MUST DIG THROUGH TONS OF DEBRIS TO GET BODIES OF VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION

Now Known That More Than a Score of Workmen Perished in Explosion of Brooklyn Gas Main Yesterday—Rescue Parties at Work Seeking to Recover Bodies.

New York, Nov. 21.—When dawn broke today the big force of workmen who had been struggling almost since yesterday to reach the bodies of the score or more of persons who were entombed by the explosion in Gold street, Brooklyn, saw many hours of labor ahead of them. It would be before even the emergency shoring which would make it safe for the workers to begin digging at the hundreds of tons of debris in the trench could be completed in many more hours would be necessary to cut through the tangled mass of wreckage which fills the trench.

The great trench which had been sunk more than fifty feet below the surface was filled with all sorts of material, which will hamper the workmen. When the sidewalks and curbstones fell into the opening they carried with them water pipes and gas mains, wire conduits, tool boxes and many tons of material which were used in the construction of the sewer upon which the men at the bottom of the trench were at work. Several key engines which had been used in the work, electric light wires and a large amount of heavy timber which had been used in shoring the deep-cut also were among the debris. All of these things were thrown together in an inextricable mass, and it will be necessary to literally dig through them to reach the bottom of the trench.

Man Confined in Prince Albert Jail for Vagrancy Admits Complicity in Murder and Gives Names of Other Criminal.

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 21 (Special).—A man named Wells of Winnipeg, confined in the police cells here on a charge of vagrancy, has turned King's trial this morning admitted he was a member of a gang of safe-blowers and bandits who operated in the province during the time when M. Sager was murdered in Elkhorn, when the latter interrupted the gang at work on the floor of a room. One of the men who fired the shot and declares he has peached out of a spirit of revenge, because the other members of the gang left for the coast, leaving him in prison for vagrancy. The police are close on the trail of the gang and expect to land them within a few days.

MACKENZIE KING WILL PROBABLY GO TO CHINA

Interesting Correspondence Between the Young M. P. and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Nov. 20 (Special).—An interesting interchange of correspondence has taken place between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and W. L. Mackenzie King, M. P. for North Westchester in respect to Mr. King's appointment as one of the British commissioners on the Anti-Opium Commission, which is to meet at Shanghai on January 1. The net result of the correspondence is that Mr. King, who raised some objections to being sent to China, has given way and will sail for Vancouver on December 2. The appointment was approved by the British government and received the approval of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. In a letter addressed to Sir Wilfrid under date of November 19, Mr. King refers to the importance of the conference and adds: "Considerations of such a nature were not to be carefully weighed, and I would gladly accept the appointment were it not that circumstances of a somewhat unusual nature seem to make it imperative that I should decline. I have been, as you are aware, recently chosen as the representative of North Westchester in the house of commons. This riding has for some time past been virtually without representation in parliament. The session which is about to open is the first of a new parliament and it is generally

NEW YORK WORLD SPRINGS A WORLD WIDE SENSATION

It Prints an Alleged Summary of the Suppressed Interview With Emperor William Which, if True, Will Set England Aflame—Savage Attack Upon King Edward and the British People.

New York, Nov. 21.—What purports to be an "Absolutely accurate and authentic synopsis" of the interview obtained from Emperor William of Germany by Dr. William Bayard Hale, and subsequently withdrawn just as it was about to appear in the Century Magazine, is printed in the World today. The World declares that the article as originally written was submitted to Mr. Hale and that it appears to-day as changed by Dr. Hale. The interview is said to have taken place on the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, off Bergen, Norway, while Dr. Hale was the Emperor's guest. The World summarizes the main points of the Emperor's interview as follows: "That King Edward of Great Britain had been humiliating him for more than two years and that he was exasperated, that Germany was the paramount power in all Europe and that England was trying to neutralize that power; that he held France in the hollow of his hand, and that Russia was of no account since the disastrous war she had waged with Japan; "That if the Pan-European war which had been so much talked about was inevitable the sooner it came the better it would be. "That Great Britain had been a decadent nation ever since her victory over the Danubian and the Orange Free State because Russia was an unrighteous, ungodly cause and divine judgment would eventually overtake the powerful nation that waged such a war. "That the Anglo-Japanese alliance was an iniquitous alliance against all white races, England proving absolutely faithless as a Christian nation, that Japan was honeycombed with spies and sedition and flooding it with spies who were professing openly to be England's friend and ally. "That the only way to counteract this alliance was for Germany and America to act together at an early date or America would have to fight the Japanese in ten months. "That in the event of a great war England would lose many of her large colonies, especially those for Germany would be Egypt though he would liberate the Holy Land from the Yoke of the Infidel, and presumably meaning the Sultan; "That the perfecting of the Zeppelin dirigible balloons would give Germany a powerful advantage in war, and she was ready to make use of it to the fullest extent. "The World declares that Emperor William when he made these statements that Dr. Hale was an American newspaper and magazine writer, but was not without reservation and that no secrecy had been imposed. The interview, Germany foreign office, it is said, and that at the conclusion of the interview Mr. Hale returned to Berlin and told high officials of the foreign office of the success he had met with. "They forbade him to publish it," the World story continues. "Then they explained to him at some length that even a hint at possibilities so serious, coming from one who had been Emperor's guest, might throw the whole world into the most disastrous war of all time. The attitude of these officials is said to have been that the Emperor was irresponsible when he gave way to such fits of temper. "It is said that Dr. Hale obeyed the instructions of the foreign office in the preparation of his interview, but later when the German officials "are said to have butchered it, that little that was worth while was in their final form, according to the World, that the article was accepted by the Century Magazine. "It was practically ready for publication when the request came from Berlin that even the interview in its revised form be suppressed. Then the electrolytes and all copies of the interview were destroyed before the public announcement that the interview had been withdrawn was made. "The Emperor's interview with Dr. Hale is a matter of great importance to the Kaiser, his words or his works. On the general subject matter of the interview I can only say that England's alliance with Japan was a policy arranged after considerable thought and consideration. England is in a better position to judge of its efficacy and value than any one else. The observation that by the Anglo-Japan treaty King may lose her colonies is a matter of prophecy, of which time will demonstrate either the truth or the falsity. As to the 'yellow peril' the idea is, to my thinking, extremely crude. The 'yellow peril' in order to become menacing presupposes a division of the nations forgetting all separating differences and grouping themselves together against a similar group of white nations. The idea of a 'yellow peril' is, as I say, extremely crude. As a man of some experience in national affairs, I will say that the talk of national crises and of war seem to me to have less basis at present than for many years past. There are always some difficulties on the horizon of international politics, but these at present seem less than usually troublesome."

LIVING WALLS OF TROOPS GUARDED CZAR OF RUSSIA AT GRAND DUKE'S FUNERAL

The Body of Grand Duke Alexis now Lies in the Mausoleum of the Romanoffs—Czar Followed the Coffin on Foot Through the Streets of St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 21.—The body of Grand Duke Alexis, an uncle of the Emperor of Russia, who died recently in Paris, was interred to-day in the new mausoleum of the Romanoffs, within the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, and Nicholas, the Russian Emperor, followed the coffin on foot through the crowded and silent streets of the capital. His Majesty walked thus from the railroad station to the fortress, a distance of three miles. In spite of the apprehensions for the safety of the Emperor, there was no upward movement. His Majesty was accompanied by a suite of thirteen grand dukes and one hundred generals and admirals. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and Moscow and the most prominent bishops of the Orthodox church participated in the service. The emperor and a number of grand dukes met the body at the railroad station where it arrived from Paris and followed it in carriages bound for the other mourners. The police and military authorities had taken extreme precautions to prevent any terrorist attempt. The route of march was lined for the entire distance on both sides by living walls of troops, which made any attempt on the life of His Majesty practically impossible.

IN THE Y. M. C. A. ROGERS IS FREE

Boys Were Welcomed in the New Building This Morning. He was Allowed His Liberty This Morning Under Suspended Sentence and Will Leave Town.

Boys from 13 to 18 years of age had the run of the new Y. M. C. A. building this morning from 10 to 12 o'clock and again this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. A large number of youths availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the building, the gymnasium and the swimming tank being objects of particular interest. A number of additional applications for membership were received. Actions for membership will be given to the contractors and men employed in the construction of the building. From 7.30 to 10, there will be open house to the industrial workers and their families. On Sunday afternoon at 3.30, a mass meeting for men will be held in the Opera House, when Dr. George J. Fisher, of New York, will speak on the "Bible and Health." The music will be under the leadership of D. Arnold Fox. An orchestra will play. At the same hour a mass meeting for boys of thirteen and upwards will be held in the Association building. Rev. W. M. Binks, of Montreal, will deliver an address. Special sermons will be given in the city churches morning and evening.

ABRUZZI'S TROUBLES

Senator Elkins' positive announcement that no engagement exists between his daughter and the Duke of Abruzzi will hardly serve to still the tongues of the gossip-mongers. They will argue that strictly within the limits of the truth, without degrading impossible the indiscreet something called an "understanding" which may eventually in an engagement and a wedding later on. The interest of people in this young couple may be due to a matter of course, and when he happens to be a son of an illustrious royal house and suspected of a romantic affection for a beautiful American the interest of the public in his fortunes amounts at times almost to hysteria. Yet these young people and their relatives are entitled to certain courtesies of reserve on the part of those whose business it is to write for newspapers about them. They should not be made the victims of deliberate invention, which has for months too frequently taken the form of wantonly "faked" interviews attributed to people who denied their authenticity as soon as they were printed. It is now the duty of newspapers which are duped in this way by correspondents to punish the offenders by publicly pillorying them as the purveyors of falsehood, but we have not yet observed that any of the numerous opportunities to make an exception has been notably improved. On the other hand, it is possible that the newspapers most given to the printing of spurious interviews on this subject are themselves contributing to the truth of what they publish?

FUNERALS

The funeral of Mrs. Johanna Gallivan took place from her late home, Duke street, this afternoon at 2.30 in the cathedral, where service was conducted by Rev. Father O'Brien. Interment was in the new Catholic cemetery. The funeral of Master Freddie A. Rieck took place from his father's home, City Road, this afternoon at 2.30. Service was conducted by Rev. Gideon Swin and interment was in Cedar Hill. The funeral of Rev. Alexander McArthur took place from his late home, 122 Prince street, West Side, this afternoon at 3.30. Service was conducted by Rev. M. E. Fletcher and interment was in Cedar Hill. German Street Baptist Church.—The special evangelistic meetings in connection with the German street Baptist church are progressing favorably. The addresses each evening by the Rev. S. W. Cummings have been very helpful to the large number present. Tomorrow, Sunday, Mr. Cummings will preach at both services, his subject for the morning being "The Leper's Father," and the evening, "The Prodigal's Father." At the close of the evening service, a special evangelistic meeting will be held in the vestry. The meetings will be continued all next week, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to any or all services.

SIR CHARLES DILKE GIVES HIS OPINION

(Special Cable to New York American) London, Nov. 18.—The American correspondent has received a most important revelation of what the Kaiser said to Dr. William Bayard Hale during his famous interview on the Hohenzollern. The press opinion contains names and facts apart from the political opinions of the Kaiser which seem to remove all doubt of the accuracy of the synopsis already published. The American correspondent submitted the data tonight to Sir Charles Dilke, perhaps the highest authority in England on international politics. He examined it with greatest interest, but acted like a man already familiar with the contents. After reading it he said: "Every statement now realized, fully that the Emperor declared clearly, that Japan was really fighting the White Man's war, and that the Emperor's attitude was expressed sympathetically with Russia, regarding how different the result would be if the Emperor's standard had been placed by Providence upon his invincible battalions. If Japan is suffering now to get control of China, Europe will suffer attack. The Emperor is suffering friends with the Mohlians with rifles because they are devils in fight, and stand there between the East and the West where they can break the first force of attack. America would be forced to fight Japan within ten years. He seemed eager to talk, and poured a steady stream of remarks upon England for two hours. Dr. Hale was received by the Emperor as a distinguished traveler, scholar and writer. He was informed that it was the Kaiser's inviolable rule never to communicate with newspaper men."

SUGGESTS ALLIANCE WITH UNITED STATES

"That the only way to counteract this alliance was for Germany and America to act together at an early date or America would have to fight the Japanese in ten months. "That in the event of a great war England would lose many of her large colonies, especially those for Germany would be Egypt though he would liberate the Holy Land from the Yoke of the Infidel, and presumably meaning the Sultan; "That the perfecting of the Zeppelin dirigible balloons would give Germany a powerful advantage in war, and she was ready to make use of it to the fullest extent. The evangelistic meeting at the Tabernacle church last night was so successful that a meeting will be held tonight. Interest has been very keen.

SITUATION IN NEW YORK STATE IS UNDER CONTROL

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The outbreak of foot and mouth disease in this state is well in hand, according to Commissioner Pearson of the state department of agriculture, who returned to Albany from Buffalo where he has been supervising the efforts to stamp out the disease. Buffalo to-night. "No new outbreaks were reported yesterday," said Commissioner Pearson today, "and the situation in this state is well in hand. There are no human cases in this state. The live stock commission, Erie county, and the national state veterinarian are all in full agreement and cooperating with a view of enforcing strict quarantine regulations so that the outbreak may be brought to an end at the earliest possible moment. "Letters have been sent to the 1000 registered veterinarians throughout the state notifying them to telegraph to the department at once the existence of the disease or any symptoms that might be indicative of it and that come within their knowledge. We have urged them to give the matter close attention as irregular outbreaks are all too common. "Letters have also been sent to the steam railroads of the state notifying them to disinfect all cars, vessels, premises, buildings, alleys, chutes, pens or other places owned or controlled by the railroads in which cattle, sheep, swine or other animals susceptible to the disease have been shipped or kept since October 15. The railroads will be required to disinfect until further notice."

NO MORE CASES OF FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE WERE DISCOVERED TODAY.

EDINBURGH, the Beautiful City of SCOTLAND

By DELIA AUSTRALIAN

Montrose Monument, St. Giles Cathedral

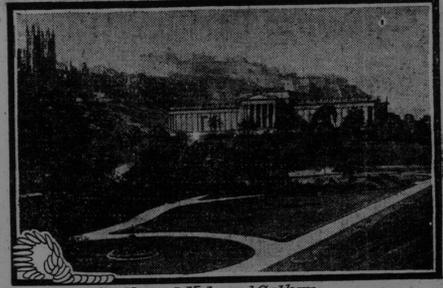

Scott's Monument

Old Town

One of the Attractive Gardens

Castle and National Gallery

Many old cities are so crowded with ancient buildings, narrow streets and old-fashioned hygienic conditions as to appear archaic and unattractive. Though there are some splendid exceptions to these rules, this is certainly true of London, Paris, Munich and Edinburgh most of all. Here is a splendid city built on a citadel on a high steep rock, commanding a magnificent view of the plain, the forests beyond and the sea. The city was not alone placed here because of the lovely vista, but it was a natural protection against warlike clans and against the wild boar, wolf and other equally dangerous animals living in the deep forests and great marshes. For many centuries what is now a rarely beautiful city was only a paltry village. It had no galleries, government buildings nor churches. The houses were limited to a few mean straw-thatched huts occupying the upper section of the central ridge. The protection and the beauty of the place soon attracted many of the men and women living in the valley and at a distance and they soon sought this spot as their home with the understanding they should live on friendly terms. The village soon grew so rapidly it was unable to hold them all, so the town burst the confines of the area of the Castle Rock and began to extend along the ridge declining eastward. As early as the twelfth century David I held his court in the castle. It was he who founded the Abbey of Holyrood. William the Lion, the second in succession to David I, gave to the city the title "a royal burgh," and changed it into a mintage for the king's currency. Two centuries later Robert Bruce held a convention of estates in the Abbey of Holyrood in which representatives of the city as a burgh sat and deliberated. Still, so small and mean, however, was this now proud city that up to this period and later it would appear that the population did not amount to more than 2,000, housed in mere thatched-roofed fabric, none of them being above 20 feet in elevation. But the town grew so rapidly that many homes and modest churches soon filled the valley. The old and new parts of the town were linked by the north bridge. Looking off in one direction one sees beautiful gardens and high hills crowded with ancient castles and churches. While off in another are splendid modern streets with many handsome public structures. But the finest view of the city is had from the corner of St. Andrew street looking west. Straight ahead the mound crosses the valley, bearing the white steeple, majestic though worn, surrounded by green slopes and heavy foliage. Haughty and majestic is the battlement. Different, though no less lovely, is the view at night, when the city is shrouded in far more somber tones. Thousands of lights flicker all around; they are broken by a chain, while high in air flicker thousands of other lights. They mount heavenward, while here and there they shimmer from the crests of the highest peak, carrying the imagination into a new and beautiful world.

It is this old town that is certainly most historic and picturesque especially those streets running from Holyrood to the castle. These are known as the Lawnmarket, the High street and the Canon gate. These streets are steeper than are many of the others; they are narrow and more roughly paved. An added touch of the picturesque is given by the houses. They are strangely irregular in architecture and are built story upon story. They have outside stairs, wooden panelings and curious gables. There is plenty of romance hidden among these old walls marked by strange crests in the curious names retained by these houses and inns. For many blocks around there is hardly a tenement that can not boast of having been occupied by some noted man or known for some tragic deed. In the church yonder

Jenny Geddes flung her stool at the priest; John Knox came up here to his house after his interview with Mary at Holyrood and the Pretender rose down there, his eyes transfixed on his father's crown. The castle perched high on the hill gives a picturesque tone to the entire city. It is large, forbidding and solid by centuries. The only approach to this fortress is by a fine esplanade which was once only a steep, narrow ridge. A deep, dry fosse once filled with water to serve as a protection now separates the castle from the land; entered by a drawbridge and an archway. Walking up toward the portcullis gate one sees the old state prison where many a famous man was kept a prisoner in bygone days. Then there is the armory, shimmering with splendid armor and capable of holding 30,000 stands of arms. One of the oldest of these buildings is Queen Margaret's Chapel. It is the oldest and smallest chapel in Scotland measuring only 16 feet 6 inches by 10 feet and 6 inches. The buildings on the south and east side were for many years the Royal Palace and the stronghold of the kings and queens of Scotland. It is on the east side most of the Scottish rulers lived and died and committed many an outrage. The most important of these rooms is where James I was born and the Crown Room. Here are seen the crown, scepter and sword of state.

Descending the castle one comes upon what was once the aristocratic quarters of the old town. The first house on the right from the castle bears the date 1630, and a cannon ball, probably shot from the castle, still sticks in the gable. Though Casthill street is now modest, appearing and certainly unpretentious, it was at one time considered the most aristocratic part of the city. Many of the oldest, wealthy families lived here and having a home there meant owning a villa. Where this street begins to widen into the Lawnmarket and the West Bow is seen a queer-looking palace once occupied by Mary of Lorraine, Queen Regent of Scotland, the widow of James and the mother of Mary. This large abode shows but little of the splendor it once knew. Turning toward Liberton's Wynd, the stranger sees two large buildings. One is the county hall and the other is St. Giles. The county hall does not enjoy enough space to show the splendor of its architecture. This building is a copy of the Temple of Erychthos in the Acropolis, considered one of the finest models of antiquity. The principal entrance is taken from the Choragic monument of Thabalia. The pediment of the portico is held by four strong but graceful Ionic columns, while two more columns ornament the end. Another touch of beauty is had from the Church of St. Giles which is so large it is really a cluster of churches.

adorn the most beautiful part of the palace after the Chateau de Chantilly. The place as it now stands is a spacious structure enclosing a large piazza-bounded court. The grand entrance is decorated with four massive-looking Doric columns, above which are sculptured the royal arms of Scotland; beneath is an open pediment surmounted by a small octagonal tower terminating in an imperial crown. On entering the palace and ascending the stair one comes upon a large, handsome picture gallery. The walls are decorated with hundreds of pictures of real and imaginary kings and queens. But the most interesting of the suites are those occupied by Queen Mary and her lover, Lord Darnley. The bedchamber is still much the same as when the queen occupied it. Here are seen the queen's bed, the molten hangings and portraits of her and Elizabeth. Adjoining is the still smaller dressing room, while on the north side is a small door which opens on a private staircase, by which the assassins of Rizzio entered the queen's apartments. Though only the nave of the once splendid chapel remains, the handsome carving and Gothic windows show how beautiful this church was before demolished by war and age.

There are many public buildings that play an important part in making of the Scottish city. The noblest of these is the splendid museum built in the Venetian Renaissance style. The great hall in the gallery is nearly 270 feet in length. The collections are as fine as the building; they include some rare pieces of Venetian glass and plate and a carefully selected ethnological exhibition. Adjoining this building on the north side is a philosophical museum with a fine collection of human skulls.

Edinburg is such an old city and so full of historic associations it was no small task to straighten and widen her streets and to replace old worn piles by spacious and handsome buildings. Though there are many attractive thoroughfares, Princess street is considered one of the best. It is very wide, beautifully clean, decorated with splendid public gardens, public buildings and many fine shops. The pleasure grounds extend nearly the whole length of the street which is nearly a mile in length and a hundred feet wide. On one side are the public gardens, brilliant with rare plants and gorgeous flowers nearly all year round. On the other

The Standard Oil Company Showed Profits of $80,000,000 in One Year and Now Has a Surplus of $300,000,000.

New York, Nov. 20.—For over five hours today, John D. Kellogg, and when adjournment was taken until Monday the head of the oil company was still being cross-examined on charges that in its early days the company accepted rebates to the disadvantage of its rivals.

AN ERA OF BLOODSHED

(James S. Evans, in New York American) Senator Carmack's death, due to his advocacy of prohibition, recalls a tragedy, almost forgotten now, happening in Mississippi in 1886, of infinitely more horror, creating more excitement, dividing more families, than any event in the South since the Civil War.

At about that time a trio of young men, none above the age of twenty-four, arrived at the newspaper at Jacksonville— one called the Sword and Shield, the other the New Mississippiian.

RHEUMATIC LIVER OVER STRAINED KIDNEYS

Caused Sickness That Puzzled Able Physicians—Was Cured By Ferrozone.

"My doctor told me I had gouty rheumatic liver and kidneys," writes G. O. Ford, from Halifax. "I guess he was right for I was a mighty sick man and felt the game was pretty nearly up. So many remedies failed that the doctor was completely puzzled. As for symptoms, I had busily of them in the morning, a sort of nausea. Sometimes the bowels were constipated, at other times quite relaxed. I felt dull, and a sense of weight in the back and over the liver was very distressing."

To Suffer From Headaches Makes Life Miserable.

It takes a person that has had or is suffering to headaches to describe the infliction which attends them.

The majority of cases are caused by constipation and dyspepsia. The dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, purely indicate that there is something the matter with the stomach or bowels.

CONSISTATION K. Brown, Superintendent, N.B. writes: 'I have been troubled with Constipation and Headaches for a long time. After trying different doctors to no effect, a friend asked me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I find I am completely cured after taking three bottles. I can safely recommend it to all.'

REMARKABLE STORY FROM MISSION CITY

Mr. John R. Wren, late Reeve of Mission City, B.C., is now 66 years of age and tells the following remarkable story: 'Some years ago I was given up by the Doctors. I was so weak I could not walk across the floor, and was patiently waiting for death. I had paid as much as $25 a visit for a specialist who said I could not get relief. In this condition I sent for a sample of PSYCHINE. The first night PSYCHINE gave relief. The bleeding of the lungs ceased and in three weeks I was able to walk three miles before 7 o'clock a.m. and take the oversight of a crew of men.'

This was in 1894, just 14 years ago. Since that time Mr. J. R. Wren has been Reeve of Mission City, and on August 17th, 1908, wrote: 'I am now in my 66th year and weigh 236 pounds and do considerable business. Last week I travelled 125 miles in a row boat and slept out every night, and feel no bad effects from it. I owe this new lease of life to Dr. T. A. Slocum and his remedies.'

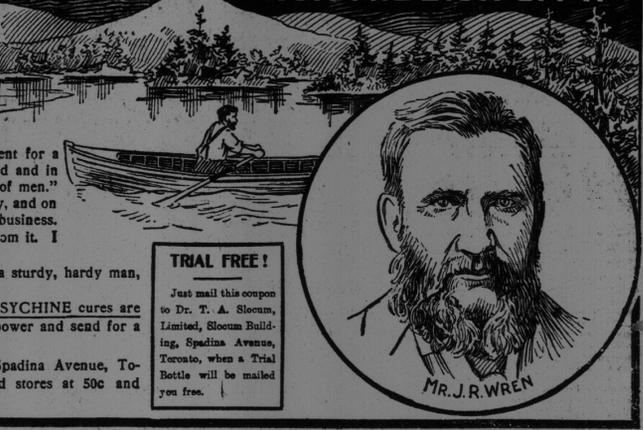

No wonder Mr. Wren is grateful for PSYCHINE, for it transformed him from a weakling into a sturdy, hardy man, and this at a time of life when most people are expecting the reverse.

PSYCHINE is a wonderful Tonic and Life Giver. Living witnesses prove this statement for PSYCHINE cures are permanent. THERE IS LIFE IN EVERY DOSE. We want you to test its power and send for a Trial Bottle at our expense.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give nature assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, Eng. Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

FROM HOUSE DRUDGE TO CHINA'S EMPRESS

(Mail and Empire.) "How did a woman come to have the power of the Dowager Empress of China?" demands a correspondent who has always understood that in China women are treated as slaves and inferiors. Because she was a woman, is the shortest answer, but her career must be reviewed if further explanation is desired. As a diplomat the Dowager Empress (Tsu-Hsi) (or Tsian, as she was also called) must take rank with the great statesmen of the world. Her life was a long and eventful one. She was born in the year 1848, in the province of Anhui, in the reign of the Emperor Hsien-Feng. Her father was a high official in the government. She was educated in the palace and was married to the Emperor when she was only sixteen years of age.

Her sudden death brought the Dowager the greatest problem of her career. Here legally and logically, all her influence vanished like smoke. But Tsu-Hsi took a bold course. In the name of the Emperor Hsien-Feng, who had now been dead for many years, she adopted another son, the Prince Tuan, and declared him the heir-apparent. Her courage and audacity, and the fact that she was the mother of the Emperor's favorite son, enabled her to overcome all opposition. She carried off this coup, and then, in 1888, with his wife and little family, she fled to Peking, where she had held a secure position since 1861. In 1888, with his wife and little family, she fled to Peking, where she had held a secure position since 1861. HUSBAND AND WIFE

Both Restored to Health by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"Both myself and my wife are truly glad to say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been of great benefit to us, and we are constantly recommending them to our friends." Thus writes Mr. E. J. Archibald, Truro, N. S., who further says:—"In my own case I had been subject to dizzy headaches for many years, and three boxes of the Pills completely cured me of the trouble. About a year ago my wife began to complain. She seemed to be completely run down, was very pale and weak; she could not walk upstairs without stopping on the way to get breath, and ultimately she grew so weak she could not sweep a floor without resting. She tried several tonics but received no benefit. Then I persuaded her to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and got her a half dozen boxes. After she had used a couple of boxes her appetite began to improve, and the color to return to her face. She continued using the Pills until she had taken the six boxes, and today she is perfectly well, feels stronger and looks better than she has done for some years. While she was taking the Pills she gained twelve pounds in weight. Dr. Williams' Pills cure troubles like these because they are rooted in the blood. Bad blood is the cause of all common diseases like anemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, general weakness, and those ailments that know women folk know, and their attendant headaches and backaches and irregularities. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a sure cure when given in regular doses, because they enrich the blood, and thus reach the root of disease. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DREDGE SAUGUS TO WORK AT YORK POINT

The dredge Saugus yesterday commenced work in the York Point slip. She will remove the old piling and dig away the mud from the wharf on which the new four slip is built, in order to allow coasting steamers and schooners to come there and load flour for Hay's Pinty ports. At the present time conditions are such that vessels cannot approach the shed to secure cargoes. After completing the work there the dredge will move to the Ballast wharf and dredge along the face and northern side of the wharf, which has filled in considerably during the past few years. Considerable work will have to be done there and the dredge will probably be kept busy the most of the winter.

Four young men were detained by the police following the confession of Mrs. Stahl, in the belief that they could account for the missing jewels.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SETS NOBLE EXAMPLE

Corner Stone of Sanitarium Laid by the Governor—Patients Already Cared For at Tranquil Home For Sufferers From Tuberculosis.

At Triunquille (B. C.), on Nov. 11th, the lieutenant governor laid the corner stone of a new sanitarium for patients in the early stages of tuberculosis. The inauguration of this noble work was set forth by the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of British Columbia, and as an instructive illustration of the progress of the work, set forth in an address by Dr. Fagan, its worth reading. The first definite public step was taken on the 21st January, 1904, when at Victoria, a largely attended public meeting was held in the city hall to consider the question. The mayor, Mr. G. H. Barnard, presided. The premier, the Hon. Mr. McBride, the Hon. Mr. Templeman, members of the local legislature, bishops and clergy, delegates from Vancouver and New Westminster and other municipalities, and a goodly number of the medical profession and leading citizens were present. The secretary of the provincial board of health read a paper describing consumption and its ravages and outlined the remedial measures necessary to stay its course. Many resolutions were passed and finally an association was organized and a constitution adopted. We have then a difficulty? How is it to be met? Very simple. Let every city, town, and district, have its society with a membership fee of $1 per year for each member. As a matter of self protection and humanity to its own citizens, every family in British Columbia should be a member of such a society. Seventy-five per cent. of these societies' collections will be applied to meeting expenses at Tranquille and twenty-five per cent. retained to assist local needs of consumption patients which are unable to pay anything. I would also ask the public to remember the great strain that a lengthy term of treatment means to an ordinary hospital term of two, four or six weeks. It means at least six months and possibly one year. To illustrate our difficulties, I would ask you to look at our egg and milk accounts. In these accounts you may see that considerably over $2,000 was paid out for these absolutely necessary articles of diet. The rate the fact remains that our maintenance account is overdrawn, and the question presented is how the difficulty is to be met. It means that certain classes of patients cannot meet the protracted expense of $2,250 per day for food and treatment at Tranquille. Those who can pay are asked to pay and have done so, but, as must be evident to all, some cannot pay anything. I would also ask the public to remember the great strain that a lengthy term of treatment means to an ordinary hospital term of two, four or six weeks. It means at least six months and possibly one year.

RAILWAY AIDED.

To the honor of the Canadian Pacific Railway company it must be stated that they were the pioneers, viewing the movement in a practical way and promising help by filtering in the way with a $5,000 second subscription, if the people of the province should show a practical interest in the movement. In the year 1905 the provincial government granted $2,000, and small sums were contributed by citizens and corporations. In the year 1906, the Hon. Jas. Dunsmuir made the magnificent offer to subscribe $10,000, provided that contributions amounting to $20,000 were otherwise obtained. This challenge acted as a spur to the energies of all and as a result the amount show Mr. Dunsmuir that his were done and fulfilled and on September 24, 1907, he paid over $10,000 to the city council led the way with a $5,000 grant, Victoria and New Westminster with grants of $2,500 and $1,000 respectively. The Masonic Grand Lodge generously contributed $1,000, as did also the B. C. Electric Railway company. Three private citizens gave $1,000 each, namely, Mr. Wm. F. G. Graham, Mr. P. A. Burns, Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fortune, of Kamloops. There were many other generous subscriptions from corporations and individuals, all of which will be found in detail in copies of the report to be placed under our fourteenth date for building fund, including the government grant of $50,000, amounting to $1,022,258. The amount of $42,222.28, the government proportion thereof being $30,000, corporations and individuals have done with the $73,170.39 received. We have bought Tranquille ranch and everything on it, $48,000, paid for building, $25,000, and a mortgage for the balance of $22,000, at 5 per cent. We have spent on repairing, additional furniture and general outfit for maintenance being $14,831.70. The balance of $22,222.28, the government proportion thereof being $16,500, corporations and individuals have done with the $5,722.28. We have bought Tranquille ranch and everything on it, $48,000, paid for building, $25,000, and a mortgage for the balance of $22,000, at 5 per cent. The balance of $22,222.28, the government proportion thereof being $16,500, corporations and individuals have done with the $5,722.28.

MAINTENANCE FUND.

The maintenance fund has been sustained in the following manner, viz., by grants by municipal grants, as follows:—Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, Port Moody, Mission, Salt Spring Island, Kamloops and other small municipalities. An American Stage Beauty Saved Her Hair with Newbro's Herpicide

Here is Her Letter: "For the past two years I played a part that necessitated the wearing of a wig. My scalp would perspire under the wig and it was not long until dandruff made its appearance and constantly grew worse. I used every remedy I could find to rid my head of it, but all to no avail. I finally decided to give Newbro's Herpicide a thorough trial. I cleaned and dried my hair before applying Herpicide and after three or four applications I was delighted to see the dandruff disappear and my hair is now as nice as ever. I could not be without Herpicide and I can recommend it most highly and believe it will do all that is claimed for it." Respectfully, (Signed) JULIA H. TOBIAS, 276 Marston Court, Detroit, Mich.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original dandruff germ destroyer. Until it proved it worth it was the only one. Now there are hundreds of imitations. Even many old-time hair remedies now claim germicidal properties. Some old remedies with new claims. Why not get the original. More men and women have gotten positive results from the use of Newbro's Herpicide than from all other hair remedies combined.

Send ten cents in stamps to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 40, Detroit, Mich., for sample and 1 booklet. Two cents go cents and $1.00. At Drug Stores, When you call for Herpicide do not accept a substitute. Applications at Prominent Barber Shops.

NEW RAILWAY BROTHERHOOD

The Plan is to Extend it to C. P. R. and Dominion Atlantic.

Grand President A. R. Mosher, of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, met the members of the local organization in Forester's Hall last night. Fifty applications were received for membership. Besides that by the grand president, addresses were delivered by Vice-President W. N. Collins and Messrs. Smith, Monahan, and Perry. Mr. Mosher said that he was much encouraged at the progress being made. There were now about 1,200 members. The order at present was confined entirely to the I.C.R., but efforts are now being made to bring the employees of the C.P.R. and D.A.R., who are now members of the International Brotherhood, into the new organization. DARING ROBBERY IN MONTREAL STREET

Satchel Containing $4,000 Stolen From Cashier But Thief Lost His Nerve and Dropped Satchel and Fleed.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—One of the most rarefaced hold-ups of recent years was directed this afternoon in a thickly populated section of the business part of St. Henri ward. R. G. Tolmie, cashier of the Colonial Bleaching and Printing Co., while on his way from the bank to the firm's premises in St. Henri, carrying a satchel containing $4,000 was stopped by a man who snatched the valise and pointing a revolver at Tolmie exclaimed: "I'll shoot you if you follow me." Then the hold-up man wheeled round and ran along Notre Dame street, the cashier in hot pursuit. The thief seemed to lose his nerve and dropped the bag containing the money and climbed up a hay loft. Although every effort was made to effect his capture he is still at large. The streets were crowded at the time of the affair.

YESTERADY'S PROGRAMME AT NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

The second day of the opening ceremonies in connection with the new Y. M. C. A. building was a very busy and successful one. The building had many visitors from noon until 10:30 o'clock and more than fifty applications for membership were received. The ladies yesterday took charge of the luncheon to the clergymen at 1 o'clock, and during the afternoon held a reception for the ladies of the city. Many words of praise were heard for the tasteful manner in which the ladies have furnished the parlor. A handsome Assiniboia matagony centre table and a number of very pretty chairs have been provided. The luncheon tendered the clergymen at 1 o'clock was a very enjoyable function. The ladies of Germain street Baptist church had charge of the affair and they ably carried out all the arrangements. After the luncheon, W. M. Birks, of Montreal, chairman of the Canadian section of the Y.M.C.A., addressed the gathering on the Y.M.C.A. plan in general and urged upon his hearers the advisability of entering upon an aggressive campaign among the young men of the city. Rev. A. B. Colvok spoke on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. Alliance and for the Baptist churches, Rev. G. A. Kuhring, for the Church of England, Rev. Samuel Howard, for the Wesleyan Methodists, and Rev. W. E. Matthews, of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, gave a very interesting address. The clergymen then inspected the building. A very interesting feature of the day was the reception tendered to the ladies of St. John by the ladies' auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. during the afternoon. An opportunity afforded them to inspect the building, Mrs. David McLellan, president of the Ladies' auxiliary, received the visitors, and a corps of ladies acted as Massachusetts' State Forester Rano argued the case of municipal forestry recently before the Washington (D. C.) society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science, and was able to cite cases of several cities and towns in Massachusetts where the work of the forester has been successful. Mr. Rano is a pioneer in the work of municipal forestry, and his testimony that municipalities are ready and willing to accept and adopt "almost any measure that will develop a better future and a busier centre of population." The problem now is to get them to see how forests about the drainage basin of their water supplies and reservoirs not only can become aids in conserving the water supply and in improving sanitary conditions, but if scientifically managed, may also become economically fruitful as sources of wood supply for city needs. Moreover, the time has come when cities and towns should place control of their street trees in the hands of men trained for the task, as the city of Newton has just done. Serving the city formally, a forester can informally act as an adviser of private citizens and extend his influence far beyond the bounds of strictly municipal activities. Co-operating with state foresters where they exist, and with federal officials set apart for this important service, a city forester may bring to bear the best expert aid of the country upon any important problem which arises growing out of invasion by new insect pests.
