scheme to bring out the immigrants and favor the Toronto unemployed, but the reply was that they had already arranged for their going. Besides, said the speaker, if they brought the men from Toronto there would be no return, but they got a bonus from railways and a commission to fetch them from the old country. Western Farm Helpers. In the agricultural centres of the prairie provinces there was an unemployed problem also, despite the statements of the Dominion government in Europe that there were glorious opportunities for farm hands in Canada. Thousands of helpers from the east were rushed to the harvest fields and when the season was ended the vast majority of them drifted back to industrial centres and the unemployed problem again asserted itself.

Mr. Trotter gave a stirring advocacy of his committee's recommendation for the framing of a bill demanding an illiteracy test for immigrants to Canada. It would shut out many undesirable settlers. He strongly denounced the policy of the Dominion government in allowing their English immigration agent, Obed Smith, to make altogether unwarranted statements concerning conditions in Canada, and the opportunities presented for new settlers. He recommended having the government pass a vote of censure upon their official for his system of inducing immigration to the Dominion.

Delegate Simpson of Toronto was heard in denunciation of the immigration policies of the Salvation Army, saying they catered almost entirely to the capitalist class. He read from a newspaper clipping that Colonel Lamb, his international secretary, had proposed an enormous influx of settlers to Canada after the present war—a tragedy which would have to be richly paid by—not so much by the capitalist class but by the workers with bloody sweat and a sacrifice of life. He strongly disapproved of the system wherein the Salvation Army or any other body was paid a bonus in cash to bring settlers here.

Vice-President Bancroft favored the cessation of the immigration policy of the present government at Ottawa which was like a rubber stamp for the big financial and banking houses. Like Delegate Simpson, he was opposed to provincial exchanges, but approved of the system whereby there would be municipal control of immigration.

Fred Heatt of St. John gave his views on the subject, saying that "labor representatives were restricted from activities in immigration because the 'boss' was in control. Every 'sky-pilot,' Salvation Army leader, parson, and other followers like them was admitted to immigration offices at West St. John, but when a labor representative sought entrance he was informed he could not get in. He would like to see a change in these conditions in favor of the interests of labor."

Delegate Rigg moved an amendment to the report of the committee approving of municipal control of immigration, as opposed to the proposal of federal or provincial agencies. He spoke in favor of registration for unemployed as a means to lessen its growth. The census was not opposed to the development of immigration but to the artificial means by which it was continued. Xavier Poulin, of Lower Caracquet, was accidentally killed on board his fishing boat some miles from shore last week in an unusual manner. He was alone in the cabin of the vessel at the time, and it is supposed that he lost his balance in moving about and clutched at the side for support. Instead of grasping the wall, however, his fingers caught a loaded shotgun, which discharged its contents into his body. Those who were on the deck of the boat heard the shot, and on hastening down to the cabin were horrified to find that the charge had passed through the unfortunate man's heart, killing him instantly. The body was brought home to Lower Caracquet on Friday. His wife and family of small children survive.

FOR BRAVE BELGIANS

A letter telling of the organization of a Belgian relief fund in Nova Scotia was received from Picton by Mayor Frink on his arrival from Ottawa this morning. The letter stated that there were a great many Belgians employed by the Acadia Coal Co. during the war and it was through their efforts that the matter was arranged. Premier Murray of Nova Scotia has taken up the furtherance of the fund and the letter suggested that something along the same lines might be done here. This is following up the suggestion made to the mayor by local business men and published in the Times last week. The mayor could not say at present what action would be taken.

FORGOT TO WRITE

Minister's Statement at Labor Congress—The Officers Elected

The matter of the strike of the mine workers on Vancouver Island was threshed out yesterday afternoon at the session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. St. Andrew's Bldg. Robert Foster, of Cumberland, B. C., argued that the miners had not been well treated by the department of labor. F. Ferrington, vice-president of the International Mine Workers made a vigorous attack on Mr. Crothers' department in connection with the strike. The minister of labor replied, defending his position, though in answer to one of Mr. Ferrington's statements he said that "he had simply forgotten to write to the men in the matter."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Fox-Sege.

William A. Fox, of Fairville, and Irene, daughter of Charles Sege, of Tracy Station, were united in marriage at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning by Rev. F. R. Hayward. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Winford Webb, sister of the bride, who resides in Prospect street. The bride was attired in white chiffon over which was shadow lace, and carried a bouquet of yellow and white roses. Miss Gertrude Cole played the wedding march. The bride's going away gown was of blue with picture hat of black lace. Mr. and Mrs. Fox left soon after the wedding on a trip to Boston, New York and other American states, and on their return will reside in Fairville, where Mr. Fox conducts a grocery. The many handsome gifts received bear testimony to esteem in which both are held.

Excellent Work Done by William Nonnenman in Tile and Mantel Setting

The art in mantel and tile setting can never be secured except by an experienced master hand. In support of my claim as such, read what "The Builders' Bulletin" of Montreal says: "Mr. William Nonnenman was recently elected president of the Montreal Mantel and Tile Dealers' Association, and was chosen by the other members to represent them on the Board of Directors of the Builders' Exchange. Mr. Nonnenman has been connected with the Tile business all his life. As a lad he worked in the factories where they turned out huge quantities of the material. Then he learned the structural end of the business and in due time mastered the details of buying and selling which brought him into contact with the leading men in the trade in Canada, the United States and Great Britain. Seven years ago Mr. Nonnenman came to Montreal and was engaged as superintendent of tile setting work in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, and similar important jobs in Toronto, etc. etc."

Those who served were Mrs. Wilbur E. Snow, of Springfield, a sister of the bride; Mrs. Burton L. Gerow, of St. John, N.B., a cousin of the bride, and the Misses Ann Lee, Edith Webber and Marguerite Kilham of this city. The ushers were Messrs. A. Vernon Macaulay, Dr. John C. Wilson, George E. South and Wesley Roche. The groom's gift to the bride was a cluster ring of ruby and diamonds. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a cameo ring and the groom's gift to the best man and ushers were gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the recipients of many and beautiful presents, including silver cut glass, mahogany and several substantial checks.

During the reception, Mrs. Gerow sang several solos in a most pleasing manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will spend their honeymoon at Montreal, Quebec and Bretton Woods. On their return they will reside at No. 9 Highland Terrace, Beverly, where they will be at home after January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left by automobile for Boston intending to have luncheon at the Parker house. By a prearranged plan the driver was tipped off by a friend of Mr. Brown to go to

WEDDING IN BEVERLEY IS OF INTEREST HERE

The Evening Times, Beverley, Mass., September 22, published the following: The home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Everett Gay at No. 17 Thorndike street was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding last evening, when their sister, Alice Lillian Reece Jarline became the bride of Russell Pickard Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Brown of Washington street.

The house was very prettily decorated with laurel, ferns, gladioli and asters. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Lucy A. Chase.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Abbott Chase, pastor of the Washington street church, the double ring service being used.

The bride was most charming in a gown of white charmeuse, cut en train, with overdress of accordion plaited chiffon and Chantilly lace, and veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Vera Stirling Jardine of Cambridge, a niece of the bride, was bridesmaid, her gown was pink satin with cream net overdress, she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. G. Horton Stickney of this city was best man.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cluster ring of ruby and diamonds. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a cameo ring and the groom's gift to the best man and ushers were gold cuff links.

Those who served were Mrs. Wilbur E. Snow, of Springfield, a sister of the bride; Mrs. Burton L. Gerow, of St. John, N.B., a cousin of the bride, and the Misses Ann Lee, Edith Webber and Marguerite Kilham of this city. The ushers were Messrs. A. Vernon Macaulay, Dr. John C. Wilson, George E. THE WAR NEWS.

The news from the French headquarters, as well as the official report of Sir John French, shows that the condition of affairs along the battle line in France continues to be satisfactory to the allies.

It has been asked if this fund can be used to relieve a family whose breadwinner has not gone to the front, but is out of work and in need as a result of the war.

AFTER THE WAR.

In a remarkable interview with an Italian newspaper, published in Rome, Mr. Winston Churchill says that Britain wants this war to settle the map of Europe on national lines.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND

The case for a single Canadian Patriotic Fund instead of a large number of separate funds is stated in a communication sent out by Mr. H. B. Ames, M. P., the honorary secretary.

The province of Quebec desires to send a distinctively French-Canadian regiment to the front. No doubt the militia department will meet their wishes.

His Royal Highness the Governor-General took the initiative, and the Canadian Patriotic Fund was organized with His Majesty the King as patron.

representative of all the provinces. Each branch of the general organization is to have finance and relief committees and ladies' auxiliaries.

"In response to urgent appeals from many parts of the Dominion, I inaugurated the Canadian Patriotic Fund, the object of which is to provide for the needs of the wives, families, and dependent relatives of those who go to the front to fight the battles of Great Britain and her Allies.

"I sincerely hope that in every city and town throughout the Dominion, branches of this organization may be formed, full particulars of which can be had by addressing the Honorary Secretary, Mr. H. B. Ames, M. P., Ottawa.

The citizens who have organized a Patriotic Rifle Club in St. John are setting a good example.

Valcartier camp is being transferred to England. Doubtless it will not be long before the Canadian contingent is sent to France.

Toronto Saturday Night estimates that it would cost Canada $90,000,000 to maintain 50,000 soldiers in the field for one year.

If the German Socialist leader who is visiting the devastated towns in Belgium goes back and tells his story, the phrase "down with the Kaiser" will probably become much more familiar to the ears of the people in German cities.

The Boer general in South Africa who tendered his resignation because of reluctance to engage in war against Germany will not have any more influence upon the minds of the people than has Henri Bourassa upon the minds of the people of Canada.

HINTS FOR THE COOK

Branishes
Make a rich pie crust for these and for filling use: One cup chopped raisins, baked together, 1 egg, one cup sugar, one and a half cups of flour. Cook until thick.

Doughnuts
One or 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 1 large spoonful sour cream or a little butter, pinch of ginger, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in sour milk, a little salt and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or cinnamon. Stir to roll. Fry in very hot lard.

Gingersnaps
One cup molasses boiled five minutes, add one cup lard, stir until melted and set away to cool; then add one cup sugar, half cup sweet milk, one and a half teaspoon soda, one desert spoon ginger, and flour to roll. Add a little salt. Roll thin and bake quick. This recipe makes about six dozen cookies if rolled very thin.

Sponge Cake
Four eggs, pinch of salt, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Beat the eggs ten minutes, add sugar and beat again. Then add the flour, into which has been stirred the baking powder. Stir all together and bake in a moderate oven.

KEEP BOOKS AND SAVE EXPENSES

Every housewife knows she should keep an account of all money entrusted to her. The house accounts are so many and often so small one would need a set of books to be kept daily.

Try this easy plan. Buy a small pad and pencil. Tack it in a convenient place and by its side tack a box with hole in the cover.

As you pay accounts make a note on the little pad, tear it off and slip in the box. These slips should be dated and should state for what the money is expended.

Once a week sort and file and you will surely be satisfied with the simplified bookkeeping.

and collar pieces being arranged on a lengthwise fold. The front, sleeve band and sleeves are laid on a lengthwise thread. The neck is cut in a V at the front, but the back is round. The raglan sleeve adds to the splendid effect of the model also.

If desired with a box pleat at the front, then in making first turn under front edge of right front at notches; take up tuck on slot perforations; stitch both sides of box pleat 1/4 inch from folds, catching free edge in with tuck. Cut off front edge of left front on single small "o" perforations and turn under on large "O" perforations for hem. Center-front indicated by large "O" perforations in right front. If desired without box pleat at center-front turn under front edge on large "O" perforations; center-front indicated by double "oo" perforations. Stitch pocket to position on left front (large "O" perforations indicate center-front) upper edge along crossline of three small "o" perforations. Sew sleeve to front and back as notched. Sew lap unnotched along edge of shirt sleeve as notched, turn over on outside on large "O" perforations and stitch. Close under-arm and sleeve seams as notched. Gather entire lower edge of shirt sleeve; join sleeveband as notched, small "o" perforation at seam.

The crushed girdle and immense pansy of black velvet give cachet to the waist.

Shirt waist in fuchsia pink satin crepe trimmed with lace and a girdle of black velvet. The front may or may not be box pleated.

Fuchsia pink satin crepe, combined with a bit of dainty white lace and fancy buttons, makes this unusually dainty separate waist. The box pleat may be omitted at the center of the front, but it adds a new note to the design, which is much to be desired when the little details count for so much.

Even by using a very good quality of material the design may not be expensive, for only 1 1/2 yards are required to make the waist. The cutting is effected from a fold of the goods, the back

FOLD OF 44 INCH MATERIAL WITHOUT NAP

Pictorial Review pattern No. 5540. Sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Price, 15 cents.

Patterns published in this series may be obtained by sending price of pattern in cash or stamps to The Evening Times Pattern Department, 23 Canterbury Street, St. John, N. B. Always use some absorbent material under the spot so that the loosened dirt will not simply spread. Before using any cleaner try it first on the inside of a seam to see whether it will change the color.

Alcohol, ether, chloroform, carbolic, gasoline, and naphtha soap and water are all good solvents for grease.

Gasoline is the most practical reagent for use when the entire article means cleaning. It must be used away from the fire to avoid any possibility of serious accidents. Cover the garment well with gasoline in a vessel that can be tightly covered, set vessel in a dish of hot water and let it stand several hours or over night. Especially soiled places may require a little rubbing. Rinse in clean gasoline and hang in the open air. The soiled gasoline should not be thrown away—the impurities will settle to the bottom and the clean gasoline may be poured from the top.

The best solvents for paint and varnish are turpentine, alcohol and ammonia.

LITTLE ECONOMIES THAT WILL CUT THE COST OF LIVING

BY ANNABELL TURNER
Instructor, Home Economics, University of Wisconsin, Extension Division

Annabell Turner

With cotton and linen and almost all kinds of wearing apparel selling at higher prices, the housekeeper who knows the way of economy is giving her time to renovating clothes and house furnishings.

To help her along a scientific housekeeper, has written a series of letters on household topics and today she discusses ways and means of removing various kinds of stains from clothing.

Quick action is important in removing stains from clothing or table linen. The sooner you begin the easier the work will be. So the remedy should be applied as soon as possible after the mishap occurs.

If the nature of the stain is known and a solvent is at hand, removal will be a simple process. If a solvent cannot be found, then something which will form a soluble substance must be sought. If this fails, the last possibility is a bleaching agent, but this should be used only as a last resort, as it will remove the color and may weaken the fabric if it is not used with great care.

When cleaning spots run a thread around them so as to be able to find them easily after the garment is wet.

Always use some absorbent material under the spot so that the loosened dirt will not simply spread. Before using any cleaner try it first on the inside of a seam to see whether it will change the color.

THE WOMEN'S BAPTIST MISSIONARY UNION

The annual convention of the Women's Baptist Missionary Union of New Brunswick was held at Jemseg, Queens county (N. B.), on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and was attended by ladies from all over the province, including several from this city. A very pleasing feature of the convention was the presence of three original charter members who became members of the union at the time of its organization forty-three years ago, namely: Mrs. Dorcas Dykeman, of St. John; Mrs. Orchard, of Fredericton, and Mrs. Rebecca Dykeman, of Jemseg. On Wednesday evening a public meeting was held at which addresses were given by Mrs. J. F. Burdett, and also by Miss Elizabeth Gaudin, returned missionary from India.

The business sessions of the convention were held yesterday. The annual report of the provincial secretary was given by Miss Augusta Slipp, of Hanstead, which showed a very pleasing encouragement for the year. The Mission Band report was presented by Mrs. W. E. McIntyre of this city and showed an increase for the year both in membership and in contributions.

The election of officers for the year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. W. G. Clark, Fredericton (re-elected); first vice-president, Mrs. G. J. Lawson, Moncton; second vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Johnson, St. George; corresponding secretary, Miss Augusta Slipp, Central Hanstead; recording secretary, Mrs. J. L. VanWart, St. John. Additional members of the executive: Mrs. J. H. Macdonald, St. John; Mrs. J. E. Wilson, Fredericton; Mrs. N. C. Scott, St. John; and Mrs. G. H. King, Chipman.

The C. P. R. Liner Montrose, under the command of Capt. H. G. Kendall, famous on account of the Crippen case as well as the sinking of the Empress of Ireland, ran ashore in the River Loire and her stowaway is full of water. It is supposed that the Montrose was in French waters as a military transport.

SICK DOCTOR.

Proper Food Put Him Right.

The food experience of a physician in his own case when worn and weak from sickness, and when needing nourishment the worst way, is valuable.

"An attack of grip, so severe it came near making an end of me, left my stomach in such condition I could not retain any ordinary food. I knew of course that I must have food nourishment or I could not recover.

"I began to take four tablespoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream three times a day and for 2 weeks this was almost my only food. It tasted so delicious that I enjoyed it immensely and my stomach handled it perfectly from the first mouthful. It was so nourishing I was quickly built back to normal health and strength.

"Grape-Nuts is of great value as food to sustain life during serious attacks in which the stomach is so deranged it cannot digest and assimilate other foods.

"I am convinced that were Grape-Nuts more widely used by physicians, it would save many lives that are otherwise lost from lack of nourishment." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

The most perfect food in the world. Trial of Grape-Nuts and cream 10 days proves. "There's a reason."

"Lest We Forget"

WE need to be reminded quite as much as to be informed. Memory has been jocularly described as "the thing we forget with." Out of sight is apt to be out of mind.

An advertiser who relies on the memory of the public leans on a broken reed. The absence of its advertising from the newspapers has been the beginning of the end for many a firm. "The present suitor has ever the advantage over the absent lover."

A business that has achieved its magnitude or strength as the result of faithful advertising plays itself false if it suspends or ceases its advertising, on the grounds of economy. It is poor business vision which fails to see the principal feeder of business, and fatal judgment which cuts it off or interrupts its flow. Economies may be warranted, but they had better be effected in any other department than in the sales department—the department of revenue. Any course which shoves your customer back from you or hides you from your customer is ruinous. The man with the money needs to be constantly sought. Advertising is the great discoverer of new customers, the great retainer of old ones.

If you forget the public, the public will forget you

ENGLAND VERY CONFIDENT

Interview With First Lord of Admiralty—The New Map of Europe

The following extracts are from an interview given by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, first lord of the British Admiralty, to the London correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia of Rome:
 "We are very confident in England of winning the war. We have made our minds to win if it costs the last shilling and the last man in the British Empire. Time is on our side. Personally, I never expected to see the campaign go so well in the first two or three months.
 "I have always been looking to the tenth, eighth and ninth months of the war to produce the great decision, but the extraordinary gallantry of the French army and the immense power which Austria has so quickly exerted, the pluck and energy of Serbia, combined with the great Austrian smash-up, have created at the end of the second month a situation which we might have been well content with at the seventh or eighth.

 "Of course it is much too soon to speculate. We are not building upon the accidents of battlefields. We are measuring the vital forces of the nations engaged in the war. We are satisfied that Germany has done her worst and is fully expended. Russia has only just begun. "In less than six months time we shall have 1,000,000 soldiers in line, all volunteers, not taken on compulsion. These men will be supplied with everything that science can invent or money can buy, drawn by our naval power from the whole world.
 "We want this war to settle the map of Europe on national lines and according to the true wishes of the peoples who dwell in the disputed areas.
 "After all the blood that is being shed we want a natural and harmonious settlement which liberates races, restores the integrity of nations, subjugates no one, and permits genuine and lasting relief from the waste and tension of armaments under which we have suffered so long.
 "Some day the natural and true frontiers of Italy may be restored. These will never be real peace and comfort until then. As long as Austria has power to squander thousands of Italian lives in quarrels of her ambition, as long as she holds in her grip and bondage their provinces and numerous populations which by Italian heart, soul, and bone and nature, there will always be armament, and counter-armament, fear, tension, and intrigue, and always danger of this horrible catastrophe returning.
 "Let us make an end of it now. Let us have a fair and natural adjustment of European boundaries. Let us war against the principle of one set of Europeans holding down by force and conquest against their wills another section.
 "Let us reach a final and simple solution and let us fortify and confirm the settlement by a law of nations which even the most audacious will have been taught to respect."
 The foregoing report of the interview is issued by the British official press bureau, and consequently can be regarded as an official document.

Canada's Business Outlook Assuring

Hon. W. T. White Declares Higher Prices of Grain Will More Than Neutralize Shortage in Amount — Future Agricultural Production Should Be Immensely Stimulated — Present Financial Expedients Efficient Shock Absorbers

Gananogue, Ont., Sept. 25.—Canada's business outlook is promising; the first and worst effects of the war will gradually wear away, the higher prices of grains will more than neutralize their shortage in amount, and future agricultural production should be immensely stimulated, enabling the country greatly to increase her exports, thus ensuring payment of interest on her borrowings and other obligations abroad, and the preservation of national credit, the present financial expedients were efficient shock absorbers.

These were the conclusions of Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, in an address before the Canadian Agricultural Trade on "War and General Trade Conditions of Canada."
 In Canada the first effects of the war had been necessarily of a serious character. Being a borrowing country, Canada had experienced an almost complete cessation of the money flow from which her immense capital expenditures, governmental, municipal and corporate, had been largely financed. Canada, from the sale of Dominion, provincial, municipal and corporation securities in Great Britain and the United States, had received in receipt of funds aggregating about four hundred million dollars a year, or over thirty million dollars a month, of which the capital so raised abroad, the Dominion, provincial or municipal governments, had depended for their financing upon the capital so raised abroad. The result had inevitably been curtailment of programme on the part of all these public and corporate bodies. The industries of Canada, which had been largely dependent upon in times of crisis had met the situation by prompt contraction, and panic had been avoided. He had talked with representatives of provinces, of municipalities, of railway and other corporations, and they were all of the same sound view, not, on the one hand, to close down construction, nor, on the other, to attempt to carry out the full programme they had planned. Either course would be most unwise. The sound policy was the middle course, and that he believed was being generally adopted. Construction programme should be revised as to give the greatest amount of employment for the funds available. While international markets were at present closed, no doubt borrowings would be possible later, and increased thrift on the part of the public would be a material, spiritual, literary, scientific and artistic—long after the struggle had closed.

Cheaper Cable Charges

(West India Committee Circular)
 On August 25, the House of Commons approved the agreement between the Imperial government, the government of Canada, the crown agents (acting for the British West Indies and British Guiana) and the West India and Panama Telegraph Company for the reduction of cable charges. Elsewhere we give a summary of the terms of this agreement, from which it will be seen that a sweeping reduction in message rates is to come into force on October 1 next.
 Thus, the rate between the United Kingdom and the West India islands is to be reduced to a uniform one of 2s 6d per word, and that between Canada and the Colonies is fixed per word while it will be possible to send deferred messages in plain language at one-half of those rates. When it is realized that two years ago a message between the United Kingdom and British Guiana cost no less than 7s per word, and that the lowest rate between this country and the West India islands (Jamaica excepted) was 4s. 3d. per word, it will be appreciated what a saving to the mercantile community and to all having recourse to the cables will be involved.
 We mention Jamaica as an exception for, since 1898, when the Halifax-Bermuda cable was extended to that island it has enjoyed exceptional facilities, the rate between Halifax and the islands having been reduced from 5s. 0/6d. to 2s., and in the case of the United Kingdom from 5s. 10d. to 3s. in that year. Indeed it is not too much to say that a great share of the credit for bringing about coming reductions must be given to the enterprising Direct West India Cable Company, who set the example, and the general manager, J. Rippon, who has been tireless in his efforts to bring about some improvement in this respect. The West India Committee, too, may fairly claim a lion's share in the matter, having ventilated the pressing need for the cheapening of cable communication, and the general manager, J. Rippon, who has been tireless in his efforts to bring about some improvement in this respect. The West India Committee, too, may fairly claim a lion's share in the matter, having ventilated the pressing need for the cheapening of cable communication, and the general manager, J. M.P.'S MAY SPEAK TO ROUSE RECRITS

Public Men of Both Parties May Follow Lead of Asquith

FRENCH-CANADIAN FORCE

Movement, Supported by Judiciary and Bishops, May Result in Sending Five Thousand to Front

(Montreal Gazette.)
 Steps were taken yesterday among prominent French-Canadians to ensure the raising and sending to the front of at least 5,000 men of that nationality and the movement being supported by the judiciary and the bishops of the province, it now looks as if the project carried out execution without very much more delay.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, while awaiting his train last evening at Bonaventure and after exchanging views with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, said that he had every hope that the French-Canadian unit would be raised and that the leading public men of both parties would follow the example of Prime Minister Asquith and Arthur Balfour in England and take the platform in the interest of a recruiting campaign from one end of the province to the other. Some days ago, in fact, Sir Wilfrid expressed the hope that such a contingent would be raised, and he thought there would be no trouble whatever in securing ten thousand of his compatriots for the colors.
 "Look what English, Scotch, and Irish are doing all over the world," stated the ex-Postmaster-General last evening, "and nothing can make me believe that our people are less appreciative than others of the liberty they enjoy under the British flag, and that they would not rally to the colors with the same eagerness as that which characterizes the English-speaking people."
Have Ample Officers.
 It is explained that those who are behind the patriotic project are especially anxious that the French-Canadian unit which is proposed to send to the front, shall be commanded exclusively by officers of their own race, and this was a serious apprehension in that direction, but it appears that all such fears have been set at rest by the Minister of Militia himself. The Right Hon. Sir Robert Lair Borden has expressed himself in every way favorable to the project which patriotic French-Canadians have so much at heart, and it was through the Prime Minister that the question of officers was apparently straightened out. Submitting the matter in question to Sir Hughes de Valcarlos, it is understood that the reply was in every way favorable, and that no difficulty would arise as to the appointment of officers.

Colonel Hughes is stated to have informed the Premier that there would be sufficient French-Canadian officers left after the first contingent leaves Valcartier to supply the unit in question. The minister is further said to have the greatest sympathy with the movement.

General French's Tribute To British; Canadians On The Way To England

Sir John French, in a comprehensive review of the operations from Thursday until Saturday last, gives the greatest credit to the British soldiers for their conduct under fire, particularly in maintaining the best of spirits under nerve-racking artillery fire, the shells from which were sufficient when they struck to dig a grave for five horses. General French pays some attention to the condition of the German army which is now filled up with reserves, not encountered during the early days of the war.
 By authority of Col. Sam Hughes, minister of militia, it is stated that steamers have been engaged during the last week moving stores and Canadian troops across the Atlantic under convoy of a fleet of Warships.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

and appreciates the patriotic efforts now being taken in order that a fine showing of French-Canadian troops may be made at the front or wherever the British military authorities see fit to send them. An officer who knows the Gaspé Peninsula says that all he wants is a few days' notice and he is quite sure that at least five hundred men can be raised in the two counties of Bonaventure and Gaspé alone, and it is understood that men will offer from the different parts of the province in the same ratio.
 In connection with this movement, which is said to receive the support of the French episcopacy, it may be said that a meeting of the Catholic council of public instruction will be held immediately in Quebec and, as that body embraces the entire episcopal body, it is proposed that the matter of French-Canadian contribution will be seriously taken up and considered.
 His Grace the Archbishop of Montreal has already spoken on the subject and will, it is understood, take a very strong position in the matter. His Lordship the Bishop of Valleyfield, who also went to Quebec last evening, referred to his war address a few days ago, and from the tone of that, as well as other episcopal utterances already heard in this province, it is evident that the tradition of British sentiment on the part of the prelates of French Canada will be more than maintained during the present crisis. His Eminence Cardinal Bégin is at present in Rome, but his mouthpiece, l'Action Sociale, has been publishing a series of articles pointing out to the people of this province that there is only one attitude possible for the French-Canadian and that is a spontaneous adhesion to British interests, claiming that it is the duty of their people to send men and money to help England, France and Belgium on the European battlefields.

One of the most enthusiastic adherents of the movement in question is Major Justice Corvas, who says that all that is wanted is for several leading men of both sides of politics, the episcopacy, the bench and in command, as well as representatives of the laboring classes, to put their shoulders to the wheel, and he is confident that five or ten thousand men will soon be forthcoming, and that the good name and patriotism of French-Canadians will be maintained in the future as it has been maintained in the past.

OXFORD KEENLY FEELS EFFECTS OF THE GREAT WAR

Undergraduate Enrolment Not Expected to Exceed the One Thousand Mark

Oxford, Sept. 24.—While Oxford will open as usual on October 8, a great many Colonial Rhodes scholars have enlisted or received commissions. Their scholarships are, of course, being kept open. The university authorities do not expect that the enrolment of undergraduates will total more than one thousand. Those absent on military service will suffer no loss in academic standing, the time spent in serving their country counting as time in residence at Oxford if the undergraduate so desires.
 American Rhodes scholars entering Oxford for the first time, will, it is expected, find the atmosphere most stimulating. They will receive a great deal of personal attention from the dons and they will be more of a force than usual in their colleges and in the university. They will also find a Spartan regiment the time spent in serving their country counting as time in residence at Oxford if the undergraduate so desires.
 At the present time some of the university buildings are used as hospitals and others as prisons. There was a rumor that a former German Rhodes scholar of Queen's College was held in Oxford as a prisoner within sight of his old college rooms. On investigation, however, it was found to be a German servant formerly in the employ of Queen's College.
 Since the Louvain outrages the anti-German feeling in Oxford has been very strong. Despite the former ties between Oxford and the German learned world, it is felt that, in the event of an invasion of England, Oxford might suffer as Louvain has suffered.

WITHIN THE LAW

IT is against the Moral Law to advertise Woolens as "Pure Woollens" unless they are Pure Woollens. A law is now pending prohibiting misrepresentation in advertising and this makes us feel tremendously good, because we are putting on sale every day fabrics that are Pure Wool and that are the best value in the trade today. These fabrics come to us direct from the looms, and we know every stitch that is in them

DURING the past week we have put into stock several thousands of yards of Pure Woollens that show what the English & Scotch Woollen Co. can do when the spirit moves SUIT OR OVERCOAT MADE TO ORDER AND TO MEASURE

A Wise Judge United States' Judge Landis has a clean contempt for a lie. Living, as he does, a simple, straightforward life, he hates deception, false pretences, or anything that isn't "dead on the square." A little while back he expressed himself in open court—straight from the shoulder—on the subject of fraudulent advertising. If Judge Landis could make his doctrine hold good in this country, it would be a God-send, and we want to "butt into" Judge Landis' class. We do not permit one solitary statement to enter our advertising that we are not prepared to prove. We allow nothing that even approaches subterfuge. A WOMAN'S PILGRIMAGE OF HORROR!

Mary Boyle O'Reilly, On Foot With Flying Refugees, Describes War's Fearful Sights Inside Prussian Lines

A Word From the Editor. The present world's conflict has pretty well proved by this time that, while the human race may be, in peace, what is called "civilized," in war that human race goes back to the ages—it becomes savage, conscienceless. Read the accompanying graphic picture of this war by a woman who saw it in, perhaps, its calmer moods. Mary Boyle O'Reilly, after having been deported from Belgium by the Germans because she was a newspaper woman, managed cleverly to get back inside their lines from Holland by means of a German consul's pass. As a newspaper woman, she would have been stopped in a mile, so she became a simple Belgian refugee and she walked laboriously and footsore for days through the Prussian army. It was, indeed, a pilgrimage of horror!

The scene was located in Belgium, but it might as well have been in France or in East Prussia or in Galicia. Miss O'Reilly's story is a tremendous sermon to Americans who may still have some lingering fancy that there is "glory" in war or that war might be waged by so-called "human" rules. (By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.) The Hague, Sept. 5.—I am just back after a pilgrimage of that part of Belgium around which the German war machine has ringed its belt of iron. Between Brussels and Louvain and Visé lies roughly a parallelogram of country about sixty miles long by thirty miles wide. Here were fought all the early battles of Germany's advance upon France. Out of this smoke-shadowed district came such stories of sacked villages and slaughtered non-combatants as to horrify mankind. To prove these stories untrue I became a refugee inside the Prussian lines. For some heady days I hid myself in the piteous crowds which fled from Tirlemont to Tongres. I had, to save myself at the worst, the pass which the German consul in Holland had given me. In the following I will tell the story of what I saw on that pilgrimage. West of Tirlemont, where the smoke of burning Herent and Tanguede darkens the sky, stands an ancient church, white flags of peace still hanging from its belfry. On the shell-shattered steps lie the dog of Flanders, his Red Cross blanket and first-aid barrel shot to pieces by the invader's bullet. The two are signs and symbols of a Prussian army passing. Herent was fired because a father resented a Uhlan's insult to his daughter. The heart of prosperous Herent was demolished because the peasants destroyed the bridge over the village brook. There were other rifles, nor ammunition, in either place; probably never had been. The town of Tirlemont, where small arms were stored in a desperate desire of self-protection, has been badly shot up, but still stands. In Brussels and the Belgium, where Prussian soldiers are exposed to foreign observation, they conceal their regimental numbers with officers refuse to give their names. Thus atrocities are the work of anonymous men.

Clashed on Machine Guns. Within the German cordon such sad scenes were seen everywhere. Tirlemont is filled by dragons of the 66th, 26th and 84th Regiments of the Line. The Place du Marché is crowded with machine guns, on whose shields are chalked each gun crew's record so far in the war. On the walls of the Thirteenth Century church the Prussian army has pasted posters printed in three languages, giving us the following exact news of the war: "The English are being driven into the sea." "The French have retreated to Paris." "Germany's campaign is all over but collecting the indemnity." Two refugee women at my shoulder sobbed piteously. A sentry reproved them with blows on the abdomen from the butt of his gun. Utterly cowed, we turned away. Tirlemont is not Belgian any more, it reads the Prussian placard—now part of a conquered German province. The straight, tree-shaded road to Grinde is crowded with homeless wanderers; hundreds of wan-faced women, children whimpering at their skirts; scores of ageing men in self-respecting home-spun, a determined little boy carrying his pet kit, a girl clasping her bolt of wedding linen, youths with the essential part of their textile tools strapped to their backs, strong old women staggering under huge jars, dogs tugging at over-laden trucks, a cart with a white flag, a dying child in its father's arms, a paralytic, a blind man—all, all of them homeless, penniless, heart-broken. Yet in their misery they find pity for sharper sorrow. "What a delicious woman, the army scout, John Markin, whom, it is charged, dragons buried alive, head downward, and disinterred—too late. In silence, in terror, we crowd down the one peaceful road, hands raised, passports humbly before us. Every few yards there is a sentry to be passed, perhaps placated, an over-strained, sullen soldier who commands with a bayonet and argues with a gun butt.

Farm Laborers with Lance Wounds. In the level fields, golden with wheat, lie wrecked reapers and ruined steam plows—all the simple wealth of the farming community. Broken men with tense faces, many of them wounded by lance thrusts, garner the sugar beet harvest. The air is foul with the odor of decay of unburied sheep, poisoned by owners who refused to feed the invader of their free country. All the sign boards are effaced to battle the incoming enemy. "We are defeated, but we are not conquered," mutters the brave old man who helps me rope a load. In Roosbeck white flags hang from every house front, here a housewife's embroidered towel, there a lace edged pillow case. Being non-combatants, they hope to save their homes. The village is utterly destroyed. In the midst of the ruin is a crater dug by a siege gun—a siege gun brought up to deal with a hamlet of 400 people! Two Old Men Hanging to Tree. The villagers have disappeared. Only three dead peasants, bayoneted in their doorways, and a few horses killed in the small main street remain. I see men of the 15th Grenadier Dragons, white crosses on their gold starred caps, looting at their leisure. Refugees speak in whispers, plodding on to poor little Bandersce. From far off we can see that the village has been shelled, its houses leveled by artillery. Near the road two old men hang from a tree, hostages whose lives were taken by the enemy. I passed that tree, but never as long as I live will I be able to erase from memory the dead faces of those two old men. A frightened child fetches and carries for the sentry, lounging near a culvert, rifle cocked. "Soon she will be handy as a wife," he bawls in high good humor. At home this fellow would hardly be trusted as a swine herder. Here, rifle in hand, his word is law for almost a square mile. His Day-Old Babe. In the roadside ditch the father of a day-old babe has built a wigwam of tent poles and straw. Last week he had a home in the comfortable house of a prosperous farmer, the master of flocks and kine. "Louvendane is utterly destroyed," he says grimly. "Germans fighting west of Mechlin were repulsed by the Belgians. A hundred 55th Lancers of the Rhine fell back here. Some of them, moving toward the east. Fifty drivers flourish taunting whips to chalked inscriptions. We read as they pass: "Nach (to) Brussels—nach Lille—nach Paris." Wayside Shrine a Target. While we wait perforce Uhlans off duty amuse themselves by firing at a wayside shrine. Women who have borne the catastrophe bravely break down when they watch the wanton shooting of the crucified. In what was so lately the little town of Corbeek-Loo stands what was a chateau. Both are ruins for Corbeek-Loo suffered annihilation by artillery. No one knows how, assaults and people having disappeared. Only the patient old cure remains to tell his story. "We were merely a village, quite harmless and peaceful," says the cure. "Our thoughts were of the crops and of God. The war, of which we heard vaguely, seemed far away. Not one of my people ever owned a rifle or even fired a rifle. My church and the chateau dominated Corbeek-Loo. Baron Ernst lived in the chateau. He is an English man, resting and healthy. Both of his sons are in the diplomatic service. With him lived his six daughters, ladies of a certain age—all unmarried, the good angels of our village. Come that I show you what these barbarians do to a Belgian home." We enter the once shabby gates, now shattered by shells. The acres-wide formal garden is strewn with fragments of statuary, with broken graphophone disks, wine glasses, slippers, shattered pianos—a hundred women's trifles. In the long drawing rooms every family portrait has been slashed from its gilded frame. Every cabinet riddled of its treasures, hundreds of books torn page from page. Amid piles of broken furniture lie sleeping rugs hacked from old Turkish carpets. Dogs have been kennelled in the Louis XVI boudoir, the dining room is ankle deep with shattered glass and porcelain, the family chapel has served as a shooting gallery, debris makes the bedrooms impassible. "Rich and poor, gentle and simple, we Belgians are paying the price to protect Europe," sighs the cure. Sowing the Tares. The Emperor is the enemy sowing tares! If we are to be a conquered province will not all this pitiless devastation make us hateful vassals? If Belgium is to remain independent will not this make us hateful neighbors for a century?" Heart-sick I walked toward St. Trond. We Belgians are paying the price to protect Europe," sighs the cure. Sowing the Tares. The Emperor is the enemy sowing tares! If we are to be a conquered province will not all this pitiless devastation make us hateful vassals? If Belgium is to remain independent will not this make us hateful neighbors for a century?"

women and children. No one seems to know what has become of the men—no one will ever know, I am afraid. A mile down the St. Trond road we refugees pause that some may pray. It was right here that five priests were shot dead—all hostages (none of them young), whose lives were forfeit because peasants who had fowling pieces did the Lexington and Concord act. Just beyond lies the road for Tongres where these peasants made their last stand. The elm trees, felled as a barricade by these citizen sharpshooters, are hardly dead. In the broad sunlit square of Tongres our papers of the 19th and 32nd Brandenburg regiments haggle over their loot. For Tongres (i. e. a fort), which has been a place of defense since the days of Caesar, resisted invasion and was, for reprisal, given to shell and sack. Today no one may leave his or her house without a military pass; no one may light a candle after nightfall. In the twilight the shattered streets echo with the agonized sobbing of heart-broken women. The burghers have been driven by Uhlans none save their captors know where. "Halt—or I fire!" It is the last sentinel on the way of sorrow. We stand submissively to show our papers. Beyond, just two miles away rise the spires of Meastrecht in Holland. Reach Holland at Last. A pearl gray evening mist shrouds the stricken land. Only one little mile now between us and safety. Men and women who have faced death with fortitude walk on blinded by tears. In the dusk we can see a spectral barrier, a lantern, and the tricolor of Queen Wilhelmina's delightful Holland. "Stand—friends or enemies?" The refugees' voices answer "No." Slowly, so slowly that the last sink down exhausted, our sad little company crosses the frontier. My turn comes finally. The captain of the barrier scans my American passport. His glance meets mine shrewdly. "You're a journalist," he accuses gravely. "Enter Holland, but do not remain. Our land, like yours, must be neutral. God guard the country where there is no war!"

The Gurney-Oxford is a Remarkable Stove. BUYING a stove is not something to be decided off-hand. Cheapness is not the consideration. Quality is. If a stove is extravagant in fuel it should not have a place in your house. The Gurney-Oxford is a truly remarkable stove. The Economizer, fitted to the stovepipe, gives you complete control of the fire always. One turn of the handle dampens the fire down to a spark that consumes practically no coal at night and between meals. The fire is supported on grate that present a large surface to the air. This means perfect combustion and economy. The heat from the fire box goes through a series of divided flues, over and around the oven, and not up the chimney. Will you come in and allow us to show you the many good points of the Gurney-Oxford Stove?

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Ottawa, Sept. 24—There are better paid positions than a pastorate in the Methodist church. According to what J. W. Flaville, of Toronto, told the Methodist general conference, tonight, there are not much worse paid positions. He spoke on pastors' salaries, or what the conference terms the sustentation fund.

"The distress in ministers' salaries is not confined to the Methodist church. It is common to all the Protestant churches," said Mr. Flaville. The delegates spent most of the time today in committee work. At 4:30 in the afternoon they all joined in a session of prayer for peace to follow the conquering of the Germans.

BRAVE 'PHONE GIRL

From Aix-La-Chapelle comes this story—A Belgian telephone girl at Dahlem telephoned Belgian officers at the forts that they were not properly placing their shells. By following her instructions they were able to regulate their firing effectively, and the telephone girl was killed by a shot which destroyed the office from which she was directing the operations.

"SCRAPS OF PAPER."

(New York World.) That "scrap of paper" was the treaty guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium. The whole history of human liberty is written on just such scraps of paper. The Magna Charta was a "scrap of paper." The Bill of Rights was a "scrap of paper." The Declaration of Independence was a "scrap of paper." The Constitution of the United States is a "scrap of paper." The emancipation proclamation was a "scrap of paper." For a hundred years a "scrap of paper" has maintained an unbroken peace between the United States and the British possessions of Canada along an unfortified frontier of 3,000 miles. Respect for these scraps of paper measures a nation's honor, no less than its freedom.

NEW PRISON FARM IS NEAR SUDBURY

More Commitments There Last Year Than Anywhere Else in Ontario

The Ontario government is projecting still another industrial farm. Hon. W. J. Hanna announced this week that 13,000 acres of crown lands in the judicial district of Sudbury had been selected for this purpose and that work on it was beginning at once. The first contingent of men left Sudbury for the new site yesterday and will set up tents until suitable shelters are erected.

The new farm is situated in Burwash Township, at a distance of 21 miles from Sudbury. It is bounded on the north and south by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railways, and has splendid facilities for stock-raising. It is the expectation of the minister that with the assistance of the Fort William institutions and others now planned the 2,000 cattle annually consumed in provincial institutions will be supplied entirely by the province.

It is pointed out that the locality is very carefully chosen, as, apart from Toronto, there were more commitments at Sudbury last year than anywhere in Ontario. North Bay, Parry Sound and Sudbury will send their prisoners to the new quarters.

C. F. Needlands, formerly of the Gauchin Farm will take charge as the superintendent.

Hon. Mr. Hanna states that the Fort William experiment has worked out wonderfully well. The crops grown there are as good as any in the province and the beneficial effect on the men has been very marked. The cattle business at this centre will be tripped in the course of a year.

PRUSSIA TO BLAME FOR PRESENT WAR

Montreal, Sept. 25—Responsibility for the European war was placed upon the "military autocracy that rules Germany" by Prof. David Star Jordan, Chancellor of the Leland Stanford University, California, who returned from Europe on the steamer Megantic. He was lecturing in Germany against militarism when the war broke out. Doctor Jordan said that the Kaiser, unwilling to surround himself with men of ability, had been unable to stem the current of the Junker class, dominant in Prussia. A word from Germany would have stopped Austria, but the word was never spoken, probably because Germany thought the hour had struck for the war for which it was now clear she had been waiting.

He believed that the opinion of the great body of his countrymen was that the war on the part of the allies was justified, and that they must pray that it be successful. It was now clear that the world would be the worse, and not the better, if British rule, with its freedom of thought and action, were supplanted by the German, with its tyranny over minds and bodies of subject races.

SONS OF ENGLAND

A grand patriotic demonstration was a feature of the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of Marlborough Lodge Sons of England last evening in their hall in Charlotte street. T. H. Carter presided and made a very pleasing and patriotic address. Postmaster Sears also gave an address and C. Leford read a patriotic poem written by the postmaster. Others who took part in the programme were: F. J. Hunter, George Lewis, H. C. Green, Joseph Primmer, William Walker and R. H. Gath. It's a Long Way to Tipperary was sung by Mr. Lewis and all joined in the chorus which was also picked up outside by passers-by. The entertainment closed with O Canada and God Save the King. The hall was decorated with British, French, Russian and Belgian flags.

ON PARTRIDGE ISLAND

A fine concert was given last night at Partridge Island by the members of St. Mary's band for the benefit of those on duty as members of the 3rd Regt. C. A. The visitors were welcomed by Major W. H. Harrison, Ven. Archdeacon Raymond, chaplain of the unit, said that the band enjoyed themselves fully as well as the soldiers through the visit and it was a pleasure for them to be there. The case was adjourned for a week to try to have arrangements made for a concrete surface on the alley.

FATHER WAS IN A COLLAPSE

Scene at Trial of Braman This Morning

STEP-MOTHER SOBBING

Comment on Absence of Officials—One New Witness and the Crown Closes Its Case—Defence This Afternoon

The decorous proceedings in the trial of John H. Braman, charged with the murder of Frank E. O'Leary, were interrupted this morning when it became necessary to remove from the court-room the accused's father and step-mother, the latter crying loudly as she went and shrieking: "My boy! My boy! The poor boy!"

The father, who is just out of the hospital, is apparently in a very weakened state. He sat for an hour or more through the trial, supported by his wife. He was becoming steadily weaker, and moaning considerably, and when about on the verge of collapse, the attorney-general suggested to the court that the man should be removed. He was most carried out by two constables, and his wife left the court-room unwillingly and crying bitterly.

His Honor then asked for the sheriff or deputy sheriff, but was told that neither was in court.
His Honor—"Will you take notice of that, Mr. Attorney, please?"
Attorney-General—"Well Your Honor, I am surprised that he is not here."
His Honor—"He should be in court himself or have his deputy here in his absence. The court then instructed the crier to telephone for the sheriff, and tell him his attendance in court was needed."

During all this scene the prisoner sat almost motionless, and showed no signs of emotion.
The first witness called this morning was Dr. W. W. White, who gave testimony as to O'Leary's condition, the operation and the causes of death. He was examined, cross-examined and examined on technical points, on which he gave expert testimony.
Dr. W. F. Roberts was then called and produced the bullet located in O'Leary's body at the post mortem examination.
Dr. Frederick T. Dunlop also gave evidence of the post mortem examination he made.

Ogden Smith, a gunsmith, a new witness, was then called, and when shown the revolver and bullet in evidence, said the revolver was a .38 calibre, and the bullet was a .38.
The deposition of O'Leary was then offered in evidence by the attorney-general. His Honor said that he was allowing it, on his own finding of the fact that the defendant had a full opportunity of cross-examining the deponent's physical condition he would have decided otherwise. He said it clearly to give the defendant the benefit of the objection raised.

The deposition, which has already been published, will be read to the jury. The chief statement of O'Leary in the deposition was that he had arrested Braman in connection with the Mowatt robbery. Braman said: "If you arrest me, I'll shoot you, so help me God" and that he afterwards fired two revolver shots at him.

This closed the case for the crown, and Mr. Sweeney asked for an adjournment until 2:30 o'clock to enable him to call his witnesses for the defence.
This was agreed to.
Sheriff Wilson, when asked regarding remarks made by Mr. Justice Crockett from the bench, said that he had been told that he could not be in two places at one time. He and Deputy Sheriff Clifford were out on another mission. The sheriff said that he had left constables in charge during his absence.

Thomas Petrie, dressed in prison attire, testified at the trial yesterday afternoon. He told of Braman and himself entering Mowatt's and stealing $280 and of informing the chief of police that he had been with Braman in Thorne's Mowatt's and Carleton's, but that Leggett and Goldworthy had nothing to do with the break. Edward Quinn, Milford and Frank H. Nason gave evidence. The latter told of being called by O'Leary and of holding Braman. He said he heard the prisoner say that if more of the bunch had been there there would have been more shot than O'Leary and also heard him admit to his father that he had shot O'Leary. Doctor Hagan and Doctor Hogan testified. They thought O'Leary's death was due to the wound.

NEW PHASE OF PINK CASE

Interest is still keen in Fairville over the case of the "Pink Stealer" and being given the matter during the last two days during which Engineer Turnbull, acting for Pink, has been making a survey of all properties in that section of Main street from the C. P. R. crossing to Charles street.

It is reported that each lot on both sides of the street is being carefully measured, and the deeds will also be examined, to see if the figures correspond and also to prove, if possible, that sufficient width for a sidewalk is available without removing the precious steps.

The case before the court will be resumed this evening at seven o'clock, and judging by previous attendance, breathing space will be at a premium.

LOCAL STREET RAILWAY

MEN WELL ENTERTAIN VISITING BROTHERS

"Step up front, please. 'Tickets? A quarter's worth?" "Paradise Row, change here for the North End,"—all these things were forgotten for a few hours last evening by the members of the local division, No. 663, of the Street Car Men's Union, when they tendered a complimentary smoker and musical evening to their brother car men who are here for the labor congress. After a round of speeches of welcome and acknowledgement, and the air became penetrated with the aroma of good "smokes" an entertaining programme was carried out and greatly enjoyed.

The officers of the local union each welcomed the delegates and replies were made by President Scott, of Toronto, M. Sinclair and other visiting car men. The following assisted in the programme: R. Carson, song; Roy Harding, reading (one of those thrillers) Bagnell and Bond, bells selection, F. Ramsey, song; J. Bond, comic sketch. R. Bond presided at the piano.

MISS BERTHA MACAULAY AND CAPT. DONNELLY WED

Miss Bertha Macaulay left here on Monday for Montreal via the C. P. R. to be the guest of Miss Bessie Stewart, Prince Arthur street, West, and to see her fiancé, Captain Harold H. Donnelly of Ottawa before his departure for England, with the Auto Machine Gun Brigade, Co. 1, of the First Canadian Contingent.

At Montreal, having received word from Captain Donnelly that all leave had been cancelled, she went on to Ottawa where Captain Donnelly's mother and sister of Kingston, Ont., were. Miss Macaulay and Captain Donnelly were married on Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. Mr. McMillan, an old friend of Captain Donnelly's family. After the ceremony the groom returned to his duties at the Rockcliffe Range.
