NO FAVOR FOR ANY UNITED STATES SHIPS. Newfoundland Has Its Back Up and is Taking All the Revenge Possible

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 15.—The colonial ministry has refused the American naval tug Potomac, which is now at Bay of Islands free entry for stores, in spite of the fact that this concession is accorded French warships in those waters. The Potomac has on board E. Alexander, chief of the division of statistics and methods of the bureau of fisheries for the department of commerce and labor, who is studying the Newfoundland fisheries dispute.

MUD FROM VESUVIUS FLOODS NAPLES DISTRICT

NAPLES, Oct. 15.—A terrific storm has caused an inundation of mud from Mount Vesuvius, and the country round about is flooded. Two women have been killed and 28 persons injured. Travel on the railroad up Mount Vesuvius has been interrupted and the line partially destroyed. Many houses have been buried under the waves of mud. An avalanche of mud has invaded Bosco Trecas.

PARKHURST ON ANOTHER MORAL REFORM CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Dr. Charles R. Parkhurst, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, today made public a letter addressed to Mayor McChesney by the Society for the Prevention of Crime, New York City, president of the society. The communication takes the mayor to task for the alleged existence in Manhattan of gambling and disorderly houses. The society says that its agents have spent four months investigating the situation and mentions precincts in which it claims more than one hundred objectionable places are to be found. The letter severely criticizes Commissioner Dingham.

Mrs. C. B. Trueman and family, of Moosejaw, are at the Clifton.

ADVANCING RENTS.

A Moncton correspondent writing to the Toronto Star tells of the high rents prevailing and the scarcity of houses in the railway town. Every statement made is true when applied to St. John, only a little more so. In this city as in most others of the coast the population includes but a small number of wealthy men, while the great majority are those who earn up to a thousand dollars per year. A man is supposed to spend not over one fifth of his income in rent, but there are very few decent houses here which can be had for two hundred dollars, that is houses of any size where a family may live in comfort. There are some few five and six roomed flats in fairly good condition which can be secured at as low as one hundred and seventy-five dollars, but the larger number of places at such a rental are almost shacks, that ten years ago would not have brought eight dollars a month. And the rents are steadily advancing. So great is the demand for houses of the better sort, that property owners are building more and more expensive structures, to rent at from three hundred to four hundred dollars. These are multiplying rapidly, and there will soon be no happy medium. Men with small incomes who are compelled by their place in life to occupy fairly respectable houses have no choice but to rent places far beyond their means and the result is a never ending struggle to provide the amount due when the end of the month comes around. The increasing cost of living in other lines, the fact that wages are not advancing proportionately, and the circumstance that in St. John the poor men are taxed to the limit while the richer ones escape, make the life of the average man a continual scripping and saving.

INJANICES.

There are several classes of people who are disliked by newspapers. Some actually pretend to want their names kept out; others want them in. Some try to stuff the reporters, others refuse to tell facts of public interest which are sought in the regular work of news gathering. But more than all the rest, the newspapers dislike those who come to the offices with news, usually of a personal nature, and then when it is printed go about denouncing the paper for putting it in, and saying how badly they feel that such facts become public. These people are common in St. John and everywhere else, and they do not gain anything by such a policy. No one wants their news, it is not particularly sought, and the papers print it only as a favor to the persons themselves. They volunteer certain information and they should have the decency to abide by their own acts and not endeavor to belittle the press. Interviews are sometimes given by seekers of notoriety, and ten minutes after the paper goes on the street these men issue proclamations that their words have been exaggerated. In these days no newspaper has need to stretch the facts, for the so-called ordinary facts of everyday life are sufficient in themselves to provide an endless variety of interest.

NEGLECTANCE AT THE HOSPITAL.

It is stated that a child suffering from diphtheria has been permitted to escape from the epidemic hospital and wander about the streets. A few years ago a small patient left his bed on a windy evening, raised a window and stood in the cold for some minutes. Recently another man suffering from fever climbed out of an upper window and fell to the ground, his subsequent recovery being rendered impossible. These three incidents should never have occurred, and would not have occurred if the hospital were managed as it ought to be. It is very easy for a patient to elude the vigilance of the attendants, and with the cunning of those in delirium to take advantage of the slightest opportunity that offers. But such opportunities should never be granted. The care of nurses and other attendants should be constant and if the hospital staff is not numerous enough to provide for this, more nurses should be engaged. Such incidents as mentioned are accidents, so it is claimed, but they are directly due to negligence. Patients are sent to the hospital in order that they may be guarded against exposure or injurious treatment, and the hospital loses its usefulness unless this condition is guaranteed. Unfortunately the St. John hospital has not had a very good reputation in the past. Lately the system of management has been improving, but it would appear that something still remains to be done.

It is surprising how many of these disgraceful street fights which are stopped by the police are found the next day to have been nothing more than friendly Maulings.

AD ECCLESIAM ANGLICANAM.
Church of our heart and nation,
Upon thy quene's head,
There broods the living Spirit,
Which Christ himself has shed;
No more the dark disensions,
The day of doubt is done;
When angels gather round thee,
Thy children stand as one.

Church of our heart and nation,
Forgive the shameful past,
The worldly hearts that chilled thee,
The chains that bound thee fast;
Behold from the horizon,
The clouds have rolled away,
And now, with clearer vision,
Men own thy gracious sway.

Church of our heart and nation,
So bright times annals shine,
The ages hold no triumphs
More wonderful than thine;
Thou didst in olden days
Our rude and warlike race,
Thy sons are kings of honor,
Thy daughters queens of grace.

Church of our heart and nation,
The new dawn rises fair,
And broader paths of glory
Are opening everywhere;
Beyond the ocean's thunders,
As in the golden days,
Thy creeds give faith her utterance,
Thy voice her prayer and praise.

Church of our heart and nation,
And loyal sons are ready
For thee their blood to shed;
No more the dark disensions,
The day of doubt is done,
And round thee in the battle
The children stand as one.
Frederick George Scott,
Quebec, October 13th, 1906.

THROUGH HER DRINKING HORN.
In one of the model schools in our town a conscientious teacher was having a "lesson on the cow." She was trying to impress on the young minds the various uses of the animal. Butter, cheese, etc., had been disposed of, and she wanted some bright genius to tell her the farmer fed the surplus milk to the pigs. Leading up to this, she asked this question:
"Now, children, after the farmer has made all the butter and cheese he needs, and uses what milk he wants for his family, what does he do with the milk that still remains?"
Dead silence followed for a moment, and then one little hand waved frantically. The teacher smiled and said, "Well, James?"
"He pours it back into the cow!" piped James.

PASS FOR THE AUTHOR.

Francis Wilson was talking at the Players' Club about the ignorance of dramatic literature that is so prevalent in America. "Why," said Mr. Wilson, "a company would play 'The Stoops to Conquer' in a small Western town last winter when a man without any money, wishing to see the show, stepped up to the box office and said: 'Pass me in, please.' The box office man gave a loud shout and said, 'What for?' he asked. The applicant drew himself up and answered haughtily: 'What for? I am Oliver Goldsmith, author of the play.' 'Oh, I beg your pardon, sir,' replied the other in a shocked whisper, 'I am sorry to hear of an order for a box.'

KILLING THE EMUS.

The Australian emus are being destroyed wholesale by the wire fences erected against the rabbits. The emu makes a yearly journey from east to west, and returns at the beginning of the dry season. The march of death begins in the westward journey, and the birds, striking the fences, and further progress barred, and die in hundreds from thirst. A journey of six miles found no fewer than fifty dead birds, while in a stretch of about sixty miles it was estimated that no fewer than three hundred had perished.

WESTERN JOURNALISM.

An editorial in the Denver Post, which makes an effort on its editorial page to cause a party to get up and take notice, is headed, "The Utulations of Snaky Office-seekers, and the Din of Self-Stamped Judicial Purge Wanting Jobs at Any Cost, cause an Editorial Hiatus." Then follows the "hiatus," if that's what they call it, in wide columns.

SUBURBANITE'S LAMENT.

Years ago I walked to town in Forty minutes flat;
Now it takes me fully half an hour.
Long ago I used to get up and down in this is not because I'm older,
Nor have I lost my vigor;
But because of building booms,
Short cuts are unknown.

CAUTIONS.

Old Croaky—I think we'd better have the passage and staircase repaired while I'm laid up, Mrs. Grimace.
Mrs. G. (this housekeeper)—"Lor' s'ar, hadn't yer better wait and see 'ow yo goes on first? Them coffins do make such work with staircase wall papers."

USES OF CRITICISM.

Conscience and criticism never hurt anybody. If true, they show a man his weak points and forewarn him against failure and trouble; if false, they cannot hurt him, unless he is wanting in character.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

"How oft" the high financier invest,
"Are simple words related;
First I in several schemes invested,
Then I'm investigated."

I joy to nuzzle up beside

Edna May Resigns Because

Star Engaged at $1,000 a Week Objects to Fuss Over Fiancee of Lord
Aberdare's Son.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—A theatrical sensation has been provided by Miss Edna May on Saturday night, when she threw up her part in the "Belle of Mayfair" at the Vaudeville Theatre.
Miss Edna May's action, as explained by her to a representative of the Overseas, is due to what she terms the injustice of the management of the Vaudeville Theatre in giving Miss Camille Clifford, whose recently announced engagement to Lord Aberdare's son has brought her remarkable publicity, greater prominence on the advertising matter of the theatre than she herself receives.
Miss Clifford, Miss May pointed out, does not receive nearly such a large salary, yet because she is engaged to a peer's son she gets preference on the bills, and the name of Miss Clifford appears in large type on the sand-wich boards.
"I am not going back," said Edna May. "My decision is final. I was engaged as the 'star' of the piece at £200 a week; I am not being advertised as the 'star,' and I am leaving because my contract has been broken."
That there is no personal jealousy of Miss Camille Clifford, Miss Edna May wished to make quite clear.
Early last week Miss May made it known to the company that she did not intend to submit quietly to anything that she regarded as an injustice, but it was not until Friday that she intended to give up her part at a day's notice. As she is under contract to Charles Frohman, who brought her into "The Belle of Mayfair"—which is the joint production of Messrs. Frohman and Gatti—she could not in New York on that day, and the same afternoon Mr. Frohman advised Messrs. Gatti that his "star" would leave the Vaudeville Theatre because of an alleged breach of contract. The proprietors and the managers of the Vaudeville Theatre, inform us that as Mr. Charles Frohman does not agree with them, they have not committed a breach of contract with Miss Edna May, he has notified them that he is no longer associated with Messrs. Gatti in the management of their theatre.
Miss Phyllis Dare, who, though only sixteen years of age, is a prominent London actress, has been engaged to play Miss May's part.

DIAMOND PRICES
STEADILY ADVANCE

Christmas Gems to Cost Twenty Per Cent
More Than They Did Last Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Diamonds for holiday presents will cost this year at least twenty per cent more than they did twelve months ago. Wholesale jewelers are now notifying the retail jewellers of the increased prices in the unfavorable assorting in many shipments. The stones come in sizes, shapes and qualities that are being cut out in cutting many high grade gems in the commercial sizes as in former years. The sizes most sought for by the jewelers are from one-half to one and one-half carat in weight. The diamond manufacturers say that they are getting many large stones in cleaving which there is much waste.

Another element is that of labor, and according to the manufacturers, they now pay much higher wages than a year ago. They say the cost of polishing diamonds is almost twice what it was a year ago.

Many of the dealers who buy stones cut and polished in Europe have recently returned, after making their annual purchases, and tell the same story of advancing prices as is heard from the American manufacturers. The apportionment of stones by the syndicate, whose control of the trade is worldwide, is said to be even less favorable to the big factories of Antwerp and Amsterdam than to those of New York.

Great depth at which the diamonds of the De Beers Company in the mines of South Africa are being worked is given as the reason why stones reach the manufacturers in less attractive assortments and at higher prices than formerly.

The company's official report shows that in the De Beers and Kimberley mines, on which it has depended for most of the production, the blue ground is now being obtained nearly half a mile beneath the surface of the earth.

This ground has been giving a constantly lessening return for the labor of treating it. As recently as 1897 the yield was ninety-two carats per one hundred loads, while last year, according to the company's report, the yield had fallen to forty-six carats.

Outside of the mines owned directly by the De Beers Company the only source of supplies that now reaches the market in quantities of any importance is the new Premier mine in the Transvaal. Its production, starting three years ago with less than 15,000 carats a month, jumped to approximately 70,000 carats. This is more than one-third of the ordinary De Beers yield, but the dealers say that the Premier stones have no tendency to lower prices, as some predicted would be the case.

JEROME DECIDES TO PLAY A LONE HAND

Will Run the Election Without
Advice or Assistance

He Denounces all Trusts and Corporations
—A Live Attorney is Better Than a Dead Governor.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—District Attorney Moran, who was nominated for Governor by the Democrats and prohibition parties, and independence league, tonight issued a statement addressed to the three parties, in which he announced that he proposed to conduct his campaign in his own way and would not be held responsible for the utterances of any of the speakers attached to the three organizations. Mr. Moran also outlined his policy regarding campaign contributions.

His statement in part is as follows: "No campaign funds should be accepted from grafters, from corporations, their agents or attorneys, from stock brokers, from horse racers or pool sellers, from breweries, liquor distilleries or liquor dealers, or from any person or combination of persons, liable to have a personal interest in legislation. It has been shown to me that by making confidential statements as to my public policies when elected, that from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars would be raised by these various interests for this campaign.

"I have no further use for campaign committees nor press agents.
"From this date to election day I will manage the personal end of my campaign without advice or assistance from any man. I realize the obligations I owe to the citizens who nominated me, and I will meet them as I am able to do so. But I also realize that there is less pleasure in being a dead governor than in being a live district attorney."

BETTER PAY FOR ALL POSTMASTERS

Is Promised by Postmaster General
Hitchcock of the United States

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—An important announcement was made in this city tonight by First Assistant Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, which will bring joy to the United States thousands of postal employees. It was to the effect that in the postal estimates for the next fiscal year, to be submitted by the post office department, a radical change will be made in the recommendations affecting salaries. Betterment in pay involving the entire postal system of the United States will be advised, Mr. Hitchcock said. The statement followed a prolonged conference today between Mr. Hitchcock and Postmaster William R. Willcox of New York.

Mr. Hitchcock said tonight that the post office department fully appreciated that it was impossible for employees to live, even comfortably, on a basis of pay graded and fixed twenty years ago. He adds that he believed a crisis had been reached in this phase of the postal affairs and that he confidently expected his recommendation would be approved by congress, after which he believed there would be a decided improvement in the service owing to the greater incentive to capable men to enter it.

It is understood that it is proposed to regrade the salaries particularly of those of the lower grade in which salaries are now $1,000 per annum and less.

BANK FAILURES DURING THE PAST.

List of the Canadian Institutions That Have Gone to the Wall.
Since Confederation there have been no less than eighteen suspensions of chartered banks in Canada, but only a few of them have been at all widespread in their effects, and nearly all have paid their deposits in full. Except in the case of three Mechanics' Bank, the note-holders were paid in full, and the record of the percentages paid the depositors is as follows:
1853—Commercial Bank of New Brunswick. Depositors paid in full.
1872—Bank of Acadia.
1873—Metropolitan Bank of Montreal. Depositors paid in full.
1873—Mechanics' Bank of Montreal. Depositors paid 1 1/2 per cent.
1873—Consolidated Bank of Montreal. Depositors paid in full.
1873—Bank of Liverpool, N. S.
1873—Stadacona Bank of Quebec. Depositors paid in full.
1873—Exchange Bank of Canada. Depositors paid 66 1/2 per cent.
1873—Maritime Bank, St. John, N. B. Depositors paid 10 1/2 per cent.
1887—Pictou Bank, N. S. Depositors paid in full.
1887—Bank of London, London, Ont. Depositors paid in full.
1888—Federal Bank. Depositors paid in full.
1888—Bank of Prince Edward Island.
1888—Commercial Bank of Manitoba. Depositors paid in full.
1895—Banque des Peuples. Depositors paid 14 per cent.
1899—Banque Ville Marie. Depositors paid 15 per cent. to date.
1900—Bank of Yarmouth. In liquidation.
Of these the ones affecting the people of this city most, of course, were the failures of the Central Bank in 1887 and the Federal Bank in 1888. Depositors in the Central Bank lost a fraction of a per cent, amounting altogether to some few thousand dollars, but even this loss might have been averted if less expensive litigation had occurred.

The Federal Bank closed up its accounts with open doors, although this was only made possible through the action of the other banks, who took over the assets at a liberal reduction. The position in which the Ontario Bank finds itself is in many respects a similar one to that of the Federal Bank in 1888.

SECOND BRANCH AT SYDNEY.

Union Bank Decides to Open Another Agency.
SYDNEY, Oct. 15.—The Union Bank of Halifax will open another branch in Sydney tomorrow. While General Manager Thorne was in the city a week ago some business men of Ward N. discussed with him the advisability of opening a branch in this district. He investigated and decided the business warranted this, and within a week all arrangements have been made.
Rents are very high in Sydney now, higher than in Halifax or St. John. It is now next to impossible to secure dwelling houses and people do not seem willing to risk building.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—First price of stocks were higher than last night with very few exceptions. Gains were eight and the volume of business small. Amaconds rose 2 points and Reading and Brooklyn Transit large fractions. The market opened firm.

WANTS TO KNOW WHY THE MANAGER WAS DISMISSED

Peabody of the Mutual is Called Upon to Answer a Question of Wide Interest.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 15.—Great interest is centered in the hearing here today of Charles A. Peabody, President of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, before Commissioner of Insurance, Henry L. Prewitt. Mr. Prewitt some time ago cited Mr. Peabody to appear before him and explain the dismissal of Col. Blasco Hindman of Louisville, General Manager of the Mutual Life for Kentucky and Tennessee. Mr. Hindman's name is on the so-called fusion ticket with 35 other names for election as trustee as the united committee ticket and Mr. Prewitt wants to know why Mr. Hindman who is supposed to represent the policyholders was removed from office. Mr. Hindman is not the first general agent to be removed from office but this is the first time that insurance commissioner of state has called upon the company to account for the removal of an official, and the case therefore is of far-reaching importance. Mr. Prewitt has the power to revoke the charter of any insurance company doing business in the state.

AUTOMOBILE EXPLODED PASSENGERS MAY DIE

Car Running at High Speed Struck a Trolley Pole With Disastrous Results.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 15.—An automobile while running at a high rate of speed on Detroit avenue N. W. struck a trolley pole at Kentworth avenue in Lakewood, a suburb, early today and exploded. Every one of the four occupants of the car were injured and two may die. The injured are: Miss Anna Schmitte, burned about the arms and body, and arm fractured. Miss Hulda Ackerman, burned about the legs and back, condition critical. Benjamin Camra, burned about the head and hands. George Hareman, right eye gouged out, skull fractured, condition critical. The car was owned by M. J. Mandelbaum, a banker.

According to Camra, who was driving the machine, something went wrong with the machine. The car suddenly swerved from the roadway and struck the trolley pole. The collision and explosion seemed to be simultaneous.

The steamer Jamaica has been chartered to load deals at Miramichi for W. C. E. at 6a.

A horse and cart owned by a man named Whelly fell off a platform into the basement of the Royal Bank site, corner of Canterbury and King street, this morning. There was some excitement for a few minutes, but no damage was done.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF RAILWAY BRIDGES MEET

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—Members of the Association of Railway Superintendents of bridges and buildings assembled here for the 14th annual meeting, the membership of which include railway men from the United States, Canada, Mexico, Australia and New Zealand. The convention will last 3 days. President J. D. Sheldon, of Providence, called the convention to order and after the reports of committees had been submitted he made his formal address to the members. A feature of the program proceedings was an address by Lucius Tuttle, President of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

MRS. JEFF DAVIS IS NEARING THE END

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who has been ill of pneumonia at the Hotel Majestic, was still alive early today, but her death, it is said, was not far off. Mrs. Davis took a sudden change for the worst last night, and her physicians said her end was only a question of hours. Her only surviving daughter, Mrs. J. Addison Hayes and other relatives, remained near her bedside throughout the night. Mrs. Davis is 80 years old.

WARSAW, Oct. 15.—The police today discovered the headquarters of an elaborately organized band of terrorists and captured 48 members of the band, who are charged with having committed many murders and robberies.

SALISBURY, N. C., Oct. 15.—Burgess Fox and Bill Frazer, white men employed in the Gold Hill mine, 15 miles from here were killed last night by an explosion, both bodies being badly mutilated. As the cartridges are fired by electricity, the explosion is thought to have been caused by carelessness.

DURHAM, Eng., Oct. 15.—All the miners who were entombed as the result of an explosion yesterday in the Wingate colliery near here, have been rescued.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Both the state and defense rested their case in the trial here against the Standard Oil Company of Ohio for alleged conspiracy against trade, at 11 o'clock today. Argument of counsel will follow.

The steamer Junna, which partly loaded lumber at Pugwash and finished here, sailed last night for the W. C. E. The steamer Mantinea of the Battle line also sailed with deals last night.

A horse and cart owned by a man named Whelly fell off a platform into the basement of the Royal Bank site, corner of Canterbury and King street, this morning. There was some excitement for a few minutes, but no damage was done.

NEGRO ARTIST WINS THE HIGHEST PRIZE

At the Exhibition of American Paintings—His Subject Was The Disciples at the Tomb.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Henry Tanner, a negro artist was awarded the N. W. Harris prize of $50 for the best painting at the 15th annual exhibition of American paintings, which will open at the Art Institute tomorrow. Yesterday at the private exhibition the art commissioner of the institution went over the large number of paintings hung and the decision on Mr. Tanner's "Two Disciples at the Tomb" was unanimous. The picture shows the faces of Peter and John before the Saviour with a fine light playing across their features, which are strained with expectancy while awaiting the fulfillment of the promise that had been made them.

SPOKANE, Wn., Oct. 15.—Reno Hutchinson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was shot and killed in the best residence section of the city last night by a highwayman.

NEW WHITE STAR LINER IS A MARVEL OF CONSTRUCTION

THE WHITE STAR LINE
RENDERING ASSISTANCE BEFORE
THE LAUNCHING

The White Star liner Adriatic which has aroused so much interest, and a cut of which is shown, was successfully launched at Belfast on September 29th. The Adriatic is a worthy successor of the many fine large steamers previously launched at Belfast for this famous line, and will be an important addition to one of the finest fleets in the world. The Adriatic is 725 feet 9 inches long, 75 feet 6 inches beam and 50 feet deep. Her gross tonnage is about 25,000, and her displacement exceeds 40,000 tons. A noteworthy element of the vessel, besides her size, is her strength. A double bottom extending the whole length of the ship is 5 feet 1 inch deep, except under the engines, where it is 8 feet 10 inches deep, to give greater rigidity in the neighborhood of the machinery.

THE LAUNCHING OF THE ADRIATIC
The Adriatic has nine steel decks passengers, besides officers, engineers and crew, amounting to 3,000.

BRIEF DESPATCHES

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 15—John D. Grafton, driver of a steamer in the Bangor fire department, was seriously injured on Monday night by the bursting of a chemical, which he was using to put out a fire at the Puritan Clothing Company. Grafton's skull was fractured, leaving part of the brain exposed and the upper and lower jaw bones were fractured. His recovery is considered very doubtful.

PLAINWELL, Mich., Oct. 15—As a result of being kicked in the back during the Allegan-Plainwell football game Saturday, Edward Piche, aged 16 years, may be crippled for life. The injury is so close to the spine that his full recovery is a matter of grave doubt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—It was made known tonight that the summer home of G. Louis Boissevain, in the heart of the colony of wealthy persons at Mount Kisco, N. Y., was robbed on Thursday night of more than $100,000 in jewels and cash. The circumstances attending the robbery puzzles detectives. Mrs. Boissevain and servants were in the house when the robbery was committed.

CABBAGES AND KINGS. The Star's New Series of Short Stories, by O. Henry. MASTERS OF ARTS.

Before long the two machinists abandoned the rigor of the bare studio for a snug corner of a cafe. There they sat far into the night, with old envelopes and Keogh's stub of blue pencil between them.

At twelve o'clock White doubled up in his chair, with his chin on his fist, and shut his eyes at the unbecomingly wall-paper.

"I'll go you, Billy," he said, in the quiet tones of decision. "I've got two or three hundred saved up for savings and rent; and I'll take the chance with you. Five thousand I will give me two years in Paris and one in Italy. I'll begin to pack tomorrow."

"You'll begin in ten minutes," said Keogh. "It's tomorrow now. The Karlsein starts back at four p. m. Come on to your painting shop, and I'll help you."

For five months in the year Corallo is the Newport of Ancharia. Then only does the town possess life. From November to March it is practically the seat of government. The president with his official family sojourns there; and society follows him. The pleasure-loving people make the season one long holiday of amusement and relaxation. Festas, balls, games, sea bathing, processions and small theatres contribute to their enjoyment. The mous Swiss band from the capital plays in the little plaza every evening, while the fourteen carriages and vehicles in the town circle in funeral but complacent procession. Indians from the interior mountains, looking like prehistoric stone idols, come down to the beach to hawk their wares in the streets. The people through the narrow ways, a chattering, happy, careless throng, a buoyant humanity. Preposterous children rigged out with the shortest of ballet skirts and gilt wings, howl, unperforated, among the effervescent crowds. Especially is the arrival of the presidential party, at the opening of the season attended with pomp, show and patriotic demonstrations of enthusiasm and delight.

When Keogh and White reached their destination, on the return trip of the Karlsein, the gay winter season was well begun. As they stopped upon the beach they could hear the band playing in the plaza. The village maidens, with riddles already fixed in their dark locks, were gliding, barefoot and coy-eyed, along the path. Dandies in white linen, swinging their canes, were beginning their seductive strolls. The air was full of human essence, of artificial excitement, of coquetry, indolence, pleasure—the man-made sense of existence.

The first two or three days after their arrival were spent in preliminary sketches. Keogh escorted the artist about town, introducing him to the little circle of English-speaking residents who pulled whatever wires he could to effect the spreading of White's fame as a painter. And then Keogh planned the more spectacular renovation of the studio he wished to keep before the public.

He and White engaged rooms in the Hotel de Estranjeros. The two were clad in new suits of immaculate duck, with American straw hats, and the pair of remarkable uniqueness and finitude. Few eaballers in Corallo—even the gorgeously unprepared officers of the Ancharian army—were as conspicuous for ease and elegance of demeanour as Keogh and his friend, the great American painter, Senior White.

White set up his easel on the beach and made striking sketches of the mountain and sea views. The native population formed at his rear in a vast, chattering semicircle to watch his work. Keogh, with his camera, stood by, ready to take photographs. People are more impressed by a kodak than they are by a title or a four-carat sapphire. His role was that of friend to the great artist, a man of affairs and leisure. The visible emblem of his position was a pocket camera.

"For branding the man who owns it," said he, "a genteel dilettante with a bank account and an easy conscience, a steam-yacht at his disposal, and a car to land him doing nothing but loafing around making snap-shots, and you know right away he means to be a 'breadwinner.' You notice these old millionaire boys—soon as they get through taking everything else in life they go to taking photographs. People are more impressed by a kodak than they are by a title or a four-carat sapphire. His role was that of friend to the great artist, a man of affairs and leisure. The visible emblem of his position was a pocket camera."

The visible emblem of his position was a pocket camera."

Two weeks after their arrival, the scheme began to bear fruit. An aide-camp of the president drove to the hotel in a dashing victoria. The president desired that Senior White come to the Casa Moderna for an informal interview.

Keogh gripped his pipe tightly between his teeth. "Not a cent less than ten thousand," he said to the artist—remember the price. And in gold or its equivalent—don't let him stick you with this bargain-counter stuff they call money here."

"Perhaps it isn't that he wants," said White.

"Get out!" said Keogh, with splendid confidence. "I know what he wants. He wants his picture painted by the celebrated young American painter and stillbustor now sojourning in his down-trodden country. Off you go!"

The victoria sped away with the artist. Keogh walked up and down, puffing great clouds of smoke from his pipe, and waited. In an hour the victoria swept again to the door of the hotel, deposited White, and vanished. The artist dashed up the stairs, three at a step. Keogh stopped smoking, and became a silent interrogator point.

"Landed," exclaimed White, with his boyish face flushed with station. "Billy, you are a wonder. He wants a picture. I'll tell you all about it. By Heaven! that dictator chap is a corker! He's a dictator clear down to his finger-ends. He's a kind of combination of Julius Caesar, Lucifer and Chaney Depece done in sapin. Toilet and grim—that's his way. The room I saw him in was about ten acres big, and looked like a Mississippi steamboat with its gilding and mirrors and white paint. He talks English better than I can ever hope to. The matter of the price came up, I mentioned ten thousand. I expected him to call the guard and have me taken out and shot. He didn't move a eyelash. He just waved one of his chestnut hands in a careless way, and said, 'Whatever you say, I am to do tomorrow and discuss with him the details of the picture.'"

Keogh hung his head. Self-abasement was easy to read in his downcast countenance.

"I'm falling, Carry," he said, sorrowfully. "I'm not fit to handle these man-size schemes any longer. Peddling oranges in a push-cart is about the suitable craft for me. When I said ten thousand, I swear I thought I had sized up that brown man's limit to selling his medals. He'd have melted down for fifteen thousand just as easy. Say—Carry—you'll see old man Keogh in his same old, quiet, idiot asylum, won't you, if he makes a break like that again?"

The Casa Moderna, although only one story in height, was a building of brown stone, luxurious as a palace in its interior. It stood on a low hill in a walled garden of splendid flora at the upper edge of Corallo. The next day the president's carriage came again for the artist. Keogh went out for a walk along the beach, where he and his "picture box" were now familiar sights. When he returned to the hotel White was sitting in a steamer-chair on the balcony.

"Well," said Keogh, "did you and His Majesty on the kind of a chrono he wants?"

White got up and walked back and forth on the terrace. "You first. Then he stopped, and laughed strangely. His face was flushed, and his eyes were bright with a kind of angry amusement.

"Look here, Billy," he said, somewhat roughly, "when you first came to me in my studio and mentioned a picture, I thought you wanted a Smashed Oats or a Hair Tonic painted on a range of mountains or the side of a continent. Well, either of these jobs would have been art in its highest form compared to the one you've steered me against. I can't paint that picture, Billy. You've got to let me out. Let me tell you what that barbarian wants. He had it all planned out and even a sketch made of his idea. The old boy doesn't know what he's at all. But, ye goddesses of Art! listen to the monstrosity he expects me to paint. He wants himself in the centre of the seas, of course. He is to be painted as Jupiter sitting on Olympus, with the clouds at his feet. At one side pulling whatever wires he could to effect the spreading of White's fame as a painter. And then Keogh planned the more spectacular renovation of the studio he wished to keep before the public."

Little beads of moisture crept out all over Billy Keogh's brow. The stub of his pipe had not been lit, and he had a contingency like this. The machinery of his plan had run with flattering smoothness until now. He dragged another chair up to the balcony, and got White back to his seat. He lit his pipe with apparent calm.

"Now, sonny," he said, with gentleness, "you and me will have an Art to Art talk. You've got your art and I've got mine. Yours is the real Plerian stuff that turns up its nose at book-beer signs and oleographs of the kind Miss Mims the art of Business. This was my scheme, and it worked out like two-and-two. Paint that president man as Old King Cole, or Venus, or a landscape, or a fresco, or a bunch of lilies, or anything he thinks he looks like. But get the paint on the canvas and collect the spoils. You wouldn't throw me down, Carry, at this stage of the game. Think of that ten thousand."

"I can't help thinking of it," said White, and that's what hurts. I'm tempted to throw every ideal I ever had down in the mire, and steep my soul in infamy by painting that picture. That five thousand meant three years of foreign study to me, and I'd almost sell my soul for that."

"Now it ain't as bad as that," said Keogh, soothingly. "It's a business proposition. It's so much paint and time against money. I don't fall in with your idea that that picture would so everlastingly jolt the art side of the question. George Washington was all right, you know, and nobody could say word against the angel. I don't think so bad of that group. If you was to give Jupiter a pair of spauzlers and a sword, and kind o' work the clouds around to look like a blackberry patch, it wouldn't make such a bad battle scene. Why, if we hadn't already settled the price, he ought to pay an extra thousand for Washington, and the angel ought to raise it five hundred."

STRANGE CASE OF ROBT. McDEVITT Found Dead in Shed at Long Wharf.

Identified by His Brother Who Did Not Know He Was in the City

Robert McDevitt was found dead in the I. C. R. freight shed on Long Wharf yesterday afternoon about 12.30 o'clock. He had been seen lying across the track in that vicinity earlier in the morning by Robert McCafferty, who placed him in the freight shed to keep him out of the path of the train. Some time afterwards Alfred Crawford, Norman McLeod and Bert Farley, three boys, came running up to Andrew Leach, the day watchman of the wharf, and several other men, saying that there was a dead man in the warehouse. Among the number of men on the wharf at the time was his brother, William, who identified the body. He said that the family had received a letter from Robert saying that he would be home on Friday, but had not heard of his arrival. He was greatly affected when he realized the dead man was his brother.

Mr. McDevitt told the Sun that his brother left here ten weeks ago, and for a time was employed in a mill. Later he secured work in the Aroostook county potato fields. With reference to the statement in an evening paper that his brother arrived here on Sunday, Mr. McDevitt said he did not believe this, as he would have come at once to either his home or that of his other brother.

There are no suspicions of foul play, but Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen were working on the case on behalf of Coroner Berryman yesterday afternoon, getting the facts of the case. Coroner Berryman last evening said he had not yet decided whether or not an inquest would be held. Before leaving, St. John McDevitt boarded at the Halifax Hotel. It is thought that he arrived home yesterday morning and wandered over to the I. C. R. wharf before visiting his people. His father and mother died very suddenly some years ago.

GORKY LEAVES AMERICA On Sailing for Europe Novelist Says He Will Write About His Experiences

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Maxim Gorky and Mme. Andreeva sailed yesterday for Europe on the German liner, the Prinzess Irene, for Naples. From there they will go to Paris. They appear on the ship's passenger list as Mr. and Mrs. Peshkoff.

Gorky's secretary, Nicholas Burenin, was one of the party, but his adopted son, Nicolay Peshkoff, was left behind, and all were weeping when the ship drew out of her berth.

Gorky said his mission here had been a success, by which it is understood that he had raised considerable money for the Russian revolutionists. Nevertheless, he said with considerable emphasis that the chief fault of the American people was their love of money.

What he thought of the United States after his experience here Gorky declines to say. "I shall write about it," he said.

COLLINS' EXAMINATION LIKELY TO BE POSTPONED

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 15.—It is probably the preliminary examination of Thos. F. Collins, charged with the Monday murder, will be further postponed till Friday of next week on account of the absence of acting Attorney General Tweedie. Clerk of the Peace Dixon was in town tonight and says there will not likely be any evidence taken this week.

DIPPER HARBOR

DIPPER HARBOR, Oct. 15.—The practical and enjoyable were associated to good effect last Monday evening at Dipper Harbor, the occasion being the holding of a pie-social. The object of the social was to raise a fund for the purpose of building a church at the harbor. It was very gratifying to the persons who were instrumental in projecting the affair, that it was a success both from a financial and a social point of view. The people of the harbor are very thankful for the kind assistance of their resident neighbors and their neighbors of the surrounding localities.

ANOTHER STORY ABOUT CHAMBERLAIN'S HEALTH

Fingers Cramped by Gout Makes Writing
Difficult—Eyeball Filled and His Foot Was Hurt.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 15.—The Daily Post says: "Mr. Chamberlain came home to Birmingham on Monday week and he would have returned a week earlier but for the fact that, while walking in his house in Prince's Gardens, he slipped down and twisted his foot."

"Mr. Neville Chamberlain said on Tuesday that the injured limb is so much better than for some time past. Mr. Chamberlain has been able to walk in the house and in the grounds. "He has not been wheeled in a bath chair, and he is now rapidly gaining strength in his foot. It is true that my father's eyesight is slightly affected, and that he has not been able to read much, but no improvement is now noticeable. It is not true that his right arm is seriously contracted, but the point has resulted in his fingers being so cramped that he cannot write with comfort, and, therefore, he does not personally undertake any part of his correspondence." Mr. Neville Chamberlain added it was possible that his father might ultimately complete his recovery in a more congenial climate."

LOCAL NEWS.

Early this morning a large moose wandered into Indian town from the direction of Pokok and swam the river to Millford.

The Elaine was nearly an hour late this morning due to the large amount of freight which is now coming down the river.

Arrangements have been made for a united Thanksgiving service to be held in St. Andrew's church at 11 a. m. on Thursday. Amongst those uniting will be St. Andrew's, St. Stephen's, Calvin, Carleton Presbyterian, Fairville Presbyterian and others.

The break in No. 3 high service main has not yet been repaired. The residents of the high parts of the city are still without the necessary. It is expected that the pipe will be fixed this afternoon and the testing will be resumed tomorrow morning.

No. 4 party of the G. T. P. survey, which was working at Chipman has been called in, having finished the work in that locality. It is expected that the other parties now working will all be finished in another week or two.

The Kamp Kurnfort boys will close up their hospitable bungalow at Renforth on Thanksgiving night after a turkey supper has been eaten and a gay time spent. This has been a great summer with the fellows in the excellent sweaters and they have provided rich as never on more than one occasion.

Alderman McGoldrick has not yet received word from Capt. Wright, who is inspecting the dredge Bothwell. It is probable that it will be received tonight or tomorrow morning, as he was directed to communicate with Alderman McGoldrick as soon as he had inspected the Bothwell.

A large quantity of dog fish are arriving in boats from down the bay and are being landed at Carritt's wharf. They are carted away on farm wagons and distributed on farms for fertilizer purposes. The stench from the carts as they are hauled up King street does not resemble that of a vineyard.

Thomas Graham, a man with a wife and two children in Nova Scotia, was alone on the prison bench this morning and poured forth a pitiable tale to the magistrate this morning. He said he had been hired to work in the Musquash woods and arriving here last evening had two glasses of Jamaica rum. He forgets the rest. He was on Sheffield street and arrested. He informed the court that he had but two dollars and if the court would only take that he would walk to Musquash. He cried bitterly when he thought he had to do a month in jail but brightened up and gave all kinds of thanks when told that the fine of $8 would be allowed to stand against him.

APPLES ARE IMPROVING. Fruit merchants state that the gravest apples which are at present arriving here from other parts of the province and Nova Scotia, are somewhat better than the first shipments. At Market slip yesterday three schooners arrived with cargoes of apples, and out of the two thousand barrels only about two hundred were really bad. Probably the packers have awakened to the fact that Inspector Sangster is on the war-path.

STREET CAR MEN HAD BETTER LOOK OUT. Mr. Robertson Has His Eye on Them and They Must Not Travel Too Fast.

George G. Robertson, the Main St. grocer, was the defendant in the police court this morning in what may prove an interesting case before the last is heard of it.

Policeman Charles Marshall on Saturday evening last reported Mr. Robertson for furious driving on Main St. In court this morning the policeman claimed that the horse was almost running and was speeding at a rate of about six miles an hour.

Mr. Robertson explained that while coming from Indian town the street cars passed him and his horse was trotting behind a car when he was reported, and that he did not consider that he was furiously driving.

The magistrate quoted the law, and in answer to Mr. Robertson said that the street railway was liable for damages if the car went too fast. He told Mr. Robertson he was liable to two dollars fine.

Mr. Robertson is not satisfied with the result of his experience in the court, and is keeping tabs on the velocity of the street cars. He says the police ride free on street cars, and there is no report about them furiously driving, but the delivery wagon cannot be always used as a police conveyance.

It is not at all probable that street car motormen may be reported for fast driving, but there is nothing in the act that mentions street cars.

THIS EVENING. Band at Victoria Rink. Ladies' night at St. Andrew's Rollway. Banquet to S. D. Scott in Union Club. Meeting of Court La Tour, I. O. O. F. 2315 Co. at Opera House.

JOSEPH ALLISON HOME FROM HIS WESTERN TRIP

Men Do Well Out There 'He Says, But They Have to Work Just as Hard as in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allison returned yesterday from a five weeks' trip to the Pacific coast. Although Mr. Allison has been across the continent several times this is the first occasion on which he has passed through the Canadian West. He returns from his holiday deeply impressed with the possibilities of the country and with the magnificence of the scenery, especially in the mountains. In conversation with the Star today, Mr. Allison remarked that he had met a good many eastern men who were going west, and that he was well pleased with the country of their adoption. Many of them are doing well, but they have not all jumped into fortunes, for a man has to work in the West just as hard as in the East.

Mr. Allison went West for pleasure and did not get out of his way to visit all the busy centres of the country. He stopped off only at Winnipeg, Banff, Lake Louise, Golden and Vancouver. In the latter city Mr. Allison states that the general opinion was given a great reputation and the people were most enthusiastic about having him pay them a visit.

The immigration of Hindoos to the West is not a subject of general discussion. A great many of these people are seen about the streets, dressed, of course, in their native costume, and in Mr. Allison's opinion they are magnificent specimens of physical manhood. They do not seem to have generally taken up any particular line of employment, yet, but will no doubt adapt themselves to the needs of the country within a short time. From a hasty glance at the situation it would seem that they would make good citizens.

Mr. Allison was also impressed with the extent of the lumber industry in British Columbia. He had no idea that such an enormous business was done in the West, and he is now only in his infancy.

Through the territories everything was busy. The country has for some years been blessed with generous crops, and as a result good times prevail everywhere. The traffic is greater than the railroads can handle, and in spite of the enormous freight carried over the C. P. R. and other lines there is a continuation of good crops people will prosper.

Mr. Allison speaks in the highest terms of the courtesy shown him by the officers of the C. P. R. in planning his trip and by suggestions and advice making the outing a delightful one.

Suburbanites will have a Thanksgiving wind-up. Hundreds going to their summer homes on Thursday—Train Service is Not the Best.

A majority of the suburban residents along the C. P. R. have arranged to spend Thanksgiving day at their summer homes. It is expected that upwards of two hundred will go out of town on Thursday morning for their last day in the country, and to put their houses in order for the winter. Some intend going up tomorrow evening, but most of the party prefer waiting until Thursday when several additional cars will be attached to the St. Andrew's Society special train leaving here at half-past nine.

A committee the forenoon waited on the C. P. R. officials in an endeavor to have the suburbanites brought back to town between eight and nine o'clock on Thursday evening. It is expected that they will be left at Welsford and could be brought in by a special engine.

P. R. declined to do this the reason being that there is no engine available, all the power on the division being engaged. Efforts are, however, being made to reach the desired arrangement in some other way.

NUMBER TWO SITE WAS FINISHED THIS MORNING. Work on Number Three Will be Resumed This Afternoon—Mr. Mayes is Hopeful.

The dredge Beaver completed its work at No. 2 crib site at 7:30 o'clock this morning. The diver was immediately sent down to examine the site and only found a few small pieces of mud and stone which had fallen from the bucket. Mr. Mayes said today that the dredge had very hard work at No. 2. Boulder after boulder was met with, and much delay was caused in removing them.

The Beaver was taken to No. 3 site shortly after eight o'clock but work will not be commenced until this afternoon. "I hope to have No. 3 site ready for the sinking of the crib in seven or eight days," said Mr. Mayes.

At No. 3 site very few boulders remain, as when the Beaver was at work there before a great number were removed. A few will be found, however, at the lower end of No. 3, near Union street, and these will be removed tomorrow. If No. 2 site can be ready in eight days, it now looks as if the "Orange Peel" can do all the work that is required at Sand Point before the winter port trade begins.
